

Wheat Quotas Vote Saturday

A referendum of farmers who will be engaged in the production of the 1956 crop of wheat will be held on Saturday, June 25.

Any farmer is eligible to vote if he intends to harvest in excess of fifteen acres of wheat in 1956, whether he be owner, renter, tenant or sharecropper.

Polls will open at 8 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m. All votes by mail are to be in before Saturday.

Three boxes will be placed throughout the county with one in Lockney at the Lockney Beacon office with Billie Ed Whitfill, Henry Schacht and J. R. Belt in charge. The voting place at Cedar Hill will be at Loves garage with Shirley Irwin, Gerald Lackey and Harry Hartman in charge.

The A. S. C. office will be the voting place in Floydada with Clarence Reddy, Fred Jackson and Milton Harrison in charge.

Two-thirds majority voting will be needed to carry this referendum.

PRICE SUPPORTS

The vote, according to the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, will have an important effect on the marketing and price-support programs for the 1956 wheat crop. If two-thirds of the farmers voting approve quotas, quotas will continue in effect for farms with more than 15 acres of wheat along with marketing quota penalties of 45 percent of parity on the production from acreage in excess of the farm allotments. Price support on the crop in the commercial states, which includes Texas, will be available at 76 percent of parity or at a minimum national average of $1.81 cents a bushel.

If more than one-third of the voters cast ballots against quotas, there will be no quotas or penalties on the 1956 crop but the available support price to farmers who plant within their farm allotment will drop to 50 percent of parity as provided by law.

The Texas ASC Committee points out that wheat acreage allotments are not being voted on. Regardless of how the vote goes in the referendum, acreage allotments will continue in effect. They may be dispensed with only in time of emergency, adds the committee.

The committee points out that wheat supplies are now 66 percent more than the normal supply and large enough to meet current needs for domestic use and export for the next two years. Marketing quotas, by law, must be proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture when the total supply of wheat exceeds the normal supply by 20 percent.

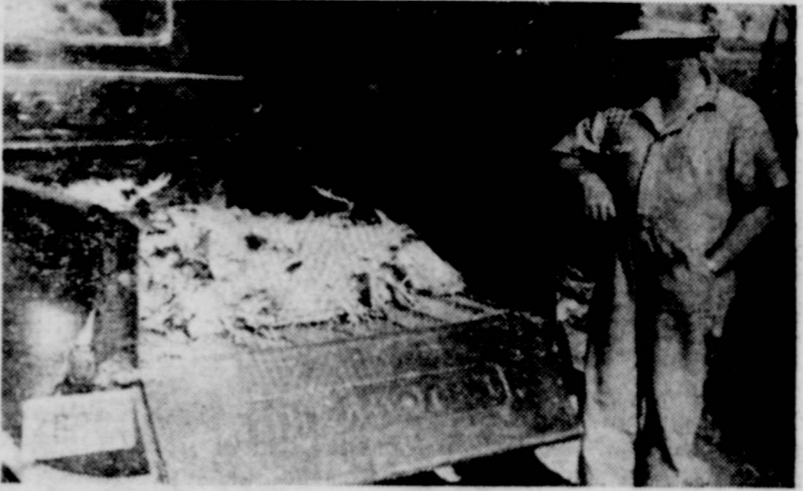

How wide-spread the effects of the poll will be to Floyd county farm operators and to business in general, is indicated by the fact that wheat allotments in this county total 139,581 acres. This is only a few acres lower than in 1955, the ASC office reports.

While this figure is down from a high of 270,000 acres in 1950, it still represents a big factor in the plans of the farm people.

For a quarter of a century Floyd county has been in the top ten wheat producing counties in Texas and has led the state twice in the past ten years.

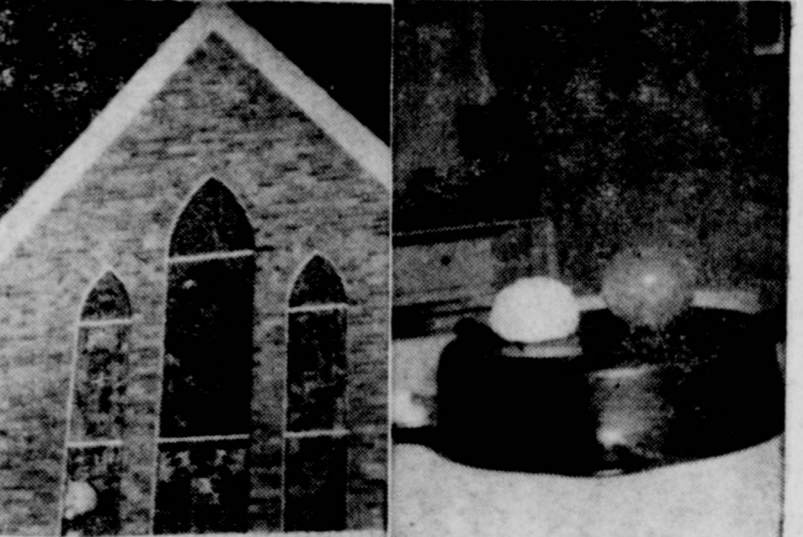

C. M. Perry, 4 miles west of Floydada, lost his hen house, brooder house, tractor house and shop, 96 feet of buildings in Saturday night's storm. Shown left standing but "out of line" is his barn.

Perry loads up 80 fryers ready for the deep freeze and hauls them to the dump ground.

O. G. Mayfield's hen house blew into and over his plows and tractors and tore them up. Johnny Holmes, in the foreground is repairing the yard fence to keep the chickens out of Mrs. Mayfield's flowers.

to the C. M. Perry's idea of putting about 100 chickens in the deep freeze Monday morning by killing around 80 of them. The tornado passed between the Perry's new home and barn.

One and 9-tenths inches of rain fell in 55 minutes in Floydada Saturday night. Sunday night's rain measured 1.25 inches. In some areas the rain was much heavier.

Only fractional damage is indicated in the area of the county east of Highway 207, except in the west part of Lakeview district.

Their farm is located about 4 miles west of town on the Sand Hill road.

The tornado hit a shed and then a nine room barracks where the hired hands stay during cotton chopping and picking seasons. The shed, which housed a brooder, chicken house, tractor shed and work shop, was completely destroyed except for one wall of the shop. The chickens were in the building at the time.

Four of the nine rooms were blown off the barracks in the storm. One wall was blown about 100 yards away and left leaning against a fence. The barn was thrown about eight inches out of line, and Mr. Perry said that if it had been twisted much more the whole barn would have fallen.

Henry Elected A.L. Commander

Jack Henry was elected commander of McDermott Post No. 118, American Legion, when they met Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Legion Hall.

Others to serve with him will be 1st vice-commander, Kenneth Bain, Jr., 2nd vice-commander, Billy Henry, adjutant, Darnel Ayres, finance officer, J. C. Wester, sergeant at arms, Jess Covington, chaplain, E. B. Chesnut, executive committee, Jack Henry, Kenneth Bain, Jr., Darnell Ayres, J. C. Wester, Allen Bingham, Orville Newberry, J. M. Williams, Sr., and Harry Morckel.

Allen Bingham, post commander, presided at the monthly business meeting.

The McDonald Building, housing Floydada post office and Southwestern Public Service Company's office, will be the scene of Friday's open house. Southwestern will make an all-day affair of it. The post office will have "guided tours" in the work shop from 2 to 5 o'clock p. m. The new quarters represent an investment in excess of $30,000 by the builder.

P. O. Public Service Open House Friday

Southwestern Public Service Company and the United States Post Office of Floydada will hold a joint open house celebration tomorrow, Friday June 24. Occasion for the big event is the completion of their move into new quarters in the Clement B. McDonald building on west California street.

Highlighting the activities of the day will be a guided tour of the complete postal plant between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m., and next door the personnel of Southwestern Public Service Company will be serving free coffee to the visitors and have souvenir gifts for the kiddoes.

Brac Biggers manager of Southwestern's district office here, promises to have the coffee hot by 9 a. m. and will be ready to entertain guests throughout the day. Work on the building was started February 28 when Killingsworth construction company of Dimmitt started pouring foundation. The structure was completed about the first of June when the occupants got underway with their moving plans.

The McDonald building occupies a 62 1/2 foot front in the 200 block of west California street. It is an attractive building of modern design constructed of brick, building blocks, concrete and steel and has a built up roof. The builders made generous use of glass in front windows and doors and both fluorescent and incandescent lighting were installed in the interior. Complete air conditioning is furnished by evaporative coolers and circulating heater units.

Public Service Plans For All-Day

When Southwestern Public Service Company moved to their new quarters they left a location they had occupied for 10 years. In December 1944, the company's offices were installed in the Barrow building on the north side of the square when Guy Ginn was the local manager.

Brac Biggers, the company's present district manager, came to Floydada in March, 1953. Biggers transferred to Floydada from Plainview where he was in Southwestern's engineering department.

Under the present manager many big improvements have been made in Southwestern's local distribution system. In July, 1953, the automatic sub-station on north Fourth street was completed and has given Floydada uninterrupted power service since that date.

With this new substation set up if a power failure occurs on either of the high lines feeding Floydada change to the other is automatic within 10 seconds. Rebuilding of the company's local distribution system was completed last fall.

The district office here serves both Floyd and Briscoe counties with offices at Lockney and Silverton being under its supervision. The regular staff here besides Biggers includes Kenneth Tate, Fred Thaxton and Mrs. Billie Adams.

Lewis Hollingsworth, Southwestern's division utilization manager of Plainview, will be in Floydada tomorrow to be present for the open house celebration. Hollingsworth is a former Floydada boy, having attended school here, and was active in high school athletics.

Included in the plans for the day are free coffee for visitors beginning at 9 a. m., souvenirs for children, an electric appliance display in the lobby and an invitation to look over the new plant from front to back and visit with company personnel and your friends in the air-conditioned comfort of the new offices.

conditioning is furnished by evaporative coolers and circulating heater units.

