Tech. Sgt. Raymond D. Jasper, of Friona, sewed on his fourth overseas stripe recently. Overseas since December, 1942, Sgt. Jasper is the crew chief of a bomber in the "Ugly Duckling" squadron of the First Tactical Air Force B-26 Marauder Group in France. He has been the crew chief of planes that bombed enemy targets in North Africa, Sicily, Italy, France and Germany. Sgt. Jasper wears the Distinguished Unit Badge and five battle stars to his European, Mediterranean-Middle East campaign ribbon. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Jasper of Friona.

Mrs. Carrie Turner, of Stebbinville, is visiting here with her son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Bob Jenkins. Mrs. Turner came this far with her son, M-Sgt. B. F. Turner and his wife, who spent the night here and continued on to Fort Bliss where he is stationed.

Saw Nephew's Picture

M. H. Sylvester was a visitor at the Star office Tuesday morning. Merle has two sons in the overseas service, but widely separated. Merle, Jr. is somewhere in the Pacific, and Emmett J. is somewhere along the Western Front in Europe. Mr. Sylvester stated that he had received a letter from his sister, in which she stated that while in California recently she had been permitted to visit a movie show and witnessed a picture that was allowed to be shown only to service men or their relatives. This picture represented a scene in the Normandy Campaign in France, and in it she saw the picture of her nephew, Emmett J. Sylvester.

that I would like to keep getting the paper. Lots of snow over here and more coming every day or so, but we make out O. K., because we have good warm clothes and plenty of blankets. The country here is rather nice, but I'll take the U. S. A. any time, and soon too, I hope. All the French people rode bicycles and civilian cars are few and far between, and most of those you see, burn coal and are rather funny looking; however I have seen one or two Model A Fords and one or two "36" Fords. Well, Uncle John, all the war news looks good. Sure will be glad when it's all over, and we all get home.

As ever,
Eddie.

Dear Mom:
Just a few lines to let you know I am O. K. I am out of the hospital now and back with my outfit. Seems good to be back with the boys again. Although there is a lot of new faces. We have a good bunch of boys who are not afraid to fight. Saturday a week ago our company was awarded a citation. Also two of the boys were awarded the Silver Star, and two were awarded the Bronze Star. I haven't been getting my mail very good here lately, but yesterday I had a big surprise when I was handed about 40 letters. Every one was mighty nice about writing while I was in the hospital. Well, Mom, I had better close for now. Don't worry and I will write every chance I get. I love you Mom.

Your son, Truett.
The above letter was written by Truett Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson, of Route One, Friona, through whose kindness we are permitted to use it in this column.—Uncle John.

Brumley Dairy Herd Goes at Auction

A large crowd is expected next Wednesday, Feb. 28, when B. E. Brumley offers 110 head of his fine dairy herd for auction at the Hereford Sale Barn. The sale will start at 11 o'clock in the morning with lunch served by the North Hereford Home Demonstration Club. On the auction block will go 50 head of milking cows, 37 springer cows and 23 springer heifers to make up the largest dairy herd offering to go on sale here in recent months. Lloyd Otten is auctioneer and G. W. Newsom will clerk the sale.

Air Medal To Be Awarded Sgt. Hughes

The Air Medal and Oak Leaf Cluster have been awarded to Staff Sgt. Roy E. Hughes and the decorations will be sent to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buford Hughes, according to word received here last week from Adj. Gen. J. A. Ullo. The citation follows: "For meritorious achievement in aerial flight while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy, from 2, December 1943 to 16 December 1943.

"Since these awards cannot be formally presented to your son at this time, the decorations will be presented to you. The Air Medal and one Oak Leaf Cluster will be forwarded to the Commanding General, Eighth Service Command, Dallas, who will select the officer to make the presentation. The officer selected will communicate with you concerning your wishes in the matter.

Sincerely yours,
J. A. Ullo, Major General.

Friona Teacher Weds Local Businessman

Miss Wilma Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wright, of Canyon became the bride of Thomas E. Braddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Braddy of Leonard, on Feb. 9, at eight o'clock in the home of the bride's parents.

