

No More Land Loans to Vets

No more funds are available for the use of the Veterans Land Board of Texas and the board is accepting no further applications until the fund is replenished. State Land Commissioner Bascom Giles told Darnell G. Ayres, county service officer in a letter released last week.

The answer is that all the funds made available for the veterans land purchase program have been spent. Mr. Giles said. The funds were provided by constitutional amendment passed by the voters in 1951.

Ayres learned that the fund had been exhausted when local land purchase application began to come back from the board.

WHY ARE YOU SICK?

By Dr. K. C. PATZER, D.C.

When you are well, you rarely stop to consider what it is keeping you well.

Obviously, something is. Chiropractic proves that it is energy, with a measurable electrical frequency-startlingly similar to common ordinary electricity. This Life flows over a marvelous net-work of human electrical direct from the brain Power House to the tissue cell sets.

Everywhere and everywhere flows this current to bring motion, and function to all of your internal mechanisms. Suddenly you find yourself ill because some part of your mechanism has failed to function normally.

You want to find the cause of this failing function you reason:

First: Function fails because current fails.

Second: Current fails because something has interfered with transmission over the nerves.

The one place you can find this interference is in the system from which branches all the Energy carrying nerves of the body.

Your spinal cord is a rope of tiny nerves and cells. Your spinal cord is inside your bony spinal column and the ends of nerves pass between the joints.

Pressure upon the cord or its branches changes the electrical frequency which causes function to fail or be altered or organs or tissues receiving the electrical frequencies of energy. This failure produces symptoms of illness.

You want health, again you must reason:

First: Find the cause of the interference.

Second: Remove the interference so current does not fail.

Third: Function and motion will not fail when current is normal.

Fourth: Normal function means Health.

County United Chest Meeting On For Tonight

Organization of the Floyd County United Chest will take place tonight when representatives from Floydada Lockney and Floyd county communities meet at the Plains Theater in Lockney to elect county directors.

The organization of a united chest in Floyd county is a joint project of the Floydada and Lockney Chamber of Commerce. It also has the personal approval of county campaign officials of most of the national fund drives.

W. E. Garrett is chairman of the Floydada chest committee and will preside at the meeting. Bob Miller, president of the Lockney Chamber of Commerce, heads the Lockney committee.

In addition to the election of officers tonight, a constitution will be adopted and the first plans made for a county-wide chest drive which will cover most of the national fund-raising campaigns.

The purpose of a united campaign the local committee points out, is to eliminate hundreds of hours of work by Floyd county citizens who direct the various fund drives during the year. Each Floyd county resident will be asked to total the amount which they give each year to all campaigns and pledge that amount during the united chest drive.

The money will then be divided by the national organizations.

Tonight's Lockney meeting is open to the public. Meeting time is eight P. M.

WHEAT FOLLOWING VETCH

Care must be taken in selecting a crop to follow vetch. This is especially so when the vetch has been left past maturity. Unless it is left for a seed crop, vetch should be cut loose and worked into the surface soil while in the green succulent stage (flowering).

Some shattering usually occurs when a seed crop is harvested, or if the vetch is left on the field to mature. This shattered seed will come up voluntarily in the following crop, in the late summer or fall. This is the reason a row crop should follow in a case like this.

It was noted that at least one farmer in the district followed vetch with wheat last fall. The vetch was so thick that the wheat was very difficult to harvest this summer.

In a case like this, where there will be volunteer vetch, it is better to follow with a crop that can be cultivated. Grain sorghums have the ability to make much better use of the nitrogen added to the soil than does cotton, which requires much less nitrogen. Then cotton would be a good crop to follow grain sorghums.

cent above the loan values set by the Commodity Credit Corporation. Likewise the price paid for seed to the farmer is likely to show an upward trend. Cottonseed price paid this week is quoted at $60 per ton.

