The LaGrange True Issue furnishes the following item of Railroad news: "We should have noticed, last week, the fact that the subscription to defray the expense of the Harburg Railroad from a point opposite Columbus to this place has been made up. We learn, through a letter from the Secretary of the Directory, to a friend here, that the Surveying Company are organizing, and will commence by the 1st of April, and will be completed before the 1st of May. This is truly gratifying to the people of this country, and will, we hope, put to rest the question, as to what direction the road will take from Columbus."

AN OLD CITIZEN MURDERED BY INDIANS, NEAR KERRVILLE. A letter published in the San Antonio Texan, gives the account of another melancholy murder of an old Texian citizen, committed by four Indians, on the 11th inst., on the river just above Kerrville. Mr. Nichols, once a resident of San Antonio, on Monday afternoon, with two other gentlemen, started out on an expedition for hunting turkeys. When they had proceeded up the river some two miles, an approaching thunder storm induced Nichols to turn back, his comrades continuing the excursion. The latter had not gone far before the voice of Nichols as though in distress and the report of a gun arrested their steps. Hastening to the place from whence proceeded the noise, they discovered the unfortunate huntsman a lifeless corpse, cut and mangled in the most horrible manner. The deceased had only a rifle, while the Indians were supplied both with the arms and bows and arrows. The fight was a running one, and kept up for half a mile before the savages could succeed in dispatching their victim. A number of citizens and nine mounted men from Camp Verde, were engaged in pursuit of the Indians when the last intelligence was received.

Criminality Has Cause in Frustration

O. B. Ellis, manager of the Texas Department of Corrections last week answered questions of a reporter (LG) of the Texas Observer, which gives an enlightening insight for the laymen of the problem of Crime in Texas, for the layman. The report of the interview is reprinted below.—Ed. Note)

Why do men commit crimes? Why has the Texas prison population doubled in the last decade? What can be done about it?

O. B. Ellis, a gray-haired game-legged "ex-school man" who in eleven years has carved out a national reputation for himself and transformed the Texas prison system in the process, doesn't pretend to know all the answers, but he has a few succinct ideas he doesn't mind giving currency.

"In general," he says, "people commit crimes as a result of pressures. Some men have a low frustration point. When thwarted, they are capable of anything. Some may slide into crime gently as the pressures build up. Some may react suddenly, violently. The reasons, of course, are in their own past, their home environment, their relationships with their parents."

Why the upsurge of crime in Texas? Ellis's answer is immediate. "The shift from the country to the city is the reason. It is true all over the country where the farm population is diminishing. In the city, the country boy falls victim to the complexity of life, to changing patterns unlike anything he knew in the country. He knows no one. He loses his identity. The easy pace, the simplicity of the country is gone."

In a calm, strong voice, Ellis clicked off other reasons. "We have had a cultural lag. The rapid urban movement has made it impossible for cities to build parks, playgrounds. It is not healthy to put a farm boy in such a situation. He had chores on the farm things to keep him busy and out of trouble. Today, there're no jobs for kids. They used to shovel coal, deliver groceries, deliver papers. Now everything is in vending machines. Kids have nothing to do all day and they're balls of energy. It's explosive."

Ellis paused, then said, "There is another important fact, rather delicate to mention but important—working mamas. Don't misunderstand me, there are a lot of fine women who are working and who really need to work. But there are also those working who don't have to. They do it to raise the family's standard of living to a more socially desirable level. In this day of plenty, luxuries become necessities and the necessities become luxuries. Now, take a kid with nothing to do, and no home until six or seven o'clock in the evening. No supervision, just free to run wild. And in the summer, it's all day. They've got to do something—they're kids. It's explosive."

What can be done about it? "There are definite things a prison can do, of course, though the corrective measures should start before prison. Within the means we have, we can conduct educational programs. We have some industrial shops which produce, and profitably, for the primary react suddenly, violently. The reasons, of course, are in their own past, their home environment, their relationships with their parents."

An adequate parole system is another important link in preventing the recurrence of crime, he said. Because of lack of funds, Texas has been slow in inaugurating a program, but a planned system began taking shape in September, 1937. "We put parole officers in the field in February of 1938," Ellis says. "The main thing about a parole system is a man can't leave until he gets a job, if he's going to have a chance to get by without stealing. You can't put a man out there with

A doctor, an engineer, and a politician were arguing which of their professions was the oldest. Said the doctor: "Of course, medicine is the oldest. Mankind has always had physicians, and they are even mentioned in the Bible."

Hawaiian Theme Personalizes WMS Mission Meeting

A HAWAIIAN Luau was the theme of WMS monthly Mission program Tuesday with the chapel of the Baptist Church decorated with flowers of many hues and kind. A table held pictures and pamphlets from Hawaii that Rev. and Mrs. Ed Bowles secured on their trip.

Each woman was given a kiss as a lei was placed around her neck and an orchid (iris) was pinned in her hair as she entered the chapel. Hawaiian music was played from a recorder as the group assembled for the meeting.

Mrs. Ted Bell brought the devotional for the morning on "The Aloha Spirit" and the "Missionary Challenge of the Islands". Hawaiian Baptists their leadership and work was discussed by Mrs. Dennis Dempsey.

Mrs. Ed Bowles showed slides of the Baptist work and workers in Hawaii, as seen personally. She commented on the pictures and as a closing feature, with a picture of a native Christian on the screen, she played a tape recording of the testimony given by the native at the church service that day.

After a short business session a Hawaiian luncheon was enjoyed by twenty-eight women and members of the Sunbeam Band.

The tables held a profusion of yellow flowers with a centerpiece of yellow and bronze iris. The Janelle Doyle Circle were hostesses.

Around the table reports were brought from the District WMSU meeting at the Baptist Assembly grounds last week. Those reporting were Mrs. Ralph Johnston, Mrs. Charles Craig, Mrs. Claud Weatherbee, Mrs. Joe Wilson, Mrs. Ted Bell, Mrs. Ed Bowles, and Mrs. O. F. Cummings.

A visitor, Mrs. Sim Reeves of South Plains, was present.

