crops battled to save tensive damage. At Floydada a half munities report somewhat similar amounts

Wind, Sand, Static

The damage came Friday when a hard wind that blew heavily from 10 o'clock until nearly sundown from the southwest, skimmed the area with fine sand from the soil. The cutting grit, heavily charged with static electricity, cut some of the cotton stalks above the ground and whipped the buds out of others. The damage on Saturday morning appeared to be even more enormous than it actually was.

County Agent Bill Rodgers' survey the first of this week resulted in the expressed belief that 6,000 acres would cover the amount of land where a total loss occured. The extent of damage to the other 8,000 varies in extent, he said. Where the cotton was lost the farm operators, for the most part, have already reseeded with forage grains.

Heat Bears Down

Meanwhile the mid-summer heat has been bearing down throughout the month of June. Four days only the temperature has been below 100 degrees. June 6 the high was 95 degrees, June 15, 16 and 17, recorded 94, 96 and 94 degrees respectively.

Highest temperature recorded was 109 degrees on June 14. Every day since the record has been 100 degrees or above. Yesterday high, hot wind in gusts helped to make the 101-degree heat seem higher.

Meanwhile, however, irrigation cotton farm operators have been cleaning out their cotton, which has .08 been adding leaves fast despite the weather. Ample manual labor has been available and modern implements have made the job easier for cleaning out small weeds and grass in cotton rows, where water was run down the row.

The story on dry ranges and unrrigated crop lands has been a different one. Mostly the farm operator has been beating time, waiting for the rain that has refused to fall in ample quantities as yet.

Barwise Wheat Reports Good

Most generally profitable wheat operations in Floyd county this seas-on have been in the vicinity of Barwise, where reports indicate that the yields have run consistently between 20 and 27 bushels per acre. There, as elsewhere in the county the season is about over. July 1 should see all the crops finished Barwise is an area of heavy use of irrigation and most all of the wheat marketed there was from irrigated

The elevators at Barwise, two in number, have received about three million pounds, or about 50,000 bushels, said Miss Barbara Barnard, who is bookkeeper for both of the elevators. Very little of this grain has gone out by railway, she said. Four carloads had been shipped Wednesday, the most of the remainder going out by truck.

Seventy-Two Car Loads Combining reports on elevator receipts and shipments out of Floydada this season, it appears that about 75 carloads have been delivered here. About half of this is going into storage locally. Something less than 40 cars has already gone out by rail to terminal elevators. Dougherty and Boothe spur, us-

Claude ually heavy shippers, have been in an area of low production this season. No figures were quickly available on these shipping points late vesterday.

Historic Note JUDGE DANIEL, HIS BIOGRAPHY

Judge J. E. Daniel, who dates back into Briscoe and Floyd county history for more than 60 years 15 writing a biography of his life that tells a lot of things which it is believed historians writing of this interesting era will value highly, The judge was closely associated with public affairs in Briscoe county for more than 40 years, as teacher, lawyer and public official. Much of this experience he is putting into typewritten form.

Another interesting job the judge s doing is working up a history and family tree of the Daniel family and also of the Williams family. Judge Daniel's mother was a Williams.

The judge is taking many of the things he knows about the families back for two or three generations and tieing them in with the Census Bureau records. A niece in Washington, D. C., is being helpful in this job, checking the census records there, he said.

He has been at the pleasant task for more than two years now and has assembled a vast amount material. It begins to look like he'll be able to get the family tree traced back for several hundred years.

WHAT'S NEW IN RURAL HEALTH 3. WHAT ARE TONSILS FOR ?

Answer to Question No. 1:

1. Strenuous exercise, especially after 40, may shorten life. On the other hand, one study indicates that college athletes live slightly longer lives than preferred risk life insurance policyholders. Football players and those who had letters in two or more sports scored highest in longevity. Another study, however, showed that holders of high scholastic honors lived longer than the athletes.

