

Six Candidates Report Football Practice Monday

RESERVE ANOTHER SECTION?

All the reserve seat tickets for the 1953 Whirlwind football season have been sold...

Principal A. E. Baker, who headed up the season ticket sale, finds the demand sufficient to open up another section of 150 seats...

A few would-be holders of reserved seats have indicated an interest, Mr. Baker said, but the number would have to increase substantially before it would be feasible to put the seats in the reserved category...

Only two seats in Sections A and B were left unsold Monday. Most of the seats went the first day of the sale last Wednesday...

General admission to the football games will be $1 per game, which is in addition to the price of the reserved seats.

The three youngest cowhands participating in the Ninth Annual Boys' Ranch Rodeo are R. to L. Steve Gannis, 5, of Nurnberg, Germany; Bobby Smith, 6, of Floydada, Texas; and Billy Allen, 6, of Wichita, Kansas...

First Bale Ginned at McCoy Boll Worm War Continues

ONION CROP HARVESTED

Onion harvest in this area is about complete. Gene Probasco of Barwise, the last of four growers in the county to complete...

W. O. Stewart, a neighbor of Probasco, finished Tuesday. The Simpson brothers, L. D. and Jim finished their crops last week.

In addition to the approximately 100 acres of onions sorted and sacked from these farms for market at the sheds on the QA & P industrial switch a part of a crop from Hale county was processed and 24,000 bags came from a grower at Idalou.

The Floyd county growers, after getting their crops raised, ran into a marketing problem, which they solved by leasing the vegetable shed here and interesting Brann Bros. of Atlanta, in their crop.

Gene Probasco said he had not made a count of his yellow onions, the last to be harvested. However, his white onions finished out at 893 bags per acre...

The movement of the onion crop has made jobs for more than a dozen men at the processing sheds for six weeks in addition to the crews working in the harvest field.

While another great cotton harvest for Floyd county was heralded by a first bale ginning at McCoy yesterday morning, a battle with bollworms for the late crop was still in progress over the county.

The bollworms are favored by damp, showery weather, the cotton raisers by the fact that they are alert to the situation. The first bale 1953 cotton was ginned by the McCoy gin, Dick Smith, owner. It was raised by Olin Bryant on his farm in Floyd county.

Late yesterday afternoon Olin Bryant, grower of the county's first bale, announced that a premium of $100 given by Floydada Chamber of Commerce for the first bale, will be given county's 4-H boys clubs and FFA chapters...

First Loads 1953 Maize Crop Reach Floydada Market in Week

Early milo was beginning to dribble in to the Floydada market over the week-end, but no big run is expected locally until after frost.

F. L. Stephens of the Starkey community delivered the first load to Producers Cooperative Elevator here Friday August 28. Mr. Stephens began cutting on a small patch on Thursday afternoon and had completed the job by Monday. The crop was irrigated once and the yield was about 2,000 pounds per acre...

J. W. Day, Jr., a neighbor of Stephens, brought in the first load to Farmers Elevator Co. on the same day. Day cut grain on two places south of McCoy. One averaged about 2,000 per acre and the other 3,000 pounds. Moisture content 14% and $2.30 the price paid.

Many growers with later milo and with crops that have suckered out were not expecting to enter their fields until after a frost had dried it out some.

Loan price on number two or better milo was set at $2.38 with storage and service charges reducing this to about $2.20 to the grower. If the market price falls much below the present figure much of the present crop will probably go in the loan.

Dr. and Mrs. Hill Here For a Day

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill, of Canyon, were in Floydada for a short time Monday of this week, guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clement B. McDonald.

Dr. Hill, president-emeritus of West Texas State, and Mrs. Hill have split up their vacation this year into several brief ones, on which they journey out for two or three days to points in short driving distance, where they see old friends. Mrs. Hill's health has not been as robust as in former years, the doctor explained, and he doesn't like to push an automobile down the road for day-long periods either.