GUIDED TOURS

The Postal Department and the employees of the Floydada Post office invite the public to visit the new air-conditioned quarters at 226 west California street, for guided tours, Friday June 24, from 2:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m.

This is the first public open house the Floydada Post office has ever held, as far as any of the present employees can remember which is some 39 years.

If you are curious as to what happens to your mail after you drop it into the letter drop, or what procedure it goes through after arriving until it reaches you, be sure to attend for a tour behind the "iron curtain."

There will be several postal clerks on hand to take groups of ten to twenty people at a time and answer questions on each tour.

All persons making the tours will do so only under the direction of a clerk, and will abide strictly by the Postal Rules and Regulations.

Small children must be accompanied by one of their parents, as handling mail or parcels is strictly prohibited.

"We hope to have a good attendance as we know that the public is proud of their new Post Office from the many compliments in the ten days we have been open here," says Acting Postmaster Edward Wester, in announcing the event, which will be a unique one, so far as local history goes.

No doubt the people of the community will be delighted with the bright, new quarters, Wester thinks.

MITCHELL PARRISH MAKES TRIP TO CENTER, TEXAS

Mitchell Parrish left Sunday for Center, Texas, where he planned to visit with his parents and also to pick up his family who had been visiting in that vicinity for several days. Mrs. Parrish and children had been in central Texas spending some time with her mother and father and also with Mr. Parrish's folks.

The Parrish family plans to return to Floydada this week-end.

Open House Sunday Will Present New Baptist Educational Unit

Open house to present their new coordinated educational unit to the people of the area will be held by the congregation of the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock, it was announced this week by the pastor of the church, Dr. R. Earl Allen.

Completion of a new unit that was put into use for the first time on May 29, and the re-arrangement of the entire educational building, makes the plant one of the best organized training facilities in the area for church work. Guests are asked to come to the front entrance of the educational building where the officials of the church family will greet them. They will be asked to register and will be shown through the buildings.

Light refreshments will be served with Mrs. Billy Henry chairman of a committee in charge. Other members of this committee include Mrs. Leonard Matsler, Mrs. Al Galloway, Mrs. Charlie Lewis and Mrs. Tate Jones.

Storms Lash Rich Croplands

Disaster of wide-spread proportions hit Floyd county's rich west side croplands and greatly damaged homes and property in repeated blows Tuesday, Thursday, Friday Saturday and Sunday nights of last week, each of the successive storm waves taking added scopes of country. Hail, wind and heavy rain, with at least one twister, rolled up a damage toll that is staggering in its extent.

Only once or twice before in three decades has the damage been as extensive and probably never before so complete in so wide a range of Hale, Floyd and Crosby counties.

About the only extensive areas in the west part of the county not seriously damaged lie in the extreme southwest.

From McCoy eastward to Lakeview and including the west and south part of the Floydada district, in all of Sand Hill, Blanco, Starkey, Pleasant Valley and Irick, the most of Lockney, Prairie Chapel, and a large part of Aiken, the destruction of crops may be found to be as high as 95 per cent.

Even to the east of highway 207, particularly toward Dougherty where hail and wind did not strike, heavy downpours call for a re-planting in some fields this week.

LASHED BY HAIL Hundreds of homes and business houses in Lockney were being repaired this week. Window screens on the north side of practically every house in Lockney were beaten out the windows smashed. Rain and hail poured into houses through the openings. Public buildings, such as garages, churches and schools also suffered. Numerous stained glass windows in the First Methodist and the First Baptist churches were destroyed.

First official warning of the approaching storm was received by Radio Station KFLD in a telephone call at 5:15 from the U. S. Weather Bureau at Lubbock. Announcer Glen Amburn, on duty at the time, carried the report at 15-minute intervals until his station was knocked off the air at 7:25 o'clock.

Amburn said that when the station went out he left to go home to a storm cellar. He had difficulty getting into the stream of traffic, the road filled practically bumper to bumper with cars.

Over-night the difficulty was remedied at the radio station and it went on the air Sunday morning at sunrise.

TRAVELED SOUTHEAST

Contrary to science, experience and lore the twister seems definitely to have traveled in a southeasterly direction. Scattered debris from the edge of Aiken district to Lakeview indicates as much. However, at some homes windows were smashed out on all sides of the house.

Where the twister hit southeast of Irick, Bert Elam's barn was blown over on a brand new $2,500 hay baler, while the hail and wind whipped and twisted fresh-cut alfalfa, a ready-to-harvest field of wheat and a crop of good cotton.

At the M. T. Dunn place the barn and outbuildings and the roof off of his house were blown southwest, and Floyd Terrell, immediately southeast of Dunn, lost the roof off of a block house. The roof knocked about half the blocks out of the walls as it took off. A family in the house escaped injury.

At Alton Noland's, Pleasant Valley, the wind damage was minor, but the hail was so severe it beat up his house so badly the family can't live in it until repairs are made.

Lions Re-Schedule Clean-Up Pick-Up

Floydada Lions club last week re-scheduled their clean-up date for Thursday morning, July 14. Lion president E. A. Williams, when making the announcement, said it was the second year in a row the event had been rained out, and it was hoped the July date might better suit the occasion than that originally planned in early June.

With the heavy rains that have fallen and the rapid weed growth that has followed the later clean-up day may work out to advantage to all concerned. The Lions say get the cleaning up done and be ready for the pick-ups to haul off the rubbish on July 14.

IEWS AND COMMENT

Pretty Rugged Monday. Monday morning was a pretty rugged one for a good many hundred families in Floyd county who started re-doing their crops and for many, also, who had damage from hail and wind. Fortunately for us all people take things like that in stride, and, unless the results leave them helpless physically or financially, tighten up their belts and go on without looking back. Hope springs eternal. All are thankful the fury of the storm was as light as it was. But it was tough Monday.

Some farmers have re-planted so many times they are weary of it, while others have caught the right spot on the wet and dry cycle and have good crops booming. No doubt the excess rainfall, together with the destructive hails have cut the possible cotton production this year considerably below normal. No doubt the farm operators will come up with a few acres of various and sundry kinds of crops to keep their acreage at work. But of course, the mainstay will be maize. Many say the time to plant maize has just been reached. "Maize likes to mature after the scorching days of August are past."

The Wheat Referendum. Saturday is the day for the wheat referendum. The vote will be nation-wide amongst the people who are directly at interest—the farm operator and the farm owner. In a county like Floyd where there is, perhaps, more diversification than in most any other part of the country, the likelihood is that support for marketing quotas will be heavier than in the one-shot areas where it is wheat or nothing. Our opinion is that continuation of the marketing quotas would be in the best interest of our area and that its adoption for another year would add more to the wealth of the people than its rejection. But, for or against, everybody who is eligible ought to vote in the referendum. The date is June 25.

The glass people and screens are doing a land office business this week in Lockney and in other parts of the county where the hail and winds combined last week-end to pound out hundreds and hundreds of windows. Hail and wind also made some sizeable repair jobs a necessity to barns, out buildings and the like. More people have looked at their insurance policies, in the past few days, we venture to say, than in many a day previously. "Extended coverage" and "$100 deductible" have more meaning now, too, as well as "depreciation" and "replacement value."

Dry land farmers are in better position to enjoy a good harvest this year than at any time in the past three years. Most of the dry land has good stands of cotton and feed and have moisture in the ground sufficient to see the crop through another three or four weeks. A story that has been going the rounds is the mythical conversation between two dry land farmers. No. 1 said "if it doesn't rain I am going to have to rob a bank." To which the other replied, "If it doesn't rain I have just robbed a bank."

Wells Get a Rest. Many irrigation wells in Floyd county that had had slight rest, winter or summer, for two or three years, have been idled by the big rains of the month of June. The underground water supply also is being replenished and the water table is getting a chance to go higher as the underground supply is being augmented from the water in sands that are exposed and at the faults in the earth's surface.

Maybe Junior Leaguers will save organized baseball from going the way of the dodo. It is interesting to note how many thousand tikes and teen-agers are playing the game. But they'll have to play for the fun of it when they get older if the present trend continues. People won't take time to spend a whole afternoon at a ball game that ought to be played in an hour and 35 minutes. The idea the magnates have that home runs are what the customers want is all right in a way. A home run at the right moment is a fine thing, but a home run a minute, while the customer's seat gets harder and harder, hour after hour, is passe. Baseball is smarter than that and so are the patrons.

In Gaines County the Commissioners court and the State Highway Department have in the planning stage a four-lane "facility" through the county. The study of present and future traffic volume indicates the need for planning to insure adequate right-of-way for its ultimate construction. We mention this in passing, just incidentally you might say, not that it matters at all, where or when the highway department builds any of those old four-lane things.

9 Amendments To Be Offered For Adoption

AUSTIN — Nine proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution await voter rejection or approval in the November 6, 1956, general election.

Endorsed by at least two-thirds of the 150 representatives and 31 senators before the 54th legislature ended its session this week, the propositions would:

1. Put another 100 million dollars into the Veterans Land Program. This one is expected to set off sharp debate because of controversy over the program since it became embroiled in scandal.
2. Reduce jury trials in lunacy cases by giving the accused person a choice of whether or not to have a jury. The constitution now makes a jury trial mandatory.
3. Make it tougher for professional criminals to get bail.
4. Allow teachers a better retirement plan. They would be permitted to contribute a larger percentage of their salary than at present, with the state putting up matching funds.
5. Authorize the Legislature to provide assistance to needy individuals permanently and totally disabled.
6. Permit state recompense to persons erroneously convicted of crimes.
7. Give commissioners courts leeway in reallocating between their permanent improvement, jury, road and bridge and general funds. Present law requires an election before funds can be shifted.

8. Allow wider investment of the University permanent fund in an effort to secure greater returns. This amendment also would realign state colleges in the two present programs for construction and equipment of buildings.

