Council May Not Call Election To Fill Minor's Post

The city council will take under advisement the matter of calling a special election to fill the unexpired term of Carl L. Minor Jr., at their regular meeting on the night of Jan. 14, Mayor Lewis Norman said this week.

"We have been considering the advisability of the matter and may not call an election to fill the vacancy unless we are required to do so by law, since it is such a short time until we will have a general election," he said.

All the elective city offices are due to be filled at an early date in April.

The vacancy occurred when Carl L. Minor Jr. moved from Floydada.

Expect New School Building Will Be Ready For Use By January 21

This week it had begun to appear that Floydada Independent School District's new half-million dollar school plant will be ready for use by the beginning of the second semester, on Jan. 21.

This was the word that came from School Superintendent I. T. Graves Monday.

The lockers so long awaited are here at last, all the sub-contractors either have finished or are busy finishing their jobs. The contractors think for sure they will have finished installing the lockers by the 15th or 16th and we can begin using the school rooms when the second semester begins," said Mr. Graves. That date is Jan. 21.

Only thing lacking will be seats for the auditorium but this is a separate contract from the construction job and is expected to make no problem, the superintendent indicated.

When the shift is made all the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades will move into the new building, while the junior high grades, the sixth, seventh and eighth, will move into the building now used by the high school units.

The new school was started early last year in the hope that it could be finished within a short time after the beginning of the school year.

Material shortages, however, hampered the contractor and delivery date was put off from time to time.

Lockers made the last big problem. Now that this one is out of the way it seems for certain there will be no further delays.

District Cage Play Will Start On Tuesday Night

Two inter-sectional games this week wind up the practice portion of the Whirlwind basketball schedule and district play gets underway Tuesday, Jan. 8.

The green and white cagers met McAdoo there Tuesday night. Tomorrow night the McAdoo teams will return the matches with games here starting at 7:00 o'clock. These games will wind things up for district 2AA play to start Tuesday.

First district contest will be at Tahoka Jan. 8 with a girls game at 7:00 o'clock and the boys following shortly thereafter.

Last week-end Floydada teams made a good showing in the Crosbyton tournament but failed to place. In the first round matches they won when the boys defeated Post 49-45 and the girls took Post 37-44.

In the semi-final round both teams were eliminated with the boys falling before Brownfield 55 - 59 and the girls losing to Slaton 49 - 51. McAdoo won both the boys and girls titles in the final round when they won over the teams that had defeated the locals.

In the consolation bracket Jayton won over Post in the girls division and Crosbyton downed Post in the boys game. There were no third place games.

Two Whirlwind players were chosen to the all tournament teams with Sonja Beth Wilson named for the girls and Don Colley for the boys.

TUESDAY night the McAdoo boys and girls defeated the Floydada teams again by narrow scores. The boys game ended with a 50 - 47 score and the girls with the same three point margin, with a 53 - 56 tally.

These two narrow losses should add color to the games here tomorrow night when the same clubs meet with games starting at 7:00 o'clock.

Supply, Demand Will Be Studied

A fact finding conference on Floyd County water is set for next Tuesday afternoon in Floydada.

Sponsored by the Floydada Chamber, the conference is designed to bring together information from a number of different sources on the status of the underground water in Floyd County.

Included in the round table discussion and giving their reports from their organizations are Marvin Shurbet, president of the High Plains Underwater Water District, J. E. Cox, Mayor of Lockney, Lewis Norman, Mayor of Floydada, and Floyd County Agricultural Agent Bill Rodgers.

O. M. Watson Jr., manager of the Chamber of Commerce, will be moderator for the meeting.

The meeting will also be attended by Judge O. P. Rutledge and members of the Commissioners Court, Floyd County Farm Bureau representatives, farmers and ranchers of the area, officials of county chambers of commerce and business men, members of the county committee of the Underground Water District, and representatives of the county's press and radio.

The meeting is also open to anyone who would like to hear the reports and discussion.

The purpose of the conference, Watson said, is to hear the results of recent research made on Floyd County water and to learn what plans have been made by county municipalities and farmers for the use of water in the future. From this information farmers and businessmen may be more informed in making their plans for future expansion of their business, farm investments, and the growth of county towns and communities.

Meeting time is 2:30 o'clock in the county court room of the Floyd County Court House.

HONORARY TITLE Tubbs Named On Atty. Gen. Staff

G. C. Tubbs, former County Judge of Floyd County, has a memento he received from Austin this week that he values highly.

The certificate, in form suitable for framing, is dated Dec. 1, 1956, and is intended as a memento of long standing friendship during the attorney general's political career.

Scores Attend Spikes Wedding Day Observance

More than 200 persons registered at the observance of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Spikes, when they held open house in the parlor of the First Methodist Church Sunday afternoon last.

Every adjoining county was represented in the assembly of old friends and well-wishers as well as relatives and friends from Odessa, Amarillo, Hereford, Tatum, N. M. Post, and other towns.

Biggest single delegation was The Pastors' Helpers' Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church of Floydada, who journeyed to Ralls in a body to join in the festivities. Mrs. Spikes was a member of this class while the Spikes made their home here.

ASSISTING the couple with entertaining were their twin daughters and their husbands, Mrs. Paul Wheeler and Mrs. J. L. Laminack, and their only son and his wife, Dr. L. W. Spikes, all of Ralls.

Also participating in the entertaining were Margaret Nell Laminack, a granddaughter, who was at the register and Mrs. Harvey Rials, an old friend, who assisted Mrs. Marjorie Spikes at the golden wedding punch bowl.

Carey Spikes, a grandson, sang for the group, with Jaana Starch as piano accompanist, and Patricia Rials gave several accordion numbers.

Joining the group in the entertainment room also was Rev. Oscar Bruce, pastor of the church.