Answer to Question No. 2:

2. Ru-al communities that need tors are attracting young physicians by building clinics that contain the tools modern doctors need to practice efficiently. These tools, like X-ray, are too expensive for the every supplied to him in hospitals. Now small towns are "baiting doctor traps" by furnishing the doctor with modern medical equipment.

Answer to Question No. 3:

3. No one is certain what use tonsils may have but one theory is that when they become infected in the first three years of life they tend to help the individual build resistance against later infection—a kind of natural protection. In most cases this protection is only temporary. Doctors usually advise removal of the tonsils when there are repeated attacks of sore throat, when tonsils and adenoids cause mouth-breathing, or there is strong suspicion that they are harboring infection.

NEW ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION TECHNIQUE, the Nielsen "backpressure arm-lift" method, which has now been adopted as standard by the American Red Cross, the Armed Forces and the National Safety Council, is demonstrated in these scenes from a new motion picture, "Seconds Count," produced by the Ætna Casualty and Surety Company. The 10-minute movie, which portrays a step-by-step demonstration of the Nielsen method, may be obtained without charge for showings by contacting local Ætna representatives or through the company's public education department at Hartford, Conn. The "back-pressure arm-lift" method increases chances of revival since it pulls fresh air into lungs as well as expelling air from them. In administering it, rescuer rocks forward exerting pressure on victim's back (top photo) and then rocks backwards grasping victim's arms (bottom photo), repeating cycle 10 to 12 times a minute.

Aren't other people's habbits silly? Take reading comics. We don't happen to be comic strip addicts at our house, but when we do glance at them we find about one in ten has the slightest claim to being comical. Many have a downright sinister undertone. Half the time a newcomer can't even tell whose side he's on from one day's reading. Yet adults with a great deal more sense that we have plod through these things daily, quote the hero, and adopt the argon of a favorite.

Or take drinking bottled soft drinks. Now there's a habit that's sure enough silly - if you don't happen to like 'em. Men and boys, women and girls, all solemnly march up to the big red or green box twice daily, deposit their nickles, take out a bottle and guzzle its contents. Yet the habit were inconvenient three-fourths of 'em would forget it in two weeks. To the late sleeper, the early riser habit seems silly. But the early riser wonders what in the world people do staying up half the night, then sleeping all morning. We know some people who can sit up till the wee. small hours playing samba or gin rummy. May not be a cent exchanged on the game, but it's blood and thunder for points- set down with pencil on paper, then promptly forgotten when the game ends.

Other foolish habits-when they-re somebody's else: climbing mountains, setting speed records in airplanes, going to cold places during the sunny summer months; smoking cigarettes by the dozen. Just brings to mind that whoever thought up the saying about all the world being queer but thee and me, ("and even thou art a little queer,") a couple of centuries ago, had some-

ADVICE TO YOUNG BRIDES

- is to listen to mother when she tells you the facts of life . . . but
- if you really want to know how to keep love alive long after the honeymoon is over . . . listen to us.

You'll never look more glamorous than on your wedding day, and the secret of a successful married life is to stay that way.

It was your personal charm that changed him from a browsing bachelor into a bewildered benedict. It was glamour that got the guy that away and it is personal charm that will prolong the enchantment throughout married life.

Keep your glamour by keeping your clothes spotless. Let us help you by dry deaning them often. Clothes need cleaning often in warm weather. The safe, sure way is to sent all non-washable clothing to CLARK'S CLEANERS for cleaning after two wearings when the weather is hot. It's good social

Each year, farmers and ranchmen use a large amount of short-term

Such credit is usutly not secured may be in order, depending upon by a lien on real estate, but is largely repaid within one year, although some runs for a longer period. A quick look at this situation shows that these short term debts increas- Bobby Pin Lodged ed for 2.9 billion dollars on January 1, 1946, to about 7.6 billion dollars on January 1, 1953.

