The tough mesquite burns slowly in the big box stove. Grandpa awakes, fills his pipe after grinding some stuff carefully in his gnarled hands. He fills the pipe, gets a red coal from the stove quickly with his bony fingers (a miracle to the children) and starts the pipe to going with his sucking and puffing.

An odor of burning weeds fills the house and grandpa says scornfully, something about that confounded stuff.

Aunt Mirt, who is sitting on the other side of the stove in a cane bottomed chair, is piecing a Log Cabin Quilt with the strings left over from larger patterns. She looks across at grandpa and they smile, for grandpa has been trying to quit tobacco. Filthy habit, he says, and he has come up with the idea of smoking the dried flowers of the broom weeds which grew so profusely in the south of the little horse "starve-out".

A few whiffs and he seems to doze but maybe he is thinking of the time he was a soldier in the Gray in the Civil War and almost starved to death when he found some eggs and ate a round dozen of them boiled, making him so sick he had to lie down and let the marching army go on and thus the Yankees found him and put him on further starvation prison fare.

When any of us children complained about food he would shake his gray head and tell us that "one good eater was worth two good cooks and that he could sit on the side of a dead horse and eat his vittles any time." So there.

Or maybe he was marching to old Fort Davis and on out into New Mexico to Old Fort Stanton, or seeing the cave of the bats, not knowing then that this was the entrance to a wonderful cavern of grandeur and beauty.

Grandma arose, pushed her steel frame spectacles to the top of her gray and black hair—it never did get so snowy white as Aunt Betty Long's. She twisted up her little button knot of hair, tied on a big checked apron and told Aunt Mirt she would see about dinner.

She turned the antelope roast, stuck a fork in the baking kershaws to see if they were tender. She peeked in the crock jar and raising sour dough "east" to see how it was coming along. Tiny bubbles were forming, then bursting, the yeast climbing higher and higher up the jar and getting feathery light.

Aunt Mirt put her box of work on the marble top bureau by the clean coal oil lamp. The old clock slowly struck the hour of eleven, sun time, the only time the pioneers knew about or needed. She paused at the pie crust table and ran her fingers in the indented words, Holy Bible, and took a look at the book of Josephus which kept it company. When pa and ma married, she thought, they brought this. She knew every name by heart. George Donald Jones married to Francis Isabel Franklin... children... Margaret Alexandria... Sarah Elizabeth... Franklin Erasmus... George Donald, Jr... Stephen Thomas... Mary Mirtle... Thomas Benton... Eli Jackson... Felix Edward... Nettie... Omega.

She tied on her big ginghams apron, poured some water in the black teakettle whose lid was jumping up and down with the steam. She sifted plenty of flour in the big wooden bowl, hollowed it out and poured in a generous quantity of the sour dough, added a hunk of lard, a pinch of salt and a dab of "sody". Soon the mass was a soft dough. She pinched off small pieces, rounded them in her hands, ducked them in the melted grease in the big black pan, turned them over, making and adding others the very same size and shape to nestle against the others till the pan was full. The boys would be coming back in time for dinner and Aunt Mirt always sighed and said, "Well, this world and one other. You can say anything about ma you want to if you never say anything bad about her boys or her cows."

The oil cloth table was laid with the plates, the case knives and forks, the spoon holder and the vinegar cruet put on.

The barking of the dogs, the rattling of chain harness and cracking of wagon wheels on the snow and the boys were soon standing at the door, Aunt Mirt sweeping the snow from their boots.

The red beans, bubbling on the back cap of the stove since early morning were done, so were the dried peaches.

Grandpa arose, knocked out the ashes from his pipe on his gnarled hand, went outside with a pan if icy cold water, washed his face, his hands and poured some on his head.

Maybe he learned this in army life, I don't know.

The benches on the side were soon occupied by the hungry boys, the smaller children were at school, as I have said, grandpa sat at the head, crossing his bony knees. Grandpa sat at the end, covering her head with a corner of her apron as pa said grace. He always began loud, in his deep voice getting lower and lower till he ended in a whisper. The big clock with its glass door painted with a bright bouquet of flowers struck the hour of twelve and the Jones Family finished their dinner.

After the hot biscuits, spread with rich gravy, or wild plum jelly, was gone, the boys went back to the fire, grandpa to his cushioned chair, the well fed cat to his place on the bedded rug, and grandpa and Aunt Mirt cleaned up the dishes.

