The American Automobile association, Texas division, says the most neglected of all car service operations is that of adding water to the storage batteries. The AAA knows because their service calls disclose as much. The only type of trouble that topped battery failure was tire trouble, say the three-A experts. A car battery, already damaged by lack of water, is most apt to fail after hard and prolonged driving. Long trips often bring out the worst in a battery. Every form of neglect is aggravated by high speed and high temperature. If, in addition, the battery is being overcharged due to a faulty voltage regulator, the motorist is almost certain to have ignition trouble before his trip is over. Failure to maintain the proper water level in a battery drastically reduces its use-expectancy. The next time you get your car serviced remember to ask the man, what about the water in the battery.

Right to Park overnight on the streets without purchasing special licenses is a hot potato in some portions of the United States. The device is being used in some of the large cities as a means of getting additional revenue for the hard-pressed municipalities. The legality of the tax is now the subject of study among associations which have banded together to head off more taxes for the motorist. New kinds of taxes on motor vehicles are being tacked on constantly because a machine is one of the things most people are going to have. The parking tax is in the same category as taxes on cigarettes, whisky, gasoline, chewing gum, and the like. People are going to use their cars and they're not going to put them in a garage every night.

How time moves along and solves problems that appear almost insurmountable as you view them at close range is illustrated well in the 14 years ago column this week. Fourteen years ago the problem of getting farm machinery across the highways and the paved streets without ruining them and at the same time keeping the farm operators in sweet temper, loomed as a serious problem. You will note that A. J. Hamilton, the maintenance foreman, planned four tractor crossings on Highway 28 at points so they could be reached by the farm operator who had to cross. The steel wheels were ruinous even to concrete where they crossed. The crossings were to be made of heavy duty, steel resistant materials. City street paving also was threatened, and according to current news at the time there was more than one rhubarb. The farmer wanted to move in a straight line to his farm and the dealer also wanted him to get there with the least resistance, while the public didn't want their streets and crossings ruined. The rubber man came along and made all of that ancient history. He put the wheels of farm machinery on rubber, as simple as that. Time and the changing world often solve problems the same simple way.

Perhaps of more immediate need of one's study in our community is a study of every available means of eliminating filth and thus aiding in the battle against polio and other communicable diseases. But people do not get interested in that kind of a thing. It is a personal or community responsibility. It has no high drama, no battles of words. Incidence of polio seems to be on the increase despite what measures have been so far taken, but polio is over in another community or in another family's home until it strikes in our own.

Since time and change do so well in solving problems for the populace, so may they also help out a democrat whose candidates for high office preach strange doctrines and thus leave him without the usual alibi that no one man can be right on all the things all the time. Having none to turn to but the Old Guard of the GOP it does leave a puzzlement. For the GOP has strange practices also. Possibly there'll be more enlightenment later, one way or the other.

The total cash value of all Floyd county crops this year in Floyd county is estimated at 36 million dollars by County Agent Robt. H. Gibson, in report he has been asked to make to various agencies of the country. Safe to assume the agent's figures did not include much profit on cattle. This is the one stock-farmer's source of income that the market has cut off short at the pockets. Wheat and cotton and cotton by-products, feed and hay. The hay man has really gone to town this season. Production for the most part has been good and the sales on a rising market all the time since the beginning of the season. The ill fortune of the central Texas cattle and sheep man who has been trying to hold his foundation stock together has been the principal factor in the hay raisers' good fortune.

East Mound In Transfer to Kress

The Hale County school board granted transfer of East Mound high school pupils to Kress at the conclusion of a seven hour session. Pupils in high school grades in the East Mound rural district have gone to Plainview high school for the past several years. At the conclusion of the last school term school officials refused to permit the East Mound transfers to the Plainview district.

The Plainview school officials said in effect that to have the advantage of schools in the district East Mound would have to consolidate with Plainview and bear its share of expense of maintaining the district.

East Mound rejected the consolidation proposal in an election. The election carried in the Plainview district by a large majority among the comparative handful of votes cast. The transfer of the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade pupils to Kress in Swisher county, climaxed a series of meetings of the county school board, some attended by the East Mound board.

What's the MOST SURPRISING THING about this BUICK?

2 door, 6-passenger Special

WE'LL tell you the answer to that one — it's the figures on the price tag.

