ENGLAND JULY 24, 1944
Dear Uncle John:

I am still getting the Star, although, somewhat irregularly, and enjoying every issue. My A. P. O. over here is 637. For over eight months now it has gone through the wrong A. P. O. and has been forwarded to me. Perhaps if you'd change that APO to 637 the Star would get here sooner, and the newer it is the more I enjoy it. I've been over here long enough that I manage to get along all right, and can even understand most of what the natives say. They talk English and we talk American and there's quite a difference. It certainly was a joy to hear about the good wheat crop. It's about time Friona hit a good year. I often think of Friona and the people I know there. The longer I'm away, the more I want to be back. The STAR helps me keep in touch with what's happening at home, so I won't be too far behind when I do get home. The war news sounds better every day, so perhaps it won't be too long before a lot of Friona boys will be able to return home. Well, "So long" for now—best of luck to you.

Adios, Lee.

The above letter was written by our good friend, Lee Spring. All right, Lee, I will get that APO corrected, and here's hoping you get your copy of the Star in the shortest time possible.—Uncle John.

Somewhere in France, July 25, 44 Just received eight copies of the Friona Star. Thanks a lot, as it really helps us fellows out on the home situation, and as you know by now, that is just as much interest to all of us as the defeating of "Jerry" is. Of course the latter concerns more people than the Friona Star, but to all of us that know just what the paper stands for, it is a lot different story. Thanks a lot for the paper and I hope to receive it in the future, as I like to keep up with the SONS IN THE SERVICE, most. But, too, the rest of the paper has a lot of news in it. I read each one over twice to be sure I did not miss anything. Well, Uncle John, I really don't know which would be the better of these two countries, England or France, but I am sure that I would rather be in England right now. But maybe I will learn to speak French as soon as we are able to get to town. So far, all towns are off limit to us, but this will change later on, at least we hope so. This country really is beautiful, in these parts, anyway. But it is also too much in the German favor, as it is flat country with hedge rows about every hundred yards, which they seem to stay in until they are shot out or blown out, which takes a heck of a lot of time. I am really sorry to hear about the fellows who are missing in action and I know that before this is all over, there will be a lot more, but I am sure that a lot will yet be alive; at

Grain Sorghum Harvest Poses New Problems

With 200,000 acres planted in row crop in Deaf Smith County and big yields predicted, despite the present need of rain, the problem of harvest and storage is looming large for farmers.

This latest headache of war time farm production was emphasized this week by County Agent A. R. Bateman, when he urged use of farm storage facilities whenever possible and the allowing of ample maturing time for the crop. Row crop, he points out, is hard to store and unless the stalks are allowed to stand in the field until the grain is dried out, danger of loss is great. Some varieties, particular Martin Maize and certain other types of Maize and Kaffir may be allowed to stand in the field for a long period of time. Maize stalks are sturdy, Bateman points out, and the feed is not likely to fail.

Elevator storage, the county agent said, will not be available unless the picture changes drastically in the near future. Approximately one-third of the wheat in the county is still to be shipped; but with only nine million bushels of storage left in such an important terminal as Fort Worth, it is obvious that there simply will be no place to move a bumper row crop.

Concerning other phases of the row crop harvest, Bateman says that present indications are for an adequate supply of trucks and combines; but his advice to farmers who have feed which can safely remain in the field is to be in no hurry about getting the crop harvested.

Western Cowpunchers To Meet in Amarillo

Annual Round-Up of the Western Cowpunchers Association will be held this year at the Tri-State Fair grounds, on Thursday, Aug. 24. It was announced this week by Herbert M. Timmons of Amarillo, secretary of the association, who says that the round-up is being held in Amarillo, instead of Wragge Park, the usual place, because of the labor shortage and easy availability at the Fair Grounds of shelter, utilities and other conveniences.

Cecil Walker is "outside man" for Deaf Smith County and those who wish may hand in their dues ($2.00) to him; or the dues may be mailed to Herbert Timmons, 1607 Hayden St., in Amarillo. The association wants to know approximately the number who will attend and this information should be turned in with the dues.

On the program will be an old-fashioned chuck wagon feed and John Snider barbecue. Music for dancing will be provided on both Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon, and those too young to dance can gather around the camp fire and "auger."

Doris Taylor, who has been working in the country for Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller spent Saturday night and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Taylor.

Tent Meeting to Start August 15

Hand bills are out announcing the beginning of a series of revival meetings, which will begin on Tuesday, August 15.