9. Set up an appropriate oath of office for appointive state officers who now use one designed for elective officers.

Mrs. Robbye Owens and Tommy Watson of Lubbock were Friday visitors in the homes of Mrs. S. J. Latta and Mrs. E. L. Norman. Mrs. Owens is the sister of Mrs. Latta and Mrs. Norman.

Mrs. Lon Smith has returned to her home after spending a few days in the Pitts hospital recovering from a severe bruise on her leg. She received the injury last week in a fall at the country club.

DIRECTORS MEET TUESDAY

Tuesday night directors of the league meet at 7:30 p. m. at Footie Butane company to discuss possible changes in the league set-up with a view for improving it. Some player swapping was done to try and balance team strength a little better.

Chief topic of discussion was the forming of a minor league of two teams in order to try and get more playing time for boys who are smaller or have less ability. Those present voted to form these two teams and their rosters will be made up of three members from each of the present clubs who will be dropped back to the lower classification.

The roster of league teams would then carry 12 members and managers would be allowed to move up a boy from the minor league when he was ready for the stiffer competition and also they could drop a boy back to the lower bracket if he were unable to meet the faster pace.

Commissioner W. B. Winn said the change was believed to be an improvement that would allow more boys to get in more action and the minor league would have managers who could give more attention to these less experienced players. Uniforms of caps and shirts will be furnished for the minor league teams and they will have regular work outs and games.

LAST WEEK'S RESULTS

Thursday night of last week saw the Cardinals come to life to down the undefeated Indians 14 to 4. The Cards garnered 14 hits to five for the Indians.

In the nightcap another team that is showing improvement over their early season form—the Dodgers—walloped the Tigers 13 to 3.

The Tigers took another shellacking in the first game on Friday night when the Braves recorded their first win of the season. The score was 18 to 3 in three innings.

In the night cap Friday the Dodgers took the Giants by a one-sided score, 15 to 5, in six innings.

Monday evening saw two thrillers when the Giants downed the Tigers 6 to 5 in one of the best games of the year. In the second encounter the Dodgers blasted the Indians 11 to 4.

(By Mrs. J. E. Green)

CENTER, June 21—Another mid week has rolled around. More rain since last week. Saturday night, and a real gully washer Sunday night. Most people who had cellars went into them. Damage. Lakes are near full than in years. Everything around us looks beautiful. How thankful we are for the rain!

We had a good day Sunday, Father's day. Bro. and Mrs. Hodges were with us. Bro. Hodges preached and Mrs. Hodges taught our Sunday school class as of yore. There were nearly forty in services Sunday morning and some less Sunday evening. The Hodges were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mankins, and they visited in other homes in the afternoon, among them, the J. D. Welborns, the Frank Dunns, and the J. E. Greens.

Sunday evening we began the offering for old ministers relief and to date we have $14. If you haven't gotten in on this see the church treasurer or the W. M. U. secretary-treasurer.

We had a good supper and prayer meeting attendance at church last Wednesday evening. Among the visitors were Mrs. Dunn, sr., of Alva, Oklahoma, Mrs. Craig, sr., of Waxahachie and Bro. and Mrs. Hodges and Jerry Hodges, and Barbara Evans, Wayland student from Plainview.

We had a good bible study lesson at W. M. U. last Thursday afternoon. We met at Mrs. Dunn's with six women and four girls present.

Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson and children of Amarillo spent Sunday in the home of his parents, the J. R. Robertsons. James and two children attended church services with the family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Denison had their sons and families home for Father's day. These were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Denison, jr., and children of Brownfield who arrived on Saturday night and Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer Denison and family of Lubbock.

Mrs. Leo Frizzell and Mrs. A. E. Frizzell went to Altus, Oklahoma Sunday to see their brother, Claude Carpenter, who is ill and has been ordered to bed for several weeks. The women reached home Sunday night.

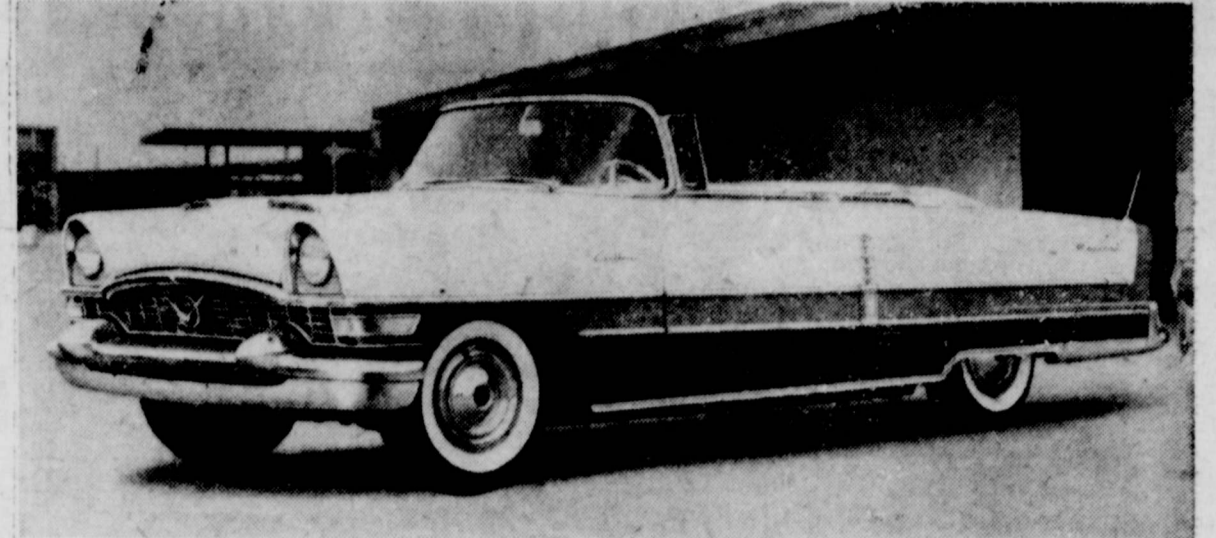

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Green and son Jimmy were Sunday dinner guests of the J. E. Greens and the Doc Rymons.

Imogene Noland, who spent several days last week in the Lockney hospital, is convalescing at home.

T. M. Noland spent Sunday with the T. R. Noland. Visitors in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Audie Noland and family and Mrs. Audie Noland's mother, Mrs. Dillard.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Craig and son accompanied by Mrs. Craig, sr., went to Roswell, New Mexico, Friday night and Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer Denison and family of Lubbock.

Packard Introduces Highest Powered Luxury Sports Car

THE PACKARD CARIBBEAN, it is the highest powered car to be made in dealer quantities this year. The new car was designed by the company's new styling division as one phase of its long-term product development program, following immediate public acceptance for the high priced convertible in automobile shows last year, Powers said. Combining sports car styling with standard car comfort, the styling advances in the Caribbean were possible because of the limited production run. Original equipment includes the new torsion suspension system which provides a flat, level, bump-free ride by eliminating all conventional coil and leaf springs. Packard's twin-Ultramatic transmission, power brakes, power steering, three-way radio, electrically-operated antennas, hydraulically-controlled windows, power seat and other automatic safety and comfort devices which are original equipment on the Caribbean also have been made available for 1955 standard production models.

BUSTER MOONEY DISCHARGED VISITS WITH PARENTS HERE

Buster Mooney, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Mooney was discharged from military service early in May at Camp Rucker, Alabama. He spent most of the time since that date in Massachusetts visiting with his brother Rex and family before coming to Floydada to be with his parents for a while.

Mooney completed two years of active duty with an army artillery unit, seeing most of this duty in the south-eastern states. He has returned to his job with a seismograph company and is presently located at Lovington, New Mexico.

(By Sonja Kay Gray, Reporter)

Sixty youngsters joined in singing several verses of the Davy Crockett Ballad Tuesday morning and then settled down to hear Mrs. Jimmy Willson tell the story, at the Junior book review club.

She exhibited several guns, including old trusted and explained how they worked. Also on display were a Davy Crockett hat and doll, furnished by King's Variety Store. Refreshments were Davy Crockett Sweet Rolls, compliments of Baldrige bakery.

The next meeting of the junior book review club will be June 28 from 10 to 11 a. m. in the Library Reading room. The program will be on 'Chinese paper folding.' There will be hand work for everyone to take home.

Jr. High Canteen Thursday Nights

The standing chairmen for the Junior High Canteen, Mrs. Greer Christian, Mrs. Leonard Matsler, Mrs. J. D. Parks and Mrs. K. E. Edmiston, met with the American Legion executive board Monday night and received permission to use the Legion hall one night each week. They will meet each Thursday night from 8 until 10.

All parents are urged to attend Thursday night along with their children, says Mrs. Leonard Matsler. Games will be the entertainment for Thursday night after which refreshments will be served.

HOBBY CLUB

(Frank Barrow, reporter)

Mrs. J. T. Myrick brought an interesting program to the Hobby club Tuesday morning on Indians and then provided each member with clay to mold some kind of Indian pottery.

Davy Crockett sweet rolls were served to the 20 club members, Mrs. J. T. Myrick and Mrs. H. F. Jackson.

The next meeting of the club will be June 28 from 10 until 11 a. m. in the council room. Mrs. H. A. Drysdale will bring a story and some interesting handwork. All students from the fifth grade up are invited to attend.

Swimming Lessons To Begin

According to DeWayne Cleveland, manager of the city swimming pool, swimming lessons will begin Monday morning at 9:00. All interested persons should contact him at once. No children under 6 years of age will be taught.

The cost of the lessons will be $5.00 a person for four weeks with five lessons a week lasting one hour each.

Cleveland has planned a family night each Thursday night. All children accompanied by their parents will be admitted free with their parents paid admission.

BATHING BEAUTY

She is a bathing beauty, junior grade, in her pretty cotton swim suit designed by Cole of California. She's proud of her suit, because its gay cotton print is just like the big girls are wearing. The National Cotton Council reports that cotton swim suit prints this year range from whimsical animal patterns to vivid native designs.

