

Commissioners Map Road Building Preliminaries

Ok Agreement With Dept. On Right-Of-Way

Although it is likely to be weeks before there are any signs of a build-up for work on the highway program in Floyd County the Commissioners Court this week took the first steps toward providing right-of-way for the million and a half dollar project of the highway department in this county.

Programmed by the department for first attention are widening U. S. 62 from Floydada south to the Crosby County line, and widening of U. S. Highway 70 to the Hale County line.

Activities of the court in their regular session Monday that had to do with the new road plans included:

(1) Carrying over the returns of the November 5 election and declaring the results. The court found no changes in the vote as unofficially reported.

(2) Signing a contractual agreement submitted by the State Highway Department for right-of-way procurement. The agreement sets up a working basis by which the two bodies will be governed in their dealings with land owners whose property will be needed for right-of-way in the road widening program.

(3) Discussing the sale of the $294,000 bond issue, the probable date the money will be needed and the kind of a market they are likely to have for their bonds.

Commissioner W. C. Plumlee, not present for the meeting, was absent in Alabama, where tragedy has struck in his family.

Judge J. D. McBrien said the court's formal signing of the right-of-way agreement with the state is expected to be the signal for the Department to begin preliminary engineering and title search in order to supply the court with data and deed instruments required for right-of-way purchase.

Since this is due to be quite a chore it will be weeks before the court will actually need any money with which to acquire right-of-way. Meanwhile the commissioners are pondering whether a shorter term bond than they have been contemplating might not be sold at a lower rate of interest and result in considerable interest saving. The mandate at the ballot box gave them leeway of 25-year bonds to draw interest at not to exceed 5 per cent.

This week they thought they could sell 20-year bonds at 4 1/2 per cent and 15-year bonds at, perhaps, as low as 4 per cent. The saving in debt service would be big on the shorter term bonds.

The court also is pleased that they do not have to hurry into the market, since reports have it that the bond market has had a recent tendency to improvement. Judge McBrien indicated. He thinks the court will not actually need any money for right-of-way before February.

In their canvas of the road bond returns the court found no errors in the unofficial tabulation made last week.

Other action by the court included the canvassing of the returns of the amendments election. Official count of the vote on these gave:

State employee retirement: Approval 678 against 429.

Pension increase: Approval 1006, against 136.

State water bonds: Approval 872, against 249.

The session of the court extended into the second day, what with bill paying, monthly reports of officers, and the like.

Mailman's Good Old Dog Was Too Casual In Highway Traffic

Some dogs bite, some don't, while others take up with strangers. So the story goes from city mail carriers in Floydada.

A faithful dog which followed his master for three years or so as he carried mail was killed on Highway 70 Wednesday last week. He was too casual in a through traffic lane. Shane, as the dog was known by children on the route of Glenn Jarnagin, lost his life by dallying too long on the road. Shane will be missed by many who chatted with the postman on his rounds, but missed more by the Jarnagins' two sons, Garry and Joe Mack.

Dog Shane was an unhurried solid color reddish brown canine of even temper and mild docility. He liked kids and had little trouble with others of his kind.

The dog was given to the Jarnagins when he was about two years old, by a neighbor. Since that time in all kinds of weather, he made the delivery route with Jarnagin.

"If all dogs were as friendly as Shane," say the mail carriers, "We wouldn't have to look behind us twice. Some plain scare you and don't bite, while some mean just what they bark." The last report on a carrier being bitten was in October.

If a mail carrier is bitten by a dog bad enough to break the skin, medical attention is sought, and the dog is penned up by its owner for two weeks for observation. If the family breaks this rule and lets the dog run free before the two weeks confinement then the family can be held liable so says Ed Wester, Floydada postmaster.

Borrowed Ride Is Fatal Trip

A hitchhiker killed last Saturday in a three car collision near Amarillo was identified as Robert Lee Mayo, 42, a farm laborer and brother to William Mayo of the Sand Hill community. Positive identification was made by a sister, Mrs. Buster Hicks of Lubbock Monday night after finger prints of the victim were sent there from Amarillo.

Mr. Mayo was a passenger in a car driven by Frank Thompson, 19 of Iowa. Thompson's car collided headon with one driven by an exchange student at the University of Arizona. A third car plowed into the crashed cars. All occupants were taken to an Amarillo Hospital as Mayo was pronounced dead on arrival.

Officers said the only identification Mayo had was a bus ticket issued from Plainview to Tulsa on the day of the mishap. Thompson said he picked up the victim at Tulsa.

Survivors other than the sister and the Floyd county brother are his mother, Mrs. Cora Mayo of Lubbock, one other sister, Mrs. W. F. Smotherman of Brownfield, and another brother, Odell of Sweetwater.