AMONG kinsmen present were Mrs. Henry Tubbs and Mrs. Josephine Wadsworth, of Lubbock, sisters, and a brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Witt of Plainview. Mrs. Spikes also had the pleasure of having with her on her golden wedding day her mother, Mrs. J. M. Witt of Lubbock.

The couple have seven grandchildren. Mr. and Mrs. Spikes were married in a ceremony conducted by Rev. O. W. Dean, at Hereford on Dec. 27, 1906, where the Spikes family lived at the time, having moved from Emma, where Mrs. Spikes spent her childhood. After their marriage the couple journeyed overland to Emma and shortly thereafter took up their residence on the farm which they called home for over 40 years on the Floyd-Crosby boundary line.

After their retirement from the farm the couple made their home for several years in Floydada and more recently moved to Ralls.

They were the recipients of many gifts which lined a long table in the church parlor.

Floydada friends attending included Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Will Snell, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hilton, Mrs. J. H. Green, Mrs. George Stiles, Mrs. D. D. Shipley, Mrs. J. E. Laughlin, Mrs. Mary Finley, Mrs. P. M. Felton, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Olson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith Sr., Mrs. Lula Slaughter, Mrs. W. E. Walker, Mrs. Victoria Asher, Mrs. Leona Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Murff and John L. West.

Garrets Are Holiday Hosts

Holiday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Garrett, west of city, included Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Reese of Spur, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Pullen and children of McAdoo, Mr. and Mrs. Quill Pierce and children of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ekins of Ft. Worth.

In comparing conditions here with those in California it would seem that some type of food preserving plant would be a must for the area if vegetables are to be grown on a big scale. This would give growers a sure market for their product and something to do with the crop that cannot be sold fresh from the field.

As to nearness to markets his belief is that Floydada is better off than many established canneries in California which find they have to ship much of their goods to this county and to the northeast.

AS everyone here already knows the big job is getting started. Large companies are not interested in an area until it has proved itself and has a big acreage they can depend upon, and the grower cannot put in this big acreage until he has the market. So it comes back to the point of which comes first, the chicken or the egg.

In California fruits and vegetables have been grown for some time and it is much easier to work out these problems for new areas than it would be here. Many communities there have worked out these matters however and are doing well both with the increased farm income and with the additional payroll.

The district's new judge has been a practicing attorney for 27 years. He resigned from the firm of Spur attorneys, Ratliff, Conner & Walker, to assume duties of the new post. One hundred tenth judicial district is composed of the counties of Briscoe, Dickens, Floyd and Motley. Appointment of a judge to the bench was made necessary by the resignation of the incumbent, Judge Alton B. Chapman, who was elected as an associate judge of the Seventh Supreme Judicial District and was sworn in at Amarillo Tuesday morning.

The new district judge is married and has one daughter, who lives in El Paso.

California Canner Discusses Vegetable Grower Problems

H. L. Travis, a former West Texas and now of Stockton, Calif., was a visitor in Floydada over the Christmas and New Year holidays. Travis and his family were guests in the home of Mrs. Travis' brother, the Kenneth Rimmers and also met many old acquaintances while here.

The Travis family left Floydada twenty years ago and he has been associated with Mor Pak Canning Corporation in Stockton since that time. He was somewhat surprised on his return visit to hear so much talk about vegetable growing on the high plains and of the need for canneries and freezing plants here.

AFTER hearing stories of the wonderful crops which had been grown in Floyd County and of the marketing problems connected with enlarging on these crops he was much impressed with possibilities. Though connected with production department of the plant there and not counting himself an expert in the field of management and marketing he was prevailed upon to make some comments on what Floyd County people might do for themselves.

In comparing conditions here with those in California it would seem that some type of food preserving plant would be a must for the area if vegetables are to be grown on a big scale. This would give growers a sure market for their product and something to do with the crop that cannot be sold fresh from the field.

AS everyone here already knows the big job is getting started. Large companies are not interested in an area until it has proved itself and has a big acreage they can depend upon, and the grower cannot put in this big acreage until he has the market. So it comes back to the point of which comes first, the chicken or the egg.

In California fruits and vegetables have been grown for some time and it is much easier to work out these problems for new areas than it would be here. Many communities there have worked out these matters however and are doing well both with the increased farm income and with the additional payroll.

Some have found the answer by purchasing property and erecting buildings for the new enterprise, but now many more are turning to the cooperative canneries, packing shed and freezing plant to process their products for the market.

Even in centers where canneries have operated for many years growers are establishing cooperatives which they believe to be more profitable and give them more security than depending upon the privately owned concerns to contract their crops.

A CANNERY to operate successfully would need to be a fairly large one, and would need to be in operation most all the year. After

Moss Pick-Up Is Recovered

Johnny C. Moss, who while suffering from amnesia abandoned a pickup under circumstances of which he has no recollection, sometime between Thursday noon and Sunday night preceding Christmas, has recovered the machine, apparently in good condition.

Authorities at Albuquerque, N. M., informed Floyd County Sheriff Earl Cooper the pick-up was in their town. The sheriff relayed the information to Moss.

Except for a missing hubcap and an ignition switch that had been tampered with the machine was not damaged.

"There were signs that the pick-up had been pilfered, but that is principally surmise," said Johnny, the first of this week after returning from Albuquerque.

The pick-up had seven parking tickets, the oldest of which was dated Dec. 21. Moss left home immediately after noon on Dec. 20. When he failed to show up at his residence that night a search was started which became state-wide before Sunday night when he called home by telephone from Amarillo.

He had regained his memory in a bus station at St. Louis, he said. He immediately started a homeward trek, reaching Floydada in time to spend Christmas Eve and Christmas day with his family.

He went to Albuquerque for the pick-up Friday of last week making the journey in a day, accompanied by an uncle, Bill Cooper, of Roaring Springs.

the rush season of preserving the ripe crop it would need a backlog of orders for off season months for canning such things as soups and pork and beans. This would keep the supply of labor on hand at all times and allow the plant to operate on a competitive basis.