The brother of the bride, Rev. J. H. Wright, of Henrietta, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The traditional wedding marches were played by the bride's sister, Miss Thalia Wright, "Indian Love Call" was sung by the bride's brother, J. H. Wright, immediately before the ceremony.

The bride wore a street length dress of pale blue. Her corsage was of camellias. A wedding supper was served in the Wright home.

Mrs. Braddy is a teacher in the Friona schools and Mr. Braddy is now employed in the Welch Auto Supply, of Friona. The couple will be at home here.

Mrs. C. R. Drake of near Gage, Okla., who has been here visiting her brother, Ashford Hill and family, left for her home last week.

Mrs. Rex Johnston, who is working at the Army Air Base inspection office at Pampa, spent the week end in the home of her mother, Mrs. F. N. Welch.

Miss Ruby Welch of Clovis is visiting with her mother, Mrs. F. N. Welch this week.

Dinner guests in the Jim Baxter home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baxter and son Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Baxter and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baxter and daughters.

Sgt. Joe Chernick, now stationed at Deming Air Field at Deming, N. M., is here spending a two weeks furlough with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baxter were in Clovis Friday.

Miss Boggess Weds Pfc. Riethmayer In Impressive Home Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony performed at twilight, Wednesday, Feb. 14, at the bride's home, Miss Genevieve Boggess daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edd Boggess, of Friona, became the bride of Pfc. Walter R. Riethmayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Riethmayer of Lamesa.

Rev. Herschel L. Thurston of Perryton, read the wedding vows with a double ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Lillie Riethmayer, the groom's sister, pianist, played "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life;" and the bride's nieces, Patsy and Roberta L. Reed, lit candles placed on the mantle and piano. This was followed by the traditional wedding march from "Lohengrin;" during the ceremony "Oh Promise Me" was softly played.

The bride was accompanied by her sister, Miss Thelma Mae Boggess, of Lubbock, as maid of honor. The bridegroom was accompanied by Cecil Tune of Sparenburg, Tex., as best man.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white marquisette gown with a floor length flowing veil. For something borrowed she wore earrings belonging to her mother; for something blue she wore a blue rhinestone bracelet given to her by her sister; for something old she wore a strand of pearls given to her by her fiancée. The bride carried a bouquet of white lilies.

Miss Robbie J. Boggess, the bride's niece, acted as ring-bearer; the rings were carried in an a white satin pillow.

Miss Thelma Boggess wore a pale pink gown made of marquisette, Miss Lillie Riethmayer wore a pale floral print made of taffeta and net.

A reception was given in the club house by the bride's parents for the wedding guests. After which the couple left on a two week honeymoon. They will be at home in Lubbock.

Mrs. Riethmayer is a graduate of Friona High School and has been working at Lubbock Army Air Field, for the past two years.

Pfc. Riethmayer is a graduate of Sparenburg High School, and attended Texas Technological College for two years. He is now in the Army Air Corps, and is stationed at Lubbock Army Air Field.

Those attending the wedding were the immediate families of the couple and a few close friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dilger received word Tuesday that a daughter had been born at Clovis to Sgt. and Mrs. Arlin Dilger. Sgt. Dilger is their son and is now somewhere in Western Europe.

G. A. Anderson, who has been in very poor health for the past few months, was taken one day last week, to the doctor at Littlefield, who prescribed treatment from which he has received temporary relief.

Mrs. C. E. Hall received word the first of the week that her mother, who lives in Oklahoma, was seriously ill, and she left at once to be with her.

Dr. Hill Describes Educational Need

Friona Parent-Teachers Association held its regular meeting, Thursday evening, Feb. 15, in the Grade School Auditorium.

In the business session the Association voted to put the school cafeteria on a cash basis by asking all children and teachers to buy meal tickets, beginning March 1. The Association also voted to help the Student Council to buy a mirror for the High School and to buy two bibles, one for the Grade School Library and one for the High School Library.