Total allotted acres in cotton in the county according to the ASC office is 118,164 acres. Of this the major portion is May and June cotton. June plantings are going to have to run the hazard of an early freeze. Otherwise the crop can be said to be better this year than last, yields per acre, not only on irrigated fields, but on the average on non-irrigated acres.

It is probable that the 110,000 acres of cotton in Floyd county will yield a grand total of 75,000 bales this year. On account of controlled acreage this will be down 18,000 bales from last years official 92,300 bales ginned in the county from 135,000 acres.

Allotted acres of cotton in Floyd county for the 1954 crop were 118,164. Of this it is estimated the county lost 5,000 acres that was not re-planted due to early spring hail and heavy rain. About 3,000 acres was not planted. Of the remaining 110,000 acres it is estimated 74,000 acres are irrigated and 36,000 acres dry land cotton.

Albert Martin, who farms the Roy Curry land, also delivered the first bales turned out by each of the other three gins in Floydada Tuesday.

Mrs. Prudie Mae Wall of Calumet, Iowa, has moved to Floydada to make her home at 118 West Crockett. Jake Colston went up to accompany Mrs. Wall here. Mrs. Wall is a sister of T. T. Hamilton.

Demo Delegates Ready For Trip To Convention

Yesterday Walter G. Collins, who led the forces in the primary election for Yarborough for governor, said he expects a full delegation of 11 to attend the state Democratic convention in Mineral Wells next Tuesday from Floyd county. Of these 10 will be delegates and the 11th an alternate to take the place of Judge Alton B. Chapman, who has a previous engagement on the convention date.

The delegation from this county will be in full accord with the national Democratic organization's opposition to the present Texas administration and the state Democratic party organization now controlled by supporters of the Shivers regime.

The present state organization is being passed by the national committee in its dealings with party matters in the state, through a set-up arranged by Congressman Sam Rayburn of Bonham. At the same time Wright Mommsen, who the state Democratic committee claims is the national committeeman from Texas, is being ignored by the national committee.

The feud is expected to be carried to the floor in the state convention Tuesday. Congressman Rayburn is a delegate from Pannin county to the convention. One report has it that he will direct the anti-state administration group in their battle at Mineral Wells in opposition to the forces in the saddle. None of the Floyd county delegation will be sympathetic to the program of the present state committee although the 30th senatorial district caucus is expected to choose representatives in the convention that will be in accord. "Bull" Durham of Memphis is district committeeman but a vacancy is to be filled for committeewoman. Mrs. Anderson of Friona, who filled this post was killed in a highway crash a few weeks ago.

The Floyd county delegates will have 11 votes in the convention, according to the ruling of the state committee on representation. Collins said that rooms at Mineral Wells are at a premium. Some of the Floyd county delegates have reservations as far away as Weatherford.

Elected to the county convention in July and expected to attend from Floyd county are: Byron Robertson, J. M. Willson, Jr., Bert Bobbitt, Hubert Prizzell, Mrs. J. H. Barnard, Mrs. W. M. Staniforth, sr., W. L. Davis, J. C. Wester, W. G. Collins and Dee Copeland. Mrs. Barnard and Mrs. Staniforth will be accompanied to the convention by their husbands.

VIEWES AND COMMENT

Floyd County Fair opening now only days away. The revival of the county fair idea, dropped a quarter of a century ago here, is expected to bring a resurgence of the old-fashioned show your neighbor idea and be proud of your accomplishments on the farm, in the shop, in the live stock pens and in the kitchen and canning room. The local fair fell into low interest with the upcoming of the regional fairs at Lubbock and Amarillo. People just simply abandoned patronage and turned up their noses as they drove on by to bigger and better shows with more bright lights and "entertainment." The new look in county fairs doesn't attempt to compete, if we understand it, except in neighborliness and pride of home and farm accomplishments to be shared with the neighbors. We shall see what we shall see.