On their absence from home last week the couple saw old friends at Portales, Lubbock, Floydada and a-round in a period of some five days. The McDonalds rate the Hill's old friends column by virtue of the fact that when Clement B. was a col-lege boy he attended West Texas State and lived in the Hill home a considerable part of this time. A letter man in football at the school and Mr. McDonald carries a life-time pass to Buffalo home games.

THE FASCINATING PEOPLE

The longer we live the more do human beings appear to be fascinating and full of interest and worth further observation. Foolish or clever, mean or saintly, poor or prosperous, — they are a part of God's menagerie. Every day and every hour they are engaged in the process of accommodating their unchanging selves to continually changing surroundings.

Some quiet, uneventful lives never move farther than their peaceful garden at 34th Street; others are cast into the cauldron of world affairs and become famous (or infamous) as they adjust their lives to opportunity. Myriads immortalized by the poet are lost to fame and fortune.

Tennis Courts Slabs are Laid

L. D. Barte, Explorer Advisor, announces that the boys of the troops had finished one tennis court at Napoleon park and Wednesday were finishing one-half of the second court.

The city furnished two men to do the finishing work on the courts, but the boys did the other work. They hauled all sand and gravel. Aaron Carthel furnished the trucks for the haul and each gas station in the city furnished gas and oil for one load of gravel.

The boys are grateful for every bit of help they have had on the project.

They are still about $300.00 short of having enough cash to pay for the job.

No lights or back stops have yet been installed at the courts, said Mr. Barte.

Mrs. Coolidge Gives Nation Calvin's Papers

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. — Mrs. Grace Coolidge has presented to the Library of Congress as a gift to the nation a large group of her husband's papers, which the former President himself deposited in the Library in 1929.

The collection numbers some 82,000 pieces and are a valuable part of the Library's original research materials in the field of recent American history.

The collection consists of correspondence conducted in the Executive Office during President Coolidge's administration.

In addition to the Coolidge collection, the Library has the papers of most former Presidents of the United States and of more than 20 former Secretaries of State including Charles Evans Hughes. It also has the papers of William Allen White, Coolidge's close friend and biographer, and of Harlan Fiske Stone, who was Attorney General in the Coolidge administration.

The Coolidge papers contain many personal letters from Charles Evans Hughes, Frank B. Kellogg, Andrew W. Mellon and other members of his cabinet.

The files on Lindbergh in the collection reflects the tremendous public excitement at the conclusion of his solo, nonstop trans-Atlantic flight. A variety of honors for him were suggested, such as citations, awards, and medals; exemption from paying income tax for a number of years; and his name to appear on an airmail stamp.

U. S. Death Rate Is Down About 200,000 Annually

NEW YORK—Insurance statisticians report there are about 200,000 fewer deaths annually in the United States than in 1945 health and mortality conditions had continued to prevail.

Had the mortality rate prevailed in 1950—the most recent year for which complete data are available—there would have been almost 1,657,000 deaths, instead of the 1,452,404 actually recorded.

Decline in mortality from the disease of the heart, kidneys and circulatory system accounted for one quarter of the total number of lives saved in that year.

There were 25,000 fewer deaths than expected from pneumonia and influenza, and approximately the same number fewer from tuberculosis, and the savings in lives from fatal accidents amounted to something over 20,000.

Of the major causes of death, cancer alone showed a greater number of lives lost in 1950 than might have been expected on the basis of 1945 mortality. The figure was about 2,300 greater than if the earlier mortality still prevailed.

The achievement is attributed largely to the rapid advances in medical science, the steady rise in the general standard of living, and improved safety measures.

Almost all of the reduction in the accident toll was from mishaps other than those involving motor vehicles.

TV ACROSS THE CHANNEL

From Merrie Oide England comes this tale, about an elderly Yorkshire couple who were visiting an exhibition of domestic appliances, one of the Festival of Britain displays in London, and paused to gaze thru the glass panel of a demonstration washing machine at a bunch of laundry that was being swirled and splashed. "Well," said the lady of the pair, "if that's television, they can have it."