Wedding Vows Unite Mrs. Rutherford and Horace Carr

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Mather Carr was the scene of the wedding of their son, Horace, to Mrs. Bess Rutherford of Floydada, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Only a few relatives and friends attended.

The home was decorated with arrangements of bridal wreath and iris from the flower garden of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Ramsey.

The double ring vows were exchanged in the living room archway with Rev. DeWitt Seago, Methodist minister of Floydada, performing the ceremony. The couple's attendants were Mrs. Billy Latham, daughter of the bride and Wesley Carr, brother of the groom.

The bride was attired in a navy blue linen dress with matching accessories. Her only adornment was a pair of earrings and matching pin given her by Mrs. Bob Dyson as something new. She wore a blue garter and a penny in her shoe. For something old, she wore the wedding band which belonged to the bride groom's grandmother. She also carried a borrowed handkerchief.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding cake with punch was served. The cake was three-tiered, decorated with white roses and blue for get-me-nots, and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Latham and Sue Williams presided at the serving table. The couple will make their home in Floydada.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Mather Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Carr and son Bill, Mr. and Mrs. Chloia Williams and daughter, Sue, Leon Williams, Mrs. Billy Latham and son Jay, Sharon and Gary Fuller of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. Sim Burrows of Plainview.

After sewing, refreshments were enjoyed by Mrs. L. H. Dorrell, Pete Kendrick, Everett Perry, Carl Jarrett, K. E. Edmiston, W. B. Eakin, Starks Green, Burl Huckabee, Greer Christian, Oliver Allen, Charles Denning, Everett Collier, Ralph Cogdell and the hostess Mrs. Dempsey.

The next meeting will be on May 9, with Mrs. Dorrell.

Wednesday Meeting To End PTA Year

All interested persons are urged to be present for the program and the installation of officers for the ensuing year.

Bob Dyson is hospitalized at Lockney and is going through a series of medical tests at this time. Mrs. Collis Roland is taking care of Dyson's Modern Shoe Shoppe during his absence.

Why is it... THAT a woman cries when she's happy, a man yells at a loved one who has a near accident, and a youngster gets defiant when he feels disapproval? THAT we do a slow burn when someone embarrasses us, or seems unjust, then take it out on the next fellow we meet instead of going back and walloping the one who deserves it? THAT some folks think it's fun to follow a golf ball in the bus for half a day, to sit at a bridge table five hours in a row, or to get covered with grease working on an old car? THAT one woman can't afford a new dress, but buys dozens of useless objects to place on a collection shelf? THAT another can't afford to fix up her house, but never misses a weekend junket with friends for a club convention, shopping excursion or flower show? THAT that other fellow's faults are so much easier to diagnose than our own? THAT we're more likely to show gratitude to the casual stranger for an unexpected courtesy than to a close friend, business associate, or family member whose goodness and loyalty smooth out the wrinkles in every day? THAT women are so sensible about their children's clothes, yet risk their own lives daily on pin-point heels? THAT all people don't like the same colors, cars, resort spots, furniture, and pets? THAT the sweetest experiences are those brewed from both sunshine and shadow, love and anger, giving and taking — not just the sweetness alone? What's human nature, anyhow?

Boys Baseball Season Opens Monday Night

The 1953 boys baseball season will get underway in Floydada Monday evening with the opener starting at 6:30 and the nightcap scheduled for an 8:00 o'clock starting time. Games will be played at Sherrill Field where all Freshman and T-Shirt league games will be held this season.

The Freshman League of the Texas Teen-Age Baseball Association will play a schedule of more than 20 games for each team with a lay-off of two weeks for the close of school. On June 1, play will be resumed and at that time the Junior League will fire off with their opening also.

Play next week calls for games on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Fund Drive Starts

The baseball league will kick off a fund drive this week-end which it is hoped will furnish funds to see them through the season. Drive chairman is Doyle Moore and other members of the committee are Claude Weathersbee and Bill McNeil.

With a staff of volunteer workers they plan to call on parents of players, baseball fans in general and others interested in this fine youth program.

Goal is to raise more than $700 to see the league equipment and supplies put up in top shape and to carry on with the full schedule. Funds can be left with Gene Collins or Weldon Harris at the bank for this cause also.

Another big need is for interest and for willing workers to join the ranks of the "old faithfuls" and serve as umpires and help to keep the program moving forward.

More Than 200 Boys

More than 200 boys will participate in the summer program which will include a T-Shirt League for small boys, an eight-team Freshman League for intermediates and a four-team Junior League for older boys. The Freshman League this year will have eight teams instead of the usual four and will present the winner with a rugged schedule of play.

Team Members Named

Teams have been named in both the Freshman and Junior League but there will probably be

Rain Reports

and their neighbors had a good rain, with reports from 9-10 inches to an inch and a half. He also had reports that the rainfall was uniformly good throughout the Floyd county.

In Floydada heavy lightning burned wires of one leads of the city's distribution system and light and power for five minutes. About one-fourth of the patrons were out of lights for 20 minutes.

A falling antennae hit the lines of Southwestern Public Service on South Second Street during the height of the storm and customers were out of service about an hour on this phase.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company reported very little trouble, shooting Tuesday morning, and Lightman Electric said they had one 40-mile line out for two hours, but all have the same creed. "To get as much out of every liberty or part of their lines extending over portions of five counties.

Southwest J. R. Barnard was in the edge of the rain belt, with 4-5 inches of an inch of moisture, winds of wind and a little hail.

C. H. Andrews at Aiken, said there was a light sprinkle in that part of the county, no rain, and a sandstorm. Nearest rain was at Lockney and Mundy.

Perry Brothers Names Loy Berry Ass't Manager

Perry Brothers has Loy Berry in their company and he will start filling the position of assistant manager of the local store next week. Berry is from Stamford and is new with the company.

David Davis, also out of Stamford, was here this week helping Don West, the store's manager, until Berry could take over the job. Berry is a single man, 23, and has been employed at the Capada Drive-In for the past month.