The meetings will be held under a large tent to be erected on the vacant block south of the Grade Schol building, and will be under the auspices of the Plains Baptist Missionary Association, with the Missionary J. A. Branaman, doing the preaching.

The meetings will continue through Thursday, Aug. 24. The general public is cordially invited to attend.

Pooling Mandatory For B and C Drivers

Because of the shortage of cars, gasoline and tires, Ration Boards in the Lubbock Office of Price Administration District have been instructed to issue only 30-day gasoline rations for home-to-work driving to applicants who do not belong to a car pool. Before an applicant can receive additional rations he must prove that he has joined a car pool or has found it impossible to join or organize one.

Ely Fonville, District Rationing Executive, who made this announcement, stated that "Car pooling is mandatory for all 'B' and 'C' card-holders who use their automobiles for home-to-work driving."

Ration Boards will restrict rations, not to make gasoline rationing more difficult for their neighbors, but to save gasoline, tires, and cars. Car pooling is the most productive of all conservation methods, and this car sharing drive is nation-wide.

Mrs. J. A. Wimberley and Keith and Sandra Brock are spending a few days this week at Lubbock.

G. O. P. Names Slated for Several County Offices

The Republican County Convention which met in Friona, Saturday, July 29, was called to order by Temporary Chairman F. W. Reeve, and by unanimous vote the temporary organization was made permanent.

The convention then proceeded to elect a County Chairman, appoint delegates and make nominations of candidates for county officers.

F. W. Reeve was unanimously elected as County Chairman for the coming two years, and he was also appointed as delegate to the State convention at Dallas, on Aug. 8, with L. S. Hobbs, of Amarillo as alternate. And Mrs. Hugh Exum, of Amarillo, as second alternate. Mr. Reeve was also appointed as delegate to the Congressional Convention, with George McLean as alternate.

The following candidates were nominated for county officers: For County Judge, Marvin Todd of Friona Precinct; for Sheriff - Assessor-Collector, Carl Schlenker of Bovina Precinct, and for County and District Clerk, Thomas Hartwell, of Bovina Precinct.

GIRL SCOUTS

By Edd Uri Talbot
The meeting was called to order by Murna Loy Welch. There were eleven members and one visitor, Donna Strate, present. We went to Lola Goodwine's home and she explained how to weave baskets.

Rebecca and Dolores Irvine passed "homemaking" tests, No. 4, in which we learn how to make beds, set the table, etc. We decided on a party for our next meeting. Every Scout should come and bring one visitor with her.

We were served lemonade and cookies, and the meeting adjourned. McFarlands are now on a trip to Red River. Lunell, we missed you and your mother.

Estimate Two Million Bushel Wheat Crop

Between 350 and 400 cars of wheat were shipped from Friona during the harvest period of Friona's record wheat crop, and it is estimated that perhaps that many cars would have been shipped had an adequate supply of cars been obtainable.

In addition to the amount shipped out, all the elevators and storage bins in the city are filled to capacity, and several thousands of bushels are stored on farms and dumped on the ground. And beside this, several thousands of bushels were hauled from the Friona territory to other grain markets at Hereford, Bovina and Farwell.

Taking all into consideration there were probably 1,000 car loads of wheat grown in the Friona territory, and taking an average of 2,000 bushels per car load, it would yield a total of about 2,000,000 bushels for the territory.

From the best information obtainable, it appears that an estimated average of 30 bushels per acre will not miss the correct average very far; with some fields or parts of fields running as high an average as 45 bushels per acre, for this territory.

Friona Scouts Enjoy Camping

Five Friona Boy Scouts, Billie Ray Jones, Tommy Laceywell, Lee Cranfill, and Charles and Joe Allen Osborn were among the 132 scouts from the Llano Estacado Council who enjoyed a week's camp in the famous Philmont Scout Ranch in the mountains near Cimarron, N. M., from July 30 to August 6. Rev. Paxton Smith, accompanied the local group and acted as scout master for one of the five troops in camp. Glen Reeve transported the scouts to and from Amarillo. Sheridan Mischel, former Friona resident, now a scoutmaster in Canyon, was in charge of troop four, which camped directly opposite troop five containing the local group. Scout field executive Clyde Chief Youngblood was camp director. Fishing, swimming, hiking over the hills and scenic country occupied most of the time of the scouts, who were from practically every town in the territory, though Amarillo furnished the larger group. A number of the local scouts, along with others, passed several tests each to advance in scouting, while in camp. Rev. Smith, pastor of the Friona Church, aided in the campfire programs held each evening, and on Monday night spoke to the entire assembly after their first hike in the mountains on "Climbing."