Funeral rites were held Tuesday at Brownfield with burial there.

'Winds Wind Up Football Year With Spur Game

The Floydada Whirlwinds will journey to Spur Friday night to wind up their football season against the Bulldogs. The game shapes as a dandy with the teams about evenly matched. Spur will of course have the home team advantage and also will be helped by a week's rest.

With nice weather the local team will have a good following of fans to the Dickens County city. Though both teams are out of the running as far as bi-district competition is concerned they will go all out for this final game.

To hold on to the number two spot Floydada must defeat the Spur entry. A loss to Spur will put Floydada, Spur and Slaton tied for the runner-up position.

Coach Bill Henry's Bulldogs have the heaviest line in the district, the same line which a year ago pretty well handled everything that faced them as far as a running attack goes. This year they have never really hit their stride though they have turned in some fine performances. Spur lost a forfeit to Slaton when they were flu ridden and were defeated by Lockney 13 - 34 for their only district loss.

For Coach Preston Watson's 'Winds it will be the last game in the high school careers of 12 members of the given-and-white gridiron team:

Garry Hucksbay, Ronnie Downing, Vaughn Ginn, Grant Cooper, Ranny Wilkers, Frank Potts, Dale Lawson, Sammy Morris, Roy Hartman, Edward Whitehead, Keith Hollmans, and Buttons Beedy.

Three of these, Potts, Cooper, and Lawson, are on the doubtful list for game service this week. Potts was re-injured in the Lockney game, Cooper was hurt in practice Monday and Lawson has been out since the first quarter of the Abernathy game several weeks ago. Watson will probably start an all senior team to give them a last fling at some pig-skin glory.

Basketball Practice Next Week
Coach Paul Huntington will call basketball practice next week as soon as football is over. No early schedule of games has been released but the Floydada tournament will hit the first week in December. The girls team has already started workouts with Mrs. Quin Martin coaching the group.

Coach Weaver Tells of Enlargement Plans For Tech Stadium

Dewitt Weaver, football coach of Texas Technological College, talked to the Floydada Rotary Club yesterday about plans for the enlargement of Tech's football stadium.

The school will be playing a full schedule of Southwest Conference games by 1960. The plans being made will make it possible to accommodate the big crowds these games will draw and make it possible to attract teams of national reputation to the southwest, Mr. Weaver said.

He was presented by E. C. Carter, program chairman for the day.

Coaches of Floydada High School and Jack Henry were honor guests of the club for the day.

Change in Social Security Law Favors Retired Farmer Landlord

Farm landlords over the age of 65 have started filing claims for their social security benefits, according to John G. Hutton, Manager of the Lubbock Social Security Division. The number of such claims will reach a peak early in 1958, after farmers have filed their 1957 tax returns, he declares.

The 1954 law which covered self-employed farmers beginning with 1955, did not provide coverage for any landlord receiving rental income from his farm land, according to Mr. Hutton. This meant that many landlords whose sole business was farming and who actually took part in the farming operations were not protected by the Social Security Act. To remedy this, Congress in 1956, changed the law so that a landlord who by arrangement with the tenant or shareholder takes part in producing a crop and whose activities significantly affect the amount of the crop, will have his net income from this activity credited to his social security account.

This means that the farm landlord over the age of 65 who has been helping his tenant in the production of a crop by helping with the work, contributing machinery or money and actively managing some of the operations, during 1956 and 1957, may qualify for social security benefit.

Both farmers and landlords who plan to file claims for social security early in 1958 are invited to contact the social security representative when he is in their area during November or December and make known their intentions in advance. This will make it possible to expedite the claims to some extent.

A representative of the Lubbock Office may be contacted at Floydada, in the Courthouse, Room 106, on November 18, 1957, at 9:30 a. m.

Farmers, Elevators Wrestle With Grain Harvest Problem

Floyd County farmers and elevator men have been planning and working some of them almost day and night, trying to come up with a way to save the county's big maize crop.

Several elevators are installing dryers and others are on order for early delivery. Potts Grain Company at Dougherty hopes to have their dryer going by this week-end. Kinder Parris said this week the Dougherty plant will operate a Shantzer dryer that should handle between 800 and 1,000 bushels per hour depending on moisture content.

The dryer is connected by legs to the elevator and will be in operation on a round the clock basis. The installation is to be a permanent one. Shantzer is manufactured in San Francisco and uses gas or butane for heat and blowers to dry and to cool the grain.

Farris believes the plant there will be in position to handle grain about any time the fields are dry enough to hold up a combine. Charges for this service have not been definitely set by elevator men here as they are having to study the situation at other places for a basis for starting, but should be reasonable.

