He also received a personal letter from Brig. Gen. W. H. Colburn, Assistant-Commander, TAS, expressing his "sincere appreciation of your superior performance of duty."

Poll Payments Break Records In the County

All records for poll tax payments in Floyd county have been broken this year. Thursday midnight Assessor-Collector T. T. Hamilton and his force had written 3,560 poll tax receipts.

To top up the county's voting strength an additional 10 to 15 per cent must be added to the 3,656 who got receipts or certificates.

In the early days of January it began to be apparent that the state of mind of the electorate, poll tax paying campaigns or a grand swell of interest was going to result in big poll tax payments.

Cautious queries from persons unfamiliar with convention procedure point up this interest.

The day after the assessor-collector force got through with their run of poll tax payers the window became a motor vehicle registration place.

No estimates on per centages or total state, county and school taxes paid were available this week and won't be for several days perhaps.

Views and Comment

One of the results of the hue and cry of the past quarter of a century has been the many, many laws which have been passed as punitive measures, men trying to pass laws that will hit somebody, mostly corporations, and not hit somebody else. These punitive measures have by and large been futile, only adding to the many-sided involvement of business, as note that American Telephone and Telegraph company, which seems now to be one of the principal targets because it is so big, has to pay more than 100 kinds of taxes in the state of Texas. How many other kinds it has to pay the Lord knows but the rest of us do not. A. T. & T. pays many, many millions more in taxes than it pays out to its stockholders. Some claim the stockholders get too much. If the stockholders do, do you say the army of tax collectors get too much, also? We're just going to have to unwind the ball. Who or how we do not know. Keep this in mind, a two-bit business man is now spending more of his time trying to keep up with his official reports, required by law, than he is trying to get ahead and be a worthwhile person in the community. This is why there is a forecast of "a breakdown in the morals of the country." People will begin trying to dodge, sooner or later. Have they already? What is going to be the matter with us is already the matter with France. One of the things the people might study about doing is this: Give their congress a mandate at the polls to check the national budget and if it is so big as to be beyond the comprehension of that body, then trim it to a size they can understand.

Perhaps we have the jaundice as this is written, but we do take a dim view of the way the New York ex-councilman is beginning his job of "cleaning up" the Department of Justice. First off the investigator proclaims his complete faith in the department heads and starts from there. If he already has sufficient information to make such a statement why not declare himself unwilling to undertake an investigation that he knows is going to waste so much time and money. So far as he is concerned it will not be an investigation. Isn't that right?

Handling billions of money and billions of pounds of commodities calls for thousands of men, thousands of firms. Out of that number there are going to be some weak sisters, tempted and fall to the lure of easy money. That is the answer to the Commodity Credit Corporation losses in grains, to the eye of "stop thief", that is popularly going the rounds. There are ample laws to handle the situation. Grand juries still sit. They have ample authority to sift and locate guilt. There is no need for a congressional investigation of this small-fry episode. Only a need for justice to be swift and sure, as we used to think it was done when one tampered with Uncle Sam's affairs.

We are naive enough to believe the story we read last week, a statement from the National Independent Meat Packers association, which declared that the profits of the meat packers are at a 20-year low. Most consumers have a mistaken idea about meat industry profits, the story continues. This we believe, too. Instead of a high return, competition with in the industry has driven average profits per pound to a new low. Recall the incident in West Texas last year when a rather sizeable independent burned out a few weeks before "national stabilization" went into effect. He didn't rebuild. He just went into another line of business, although he craved to stay in packing. More government regulation on top of the public yak, yak spelled too high a price for him to be willing to pay, we were told at the time.

Peculiar thing this business of thinking that if you prefer a candidate for president other than Mr. Truman you are trying to tear up the democratic party. It is conceivable that one who objects to Mr. Truman as the standard bearer could think he is trying to preserve the democratic party. Or it is conceivable, always has been that way, that a person believes the party needs to put up another man. The fact that you are for or against any man does not mean you are trying to tear up the party. The party must be bigger than the man. If not the party has gotten too small or the man has gotten too big. Support Mr. Truman or oppose him, as you wish, but not on any grounds such as wanting to preserve the party.

A million tons of scrap will provide more than three-fourths of the scrap needed to produce the steel that goes into one year's output of new farm machinery. Keep the scrap coming. More than half a million tons were collected during the recent scrap drive in rural America.

A home garden in 1952 can become the source of much low priced food; may be the means of improving the family diet and working the garden will provide recreation for the gardener.

Conservation District News

W. F. Ferguson, chairman of supervisors of the Floyd County Soil Conservation district, along with members Gilbert L. Fawver of the Baker community, Bert Bobbitt of Sterley and Cecil Purcell of Edgin community, attended the eleventh annual meeting of the Texas Association of Soil Conservation District supervisors. The meeting was held on January 23 and 24 at Brownwood.

