'The Glenn Miller Story' Is Booked For Run at Capada

"The Glenn Miller Story," coming to the Capada Drive-In theatre for four days, Saturday through Tuesday, April 3-6, is a grand entertainment experience.

So declares word that has preceded the showing of the technicolor production of the great band leader's life story. The praise is for a story stamped with honesty and crackling with excitement.

James Stewart and Jane Allyson give a performance that is warm with affection and infectious with humor. The Glenn Miller music is as alive through the magic of the movies as it was when Glenn Miller rendered it "in person."

Nine of the all-time Miller masterpieces are presented in the picture, played in the style established by the distinctive Glenn Miller arrangements. They include the signature song "Moonlight Serenade," "String of Pearls," "Pennsylvania 6-5000," "Tuxedo Junction," "In The Mood," "American Patrol," "St. Louis Blues March," "Chattanooga Choo-Choo," and "Little Brown Jug." Other song-hits that through the years were musical moments in Glenn Miller's emergence are well represented.

Band Drive Ends Saturday, April 10

Floydada Whirlwind band in their Hesperian subscription campaign had just about seven of their 20 new band suits paid for according to an estimate made Tuesday at the newspaper office.

In order to give all the teams a chance to complete their rounds Mrs. James H. Word, of the Band Boosters committee, announced that the time for the campaign to close has been extended to Saturday night. Teams thus may continue their work until the week-end.

Other members of the committee are Mr. Word and Burl Huckabee. Monday night's meeting of the Band Boosters ran into a considerable bit of conflicting competition. Attendance was light and only informal discussions held.

A called meeting of the Band Boosters has been set for Monday night of next week, which will be April 12, at the band room.

FULTZ CHECKED IN
A. D. Fultz was checked in Thursday, April 1, as acting postmaster of the Floydada office and is now at his new post of duty.

Williams Calls Mass Meeting

There is an old adage about a stitch in time saves nine and that is in part the slogan that could be used for the Red Cross relief preparedness for Floyd county that will be organized on Tuesday afternoon, April 13, in the Floyd county court house.

N. W. Williams, Floyd county chairman of the Red Cross, is issuing an invitation to every citizen in the county to attend this important meeting.

Mr. Williams points out that this is not a Red Cross project, but is a county-wide project, only sponsored by the Red Cross.

Miss Jean Fitzsimmons, General Field Director for this area of the Red Cross will be present and will present plans and assist in the organization of the disaster relief set up for this county.

The Red Cross defines a disaster as a situation where five or more families are helpless and suffering. Floyd county has had one or more such disasters, one of these when a Spanish group of cotton pullers were burned out in the north part of the county.

The Floyd county plan will be designed, so far as appears practical and so far as facilities and professional qualifications afforded by the community are available, to protect life and relieve suffering in a minimum time limit.

Clarence Guffee is disaster chairman of the Red Cross for the county. Should disaster come to Floydada or Floyd county, the various committees to be appointed in the county will work with Mr. Guffee.

A survey committee will be appointed at the organization and each committee will be issued a disaster survey kit to be kept in his automobile at all times. The kit will contain a Red Cross identification card, an arm band, car sticker and survey sheet and city and county maps.

Should disaster occur in outlying areas a mobile canteen would be assembled and immediately be sent with equipment to the area.

All adjoining counties and towns in this area are setting up disaster relief plans.

The citizens of Lockney and Floydada and over the county are urged to attend this important meeting on Tuesday, April 13, at 2:30 o'clock in the court house.

Spring Soil Tour Friday, April 16

The annual spring farm tour to observe some of the more accepted farming practices has been announced by the Floyd County Soil Conservation district for April 16.

Cooperating with the board of supervisors of the district will be the Extension Service, the vocational agriculture departments of the Floydada and Lockney schools, the Southwestern Public Service Co. and the Soil Conservation Service.

The tour will leave the agriculture building in Floydada at 1:30 p. m., Friday, April 16.

The first stop will be the John Lloyd farm where new seeding of alfalfa in graded borders will be observed along with vetch seeded in feed stubble. Other stops will be in the following order:

Yellow blossom sweetclover overseeded in wheat at Fred Jackson's farm;

Seventy-eight acres of field leveling on W. E. Miller's farm;

Solid seeding of vetch, W. G. Kinard's farm;

Solid seeding of sweetclover, Oliver W. Holmes';

Beach leveling, constructed by farmer Aubrey Holt;

Vetch in feed stubble, Jack Dollar's farm;

Vetch in cotton middles, Don Bennett's place and also vetch in cotton middles, C. H. Rose's farm.