Here, too, it appears that Floyd County would have as good chance as any to keep going as beans do well in this climate. Also mentioned as an after thought was the growing of okra. One of the shortest stems on the west coast is okra which does not do well there and is in much demand on the market and by soup manufacturers. Okra is a natural for this country.

If Floyd County farmers and business men could form a cooperative canneries and, or, freezing plant they could realize more profit from a small acreage of vegetables, increase the payroll of the area and make the dwindling supply of irrigation water go farther than by battling large acreages of such crops as grain sorghums.

Of course this is a big change over from practices of many years here and many obstacles could arise. It has been done elsewhere.

'Angles' on Vegetable Growing To Be Given in All-Day Meeting

The four principal "angles" on vegetable growing will be discussed in an afternoon meeting of farmers who are interested in the subject, here on Friday, January 25.

The meeting to be held in the district court room will hear four men of wide experience give outlines of the problems of Production, Plant Diseases and Control, Insects and Control, and Marketing.

County Agent Bill G. Rodgers has made the announcement, and has arranged the program, outlined below.

The team of four men, Extension Service Specialists, are to make an itinerary of five plains counties, beginning in Deaf Smith on January 21, moving on to Lamb on January 22, Bailey on January 23, Hale on January 24 and Floyd Jan. 25. One 45-minute talk is scheduled and three 30-minute talks, all in the afternoon beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

Nearly 4,000 acres of Floyd County and was seeded in vegetable crops of various kinds last year, and the interest appears to be growing.

The program outlined is as follows:

- 1:30-1:40—Introductory remarks;
- 1:40-2:15—Production — B. G. Hancock, Extension Horticulturist;
- 2:15-3:00—Plant Diseases and Control — Dr. Harlan E. Smith, Plant Pathologist;
- 3:00-3:30—Insects and Control — C. F. Garner, Extension Assistant Entomologist;

If we could take a pair of field glasses and look back over 1956, what would we find...

We might walk out to that little mound of quietness we view from the window of every day, and make a try. First, we'd adjust the sights close-up for last week, infinity for last January.

Would the tiny deeds of goodness or the small sins of forgetfulness magnify more clearly? Would we see what we meant to do, or what we actually accomplished?

As we focussed on that farthest yesterday, no doubt, we'd find several promises still gathering dust on the shelves of good intention; unwritten letters, unmade telephone calls, undelivered messages, unfinished plans. But alongside these should be a sizable stack of emergencies well met, of hasty words we did not speak, of bitternesses forgotten.

Lines and arrows like those on a battle map would mark our progress through the months of 1956. The line of community service might stand out clear and strong; that of church work, or social life, might appear bold but faint, wavering from too-much to too-little then back again. The line of family relations might run smooth and straight throughout the year.

Wasted hours, fruitless longings, injured feelings. These would be balanced by precious hours spent with loved ones, quick flashes of understanding between friends, rare moments of beauty that hastened by like brilliant birds of passage in the sun.

Viewed in perspective, through the binoculars of memory, the year 1956 — like every other spent in America — was what we made it. For 1957, the privileges of freedom are equally great, limited only by our will to do.

Williams' Entertain Holiday House Guest

Miss Mary Ann Brown of Triacott and Miss Glendora Williams of Hamlin were holiday house guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Q. D. Williams, Montgomery Ranch.

Friday evening the Williams' honored their guests with a Mexican dinner. Other guests were Miss Scarlett Smith and Miss Sue Flenniken of the Lakeview Community.

On New Year's Eve the Williams' were hosts to a buffet supper and party for Miss Brown, Miss Williams, Charles and Rodney Miller of Pilot Point, Bobby Jones and J. C. Walker of Dumas.

Other guests were the young people of the Floydada City Park Church of Christ and the Lakeview Community.

An evening of table games were enjoyed and at 12 o'clock the New Year was brought in by the group.

She carried a white Bible topped with pink rosebuds and satin streamers tied in lovers knots. For something old and borrowed, the bride carried a handkerchief belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Nita Holcomb of Dallas. For something new and blue was her wedding attire. She wore a penny in her shoe bearing the year of her birth.

DO-IT-YOURSELF: GET THREE MEALS FROM ONE ECONOMY BEEF POT ROAST

If your family likes beef — and who doesn't — they will love this new design for living. Simply buy a full 6th and 7th rib pot roast, divide it, before cooking, into the several cuts illustrated above and prepare each in your family's favorite way. (1) Have your butcher saw through the rib bones above the eye of fat. Hold firmly to both ends to separate the rib-eye from the outside section. Cut rib bones free and trim lean meat off. Remove thin blade cartilage and backbone. (2) Then roll outside section, fat side out, into a pot roast and skewer or tie. Cook over low temperature with moisture for best results. (3) Slice the rib-eye into 1½ to 2-inch "country club" steaks which are tender enough to broil or, if preferred, swiss. Use bones for stock and lean meat for stew. Wrap or cover the loosely if they are to be used within a few days, then if longer storage is desired. At-home fabric saves time and money, says the Texas Beef Council provides three or four distinctively different cuts

Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Cook and little son have returned from Las Vegas, N. M., where they spent the holidays with Mrs. Cook's parents.

Mrs. Max Medley and family of Hansford, Calif., visited over the holidays with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Johnson.

KIND TO THE BLIND

An incident of unusual interest occurred on a busy street corner in Berkeley, Calif., according to reports. Mrs. Margaret Wilson, blind since birth, was standing at an intersection waiting for someone to help her across the street. A man stepped up and asked, "May I go across with you?"

"I would be very glad if you would," replied Mrs. Wilson, cheerfully.