For some reason, lots of people just can't believe they can buy a Buick at a price so close to "the low-priced three."

Maybe it's because a Buick seems so much better and bigger.

Maybe it's because they think Buick has so much more power and room—which is true.

Maybe it is because so many distinguished people own Buicks—which is also a fact.

But the fact remains—if you can afford a new car, you can own a Buick—so let's see what you get.

You get the thrilling power of a Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head—as much power as you can get in cars costing $300 to $400 more.

You get as much room as you'll get in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

You get a ride that cost an honest-to-goodness million dollars to develop.

You get the silken smoothness of Dynaflex Drive.*

You get big-car comfort, styling, durability.

Don't take our word for it. Come in and see for yourself why so many folks are stepping up to this great car this year.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

$1,000. Other farmers said high fixed costs kept them from making additional soil outlays.

These arguments have valid points. As a result, continued technical assistance on how to overcome these obstacles may be necessary. It may also be desired in some cases to give financial assistance where it is requested and definitely needed.

But those who adhere to the short-term policy of neglecting soil work because the land will not be in their hands much longer have nothing to recommend them.

The land will be here long after we are gone. We should pass it on to the next generation of farmers in a better condition than we found it.

As A Farm Woman Thinks
(by Nellie Witt Spikes)

The Earth Is Mine
(John D. Engle, Jr., Fayette county, Kentucky.)
The earth belongs to me, and I, to her. She gives me all, but takes back all she gives. She is a patient, stern philosopher. And I admire the stoic way she lives.

Root-pierced, plow-torn, and torn by bombs of war, She does not weep. She is no pessimist. She knows the answers; knows what we are for; She has the strength and purpose to persist.

Though life may be cut down, new life springs up— Springs up forever in a million forms. She takes a deep drink from the sky, her cup; The streams, her veins, swell, and she laughs at storms.

I am the earth's. The earth belongs to me. She holds me prisoner, yet she sets me free. She is my servant, yet I am her slave. And she is both my cradle and my grave.

Don't you like the above poem? Well, the Progressive Farmer gave it third prize among more than 700 entries. Save it for your scrap book of poetry.

I have been very busy with this same good earth. I never saw such tomatoes! They were originated at Texas Tech and are called Red Cloud. The blooms do not fall off. Seems as if every one stays on and makes a tomato. They are almost white from tiny until they turn an orange red. The plants go to the ground with its heavy load of fruit. I should have had a mulch of straw under them. They look like a bunch of huge red and white grapes, they are so close together. And they are good to eat.

Little Johnny Jeff Laminack is the newest one in our family. He is so cute with his black hair and wondering eyes. He looks at us as if he was trying to see what kind of folks we are anyway. We took a red rosebud to church Sunday in honor of this our seventh grandchild and fifth grandson. It is nice to know that our lives will go on in the lives of our loved children and grandchildren.

The Estacado reunion was so very good. It makes one very happy to greet old friends of other years.

If anyone around Ralls wants to go back to the good old days, I think they will be cured by the time the Ralls Bills Day comes around. Just a look at the men who look as they had stepped out of the old family album will be a final cure. But Fletcher Stark looks so distinguished, he may allow his whiskers to get him some more compliments. But I think most all will be glad to see them go.

Every time I get the place watered all around, I say I will just let it die if it does not rain. But when all gets dry and ugly, I start out watering again, still saying I will quit.

SAVING ARGUMENT

A number of years, much money have been spent on a vast educational and program devoted to improving practices. Conservation-movement is gradually taking on increasing importance of saving our soil for future generations. But every farmer in Texas, especially those who are increasingly more aware of the importance of saving our soil, are not applying all the practices recommended by the conservation-movement. The reasons for this are many. Some are not applying all the practices recommended by the conservation-movement. Some are not applying all the practices recommended by the conservation-movement. Some are not applying all the practices recommended by the conservation-movement.

Center News

(By Mrs. J. E. Green)

CENTER, September 9. — It has been cool and pleasant ever since September came in. Today it is cloudy.

School has begun and the "great machine" is getting in full swing. The homecoming is over at Center church and we hope all the visitors enjoyed last Sunday as well as we, the host church did. Come again everybody and we hope those absent this year will show up next.