The First and Second grades, under the direction of Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Benger, gave some very entertaining numbers which demonstrated to the audience the care and efficiency with which these children have been trained.

The highlight of the meeting came with an address by Dr. J. A. Hill, president of W. T. S. C. The subject of Dr. Hill's talk was "Post-War Education." He stressed four points which should be of interest to every citizen of this community.

Dr. Hill said: First, provide scientific training, since we are living in a scientific and mechanical age. Second, he said that our schools must have vocational training, so that our returning veterans can find their place in the world and provide for their families; and our children of today can learn some means of earning a good living when they have grown up. Third, there will have to be a well rounded physical program in order that our children can develop stronger bodies. Fourth; if America is to become the most influential nation in the world, the schools of our nation must provide for moral and religious training, for without this training no person can properly lead or help his neighbors.

Dr. Hill ended his address by painting a beautiful picture of a chapel he would like to build on the campus of W. T. S. C. This chapel should be used as a sanctuary and a place of worship by students and parents of all creeds.

Baxter Sale Has Good Results

The auction sale of farm machinery and live stock, held by Charley Baxter at the home of Bill Flippin north of the highway in Friona, Tuesday afternoon, was well attended in spite of the chilling, drizzly weather. All the property offered for sale was disposed of, it is reported, at most satisfactory prices. Bill Flippin was auctioneer and the sale was clerked by Frank A. Spring.

FRIONA WEATHER

The greater part of last week continued fair and quite mild for winter weather, but on Sunday it showed signs of moisture with the wind in the south, and shortly after dark a heavy mist began falling, with a temperature low enough to freeze it wherever it fell, especially on windshields of cars.

Monday morning greeted us with cloudiness and a south wind still blowing, but cleared away in the afternoon, but Tuesday morning was again cloudy and a heavy mist soon set in, which, with intermittent drizzles and sprinkles continued all day, with a fairly heavy shower at dusk, lasting for about an hour.

Those who were out at six o'clock Wednesday morning, were greeted by a wind from the west bearing small particles of snow, and within an hour the wind had changed to the north and was blowing quite a gale and filled with snow which soon covered the ground. About the middle of the morning the snow ceased and the clouds became broken and lighter, promising more fair weather but the wind was still stiff and cold.

Poor Visibility Blamed for Highway Crash

Mrs. J. E. Sessums suffered minor injuries last night about dusk, when the car driven by her son, R. J. Sessums, crashed into the back of a car belonging to A. J. Kaplan about nine miles east of Hereford on the Canyon Highway.

Kaplan, who is stationed at the Clovis Air Base and was returning there, said his car had gone dead and he had stopped on the highway to work on it. Young Sessums stated that visibility was poor and he did not see the parked car until he was upon it.

Both cars were badly damaged but other occupants of the Sessums car—J. E. Sessums and Mrs. R. J. Sessums—were not injured, according to the report of J. C. Reese, state highway patrolman who investigated the accident.

New State Jobs Announced by Merit System

The Merit System Council, serving the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, the United States Employment Service, and the State Department of Public Welfare, is announcing March 17 as the date for competitive examinations for eight different positions for which qualified workers are now urgently needed. The positions for which examinations will be given are field worker, junior claims examiner, junior field auditor, claims interviewer, junior stenographer, apprentice clerk, key punch operator and senior P. B. X. operator. Entrance salaries range from $1,200 to $1,932, depending upon the position. Meritorious service may be awarded by increases in salary and promotions.

Persons interested in these examinations may obtain application blanks at the nearest office of the United States Employment Service or by writing to the Merit System Supervisor, 808 Tribune Building, Austin 21.

One School May Quality for State Aid Pay

Despite a widespread misconception of the provisions of the recently passed bill providing state aid for payment of salaries of rural teachers, there will actually be little benefit to schools in this part of the state, it was explained this week by County Supt. Fred W. Baird, who said that only one school in the county—Westway—has a chance to qualify for state aid under terms of the bill.

According to the recently passed measure, the state sets up a budget for rural schools; then if the rural school decides to qualify, the district actually meets the payments with the state supplying the deficit.