Superintendent of the West Texas stores, Billy Jackson of Stamford, will be in Floydada next week to assist in the starting of a complete remodeling of the business. West said it would take until at least the first of June to finish, but that the store would be open for business as usual.

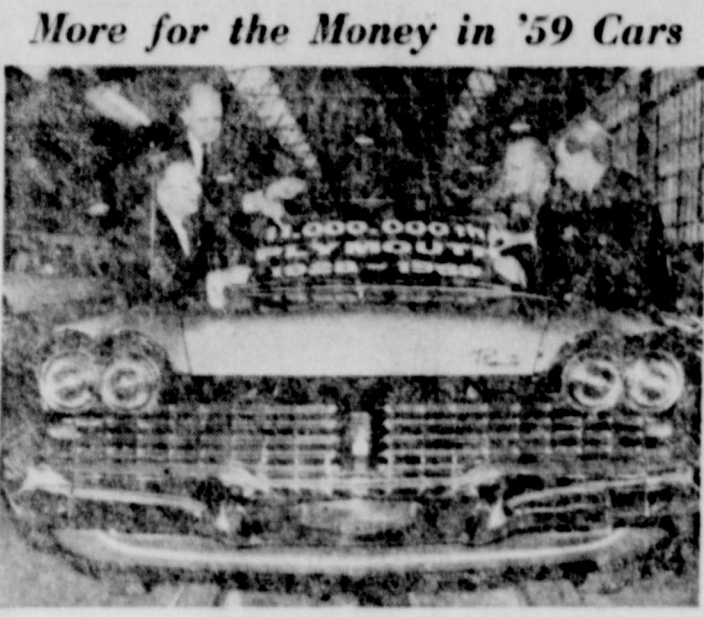

Postponed Band Meeting Monday

The Band Boosters, who were due to meet Monday night of this week for their annual election, were among those whose plans went awry when the storm clouds shortly before meeting time.

President Roy Hale has called the postponed meeting to be held next Monday night at the high school band hall, when the officers will be elected. He is hoping to have a big representation of members. Also parents, whose band children will move over to high school next year, are being asked to attend.

There were special ceremonies commemorating automotive and economic progress at the end of the assembly line when the 11 millionth Plymouth was built at Detroit. Harry E. Chesbrough, left, general manager of Plymouth division, agreed with other veteran auto men in some interesting observations comparing the 1959 car with the first Plymouth, built in 1928. Here are some of their findings: The typical wage earner today can make enough money to buy a new Plymouth by working 150 hours less than was necessary in 1928. Today's car will last twice as long and travel nearly three times as far before it is worn out. The modern car has nearly half again as much passenger space, has more than 60 items of standard equipment which were not available in 1928, and will out-perform by two to one the car of 31 years ago.

Hines and Cage To Attend FFA Area Meeting

Hal Dean Hines and James Cage will be the official delegates from Floydada to the Area I Future Farmer Convention to be held at Amarillo Saturday, May 9.

Hal and James will be two of the five boys from Floydada chapter that are applying for a State Farmer Degree. The other three are Jimmy McLaughlin, Price Pritchett, and Jerry Crawford.

These boys have passed the first test at a checking committee meeting held at Silverton High School on April 10. This group will appear on KGNC-TV from three to five Saturday afternoon with other boys of the Area.

H. G. Barber was voted the outstanding Ag. teacher of the Plainview District Vocational Agricultural Teachers and will be in competition with other teachers of the area at the meeting Saturday at Amarillo.

What Is a Marine?

Rev. Lackey, who is now a Marine in far-away Okinawa, writes often to his foster-parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Chesnut. Recently he sent them a reprint of an article by an unnamed author, which has interesting paragraphs assembled under the title, "What is a Marine?" It follows:

Between boot camp, Camp Pendleton and the chain of islands strung out in the calm Pacific we find an outstanding creature called a marine. Marines come in different sizes, weights and colors, but all have the same creed. "To get as much out of every liberty or part of their lines extending over portions of five counties.

FIDDLE-FADDLE

A violinist was bitterly disappointed with the account of his recital printed in the paper of a small town.

Musician (to owner of paper): "I told your man three or four times that the instrument I used was a genuine Stradivarius, and in his story there was not a word about it, not a word."

Owner (with a laugh): "That is as it should be. When Mr. Stradivarius gets his fiddles advertised in my paper for less than 10 cents a line, you come around and let me know."

OUTDOORS In Texas

(By Vern Sanford)

Hey, Mr. Fisherman! If you like to try out the new, see a huge expanse of water, and rough it a bit at the same time, we know the very spot for you.

It is Falcon Lake, fifty miles south of Laredo. Here a lake some 30 miles long and about five miles wide straddles the international boundary line between the United States and Mexico.

Falcon is a primitive lake, with fishing conditions unusual in every respect.

This lake was created when the mission built a dam across the Rio Grande. International boundary monuments were placed down the middle of the lake so that the boundary between the two countries might be well marked.

Brush which consisted of mesquite, cats claw, huisache and acacia was left in the bottom of the lake. Two towns were moved from the banks of the river to higher ground, but many of the old buildings remain standing. Today the old town of Zapata is almost completely inundated while old Guerrero on the Mexican side stands about half out of water.

Some of the rock walls have tumbled down, and these old buildings now afford wonderful habitat for big bass.

At first it was feared there would be no bass in the lake. Commercial fishermen hit it heavy and hauled out thousands of pounds of rough fish. Then suddenly there was an explosion of bass, both blacks and whites.

Last year they were barely keepers. This year plenty of them run from two to four pounds, and quite a few six and eight pound lunkers are being taken. Also, many young bass are hooked. Sometimes you get one that isn't as big as the lure it hits.

This is direct evidence that there are at least two spawns a year in this, the southernmost Texas lake. At that rate it will continue to be a hot fishing spot despite the heavy pressure.

Up until now most of the big bass have been caught on three types of lures—Juggin Eels, Hawk Extractors and Bombers.

However, the time is here when the bass will begin hitting tip water lures. With a few days of warm weather, and provided there are no disturbing floods, the next 30 days will produce some terrific catches.