Nothing more thrilling to business people and country-side alike at any time of the year in a cotton country than the first bale of cotton to reach the gin. It brings to mind that work for the workman and business for the business man are in the offing, right around the corner. This year it happened one day earlier than it happened last. But since it came from an early-planted field and there are few like it in Floyd county this year, the real business of cotton harvest is several days away, (enough exceptions to prove the rule). The crop, acre wise, is smaller but the yield will be better, the market better, and the expenses of the crop not nearly as high as last.

Watch the moisture. We don't blame the farmers for trying to wangle from the Commodity Credit Corporation a more liberal policy as to moisture content in grain they deliver to the elevators and warehouses. Since the matter is more or less political in its final analysis they might get the pressure for dry grain relaxed to an extent. Furthermore, we do not know what the safe level is for moisture content in grain for storage. We do know, from report, that a good many storage houses got themselves into difficulties last year accepting grain with too much moisture content. Some of them wangled out of it and made a profit selling their damaged grain after they got the grain back into their own hands from CCC. This was an unusual situation and probably is the back ground for the present campaign for higher moisture content delivery basis. Those who plan their own flat storage on their farms or other private premises should not allow themselves to be deceived by the arguments in this campaign into trying to store grain that is not super-dry and protected amply against insects. Moisture and insects are the enemies of stored grain. They do not vote nor seek office.

One thing about which all Texans can be proud is the fact that its pioneers went ahead with their own insurance companies when the big companies pulled out of the state back in the beginnings of the present century. It was the full intent of the big companies which pulled out of the state in a huff to let Texas dry up on the vine. They over-estimated their own importance and have lived to rue the day they exercised this piece of bad judgment. Texans thought the companies should keep part of their assets in Texas to help develop the state. The companies thought otherwise. The answer is seen in the present-day Texas giants of the insurance field which have been established, grown and prospered. Insurance — life insurance — in Texas has grown bigger and better than have the natural resource industries, such as agriculture, oil and the like. Not condoning the fact at all that Texas has had some insurance scandals the past two years, nor making any excuses for the present administration if it is entitled to some or all of the blame, the fact remains that Texas insurance business handled by Texas companies has been an astounding answer to the pillaging tactics which the big insurance companies tried to foist upon the state and make the people like it. Incidentally, Texas is not the only state in the union where fly-by-nights have operated. The shyster always looks for loopholes and wriggles himself into good company, wherever he may be.

Using legumes freely, believe it or not, has been found to be helpful in dry land farming operations in some parts of Texas during the drouth. One farmer pointed to in a soil conservation leaflet is credited with building up his soil through the use of legumes to the point where he could raise a crop on much less moisture than was thought necessary. For instance, with only six inches of rainfall from January 1 right on through his cotton season, he got a 416-pound average of lint cotton per acre. Had he gotten one more inch of rain at the right time he would have had considerably over a bale of cotton per acre. There isn't any substitute for rain, but you can raise a lot more on a lot less rain than you ever thought you could, this man said after trying the scheme for seven years.

Flexible Price Supports Do Not Solve Problem

Congressman George Mahon has returned from Washington and opened his Lubbock office in the post office building. He said that at present he had no special plans except to attend to official business and visit among the people. Congress adjourned August 29 and is not scheduled to reconvene until next January 5.

Mahon, in commenting on the Congressional session, stated, "The Republicans claim that a wonderful job was done. Democratic leaders take a dim view of accomplishments. It is, in my opinion, fair to say that Congress, on the whole did a reasonably good job. Along with most Democrats, I voted for much of the program. But on many measures there were sharp differences of opinion."

I strongly opposed the administration's program to scuttle the 90% of parity support program for agriculture and replace it with the sliding scale system. In my opinion, the new program is no answer whatever to our farm problem. Agriculture will sustain a terrific setback without corresponding benefits to the consumer and taxpayer. There is a farm problem, but the flexible program is not the answer to it."

Humble's new HOUSTON RESEARCH CENTER

... is dedicated to man's impelling curiosity in the search for knowledge and its useful application in the specialized fields of petroleum exploration and production.