Harvest Queen Elevator at South Plains is reported to have a dryer installed there; also and Producers Elevator in Floydada is having to wait until early December for delivery of a big capacity dryer for their plant.

Meanwhile farmers are rigging up and watching the skies and fields for a chance to start. Many combines are having dual wheels installed to replace the single ones and all kinds of pick-up devices are being dreamed up ranging from fingers to round binder type mechanisms to lift fallen grain above the combine sickle.

Others are trying similar ideas they have figured out hoping to get the grain out of the field at the earliest date and save it some way by drying later.

Hiway 70 Pres. Praises County Good Road Vote

In a telegram this week, Charles Hassing, president of the U. S. Highway 70 Association, sent congratulations to Floyd County residents on the approval of the highway modernization program for U. S. Highway 70 in Floyd County.

The Hugo, Oklahoma, banker also urged attendance at the three day annual convention of the national organization which opened in Hugo, today.

In a recent letter to association members, Hassing reported on the progress made this year.

Five states through which the highway runs are now organized with the national association, he said.

The association's map which is distributed along the highway has also been improved and reprinted. Fifty thousand copies are now being distributed to travelers and to travel bureaus and state highway departments, he said.

"We need more funds to carry on a larger distribution," Hassing said. "We have the demand for the maps but not the supply."

The association also owns 20 road signs which are placed at strategic places and point out travelers that U. S. 70 is a coast to coast highway which can be traveled the year round. More signs are planned for next year.

There are 128 Texas members in the national association from Vernon, Crowell, Paducah, Matador, Floydada, Plainview, Muleshoe, and Olin.

Floydada members include Wylie Butane Company, Carl Jarrett Oil Company, Weems Texaco, Powell Grocery, Floydada Chamber of Commerce, Oden Chevrolet Company, Camp Cope, Y Courts, and Floydada Implement Co.

Would-Be Drivers Are Disappointed Examination Day

A drivers license examiner for the Department of Public Safety is expected to be in Floydada Friday of this week, it was learned at the sheriff's office by The Hesperian Monday.

The examiner formerly gave a full day with few disappointments to would-be drivers and applicants for re-instatement. More recently the visits have been erratic and without public announcement when the examiner failed to make a date. So far as The Hesperian was able to learn in official circles no explanation was forthcoming.

A reporter for The Hesperian counted more than 20 persons waiting at one time to see the license man on one recent Friday, and there was traffic in and out of the traffic man's office all that day.

Heavy Damage Is Caused By Blaze

Ben Galloway had practically a total loss in a residence fire at 303 West Crockett St. Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, and Walter Bright and family who lived in the house also lost heavily in household furniture and effects.

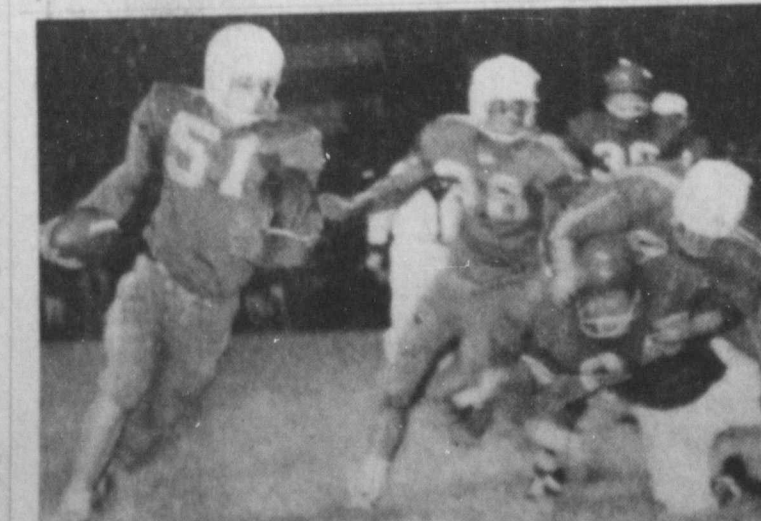

Fire Chief Fred Lambert said he had not determined the origin of the fire.

The building was valued at a figure above $5,000.

Walter Bright is a mechanic with the Oden Chevrolet Company.

Dr. Ivan D. Wood, irrigation consultant, Denver, Colo., will speak on "New Concepts in Land Preparation," during the annual Irrigation Conference at the Lubbock Hotel in Lubbock. The conference is scheduled to begin today and last through Friday, and is sponsored by the newly-formed Texas Inter-Industry Irrigation Council. Anybody interested in better irrigation practices is welcome to attend.

HUNDRED YARD DASH

Hearing the phones imperious shrills,
I drop the basket; the laundry spills,
I sprint from the clothesline through the yard.

I rip through the back porch, breathing hard,
On through the kitchen - Ooops, Don't fall . . .