Mrs. David Kirk Named Honoree at Surprise Shower

Mrs. Jack Jordan registered the guests and Mrs. Tom Snead and Mrs. Donald Skaggs served the guests.

The table was adorned with a white Madera lace table cloth centered with a circular glass candelabra with pink tapers and blue daisies clustered at the base. A huge pink feathered stork reigned over a bassinet trimmed in blue net and pink cakes decorated with booties. Inside the bassinet contained little pink cakes decorated with booties and from each cake extended on a toothpick was an adorable little baby's face, which was used as favors. The punch was pink with floating round ice mold decked also with blue daisies.

Assisting Mrs. Martin were Mrs. Lyndell Roberts, Mrs. Tom Snead, Mrs. Donald Skaggs and Mrs. Jack Jordan.

Out of town guests were Mrs. L. A. Cooper of Canyon, Mrs. George Moors of Plainview, Mrs. Jack Cooper of Canyon, Mrs. John Hollums of Kress and Mrs. Bill Lansford of Lubbock.

TRAVELER

Maid of Cotton De Lois Faulkner picks a trim, wrinkle-resistant cotton suit as one of her smart travel fashions. The blue-eyed Oklahoma girl knows a good travel costume when she sees it, for she already has covered thousands of miles on her tour in behalf of the cotton industry. Still ahead of her is a trans-Atlantic flight on a BOAC airliner for a month's visit in five European nations.

W. A. Gound attended a business meeting of the Odd Fellow Lodge in Petersburg Monday night.

Frankness, like garlic salt or "wooster" on certain foods improves the flavor of friendship when properly used. But like those condiments, it goes best in small doses.

We have to learn this lesson again and again. Someone needlessly hurts a relative or friend and we think, "She means well, but it's a pity she can't see how cruel that is." And we promise ourselves we'll be more thoughtful. But before long, we too are confusing frankness with truth and sincerity, and heedlessly hurting someone.

Our first lesson came when we were twelve. In a short story called "Merlin's Necklace," a little girl who had pledged herself to tell the truth dealt out cruelty to everyone she met. The story was of her gradual awakening to kindness as the necessary companion of truth.

We made a new pledge last week after visiting with a cousin whom we hadn't seen in twenty years. As a girl, she was plain, intelligent, and honest to a fault. She had the respect of everyone, the pity of some, the love of a few. Since that time, she has earned two college degrees, acquired a reputation in her profession, married and moved to another state. We looked forward to the reunion.

Within an hour she had spoken blunt truths to her husband—whom we had just met—three or four times. By the end of the day, we were gasping with astonishment at the things she said she had said to this in-law, that co-worker, her husband's friends. At least half of it could have been left unsaid, the other half said tactfully. It was a Don Quixote world she had built for herself, in which she fenced with imaginary foes whom gentleness would have won.

Whatever its source, the idea that frankness for its own sake is a virtue should be put away in mothballs today!

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Snell and family and R. J. Brown of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Will Snell of Floydada were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hale and sons.

the reconciliation conference of Shivers and Butler in Washington in May. He resigned from the Democratic Advisory Council.
 Austin politicians were studying the effect of Butler's speaking tour. Some of them thought there had been considerable "double talk," as Butler's statements could be interpreted to suit any view.
 At Waco late last week, Butler abandoned the "open door" theme of trying to lure back Democrats who had voted Republican in 1952. He invited the Democratic Advisory Council, his host on the tour, to "organize" the 6,000 Texas precincts with loyal leaders, for next year's showdown.
 A significant feature of Butler's tour was that four prospective candidates for governor on the liberal ticket basked in the photographer's flash-bulb limelight.
 At Dallas, Supreme Court Associate Justice Will Wilson appeared in his former home city as master of ceremonies at the Butler rally of over 1,000 liberals.
 John C. White, commissioner of Agriculture, sat at the head table.
 Ralph Yarborough of Austin, strongly rumored as ready for a third try as the governor candidate of the liberals, started out with Butler at Lubbock and showed up at nearly all his meetings.
 And Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton showed up at a Waco rally for Butler.
 Present also were several other senators who aren't prospective candidates for governor — and half a dozen house members.
 Butler's Houston appearance was the young state convention of the Young Democratic clubs. Virtually all the potential candidates for governor on the liberal ticket showed up there too. White delivered the keynote address at the opening business session and Yarborough also spoke.
LAND OFFICE FLAWS
 A 95-page audit documenting investigations of irregularities in the Veterans Land Board has been released by State Auditor C. H. Cavness.
 Cavness emphasized throughout his report the need for additional field supervisors and investigators . . . who can check continually to prevent irregularities in the $100,000,000 loan program.

The audit covered the period from September 1, 1954, to January 4, 1955. (The last day Bascom Giles was commissioner of the General Land Office and chairman of the Veterans Land Board).
LAND INQUIRY SHIFTS
 After winding up its sixth week of investigation before Justice of the Peace Travis Blakeslee in Austin, the court of inquiry into overall operations of the General Land Office moved to Corpus Christi.
 Twenty land office geophysical inspectors stationed in Corpus Christi will be questioned there this week.
RAINS BOOST CROPS
 Unusually favorable moisture conditions throughout Texas have brightened the crop outlook considerably, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.
 Feed crops have made good development, according to USDA reports. Corn prospects are especially promising. Cotton prospects are "very promising."
 Rains in scattered areas of central, eastern and northern Texas interrupted the harvesting of commercial vegetables, tomatoes in Central Texas and onions in North Texas.
 Crops larger than last year are predicted for cantaloupes, onions, potatoes and watermelons.
DEFENSE ALERT
 William L. McGill, director of the state's civil defense organization, reports Texas' 1955 "alert" successful and highly realistic.
 Had it been the real thing, Civil Defense Co-ordinator R. E. Dysart, said there would have been no casualties in Fort Worth, but more than one-fourth of Houston's population would have been wiped out. Lubbock would have been a victim. El Paso would have been saved. Also Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin.
 High praise was given Nederland and its 5,000 citizens for moving "successfully and smoothly" in a mass evacuation.
TURNPIKE BONDS
 Biggest issue of "municipal" bonds in Texas history, was sold in Austin at an interest rate fractionally above 19 per cent.
 Several investment groups joined in buying the $58,500,000 revenue issue of the Texas Turnpike Authority — first of its kind in Texas — and re-offering them to the public.
 The money will build Texas' first toll road, between Dallas and Fort Worth.

20 Billion Plus Size of Upkeep And Repair Bill

The cost of maintenance and repair, in a society as highly mechanized as ours, has become a big item of expenditure for the householder as well as the businessman and industrialist.

There are no over-all figures on the size of the current American repair and maintenance bill to offset the wear and tear of use and time, and to keep our push-button efficiency. However, an indication is provided by the fact that some of the known items add up to more than $20 billions a year, which includes only a relatively small amount for Government and the defense establishment upkeep.

Our Mechanized Society

The total is undoubtedly very much higher, and is certain to grow. Our stock of housing and productive equipment is continuing to increase at a rapid rate. Furthermore, it is the exceptional household in this country that does not now have a motor or mechanical or electronic contrivance of some kind—whether it be an automobile, refrigerator, television or radio set, heating system, or one of the many home labor-saving devices that are such a characteristic part of life in the United States today.

Here is a factor of major economic consequence, involving an annual market for billions of dollars of all kinds of materials and supplies and millions of jobs.

The biggest outlay for maintenance and repair is in the category of construction. U.S. Department of Commerce figures place the total of such expenditures at more than $14 billions a year. This covers construction of all types—nonresidential buildings as well as homes, public utilities, highways, farm buildings, military facilities, sewage disposal and water supply systems, and conservation and development. The outlays here are on the structures alone and do not include machinery. Residential buildings alone, excluding farms, involve over $5 billions, or more than a third of such expenditures.

Buildings and Equipment

The total maintenance and repair bill for construction comes to the equivalent of around 40 cents of every dollar of the current record outlays for all construction, evidence of its economic importance and the demand it generates in the whole building field.

Just what it costs to keep up our vast stock of capital equipment, on which around $150 billions has been spent in the 1946-54 period alone for additions and replacements, is not known. However, an indication is provided by the Council for Technological Advancement, which places the labor cost alone in the neighborhood of $3 billions for this purpose. There is the bill for parts and other supplies in addition.

There are a number of figures which give an insight into the impact of maintenance and repair on the average family budget, exclusive of the home itself. Department of Commerce figures show, for example, that personal outlays for automobile repair, greasing, etc., come to well over $2 billions a year.

Another half billion dollars are assigned to keeping radio and television sets in repair. An additional $200 millions annually is the current estimate for electrical appliance repair. And there are many other mechanical breakdowns and repair bills in the average home, as every householder knows, not counting the great extent of "do-it-yourself" which does not show up in the figures.

Promoted

—but to what? Will our children return to school next fall to find classrooms overcrowded—too few teachers—not enough books? With nearly a million more children entering school every September, we must plan now to meet the threat to our educational standards.

Sound Caution For First Time Owner of Boat

Literally millions of people are turning to boating for recreation; many of them are entirely new to boats and this means an inevitable increase in the number of accidents.

There are two approaches to this matter of boating safety. There's the legislative—pass a law about it. There's the educational—teach the boater what safety rules he should follow, and convince him to do it.

Most town boards and county supervisors considering boating legislation welcome information. Water laws are something new to them. You can give them the address of the Outboard Boating Club of America (307 N. Michigan, Chicago, Ill.) so they can get a copy of the booklet on uniform boating regulations.

With the help of some of the wisest boating heads in the country, the OBC has drawn up this recommended uniform boat regulation act. Its excellence is largely due to the careful following of these basic principles: to exclude everything found unenforceable or ineffective; to include only what can be made to work; and to follow as closely as practicable the laws and regulations the Coast Guard now enforces in federally navigable waters.