It is hoped that the farmers will be on hand to give information in regard to these practices.

The tour has been arranged to show some of the more accepted practices in soil and water conservation and soil fertility.

The Board of Supervisors extend an invitation to all farmers in this district to be present on the tour. It is hoped that after observing these conservation practices farmers will be prepared to take some good ideas back and apply them to their own farming operations, said L. D. Barbee, district conservationist.

Hem Fire Boys In

A trash fire at 1 o'clock Sunday morning was extinguished quickly by the fire boys in the alley on west side square.

The firemen found themselves fenced in by the sightseers, though, by the time they got the blaze extinguished.

They were unhappy with the curious motorists because if there had been a fire they couldn't have gotten to the water plugs. They had to wait for the crowd to clear out before they could get their fire fighting equipment back to the station and return to their interrupted sleep. Chief Fred Lambert said some trash boxes had been left out late and were set or caught afire.

NEWS AND COMMENT

Something Was Wrong. The Hesperian's questionnaire, borrowed from the Town Journal, "Do you dare to rate your town," didn't get many dares. In fact, not enough to use up all the fingers on your hands in a count. We thought it a hot idea and pounced on it. The response was cool to cold. We'd still like to know how you rate your town. But we will have to find out some other way, if at all.

We'd Like to Know. It was our understanding last fall that the Commodity Credit Corporation had made arrangements at many places over the southwest to store many tons of cottonseed cake and meal — how it was being turned over to the CCC by the mills in great quantities. We don't know about this and probably won't delve into it any further. But the matter arises again in our minds as we note that the supply of cottonseed cake and meal for disaster relief has been exhausted. But you can still buy cake and or meal. Probably a quick and easy explanation.

This Is Decision week in Austin, where the legislature is trying to reconcile the numerous points of view to come up with the answer to the question: Shall we have enough teachers to man our schools or shall we not? Of course, the answer lies in passing more tax laws and getting more money with which to pay teachers. One thing that will help the legislature get action is the fact that legislators by the score want local bills passed. They are going to try to settle their differences in time to give their bills an airing. Their bills, many of them worthy, have no chance until the bills are passed that the legislature was called to consider.

Speaker of the House Senterfit has permitted many of these local bills to be introduced unlawfully, but if the matters assigned by the governor for calling the special session do not get attention one way or the other, it is going to be embarrassing to the governor to have to refuse these bills. No real fire and fury has broken out between the governor and the speaker of the house as yet, reports Senator Andy Rogers, but the governor at the moment stands in the way of the political aspirations of the speaker who is an announced candidate for occupancy of the governor's mansion.

One thing for sure the consumer cannot say about the farmer in connection with the increasing cost of living. If living cost continues to rise, then one must look elsewhere than to the farm for the cause of it. You can't think of anything the farmer has to sell that has not gone down in price over the last 18 months or two years. Some of the things have gone down ruinously—that is, gone down so fast the farmer could not be orderly in his marketing. Government price supports have been the only salvation for the man who had basic commodities on hand. The farmer would have gone down and taken the rest of the economy with him—and we would have been back at 1931, ready to start over again.

Save That Water! A report of the checking agency on irrigation wells in Floyd county last week says that the water level dropped in many wells on the high plains since the last report. Only one well out of several hundred showed a rise in the water level. Nearly a hundred wells in Floyd county are included in the number of wells that are checked periodically. Water carelessly wasted that should be on crop land is almost as bad as it looks.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson says that water for people, water for crops, water for stock, water for industry, is the number one problem of Texas. The senator wants thousands of small dams in the upland areas of the state — dams that will store water and give protection against floods. The big dams are worthwhile, doubtless, but they do not meet the needs of the people in the vast expanses of the state. The soil conservation service has been saying this for many years, as have many country newspapers, including The Hesperian.

Nullifies Optometry Law. A three-man federal court ruled on March 1 that an Oklahoma law which put certain restrictions on the sale of eyeglasses and the advertisements to promote the sale of glasses was not constitutional. The law required opticians to fit or sell eyeglasses only on a medical prescription, forbade all advertising of such optical goods, and prevented opticians from having offices in optical stores. Usually such laws are urged on legislatures under strong pressure from minority groups who will reap the first benefits but who represent the law would be "in the public interest." In Texas a number of such groups have strangled competition in this manner. The general public does not seem to be impressed. Many citizens do not even know what great things have been done for them by these groups working "in the public interest."