My prayers and best wishes go to Mrs. T. L. Brown of Floydada who has a broken hip. May you soon be able to stir about again in my prayer.

Tests Roadability Of Onion Planter

A "seven place" onion setting machine, completed this week, was being tried out for roadability Tuesday by L. A. Marshall, the maker.

Marshall says that planting onions "by machinery" is sure to supersede stoop planting, having two considerable advantages:

(1) The onion setter rides as he works and plants as the machine makes a trench for the little sets the operator picks up from a convenient tray carrying the plants.

(2) Using machinery seven men will do the work of 25 or 30 stooping planters.

The machine can be adapted as to speed, width of row, etc., for other types of planting in rows, as for instance tomatoes.

The seven-man machine, to be pulled down the road, is turned tandem-wise so that it takes about the usual width of any other vehicle on the highway.

VIEWS AND COMMENT

The New Cotton. Floyd County farmers ought to take time out to see the new cottons they are helping to promote as the fabrics and garments are unwrapped and put on display in Floydada stores. It would do their hearts good to see the results of their promotion of what they raise. The spinners have come up with the prettiest goods you ever saw. Don't think they're not giving the synthetics a run for the money! Cotton is the world's most wonderful fabric. All it needs is the backing of the people who produce it. Go and see for yourself, cotton raiser.

Great February Weather. The good Lord dished us out a practically ideal February. Floyd County people got what they needed, but not exactly what they wanted. Some snow, some light rain, fog and mist. One four-day stretch of it. Enough cold to hold back budding trees and keep wheat from growing upward while it made a root system. All just exactly right, but who did not get restive? The southwesterner likes to see the sunshine even while he complains that it doesn't rain.

Everybody Help Some. This is not pointed at anyone in particular and certainly not at that fellow who is down and can't get up temporarily—and we are speaking in a financial way. However, it is to remind those who can pay a little on what they owe, to do so. A few thousand dollars if it took the right track, could settle a hundred thousand dollars worth of debts and loosen up a credit log jam. Even just a little would help—and most everybody can do a little.

Paraphrasing the old-time country saying, we wonder "What'll we do for taxes now?" And everybody is, from the governor down. It is the subject of most every conversation that lasts many minutes. The heavy imports of oil from Canada, Venezuela and the Middle East have cut the oil production allowable in the state lower than at any time in history and it may get worse before it gets better, the State Railroad Commission hints. In addition to squeezing the daylight out of the independent oil operator, stopping the search for oil and further delaying pipeline connections for many wells, the reduction takes nearly $2 million a month out of the state tax bill. Makes us realize how heavily we have leaned on the oil industry for carrying on the government at the state level. What'll we do for money to carry on with? Some say one thing, some another, but most talked of are a sales tax and an income tax, one or the other.

MUSICAL HOBBY

Old, Re-Built Player Pianos Are Intriguing

Do you need some leg exercise? And would you like to hear yourself play beautiful music?

If so, you are invited to see and play an old piano-roll type music box that has become a hobby of several men in Floydada.

Dick Guest, manager at Davis Gin, has one in his home that he delights in playing. Its more or less a hobby for Dick. He rebuilds the pianos, revarnishes them and likes doing it. Right now he is in the process of rebuilding one for Rust Wheeler of Slaton, former resident of Floydada.

A beauty to see, says Dick, is the one belonging to Clayton Bond at South Plains. It has quite a history to it. Bond purchased the piano from a Negro church at Plainview. It previously had been white-washed with housepaint and was a little weather beaten. But now stands out in a walnut finish and has a tone that's not easily forgotten.

Dick purchased his piano player from the son of the late Judge Clyde Wright of Silverton.

The oldest in town is believed to be the one from the old movie house belonging to Jack Deakins now at his home.

Jimmy Tye has a complete original that he purchased from Jenkins Music Store and it is said to have the best tone for the old music.

So for something to do why not dig up an old type piano and have your own music?

Postage Going Up. Most all kinds of charges for postal service, not already increased considerably in the past year, are due to go up soon. The congress is convinced "something has to be done," and will report out some kind of a bill soon. "In town" and "out of town" rates may not be the same in the new law. At the same time the new bill is passed it appears likely a general increase in wages for postal employees will become effective.