In the past few years, farm procame scarce. This fact encouraged Baby In Hospital farmers to do more and more of their work wiht labor-saving machines and to spend more money for fertilizer, farm improvements, and C. other measures that promote larger output per man-hour of labor.

All this requires money. With incomes favorable, farmers haven't hesitated to borrow to supply their needs. Many have found it necessary to increase their short-term debt. The total short-term debt for the country as a whole has increased until it is now higher than the farm mortgage debt.

There are signs, however, that the upward trend has been halted. Ecomics point out that short-term debts did not increase as much in 1962 as in recent years and suggest that farmers may be tightening their debt belts.

This may be a wise move. The outlook points to a lower farm in-come, in general, than in recent years, and many farmers and ranchers are more careful in assuming the risks of debt. The well-equipped condition of many farms, also, is making the use of short-term credit less necessary in some instances. Perhaps it doesn't pay to get too nervous about the present slide in are so little and well covered, it is difficult to see them. They spin a cone-shaped, waterproof silk cover and conceal the cone with bits of bark and green leaves. As they grow, the bag worms add to this tent-like home, only sticking their heads out long enough to feed on the tender tips of plants. The cone-shaped cov-er grows with the bag worm and may be as large as three or four inches by August.

The specialist says the bag worms should be killed now before they reach a mature stage. A lead arsenate spray, applied once a week, will kill them before the bag worm destroys or seriously damages a plant. To make the spray solution, mix three tablespoonsful of lead arsenate in a gallon of water. It if rains, spray more often because rain washes the poison off the plant. This is the 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. It's one of 16 Chevrolet models in 3 series, which add up to the widest choice in the low-price field.

Some Chevrolet advantages worth considering when you're ready to choose a car.

Next to a new house, a car is probably your most important purchase. Here are some facts to help you make up your mind about which make to buy.

Don't you agree that it's well worthwhile to weigh all the factors carefully before you buy any new car? Let's consider the major reasons why people choose one make over another and see how the 1953 Chevrolet stands in those respects.

Styling You Can Stay Proud Of

Styling, of course, is a matter of personal taste. Because we think Chevrolet is the best-looking car in its field, doesn't necessarily mean you'll think so, too. But we can tell you that the majority of our showroom visitors prefer Chevrolet styling and compare its appearance most favorably with cars costing a great deal more.

And you might consider this: Chevrolet styling is the newest in its field. It's the kind of styling that stays new, too. For it is based, not on fads or extremes, but on the fundamentals of good, modern design.

The One Automobile Body Almost Everybody Knows

It's not really surprising that so hany people prefer Chevrolet's appearance. For Chevrolet is the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. And Fisher, as you know, is the only automobile body manufacturer with a world-wide reputation for styling, craftsmanship and quality.

The Many Benefits of High-Compression Power

When you drive a new Chevrolet (and we hope you'll do that soon), you'll notice these things: faster acceleration from a standing start; greater passing ability in traffic and on the highway; the new ease with which you climb steep hills.

These are just some of the benefits of Chevrolet's new high-compression power. In gearshift models, there is an advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine with a 7.1 to 1 compression ratio. Teamed with the new Powerglide automatic transmission • is an entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine with 7.5 to 1 compression ratio. It is the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field.

A Great Gain in

Gasoline Economy . Along with remarkable new performance, Chevrolet's advanced engines give you far greater gasoline mileage. In fact, this year marks the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And that includes substantial savings on over-all upkeep, as well as on gasoline.

New Getaway in the New Powerglide*

The new Powerglide automatically drops into "Low" range for starting and for passing in city traffic. Then, as you glide along, it slips smoothly and almost imperceptibly into cruising range. The results are much faster and more positive acceleration, and much lower fuel consumption.

The First Power Steering in a Low-Priced Car

This year's Chevrolet is the only car in its field to offer you the extra ease and convenience of Power Steering, optional at extra cost. With it, you can spin the wheel with the strength of one finger. You can seesaw in and out of tight parking places without the slightest strain. You get an additional cushion against road shocks and jars. Driving is easier, safer.