Willard Crandall, boating editor of Sports Afield magazine, says there are a hundred ways a boating or sportman's club can help in safety: printing and putting up safety posters at docks, landings, resorts and boat shops; club or boat cruises—how can the participants help but learn a lot about boats and water; special juvenile membership and activities present an unlimited field.

Even as an individual there is much you can do to promote local water safety because, basically, safety violations are much more often caused by ignorance than by carelessness. It can work like this:

You see a stranger about to leave a pier with an overloaded boat. You can't tell him to stop, that he doesn't know safety. He might shove you off the dock. Instead, you ask if he likes his boat. Is it a little tippy? You had one once much like it, and it was, and that's why you asked. Of course, you never realized that yours was tippy until one day you stayed out longer than all the other boats... blame yourself for a near tragedy with that boat—you were a should-know-but-fool to take risks with a big load and a small boat.

Of course, he'll go right out with the whole load; but you will have started him thinking.

A certain business corporation called a meeting of its salesmen. The sales manager had prepared a large white sheet and tacked it up on the wall.

When all the men had gathered, the sales manager went over to the white sheet and made a little black dot with a crayon, as near the center of the sheet as he could. Then he said: "You are a bunch of smart men; what do you see?"

"A little black dot," one man answered. "What do you see?" asked the manager.

"A little black dot," they answered.

"That's just the trouble," exclaimed the sales manager. "You all see the little black dot, but none of you sees the big sheet of white. Well, that little black dot represents the orders you have taken. The big sheet of white represents our prospects. Now you fellows step out and hustle!"—Exchange.

Re-establishing Texas Pastures

Drouth-breaking rains in many parts of the state have focused attention on the need to restore vital pastures ravaged by five years of burning dry weather.

Many thousands of acres of rangeland, especially in West Texas, have been relegated to "second table" or even barren condition during the drouth. Rainfall, alone, will not restore it to proper productivity without additional care.

Landowners must take into consideration the makeup of the soil when they start seeding operations. Plenty of seed but too little lime and fertilizer may mean "poor luck" in establishing a good pasture.

There are scores of reasons for poor stands and failures, including planting seed too deep or too shallow, lack of firmness of seed bed, use of poor quality or unadapted seed and competition by weeds. These are particularly true when a good legume-grass cover is attempted. Yet, the major cause appears to be a lack of plant nutrients.

Some 4 million of our nation's farms are below even maximum standards on grass culture. The complacency shown by many growers in regard to regular and disastrous stand failures is costing them an extra $50 million a year for seed, alone.

Before seeding a field, it is to the farmer's advantage to get a complete soil analysis and determine what nutrients it may need to guarantee a good crop. On one Central Texas farm, proper fertilization meant the difference between 2,210 pounds of weed-free forage per acre as compared with a previous yield of 410 pounds containing 40 to 70 percent weeds.

Grassland farmers are urged to consult their county agents or write direct to the Texas Department of Agriculture, Austin, for soil sample information. Proper planning beforehand may mean the difference between success and failure in re-establishing pastures wiped out by the drouth.

School For Deaf Pre-School Clinic Held For Parents

Mrs. W. R. Daniel and son Dannie have returned from Austin where Mrs. Daniel attended a clinic for parents of pre-school students who are deaf or hard of hearing.

The State School for the Deaf at Austin conducts such a school every year. The school lasts a week and costs nothing to attend.

The purpose of the school is to teach parents, through lectures, the causes of deafness and how to help their child educationally, psychologically, and socially.

Dannie, who is six years old and will start to school next year, has a slight hearing loss which can be corrected by medical attention.

It is the wish of Mrs. Daniel that not only the parents of such children could well attend this school but all public school nurses attend, also. She feels that by attending this school she has acquainted herself with her problem and has learned more about deafness and how it affects her child.

Farm Research On Long Range Basis Is Urged

One of the South's most influential newspapermen has called on the federal government to take the "guess work" out of farm research appropriations and commit itself to a non-partisan, long-range plan "based on the nation's needs rather than on the shifting sands of political expediency."

Frank R. Ahlgren, editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, in a recent address before the Valley Oilseed Processors Association at Biloxi, Miss., charged the record of federal support for agricultural research and education since 1940 "has been a record of neglect."

"I believe one of the most urgent farm issues of our time centers around research. Not whether we are to have it, but whether the program is going to be big enough and good enough. Farm research has been inadequate so long, it has been under-emphasized so shamefully, that it cannot keep pace with the nation's growth," he declared.

The Memphis editor endorsed the type of expanded program, long envisioned by farm leaders, which puts an end to mere expressions of good intentions and requires firm commitments on specified sums for stipulated periods.

Plan Soon To Be Presented

Mr. Ahlgren indicated such a plan, projected over a five-year period, soon will be presented to Washington lawmakers. It sets 1960 as the target date for building up research funds to where agriculture can keep pace with the nation's development as a whole. This plan "will not call for a sudden, swift increase in appropriations. Research projects are not developed in a day—nor laboratories built, nor new staff members trained. The plan will call for moderate annual increases, scheduled to come no faster than they can be used in an orderly expansion of work," he said.

The Memphis editor recalled the federal government became very research-minded between 1940 and 1953 as new products and methods flowing out of U. S. laboratories excited the envy of the world. In 1953 the government picked up the tab for $2.5 billion worth of research, he said, or about five-eighths of the money spent on research in America by all public and private agencies combined. In agriculture, however, the federal government's research investment, in terms of real buying power, had no increase in the 13-year period.

This policy of neglect, he asserted, finds no justification whatever in any declining need for agricultural research. "The truth is, the need has never been so great before."

Ahlgren observed the farmer must now face the fact that research has made it possible for alcohol to be made from natural gas instead of grain or sugar cane. Similarly, detergents have been replacing soap, chemical extenders are being substituted for farm-produced fat, and synthetic fibers are moving in on cotton's traditional markets.

Research Takes Time for 'Pay-off'
He observed that agricultural research is a time-consuming task and often takes many years before the "big pay-off." This fact has forced researchers, operating on precarious budgets, to take the "quickie project" approach which yields small gains, not really definite ones. "They know they will have money to complete the quickie projects, and that they will be armed with at least some new results in fighting for next year's appropriation," he said.

Only a long-range build-up on farm research can accomplish the needed results. Moreover, the broadening of the research base must be coupled with a gradual expansion of the agricultural extension service.

For the long-range research and education proposal to be assured of success will require the full endorsement of both major political parties, the Congress, the Administration, and, most of all, the American people, Mr. Ahlgren concluded. Other-wise, the annual "guessing game" over how much money will be available will start all over again.

Anglers Agree Size of the Fly Is Important

By Ted Kesting

With properly matched tackle, some idea of where to find fish, and a light tread so as not to scare the daylight out of them, anybody can catch trout on flies, claims Jason Lucas, angling editor of Sports Afield magazine.

Now practically all expert anglers agree that the size of the fly is the most important thing in trout fishing, granted that one has some knowledge of how to fish it. The unsuccessful angler uses flies which are too large. For trout found in most places, 10's are the biggest that will get good results, while 12's, 14's and even smaller down to 18's are sometimes better. Skimpily dressed flies are best—you may have to buy overdressed ones and trim them with a scissors.

Don't bother too much about patterns, but get some No. 10 or 12 wet flies that are mainly black, white, gray and brown. Later, after you're catching trout well, get some of the same colors in smaller sizes; still later, you can start playing around with patterns—that may not get you any more trout, but it's lots of fun.

Lucas says he'd like to print BE CAUTIOUS in red letters an inch high, in the feeble hope that it will make some impression on careless anglers. Here are some good general rules in this matter:

- 1) If you are where you can see a trout, he can see you too; but he saw you first, so he's gone.
- 2) The calmer the surface of the water, the farther he can see you.
- 3) The higher you are above the surface, the farther he can see you.
- 4) It's a dangd sight better to be too cautious, which can't keep you from catching them, than to be just a shade too careless, which sure as heck can. No matter how broken the surface, nor how low down you are, don't get closer than 30 feet to the spot you are going to fish.

A word about leaders—the finer and less visible the leader, the more trout will take your fly. Use a tapered leader, one 6 to 7½ feet. Lucas feels that undyed leaders are more productive.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reeves and Mr. and Mrs. Clay Willis, of Amarillo, spent Sunday here, guests in the home of Mrs. R. H. Willis.

Pat and Mike, touring Switzerland, were caught in a sudden blizzard. Half buried in the snow Pat was about giving up hope. Suddenly up came bounding a St. Bernard rescue dog with a large cask of brandy fastened to his collar.

"Look Pat," said Mike, "cheer up, here comes man's best friend."

"Aye Mike," said Pat, brightening, "and look at the big dog that's with it."

Louis R. Seale Rites at Lockney

LOCKNEY—Funeral services for Louis R. Seale, 56, will be held this morning at 10:30 in the home of Carter Funeral Home in Lockney. The pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, Dr. J. C. of Alton, Oklahoma, will officiate. Burial will be in the Lockney cemetery under the direction of Carter Funeral Home.

Seale passed away suddenly Sunday afternoon in the Lockney hospital. He was born in Texas, in 1899, in Limestone County. He had made his home in Lockney for 30 years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. W. A. Carthel of Lockney; brothers, J. C. of Alton, Oklahoma and Tom of Oklahoma City.

An artillery company was in the backwoods of Carolina trying out the new cannon. Firing it at a factory range target, the shell exploded with a tremendous explosion, forming a familiar mushroom cloud and a lattered Confederate soldier carrying an ancient rifle came running out of a nearby woods.

Seeing his rifle, he raised his hand and addressed the soldiers, "don't know what Lee gun but Ah'm going to surrender."

The architect of the White House was James Hoban.

Mortality Rate Downward as Again

June 23—Texas' 1954 mortality rate is the biggest drop in the State Health Bureau's Vital Statistics Bureau since 1948.