Make a fast corner and scot down the hall,
Skid on a throw rug, trip on the pup,
And gasp, "Hello!" . . . And they're hung up!

-Georgia Starbuck Galbraith.

I woke up at 5 o'clock this morning and could not go back to sleep and plain as could be I opened the door and looked into the closet which was built with an angle across one corner of the room. The three corner shelves were full -- a veritable medicine display.

Would you care to take a look with me? And a smell, I should add. My, what a lot of bottles, you say and so there are many.

For the many cuts and barbed wire scratches we see the iodine, the monkey blood and the turpentine handy, or you could use coal oil, or sugar with the turpentine. A roll of woolen rags is in that corner. I use it to put in an old bucket to make a smoke for feet which had stepped on nails. (The warmth probably was the only good thing about this remedy.)

On the nails high up are the "Skull and Crossbone" medicines the little bottle of strychnine to poison badgers and skunks -- the laudanum for toothache and carbolic acid for disinfectant quinine that my husband knew so well how to dose out on the point of his knife -- castor oil for about anything a body had -- Syrup of Figs (my sister, Lola, always used Baby Percy) -- that box is senna that made tea which would work me thoroughly (maybe not quite so bad as colamel) and there was no danger of being salivated.

Oil of cloves, hot as fire when spilled on the lips as we tried to get around an aching tooth, chocolate quinine which gooey sticky stuff the children liked.

Here are some yellow sheets of glue that have to be melted before being used, a nasty job and a smelly one too . . . here is a concoction of tar and honey for a cough (how awful -- Watkins liniment for both man and beast -- and a bottle of Wine of Cardui -- for Females only.

In this closet my husband kept his long sharp razors, the leather strap to "whit" them on, (or to make a child mind) and his mug and brush to make lather.

My cosmetic supply was here too, a little box of talcum, another of "Whitening" to take the shine off my face, and glycerin and rose-water to soften my hands and face.

Not all of my medicines were in this cabinet. Green peach leaves outside to chew for a sore mouth (now we use chlorophyll, which has the same value.) I boiled the peach leaves to make a rub application for nettle rash, making myself green. I brewed the thick pulp leaves of the Maderia vine to lay on aching eyes and bruises. We went to the canyon hills for a shrub called Stylingia. Both yellow roots and green needles made excellent tea, which the females of the family drank a medicine. We dug up the red root for the terrible Bloody Flux when castor oil failed to work.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Nichols visited Monday with Mrs. R. E. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Wright and daughters spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wright in Floydada to keep from driving so far each day in the mud with the school children and to work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Wright were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roley Martin of Floydada at their cafe in South Plains Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner Johnson visited Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Russell in Floydada Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Williams and Dianne visited from Wednesday to Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Verlon Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Williams and Dianne and Mr. and Mrs. Verlon Wright and children were Friday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wright in Floydada.

Jo and Joyce Bunch and the Verlon Wrights, and Mrs. Charlie Wright visited Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wright.

In my kitchen I had soda and coffee for heart-burn and bad breath, ginger to make hot tea for colds -- salt to gargle for sore throat added to water.

Men carried a potato in their pocket for "rheumatis" until it turned to rock; woolen cloths were greased then sprinkled with turpentine and coal oil to lay on chests (You did well if one did not come out with a patch of blisters). A dirty sock was tied around the neck for a sore throat. Lemons and oranges were for medical purposes only. Hot lemonade, how I hated it!

When there was a new baby, sugar was burned on the stove to purify the air and as a disinfectant. Dried peaches were given the new mother as a laxative (a pretty good dish with sugar and cream) . . .

Fourteen days a woman had to stay in bed, not even dismount to put a foot on the floor -- this was the only break Ma ever got.

We gave the babies paregoric, gave them supplement feedings of "sugar tits" . . . Yes, if you are over forty years old you sucked one of these things, no doubt! But, biscuit crumbs and sugar were mashed up, tied in a clean white rag, then one corner was put in the baby's mouth and he took hold, believe me.

For a teething baby were many remedies. One neighbor wanted us to kill a rabbit and rub hot brains on the swollen gums, another held to a necklace made from rattlesnake bones. But we did not try these remedies. Sometimes I used a thimble to rub the little tooth through the swollen gums.

My mother wrapped a razor with cloth, leaving only a little on the end, then she cut the gum but I was not brave enough to try this.

Just a word about the poultices -- one of mustard for a sore back, ones made of bread soaked in milk, ones of flax-seed; a strip of fat meat drew out poison or splinters.

We even put nails in water to rust and make an iron tooth. -- All this from waking up too early.

"Gathering Home" -- Gathering Home God's children are gathering Home."