The last week-end in August the R. C. Ross family had a family reunion in their home. Those present were a sister, Mrs. Ita Parrish of Eastland, a sister, Mrs. S. A. Pitts and family of Oklahoma City, a brother, Grady T. Ross and family of Billings, Montana, the mother, Mrs. W. P. Ross of Bridgeport and Mrs. Maxine Ragsdale of Baileyboro, a daughter of the R. C. Ross's and a cousin, V. D. Ross and family of Hale Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Weiborn Miller visited in Fort Worth last week. One of the homes they visited was that of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Gren, former residents of our community.

The table was polished table held a brown pottery tea and coffee tray placed on one end of the table. On the other was a large green lazy Susan which held a yellow flower and candle arrangement in the center, from which small blueberry muffins, orange rolls and cranberry biscuits were served. The green and yellow color scheme was carried out in the floral arrangements throughout the entertaining.

Posture is to a woman's figure what humidity is to summer weather. Often we hear the wisecrack, "It's not the heat, it's the humidity." Yet rarely does a woman say, with equal truth, "It's not my pounds, it's my posture."

Few of us think about posture at all. We sit on our backbones to read, round our shoulders to write, work in the yard, do housework or drive the car. When we're tired, we relax stomach muscles and let ourselves go. We argue that we're being comfortable, yet that isn't always the result. Accordingly to the experts, incorrect posture can actually cause indigestion or neuralgia.

We know a woman who had a persistent backache that she was sure indicated some serious ailment; but the doctor said no. Finally she realized a chronic habit of sitting with her right foot hooked around a chair leg was causing it. Exercises and sitting in the right position for a few days made the backache disappear.

Physicologists also claim that the way we sit, stand and walk tells a lot about our character. Poor posture can be a dead giveaway for lack of self-confidence or self-respect. It says as plainly as words that we haven't an up-and-coming outlook.

If we want to see ourselves as others see us, we have only to watch for a few minutes in some public place to see how carelessly most women walk and stand. The woman who weighs 98 pounds looks scrawny if she stands wrong, petite and dainty if she stands right. A tall woman looks stately instead of oversized if she stands straight and tall. All women who "look like queens in their clothes" aren't the same size. What they have in common — besides good clothes is self-confidence and a little posture know-how.

How to have a winning TELEPHONE PERSONALITY by EMILY POST

We're often judged by the way we use telephone service. Good telephone technique and good telephone manners are important to a winning personality... and help you get the most from your telephone service.

One of my newspaper readers writes, "Nothing annoys me as much as hurrying to answer a ringing phone, only to find there is no one on the other end."

I think all of us feel that way. And there are two good rules to follow if we want to avoid this frustrating experience. When you make a call, allow the person you are calling at least a full minute to get to the phone. And when your own phone rings, answer as promptly as you can. In the long run, these two simple rules will save everyone's time and temper.

Many people ask me, "In a telephone conversation, who should end the call?"

Since a telephone call is like paying a friendly visit, the same good manners should apply. A host doesn't ask the guest to leave. In the case of a telephone call it is up to the caller—not the "host"—to end the conversation. Generally speaking, you are safe if you simply say what you called to say, then end your conversation politely.