Most Important Policy. An automobile owner needs all the kinds of insurance he can afford, on his car and himself. Judgment should be careful, since the hazards are high and increasing. In our opinion bodily injury and property liability are the most important insurance. One's intentions are always good. One is never going to forget for a minute the precious cargo he carries and the precious cargoes which fly by him at 60 miles an hour. All of this goes for naught in one careless second, one unexpected mechanical failure. Thus one minute could bring liability that could not possibly be met other than through insurance carried for the very purpose of saving others from drying follies and accidents and at the same time keep from bringing financial ruin to the responsible party.

Searching For Signs. Whether or not the recession in business grows deeper, one good sign that it might not do so, is that people in all walks of life, not just the moguls of business, are bracing for the possibilities. The productive ability of the people of the country is tremendous, also their ability to save and to roll with the punch of adversity. Having been alerted they are searching for signs on the business horizon and preparing themselves. Which, in itself, is a healthy "sign".

Be not simply good... be good for something.

SOCIETY

It's consoling to know that if you wander away, or develop amnesia, your loved ones can't truthfully describe you.

A woman who has worked with a missing persons bureau says they invariably describe you the way they want you to look. Or maybe they've spent years glossing over a glaring physical fault -- such as crossed eyes, a slight limp, stooped shoulders -- so they neglect to mention this important clue.

We talked about this with a young wife who has been away from home for over a week. She says you remember the absent person by the traits that make you love him, rather than the way he looks. His smile, the understanding glance, a small mannerism -- something that is very hard to see, but which represents the warmth of his personality -- is the thing you try to describe. While this must be a great inconvenience for those who seek missing persons, it may also be one of the reasons why many loved ones don't leave home.

If Mrs. X could report that her vanished husband "walks like a chimpanzee, has a gray lock hanging over his right eye most of the time, and rarely smiles," she wouldn't find life with this honest, dependable fellow nearly as pleasant as she does. Or if Mr. Z could describe his stately, well-groomed wife as "a sort of clothes horse, with a deadpan expression, who walks as if she had swallowed a broomstick," we might wonder why in the world he wanted to find her anyhow.

So let's be thankful for "psychology and pride" that help families stick together. After all, most everyone who gets reported to a missing persons bureau wanted to get lost, so what if the clues furnished by relatives and friends aren't too helpful?

H. C. Leibfried, who has been seriously ill the past week in the home of his son, Lorin, was reported to be feeling better the last few days. His son, J. L. of Lorenzo spent some time with him Monday night and another son's wife, Mrs. Henry Lee Leibfried of Garland, is here in the home to help care for the ill man.

Dried Prunes Top March Foods List

COLLEGE STATION — Dried prunes are given top billing on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's March plentiful foods list for this area.

A larger than average crop, plus a liberal carryover from last year, assure an abundance of this fruit. Prunes are a perfect food for March "Good Breakfast Month," coupled with cereals or served alone. Other fruits on the list are apples and canned pears.

Eggs return to USDA's plentiful foods list for the first time since last July, as production is expected to reach a seasonal high in March, as she does. Or if Mr. Z could describe his stately, well-groomed wife as "a sort of clothes horse, with a deadpan expression, who walks as if she had swallowed a broomstick," we might wonder why in the world he wanted to find her anyhow.

So let's be thankful for "psychology and pride" that help families stick together. After all, most everyone who gets reported to a missing persons bureau wanted to get lost, so what if the clues furnished by relatives and friends aren't too helpful?

Gathering Told of Noxious Control Plans by Chairman

Smith of Sterley, is between $17,000 and $18,000 per year. The board has no money to operate on now but is giving considerable time to study and observation. Its members were due to make a trip to the Amarillo experiment station Monday of this week. Considerable experiments have been carried on there on weed control, Smith reported.

The funds the district will have at hand will be for administrative purposes. The board itself will be a policy-making body. The legislative act under which the board operates requires that they get a manager. Smith's report was the last of several interesting discussions during the day. Attendance at the annual soil fertility was about 150 on the average through the day and 250 or more partook of the free barbecue provided by Lockney Chamber of Commerce.

W. L. Broadhurst, hydrologist of the High Plains Underground Water District talked principally of the water supply and the relation of the declining water table to well production. One of his remarks was that if a water table declines a half in a well the production declines to a fourth.

Under the heading "what to expect in agricultural financing," Vic N. Johnson, the Federal Land Bank man disappointed the hearers by discussing the problems principally of the surpluses instead.