After the city of Boston was destroyed by the great fire of 1879, brickmakers set up their kilns on Boston Common to make the material to rebuild on the charred ashes of the old wooden city. The brick produced was of uniform size 9"x4"x2", the city fathers making it a civil crime to vary that dimension.

THE GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

(Besides being translated into nearly every language on the face of the earth, this famous address has been apologized to by many paraphrasers. Add this version to your collection. It is written by a member of the faculty of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Richard D. Fay, and appeared in the Harvard Alumni Bulletin. It is cleverly done in typical UN style.)

Eight and seven-tenths decades ago, the pioneer workers in this continental area implemented a new group based on an ideology of free boundaries and initial conditions of equality. We are now actively engaged in an over-all evaluation of conflicting factors. We are met in an area of maximum activity among the conflicting factors... to assign permanent positions to the units which have been annihilated in the process of attaining a steady state. This procedure represents standard practice at the administrative level.

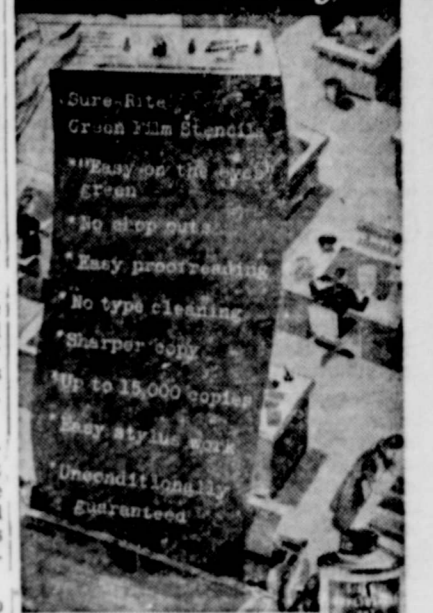

From a more comprehensive viewpoint, we cannot assign, we cannot integrate it to the point where the application of simple arithmetical operations to include our efforts would produce only negligible effects.

It is preferable for this group to be integrated with the incomplete implementation, that we here resolve at a high ethical level that the deceased shall not have been annihilated without furthering the project—that this group... shall implement a new source of unhampered activity, and that political supervision composed of the integrated units, for the integrated units, and by the integrated units, shall not perish from this planet.

CUMULATIVE INTEREST

A grizzled old banker in a rural town was being interviewed on his successful career.
"How did you get started in the banking business?" he was asked.
"Twas simple," he replied. "I put up a sign saying 'Bank.' A feller came in an' gave me $100. Another came by with $200. By that time my confidence had reached such a point that I put in $50 of my own money."

SOUND WAVES MAY FIND MANY OIL INDUSTRY USES

Sound waves, unheard because they are pitched so high or so low they do not register on the human ear, may be harnessed to drill wells, pump oil, or reduce the residual oil content of a reservoir, if early experiments prove successful. A sonic drill, with no big machinery in motion, gets its energy from the movement of mud that is circulated down into the well. Yet this acoustic drill can smash its way through solid granite as rapidly and easily as an ordinary rotary bit cuts through soft shale. There is also an acoustic pump which causes oil to flow out of the well with tremendous force. Consisting merely of a pair of weights geared to exert vertical thrust as they are rotated by an engine, this mechanism is attached to the top of a string of oil well tubing. It puts wave energy into the tube which, in effect, reaches down into the oil and, at 10 strokes per second, lifts hundreds of barrels of oil a day. The oil industry constantly is studying and experimenting to find more efficient and less costly methods for bringing oil to Americans in ever-increasing amounts.

Not Critical of President, Says Mahon on Return From Capital

Congressman George Mahon opened his Lubbock office on Monday of this week and plans to be in the district for the next several months. The next session of congress is scheduled to convene on January 6. Mahon expressed the hope that he could spend most of his time out among the people of the twenty-five-county district, explaining, however, that both his Lubbock and Washington offices would remain open.