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hale and daughters, Misses Frances and Doris, of Clovis, N. M., spent Sunday here as guests of their grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. George McLean, Mrs. Hale is their daughter.

HOME CANNERS' QUESTIONS
Home canning season brings many a question to home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Here are some of this year's "Q and A Crop":

Q. Sometimes I have small amounts of fruits. Is there any reason why I shouldn't can jars of two kinds at once if both take the same amount of processing?

A. No reason why not, as far as processing goes, provided you are spry enough to have a saucer of apples and one of plums ready boiling hot, so as to fill jars of each, and load the canner quickly.

Q. How can I figure in advance how much liquid to allow for canning fruit?

A. Amounts needed are bound to vary because some fruit yields so much more juice when heated than other fruit. Also, some fruit settles more compactly into jars. For a good proportion of liquid to solid food allow on the average 3-4 to 1 cup of juice or sirup for each quart jar.

Q. What will keep home-canned tomato juice from separating?

A. Some settling of solid particles is to be expected, and juice is easily shaken up to blend at time of serving. However, if good canning directions are followed closely, there should be less separation. Soft but sound tomatoes make good juice, but over-ripe ones tend to separate, and should not be canned in any case. Too much or too little heat also will cause solid particles to settle. Juice strained through a fine sieve will have less solid matter, but you lose some food value.

Q. How can I keep fruit, especially peaches, from darkening when canned?

A. Heating fruit before jars are filled and processed helps to prevent darkening. Raw-packed food heats more slowly during processing, and air in the tissues has more chance to cause darkening. Jars of fruit packed raw also lose more liquid during canning, and this may leave some fruit high and dry, so that it will darken. Allowing too much heat or too little during processing may also cause darkening—so follow directions closely. Darkening does not make canned fruit unfit to eat if it is otherwise normal.

Q. If jars of food fail to seal airtight, what should I do?

A. You have two choices: Use the food up promptly, or can it over from the start. If you re-process, take food out of the jars and reheat it; then pack into clean, hot jars; adjust jar tops and process for the length of time that kind of food requires. If a jar or top was at fault, be sure to use a perfect one. Remember in re-processing food you will get an over-cooked food of poor quality.

Q. Why is it so important to drive the air out of a steam pressure canner?

A. If air mixes with steam in the canner, the temperature will be lower than it should be, and some jars of food may not get heated as much as they need to destroy spoilage bacteria.

Q. Could I use a pressure canner as a boiling water bath canner when I put up fruit?

A. Yes; if the pressure canner is deep enough. Water must boil over jar tops several inches to provide thorough heating. When using a pressure canner in this way, set the lid on loosely; don't fasten. Leave the petcock wide open, so that steam escapes all the time the water is boiling.

Q. My neighbor combines steps from different home canning publications and uses the shortest processing time she can find. Isn't that risky?

A. It is risky even if all the sets of directions are good. The way a food is prepared and packed into jars affects the amount of heat needed to sterilize the food during the canning process. Use only time tables and other directions based on scientific research, and follow them, every step.

Q. What caused my canned lima beans and peas to look cloudy in the jar when there is no sign of spoilage?

A. Starch material in the food may have got out into the liquid.

Tight Supplies Mean Strict Gas Ration Rulings

With supplies of gas and many types of tires at a new low, enforcement of rationing and conservation rules is going to be much stricter in the future.

This was the information given County Agent A. R. Bateman and AAA Secretary F. G. Collier at a district meeting of Extension Service and AAA officials with representatives of OPA and the Office of Defense Transportation in Amarillo, Tuesday.

According to the report, approximately 67 per cent of all gas now made is high octane and the reserve for civilian usage is practically exhausted. And although much synthetic rubber has been manufactured and it is proving generally satisfactory for tire making, the shortage of rayon fabrics and loss of skilled labor in the rubber industry has resulted in short tire supplies. Also, the local men say, the loss of tires during the landings and the current offensive in France has been heavy and consequently ration quotas on heavy duty truck tires for domestic use have been cut to the bone.

Investigations in a number of north Panhandle counties have showed what the OPA men call serious misuse of "non-highway" gasoline, and considerable waste of truck tires through failure to use conservation methods. An investigation into the situation has been promised for other Panhandle counties, including Deaf Smith; and much stricter investigation of "non-highway" gas allotments will be practiced. Unless better enforcement is secured, the final result may be the placing of gas allotments on a county basis, the speaker said.