Hail The Reduction. There is no doubt in our mind that some reductions are going to be made in the federal taxes this year, some of them by allowing tax laws to expire, some by outright reductions. One of the things that keeps the cost of living aggravated is the tax load. For every tax there must be a compensating charge to keep the taxpayer in a solvent condition. For everyone of these taxes taken off there will be eventual relief for the ultimate consumer. There isn't any such thing as a tax that the common people do not have to help pay. As taxes come down the administration will be under compulsion to cut the budget. We are not under the tension of war days now nor of a Korean campaign. Taxes (of one kind and another) are taking far and away more than a fourth of the income of the people. The emergency past, the taxes need to be reduced, and the congress is well aware of the fact that the people are expecting reductions.

Adopt this rule in conversation: never repeat any gossip until you have verified it. If it is true, then forget it. —P. S. Brenner

Old-Time Cowboys Reunion Day Set

STAMFORD, April 8 — Pioneer cowboys already are looking forward to the Texas Cowboy Reunion and officials are busy with plans for the unique occasion in Stamford though it is almost three months away—July 1, 2, 3, and 5.

Each year, between 400 and 500 old-timers of the range gather to greet former associates, swap stories, do some square dancing and domino playing and eat chuckwagon fare. And the sprier ones compete in the old-timers' calf-roping contest. Some bring bedrolls and sleep out under the sky. The early-day cowboys are guests at the big rodeo which is a feature of the reunion.

The annual celebration is a four-day affair, climaxing on the glorious Fourth, but as the date falls on Sunday this year, there will be no rodeo that day but there will be afternoon and night performances on the first three days.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

Who Makes a Garden by Douglas Malloch
Whoever makes a garden Has never worked alone; The rain has always found it The sun has always shone.
The wind has blown across it And helped to scatter seeds — Whoever makes a garden Has all the help he needs.
Whoever makes a garden Should surely not complain, With someone like the sunshine, And someone like the rain, And someone like the breezes To aid him at his toil.
Whoever makes a garden Has Oh! so many friends! The glory of the morning And dew when daylight ends.
For wind, and rain, and sunshine And dew and fertile sod, And he who makes a garden Works hand in hand with God.
Making a garden has been very discouraging this spring, what with the drought and the sand storms, freezing snaps and just hating to start once more after a winter's rest. The winds have whipped the new leaves, but this morning when I stepped outside I saw the ferny green leaves of the flax with a flower of exquisite blue nodding to me. Near by were three anemone-white cups of the tulips I planted last fall. The brown caps of the pine and spruce trees are slipping off and tiny needles are coming out. The pecan has new leaves, the blue leaves coming once more after the freeze. I have new courage, more faith and gratitude in the goodness of God. The mesquite grass is coming along with the white lilies we have always called cow-poison, and the yellow buttercups which like to grow in the prairie grass.

Cotton Insect Control Progress

Research scientists have now announced another forward step in the battle of Man vs. Insects.

One of the latest insecticides to come from the crucibles of the research laboratories is Endrin, a chemical believed to be effective against a large number of cotton pests.

This new formula has been found to be the best insecticide thus far tested against the combination of the bollworm and the boll weevil, two of cotton's most destructive enemies. Several other cotton pests are also hit hard by Endrin, according to entomologists.

The Pink Bollworm, is still a hold-out, however. This tough little destroyer which accounts for a big percentage of damage to South Texas cotton than any other, is relatively unaffected by the discovery. A word of caution is offered by the scientists. Endrin is toxic not only to insects but also to man and warm blooded animals. Users are warned to follow exactly the recommendations of the manufacturers which are printed on the label of the insecticides container.

Endrin is closely related chemically to Dieldrin, one of the cotton insecticides widely used at present to control the boll weevil. It has been tested by Government Entomologists under the widely divergent cotton growing conditions found at such locations as Brownsville and Waco, Texas and points in South Carolina and Tamaulipas, Mexico. At Florence, S. C., Endrin treated plots yielded gains in seed cotton of up to 746 pounds per acre. In Mexico, its use increased the seed cotton yield 1,071 pounds on an acre during a heavy boll weevil infestation.