After they had crossed safely, the man thanked her. Mrs. Wilson was surprised, for she was about to thank him. "You know," the man continued, "when one has been blind as many years as I have, it's a mighty big favor to have someone help him across the street."

QUICK REPARTEE

A Congressman's friend, after a visit to his district asked: "Did you know that Tom Sullivan is going to run against you?"

"Well," snapped the Congressman, "I'm not surprised. He's an ingrate and a scoundrel, lucky to be out of the penitentiary."

"Jim Jones," the friend continued, "is also threatening to announce."

"He's the same type," said the Congressman, "a reprobate, a thoroughly evil character."

"Aw," said the friend, "I'm just kidding you. I saw them both; they asked about you and sent their regards and said they're behind you 100%."

"Now you see what you've done," stammered the flabbergasted Congressman. "You've made me say some ugly things about two of the sweetest, finest and most upright men in my district!"

BARTERING CONSCIENCE

The State Treasurer's office in Springfield, Ill., received a letter (unsigned) from a taxpayer, enclosing a $10 bill in which the writer confessed that he had cheated the state out of $20 sales taxes, and his conscience kept bothering him so he couldn't get a good night's sleep.

"If I still can't sleep," concluded the letter, "I'll send the other ten."

"So far as the world's food is concerned, all peoples must learn together to make proper use of the earth on which we live. Hovering even now over our shoulders is a specter as sinister as the atomic bomb because it could depopulate the earth and destroy our cities. This creeping terror is the wastage of the world's natural resources and particularly the criminal exploitation of the soil. What will it profit us to achieve the H-bomb and survive that tragedy or triumph if the generations that succeed us must starve in a world, because of our misuse, grown barren as the mountains of the moon?"—Dwight D. Eisenhower

TEXAS GOLD

A bragging Texan and a Kentucky Colonel were both in heated argument, extolling the good points of their respective states. The Kentuckian finally said:

"Sir, the United States government thinks the people of Kentucky are so honest that it picked our state to store all the gold in America there. We have so much gold that we could build a golden fence all around the state of Texas. Now what do you think of that?"

The Texan replied immediately: "Tell you what you do, Colonel. You build that golden fence all around Texas, and by gosh if it looks good, I'll buy it!"

A man will remain a rag-picker as long as he has only the vision of a rag-picker. We should have ambition to do our best, and refuse to accept our second best. Doing easy things does not tax us, neither does it challenge us. It is a good plan to make it a point to tackle one hard job every day. If we do this, we will find that we have exercised our will power, our minds, and our bodies to good purpose. One of the rewards of learning to do hard things is the capacity for doing still harder things.—Author Unknown.

A sugar planter in Hawaii took a friend from the States to the edge of a volcano. "That crater is 70,004 years old," he explained to the friend.

"How do you get the exact age?" asked the newcomer. "I can understand the seventy thousand, but where do you get the four?"

"Well," said the planter, "the volcano was 70,000 years old when I arrived, and I've been here four years."

SITUATIONS ???

"Look here," said the sales manager, "you've put down on this expense account $17.20 for train fare from Chicago to Jonesville. It so happens that I used to live in Jonesville, and the ticket actually cost you $4.43. What about it?"

"Hm-m-m. Let's see now . . . Hm-m-m."

"What's the matter. Does my question embarrass you?"

"Not at all, but my answer does."

The year of 1957 has seen a major improvement and betterment program carried out at Peoples Hospital, thanks to the Ford Foundation $10,000 grant, $5,000 of which has been expended on a modernization program. The grant has been spent on technical and operating room facilities and modernization of patients' quarters.

The hospital is assured of receiving the second $5,000 installment from the Ford Foundation. Expenditures which have been made to date comply to the letter with the recommendations and requirements set up for the grant. Thus, we are in position now to make plans for the program of betterment for another year.

The support of the people of the area which the hospital serves has also been a major helpful factor during the past year. As our facilities improve and the hospital proves more and more beneficial to the community we feel confident that your support will be continued and expanded.

We Heartily appreciate the support we have had during a trying period. While many of the problems we faced are behind us, we still need your backing to make this non-profit community service institution come up to the full measure of the need and of your expectations.

IEWS AND COMMENT

Shortcomings And Faults. As individuals nearly all of us have that wry feeling when a new year comes around we haven't managed too well during the year that has closed; that we haven't done our part or that, perhaps, we have not kept up our fences of acquaintance and friendships, or that we have failed in going all out for the community which we call our home. Everyone has his own conscience to get along with on matters of that nature. But now is a good time to see if what one has or has not done squares with the thing he should have done.

A historical fact is that the higher the kite flies "back east", the more official Washington and big business talks of great prosperity the tougher it gets in the southwest. So a business concern and the community of which it is a part will have to put out more effort in 1957 than it did in 1956 to keep up its part of the common welfare. Mostly this calls for planning.

We know now that the seasons are going to move along as the calendar clicks off the days. There will be another spring, another mid-summer another Thanksgiving and Christmas. And people are going to go somewhere. Are we going to have better stores, more appealing merchandise more aptly shown? A better newspaper or hardware store to help in the appeal for the public's interest? If so, what is the plan? How are we going to manage it? How will we hold, and increase, the traffic into our doors?

Floydada Stores And shops had stronger lines of merchandise and services during 1956 than ever before in the history of the town. Prices were as reasonable as prices can be in a period of inflation. Also there were the more expensive in greater evidence than ever before. This was evident more especially in the pre-Christmas days. If we made mistakes in getting these before the public it must have been in dramatizing our town and the things we had to offer. We grow as a town and business community as we get the public to see as we see—to make our town, our stores, their town, their stores.