These comforting words of a beloved old song came to me as I read of the passing of a dear friend, Mrs. Lula Slaughter. She spent her life working for the Master she loved and now she is at Home with Him.

News of Broadway
(By Mrs. T. E. Thornhill)

BROADWAY, Nov. 11 -- Sunday School and church attendance was quite improved this past Sunday though it was cloudy and cold. It wasn't raining. We had 80 in Sunday School. Hope we can keep our attendance up, but is so hard to do when the weather is bad and so much sickness in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Rainbolt and children, Doug, Marcell and Jan, accompanied by Mrs. J. B. Marley visited relatives in and near San Sabo Tuesday through Sunday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Spence of Floydada were Friday dinner guests of the T. E. Thornhills, and afternoon callers in the Ben Beckham home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Clark of Muleshoe visited in the home of her mother and wife Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Thornhill from Monday through Thursday of last week. Week end visitors were their son and wife Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thornhill of Kermit.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Berry and Billy Don of Ceadoo spent last week with the Cecil Berry children, Est. Glenn, Betty, and Marshall, while Mr. and Mrs. Berry and Francis were gone. Mrs. Maude Berry of Muleshoe came home with the Berries for a visit.

Tommy Thornhill was among those ill part of last week.

Saw a very familiar sight Sunday morning while on our way to church. Dewey Whalen had his pickup bogged down in the field also had his tractor stuck.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Thornhill and Tommy and Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Thornhill enjoyed games of forty-two on Friday night of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Beckham and Mrs. Colene Thompson and children. It is kind of bad that some folks don't know how to play. Of course we must not call any names.

We were happy to have Donnie Seigler home and at church Sunday. He gave a very interesting devotional before Sunday School.

Marshall Berry visited Tommy Thornhill Sunday.

Mrs. J. C. McCracken and Clara Dean were visitors in the M. R. Oivetta home.

Didn't keep account of the rain after we received a little more than two inches last week, but it rained

4-H Girls Rate High in State

Two Texas girls won expensive paid trips to the 26th annual 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Dec. 1-5. They are Janie Holt, 15, of Cooke county, and Glenda Hensley, 17, of Harris county.

Janie Holt Glenda Hensley Active 4-H'er for seven years, Janie's projects netted her a total of 45 ribbons—half of them blue—from local shows, county, state fairs. Gardening is her chief interest on her parents' 100-acre truck farm. In 1954-5 she won county recognition for her gardening. Her garden demonstrations were profitable. "Out of my vegetable and berry patch . . . I've earned $300," she said.

All-round activities officer and committee work gave her "profit" which she labels "learning how to get along, and assuming responsibility."

Generating honors has been part of Glenda's success in being named winner in the 4-H Electric program. Donor of her trip to Club Congress is the Westinghouse Educational Foundation, which has provided the award for 22 years.

Glenda's face brightens at the very thought of the many things she learned and the awards she has won in her 4-H Club work.

Dress Revue and queen honors are among the highlights in Glenda's busy life. She has a long array of ribbons won from her 4-H demonstrations and exhibits. With an ambition to study home economics she has a good start in her future career.

Both 4-H programs are directed by the Cooperative Extension Service.

A FREE PRESS . . . and CENSORSHIP

America is at peace. While we have men in uniform stationed over the world, we are not at war. In every way, we are working to preserve our peaceful relations with other peoples whose ideologies and aspirations differ from ours.

Figuring largely in that huge undertaking is America's Free Press. Even during the peaceful years, it has become necessary that certain information regarding discoveries and inventions be protected. Security has become big business.

"Keep this out of the newspaper," are fighting words to any newspaper editor who is a conscientious craftsman. Yet editors of all newspapers, large and small, realize the responsibilities facing them, to help preserve the securities that are so important to all of us.

Government, the military, and the scientific fields, receive full cooperation from the men and women who, by training, are accustomed to dig out and know the news . . . and who, by instinct, strive to keep the people fully informed.

Americans have a right to expect that full freedom of the press be preserved, within the bounds drawn by these securities.

For a completely free press is the only safe foundation on which government of the people can build all other freedoms.

Up In The Air About Size?

It is not a measure in the middle. One answer to the stroller set. Big men are not always healthy. Even in early life, a true measure.

Is a child or man by the shadow for his height? Not everyone is a Goliath. Height is a David, who packed a slingshot. What such man or child special punch, be it to create, athletic or otherwise, is his own brand of strength.

the freshman in college may be taller than his father was, this taller boy matures earlier, stops growing earlier. The average height of college graduates remains about the same. Although what one eats affects his body build, final measure depends on one's choice of ancestors.