The entomologists speak with cautious optimism but state that the new material comes closer to being an all-purpose cotton insecticide than any yet tested. Applied in quantities varying from 0.2 to 0.5 pounds per acre, it is effective against the boll weevil and bollworm. At the rate of 0.1 to 0.2 pound per acre it is effective against such other cotton pests as thrips, cotton leafworms, cotton fleahoppers and lygus bugs.

S. N. McPeak, retired Floyd county farmer, who has been ill with pneumonia for the past few weeks and a patient at Pitts hospital for 10 days, is now convalescing at his home north of Floydada on the Silverton highway.

A daughter, Mrs. Jessie Brown reported her father Saturday as slowly improving.

Mahon Reports on Agriculture Outlook From Washington Angle

(Recent developments in the problems of support for agricultural operation are summarized objectively in the report below from Congressman George Mahon to county agents, ASC officers, Farm Bureau officials, and others. It is dated late in March. — Ed. Note.)

Washington officials of the Commodity Stabilization Service are beginning to show a more friendly attitude toward establishing a support price on cottonseed for the 1954 crop. However, indications are that the support level will be far below 90% of parity. The support level in 1953 was 75%. I have asked officials to establish a cottonseed support program on the basis of 90% of parity, emphasizing the added importance of a support program on cottonseed by reason of the cotton acreage control program. There are no acreage controls on soybeans for 1954; a support price of 80% of parity has already been announced.

It is now definite that there will be no acreage control program on grain sorghum in 1954. However, if the percent support program is not drastically changed by law, the indications are that the increased grain sorghum production in 1954 would make an acreage control program quite likely next year.

We have had a long controversy in regard to our agricultural labor program involving farm labor from the Republic of Mexico. The labor stalemate has been broken, and it appears that the program will be continued and will possibly be a little better than the 1953 program.

As you know, over a period of months many of us have been insisting that adequate allowance must be made in our cotton control programs for acreage which could not be planted in cotton during 1953 by reason of abnormal weather conditions. If this acreage is not adequately taken into account, farmers in the 1953 crop year will suffer an extremely unfair reduction in acreage. The present law provides that consideration must be given to abnormal weather conditions. I had a talk this week with the new Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Ross Ritzley, formerly an Oklahoma Congressman, and he tells me that he fully agrees with our viewpoint in this matter. The prospects are better than ever before that the 1953 drought will be properly taken into consideration. The details of the matter have not yet been agreed upon.

The new farm program which has been under discussion for many months has not yet taken form. Secretary Benson has appeared before the Senate and House committees on agriculture and urged the adoption of the so-called flexible or sliding-scale support program. Apparently, most Congressmen from farm areas feel as I do—that the trouble with the sliding scale is that it slides right out from under you every time you need it. Furthermore, I do not feel that the sliding-scale program would tend to reduce crop surpluses. In my opinion, the contrary would tend to be true. My mail from our District indicates that our producers are almost unanimous in feeling that on basic crops the support level should not be lower than 90%.

Hypervitaminosis, Long Word Means Excess Vitamins

AUSTIN, Texas — "Hypervitaminosis is a long word meaning too many vitamins," says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The diseased condition probably was derived from the tendency of some persons to think that if a little bit does good a lot will do better. This is not the case in taking vitamins or medicines whether prescribed by a physician or taken on one's own initiative.

Millions of dollars are spent yearly in synthetic vitamin preparations by persons who mistakenly believe they will counteract careless eating habits or cure numerous ailments. Unless prescribed by the physician for a specific need, synthetic vitamin purchases are usually a waste of money.

Nutritionists have long urged that, except when prescribed by a physician, vitamins be secured from the grocery store in the form of green, leafy, and yellow vegetables and dairy products. This is the more beneficial and economical way of assuring an adequate intake of these necessary substances.

It has been established that Vitamin A and D taken in excessive amounts are harmful. Other excessive uses of vitamins have resulted in cases of vitamin toxicity. Excessive intake may be as dangerous as deficient intake. Take vitamins only when prescribed by a physician and only in the amount ordered by him.

Chas. C. Huckabee Seeks Assessor - Collector's Post

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY, TEXAS
I have decided to ask you for the office of assessor-collector of taxes for Floyd county, and want to ask your vote and influence as I begin the race for the job.

I will make an active campaign and will contact all the voters I can between this date and election day. My race will be subject to the Democratic primary.

A good many of the voters know me as I have been a resident of the county since 1920, and have worked in business as well as on the farm.