In communities like Floyd County, where there are no air bases, federal installations, or things more important than an ASC or Post Office, the people get back an estimated 25 per cent of their taxes to go for local benefits. This isn't an official figure, but it does give the idea. The rest of it goes to global effort of the federal government. Much of this money is being more than wasted, according to the logic which prevails in our provincial mind. We speak of federal taxes a great deal because federal taxes "is what is the matter with us" at The Hesperian office.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ: Probably more folks have their income tax returns audited because of claiming a questionable dependent than for any other reason. Thousands of taxpayers have to come in because they didn't follow tax instructions on dependents. You don't have to send pictures of all the dependents but you have to give all the information and fill out all the forms to let the tax folks know that you haven't claimed your dog. Some folks are surprised that they can't claim their dog or their cow. If some of us would stop and think, maybe the old cow ought to take us for a dependent. Anyway, it is a good idea to study the tax instructions Uncle Sam sends you before you fill out your tax return.

The tax battle has begun at Austin, although the legislature is not yet in session and will not be for several days. A joint planning committee of the two houses had announced tentatively a recommendation would be made to tax hunters and fishermen to provide funds to carry on certain phases of the state's water conservation program. Strange to say (?) hunters and fishermen were clamoring to get in before the planning committee to offer testimony to the effect that such a tax should not be levied against them. Not a hunter or a fisherman thought it would be fair.

We said a few days ago that many matters for the general good that would otherwise be considered and passed on favorably by the legislature, will be laid aside while the cat and dog fight goes on over who will pay the bill. We hardly expected the battle to start before the legislature got on the ground. And we didn't intend to intimate that the hunters and fishermen are any different from others. Nobody wants to pay any more of the bill than they already are paying. It just happens the hunters and nimrods came to bat first.

Very good solution to the vexing problem of raising money for state needs would be to follow the idea used two years ago and four years ago. However, it would be well to do this at once instead of wasting a million dollars and kill scores of good bills quarreling about tax matters. The way they settled the whole thing four years ago was simple. They added the bill on to the corporation tax. The way they settled it two years ago? They add it on to the corporations. Only 500 per cent increase in four years is reasonable enough, one should think.

Now that the corporations, like the legendary colored man who was to be hung, have got "used to it," why not just put on another dollar or two per thousand quickly, have that part of the problem solved. Then the legislature could proceed with the problems of state in an atmosphere of harmony and good will. Where two men of good will get together, it is said, good is bound to come of it. Two houses full of men of good will ought to really do it. Q. E. D.

Everybody Pays Taxes. Don't reveal your ignorance by joining in the talk about who or what is not being taxed while yourself in particular and others as well are being loaded down with taxes. The fact is all hands are paying a great deal of taxes. Nobody is escaping. Uncle Sam is seeing to that. The only tax that you can see, feel or use, and know you're getting your money's worth now, is a local tax for something that will benefit your own community and which can be deducted from the federal tax.

Scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have labeled agave lecheguilla, a plant which grows over thousands of square miles in west and southwest Texas, as the most promising native plant yet found to yield substances that can be converted to cortisone. The drug, cortisone, is widely used for treatment of arthritis, inflammatory eye diseases, asthma and other painful ailments.

Bronco, a new attractive, light red-grain oat variety developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the USDA, has equalled or outyielded present Texas commercial oat varieties in adapted areas of the state. It has exhibited more winter hardiness than such varieties as Mustang or New Nortex.

John Deere Show Thursday, Jan. 10

Some of the most beautiful scenery in the country provides the back drop for the picture "Heavens to Betsy," feature film of the John Deere Day program to be staged for farmers and their families. This photo shows the cast and camera crew on location in Colorado.

Area farmers and their families will be guests at John Deere Day, a full day of entertainment prepared especially for them by the hosts for the affair, the Stansell-Collins Co., the local John Deere dealer. The event will be held at Palace Theatre on Jan. 10. Beginning at 1:30 p. m., the program will be highlighted by six all-color motion pictures, including the feature picture "Heavens to Betsy" and will include demonstrations and displays of new tractors and equipment.

To See Five Additional Movies
In addition to the feature picture, the John Deere Day audience will be treated to five additional all-color films. Mr. Collins said. In one, Tom Gordon, perennial John Deere Day favorite, will "ride again" on the rocky road to wisdom. All who have attended previous John Deere Day programs will remember Tom affectionately as the delightful skeptic who, in spite of himself, usually bumbles his way out of his difficulties. He does it again in the picture, "Please Pass the Pasture."

New Equipment For 1957
Other films on the program are devoted to an introduction to new farm equipment for 1957. The far-

Highlights And Sidelights From the State Capitol

(By Vern Sanford, Texas Press Association)

AUSTIN — Conflict, complications and suspense made 1956 one of Texas' newswiest years. Many of the biggest stories didn't run out with the calendar. They're marked "to be continued in 1957."

These were some of the headlines-makers:

POLITICS were everyone to a frazzle. Gov. Allan Shivers took his first political tumble when Sen. Lyndon Johnson won control of the May Democratic convention. Price Daniel won over Ralph Yarborough for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in a narrow-ever margin of a little more than 3,000 votes. Daniel gained shaky party control by getting a mostly-friendly executive committee at the September Democratic convention. But he had to go to the senate seat too long. Gov. Shivers wouldn't by the election-time resign-later plan. And Shivers came to the end of his historic seven-year tenure as leader of the again-triumphant Democrats for Eisenhower.

DROUGHT, in its seventh year, grew steadily worse. Crops burned up. Streams stopped flowing. Reservoirs dwindled. State Water Board had its hands full trying to referee squabbles over water rights. Agricultural groups banded together in the Texas Drought Emergency Committee finally gained expanded federal relief. All but five of Texas' 254 counties were designated disaster areas. Texas Water Resources Committee, a legislative study group, put in a lot of overtime reading a statewide water program for the next legislature. Suggestions: a $100,000,000 bond program to help finance local projects, fishing and boat taxes to buy water storage space in federal reservoirs, "rainmaking" research at Texas colleges.