The number of live births registered in 1954 was an all-time high of 1,000,000, according to the State Health Bureau statisticians said.

The number of babies were boys, 511,000 and girls, 489,000. There were 81 more male babies than female babies.

The rate of infant mortality against the male sex steadily through infancy, adolescence, maturity, and old age, a statistician commented.

The mothers of 1954 babies in Texas at the time of birth is not yet known, but the babies are born to Lone Star citizens by the state law.

The death rates were soaring to high levels, deaths caused were being cut in half.

Farm Research On Long Range Basis Is Urged

One of the South's most influential newspapermen has called on the federal government to take the "guess work" out of farm research appropriations and commit itself to a non-partisan, long-range plan "based on the nation's needs rather than on the shifting sands of political expediency."

Frank R. Ahlgren, editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, in a recent address before the Valley Oilseed Processors Association at Biloxi, Miss., charged the record of federal support for agricultural research and education since 1940 "has been a record of neglect."

"I believe one of the most urgent farm issues of our time centers around research. Not whether we are to have it, but whether the program is going to be big enough and good enough. Farm research has been inadequate so long, it has been under-emphasized so shamefully, that it cannot keep pace with the nation's growth," he declared.

The Memphis editor endorsed the type of expanded program, long envisioned by farm leaders, which puts an end to mere expressions of good intentions and requires firm commitments on specified sums for stipulated periods.

Plan Soon To Be Presented

Mr. Ahlgren indicated such a plan, projected over a five-year period, soon will be presented to Washington lawmakers. It sets 1960 as the target date for building up research funds to where agriculture can keep pace with the nation's development as a whole. This plan "will not call for a sudden, swift increase in appropriations. Research projects are not developed in a day—nor laboratories built, nor new staff members trained. The plan will call for moderate annual increases, scheduled to come no faster than they can be used in an orderly expansion of work," he said.

The Memphis editor recalled the federal government became very research-minded between 1940 and 1953 as new products and methods flowing out of U. S. laboratories excited the envy of the world. In 1953 the government picked up the tab for $2.5 billion worth of research, he said, or about five-eighths of the money spent on research in America by all public and private agencies combined. In agriculture, however, the federal government's research investment, in terms of real buying power, had no increase in the 13-year period.

This policy of neglect, he asserted, finds no justification whatever in any declining need for agricultural research. "The truth is, the need has never been so great before."

Ahlgren observed the farmer must now face the fact that research has made it possible for alcohol to be made from natural gas instead of grain or sugar cane. Similarly, detergents have been replacing soap, chemical extenders are being substituted for farm-produced fat, and synthetic fibers are moving in on cotton's traditional markets.

Research Takes Time for 'Pay-off'
He observed that agricultural research is a time-consuming task and often takes many years before the "big pay-off." This fact has forced researchers, operating on precarious budgets, to take the "quickie project" approach which yields small gains, not really definite ones. "They know they will have money to complete the quickie projects, and that they will be armed with at least some new results in fighting for next year's appropriation," he said.

Only a long-range build-up on farm research can accomplish the needed results. Moreover, the broadening of the research base must be coupled with a gradual expansion of the agricultural extension service.

For the long-range research and education proposal to be assured of success will require the full endorsement of both major political parties, the Congress, the Administration, and, most of all, the American people, Mr. Ahlgren concluded. Otherwise, the annual "guessing game over how much money will be available will start all over again."

Anglers Agree Size of the Fly Is Important

By Ted Kesting

With properly matched tackle, some idea of where to find fish, and a light tread so as not to scare the daylight out of them, anybody can catch trout on flies, claims Jason Lucas, angling editor of Sports Afield magazine.

Now practically all expert anglers agree that the size of the fly is the most important thing in trout fishing, granted that one has some knowledge of how to fish it. The successful angler uses flies which are too large. For trout found in most places, 10's are the biggest that will get good results, while 12's, 14's and even smaller down to 18's are sometimes better. Skimpily dressed flies are best—you may have to buy overdressed ones and trim them with a scissors.

Don't bother too much about patterns, but get some No. 10 or 12 wet flies that are mainly black, white, gray and brown. Later, after you're catching trout well, get some of the same colors in smaller sizes; still later, you can start playing around with patterns—that may not get you any more trout, but it's lots of fun.

Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Billington spent Fathers day with her father, Mr. Albert Glenn in Plainview. While there they visited in the home of their daughter Mr. and Mrs. Ross Yandell and family.

The rain measured an inch Monday night with lots of thunder and lightning. There was some hail reported at the Sand Hill store.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jeffress made a business trip to Silverton Monday. While there they visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shafe Weaver and family. Beverly Jeffress stayed to spend a few days with Sheron Weaver.

Lucas says he'd like to print BE CAUTIOUS in red letters an inch high, in the feeble hope that it will make some impression on careless anglers. Here are some good general rules in this matter:

1) If you are where you can see a trout, he can see you too; but he saw you first, so he's gone. 2) The calmer the surface of the water, the farther he can see you. 3) The higher you are above the surface, the farther he can see you. 4) It's a danged sight better to be too cautious, which can't keep you from catching them, than to be just a shade too careless, which sure as heck can. No matter how broken the surface, nor how low down you are, don't get closer than 30 feet to the spot you are going to fish.

A word about leaders—the finer and less visible the leader, the more trout will take your fly. Use a tapered leader, one 6 to 7 1/2 feet. Lucas feels that undyed leaders are more productive.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reeves and Mr. and Mrs. Clay Willis, of Amarillo, spent Sunday here, guests in the home of Mrs. R. H. Willis.

Pat and Mike, touring Switzerland, were caught in a sudden blizzard. Half buried in the snow Pat was about giving up hope. Suddenly up came bounding a St. Bernard rescue dog with a large cask of brandy fastened to his collar.

"Aye Mike," said Pat, brightening, "and look at the big dog that's with it."

Mortality Rate Downward Again

June 23—Texas' 1954 mortality rate is the lowest in the history of the State Health Department, according to the Bureau of Vital Statistics today.

The 1954 live births registered were an all-time high of 1,000,000, according to the bureau statisticians said.

The new babies were boys and girls—the sum of 500,000 more male babies and 500,000 more female babies died during their first year.

The decline against the male sex steadily through infancy, adolescence, maturity, and old age, a statistician commented.

The mothers of 1954 babies were 10 years younger than the mothers of 1900 babies, he said. The average age of the babies born in 1954 was 27 years, compared with 20 years in 1900.

The mortality rates were soaring to 100 per cent in 1900, and the infant mortality rate (per 1,000 live births) was 100. The infant mortality rate today is 17.3 per 1,000 live births.

The decline in the reduction of post-natal and maternal deaths, said the past two decades showed drastic reductions in many diseases affecting the population.

There were 99 percent fewer deaths from each of typhoid fever, malaria, and pellagra than in 1934. Scarlet fever had been cut by 98 percent since 1900. Ninety percent of deaths from each of diphtheria and measles are today than occurred in 1900.

It is claiming 90 percent less today than it did 20 years ago, while tuberculosis is killing fewer people than the syphilis rates have been cut.

Measles, including pneumonia, diphtheria, and intestinal diseases, are today than occurred in 1900.

KING TRACTOR & MOTOR, FLOYDADA, TEXAS

The Travis Parris had just started the foundation for a new home when the blow hit their place three miles south. Debris is from their hen house which scattered over the area.

Storm Damage

The big wind tore a tin roof off the barn and scattered the tin and boards over the near-by fields. The Parris also lost a chicken house and a television antenna. The overhang on one side at the back of the house was blown away.

ANOTHER HEN HOUSE
O. G. Mayfield, just southeast of the Parr farm, was the next person to receive damage from the tornado. The chicken house eating wind ran true to form and got another hen house at the Mayfield farm.

This is the second time in three years that the Mayfields have lost their hen house to tornadoes. The tornado also tore up a planter, tractor and two trailers on the Mayfield farm. Mrs. Mayfield said that hail the size of bricks fell during the storm. The hail knocked holes in the roof of the house where their hired man, Johnny Holmes, and his family live. The Mayfields were in the cellar when the tornado passed directly over them.

BAD AT LAKEVIEW
Mrs. Spears of the Lakeview store said that some have reported that the Saturday night storm was the worst that has ever been seen in that community. Mrs. Spears stated "Even the men dropped everything and went to the cellar, and when they do that, you know it's a bad storm."

Some of the men think that there were two clouds because windows were knocked out on the north and east sides of the houses. It is thought that one cloud came from the north and another from the east moved in just as the first one was leaving. This area had hail the size of baseballs.

Milton Harrison of Lakeview had 11 windows knocked out of each of two houses. As was the case in nearly all the county the worst damage was to the crops. Most of the cotton was completely flattened and the rest had the leaves stripped from the stalks.

Ninety-five percent of the crops are destroyed on the farms served.

SCRAMBLE FOR ADJUSTERS

Although the damage in Floydada to private and public buildings was far less serious than in most of the affected communities the extent of the damage here may run high. Of the considerably more than 200 claims filed to date most costly may be roof damage to the high school and ward school buildings, where the preliminary estimates run to $2,000 or so.

Agency telephones rang off the walls all day Monday and Tuesday. As many claim adjusters as they can get into the territory will be operating in and out of Floydada the next 10 days, agency managers said.

WORK LONG HOURS

Southwestern Public Service Company's two-way communications system came in handy in getting the story of the tragic losses at Ralls and Cone to the outside world. Every form of communication was knocked out at Ralls except for the Public Service transmitter. The system also was used to rally crews to get into the field to re-establish electric service.

The Floydada crew spent 13 hours in the area of Sand Hill to Aiken. Not too many poles were broken or down but many lines were perilously low and in some instances on the ground. Thursday night, Friday night and Sunday night saw the Floydada linemen out on the job and there was still work to do as late as Monday afternoon. However, major line service was out only briefly.