In commenting on the general situation Mahon made the following statement:

"The present picture is dark in some respects. For this I do not blame the Democrats or the Republicans. We are thankful that an agreement has been reached to stop the shooting in Korea, but there is every indication that there is no good way to deal with the Russian Communist and that the Korean truce will prove to be as frustrating as the Korean war.

"Except for the undiminished threat to our security posed by the Communist, now apparently in possession of both the A-bomb and the H-bomb, Congress could have worked wonders in dealing with taxes and the budget."

Mahon pointed out that the fiscal picture was not altogether dark. He said that a downward trend in spending could definitely be expected unless there should be a spirit of defeatism, that in his opinion we should keep up our guard on the domestic and foreign fronts. He feels that we can successfully work our way through this difficult period. Mahon emphasized the fact that our country is essentially sound to the core and tremendously powerful and that we should not lose faith in each other or faith in our commander-in-chief, the President.

As to the new Republican Administration he had the following to say: "The first session of the 83rd Congress was notable for the fine spirit of cooperation which existed between the president and Congress. I am not critical of the president. I think he is doing the best he can under the difficult domestic and international situation, and I have given him my best cooperation. I have voted with him on all issues except in rare instances where I have had very deep convictions to the contrary. Likewise, I am not critical of the first session of the 83rd congress. I think it did about all that could have been expected of it under the circumstances. Of course, no miracles have been performed and a very big job yet remains to be done. The second session of the 83rd congress will have to deal with a wide variety of difficult and controversial subjects involving such matters as the extension of the farm program and many other important issues."

Gen'l Wainwright Gravely Ill Man

Floydada friends and acquaintances of General Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Corregidor, learn with regret of the serious illness of the general, who is a patient at the Brooks General hospital in San Antonio, his home.

First Bale

looked at more cotton more closely than any other man in the county this season, is of the opinion that the bottom crop of cotton this year in Floyd county is better than it was last year. Flea hoppers did little damage this season whereas they did considerable damage last year. "I believe we've got more fruit and more big fruit than usual on an average," is the way he expressed himself.

If it turns out that his estimate that 135,000 acres of cotton in the county survived the elements in the spring and summer is correct he thinks production will run above 100,000 bales this season. Favorable weather conditions could result in greater production than that, he said. He thinks the fringed cotton average is likely to run 8-tenths of a bale, and the acreage in dry land cotton is going to help the final total.

K. N. Klapp, the Anderson-Clayton cotton man at Lubbock, gives an estimate of 110,000 bales in this county. With more gins in the county the actual ginnings should also run up close to the 100,000-bale mark with much less cotton leaving the county.

Yesterday cotton raisers and ginners said considerable cotton is noticeably open in the fields of early-planted crops. Harvest of the bottom crop is due to be earlier than in a number of years.

Fruits may be put into the freezer for diabetic diets by using Sucaryl. Jams and preserves may also be made. This new discovery brings sweetness in cooked, baked, canned and frozen foods without sugar. It stays sweet in cooking and does not have a bitter aftertaste.

All women know the feeling of frustration when a cake that the family was looking forward to doesn't turn out "just right," due to some fault of the oven. The same thing may happen to the Sunday roast, and very few of us, feel that we can fix another just at the moment because this one is spoiled.

We may all know the idiosyncracies of our own stoves (as we do of our husbands) yet, no matter how hard we try to adjust them — the stoves in this case — there are times when they are too exasperating and we begin making plans for better means of cooking and to think about the purchase of a new stove. If we are thinking of a new electric range the basic features to be considered are:

Is an electric range easier to operate, easier to clean and care for than the range we have been using? How long will it last, will it pay for itself in the long run in the time saved, better tasting foods and improved health for our families? Ask your friends or neighbors who own one. They will be glad to give you their ideas.

Thoughts in Selection: How can you as a prospective purchaser of an electric range know which one to select? There is one basic rule to follow — shop wisely. Get all the facts and then choose the one best suited to your particular needs.