Overfeeding and its hazards, such as overweight — difficult to correct in adult years — has been linked to a shorter life span. So when your pint-sized Jamie doesn't want as much food as stocky brother, mother need not push the panic button and start stuffing. Instead, she should make sure that the foods he eats are those that are best for him. Those have been outlined by U.S. Department of Agriculture nutritionists whose diet plan includes all food essentials with no undue emphasis on any one: Meat or an alternate, fruits and vegetables, milk, enriched or whole grain cereals and bread.

NEWS AND COMMENT

The avowed aim of the Soviets is to spend United States into bankruptcy. Dismayed and frustrated Washington is setting the pattern to do as the Soviets know they will do—initiate another crash program, as though mere money spending will get the job done. There is plenty of money already available. People who have any influence with any body in the administration should urge against the kind of thing Washington is getting ready to do.

Bates McClung, the one-time Whirlwind great, is one Floydada citizen who is ready for a really substantial paving program on streets, and alleys, of Floydada. He is delivering milk to all parts of the city. He is unless the quagmire at your place has stopped him on your street.

Problems more immediate than Sputnik confront Floyd County people. If Sputnik spells disaster the event has to await some other power's decision. Meanwhile one must eat, according to nature. Which makes the necessity of saving a cotton and feed crop so imperative somehow. For the immediate time the weather man packs much more wallop than a streak of bright silver in the sky. In the old days a wet mild fall didn't mean anything more than a guarantee of a good early start for grass next spring. Nowadays the pressure is on to save our effort and treasure still out in the field. Hard to keep an even calm under the circumstance? Then turn to some of those elders who have met and worked out "impossible" situations before. They'll tell you to keep smiling.

Anxious For Leadership. Women of Floyd County, who have waited months for a new home demonstration agent to be named can take whatever satisfaction there may be in the fact that the neighbors are in the same pickle. In this county the program has been going along so that it carries itself. The women themselves are affording the leadership. But not so in some of the others. In Motley there has been a question of whether a tax-supported Extension Service agent is "worth the money." In this county it is not a question of what we'd like to have, it is on the other hand, a question of where shall we get it. The Extension Service has scraped the bottom of the barrel. They do not have available a qualified person who is willing to undertake a big Floyd County assignment. Presently the qualified persons are going to other fields as they complete college training.

Wild Cats. A new wildcat in Motley, east of Matador, another in Hale northwest of Petersburg, and a third in the east or northeast of Spur, give indication that the instruments of science say the formations are right for oil. It's somewhere hereabout. Where is that somewhere? Some of it at Roaring Springs for sure. Where will be the next strike?

Cotton Crop Estimate. So far as one learns from history of farming on the plains no crops have ever been lost entirely to the elements. The Texas Employment Commission's report says that the pre-frost estimate of 72,000 bales of cotton for Floyd County should now be reduced to 61,380 bales. That is one-sixth of the crop, or what was expected to be the crop. Gins have turned out about 6,000 bales, which means nine-tenths of the cotton is still in the fields.

Complacent, even casual, interest in local problems bother us. People who should be aggressively interested seem to shrug off matters as paving and future water supply, the potentials of vegetable processing plants and the transformation from maize to something more profitable. Likewise the need for some type of industry to help agriculture to carry the load. At the moment everything stands still, waiting for the weather to let the farmer go to work so he can make us all some money.

If you think grass and brush fires happen only in the wide open spaces... listen to this! Last year, fire chiefs in cities and towns all over the United States reported more than 283,000 grass and brush fires... nearly 35,000 more than the year before. Besides destroying valuable elements in the soil, grass and brush fires can hurt you in two ways. First, they can set fire to your house. Second, they can keep your fire department so busy it couldn't reach you quickly if your house caught fire. So if there is tall grass or underbrush near your house, cut it down. Never throw a lighted match or cigarette stub from a car window. Hook up your garden hose if you burn leaves or trash. Remember, like nearly all fires, grass and brush fires are preventable. It's up to you!

WHAT IS MY TOWN?

Good answer to this question, written anonymously in a retailing magazine, says:

"My town is the place where my home is found, where my business is situated, and where my vote is cast. It is where my children are educated, where my neighbors dwell and where my life is chiefly lived. It is the home spot for me.

"My town has the right to my civic loyalty. It supports me and I should support it.

"My town wants my citizenship, not my partisanship; my friendliness, not my dissension; my sympathy, not my criticism; my intelligence, not my indifference.

"My town supplies me with protection, trade, friends, education, schools, churches and the right to free moral citizenship. It has some things that are better than others; the best things I should seek to make better; the worst things I should help to suppress.

"Taken all-in-all, it is my town, and it is entitled to the best there is in me."

continuing its drive to establish whether the Insurance Commission dilly-dallied with reports of irregularities in a Dallas firm.