Soil condition, latest methods in irrigation, particularly underground pipe as a water conservation measure, the question of the how and when of fertilizers, also soybeans and Castor bean production were discussed by the specialists.

Of soybeans Harvey Walker said that a pre-planting irrigation, and three to four waterings during the growing season have produced best results. He said soybeans under these conditions, produced slighter greater income than maize.

Interesting reports were made by Eddie Fortenberry on grass seed production and by Jerry Cooper on cotton fibre production. Rotation paid where fertilizing did not in 1957, Cooper said.

The list of specialists in addition to those named included Jack Barton, soil and water conservation specialist, D. W. Sherrill, associate agent, irrigation, and Dr. T. C. Longnecker, head of the high plains station at Halfway.

General chairman Cecil Lewis, county agent, said the meeting was quite interesting and informative. Earl Edwards Jr. was moderator of the morning session and R. C. Mitchell in the afternoon.

Jess Cox, mayor of Lockney, made the formal welcome and Macyl K. Orman, the Burlington Line's agricultural agent, made a brief talk outlining the continuing effort of his company to better agricultural conditions in the areas it serves.

Preceding the day-long program the members of Floyd County Soil Conservation District board of supervisors, newsmen and several Lockney business men were guests of Mr. Orman on the Burlington special car at a 7:30 breakfast. A considerable number also boarded the travel car for a supper Friday evening as guests of the Burlington line.

Gary Oden Studies Air Craft Control

TYNDALL AIR FORCE BASE, FLA.—Lt. Gary C. Oden is attending the eight-week radar course of the USAF Aircraft Control School at Tyndall Air Force Base, near Panama City, Florida.

The 23 year old Air Force Officer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conner Oden of Floydada, and husband of Carol M. Elhaney Oden of Phoenix, Ariz.

Lt. Oden is being taught to direct, through the use of ground radar and radio, our jet fighter planes within firing range of enemy aircraft. His primary duty during peace time is to control rocket-fog jecs in practice intercepts—simulating conditions of an actual air attack.

He is also learning to use his radar equipment to assist aircraft that become lost and to navigate aircraft around storms.

Upon being graduated from the school April 10, he will be assigned to an Air Defense unit somewhere in the United States or overseas to help fortify the radar network guarding this country and the free world.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Hammonds attended funeral service for an uncle, Roy Watts, in Vernon Wednesday of last week.

YOUR COUNTY AGENT

(By Cecil Lewis, County Agent)

Plans are well underway for the Lockney Community Fat Stock Show to be held Saturday March 1 at the Oil Mill Building. All animals have to be in by 9:00 O'clock Saturday morning.

This is a good opportunity to see some of the things the boys and girls have been doing in 4-H and FFA work. Plan on attending and encouraging them in their activities.

With these spring like days every one begins to think of planting their gardens. Here are a few points to make your garden more successful.

Always plan your garden first, deciding where and when you are going to plant the different vegetables.

Usually, a small garden taken care of will produce more than a large one. Weeds can be controlled easier and you can take more pains in the producing plants.

Make a succession of plantings to assure a continuous supply of fresh vegetables. Radishes, mustard, green, bush beans, squash, and sweet corn may be planted at least 2 or 3 times during the season.

For a well balanced garden between leafy, root, and fruit vegetables you should have, at least 10 to 12 vegetables in your garden. Another point is to try a new vegetable each year. You may find another favorite vegetable.

AUSTIN, Tex.—"How's business?" Whenever two men stop to talk this question is almost sure to pop up. With state and nationwide interest focused on the slackening of the economy, there's much searching for signs. It means trying to decipher the economic analysts' jargon about "downward plateaus" and "rolling adjustments." It also means watching whether the neighbors are buying new clothes or patching the old ones.

On the state level, the spotlight is on the Texas Employment Commission. Its weekly tabulations on the number of people making unemployment claims was for years regarded as the most routine of routine reports.

Today TEC's reports are looked to almost breathlessly for the first sign of betterment. The most recent brought no encouragement. It showed that 75,746 persons covered by unemployment benefits were out of work. It was an increase of 3,886 over the previous tabulation and 32,816 more than at the same time a year ago.

February reports are of particular interest. Even in good years, mid-winter weather pushes employment down by keeping such job-making activities as farming, construction and retail trade at least partially "soaked in." February's final week usually is the beginning of the recovery period.

This year, as at no time in the past decade, TEC's end-of-winter reports are being looked to as a weather vane.