Both Mr. Collier and Mr. Bateman stated that the speakers were careful to point out that "misuse of non-highway gas and other abuses of the rationing and conservation program are the practice of only a 'selfish minority' of the people. However, unless better enforcement is secured, the majority may suffer for the acts of the 'selfish minority.'"

News of the Deaf Smith County Wind Erosion District

Mrs. Eva Brown, has solved a stock watering problem by constructing a dam across a small draw on her 2,640 acre farm and ranch in the Bootleg community.

The dam was built across the draw, running through the center of the pasture; and a hole approximately 12 feet deep was dug just above the dam. The work was done in June and July of last year and the spring rains filled the reservoir which contains approximately 15 acre feet of water. It has furnished water for 175 head of cattle and horses all spring and summer.

"The stock pond has been worth much more to me this spring and summer than it cost me to build it and will continue to furnish water for cattle and horses during the remaining summer and fall months when water supply is limited," commented Mrs. Brown this week when asked if the lake is furnishing an adequate amount of stock water.

The construction work was done with Deaf Smith County Wind Erosion District heavy equipment which is available to county farmers and ranchmen. This plan has been followed by several ranchmen with good results. Assistance will be furnished by Soil Conservation Service personnel assigned to the Wind Erosion District by making application at the offices in the Deaf Smith County Courthouse.

Four county farmers have application this week to the Deaf Smith County Wind Erosion District for assistance in improved methods of irrigation water application. The operators asking for this service are: Cecil Gunter in the North Hereford Conservation group, E. C. Reinauer in East Hereford group, Bruce Burney in West-way group, and R. G. Lewis in the Conkright group.

Any farmer needing help of this type will receive assistance by contacting the conservation group leaders.

OPA Claims Tokens Being Hoarded

Hoarding of ration tokens has brought about a serious shortage of tokens in this District, the Ration Banking Section of the District Office of Price Administration has reported.

An appeal is made to all housewives to use all "loose change" in tokens before using other stamps from ration books, thus keeping tokens in circulation. Hoarding of tokens makes it necessary to manufacture more and more tokens. In addition to this needless expense, it ties up equipment and machinery needed for manufacturing other items.

All ration stamps, both for processed foods and meat, are valid indefinitely — hoarding doesn't help anyone. Keep your ration tokens circulating!

All speakers at the meeting emphasized the fact that rationing will continue to operate to give producers all the gas needed for farming operations. However, diversion of this gasoline to other uses must be stopped.

Resale of Used Farm Machinery Regulated

Sales of used farm-equipment and machinery by any person who has acquired it for re-sale have been brought under price control to protect farmers from overcharges, District OPA Price Executive J. B. Money has announced.

This action, he said, will protect farmers and farm equipment from speculators who have in the past acquired used farm machinery at or below ceiling prices and then re-sold the items at illegal prices, claiming that they were not retail dealers.

The amendment, effective Aug. 2, also provides that all persons selling farm equipment must keep acquisition cost and sales records available to OPA for inspection.

All new and used farm machines are subject to price control when sold by dealers, but only combines, corn binders, corn pickers, farm and garden tractors, motor or tractor operated hay balers, hay loaders, manure spreaders, side delivery rakes, tractor-mounted mowers, and a combination of any of the Soviet Lt.-Col. Alexandre Pokryshkin is credited with shooting down 59 Nazi planes, 48 while flying one of our P-39 Airacobras.

Items listed with other items of farm equipment specifically designed for mounting thereon are under price control when sold by farmers or auctioneers for farmers.

These ten implements, regarded by OPA and the War Food Administration as the most urgently needed, when sold "as is" may not be sold for more than 85 per cent of the manufacturer's suggested retail price f. o. b. factory for items less than a year old, and for not more than 70 per cent of this original price if the article is more than a year old.

New Machinery Quota Lists Released Here

New farm machinery quotas were announced this week by the county machinery rationing board, and an investigation of the list shows that a number of items have been removed from the quota list; although a certificate approved by the county committee is still necessary to secure purchase of these items.

The following schedule includes farm equipment which is still on a quota basis: Manure spreaders, combines, corn binders, corn pickers, mowers, side delivery rakes, hay loaders, pick-up balers and tractors.

Grid Schedule Announced for 1944 Season

A complete schedule for the coming football season was announced this week as Whiteface 1944 football prospects looked toward a nine-game schedule, including five home games.