A Smoother and a Safer Ride

Chevrolet is the heaviest low-priced car. Model for model, a Chevrolet will weigh as much as 200 pounds more than the other makes. You often hear people say they buy high-priced cars because they're heavier, hold the road better and ride better. Well, isn't it logical, then, that Chevrolet's extra weight (which comes from extra strength of body and frame) would result in a better ride?

Chevrolet is the Lowest-Priced Line

Certainly, price is one of the most important factors of all. We're glad to be able to tell you that Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in its field.

Now, you might well ask, "How can Chevrolet offer me more and still cost less?" There is a simple, logical answer to that.

Remember that Chevrolet builds more care than any other manufacturer. Chevrolet, along with General Motors, has greater facilities for research, for engineering and production. So, isn't it reasonable that these greater facilities bring manufacturing advantages and economies which Chevrolet can pass on to you in terms of higher quality at lower price?

An Endorsement Given No Other Car

Again this year, more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. Obviously that wouldn't be true unless people liked Chevrolet better. Unless Chevrolet offered more things people want-more value.

So, when you're ready to choose your new car, wouldn't you agree that Chevrolet merits your careful consideration? We welcome your visit at any time, so that you can look the car over yourself and try it out on the

As I go about the place with my hoe and moving the water here and there, many things come to my mind. Seems as if I can think clearer while I work. I got to wondering why so many things appealed to me, even now. Such as bottles, buckets, etc. In my busy days on the farm when money was not plentiful, I found many uses for things I carefully saved. An old worn-out coat would wrap a water pipe, a piece of oilcloth would make a dandy cover for a tub of baby chickens. I took a round iron ring the size of a quart bottle, heated the ring and placed it around the neck of the bottle, thus breaking off the top leaving a smooth edge and leaving a fine jelly glass. An old felt hat made jar rubbers which we used then for canning whenever one ran out and did not get to town.

Old clothes made warm braided and crocheted rugs for cold floors, old woolens made warm quilts for ets were always needed for milk, tin cans (we did not have many as we or a crack in the door. would help stake down the chicken wire around the yard, paste board boxes would come in handy, and so on and on we saved and used again

Our grandson, Carey Spikes, came last night. Tall and handsome he looked as he came down the runway of the big four-motored plane which had brought him from Memphis, My mind was ruffled with small Tennessee. Only a few hours had he been on his trip, almost bored with the length of it. I took a peek backwards and saw a covered wagon drawn by oxen rolling, rocking and climbing ever a bit higher and higher to the plains. Wonder how my great grandchildren will travel?

Two more Crosby pioneers lie at rest in the Crosbyton cemetery. W. H. Hames and J. Frank Smith have gone on ahead of some of the rest of us. The pioneer ranks are getting thin. Two good men, men of action Maybe this year, Quien sabe? or who and vision, giving their best to the new land to which they had come to make their homes. To my dear friends, Mrs. Hames and Mrs. Smith, this poem is lovingly dedicated.

a party to in Korea makes sorry reading. Millions of leaflets dropped behind the enemy lines promised prisoners freedom of choice. Their fate, until Mr. Rhee cut the Gordion knot, was to rest with a so-called "neutral" repatriation commission. There are some basic facts about Mr. Rhee's stand which can-America, speaking for the United Nations, called back General MacArthur's victorious army and substituted Mr. Atcheson's choice of a war of attrition for a search for a decisive victory leaves slight opportunity for any other choice than the one made-a sorry truce in terms that are not in the American manner-to stop the bloodshed and try to get back those American prisoners whom the Communists have not already butchered. Americans already know in their hearts that the truce is just the sorry thing that the Korean president says it is. What we especially dislikes-and this is not one of those theoretical things but a hard, cold fact—our side has to assume that the Korean republic has no standing at the bar of justice. We do assume it in our arguments in fact. We put Communism and free government on the same footing when we draw a truce line that cuts Korea in half. We concede the whole Communist case. Mr. Rhee has the arguments. But in spite of all that we face the compelling fact that some kind of a truce must be made, if it can be. American people face hard, unpalatable facts. The Korean's action in turning loose friendly prisoners of war by the thousands only makes it more apparent that we jumped out of the fat right into the fire.