There is a perfect highway to Falcon Lake. The two towns where accommodations can be had are Zapata and Falcon Heights. Neither of these towns, however, can begin to take care of the heavy influx of fishermen. Sportsmen are going there by airplane, automobile and bus.

Motor accommodations in the towns are very limited. If you plan to make a trip to Falcon Lake, you'd better begin right now to make your reservations.

And it is almost impossible to get in on a week-end even with a month's advance notice.

There also is a scarcity of boats. Many fishermen take their own boats and motors, and it's a wise procedure unless you want to fish from the banks.

Frankly, it is a lake for big motors. Unfortunately, access is very limited. Some of the plan-

SOLDIER GRANDSON PAYS VISIT TO MRS. MERRICK

Sgt. and Mrs. Donald Merrick and baby of Ft. Sill, Okla., visited his grandmother, Mrs. Maud Merrick of Floydada, Monday, May 4.

Upon leaving Floydada the Merrick family went on to Electric to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Livingston.

Sgt. Merrick will leave Ft. Sill for New York and Germany, May 13.

ANGRY MOTORIST

Angry motorist: "This car you sold me won't even climb a hill!"
Salesman: "I didn't say it would. Remember, when you bought it I just said, 'On the level it's a fine car.'"

REQUIRES TIME

Two farmers from Texas were always trying to outdo each other regarding crops. One morning the first farmer said to his son, Jimmie, "Go over to Ernest and borrow his crosscut saw for a watermelon."

On returning, Jimmie said, "Ernest said he couldn't lend you one of the first important documents to come after the U. S. expanded into what is now its Southwest. The U. S. took over this great expanse in 1848 after the Mexican War."

EXTRA! EXTRA!

A college weekly carried the following item:
Found, a roll of five-dollar bills. Will the owner please form a line at the north entrance of the newspaper office.

Lousia May Alcott's family was one neighbor to the Ralph Waldo Emersons.

COVERS FOR TREBLE HOOKS

Ever try to untangle a jumble of mess of fishing lures? Just isn't it?

Man, there's nothing more disgusting. And that's not all. It's almost impossible to separate marking the finger a few times, even a few lures without hooking a treble-hook lure in your pocket, and later on tried to remove it—oh, boy!

Anyway, Jack Braniff is your friend in need. Jack, who works at Mercy Hospital in Pleasanton, Texas, has come up with a simple solution that makes one wonder why he hadn't thought of Emersons.

HONESTLY!

Jack has invented an aluminum, triangular shaped cap that fits snugly over the treble hook. You squeeze the aluminum cap just enough bulldozer work in making enough to make it fit over the hook—and there you are.

He calls them Jaketts. And he points out that they not only eliminate the messy tackle box and make lures safe to carry in the pocket, but they also clean, sharpen and straighten the hooks.

Equally as important, they protect children from injury.

DOCUMENTS THAT BOOSTED TEXAS CATTLE INDUSTRY

Rare copies of reports that helped open the gates for a gigantic Southwestern cattle industry have been given to the Southwest Collection at Texas Tech by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson.

One is a report to Congress in 1854 by Capt. John Pope on sections of Texas for an east-west route between the Red River and Rio Grande.

The other is a report on the Southwest cattle industry and its prospects made to Congress 30 years later by Joseph Nimmo.

Dr. Seymour V. Connor, Collection director, called the two rare reports "basic additions for any study of Southwestern history."

"They are of practical as well as scholarly value because they reveal some of the little-known forces behind Southwestern growth in vivid detail," he declared. "It is just the type of material we need."

Connor said Pope's report was one of the first important documents to come after the U. S. expanded into what is now its Southwest. The U. S. took over this great expanse in 1848 after the Mexican War.

The California gold rush followed in 1849, bringing pressures for new routes across the Southwest. The federal government began to be for purposes of the

EDITORIAL VIEWS AND COMMENT

The Old Adage, found in textbooks, Don't monkey with a buzz saw, might have a modern counterpart in a saying have respect for your lawn mower. These modern gadgets, nice to have about the place, will have their innings for the remainder of the summer. First time around the lawn and in the high weeds began several days ago. A mangled hand or a damaged foot can result from hurry or carelessness. One of these whirling blades will cut through a finger or take the top off of a foot as readily as they'll mow through heavy grass and weeds. No use to lose a crop or pay out a doctor bill when another 10 seconds given to the job would eliminate the chance so often taken.

Make Haste Slowly. We hope ere this time the city council has chosen the engineer they think will work best with the city, the citizens and a contractor to handle the city's drainage problems and get a paving contract underway. Naturally, there must be some financing done, so there'll be time for the city to negotiate or confer with other authorities and, as well with the railroad people. This to be sure there'll be no hassle later on arrangements to dispose of the water that is to be drained off the streets. The county and the State Highway Department, as well as railway officials, know there is a problem but it is one that a professional must find the answer to and then convince the parties at interest that he has the proper solution to it.

Michigan Found a Way to make Texas pay for the iron mountains, known as the Mesaba Range, but Texas solons say they haven't found and can't find a constitutional way to collect off of Michigan for the natural gas that is being depleted and piped to the northern states in astronomical quantities. How many millions Texans have paid to educate Michiganers' children can only be guessed.

Our Legislators may be getting their legal advice from people whose job it is to see that Texas does not tax natural gas and the oil that runs through our pipelines into other states. We hark back to th days when New York investors came to Texas with the avowed purpose of having the Homestead Law discarded here. It took them nearly 20 years and a few million dollars to come around to the idea that Texas people had a Homestead Law which they fully intended to keep. Our legislature is getting plenty of advice from the lobbyists, and our modern legislators have turned soft. In the old days a legislator was a toughie.

Legislative cry babies, who just can't see a way out except to adopt a sales tax and/or an income tax, are reminded that there are many ways that more taxes could be collected by simply stopping up the loopholes. Automobiles, for instance. We hazard the guess that a million cars and truck are operating on Texas highways today that are not paying and have not paid a cent of ad valorem tax. Other states have found a way. Texas could, also.