Oilton, which has always provided good competition for the Whitefaces, will meet the Herd on Sept. 15 at Whiteface Field for the season opener, with other games on schedule as follows:

- Sept. 22, Panhandle at Panhandle.
- Sept. 29, White Deer at White Deer.
- Oct. 6, Dumas at Hereford.
- Oct. 13, Friona at Hereford.
- Oct. 20, Dimmitt at Hereford.
- Oct. 27, Dalhart at Hereford.
- Nov. 3, Littlefield at Littlefield.
- Nov. 10, Tulia at Tulia.

Not on quota, but requiring a certificate, are potato planters, grain drills, power sprayers, potato diggers, ensilage cutters, garden tractors, deep and shallow well water systems, power pumps, irrigation pumps and farm milk coolers.

least we can hope so until it is confirmed, and then they may still be alive. I am sending a little piece that I saw in the "Stars and Stripes." It was written by an Englishman, so I thought I would pass it on to you. I am sure that the English will not forget us for a couple of generations, as all the Yanks seem to be able to mix among the best, but we will not really know just how much they changed until after the war. But, as a whole, the English treated us just like we were at home. That was a lot, as they get very little to live on; but they were willing to share anything they had with us, and I am sure that all of us fellows that were in England for long will not forget all this kind treatment. I am not trying to make a speech on international relations, but I would like for our people to know that these are a swell group of people, and that we really owe them, at least, a little thanks! Don't you? Well, Uncle John, I saw more planes going over today than ever before in my life. And all I can say is, that I am really glad they were OUR planes, as it would be a little rough to see that many Germans in day light. Ha! Ha!

Sincerely,
C. L.
The above letter was written by C. L. Lillard, son of Mrs. Carrie Lillard. Yes, C. L. I think we owe the English a great deal for their kind treatment of our boys while they are among them—Uncle John.

Bryan, Texas, Aug. 1, 1944
Dear Mr. White:

I am now attending the Central Instructors School here at Bryan. I am taking the Instrument Trainers Instructors course, which will last two months. If it is convenient, please send the paper to my address here. I would certainly enjoy some of those cool plains breezes down here. David Carson, of Bovina, is also here taking the course. It seems good to see someone from home here.

Yours truly,
Cpl. Harold M. Lillard.

The following letter was not written by a service man, but by his wife, and as it deals largely with his whereabouts and welfare of her husband, we feel that it is appropriate for this column.—U. J.

Corpus Christi, Tex. July 31, 1944
Dear Mr. White:

Charlie will write as soon as he is located, I'm sure, but in order for him to receive the Star sooner, I am sending two dollars for his subscription. He left the States a few days ago. My plans now are to remain here and teach again this winter. Thanks for sending us the Star here for the past two years. We looked forward to getting it each week and were disappointed if it was a day late. All the boys have appreciated all your kindness to them, more than you'll ever realize. Maybe some day they can repay you—here's hoping that will be soon. Hope you are feeling fine and that the weather isn't as hot there as it is here. We do have a sea breeze that saves us, however.

Sincerely,
Mrs. C. D. Holmes.

The Star feels that the boys in the Service are paying well, as they go for the Star. It seems a small service on its part for the service they are rendering for us in fighting this bloody war for us.—U. J.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Drake this week received a letter from their son, Cpl. Owen Drake, stating that he is now in England, and has been there over a month.

Lt. Jim Roy Roden, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Roden, of Friona, received his commission at the Pampa Air Field and returned to Friona for a ten-day visit with home folks before going to Liberal, Kans., where he will be stationed for further training before being assigned to combat duty. Lt. Roden is in excellent trim, and eager to complete his training and be ready to get into the real business of active combat. This is his first trip home since his induction into the service 18 months ago, and his many Friona friends are truly glad to see him again.

Ralph W. Thomas, of the U. S. Coast Guard, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Thomas of the Hub community, arrived in Friona the latter part of last week for a ten-days visit, and made the Star office his first objective for a visit on landing at Friona. Ralph is one of the Star's many good friends among our enlisted boys and his visits are highly appreciated. He has been overseas for more than a year and has seen service in the African invasion, and the invasion of Sicily and Italy; he has also been in England. Ralph is married to a New Orleans girl, with whom he became acquainted while stationed near that city.

Capt. Mike Whitefield, who has been overseas for nearly two years, was returned to the States about two weeks ago. He spent a short furlough here last week with his family. He is one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Whitefield, of the Lakeview community, who are now in the armed service. Mike is a navigator in the Army Air Service and has made a large number of bombing missions. He has seen service in Africa, Italy and other occupied countries in Europe, as well as over Germany. Capt. Whitefield left Tuesday for Santa Monica, Calif., for further assignment.