Dedicated to Man's Impelling Curiosity

Most of us interpret the value of research in terms of immediate benefits. Research means that we get a better automobile, an improved gasoline, or an outstanding motor oil.

At Baytown Refinery, the Humble Company maintains one of the finest laboratories in the petroleum industry for that kind of research.

But behind the study that goes into the improvement of the products it sells, Humble for years has fostered basic research related to the discovery and production of oil and natural gas.

The United States uses so much oil from day to day, and needs so much more to provide for the emergencies of national defense, that studies leading to the discovery of new supplies and the more efficient management of existing reservoirs are more important than ever before. Consequently, Humble's expenditures on this sort of research are the heaviest in the Company's history and its staff of research scientists is larger than it has ever been.

To house the expansion of these research sections, Humble recently completed its new Research Center at Houston and will formally dedicate it this week end.

Here the scientists of the various departments involved in the discovery and production of oil will utilize common facilities, and here they will have the stimulation of close association with other scientists whose efforts are dedicated to a common end.

- The new Houston Research Center will provide facilities for research in:
- Fluid Mechanics
 - Geophysics
 - Geology
 - Geochemistry
 - Drilling Muds
 - Well Log Interpretation
 - Subsurface Instruments
 - Reservoir Behavior
 - Well Stimulation
 - Well Cementing

Yuma Girl in Rhode Island Hurricane 'Carol' Blows

Barbara Barnard of Yuma, who is the daughter of William Barnard, Rhode Island, was in Providence, Rhode Island, at the time she witnessed the hurricane.

Barbara was returning here after a summer vacation with her grandparents, Mrs. J. H. Barnard, and Mrs. M. W. Vineyard, who met her at the Rhode Island home just before the storm hit.

Mrs. J. H. Barnard tried to get all week to get in Rhode Island. Western was completely disrupted. Telephone communications were out. Finally, on the night of the storm, she was taken to the police station in Providence. Mrs. Barnard said that she was kind enough to see if she could get home to see if she was all right.

while the power was off. State officials said that dry ice had been flown in from other areas for packing houses, dairies and other storage plants and that they were in good condition. All grocery stores were to remain open last weekend and during the holiday to serve the people cold storage foods.

The husband of Mrs. Vineyard, a Navy lieutenant commander, was on the carrier, USS Antietam, out of Quonset Point, when the crew heard of the storm. The ship was ordered to return to port. However, the commander was unable to reach his family until the following day.

Miss Barnard is due to arrive back in Yumada about the middle of the month.

KITCHEN AND ★★★ FIELD NEWS

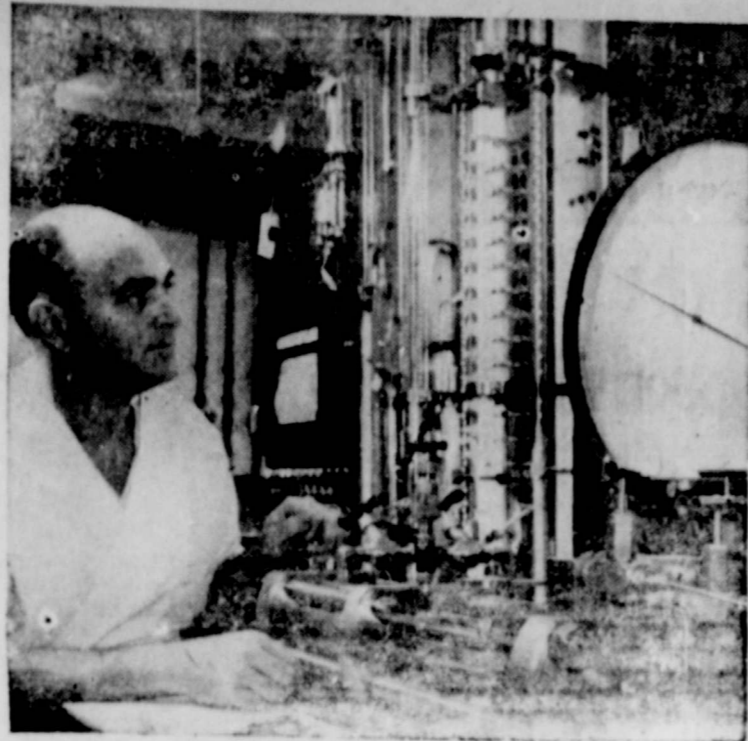

from Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Inc., by Nancy Morekel and Claude Weathersbee.