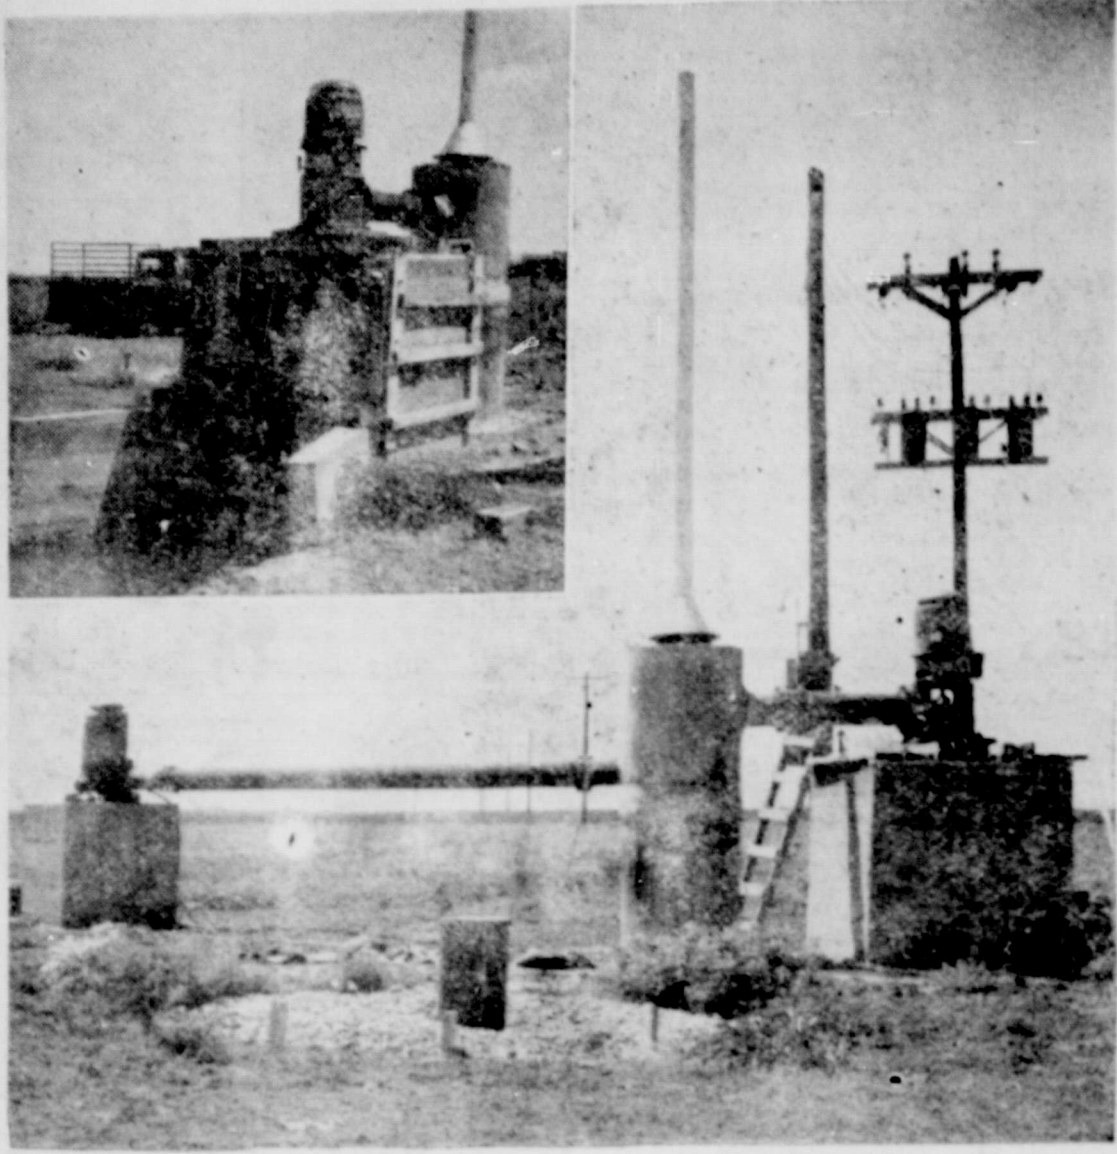

An acquaintance asks, "Mrs. Post, won't you please say something about children who hang onto busy party lines by the hour?"

This is a touchy subject, for, of course, children are part of the family, and definitely have a right to share in the use of the telephone. But forgetful teenagers who hold endless conversations over the phone should be reminded that no calls can reach you while they are monopolizing the line.

SOLVES PROBLEM OF LAKE

Reclaims Land, Re-Uses Waste Water, With Four-Purpose Pumping System on Irrigated Farm

Plagued with a 147-acre wet weather lake on his Floyd County farm, Leo Cooper this year launched an irrigation project with four purposes: to reclaim the land, re-use waste water and rainfall which collects in the lake; quickly drain harmful fall rains off the crops, and to experiment with recharging the water sands.

Cooper, who lives four miles north of Lockney on Farm Highway 398, has about 200 acres of irrigated cotton and feed crops surrounding the lake. On trial since April, the project has already saved 60 acres of cotton that were lost in previous years.