I think my business experience qualifies me for this important post and I can make you a good man for the job. If you think so, too, I will appreciate your help and will try my best not to disappoint you.

Respectfully,
Charles C. Huckabee

Time Running Against Vets Free Schooling

Time is running against veterans of the Korean campaign, as regards various types of educational training that may be claimed, it was pointed out this week by N. S. Abbott, coordinator for the county who gives the following pointers for veterans who may want to take advantage of some of the training that can be had.

In a discussion of the angles of the program this week he says: Veterans with active military service between June 27, 1950 and August 2, 1953, that are discharged and plan to take advantage of the education and training under P. L. 550, must enroll in a course before August 20, 1954, or lose eligibility. Veterans discharged after August 20, 1953, have two years after discharge to begin.

A course is being taught in Institutional On-Farm Training, which is a combination of classroom instruction and actual experience on the farm, in the country. A veteran desiring to enroll in this course should be farming under a written lease contract or ownership of the farm, or be able to get a lease contract covering the time of training allowed him.

The farm must be of such size and character that, with his school work, it will require the veteran's full time, permit instruction in all necessary aspects of farm management, and assure him of a satisfactory income at least by the end of his course.

Our advice to veterans that can meet the above requirements would be to investigate the possibilities of such training and satisfy yourself before your eligibility expires. If you are interested in checking into this matter, contact the Floyd Co. Vocational School, Room 113 or 112

Court House, Mrs. Virgie Shaw or N. S. Abbott, for information.

If there are other veterans that desire training in various fields of education offered by the VA, you are invited to contact the above personnel and make your wishes known so the school may help you. If there should be sufficient number desiring the same course that the VA offers, the school will do everything possible to get it approved.

Unique Church Service Marks Visit of Band

Floydada citizens who heard the McMurry College Indian Band Saturday evening at Floydada high school auditorium were well pleased with the program. The audience was not a capacity house, but it was an appreciative audience.

The famed band was under the direction of Raymond T. Bynum and was on tour, Floydada being the first stop in an itinerary of some eight towns in Texas and New Mexico.

The band will give 15 performances during the tour. It left Floydada Sunday afternoon about 1 o'clock for Dalhart, where they were scheduled to appear Sunday evening.

At the First Methodist church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the band had charge of the morning worship hour, when they presented their unique worship through music program.

The program was given entirely by members of the band from the opening hymn to the benediction. The church was filled to overflowing, having chairs in the aisles. Everyone who attended praised the beautiful music, including solos and duets.

The Saturday night concert at the high school was under the auspices of the Floydada band and its director, John J. Horn.

and concert artists submit to an hour's serious examination. The object is the same in all cases, to receive an unprejudiced opinion of their progress expressed in checks and remarks on what they do best and what needs improvement. Colleges and schools of music work with the Guild in maintaining a high standard. Children who have studied one season may enter with a few as three memorized pieces and those who have finished high school play a complete sonata, some Bach and other numbers plus a comprehensive technical examination and receive a high school diploma which has proved of value in obtaining college scholarships. These of college and postgraduate levels play even more ambitious programs and earn advanced standing.

They had been on vacation and came here from Little Rock. Their son Jimmie, who is 12, was ill with appendicitis when they arrived. He was taken to People's hospital where he is a patient. Due to a heart ailment it is impossible for them to operate, so Jimmie will be here for some time before he is able to go on to his home. He probably feels lonely in a strange place so if you have time send him a card — it will help to pass his long hours to know someone thought of him. His name is Jimmie Bohn at People's hospital, or send it in care of his aunt, Mrs. Reamer Rainer, Floydada.

Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Neff and Aubrey Lynn and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Neff spent Sunday in Hereford visiting relatives.

Father: "Isn't it wonderful how little chicks get out of their shells?"
Son: "What gets me is how they get in."

John Nay says:

I believe this modern development of speed is assuming alarming proportions and wonder if the public is aware of the horrible possibilities. Recently a record flight from San Diego to New York was made in a little over 3 hours. History shows that someone is always beating the previous record. So let's suppose that passenger planes will no doubt soon make this trip in less than 3 hours. Because of the time difference eastward across the U.S. is 3 hours from coast to coast, it means we would get to New York before we started. This could cause a flurry of people rushing to the ticket office to get their money back, saying they decided not to take the trip as the time showed the plane hadn't left yet. This could put airlines out of business. On this same trip a meal is served but when we arrive in New York, we have to admit we could not have eaten since the clock shows the plane hasn't left San Diego. This could cause great digestive disturbance such that many of us would wind up in a hospital. But here the doctors are going crazy trying to diagnose patients who have digested a meal before they have eaten it. Lastly, the mental side must be considered. On this trip we have pre-arranged to wave to our favorite aunt as we pass Pittsburg. As our arm is on the up-swing as we spy Pittsburg, the stewardess hollers — "New York — far as we go." So we go back to the same hospital — the mental ward this time — but, alas, we are too late — the doctors are occupying all the beds.