Former Insurance Department Examiner Wayne Tinkler told the committee that he began an examination of Preferred Life last March. He ran into difficulties, and asked for help from the department's legal counsel. He didn't get it, said Tinkler, and finally turned in a report in June.

His audit indicated that Preferred's president owed the company some $194,000 due to stock manipulations, Tinkler reported. "But no action was taken in the Department until September, when a brief conference was held."

BOND PROGRAM LAUNCHED—At least one phase of Texas water conservation program now has the official go-ahead.

By approving a constitutional amendment, voters cleared the way for issuance of $200,000,000 in bonds to finance local water projects.

Though only about one-tenth of the electorate (185,000) turned out, all three proposed amendments received approximately 3-to-1 majorities.

Other two will provide increased retirement benefits for state employees and authorize higher old age pensions.

WHO FOOTS THE BILLS—Texans depend on severance taxes, mainly on oil and gas, for nearly one out of every three state tax dollars.

Tax Analyst, John F. Sly of Princeton said this reliance on natural resource taxes has been increasing over the years. Sly, in addressing a meeting of the Texas Research League in Austin, gave what may be a preview of the searching study of Texas' tax structure being undertaken by the League.

Some Sly statistics: State taxes increased from $123,000,000 in 1940 to $628,000,000 in 1957. Severance taxes jumped from 16 per cent to 30 per cent of the total in that period. Texas' state and local taxes are $130 per capita compared to the national average of $158.

EMBARRASSMENT OF RICHES—Combination of late spring rains and early fall rains has caught many Texas farmers in a squeeze.

There wasn't enough time in between to raise a crop and get it out of the fields. Agriculture agents in North Texas reported that farmers there stood to lose millions from ruined cotton.

Some ranchers, according to the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, have "a very unusual situation -- more grass than stock to eat it." This time last year those same ranchers were selling off stock at a sacrifice because they had no feed.

Small grain and winter legume prospects are extremely good, says USDA, though dry weather is needed for additional planting.

COTTON ACREAGE TUSSELE—For the third straight year East Texas and West Texas cotton farmers are at odds over acreage allotments.

State and county allotments are to be announced by USDA before Dec. 14 when cotton farmers will vote on whether they want a market quota program for 1958.

West Texas farmers contend that their area has been penalized. They say an undue portion of the state's cotton acreage is allotted to the older cotton-growing counties of east and central Texas. One group of West Texans went to federal court last year to try to get the allotments changed.

Opposing them is the Old Cotton Belt Association which has announced it will fight new efforts to wrest acreage from its area.

SPEED LAW QUESTIONED—Governor Daniel has been requested to ask the Legislature to rewrite the automobile speed limit law.

A recent opinion from the Court of Criminal Appeals called the law "vague and indefinite and therefore invalid." Involved was a conviction for driving 90 miles an hour.

If this law is too shaky for court tests, the Harris County district attorney told the governor in effect, a new and stronger one should be written immediately.

Engineers urge water plan—Texas Society of Professional Engineers has added its voice to those urging an extensive, long-range water program.

Importance of water to Texas' future justifies an annual expenditure of $100,000,000 in the opinion of TSPE's special water study committee.

TSPE's report recommended: (1) adoption of the governor's proposed legislation, (2) salary increases for Water Board members, (3) planning on the lowest level possible to allow proper development of an over-all program, (4) sale of water storage acquired by the state in federal reservoirs to any qualified political sub-division, as quickly as possible.

SCHOOL WORK OKAYED—Improvements have been authorized by the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools for nine schools and hospitals. Included are state schools at Abilene and Austin, State hospitals at San Antonio, Kerrville and Harlingen, the Austin State School Farm Colony and the Confederate Home for Men. Costs will total $261,000.

CHAT with PAT

Hi there,

Rain, rain, go away, come again some other day!

We are real proud of our football boys. They proved they have the spirit, skill and good sportsmanship that it takes to make an ideal team. Let's all go to Spur tomorrow night and show them that we are still behind them. Go Winds, beat Spur!

Vaughn Ginn was selected as "Citizen of the Month" by the Student Council and teachers. Congrats to a fine senior boy.

Mack Shurbet came home from college last week end and he brought several boys with him. LeJuana Womack, Sally Redd and Kay Robertson went with these boys. Of course, Sue Flenniken went with Mack.

Everyone enjoyed the 145 piece band out on the field Friday night. It was our High School Band and Junior High Band. Noise-man, I bet you could have heard us blowing over in Lubbock. The Junior High Band deserves a big hand for doing such a great job. Since they are already training you can count on Floydada having a good band in the years to come too.