The experiment centers around a 12-inch, one-column, one-stage well which pumps a whopping 2,000 gallon per minute. Powered by an electric motor pulling about a 32 horse load, the well pumps into 3700 feet of 15-inch concrete pipe. A large vent on top provides enough atmospheric pressure to push the water over the hill to nearby crops.

This well sets about 100 yards from the bottom of the lake, low enough to keep all but an acre or two well drained. The lake now holds waste water from four directions — the overflow from irrigating cotton above it on all sides. Thus any waste water which gets away in the process of irrigation is caught up by the lake pump for re-use.

In periods of heavy rainfall, when the lake is full and water is not needed for crops, Cooper uses it also for a recharge well, pumping water through the same 15-inch line and sinking it into an old well a quarter of a mile up the hill.

Another recharge well is located about 15 feet from the lake pump. As yet untried, this consists of a "crooked hole" drilled in April of 1952. It was cased to 40 feet and has about 10 feet of perforated pipe in the top, surrounded by a bed of rocks and gravel. Cooper plans to completely cover the protruding 30 inches of perforated casing with fine gravel to serve as a filter for silt and trash.

Completing a triangle with the lake pump and recharge hole is another irrigation well, drilled in place of the crooked hole. This well is 150 feet deep, has an eight-inch pipe and four stages, and pumps 1200 gallons per minute into the same 3700 ft. line.

There is no evidence of drawdown yet from the regular eight-inch well. One can look down the recharge well and see water at a depth of about 30 feet. A third well, a three year old six-inch well located about a quarter of a mile north, shows evidence of drawdown after about two months of pumping.

Glenn Cooper, no relation to the owner, has operated the farm for the past five years. "We'd have been several thousand dollars loser this year without the lake pump," he said. "Last year we lost 30 acres of cotton north, 10 east and 20 south; and besides that, half a mile of highway was under water."

"We are expecting some pretty heavy rains in September, and we hope to get that water off our crops before they're hurt," Cooper added.

"After we reclaim as much of the lake as possible for crops, we plan eventually to put the lake bottom in permanent pasture," the manager said. The Coopers have a small herd of Aberdeen-Angus cattle.

Leo Cooper owns the farm in conjunction with his mother, Mrs. J. M. Cooper, who lives there. Cooper spends part of his time in Canyon attending to other farming interests.

The Cooper recharge project is being observed by the Hi-Plains Underground Water Conservation District, through Precinct Director C. J. Taylor, also of Lockney. The farm lies within the water district, which embraces parts of 21 counties in the Panhandle-South Plains.

Four Are Held For Burglaries

At the sheriff's office it was said the youths had admitted four of the Floydada burglaries and nine in Lockney. One or more of them also are involved in charges of burglary in Plainview.
 In addition the juvenile credited with being the ring leader is claimed to have operated briefly in Artesia and Roswell, New Mexico. The series of break-ins began on August 22 and the little crime wave came to a sudden halt on September 3 when the leader was picked up in Roswell. His statement involved the other boys, who are said to have made statements to officers.
 Hearings for the three juveniles is due to be held Saturday. It was said at the sheriff's office. One boy, who is 18 years of age, will be charged with burglary and will be tried in district court. The other three boys are 14, 15 and 16 years of age respectively. Their parents or guardians have been cited to appear with their sons.
 Most of the burglaries in Floydada and Lockney, with which the boys are charged, occurred on Friday, Sunday and Monday nights, August 22, 24 and 25.

Sanitation, Policing, Street Maintenance All Acute Problems for City Council Discussion

Problems of sanitation and policing in particular and street maintenance as well had the attention of the city council in their discussion on Monday night's regular meeting.

Health problems of the growing community as well as proper protection of property and lives accentuated the need for more money to do all the things that need to be done.

With only three councilmen present no action was taken. But the council declares the community is faced with the need for better garbage disposal. Smaller garbage containers and more frequent disposal are sorely needed, it was indicated in the round table discussion.

It also calls for a packer type disposal truck or trucks, too, and involves the expenditure of several thousand dollars by the city, should be put into force. The smaller containers with lids are being used in most cities and towns of the country in advice of the State Department of Public Health.