If the Westway school qualifies, the two teachers in the school will be entitled to the additional $300 per year salary; however, it is certain that no other schools in the county will qualify, and the state aid measure does not by any means entail an automatic $300 raise for every rural teacher in the state.

Texas Celebrates Centennial of Statehood

Austin—The first act in the great drama is now performed. The Republic of Texas is no more.—final words pronounced by President Anson Jones when on the 19th of February, 1846, the Lone Star flag was lowered at the Capitol in Austin, were recalled this week following the proclamation of Governor Coke Stevenson, calling upon the people of Texas to observe the week of February 18th as Statehood Week and February 19th as the 99th Statehood Day.

These words were reviewed by Karl Hoblitzelle, Chairman of the Texas Centennial of Statehood Commission, in reminding Texas that the significant dates of history leading to statehood would be remembered, with all the inspiration they afford, in the revitalization of agriculture and improved conditions in rural life in Texas, which is the major objective for a serious observance of the approaching centennial of statehood.

The Republic of Texas was only two weeks less than ten years old when the Lone Star Flag was lowered and the Stars and Stripes of the American Union were unfurled under Texas skies above the Capitol.

The address of President Jones was immediately followed by that of Pinckney Henderson, first Texas Governor, who began by stating that: "This day and within this very hour has been consummated the great work of annexation," and in conclusion he declared: "We have this day fully entered the Union of the North American States . . . henceforth the prosperity of our sister States will be our prosperity—their happiness our happiness—their quarrels will be our quarrels, and in their wars we will freely participate."

The memoirs of John Salmon Ford, editor of the Texas Democrat, who was present at the ceremonies unparalleled in the history of sovereign nations contain a graphic report, excerpts from which are here quoted:

"On the nineteenth day of February 1846, the seats were taken out of the Representative Hall and Senate Chamber and placed on the long gallery east of the capitol building, which stood where the Austin Market House now stands. Both houses of the legislature were seated. Hundreds of citizens were in attendance, ladies and gentlemen. Many were standing . . . President Anson Jones arose and read his valedictory in a clear and serious tone of voice from which the following are extracts:

"The Lone Star of Texas, which ten years since arose amid clouds, over fields of carnage, and obscurely seen for a while, has culminated and following an inscrutable destiny, has passed on and become fixed forever in that glorious constellation which all free men and lovers of freedom in the world most reverence and adore—the American Union. Blending its rays with its sister states, long may it continue to shine, and may generous Heaven smile upon this consummation of the wishes of the two Republics now joined in one. . . The Republic of Texas is no more."

"When the last sentence fell from the lips of the earnest speaker, the beloved flag of Texas was furled, and was lowered, seemingly into the silent shades of the grave. The boom of artillery announced the fact. The glorious banner of our fathers ascended in its stead. All were ready to welcome it, and make a mental vow to stand by it to the death. Many old pioneers, who had done duty on the skirmish line of civilization for years, and had never blanched in the face of danger and death, were overcome and tears coursed down sunburnt cheeks where they were almost total strangers. The writer will never forget that scene. It was too impressive to be eradicated from the tablets of memory. It was a blending of sorrow for the past, joy for the present, and radiant hope for the future. May God forever bless and perpetuate the union then affected, and which called forth those mingled emotions."

By the time the meek inherit the earth, taxes will be so high they won't want it.

If you want to make the days pass quickly, buy something on the installment plan.

Dear Uncle John:
From the Aleutians I send you Valentine greetings. I have been planning to write for quite some time. Soon after Christmas I was assigned to this band and every day I kept looking for transportation to come along and bring me out here. Finally, after about a month of waiting I did head this way. The trip coming down was typical of such voyages. I am beginning to think I am a good "sailor," since this was my third trip, and regardless of how rough the weather was, I have kept everything under perfect control. C. H. Dyar Rites To Be Held Here This Afternoon

C. H. Dyar, outstanding civic and church worker in Hereford for 35 years, died suddenly at his home on Kibbe Street early Tuesday morning and funeral services are being held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the First Christian Church with Rev. L. W. Bridges officiating.