FEDERAL Legislation had Texas

percussions. Eisenhower supporters groaned when he vetoed the natural gas bill. But the federal highway building bill passed. It means $87,000,000 a year more for Texas road building. Texas Highway Department started using it at once, predicted an era of unparalleled progress. To move things faster, it reversed its long-time policy, is now buying right-of-way for interstate roads. This brought a new headache — a hue and cry from county officials for help in buying land for state highways.

INTEGRATION vs. segregation made news on many fronts. Voters overwhelmingly approved three pro-segregation interposition referendums in the July primary. But no one was sure what would come of them. At Mansfield and Texarkana citizens blocked efforts at federal court-ordered school integration, and Governor Shivers sent Texas Rangers to maintain order. Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd took on the NAACP in a Tyler district court and won a temporary order banning the organization in Texas.

INVESTIGATION by legislative committees into US Trust and Guaranty Co.'s $7,000,000 downfall brought demands for new lobby laws, controls on legislators' dealings with state agencies. US Trust's many creditors are still unpaid. It's all tied up in their numerous lawsuits for priorities.

INSURANCE industry underwent a statewide solvency check. Seven per cent, out of more than 1,300, failed to qualify for new licenses.

VACCINE restrictions were completely removed in late summer. But with plenty for everyone, an indifferent public let vaccine supplies stack up. Some 80 per cent went unvaccinated. Unless interest increases, Texas will have to return nearly half of the state's $3,000,000 federal vaccine allocation when the fiscal year runs out next June.

BUSINESS level holds—Capital expansion, the building of new and growth of old industries, has kept Texas' 1956 business index at its 1955 high.

University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported the 1956 11-month total as the same as 1955. Rapid industrial expansion has kept the average up, says the bureau.

CROP value down—Value of Texas' 1956 crops is estimated at $1,100,000,000 — nine per cent below last year and the 10-year average.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture said reduced production is due to drought, acreage restrictions and the soil bank plan.

Increased irrigation accounted for some better yields. Per-acre yield of cotton was the highest on record — 278 pounds. But dryland farming reached new lows. Corn crop of 27.4 million bushels was the shortest since 1923. Sorghum, with half the total acreage irrigated, produced 124 million bushels, fourth largest crop in history.

Other reports: rice, smallest crop since 1949; wheat, double last year's crop, but half the 10-year average; peanuts, smallest crop since 1934; cats, 19 per cent under last year; barley, about average; hay and forage, about two-thirds of average; commercial vegetables, up 16 per cent from last year.

OIL record predicted—an all-time production peak in 1956 and continued heavy demands for the first quarter of '57 are foreseen for the Texas oil industry.

Texas Railroad Commission pegs 1956 production at 1,075,829,000 barrels, an increase of more than 54 million barrels or 5.3 per cent over 1955.

A Commission report said closing of the Suez Canal seems likely to be reflected in two ways: (1) decreased importing of oil into the U.S. and (2) increased demand by other countries for U.S. oil. Both would mean heavier demands on the Texas industry.

But, it noted, above-ground storage of gasoline stocks is still "quite excessive."

Harvester Offers '57 Tractor Line

many of the state's industrial workers taking home bigger pay checks. Some weekly averages: in apparel and fabrics, $41.06; stone, clay and glass, $69.97; metal products, $76.43; chemicals, $89.52; petroleum and coal products, $106.27.

Austin State Hospital has improved tremendously in the past six months, reports Dr. David C. Gaede of Washington, D. C., president of the American Psychiatric Association. He made an intensive survey of the hospital's operation last April. His follow-up report noted substantial increases in trained personnel and many added services.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

TEMPLE, Texas, Jan. 3 — State Conservationist H. N. Smith of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service today announced plans to take quick action to put into effect the stepped-up Great Plains program in this state.

Smith said that he has called a conference of state leaders of agricultural programs and agencies in Texas for Jan. 11 at College Station to blueprint the plan of action on the farm and range lands of the 80 counties in that portion of the state. Administrative responsibility for and leadership in the Great Plains program was recently placed on the Soil Conservation Service by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson.

Smith pointed out that Secretary Benson's order provided for the combining of the resources of the Department of Agriculture's various agencies in a step-by-step process for making long-time adjustments in land use, cropping systems, and in the treatment of cultivated lands and range, under the climatic hazards of the Great Plains.

The Great Plains program, brought into being by Public Law 1021 only last August, is designed to give farmers and ranchers in the Great Plains area of the 10 involved states, both immediate and long-range help in the use of their land within its capabilities, Smith pointed out.

He explained that Public Law 1021 authorized an appropriation of not over $50 million for a 15-year period. Funds to aid farmers and ranchers are expected to be available after July 1. Expenditures may not exceed $25 million in any one year.

The program will apply in counties to be designated by the Secretary of Agriculture in portions of Colorado, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming. "The continued drought in these states has emphasized the need for such a program to help develop a more stable farm and ranch economy in this region," Smith said.

Wind erosion conditions in the Great Plains area of Texas are serious with 400,000 acres damaged during October and November.

He emphasized that the Great Plains program is not designed to replace any local existing agricultural program.

Smith said, "will place the responsibility of local production on the farmer and rancher, using their agriculture to the capabilities of the land and the hazards of climate."

Duval's Background For Dictatorship One of Violence and Sudden Death

FREDERICK HODGSON
SAN DIEGO, TEX.—To know the history of Duval County is to understand the power of George Parr. To know the county's power, and that of his father before him, is based on the American, by tradition an "Anglo." Almost 90 percent of the people in Duval County are called "Anglos," or "Yankees," as they are known here. Their families may have come to this land since the days of the Conquistadors. Most of them are desperately poor. Many are illiterate. Many speak no English at all.

More than half the population of the county town, 4,397 at the last official census, live in the "jacas," unsupervised built with scrap lumber.