Mayor J. A. Patterson aired the city's sanitation problem by way of a radio this week. The city is urging that the open oil barrel containers which dot the alleys of the community be removed and disposed of in smaller containers with lids like their place. Dealers who have locked the health department approved garbage containers say this type is unpopular and are not due to replace the open barrels until their adoption as official by the city.

More frequent garbage disposal trips over the city presents a financial problem in addition to the cost of the packer-type garbage trucks.

Delegation Wants Sewer Service
A delegation of resident taxpayers who called on the council during their session Monday night presented their problem of sewage disposal.

Brotherhood Issues Invitation to Rally on Monday Night

The Brotherhood of the First Baptist church have issued an invitation to the church membership and all friends in the community to a rally to be held at the Plains Baptist Assembly tabernacle at 7 o'clock Monday, September 15. Cold watermelon will be served.

The pastor, R. Earl Allen, will show slides and give a summary on his Holy Land trip he recently made.

The Brotherhood will furnish transportation to the camp. Those desiring transportation will meet at the church at 6:45 o'clock.

and asked for extension of the city's lines to serve their area in the south west part of the city. The delegation was told that engineering problems would have to be solved before their request could be considered further.

In the matter of additional police force the city has the problem of finances too. The city's water and power department's income are carrying a considerable part of the city's current load of expenses already. How far to go with added expense over and above income from taxes is the question. The city has a money problem already what with added costs of material and services and increased salary budget, threat-

Miss Golightly and her roommate, Miss Sandra Robinson, of Arenas Valley, N. M., will receive in their room the hundreds of guests who will attend the dedicatory ceremonies and open house which follows.

The dormitory, a two-story brick veneer, is in modified colonial architecture to harmonize with the other new buildings on Wayland campus but the interior is one of the most modern to be found on a college campus.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Garvin and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Garvin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Garvin in Childress last week-end. They also visited Mrs. Garvin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Newman at Cee Vee, Texas.

ed with going even higher. Street maintenance, always a problem, is accentuated by the fact that a new street maintainer is needed for many miles of unpaved streets, and the present machinery inadequate for the job. Possibility that a new maintainer will be bought was indicated in the talks.

Only official action that got to the recording stage was a motion and second that all bills found to be in order be paid.

If they are planning to attend he needs to know it so that the women who are preparing the meal will know how many to prepare for. His telephone number is 256.

Of the three directors to be named the terms of two expire. They are Raymond Rucker and Edell DuBois. The third director, for whom a successor will be named is Sun Reeves, who has moved out of the association's area. His term has two years to go. Gladys Roberts and Travis Jones Take Vows in Twilight Ceremony

In a setting of white gladioli, palm, and candelabra at twilight, Miss Gladys Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Roberts, became the bride of Travis Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tate Jones, Thursday, August 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Baptist church. White flowers, ferns, and candies marked the bridal aisle.

The Rev. John Allen of South Plains officiated in the double ring ceremony. Miss Nell Swinson, organist, played traditional prenuptial music including "Song of the Night" — Norden, and "Poem" — Finch. As the mothers of the couple were seated and the candles were lighted, Miss Swinson played "Traumerie" — Schumann. Candelighters were Loy Lee Trice and Johnny Roberts, brother of the bride. Miss Mollie June French sang "I Love Thee" — Greig. Then to the strains of Bond's "I Love You Truly," the bridal party entered the sanctuary, using either aisle for the approach of the groomsmen and feminine attendants simultaneously. Groomsmen were Loy Lee Trice of Floydada, Charles Payne of Matador, and Johnny Roberts of Rye, Colorado.

The Wedding Attendants

Mrs. Everett Perry, jr., was the brides chosen honor attendant. She was gowned in ice blue nylon net over taffeta. The gown was designed with fitted, strapless bodice, full bouffant skirt, and shoulder cape with Queen Anne collar. Her head-dress was a shirred half hat of matching material. She carried yellow daisies designed as a basket with greenery and a blue maline handle. Other attendants were Miss Joy McCravy, bridesmaid; Mrs. Johnny Roberts of Rye, Colorado, sister-in-law of the bride, bridesmatron, and Mrs. Bill Jones, sister-in-law of the groom, also a bridesmatron. They were dressed identical to the honor attendant. The groomsmen and best man wore white dinner jackets. Attending his brother as best man was Bill Jones of Floydada.

As Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" was played, the bride, given in marriage by her father, entered wearing an exquisite gown of white Chantilly lace over bridal satin. The gown had fitted bodice, long fitted sleeves with points extending over the hands, hoop skirt with bridal train, and a Queen Anne collar. Her veil, tiered and of finger tip length, was of bridal illusion having a headdress of white velvet covered with pearlized leaves. The bridal bouquet, a white prayer book covered with stephanotis and white velvet leaves was centered with a delicate white orchid, with white satin streamers.

Wedding March Recessional

In a most unusual way and at a most impressive moment, Miss French sang "Because" — D'Hardelot immediately preceding the exchange of vows. During the exchange of vows, Miss Swinson played Schubert's "Ave Maria." Immediately following the minister's prayer, N. E. Tyler, jr., of Hereford, Texas, sang "The Lord's Prayer," Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used as the recessional for the party to leave the sanctuary.

Mrs. Roberts, mother of the bride, was dressed in a lovely street length dress of navy wool crepe fashioned with a high neckline and elbow length sleeves. Her accessories were navy and white. She wore an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Jones, mother of the groom

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Jones . . . have returned from a honeymoon spent in the mountains of New Mexico.

wore a cocktail suit, soft in detail in a luxurious fabric of Le Sur wool. The color a divine shade of Mauve was accented with matching gloves, a lovely orchid and peccan accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was given by the brides parents at their home, 704 South Main street. Assisting the bride and groom and their parents in receiving guests were feminine attendants of the bride. Mrs. Loy Lee Trice secured names for the bride's book.

The bridal table was centered with the bouquets of the matrons of honor. The confection, a three-tiered wedding cake centered on a reflector, was topped and surrounded with stephanotis. Miss Clara Mae Jones and Mrs. Fred Cardinal served cake and punch after the bride and groom had cut the first slice from the beautiful confection. Assisting in serving were Miss Ruth Elaine Harmon and Mrs. D. T. Mayo.

Wedding Trip to New Mexico

When the couple left on their wedding trip to New Mexico, Mrs. Jones was dressed in a two-piece gray faille suit with black velvet trim, black accessories, and a white orchid corsage.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Floydada High school. Mrs. Jones was just recently graduated from Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing and Amarillo college, and is employed as school nurse for the Floydada school system.

Mr. Jones was a June graduate of West Texas State college of Canyon and is engaged in farming in the Dougherty community.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were from Clovis, New Mexico, Ralls, Abernathy, Berger, Pampa, Amarillo, Canadian, Springfield, Colorado, Boise City, Oklahoma, Connecticut, and California.

McIntosh-Norman Vows Read August 30 at Lawton, Okla

Miss Ella Hope McIntosh became the bride of Welms Lee Norman, in a double ring ceremony solemnized at 10 o'clock on Saturday, August 30, in the Centenary Methodist church at Lawton, Oklahoma.

Reverend Robert F. Naylor, pastor, read the nuptial vows in the presence of close relatives and intimate friends of the couple.

White chrysanthemums flanked by candelabra formed an appropriate setting for the simple and impressive ceremony.

Miss Jo Ann Collins, maid of honor, serving the bride as her only attendant, wore a green iridescent silk dress, while her flowers were a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

The bride looked lovely in a white lace suit over pink taffeta, with white accessories. She carried a nosegay of white carnations and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

The bridegroom's father, Bill Norman, served his son as best man.