Brac Biggers, Floydada district manager, said the company's switch over sub-station in Floydada proved its value Saturday night. This sub-station automatically switches current to the power circuit to the other when there is an interruption as long as 10 seconds.

ONIONS DAMAGED
Out of an estimated 350 acres of onions planted in the county, much of the crop ready to start to the sorting sheds, there seems to be not over 250 acres left to harvest. The Simpson brothers and Kimble & Ferguson were among the heavy losers.

ROOFS DAMAGED
The town of Floydada was in the east edge of the Saturday and Sunday night storms, but Monday insurance agencies were busy answering telephone calls and recording loss claims to roofs and plate glass.

Sunday night's heavy rain disclosed that a lot of unrevealed damage had been done Saturday night when winds whipped up to hurricane force, carrying marble size hail.

FLANK BEEF ROAST with rice is easy to prepare and makes an attractive, economical dinner dish. Cook the rice with the roast for added flavor, recommends the Texas Beef Council, and serve with a green vegetable or salad.

In a 30-second calm Saturday evening early big hail stones, not thick but generously sprinkled around, started a good many leaks in roofs. Typical was a lone stone that bored a clean hole in a mesh-wire re-inforced glass sky light at the Hesperian office. The glass was shattered only slightly around the hole. The sky light, installed in 1927, was never damaged before.

R. E. A. TROUBLE
The Lighthouse Electric Cooperative had crews working from 6:30 p. m. Saturday until 3:00 a. m. Monday morning repairing lines torn down by high winds, hail and torrential rain.

Wiley Rogers, line superintendent of the Lighthouse, stated Monday this was the worst damage done their lines since they started operations. They had most of the lines repaired in four or five hours, with the exception of the R. L. Powell farm southeast of Aiken. They had seven poles down with all service wires out over the system. Three poles were down northwest of Barwise with four poles out at Starkey. In Crosby county two main poles were out with several poles knocked across the highway north of Crosbyton.

Main line boys in charge of the crews were Junior Womack, R. C. Rainer, Jackie Duke, Buck Marrison and Wiley Rogers.

TELEPHONE TROUBLE
The line crew of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company repaired 350 telephones Saturday night and Sunday in Floyd county with all back in service by 5:00 o'clock Sunday evening.

J. E. Blackshear, plant superintendent of the local office, stated their main trouble was caused by broken trees, hail and high winds.

One pole was reported down but it did not effect any one but the Howard Gregory farm on the Ralls highway and temporary service has been installed.

The telephone exchange itself was a mad house, the board lit up like a Christmas tree every night of the successive storms. Saturday night, in particular, the exchange was hit with hundreds of calls far exceeding its capacity to handle. Operators at seven positions were hopelessly swamped with both local and long distance emergency calls for hours.

campaign that got the postal service interested in giving the community more adequate quarters. J. G. Wood headed the committee which finally convinced the post office department that the community was entitled to a better deal than they had.

The complaint was not on the location but on the niggardly provision for upkeep and modernization.

The decision to change location followed, when the department demanded more working space. Choice of the McDonald site was made out of three offers submitted.

Heat, Cooling, Refrigeration From Sun Rays

AUSTIN, Texas, April — Small towns and rural areas should benefit first from developments of solar energy apparatus, Dr. Farrington Daniels, one of the nation's foremost chemists, said in a public lecture at the University of Texas.

He spoke on "New Energy Resources: Atomic and Solar Energy." Devices which transform sunlight into electricity, heat or cold will require relatively large amounts of space—something which rural areas have and more-populous areas don't have, Dr. Daniels pointed out.

The problem is to capture energy from the sun, concentrate it and store it, he explained. So far, that requires spreading some heat-absorbing substances—such as water or metal—over a considerable area.

Plastics may provide a material cheap enough to make practical solarheaters, refrigerators, air coolers and batteries, Dr. Daniels said. Bell Telephone Laboratories' solar battery also shows promise.

Industrial uses of atomic power probably will precede uses of solar power in this country because atomic power will be able to compete sooner with petroleum and coal as a power source, he predicted. However, the U. S. can strike a powerful blow in the cold war with Communism by providing Asia with solar-energy devices as soon as possible.

Such apparatus can compete now

The new office has nearly 700 feet more working space than the old location provided. The department also has provided more funds for its upkeep. Though not too generous, the new rental fees represent a vast improvement over the provisions made formerly.

Clement B. McDonald, who constructed the new buildings occupied by the post office and Public Service, has been identified with local civic, political, business and church affairs since the days of his youth. His willingness to invest heavily in the future of the community is acclaimed as an example for other business people to emulate.

District News Conservation

Proper Management of Stubble

"Stubble mulching" is the practice of preparing, planting and cultivating of the land so as to keep crop residues on the surface.

Shirley Irwin of the Fairview community did a good job of stubble mulching on dryland wheat last year. He used a new stubble mulch implement. It has a series of 30 inch sweeps that overlap. It can be drawn at a depth of four to six inches, leaving nearly all of the stubble standing.

Wheat in the Floyd County Soil Conservation District will soon be harvested. Some thought should be made about how to handle the stubble in order for it to be most effective. The best effective use of course would be to handle it so as to leave most of the stubble on the surface.

The chief advantages of stubble mulching are that it prevents soil blowing, channels water into the soil, prevents excessive surface evaporation, cuts down impact of rainfall and does not tie up nitrogen which is needed by the following crop.

The importance of keeping a good cover on the soil cannot be over emphasized, especially during the windy seasons. The benefits derived from stubble mulching are easily seen, especially under dryland farming conditions. We need to protect our soil from winds and conserve the rainfall.

"Crop residue utilization" is a practice more suited to irrigated crops, with our present implements. This is the practice of leaving crop residues on the surface until the seedbed is prepared for the following crop.

Other implements that may be used for stubble mulching are chisel plows, tandem discs, one-way plows operated at slow speed or moldboard plows with the moldboard removed. These implements may be used soon after the wheat is harvested or delayed until shortly before planting time.

The supervisors of the Floyd County Soil Conservation District and technicians of the Soil Conservation Service are urging the wide-spread use of this important conservation practice by all farmers.

In the committee reports, Mrs. Lynn Miller, chairman of finance committee, asked clubs to pay council dues, and it was voted for council to sell 100 boxes of "get well" and "all occasion cards."

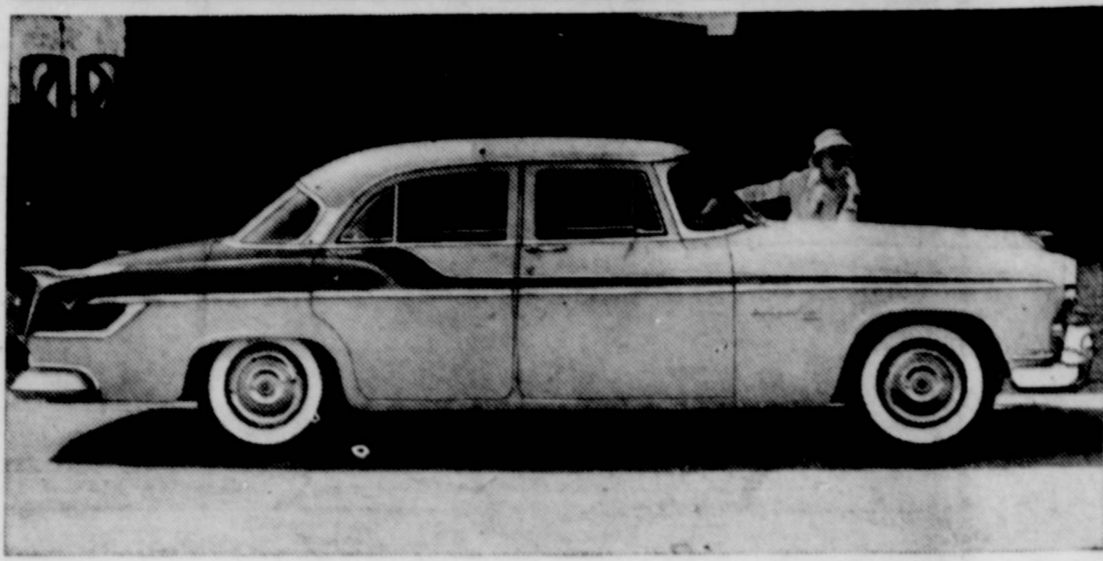

Mrs. Loyce Turner, year book committee chairman, asked for all clubs to get their yearbook suggestions in by this week.

Mrs. Carrick Snodgrass, chairman of defense committee, suggested some last minute things to do before seeking shelter from a cyclone. She suggested having one member of the family be responsible for giving orders to avoid panic; one member unplug electrical appliances, shut off open gas flames, close furnace, put out fireplace fires should one be burning; and some member responsible for seeing that the very young or very old or invalid get to shelter and be prepared to put out fires should one result.

FATHER'S DAY RE-UNION

geat pole in the place.

To complete the party "Davy Crockett" was there in coonskin cap and buckskin dress.

To entertain 500 people so lavishly for an entire evening must be the works of a most remarkable person.

It is nice to know that Mrs. Jeff Welborn, who has been confined to bed at her home since last Thursday, is much improved. Ann, the Welborn's daughter, is home from Baylor University this summer serving in a slightly different role as housekeeper and nurse for her family. She, I might add, is doing an extremely fine job.

Mrs. H. O. Pope relates quite an interesting story about her son, Troy of Dallas.

Troy—after a 20-year interlude of coping with the tricks of the thief, the sneers of the shoplifter and the madness of the killer—is going back to filling gasoline tanks.

Assigned to the Dallas Police department's homicide division since 1944, Detective Pope is retiring to return to the service station where he was working when he joined the force in 1935.

Only this time he is owner. Troy says being on a police force has its exciting moments—and there are some confusing and often funny moments.

In 1936, shortly after the driver's license law took effect, Pope, then patrolman, stopped a motorist in downtown Dallas. He asked him for his driver's license. The driver had none. Pope took him to headquarters, but no one knew yet what kind of a charge to file against a man who had no driver's license. Patrolman Pope had made the first arrest in Texas under the driver's license law.