There were 250 farmers and ranchers from the one hundred and sixty-four soil conservation districts in attendance at the day and a half meeting. Good progress is being made, the supervisors agreed, but much remains to be done before the state's agricultural land will be treated according to its needs and farmed in the manner it can best produce. Suggestions were made on how to improve their operations.

Among persons appearing on the program were Arthur Leesch of Boerne, representing the Kendall Soil Conservation district; Dr. Lee Wilborn, assistant commissioner of education for Texas; Rollins Hill of Antelope, representing the Upper West Fork Soil Conservation district; Dorsey Hardeman, state senator from San Angelo and W. R. Coleman of Dozier of the Salt Fork district.

The Floyd County Soil Conservation district supervisors reported a fine time as well as an educational meeting.

MY LIFE WITH POLIO

(by Ginger Tinnin)

was on Friday morning, September 14, 1951, when I went by the hospital in Floydada, to see what was making my head hurt so much. My neck so stiff. I was put to bed. Little then did I know about polio. All day my head ached, my legs and neck hurt so I hardly raise my foot by night.

That night, our high school boys were playing Post, and I hated to miss the game, so I had my mother raise the bed in my room high, so I could see the announcer and the band (Ginger was one of the high school twirlers for the band—Ed.).

Saturday morning, Dr. McCoy came in my room, looking worried and said, "We will see you in the hospital." I did not know what he did not ask why. At 2 p.m. report came from the lab, O. My Daddy came in the afternoon and told me that I had polio and we were going to Plainview to the polio center for a few days. Perhaps, I should have been warned, perhaps it should have been tragic or frightening, but it didn't. Maybe I was too sick to understand. I did say to myself, "I've got polio and may never walk again. I just thought of all the things I liked to do and about twirling in the band."

I was moved to Plainview in the ambulance. They called Plainview and the polio doctor Dr. Hege was waiting for me at the emergency room. By this time I could not stand alone, my back had gone back on me and I just zigzagged. Dr. Hege asked my parents to step outside in the hall and the doctor and I had a little talk. I told him I was at a friend's house, Buena Holmes, at a slumber party, when I was taken sick. He said, "Oh, well, this is going to be kinda like a pajama party." (Twas the longest party, I ever went to.) Dr. Hege explained that I would only see my mother and daddy on Wednesdays and Sundays for one hour each of the two days.

The nurse came for me and took me to the polio ward. My first thought was "horror." The room was a long one with beds on each side, and for privacy a curtain was around your bed. One patient was a boy, Don Morris, 18 years of age, from Brownfield. He had bulbar polio and it affected his speech. He could not eat. The nurses fed him thru a tube.

On the other side of my bed was a little boy, 9 years old, Johnny Ray from Lubbock. He was paralyzed from his shoulders down, could not move any of his body, but his head. He talked to me and seemed to be happy. After I was there an hour or so, I asked him, if he ever wished he could go home? He said, "Oh, if I did, I would have to empty the waste basket."

The doctor explained that they would start no treatment until I was clear of temperature, 72 hours, so I began to count the days, the hours, the minutes. The first night in the center, September 15, during the night my legs became paralyzed, I could not move them. You don't notice the minute you are paralyzed, you just start to move and can't. You just lay flat on your back and hurt.

After the eighth day, treatment of hot packs were started, which was hot blankets wrapped around you. These eight days were spent in the critical ward. (I called it the sick ward). After that I was moved over to the convalescing ward to start my rest treatments. The treatments consisted of exercising the muscles that were out. Once a day, you go swimming in a tank of stainless steel, three feet high that had heated water. If there were any muscles there, you could move them in this water that out of the water you could not move. This way it would show the doctor what was there to work with. In this ward, my closest neighbor was Charla Berry, 12 years old from Hereford. On the other side was Dal Dewes, 12 years old from Dickens. We were neighbors for four months.

On Monday and Thursday nights we had a real picture show. We also had school in the hospital and Sunday school on Sunday.

The doctors and nurses were always honest with me. They did not build hopes high, maybe to be discouraged. You always hear the worst first, then if the good comes, "Oh Happy Day."

I will always remember the hundreds of letters cards, telegrams, and the many, many gifts I received, and the prayers that were dedicated to me. I never really got discouraged. I just always said I would walk, so on January 5, I went to the physical therapy room and walked between the iron bars. Then on January 10, I walked on my crutches for the first time. It was wonderful.

January 12, they told me I would go home in another week and that was still wonderful.

I am still weak and can't walk very far. It will take some time to get my strength back, BUT, I have beaten POLIO. Not by myself. No one can do that. But by faith and my doctors, my parents, the strength of prayer and determination. All working together have won for me.

YOU can do what I did, if you have polio. YOU can beat it with the help of God and Your doctors.

(The above story, written by Ginger Tinnin, in her own words, is the story of her fight against polio. Ginger is now at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Tinnin of Dougherty. Ginger is a truly brave girl.—Ed. Note.)