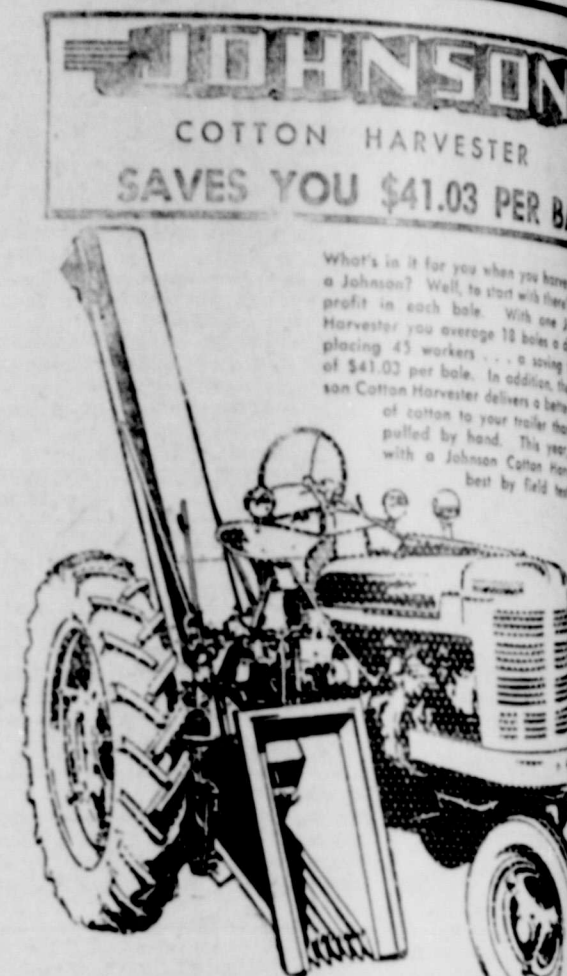

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McIntosh chose a brown and white print crepe dress with yellow rose bud corsage, while the bridegroom's mother wore brown shantung with brown accessories and wore a yellow rose bud corsage.

The couple departed immediately following the ceremony on a wedding trip to points of interest in Colorado.

The bride, is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. McIntosh of Lawton, formerly of Floydada, and is a graduate of the Floydada High school with the class of 1949. She has been employed with the Southwestern Bell Telephone company in Lawton. She was with the telephone company here before moving with her family to Lawton.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill M. Norman, of Dougherty and is also a graduate of the Floydada High school with the class of 1949. He is a graduate of the New Mexico Military Institute junior college with the class of 1952. Associated with his father in extensive farming interests, he will be a student at West Texas State college in Canyon, this fall where the couple will establish a home. Out-town wedding guests include the bridegroom's parents of the late Mr. and Mrs. Norman and of his parents here for a before going to Canyon, will enter college next year.

Buchanan - Hogood Ceremony Said at First Christian Church

The First Christian church was the scene Wednesday, August 27, at 8 p.m. for the wedding of Miss Nancy Buchanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Buchanan and Dan Jennings Hagood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil L. Hagood. Reverend Tom Waters, pastor, officiated in the double ring ceremony before an altar of candelabra flanked by greenery and baskets of yellow and white pom mums.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Roberta Garrett played traditional wedding music and accompanied Jackie Hutchinson as he sang "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Peggy Don Latham wearing a yellow nylon tulle ballerina length dress, assisted Aubrey Guthrie in lighting the candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original floor length gown of white Chantilly lace and silk tulle over satin. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped neckline with a tulle yoke. Tiny puff sleeves of Chantilly lace and long gauntlets of tulle extended into points over the hands. The skirt was fashioned with Chantilly lace inserts over a double skirt of silk tulle. Her fingertip veil of imported bridal illusion fell from a cap of lace bordered with seed pearls entwining a ruffle of illusion. The bride carried a white bible topped with a white orchid, with streamers of white satin ribbon tied in love knots that held a shower of stephanotis.

For something old the bride wore a gold bracelet, belonging to the bridegroom's mother; something new was the pearl necklace and ear rings a gift of the bridegroom, something borrowed was a handkerchief belonging to her sister and something blue was the blue satin garters and she wore a six pence in her shoe for luck.

Sister is Maid of Honor
Miss Karen Buchanan served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of shrimp color nylon net over taffeta, fashioned in an off the shoulder design. Shasta daisies decorated the back of her head dress, which was of sweetheart design. She carried a net covered muff with Shasta daisies and white satin ribbon.

Miss Edith Garrett was bridesmaid and her dress headpiece and muff were of aqua nylon net, made identical in style as the maid of honor costume.

Kelly Hagood, of Dumas brother of the bridegroom acted as best man. Don McGuire of Anton was groomsman and Bill Jones as an usher.

A reception, immediately following the ceremony was held in the Fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was laid with a white organdy floor length cloth and baskets of pom mums and candelabra completed the setting.

Mrs. Kelley Hagood presided at the bride's book, and Mrs. Bill Jones and Misses Floy Jackson and Clara Jones served the wedding cake and lime ice to the guests. Miss Dorothy Holmes furnished piano music during the reception.