For that matter, most any business man in Floydada or any other town its size, could suggest a much better way, tremendously less expensive than a retail sales tax, to get money from merchandise that is sold across the counter. The cigarette tax is handled on a manufacturer's sales basis. Only a few have to handle, process and report this tax, whereas a million reports (or more?) would have to be made at a cost of millions for state employed checkers to check if the tax were collected by the retailer and reported by him. And that is only a part of it. To report retail sales taxes to the state would cost small businesses in Texas millions every month in additional bookkeeping charges. This is not idle talk.

United States Treasury is in the worst financial condition of any in the world. If the taxpayers should buck up on Washington's congress and bureaus there'd really be hair in the butter. But the bureaus that have to do with education are carrying the torch for education — federally supported. They have speakers making the country practically begging the states and districts to ask for aid. They want state and local authorities to say the burden is so heavy they just can't possibly carry the load. . . . will Uncle Sam please help! But Uncle Sam is already selling billions in deficit-raising treasury certificates, and is adding more to the burden every day. The things that the federal government ought to do and none other can do we'd like for them to keep doing, but to butt in on things the people are supposed to do themselves—no.

Writers seldom write the things they think. They simply write the things they think other folks think they think. Elbert Hubbard

As a Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

When a person knows a story that he thinks he ought to tell. If he doesn't get to tell it, why of course he won't feel well. And if no one stops to listen, why of course a man will feel

All broke up and dislocated and uneasy as an eel.

Good morning, my dear readers of this column:

From the above bit of poetry you will know I have a story to tell and want listeners. I know you are very busy with your cotton and feed planting, feeding the cattle and many other farm tasks. While we sit and drink this good coffee I will get my story over with:

"You can get up now, the kitchen is warm," were the words which awoke me that cold winter morning of the early nineteen hundreds. Brushing back the long hair from my sleepy eyes, I hurriedly went barefooted down the cold stairsteps to the kitchen where I had left my clothes the night before. The water was hot in the teakettle and in the reservoir it was getting warm.

I slipped off my long outing nightgown and hurried into my buttoned down the back, long slim apron which had taken the place of the earlier day Mother Hubbard. I looked everywhere for the button hook to button up my tall shoes.

Soon the children were slipping down the stairs to dress, the twins Wilma and Wilda taking time with Wilson to dress behind the big range stove. Some mornings we had ham and eggs, always with tender sour milk biscuits, then sausage, home made and good, bacon with fried mush. We always had and enjoyed a hearty breakfast for there was much to be done on the farm even in the winter and one needed fuel.

The children caught their horses. I combed the girl's long soft hair and braided it up. I fixed their dinner which had to be eaten cold at noon.

Soon I was alone in the house, getting the days work begun. Red beans were put to boil in the black dinner pot, a cap of the stove taken off to let the pot near the red blaze. I started the fire in the "front room" as we called it then, my mind busy with the past year's work that was finished.

Snows in the winter before followed by rains in the summer had made us a fine crop. The binder was near the barn at rest, the maize wagon had been made into a bundle wagon, but the bundles heavy with grain, were stacked in long ricks in the stack lot. I had helped with the stacking.

I stood on the stack as it was made, placing the heavy bundles with care to make a good water proof stack which would not fall down. It was a tiresome job, but I could go to the house while Jeff brought another load.

The hogs had been killed and the meat put-up in salt, sausage ground and sacked. Turkeys strutted around the yard, pecking and fussing and flying on the house and windmill.

I went up stairs for when we had added two new rooms to our other two, we lowered the ceiling and made an attic room. Here we kept three beds in the winter for it was too hot a place in the summer.

How warm and snug we were as the blue northers shrieked at the north window oftimes sifting soft fine snow on our quilts made of good old woolen garments or new pieces given us by the merchant, samples of the suits he had made to order. We slept beneath thick cotton blankets.

We told stories of our youth to our children and many a night I read to my family as they lay under the heavy covers, only my arms out to hold the magazine or book. I read The Swiss Family Robinson and Black Gold. How thrilled we were, not noticing how the wind shook the house as the blizzards roared or the cold winter rain came pelting on the roof just over our heads.

Even while I looked back I was planning for the coming year. I cleaned up the incubator in the cellar, the yards and flower beds, and chicken houses. While I pieced on a new quilt I knew my resting days would soon end. There would be a garden to start, the gooseberries to be gathered, how thorny they were but how delicious I told them off as I sewed.

I cut out shirts and summer drawers for my husband, made new underwear for myself and the children. The days were full. How much cleaning did the coal and kindling make in two rooms. The coal scuttle always leaked out the fine bits of coal on the pine floor. And if you never did a washing on a rub board and boiled your clothes in a tub on the stove rinsing them with water which you had carried from the well, hung your wet clothes, wrung out by hand and not too good at that, on the line, watched them freeze in the cold, you missed something and I do not think you will be sorry about it. Your hands would be freezing, you dropped the clothes pins and sometimes the wet clothes in the dirt.

But in spite of being so very uncomfortable you would have to laugh as you saw a suit of long underwear stiffen and blow out and in like a piece of wood that had gone berserk, doing a fantastic dance. Not until you had been in the bed for a long time that night would the chill of that washing get over, the you huddled over the stove for hours.

It was not fun to go into a kitchen where things had not had time to thaw, pour the piece of ice out of the washpan where someone had forgotten to empty the night before, get the dipper loose from the ice on top of the waterbucket, thaw out the ice from the towel and even the clabber would have to be freed from its icy state. We did not need a refrigerator in the winter, for things set in the corner away from the fire would stay for days. And in the summer we could set the milk and butter and the boiled beans in the cool water in the milk trough.

We still had to go to Cane for our mail. Once a week or so, we did this. It was a cold trip in the buggy or Spaulding hack which we now owned. Automobiles were coming into more and more use and, of course, I desired one very much. If I could have raised the well on the future as I now can on the past I could have seen a 1916 Buick standing in front of our gate in all its black shining grandeur. I would have seen myself making a cover for this new cherished possession out of long sewed seams of unbleached domestic for covering as it sat in the shed on the side of the new barn.