A Farm Man Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes.)
 Friends without horses shall go, Accidents fill the earth with Mother Shipton's Prophecy, Lived during the days from 1488
 . . . .
 good friends left us last week,
 Belcher and Mrs. Will Richards poem comes to me:
 . . . .
 should choose with careful things to be remembered by.
 . . . .
 I think Mr. Belcher can be remembered as a man who was faithful work of filling prescriptions care. How many hours he stood back of his drugstore—in the
 of a summer day and the cold winter he worked on without complaint about his job in the world Friends found he would always take a little time to talk as he wrapped their packages. Right up to almost the last, he stayed on at the task he knew so well, hoping the medicine he was getting ready would help the person he was compounding it for. We have missed the Belcher family from the drug store in Ralls.

 We will miss Mr. Belcher from our midst.
 And for his wife and son, these words:
 . . . .
 Somewhere I read in an old book whose name
 Is gone from me, I read that when the days
 Of a man are counted, and his business done,
 There comes up the shore at evening, with the tide,
 To the place where he sits, a boat—
 And in the boat, from the place where he sits he sees,
 Dim in the dusk, dim and yet so familiar,
 The faces of his friends long dead,
 and knows
 They come for him, brought in upon the tide,

To take him where men go at set of day.
 Mrs. Richards was so very much alive, so joyous and so happy. We can not think of anything but immortal life as we think of her passing.
 . . . .
 "Why should I fear Death's Call?
 Can there ever be
 In Life more beautiful adventure than
 To re-embark upon that unknown sea?"
 . . . .
 We are enjoying the warm weather. Let the cold that may come not bother us in the enjoyment of the day that is.
 . . . .
 I talked with some folks from Nebraska where the cold goes far below zero and many times at that.
 They said the bugs and insects were not killed there so how can we expect our warmer country to kill them? Buy poison and more poison will perhaps be the answer to this problem.
 . . . .
 Mr. Spikes was asking the littlest grandson, Dale, what his eyes were good for. He answered, to see with.
 Asked about his mouth he said, to eat, drink and talk with, but when he was asked the purpose of his nose he was stumped for a few seconds but he came up with this: "To put nose drops in."

News of Harmony

(by Mrs. Mather Carr)

HARMONY, February 5. — The Society of Christian Service met Tuesday, January 27, in the home of Mrs. Chloma Williams in our fourth and last Bible study led by Mrs. M. D. Ramsey, with each home present having a part. There were five members and two guests present. Mrs. Horace Krebs and Mrs. J. B. Shannon were our guests. They also had a part in the study. After the meeting Mrs. Williams served refreshments to all.

Rev. Krebs, who was visiting in community Tuesday of last week happened to an accident which could have been serious. He drove on a culvert with a large hole in it. When he tried to miss it, he ran off the bumper and threw the little boy against the windshield and broke it and bruised the boy's head. The car did not turn over but came very near it. Such places are dangerous.

There was not so many out Wednesday night at prayer service. Mrs. Sherwood Ramsey brought the devotional. Her subject was faith in God. She brought a good lesson.

My, this wind and dirt sure has been bad the past few days and nights. Hope we can get some moisture which is needed badly.

Mrs. Ira Worsham, who has been ill and was taken to a hospital in Floydada got better and was brought home, but she had a relapse and was taken back to the hospital. Their little girl is also ill with the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gunn and son, John of Tulla, spent the week-end in the home of the former's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edwards.

News is scarce this week.

Chloma Williams made a business trip to Waco, Texas, last week.

Charles B. Smith, who had major surgery in Lubbock two weeks ago was brought home and is recovering nicely.

Little Carrol Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Turner had a painful accident Saturday, cutting her upper lip. Three stitches were taken to close the wound.

"Gee Mom, we're chasin' rustlers..."

When your "cowboy" calls to beg for just a few more minutes of play with the gang...

Isn't it a perfect example of how even those "little" telephone calls so often reassure and bring peace of mind?

And when you remember that the average cost of each local call, including tax, is only about 2 1/2¢...

Can you think of a better bargain?

Every "hello" is a good buy

Expert Service men say:
"I got the story on '50,000 Miles-No Wear' and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil"

"I tested Conoco Super", says A. E. Stanbridge, Garageman, Salt Lake City. "My engine never performed better".

"Believe me, this '50,000 Miles-No Wear' story is all you say it is"—Harry W. Brown, Oskaloosa, Kan.

"Conoco Super is the finest motor oil on the market"—T. S. Young, Young Motor Company, Walsenburg, Colorado.

"Checked car driven 39,000 miles on Conoco Super"—Jos. H. Prestidge, St. Paul, Minn. "Never saw so little wear".

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here—

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper crankcase drains and regular care, engines lubricated with Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence... in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Amazing proof: factory finishing marks were still visible on piston rings!

AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000! This test proved that Conoco Super, with OIL-PLATING, can make your car last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil.