Read the literature on ranges. See demonstrations of electric cookery at your electric cooperative, or appliance dealers, and here again rely on the experience of friends and neighbors. Then analyze your individual needs and desires. These are some of the major points to be considered: The number in your family, their eating habits and do they prefer fried, boiled or baked foods?

Consider your kitchen space and arrangements—is there room for a large oven, how much cooking space will you need—there is no single formula for deciding.

Balance the features on one model against the features of another and choose the one that will best meet your individual needs.

Electric ranges are of sturdy construction and easy to keep clean. They are economical to operate. A turning indicator to the number of minutes food should cook and when this length of time has elapsed a bell will ring to let you know the cooking period is over.

A warming drawer which will warm your serving dishes and keep food hot.

Automatic oven timer which will turn oven units on and off at desired times.

Thermostatic heat control which insures oven temperatures at all times.

Lights that illuminate the inside of the oven, as well as indicator lights which flash on to tell you the right heat has been reached or to denote any fluctuation in temperatures.

Appliance outlets, built in surface griddles, well cookers, illuminated oven dials, condiment sets, glass windows in oven doors and various others, contribute to comfort, convenience and health.

THE FLOYD COUNTY HESPERIAN

Published by the Hesperian Publishing Co., Inc., at 212 South Main St., Floydada, Texas. HOMER STEVEN, Editor.
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1953

Established 1894 by Charles H. Terrell as second class mail office at Floydada, Texas under the act of Congress of 1897

VIEWS AND COMMENT

School time here again and with it the school problems. Not the least among these problems is teaching personnel and housing for the student body. The last named problem seems to have been solved for the immediate period by Floydada Independent School district. But the teacher problem continues to be a matter of touch and go. Maybe you have a teaching force sufficient for the need, maybe you don't. You don't know until the bell rings and you count the teachers. Teachers consider their pay entirely too low. Accordingly a contract with a school district has developed into a one-sided agreement, one which the district must respect, one which the teacher disregards if he chooses to do so. It makes a squeeze play for the district boards, which must lend an ear to the taxpayer who thinks the school bill is too high, the teacher who views the pay as altogether inadequate.

Twelve hundred boys and girls a day will be crossing the streets and highways of Floydada in droves three to six times each every day beginning Monday, many of them in motor vehicles, many of them afoot. Consider as you drive that such is the case and make allowance for the exuberance of daring youth. Your time is not so valuable that you can't wait a second and save a life or avoid a maiming accident.

Whose stop signs? The high need for better control of traffic in Floydada by the use of stop signs on streets intersecting route of through travel is one which should have the attention of the authorities. Some authority at some level needs to take it upon itself to put up regulation stop signs at intersections. Whether it is the job of the city council, the state highway department or the commissioners court we do not know, and we wouldn't be particularly interested in starting or adding to a hassle amongst them about who should undertake it. But the practical problem is there, the hazard ever-present.

In view of the fact that all goods and services of almost all descriptions are government-controlled in one way and another, there seems to be no reason to add ruin to ruin by taking all controls off of agricultural products. To let feed the cattlemen and dairy producers need drop to whatever price it will go in times of high surpluses and go up in the same manner in time of scarcity has been proven ruinous not only to the farming industry but to the nation as well. Somewhere in between seems to be the ultimate goal that will be sought—a flexible arrangement similar in general to the Farm Bureau plan which calls for high supports in periods of scarcity to encourage production, low supports in periods of surpluses to reduce over-production.

That alternative programs are being sought from farmers, farm organizations, and other sources of information including agricultural college people, is generally known. High, rigid, controlled prices do not seem to be the answer for the good of the country as a whole. One high official of the present agricultural department's administrative personnel is quoted in the public prints as saying: "The immediate effect of rigid, high supports may be to raise prices and increase farmer's income for the current crop. But the long-run effect is to stimulate production, stifle consumption, attract imports, encourage competitive products and thereby pile up surpluses. Then follows surplus disposal, acreage limitation, import quotas and the whole host of regulations that must accompany the permanent maintenance of a price substantially above its normal level." To get beneficial results and hold the farming industry together and at the same time be rid of the rigidity, controls, allocations and the like is the problem, which human nature being what it is, may not permit.