New Business Begun—Along with the gloomy TEC has good news -- 62 new businesses opened in Texas last month. They ranged from a cafe in Austin to a garment factory in Denton. Dallas got the lion's share -- 15 new firms.

IAB Called "Model T"—Texas had better streamline its industrial accident system before Washington steps in, warns H. C. Pittman.

"It's a 'Model-T' operation in a jet age," says Pittman, who is chairman of the Industrial Accident Board. Result is that Texas employers pay more and Texas employees get less than in almost any other state.

"I'm ashamed of it," said the board's chairman. He blamed the creaky operation on out-of-date laws (system was set up in 1923) and public indifference.

IAB is the state agency that processes, supervises and keeps records on payment of claims arising from industrial accidents. Its works has increased substantially in recent years.

Pittman spoke at the annual safety clinic of the Texas Highway-Heavy Branch, Associated General Contractors. Clinic is climax of year-long effort to reduce accidents in construction.

Gov. Price Daniel presented awards to companies with the best safety records for the past year.

Mass Sign-Up Begins—Most state departments now have registration forms for those who come in asking for something for someone else.

Forms were put out as the new "representation before state agencies" law, passed in the first special session last fall, went into effect.

Law was designed to keep a check on those paid to seek help or favor from state officials.

There are numerous exceptions -- telephone calls, visits for a public hearing, visits for information only and contacts at some place other than the state office.

But businessmen are being advised, "when in doubt, register." Penalties are up to six months in jail, $500 fine.

Naturopaths' Ills Mount—Texas Supreme Court pushed naturopathy outside the realm of legal practice and slammed shut the door.

High court upheld an injunction which barred a naturopath in Midland from doing business. Naturopaths had contested the prohibition of grounds it deprived them of constitutional rights by allowing medical doctors, dentists, chiropractors, etc., to practice, but not naturopaths.

Court's ruling pointed out that law permits these other groups to practice only after meeting certain qualifications and obtaining licenses. Naturopaths' licensing law was declared invalid some time ago, and no new one has been passed.

Effect of the ruling is to require a naturopath to qualify as a full-fledged medical doctor.

Goods at Aggrieland—One of the touchier issues confronting the Commission on Higher Education is whether to recommend that Texas A&M admit women students.

It is known to be under considerable pressure from both directions. Created by the Legislature in 1955, the Commission has responsibility to study and make recommendations for development and improvement of the programs in all Texas state-supported colleges and universities. To date, most time has been spent in study, but recommendation phase is coming up.

Dr. Ralph T. Green, executive director, is to report to the 15-member Commission on the A&M issue at a meeting April 14. Commission will then decide what course to suggest to the college officials.

However, the Commission cannot force the college to accept its decision. Chances are the question will be argued in the courts and the Legislature for some time to come.

A suit already has been filed in Brazos County in behalf of would-be women Aggies.

Climb in Crime—Newly-organized Law Enforcement Commission is beginning its work with a depressing array of statistics outlining its task.

John H. Crooker Sr., Houston lawyer, is chairman of the nine-member panel. Group is to study ways to combat crime and report ten months hence to the 56th Legislature.

Defining the problem are these facts that were dumped in the Commission's lap:

1. Major crimes in Texas are increasing faster than the national average -- 9.2 per cent here as compared to 7.2 per cent nationally.

2. Of some 154,000 major crimes committed in Texas last year, an estimated 60 per cent were juvenile.

Governor Daniel has asked the Commission to give top priority to study of juvenile crime.

3. State correctional schools for youths are not equipped to handle the swelling tide of offenders, according to the Texas Youth Council. Gatesville school, with capacity of 650, has population of 898.

WHAT'S IN IT FOR ME?

Farmers Union Fights For Its Members On All Legislative Fronts

Farmers Union Stands for: Better Schools — Adequate Farm Credit — Sound soil conservation — Adequate Supply of Low Cost Electrical Power — Better Marketing of Farm Products at Home and Abroad — For Fair Price of all Food & Fiber Grown by Our Nation's Farmers.

Farmers Union is an organization of family farmers which seek to improve the income and welfare of the family farmer consistent with the well being of the greatest number of American Citizens.

Since 1952 Farmers have lost 17 Billion in Farm income -- Small Business men have lost because of the loss of Farmers Purchasing power.