The town, officially a city, is called Mexican, with a mission-style church and a central square with a band stand. The line between Duval from Jim Wells runs through the town, through the center of the San Cafe, meeting place of the Parr forces. Across the Highway 44, and catty-corner to the West is the Court and the Windmill Cafe, headquarters of the Parr brigade. "Mexican" in Duval is a dark-skinned, Catholic by religion. Parr is an "Anglo" and rules of deep South Central and his followers should be different as day is from the average "Anglo" in Duval. Parr is a tall, thin man, taller by inches than the general run of American by religion he is Protestant. He speaks little or no Spanish. He is apt to wear fancy, high-top Western boots and a Western hat though his skin may be as dark as the sun to the shade of copper he thinks of himself as "in contrast to the Mexican who is patronized as a part Indian. The "Anglo" speaks of "good Mexicans" and "bad Mexicans," but of "Mexicans" he doesn't speak. The Latins as Americans are more than a trace of the frontman still remains in the Duval. There are men still who can tell truthfully of the trigger on yelling Apache.

There are changes in the school schedules and routes because of the holidays. Probably take several days of the usual smooth and efficient.

naughty, fed them when they were hungry, led them like a flock of sheep, robbed them blind, tended their hurts—and used them so adroitly that no man dared oppose him. He made alliances with political leaders in adjoining counties. His power was vast.

Old Archie sat in the State Senate for twenty years, ran a rip-roaring wide open county back home in Duval where not a dog barked without his permission. He controlled the courts, the police, the schools, the markets, everything in the county. He manipulated elections with the dexterity of a gambler with a deck of cards.

There were sporadic revolts against his rule, of course, but these were put down ruthlessly. On primary day in 1912, for example, three men were shot to death in the street in front of the Courthouse. Two years later a determined attempt was made by Parr foes to clean up Duval by the simple expedient of abolishing the county altogether. It didn't work. In 1915 the Texas Supreme Court ordered an audit of the county's books and the Courthouse burned down after the auditors had worked only one day, destroying the records.

In building his power, and in consolidating it, Old Archie had one powerful force operating in his favor—the Constitution of the State of Texas.

Ironically, that much-amended Constitution of 1878 was framed deliberately to give counties the greatest possible measure of home rule. Behind the solid rampart of that document the Duke of Duval ruled with the absolute authority of a Medici.

Thus it was the Constitution, as much as Parr himself, that posed the serious obstacle to Attorney General John Ben Sheppard in his march on the Duchy of Duval. He had to stay carefully within its obsolete framework while fighting against forces that cared not one snap of the fingers for all the law in Texas.

Old Archie's son, the present Duke of Duval, grew up in this atmosphere of corrupt politics. He knew of the liquor-laden pack trains that came into the county during the lush days of prohibition. He knew of the other things that went on, and he learned well. His playmates were the Latin children of San Diego. Spanish, not English, was his mother tongue.

Among his playmates was Manuel "Marroquin," now Parr's most bitter enemy, editor of a militant little bi-lingual newspaper "New Duval." Other articles in this series will tell more of Marroquin, a man who has suffered much, including physical beatings, at the hands of the Duke and his henchmen.

Floyd County 14 Years Ago

(Taken from the files of the Hesperian, issue dated Jan. 7, 1943.)

A thousand bundle trucks and wagons on a thousand Floyd County farms will be in the fields on the first day that it is dry enough on the ground is firm enough from cold for vehicles to make trips into cultivated ground. Temperatures of the week have been mild and freezing.

For the mightiest production effort of all time Floyd County farmers, in line with farmers all over the nation, will attend meetings this week-end, to learn in detail the needs of the nation at war and the goals which they will be asked to meet the requirements of the United Nations in 1943. These meetings are to be held in preparation for Farm Mobilization Day, Tuesday, Jan. 12, designated by the president as Farm Mobilization Day.

At the meeting of the 1934 Study Club held Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Lorin Leibfried with Miss Margaret Doak as hostess, new officers for the coming two years were elected. Miss Edith Wilson was chosen as president and will be inaugurated in September.

To Make Laundering Lighter... Washdays Brighter...

Smart Moderns go GAS!