School Days, School Days, Dear old Golden Rule Days, Reading and Riting and Rithmetic, all taught to the tune of a hickory stick.

School time is here again! If there are lunch boxes to pack the big question usually is — "What shall I pack?" there is no reason why this job should be a bothersome task if you have a food freezer and do some careful planning.

The foundation of "main-course of almost every lunch packed in the sandwich on a day-to-day basis you may prepare them for a week-or-so ahead all at one time — or as long as you want to store them. Here are some suggested do's and don'ts to remember when preparing the freezer box lunch:

- Do's For Lunch Boxes
1. During the fresh fruit season, freeze fruit in half-pint containers to include in the lunch box at a later date.
 2. Cupcakes, pieces of cake, individual pies, a wedge of pie, and cookies may be frozen individually and used as needed.
 3. Wrap all items individually in

TO PRODUCE MORE OIL—Scientific equipment like this is a common sight in Humble Oil & Refining Company's new Houston Research Center, being formally opened this week to provide better facilities for continuing research into problems of finding and producing oil. Above, Humble technician Henry H. Shepherd tests fluid from a producing oil sand as part of a study of how to recover more oil from known fields.

moisture-vapor-proof material, label, and freeze as complete box lunches or individual items.

4. Pack sandwiches from freezer to lunch-box. They will thaw in time for lunch.

Don'ts for Frozen Lunch Boxes

1. Do not freeze lettuce, celery, tomatoes, or carrots as they will lose their crispness when frozen. Add these to the lunch box after it has been taken from the food freezer. Diced peppers may be added to fillings, providing you do not object to the fact that they lose their crispness when frozen.
2. Avoid hard-cooked egg whites in sandwiches as they are apt to develop off flavors and become tough and rubbery in texture.

"My husband is a mechanic, and has dirty, greasy clothes every day. And, of course, Janna Lynn, my five-months-old daughter, has to have clothes washed every day."
"It's so easy with an automatic washer and a dryer—especially the dryer. I can come home from work, and throw the dirty clothes in the washer, and then dry them that very evening, ready to be worn the next day."

"We have our washer and dryer in our garage now. Sometime soon, we'll have a laundry room. But I just had to have a dryer, and it works out fine in the garage."

AUTO CRASH DAMAGES TWO CARS, OCCUPANTS NOT HURT

A two car collision in front of Orman's Grocery Friday night about 8:15 resulted in little damage to either vehicle, and no injury to the occupants.

A 1953 Chevrolet driven by Don Probasco, rammed into the back end of a 1953 Chevrolet, owned by Leroy Terrell and driven by his brother, Melvin.

Plainview highway investigators said no charges were filed. The Probasco car received a bent front fender and the Terrell car was damaged in the rear.

Both vehicles were partially covered by insurance.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(Nellie Witt Spikes)

The past weeks have been like a lovely weaving of tapestry. Colors have been used lavishly and the fabric is strong and will last until eternity. On this tapestry is woven the old Settler's reunions, the parade of the Jaycee rodeo, all are here, the meeting of old friends eating their noon meal together, the beauty of the young ladies and girls, the handsome horseback riders, look them over, not a one has been left out.

Here is a section of our own yard, the corner white with long pure white Angel trumpet flowers making the night more lovely and sweet-scented. The long green row of vines covered with blue morning glories, unfolding their blue silk parasols as if for protection from the heat of the sun. Our dear children and grandchildren; Paul's, Johnny's and Margaret Nell's birthday, our grandson, Carey leaving on the big bus for Memphis Tenn. — they make yards of tapestry.