But I must hurry to our Ford and leave for the kind editor may not like for me to make my visits so long and thus tire his readers. God bless and keep you.

Mix Personalities To Come Up With Most Ideal Teacher

An ideal teacher? To have an ideal teacher is the ambition and the dream of every student who enters into a house of learning.

To have an ideal teacher, I would take Miss Sweetson's energy for sense of humor, Coach Watson's, and for beauty of hair I would choose Mrs. Baker. As the ideal teacher personality I would take Coach Tyler's to be mixed with Mrs. Adams' intelligence; add to this a little of Mr. Eudy's perseverance. Combine these virtues with the good looks and ideal clothes of Mr. Jones and Mrs. Martin.

My ideal teacher would most certainly possess the courtesy of Mr. Adams, the potentiality of Mr. Colley, and the friendliness of Mr. Cook along with the charming ways of Mr. Barber.

Also to this phenomenal teacher would add the patience of Mrs. Patterson, the winning ability of Mrs. Graves, and the sweetness of Mrs. Dalrymple. No teacher would be complete without the smile of Coach Huntington and the jokes of Mr. Rainer. And of course one could never have an ideal teacher and lack Mr. Baker's helpfulness or Mr. Graves' sincerity.

What Change Would You Make at FHS

Kent Lightfoot — I'd have a longer lunch period, shorter school days, and more girls.

Sue Kendrick — Have more school spirit and a better school paper.

Carolyn Dillard — I'd have the teachers not pile so much homework on us at one time.

Sharon Edmiston — I'd offer Latin, require more Math and Science.

Hal Hines — I'd change the periods to 45 minutes so one could take more of the needed subjects.

Marie Kinard — I would change the assemblies so they would appear before lunch.

Donnie Galloway — I like it the way it is now.

Henry Self — I would have one more Southern Assemblies and I would discontinue to count off for helpfulness or Mr. Graves' sincerity.

Adams, Jones, Watson Given Favorite Nod

Mrs. J. W. Adams, English teacher, Coach Preston Watson, American History teacher and director, and Maurice J. Jones, band director, were chosen as the favorite teachers by the entire junior class. With only a small margin in the difference of votes, Adams, Watson, and Jones were chosen exclusively for the Whirl poll of the teachers do not teach juniors.

Typing instructor, B. J. Eudy, Mrs. A. W. Dalrymple, Algebra teacher, and Ira Colley were proclaimed as runners-up.

In the same survey, Typing was voted as the favorite subject of the junior class. Band ran a close second with English III following. Home Ec and Algebra lagged just a little behind the latter.

By a majority vote, Mr. Colley and Mr. Eudy tied for the title of "Hardest Teacher." Mrs. Adams and Coach Charles Tyler, World History teacher and coach, following. Many students indicated that they liked their teachers better and respected them because they were hard on them.

As the hardest subject, English was named first. Algebra, a very close second, was also said to be a difficult subject. Plane Geometry and Typing tied for third.

This, fame, is carved more often than money.
Of love or life itself.
A man is all alone, gravely alone, when he Does step from light, the safety of the known,
To darkness, and to the insecure beyond.
His solitary sense of death tells him
If he should die no one but God and himself
Will ever be aware, or grasp, how truly
Full of courage he really was.

Pritchett Titled Poet of the Year

Price Pritchett, junior, has been declared the poet of the year in FHS. The following poem is an example of his ability at rhymes.

DESTRUCTION

Across the golden fields of swaying wheat
To where the blue haze fades into the gold,
The combines roar, and dark men swear and strain,
And keep a wary eye for clouds that roll.
The hum of good machines is everywhere.
The landlord watches all this with a grin
And thinks of all the profit he will share.
But then the big, dark clouds come rolling in,
The day grows dark but still you hear the whine.
Then thunder roars the men stay at their work,
Then hail comes down and combines cease to grind.
The landlord spits and gives a wicked curse.
At last the sun breaks through the rolling clouds
And shines upon the field destruction hit.
The grain that once had stood so tall and proud
Now lies among the little hail stone pits.

Homemaking Hints

(By Phyllis Roggenhoff, County HD Agent)

It looks like warm weather is finally here so its time to put away those wool blankets for a season. You may be wondering if wool blankets can be washed successfully. Yes, they can if washed right.

Research has been done at Ohio State University where hundreds of wool blankets were washed under all possible conditions. According to this research, wool blankets washed in 130 degrees F hot water shrank no more than those washed in 100 degrees F water.

When the washing time of a wool blanket was increased from 2 to 4 minutes of agitation, the amount of shrinkage of all wool and 50 per cent wool blankets nearly doubled in the length direction, and in some cases tripled in the width direction. They proved that agitation was the cause of felting and shrinkage of wool blankets.

The synthetic detergents (syndets) eliminate the possibility of soap curd collecting in the wool fibers and are easier to rinse out. You can wash a blanket in either a conventional washer or any automatic washer provided the control dial can be manually operated to control the time of the cycle, and the blanket can be put into the tub after it has been filled.

Non Agitation Method Of Washing A Blanket

1. Measure and record the length and width of the blanket for a later check on shrinkage.

2. If the binding of the blanket is excessively soiled, repeat by brushing with a liquid detergent with no water.

3. Fill washer with 10 gallons of soft water at 100 degrees F to 120 degrees F. If the water is hard add 1 teaspoon per gal. of a non-precipitating type of softener (Calgon, Noctil, and Tex are examples of this type).

4. Add two-thirds to three-fourths cup low sudsing type synthetic detergent to the wash water. A buffer of suds is not necessary when agitation is eliminated. Agitate the wash water to dissolve the syndet and softener, then stop agitation.

5. Submerge blanket in the water and allow it to soak for 15 to 20 minutes. Turn the blanket by hand once during this soaking period.

6. Remove blanket from wash water according to washer type. Conventional washer: gently squeeze the water from the blanket without twisting. Automatic washer: Place dial to "spin" to remove soiled wash water.