We were proud to have some of F. H. S. exes home last week end. They were: D'lene Witkowski, Sonja Beth Wilson, Vanda Carter, Sherrie Darden, Stanley Burleson, Don Norman, Hick Higginbotham, Robert Stovall, Rusty Tinnin, Bill Orman, Laron Fulton, Kendis Julian, Norman Davis, Bill Smith, Don Colley, Keith Armstrong, Elvis and Melvis Lowrance.

Do you remember when the roads were not muddy, Ronnie Downing didn't have the new car, Frank Potts told a little girl there wasn't a Santa Claus; Boys threw a balloon at Leora's car and broke her car windshield; the Seniors of 1958 were in the first grade, (time sure goes by in a hurry); Judy Jackson used to cry in her early grades because she wanted her Mother all the time; Some of us had to go to school in the Legion Hall; Sally and Jane played like they were "Tarzan"; Dale and Johnny Fred took long pins to the show to make girls hold their hands; Bill Gilliland and Sue Kendrick went steady; some band kids went to Gunnison and the bus knocked out on top of Monarch Pass; Johnny Witkowski had his old Chrysler instead of the new 1957 Ford; Danny Shipley had a wreck (last Friday); Janis Smith wasn't in car wrecks, (get well soon, we miss you, Janis); Linda Hammonds tried to grow a lemon tree; Jodie rode Ginger (a horse) all the time; Marisue lived in town; Douglas Walding played Superman; Jerry Solomon liked girls; Bobby Christian threw rocks at cars; Ann Word had a crush on the neighbor boy; When Grant didn't eat six eggs every morning; Olea and Sally wrote a letter to Lonely Hearts Club. If you weren't out last week end you missed seeing the following people together: Carolyn Cates and Dale Brown, Fleeta Cartmel and Alton Ginn, Freida Smith and Keith Reeves, Marisue Burleson and Frank Potts, Darlene Johnson and Ray Walker, Grace Ann Potts and Elwyn Pierce, Shirley Gregory and Donnie Taylor, Pat Allen and Jerry Nelson and Norman Davis, Glenda Edmiston, Gaynelle Boothe and Bobby Christian, Leora King and Mike Shurbet, Sue Flenniken and Mack Shurbet.

A THANKSGIVING PRAYER
For the joy and gladness of this day, for friends and fellowship, for work begun and accomplished in the name of our Father, we give Thee thanks. May we face our tasks with a new faith and courage for these days. In Jesus name we pray - - Amen.

With so many making candles to be used as decorative touches in their homes during the coming holiday season and for other special events throughout the year, the history of this craft which dates back to a period in early historical times might be of interest at this time - -

Reference to the candle and candle stick may be found in the Bible, but candle-making did not flourish until the Middle Ages. Paraffin wax was proposed for use in the candle industry in 1830 but was not actually used for candle-making until 1850. This was a great step forward in candle-making. Paraffin candles give more light than other candles, burn without odor and leave no ash. In early history other waxes, usually beeswax, and the addition of stearic acid, were considered necessary for the candle to hold its shape.

The torch, man's first transportable means of light may have been a contributing factor in the origin of the candle. The torch as a transportable means of light antedates the most primitive form of candle or lamp. Positive records as to the exact date of the origin of the candle is not available, but some authorities say the more complicated torches evolved into candles.

Candles sticks are referred to in the Old Testament, but the true candle did not appear until the Roman period. Both the Roman and Greek candles were made of flax thread coated with wax and pitch. The old Roman candles were made up chiefly of vegetable fibers. Another type of Roman candle was made by repeatedly dipping the thread in molten beeswax or tallow.

As the popularity of candles grew among the Romans, candle-making became a specialized art and developed into an important industry. From the Romans, other countries learned to make candles. As the industry grew among roving groups of candle-makers, guilds were formed. During the 13th century, in Paris two guilds were formed, one for the making of tallow candles and one for the making of wax candles. In 1525 the citizens of Paris were ordered to hang out lighted candle lanterns in front of their houses and shops. This gave Paris the distinction of probably being the first city to attempt street lighting. The use of candles in religious services became important in religious and other ceremonies. In the majority of our American homes the candle is used today as a decorative feature. In the home, at the dinner party and for all occasions, the candle adds beauty and a touch of romance - a candle-light like moon-light, is soft and pleasing.

Candles played an important part during the 18th and 19th centuries in the development of both urban and rural America. It is quite likely that you have heard your parents or grandparents speak of candlemaking as one of the necessary home activities.

Spanning, weaving, soap-making, and candle-making, now forgotten arts, once occupied a large portion of the time and energy of our maternal ancestors. And how just think - - our electric lights are among the many things we just take for granted today. A 100-watt bulb will burn for 10 hours and only consume 1 kilowatt of electricity - - and yet this amount of electricity can cost as little as 1 1/2 cents.

Before we do too much grumbling - maybe we should count our blessings? ? ?