The long drouth, still a reality in many parts of the southwest, has had one important result, the fact that it points up the inconsistencies of the controls exercised over products of the soil. The drop in cattle and milk prices has brought many farmers face to face with this unequal adjustment. In brief the feed they buy is price-supported, the product they sell is not. This unequal bearing results in fixed costs of production while they sell on a quite variable market. At the moment this market is ruinous, as is well known.

The cotton harvesting job should not be considered complete until the cotton stalks have been destroyed and plowed under. Early stalk destruction is important to cotton producers because it is a very effective insect control practice; good cultural practice and gets the land ready for the winter legumes.

A hunt for drouth-resistant plants is now being made in the drouth area by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Sought are propagating stocks of native range, pasture and forage plants which appear resistant to drouth.

Humus is most valuable to growing crops when it is breaking down. Humus helps hold moisture, nitrogen and other plant foods in the soil and makes the soil easier to handle.

Nothing cooks your goose quicker than a boiling temper.

Parking's a pushover with Ford Power-Steering

It's a brand new Ford "Worth More" feature—costs up to $40 less than any other power steering in its field and it's the newest and finest power steering.

With one finger, while the car is standing still, a woman can turn the steering wheel. No longer will rough road ruts "throw you". Should ever a tire blow out, power steering assistance helps you to keep safe straight-line control. Ford Power Steering does up to 75% of the work; and it has a more natural "feel" than many others. You don't have to change your driving habits radically. The steering gear ratio is the same as without power steering and the hydraulic system gives you just the right assistance when you need it.

No change in driving habits! You can drive off in a Ford with Power Steering with absolutely no radical change in the way you ordinarily drive a car... just a lot less effort!

"Wheel Shock" reduced! With a hydraulic "cushion" between your steering wheel and the front wheels, Ford Power Steering noticeably reduces "wheel shock" on rough roads.

Parking is a pushover with Ford Power Steering. In fact, all driving is a lot easier and so much more relaxing. You can easily turn the wheel with one finger while the car is standing still.

You're safer! Even if a front tire should blow out, Ford Power Steering comes to your assistance... gives you the "muscle" to keep the car under control. That's really extra security!

major step was the combining of seven divisional functions under three main heads below the administrative branch.

Re-grouping of the divisions was one of the measures specifically requested by department heads. As a result, the agricultural work was sectioned under the Division of Marketing, Division of Seeds and Division of Horticulture and Plant Quarantine.

The reasons were simple and practical. Lines of authority now were clearly drawn. By doing away with a few high salaried positions, more money became available in the field where new men were badly needed. And the tightening up of divisions cut out a vast amount of duplicate paper work in the accounting sections.

But one of the greatest benefits derived from the reorganization was the elimination of a bottle-neck which hamstrings most state agencies—the technicality which prevents a field employee of one division from aiding in the work of another division during a rush season or emergency. Under the new plan, any field man can be switched to an area or job where he is most needed, regardless of the division to which he is assigned.

This one provision, alone, will be worth many thousands of dollars to the department. And field operations are expected to be much more efficient.

House Bill 23 is a forward step in the long-range plan to put the Department of Agriculture on a smoother operating basis. The reorganization should make a big difference in service in future years.

Layette Shower Compliments Mrs. A. V. Womack, Jr.

Mrs. A. V. Womack, jr., was named honoree at a layette shower on Friday morning in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Ring, with Mrs. Claude Weatherbee as assisting hostess. Friends were invited to call at 10 o'clock.

An appropriate game was enjoyed, in which Mrs. Womack won high score prize, when she was presented the gifts.