Increase the income of every farmer in Floyd County who happens? Every cent of this increase will find its way to some retail store, debts will be paid, new cars and refrigerators will be purchased. In some instances, the money will circulate not once but several times within the County before it finds its way to the wholesale market and ultimately to the factory. There will be men put to work again — money put in circulation to buy beef steaks and cotton clothing that are products of Floyd County. Sure some of the dollars will find their way into the coffers of big business, causing industrial prosperity, perhaps expansion and employment of more workers.

Give The same amount of money increase to the 10 wealthiest men in Floyd County what happens? — Nothing.

Farmers Union does not believe in the trickle down theory of prosperity. That is not a good principle of economics.

Farmers Union believes that family farmers deserve more than a few crumbs from the table. This can be done without extra cost to the consumer through a sound program to bring farmers closer to parity with other groups in the national economy.

Farmers Union exists so that American Farm Families can do this and do it Well.

Bushland, Tex., Man Reports — "Good Years, and Bad, My Maize Averages 4,000-lb.-per-acre Grain."

Bill D. Wood, Bushland, Tex., says: "Some years any farmer can get good yields on certain crops--well, I use Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia to maintain high yield levels. I've used Phillips ammonia for six years on irrigated maize, and come good and bad years I've averaged out better than 4,000 pounds of grain per acre.

"Why, on wheat alone, I paid for seed and fertilizer and made $15 net an acre grazing it, when I used Phillips 66 ammonia. Then after that, I cut a 40 bushel wheat crop. I'm sold on Phillips 66 ammonia for my cash crops."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that, by using the 82% nitrogen in Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia, they get more cotton that grades out higher at the gin . . . yields of grain sorghum grain and ensilage are increased . . . more marketable vegetables are harvested . . . and profits on wheat are increased through better forage and higher grain yields.

Don't Let Asthma Get You In It's Grip

The man, woman or child of impaired health, should never be discouraged to the point where the condition is considered hopeless.

There is a way— The CHIROPRACTIC WAY.

Chiropractic has succeeded after everything else has failed. It holds a remarkable record for getting sick people well.

Asthma is the result of impeded supply of nerve energy to the related parts of the breathing apparatus. The point in your body where this nerve energy can be obstructed is in the spine from a spinal bone misalignment. Chiropractic corrects the misalignment. Your own body corrects the rest.

LAUNDRY TIPS—
SAVE AND FOLLOW washing instructions that come with the clothes you buy. Stash instructions away in a handy spot near point of laundry. Putting them in an envelope will corral them. Automatic wash-and-wear clothing designed to go through the complete washer and dryer cycles is tops in convenience. But, BE SURE you have read your labels carefully giving the washing instructions and KNOW FOR SURE they are recommended to be treated as wash-and-wear garments.

IT'S NO SECRET—that one of the best ways to keep white nylons white is to wash them only with white things. Save the colored clothes for the next batch. White nylon has a knack of attracting color from even the palest of baby blues and pinks, causing the white to turn gray. Avoid overloading of the machine to allow free motion during the washing cycle.

IMPORTANT! Use right water temperature to get clothes clean and white. Use water the temperature that is recommended for the different types of fabrics.

SOAP AND SYNTHETIC DETERGENTS may be bad actors when mixed-use just one. When thrown together neither one does its best performance. When adding the soap or detergent to your washer forget the saying "if a little bit is good, a whole lot is better." Check the instructions for the amount recommended for doing the best job in your particular type washer.

Hard water is the cause of many washing problems. If you have hard water condition it to make it soft, either by using a home softener or packaged water conditioner.

IT'S A GOOD IDEA to sort clothes into wash loads—first by degree of soiling, second by color, and third by weight and type of fabric. Also, to pretreat heavily soiled areas, such as collars and cuffs, before putting them into the washer. Use a soft brush or sponge to rub in the soap or detergent (use the same for pretreating as you are using in the machine for washing). Also, remove stains and spots before putting them into the washer.

AVOID OVERDRYING CLOTHES IN THE DRYER—remove them when slightly damp to touch. Fabrics have natural moisture content which tends to keep them beautiful. If overdried, they become wrinkled and coarse, and may be difficult to iron. Be sure to follow your dryer instructions for drying time and the temperature for different clothes. Dry starched clothes separately. Don't mix with the unstarched. Use about one-third heavier solution of starch for the dryer.

So, by observing some do's and don'ts you can put an end to your laundry troubles and doing the laundry will be an easy job.