(A Guest Editorial)

Unless this forthcoming holiday is different from all that have preceded it, thousands of Americans will become dependents on Independence Day.

They will be the maimed, the widowed, the orphaned. For the rest of their lives some of the maimed will have to depend on others for their physical care and comfortsome of the widowed and orphaned will have to depend on relatives or the state for their financial support.

And the dependency of the maimed, the widowed, the orphaned will be the result of independence day accidents.

In addition, several hundred Americans will pay for the celebration with their lives. All this because of accidents that need not happen.

Holidays have become horror days in the United States. In recent years many holidays have brought such a high accident toll that they assume the proportions of a national catastrophe. And this carnage need not oc-

THE DRAFT LAW AND REGULATIONS

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of 10 short articles on the draft law he was appointed foreman, a job he and its rules and regulations.)

It is a local draft board's responsibility, under law and regulations, to decide, subject to appeal, the class in which each man registered with it shall be placed.

Each registrant is considered as available for military service until his eligibility for deferment or exemption from military service is clearly established to the satisfaction of the local board.

The board is obligated to receive all pertinent information on classification presented to it, says Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director.

Mailing by the local board of a classification questionnaire to the latest address furnished by a registrant is notice to the registrant that he will be classified in I-A. unless information is presented to the local board, within the time specified for return of the questionnaire, which will justify his deferment or exemption.

Unless the local board gives him added time the registrant must return the questionnaire filled out within 10 days from date it was mailed.

The state draft director points to this paragraph in the Selective Service Regulations which the board must always keep in

"In classifying a registrant there shall be no discrimination for or against him because of his race, creed, or color, or because of his membership or activity in any labor, political, religious, or other organization. Each such registrant shall receive equal justice."

OWN-LMES MPANY Irrigation Pump Can Fight Fires

Irrigation has proven a profitable practice for many farmers. It has an added advantage when irrigating equipment is arranged so that it can also be used for fire protection.

Emmet Cabaniss of Maxeys, Georgia, has his equipment set up so that if a fire breaks out, he can be pumping 1200 gallons of water per minute within ten minutes. His 300-acre farm has five man-made lakes, one near his buildings. He uses 1600 feet of six-inch pipe line. His pump one near his buildings. He uses 1600 feet of six-inch pipe line. His pump and power unit are mounted on a trailer for quick transportation.

The equipment not only protects him against fire, but also against drought. He improved the system last fall by repowering the pump with a 4-cylinder General Motors Diesel engine. Extra power of the Diesel permitted him to switch from an 800-foot line to the 1600-foot line. Although the new engine pumps 50% more water than the gasoline engine he used previously—it costs no more to run.

Mr. Cabaniss now has 200 acres that can be irrigated by overhead sprinklers. He can put an inch of water over three acres every hour. He figures his irrigation system is rapidly paying for itself by preventing crop loss and increasing milk production of his 70 dairy cows.

Receive Paving on City Hiways

Last week the State Highway de-partment formally accepted the three-lane highway through the city on Second and Houston streets, Highways 70 and 207, with three blocks of center paving on 207 along Missouri street.

Kerr and Middleton were the contractors, the total cost running about $110,000 including curb and gutter paid for by city and property owners at a cost of slightly more than $29,000.

Highway width on the route through the city now provides three lanes of traffic with parking lanes on either side.

The new look on the highway is considered a triumph of civic pride on the part of owners of adjacent property, who accepted their portion of the cost on a voluntary basis, permitting the state highway department to handle the entire job as one. The city put up the money for the property owners, the latter re-imbursing the city.

A small refund will be made property owners on their contracts, it is indicated as probable, within a-