Mr. Dyar, born May 16, 1871 in Illinois, came to Hereford in 1910 and acquired business and farming property here. Devoted to the interests of his church, he had served for many years as a deacon of the Christian Church and was an honorary deacon at the time of his death. He had served as both city and county commissioner and on the board of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce; and though himself without the benefit of a higher education in the formal sense, the cause of public education had no greater friend in Hereford than Mr. Dyar. Not only was he interested in promoting the growth and improvement of the local schools, but his interest extended to all forms of higher education and he had been a generous contributor to the university of his own church—Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

Asked to name one principal characteristic of Mr. Dyar, friends are unanimous in choosing his sincere desire to help his fellowmen in every way possible—and with this wish that the gift should be made entirely without public acclaim.

Survivors besides his wife, include a sister, Mrs. T. P. Mulvane of Hardinville, Ill.; a nephew, J. L. Mulvane of Ossian, Ind., and one brother, F. S. Dyar of Salina, Kans.

Relatives who will attend the services here include the nephew, J. L. Mulvane, who will be accompanied by Mr. Dyar's sister-in-law, Mrs. E. W. Dyar, of Ossian, Ind., and relatives of Mrs. Dyar, including her brother-in-law, Harry Johnson of Amarillo, a niece, Mrs. W. R. Siddeke and Ensign Siddeke of New York City, and a brother Walter Nance and family of Clovis, N. M.

Palbearers at the service will be Travis Dameron, A. Petersen, Ellis Coombes, Earl Phillips, Harry Seed and Lynn Kester. Honorary palbearers will be H. M. Thomas, W. E. Dameron, Ira Ricketts, A. Lowther, Bob Wilson, F. M. Kester, E. E. Ramsey, J. H. Head, F. H. Oberthier and John Robinson.

Mr. Dyar's nephew, J. L. Mulvane, will be in charge of Masonic rites at the grave.

MRS. O. J. BEENE TALKS ON MUSIC FOR CLUB GROUP

Mrs. O. J. Beene was in charge of the program for the Calliope Club meeting held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. W. C. Pitman.

Mrs. Beene chose as her subject, "Different Types of Music and a Little Bit of History about each of Them" listing five main divisions and beginning with "Church or Religious Music," pointing out that protestant church music dates from the middle of the 16th century and has developed from the Lutheran, Anglican and Medieval. Recordings used to illustrate this type were "The Lord's Prayer" sung by John Charles Thomas and "Ave Maria" by Marian Anderson.

"Classical Music" was the second type discussed with the leader quoting from Keyes International Music Year Book to state that there are 73 permanent symphony orchestras in the U. S. with the New York Philharmonic the oldest. Illustrations of this type were Prelude in B Minor and Pastoral lations Section of the Sixth Army Group, states that Pfc. Glen E. Sparkman, of Friona, is a detachment clerk in Convalescent Hospital at Cran, North Africa.

"Folk Music" was the third type with the music of the Indians and that of the Negro in his plantation life given as the only true types of Folk Music.

"Popular Music" was discussed for the fourth type with mention being made of the minstrelsy by Stephen Foster, the marches of John Phillip Sousa, the coon songs and rag-time, jazz and finally swing. For illustration of this Mrs. Beene played "Don't Fence Me In."

The last type was "Semi-Classical Music" beginning with the grouping of instruments in the 18th century and the writing of ensembles for definite types. Hereford Youth Injured in Gasoline Explosion Friday

George Gideon, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Gideon of Hereford, was seriously injured last Friday as the result of an accidental explosion in the grease pit of the Gunn Hinerman Tire Co. in Amarillo. Young Gideon, who had only recently gone to Amarillo, suffered third degree burns about his face, hands and legs, physicians said. He was washing the grease pit with gasoline when the shovel he was using swung back and hit a light bulb. The bulb exploded and set off the vaporized gasoline. Gideon was rushed to an Amarillo Hospital and his parents have gone to Amarillo to be with him. His condition early this week was reported as still serious.