AUTOMATIC GAS WATER HEATER

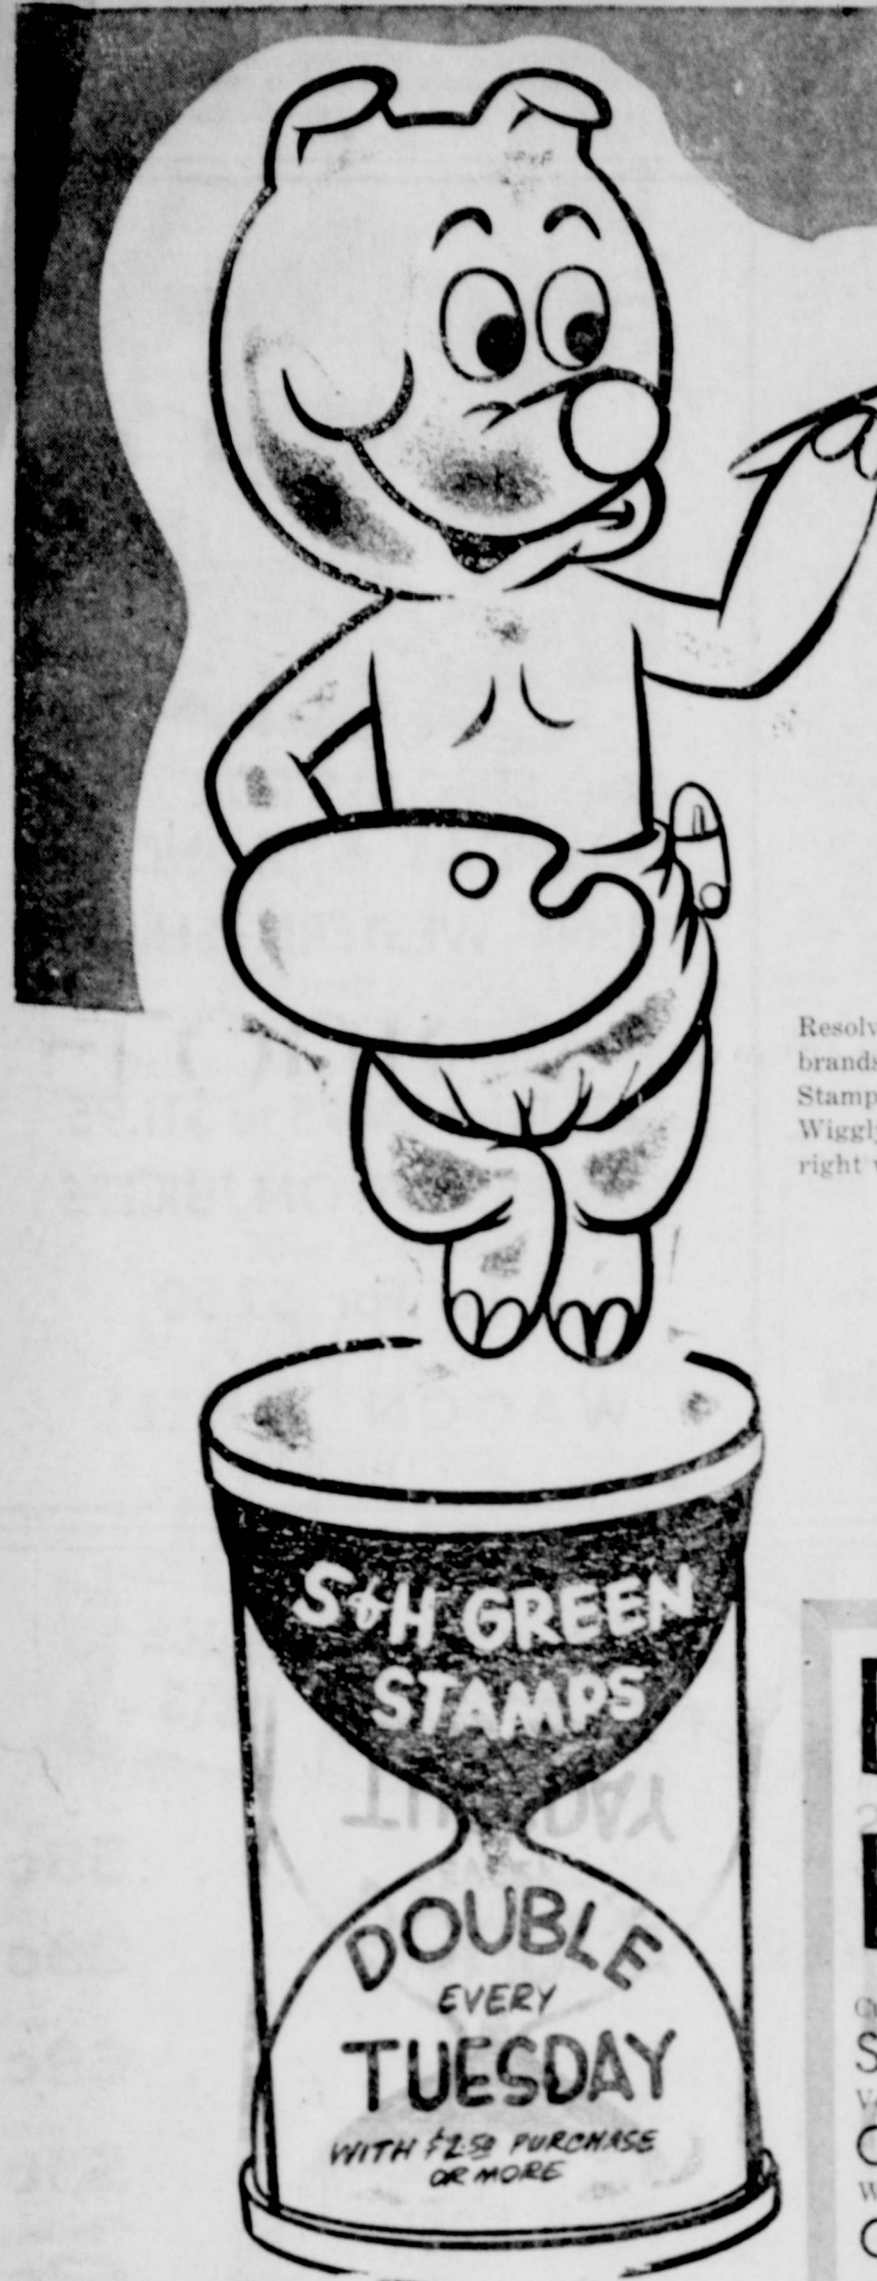

* Facts show that "the hotter the water, the whiter the wash." And a modern GAS water heater such as this slim, trim, 1957 RHEEM delivers temperatures high enough to more than meet the most rigid laundering specifications. Add to this the fact that dependable GAS heats water faster than any other fuel — and you've got the best insurance there is for the lightest, whitest launderings that ever came out of a washer!

AUTOMATIC GAS CLOTHES DRYER

* You've no idea how much lighter your washday load can be, 'til you've tried a work-saving GAS clothes dryer — minus all the lugging, lifting, stooping and stretching that go with old-fashioned line drying. Lightens the load on hubby's pocketbook, too. Did you know that it costs only about $2.60 a year to dry clothes for a family of four... plus, the fact that GAS drying saves on clothes because it's easier on cloth fibers than outdoor drying. Any wonder, then, why Smart Moderns go GAS?

The glamorous 1957 WHIRLPOOL Imperial Super-Speed Dryer, available in decorator colors.