7. Rinse twice with lukewarm water. Use a 5-minute soak period for each rinse with no agitation, but turn the blanket once during each 5 minute period. Use wringer or only after final rinse of tension can be very loose, otherwise squeeze water out by hand without twisting blanket.

8. Place blanket over two clothes lines in a shady place, or in a large area such as a protected table or floor area.

9. Measure length and width of blanket and compare with original size. Stretch blanket to original size.

10. When blanket is dry, brush it in both directions on both sides with a stiff bristled brush. Press the binding with a warm iron.

Non Agitation Method Of Washing A Blanket

1. Measure and record the length and width of the blanket for a later check on shrinkage.

2. If the binding of the blanket is excessively soiled, repeat by brushing with a liquid detergent with no water.

3. Fill washer with 10 gallons of soft water at 100 degrees F to 120 degrees F. If the water is hard add 1 teaspoon per gal. of a non-precipitating type of softener (Calgon, Noctil, and Tex are examples of this type).

4. Add two-thirds to three-fourths cup low sudsing type synthetic detergent to the wash water. A buffer of suds is not necessary when agitation is eliminated. Agitate the wash water to dissolve the syndet and softener, then stop agitation.

5. Submerge blanket in the water and allow it to soak for 15 to 20 minutes. Turn the blanket by hand once during this soaking period.

6. Remove blanket from wash water according to washer type. Conventional washer: gently squeeze the water from the blanket without twisting. Automatic washer: Place dial to "spin" to remove soiled wash water.

7. Rinse twice with lukewarm water. Use a 5-minute soak period for each rinse with no agitation, but turn the blanket once during each 5 minute period. Use wringer or only after final rinse of tension can be very loose, otherwise squeeze water out by hand without twisting blanket.

8. Place blanket over two clothes lines in a shady place, or in a large area such as a protected table or floor area.

9. Measure length and width of blanket and compare with original size. Stretch blanket to original size.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

They said it's a long struggle to raise $200,000,000 in new tax money.

As the regular session drew to a close, House members were toward the sea in effect, admitted they couldn't.

MY DAD SAYS

At times people forget how hard it is to get electricity on the farm. He says people had to build their own systems through electric cooperatives. Sometimes they had to set miles of line just to serve a few people, but that was part of the bargain. My dad says the job isn't finished. He says when I grow up I will have to help pay for the money we borrowed and the interest we owe. But most important my Dad says we must keep reminding people that Electric Cooperatives have done nothing but good things and that our only purpose is to bring electricity to the farm.

LIGHTHOUSE ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC.

agree on a program that would do the job. House sent to the Senate the scraps of selective sales tax measure (HB 727) and a bill to increase the corporation franchise tax for one year only.

There was off-the-cuff talk among House members of someone's proposing at a later date to solve the problem by cutting the appropriation bill across the board to 4 per cent less than the 1959-59 budget. This would bring such violent reaction, it was thought, that both lawmakers and their constituents would be more receptive to new tax proposals.

Senate State Affairs Committee has indicated it has no intention of trying to shove through a tax program just to beat the May 12 deadline of the regular session. Full hearings have been promised for all viewpoints.

FIRE-POLICE BILL PASSES — House voted 83-46 for a bill that would shorten hours of city firemen and policemen.

Senate already has given the bill final passage. After one more favorable vote in the House, it will be ready to go to the Governor.

Opponents tried unsuccessfully to get the bill amended to give local citizens a chance to vote on whether the bill would affect their cities. Supporters protested this would "kill the bill."

TRUCK BILL SIGNED — Gov. Price Daniel signed the bill raising the truck load limit from 36,000 to 72,000 pounds.

But he made no bones about his misgivings. He recommended that the State Highway Department and county commissioners take steps to keep the heavier loads off farm roads and others that might be damaged.

Before deciding to sign the bill, the governor took an unusual step by calling a public hearing.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer testified there were some 5,000 miles of road that couldn't take 72,000-pound loads. Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, said more license and weight inspectors would be needed. Higher registration fees were expected to provide revenue for this.

17 POTENTIAL GOVERNORS — Sixteen successors to the governor would be designated in a proposed constitutional amendment that has Senate approval.

Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo is sponsoring the measure designed to assure a living chief executive in case of atomic attack.

Line of succession would be the lieutenant governor, president pro tempore of the Senate, Speaker of the House, Attorney General, Secretary of State and the chief justices of the 11 courts of civil appeals in their numerical order.

HOW CLEAN THE COW — Sen. Grady Hazlewood's bill to regulate milk imports is stirring up more commotion than a short in a milking machine.

Senate passed the bill, and a sub-committee of the House Livestock Committee approved it.

Bill would require that milk brought into Texas from other states meet the same standards as those imposed on Texas procurers.

Milk producers, who favor the bill, say it will protect consumers from unsanitary milk. Milk consumers, who oppose the bill, retort that all states have adequate sanitation standards. They contend the producers are seeking a device so that local prices can be jacked up.

BIG YEAR AHEAD — A forecast of the hubbub that can be expected in the political year of 1960 was seen as the Legislature debated election law changes.

Both House and Senate gave final approval to a bill that would allow a candidate's name to appear twice on the same ballot. It is designed to allow U. S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson to run for another Senate term and accept a presidential nomination at the same time, if opportunity should arise.

Senate approved unanimously, House, by a 124-15 vote. Liberal members, mostly from Houston objected.

A bill to move forward two months the dates of state primaries and conventions also drew liberal protests. It would move primaries up to the first Saturdays in May and June. State convention to name delegates to the national presidential nominating convention would be the last Tuesday in May.

Opponents claimed it was intended to let Senator Johnson get his state politicking out of the way before national convention time.

Changing parties in mid-stream would be outlawed under a bill that has received final approval of both houses. Each poll tax would be stamped "Democrat" or "Republican" the first time a person voted in a primary. For the period he used that poll tax, the holder would have to stick with the party of his stamp, in the primaries and party conventions.