AROUND TOWN

(Jennie Henry)

Impromptu parties were quite numerous last Saturday night. Storm parties, you might say. The Billy Brown's impromptu party began around 7:30 p. m. when the people started pouring into their very comfortable playroom basement. At one time there were 32 guests there seeking shelter from the storm.

The Billy Staniforths had planned dinner for 14 members of their regular dinner bridge club. The storm knocked out their phone early in the evening and about 9:00 they showed up in town to drag folks out of storm shelters to the party. Four members decided the danger was over and arrived for dinner about 10:00, to the Staniforth's relief.

The Ott Glassmoyer home is a gay one these days since both Larry and Dwina are home for a couple of weeks or so. It is such a pleasure to be around people who have parent-child relationship this family has.

The J. H. Barnards attended a fabulous circus party last week at the A. R. Dillard home in Wichita Falls. Five hundred guests, escorted by frolicing clowns, entered the grounds through a midway which sported a gorilla, high diving act, calliope, pop-corn, waving banners, cotton candy and much other necessary and unnecessary circus paraphernalia.

There was music which seemed to float from the sky—and literally, it did—a minstrel costumed dixie land band was perched on a platform in the tree tops over the edge of the dance floor.

Best of all, there were no smooth operators to charge six bucks for a stool to perch on behind the big-

Rain on Tuesday of last week was spotted, with South Plains getting a good shower, but hail fell on the A. P. Sanders farm reaching clear to the H. L. Marble farm where it did quite a bit of damage to young cotton. As far east as the Milton farm, only a sprinkle fell. Sunday night of this week rain fell in amounts up to over an inch in some localities, as at the Julian farm, and none at the J. P. Taylor farm and around there.

We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Brown, on the Wade Deavenport farm, into our community. The children, Sue, Dana and Judy attended the vacation bible school. We invite them to attend the Fourth of July picnic at the ball grounds to meet the neighbors in the community.

Jack Reeves is home with his folks for the summer. He was present at church Sunday morning. Other visitors present were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Calahan, sr., of Lockney, who were spending the day in our vicinity. They reported several windows broken in their home during the bad hail storm which hit Lockney Saturday night.

Mrs. Lewis Jurcak of Plainview will hold a painting class on Dresden painting at the school recreation room in South Plains on Friday, all day, June 24. Everybody is welcome to come and spend the day. Bring a sack lunch to have at noon.

The Young Peoples Class and the Intermediates of the Baptist church met in a body at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Karr, Yvonne and Elton, after church services on Sunday evening for games and refreshments. Rev. Larry Faus and family were present. Mrs. Karr served punch and cookies after the games hour, to about ten guests. The bad rain clouds kept many from attending. Many of the children live on unpaved roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bean and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Calahan, sr., were dinner guests and afternoon visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Calahan, Johnny, Beth and Jerry, on Father's day. They are all from Lockney.

Carol Reeves, who now works with the Junior Department of the First Baptist church in Lubbock, was a week-end visitor here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Reeves, and her brother, Jack. Carol is going to Glorietta, New Mexico, on June 30, for two weeks. She will be with the Sunday school group at the Baptist camp, and with the BTU groups.

Fulton Nuptial Vows Said Church Ceremony June Fifth

archway covered in mums and flanked by white gladioli and Miss Darlene Bryant and Miss Jo Hall of Hereford and Miss Pat Hickerson, cousin of the bride, of Floydada were bridesmaids. Both wore waltz-length formals of white imported lace over pastel shades.
Each carried a colonial bouquet of mixed colored sweetheart roses.

Carrol Fulton served his brother as best man. Ushers were Johnny West and Richard Smith. Lighting the candles were Laron Fulton, brother of the groom and Bobby Assiter, cousin of the bride, of Lubbock.

Miss Kay Assiter, cousin of the bride, of Lubbock, was flower girl, and Gary Cooper, also a cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. A three-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, and punch and nuts were served to the guests. Members of the house party were Mmes. L. T. Hickerson, Elmer Cooper, Tommy Assit-er, John Gray, Annie Assiter, L. H.
Blum and J. W. Day, Jr.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado the bride chose a brown linen suit with beige trim and beige accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Miss Bryant is a May graduate of Floydada high school. Fulton graduated from Floydada high school with the class of '54 and is engaged in farming in the McCoy community.

new farm home south of Floydada as of June 12.

Ice Cream and Spuds - - - Plentiful in July

COLLEGE STATION, June—Potatoes and ice cream are headliners on the USDA's plentiful foods list for July.

"In checking food stocks in this area to determine what should be on the plentiful list, we found supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables larger than any time since last fall," says
John J. Slaughter, field supervisor, Agricultural Marketing Service.

They include limes, lemons, watermelons, cantaloups, tomatoes, green beans, cabbage, lettuce, beets and sweet corn.

Also, canned and frozen lemon and lime juice, small size dried prunes and pinto beans are in good supply.

Beef, frozen halibut, broilers and fryers are the only meats on the July plentiful foods list.

Milk and related dairy products as well as rice, lard, vegetable fats and oils continue plentiful.

"Baking in my electric range is so easy. Safe and clean, too."
Reddy Kilowatt, that "extra person" in Mrs. McCoy's kitchen comes in on a clean copper wire. He's flameless and fumeless, too, so both safe and cool.

"No more cake failures with my accurate automatic electric range oven." Reddy watches your oven for you because electric range heats are accurately pre-set. Ovens are completely insulated — on all six sides — which means all the heat is used to bake the cake — not the cook.

"There's no comparison — electric cooking gives perfect results every time." The good cook? She becomes a better cook

"Keeping my family happy is no problem with cakes like this

It came from a 240-acre plot of a variety known as 54-B, which was developed during a period of years at the Farm at Aiken between 1911 and 1912. It weighed 547 pounds per acre, with a strict middling and being the highest price in this country when it was sold in Harlingen this year.

MAN-MADE RIVER—An Army engineer sits on top of a model of Gavin's Point Dam on the Missouri River to make notes on the effectiveness of the design of a spillway and stilling basin now under construction in South Dakota. From such accurately scaled models at the Vicksburg Waterways Experiment Station engineers study and test proposed construction to improve rivers and harbors.

...said the cotton was a "very trying conditions" and that it received no rain from planting on January 15 to before harvesting, and a freeze on February 11 and of it which was up to 10 degrees below zero. The ground stand at that time was 22 inches high. The germination time to 22 inches was being harvested after it came up, a total of 131 days.

Rebekah and Odd Fellow Lodges Met

The Rebekah and Odd Fellows Lodges met on Tuesday night and honored their deceased brothers and sisters in a memorial service. The names of Ed Holmes and W. E. Neil were read as the charter of the lodge was placed on a draped altar. A group of Rebekahs robed in white formed a cross in front of the altar, each carrying a spray of white flowers. After the flowers were placed at the altar, Jane Marquis read the memorial service. Lona Sparks and Deon Withey sang "In the Garden" and Carolyn Hammit sang a solo, "My God Is Real" assisted at the piano by Lulu Green. As the group, in formation of a cross, retired, the congregation sang "What a Friend we have in Jesus." The flowers were later carried to the cemetery and placed on Mr. Holmes' grave.

The Crowder family the Rebekahs were to sponsor, was stormed out Saturday night, but will be here on Thursday night, June 23, at the high school auditorium at 8 p. m.

SS Loss Heavy Due to Failure To File Claims

Thousands of dollars in social security insurance benefits are being lost yearly, John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock social security office said today.

According to Hutton, many persons who are at least age 72 and still operating their business are not aware of the provisions in the law which allow eligible persons age 72 or older to receive their benefits without retirement. Persons of this age who have made profits in covered self-employment of over $400 in at least two of the four years self-employment has been covered, undoubtedly have the requirements for entitlement but the Social Security Administration cannot start payments until a claim is filed.

"There are also many self-employed persons," says Hutton, "who are over age 65 and whose net earnings in their business is less than $1200 per year which would permit them to receive benefits if they qualified, even though still working."

Persons between age 65 and 72 whose net earnings from self-employment are between $1200 and $2080 per year may draw benefits for some months of the year based on a scale of one month's deductions for each $80 earned over and above the $1200.

Hutton emphasized that one of the requirements for any benefit is to file a claim.

News of Harmony

(By Mrs. Mather Carr)

HARMONY, June 20—Mrs. Ted Rutherford returned home Tuesday from Abilene and Stamford where she visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elery Smith and her brother and family. Her brother is leaving soon for Washington, D. C., where he will be in school for three months and then be sent to South America. His wife and children will join him when he leaves for South America, where he will be stationed for some time. In Stamford, Mrs. Rutherford visited Mr. Rutherford's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Ruth-erford.

Mrs. Eugene Wilson and little son Mark, of Dallas, and Mrs. R. K. Wilcox and little son Scott, of Fort Worth, left Wednesday for their homes after spending more than two weeks with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Carpenter.

We reported last week that Mrs. Riley Holmes was ill and might undergo surgery, but we are glad to say that she is much improved without the surgery.

We were so sorry to receive the news Friday of the passing of Horace Bradford of Manteca, California. He passed away Friday, June 17, at 3 o'clock a. m. Mr. Bradford was the husband of the former Bessie Hendricks. They visited here about a month ago. Mrs. Delia Carr and Miss Mary Hendricks left Saturday for California to attend the funeral service.

Mrs. Wesley Carr and son Bill made a business trip to Lubbock Saturday.

Men were working hard trying to replace the poles and get the power back to the people.

Buddy Smith was in Floydada Saturday when the hail storm came, and he started to go to Petersburg thinking he would run out of the storm going South on the Ralls highway. He was following the storm and the hail beat his car up pretty bad. Mrs. Smith said it looked as if someone had taken a hammer and beat all over the top.