Monday night the annual meeting planning committee at the co-op office for a meeting to make further plans for the annual meeting on Saturday April 24, at Graves gymnasium in Floydada.

REPAIR JOB

WASHINGTON — More than 63,000,000 (M) items of supply, valued at $167,000,000 (M), were repaired and returned to stock in ten U. S. depots by the U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps in fiscal 1953. The operation was performed at a cost of $16,100,000 (M), or less than 10 percent of the value of the restored articles.

Spring seems to hit the younger generation in the hair, so to speak. Girls either cut their long tresses to a moth-eaten line at the nap of the neck, or else they tie them up horse-tail fashion, to give the impression of a graceful young filly.

Boys, on the other hand, go in for shaven heads. From the four-year-old, who comes of age with his first burred haircut, to the college boy who leaves only a quarter-inch growth all over his cranium, the masculine world asserts its independence of female domination at this season of the year. For certainly no mama, wife, sister, sweetheart or maiden aunt would voluntarily agree to this skull-revealing practice on the part of their male loved ones.

Perhaps the most interesting exhibition of this mannish independence is that of high school boys. We sat behind three of them at church Sunday and observed the shades of family domination:

One had the real thing — his 'knowledge bumps' shining white through the thin hair coating. Another, undoubtedly the crew-cut type, had evidently been told no by a strong-willed mama. His head, though bowed, looked fairly normal. The third was much harder to diagnose. His slicked-down hair swept to a graceful ducktail from sides to back, but on top it was cropped into a decisive crew cut.

The spouse — who should have been listening to the sermon — leaned over and whispered, "Athlete on top, Hollywood around the edges."

Anyway, we made a mental note to stand up for the weaker sex the next time there was a discussion of silly hair-dos.

LIBRARY NEWS

(By Mrs. Roy Hollar)

The Texas Library Association met in Mineral Wells March 31 April 1, 2, and 3, 1954. This was the forty-first annual meeting of "TLA". Last year the meeting was in Lubbock and any number of our library minded citizens spent one day or more at the meetings. This year I saw only one group of such friends as large as our last year's representation. This party came from Irving, Texas.

The theme of the program this year was "As Others See us." This is in keeping with the general effort to get folks acquainted with libraries and to show that libraries of today are operated for the use of every citizen in the area.

What was by many conceded to be the best speech made to the convention was that on Thursday evening by Rabbi Levi A. Olan, of Temple Emanu-El, Dallas. In briefest-brief the speaker presented the case for the freedom to read, stressing the need of understanding and working for the privilege of preserving that freedom.

The Friends of Texas libraries held their annual luncheon on Friday. Their speaker was introduced by the editor of the Wall Street Journal, Southwestern edition, and the speaker was Francis St. John, chief librarian, Brooklyn Public Library, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Miss Emnia Lee Rosenberg, for many years director of children's work in Rosenberg Library of Galveston, presided over the sessions about children's books. An editor of children's books was the chief speaker for this group.

You would have enjoyed hearing Bonnie Richardson of Carrollton high school address the convention. She presented the case for the Teen-Age Library association and was a witty gifted speaker. Have you met the teen-age library assistants in your local high school? Librarians everywhere are proud of this organization and Miss Richardson did them great credit. Mrs. Grace Scott, librarian of Tulsa high school was the adult sponsor for the group this year and we take neighborly pride in her outstanding work.

So the librarians of the state might look into a verbal mirror, speakers were chosen from a variety of library-using agencies. A district home agent, a personnel director for a great oil industry, a protestant minister who has served on the youth development council of Texas a representative of the Texas federation of labor and a representative of a chamber of commerce were among the people who gave us a look at our efforts at community service.

Your county librarian was glad to attend the conference and glad to be back in Floyd county to try to use some of the material gathered. "It is a privilege to work in library service" is our summary of the association's meeting.