Then golden flowers and bells are woven in, the golden wedding anniversaries of my uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jones and the one of our dear friends, Charlie and Emma Watkins. What a beautiful sight so much gold makes, gold of vases and sheets and dinnerware, gold of the hearts of these fine couples, gold of the handshakes of friends.

Just take a look at this wonderful cloth. But bits of gray find their place, the death of George Mayes, the illness of Lena Bonine and Mrs. Wilson. But also we find the beautiful flowers of patience and love, of understanding and helpfulness make the pattern glow. Weaving, weaving, the pattern goes on.

Let us keep our part of it clear and good, not shoddy with bad deeds and thoughts.

Let us make it a pattern that others may see and weave their own better for seeing ours.

Tom Jones says he wonders if the ones who try to keep up with the Jones's as in the old saying, know how hard it is for the Jones's to stay ahead. And he goes on the record as saying he would rather fight two men than argue with one.

—As life on the farm was too busy for picture shows in the 1920's and '30's, tires too hard to get and costly to buy, we missed the western shows of that day and now on television we can see the pictures that are made today. Wonder where in the world the television people unearthed some of the westerns they now bore so many folks with, that is if they look at all. We like good westerns as so do you. The action, the bugles and wagons, the dresses of the days we recall, the we know the folks at large were not so bad as shown.

I can hardly wait for the Floyd County Fair. I hope to recapture some of the joy we had in attending our county fairs long ago, when we hung over the fruits, vegetables and farm products from all over the county. The quilts, the crochets, the canned stuff—we hope they will be there and we are going and will see you there.

ent. Gin trash disposal methods must be as simple and inexpensive as possible. But most important, they must take care of large quantities of trash without slowing down gin operation. Finally, they must kill all the pink bollworms in the material. Otherwise, what might be gained by use of this trash would be lost through the destructiveness of the insect.

Research

now being conducted in Texas to find what process or machine is responsible for the greater part of the kill. Modifications and improvements may be made eventually which will assure 100 percent destruction.

Today, most gin trash is burned to control and prevent the spread beyond quarantine barriers of the pink bollworm. However, some methods are being used and studied which may prevent this waste. Composting, sterilization, fumigation, hammer milling, roller milling and the use of special fans or two conventional fans in the pneumatic system of ginning are all possible procedures that have a degree of effectiveness.

Investigations of different types of fans and fan combinations, rollers, beaters, grinders, and heating devices are being carried out by engineers and entomologists at commercial gins in the lower Rio Grande Valley this season. Later work will be done farther north, including the Panhandle where harvesting conditions are quite different.

Billy Carmack Candidate For McMurry Squad

ABILENE, (Sp.)—Bill Carmack, formerly an all-district quarterback for three years running at Floydada High School, was among 60 candidates who reported September 1 for the first football workouts of the McMurry College Indians.

Carmack son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Carmack of Floydada, also participated in baseball, basketball, track, and weight lifting at FHS. He won honorable mention for the all-regional football team in 1932, and was named to the second All-South Plains eleven.

McMurry coaches Wilford Moore, Edgar Payne, and Joe Burk have 22

lettermen back from their 1933 football team which won 8, lost 1, and tied 1, and wound up in a three-way tie for the Texas Conference title.

Although the Indian outlook for the 1934 season is bright, the McMurry coaches are quick to point out that McMurry's schedule is the toughest ever carded by the Methodist college.

After their season opener against West Texas State September 18 at Canyon (night game), the Redskins will play Texas Western, Lamar Tech College, Midwestern University, Abilene Christian College, California State Poly, Eastern New Mexico University, Howard Payne College, Gustavus Adolphus (Minnesota), and Missouri Valley College at Marshall, Missouri, on Thanksgiving Day.