The centerpiece on the refreshment table was a flat crystal container having pastel zinnias floating on top of the water. A miniature stork stood in the middle of the container. Gifts were placed around the centerpiece.

Coffee and pink and white cake was served to the twenty guests.

Club Sets Flower Show Date Oct. 3

Mrs. J. M. Wilson was hostess to the Floydada Garden club in her home on Friday morning, when Mrs. Hollis Bond gave a review of "The Life of Henry Clay," by Alfred Leland Crabbe.

Mrs. J. D. McBrien presided at the business session in the absence of the president, Mrs. Guy Ginn, who is recuperating from a major operation.

The date of the fall flower show, sponsored by the club, has been set for October 3, at the Southwestern Public Service office.

Members present at the meeting were Mesdames O. G. Glassmeyer, R. C. Henry, W. H. Henderson, J. B. Jenkins, D. T. Mayo, J. D. McBrien, J. G. Martin, O. M. Watson, E. L. Noeman, E. F. Stovall, E. J. Moore, L. J. Weiborn, E. C. Henry and Mrs. C. A. Caffee and Miss Lella Petty.

Party Is Farewell For College Girls

Miss Dorina Pierce was hostess to a group of girl friends on Saturday evening at her home.

The girls were class mates at Floydada high school and this party was a going away gesture for four of the group, who leave next week for college.

The girls of the slumber party at the Pierce home watched one of their number, Jean Porter as she sang over TV.

Present at the party were Misses Fern Patterson, Gladys Parkey, Darilyn Warren, Carolyn McDonald, Norma Britton and Jean Porter (on her return from Lubbock).

Jean and Gladys will enter Texas Tech, Fern and Carolyn will attend Howard-Payne at Brownwood.

A conversation between two old friends not long ago set us thinking.

"You gave me the picture there on the wall," one said. "Do you remember? It must have been 20 years ago."

"I don't remember the things I give my friends," the other woman answered, "but I never forget who gives me something."

All through her home are gifts from people she loves, she says. A casserole in a holder, for example, which reminds her of the donor every time she puts it on the table. A scarf, a picture frame, a flower container — whenever she looks at one of these things it's as though she has had a visit with the person who gave it.

"That's one reason my home means so much to me," she concluded.

Interior decorators can create beautiful harmonies in a house — by matching and contrasting colors, with modern or conventional effects in furniture and design. But a house that is not enriched by association rarely has the feel of a home, either for the family members or for those who visit it.

A house that does not express in some way the personality of its mistress is more often a house than a home. What better way is there for her to add herself to the tone of a room than by placing in it the pieces that reflect her in the eyes of her friends? And, although it would be foolish to keep every knick-knack from loved ones that ever comes into the house, those that fit in fill the house with rich memories. It is hard to be lonely among such warm reminders of other people, other days.

Birthday Dinner Compliments Mrs. E. C. Henry, 87

Mrs. E. C. Henry, celebrated her 87th birthday on Sunday, August 30, when her children met in the home of Mrs. Arthur Barker at Lockney for a family dinner and get-together.

Saturday afternoon and evening Mrs. Henry received friends at her home who came to call and wish her many more happy birthdays to come.

Lingerie Shower For Betty Lackey

Mrs. Bruce Bishop was hostess at a lingerie shower, honoring Miss Betty Lackey, of Lubbock, bride-elect of Chuck Holmes, in her home on Wednesday evening, August 26, at 6:30 o'clock.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Bishop were Mrs. Jerrold Vinson, Mrs. Al Cannon, and Miss Darlene Johnson. Pink and white carnations marked the table, where the bride-elect was seated. Gifts were placed at her chair.

Sandwiches and lime punch was served the guests, crystal appointments being used.

Miss Wood is the daughter of Nazarene pastor Rev. W. N. Wood and Mrs. Wood, and is a 1953 graduate of Floydada high school.

Wednesday was the birthday of Miss Wood, so the party was in honor of that occasion also.