3 STUDIES SUGGESTED — Senate has approved three studies to be made by the Legislative Council before the 1961 session.

Recommended for consideration are:

1. Possibility of adding the generously endowed University of Houston to the state college system sponsored by Sen. Robert W. Baker of Houston.
2. Ways to simplify the tangle of special funds which pay for state government, sponsored by Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo.
3. Special fees charged by state agencies for licensing and other services, by Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro.

SHORT SHORTS — Examinations will be held May 19-21 for 75 vacancies in the Texas Highway Patrol. Those accepted will receive six months training at the State Police Academy, six months on-the-job training, all with pay.

State taxes cannot be collected on beer sold on U. S. military posts, according to an Attorney General's opinion. Similar opinion was made earlier in regard to cigarette taxes.

Texas Is Still The Biggest State for Rural Electricity

Texans have always done things in a big way. And the construction and operation of electric systems through cooperatives are no exception.

The Electric Cooperatives of Texas have borrowed more money ($226-million), built more lines (146,000 miles), are serving more people (388,000), have paid one more interest ($25-million), and most important consideration is have paid back more money on their loans ($40-million) than the ing electricity on their farms and ranches.

Fewer than 10 per cent had electricity before the cooperatives started. And 90 per cent who were doing without were ready to say good-bye to the kerosene lamp, the old-fashioned scrub board, and the wood stove. The Electric Cooperatives have succeeded in electrifying rural Texas in spite of some king-size handicaps. New techniques had to be devised to insure cheaper distribution of electricity. An ingenious two-line distribution system was developed and has become standard in most rural areas.

The cooperatives were formed with the understanding that the people all over the area would be served — regardless of their remote location. This resulted in the construction of a mile of line, on the average, to serve two consumers. This is a fantastic ratio when you consider that most metropolitan systems serve well over thirty-three consumers per mile.

But in spite of the hardships that had to be overcome, the cooperatives were equal to the task and succeeded in bringing a new way of life to the rural community. Today, some 400,000 rural Texans enjoy television, refrigeration, electric lights, and hundreds of labor-saving devices as a result of membership in a business-managed, tax-paying electric cooperative.

Hybrid Maize Gaining Favor As Cash Crop

(By John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture)

Texas farmers, leading the nation in the fast move to sorghum grain as a cash crop, are furthering this advance through growing acceptance of improved hybrid sorghum seed recently developed.

Seed dealers of hybrid strains of sorghum report Texas sales are up from 50 to 75 percent on the same period last year, indicating that hybrids have not only taken a foothold but that they are here to stay.

Farmers have learned that proven hybrids can increase their grain sorghum production often as much as 40 percent and have given quick acceptance to the scientific seed.

Last year, our state once again tallied a big "Texas First" by producing 44.4 percent of the nation's sorghum grain — much of it from hybrid seed stock. Texas produced 273,066,000 bushels of the United States' 614,845,000 bushel total.

Certified hybrid sorghum seed are grown by independent Texas growers in accordance with the certified seed program of the Texas Department of Agriculture. The program involves continued inspection and observation for approval as certified seed and can yield a high return to the successful grower.

However, the certified seed program is not an easy proposition. It is, on the contrary, a highly scientific and comparatively expensive proposition which can quickly discourage the inexperienced or inefficient farmer.

The trend over the last two years has been for the smaller farmer to drop out of the certified grower program. From an initial number of about 200 in 1956, the list dropped to 161 growers of certified stock in 1958.

Planted acreage of certified seed also decreased sharply from the 1957 figure of 22,000 acres to only 13,344 acres certified by the TDA last year.

However, carry-over stock accounted for the drop in 1958 certified seed production. A bumper crop in 1957 exceeded the demand for 1958 plantings. But as the popularity of hybrid sorghum continues to increase as it surely will, this trend will likely reverse itself.

Indications today show that a shortage of the popular varieties of hybrid sorghums could develop this year. But so far the supply and demand appear in good balance and another good season for Texas grain sorghums is in sight.

Torch Accident Results in Fire Damaging Auto
The 1937 two-tone Ford belonging to Claud Patton, was heavily damaged Friday afternoon about 2:30 when a fire started from a hole in the gas tank.
Patton's car had been taken to Lawson Brothers to have a rear shock absorber welded, according to A. G. Tyler, who took the car there for the repairs from Bishop Motor Co.
He said the car was jacked up with him under it, starting the electric welder when he accidentally bumped it against the gas tank, knocking a hole in it. The fire blazed up from the gas tank and burned out the rear end of the car.
Only the back seats were saved. Tyler said. The trunk of the car, tires and spare tire were destroyed. No one was injured in the incident.

Dallas Lake Mishap Drowns Companion Of Floydada Student
Don Norman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Norman, and student at North Texas State College, was through Floydada last week with a group from his class, enroute to Sweetwater where they attended memorial services for James Bardwell, 18 years old, also a student at NTSC, who was drowned Sunday, April 26, in a boating mishap on Garza-Little Elm Reservoir near Denton.
The body of the youth had not been recovered. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bardwell of Sweetwater.
The boat occupied by Bardwell, Don Norman and two girls from Texas Women's University ran out of gas on the lake. Norman jumped overboard and attempted to swim to shore for help when a high wind blew up. Seeing that he was in trouble Bardwell started swimming toward Norman, who in the meantime had grasped onto a tree limb. The boat in the meantime had drifted too far away for either of the youths to reach it. Bardwell became exhausted and went under.
Fishermen in the area rescued Norman and pulled the boat into shore.

Billy Joe Baker, fire marshal and Ralph Ferguson, were among Floydada firemen attending the 11th annual Firemen Instructor's Conference, which closed in Lubbock Thursday.
Fifty out of town firemen attended from Amarillo, Abilene, Austin, Borger, Brownfield, Carlsbad, N. Mex., Dallas, Dalhart, Houston, Junction, Levelland, Midland, Odessa, Plainview, Ralls, Slaton, Springlake, Sunray, Sweetwater, Whiteface and Wichita Falls.
Liquefied petroleum gas was the central subject for the conference, which included a field trip to see assembly line construction of gas tanks, and a tour of Plains Gas Company to study from bulk storage and loading of gas.
