THESE ARE LEAVES ON A COTTON STALK

Rains Assure Good Summer Crop Season

Although Tuesday night's rain put a stop to all current farming operations in Floyd and adjoining counties, it also added materially to the moisture content in the soil, assuring a good mid-summer growing season for dry lands while it cut down on the demand for underground water for the irrigated crops.

Cotton should make tremendous progress during the month of July, what with last week's generous rain and Tuesday night's addition of approximately an inch.

The rains did catch a few fields of wheat still uncut. The wheat men have been having to cut "between showers" and heavy dews for two weeks.

Around Dougherty and southwest of that wheat growing center the dry land wheat has made a good showing.

Rainfall Tuesday night in Floydada was 85-hundredths of an inch at the Pioneer Natural Gas Company gauge and varied over the county from a half-inch to an inch and a half.

No hail damage was reported. There was some wind and the TV stations blared the usual tornado scare.

Another new well has been started this week by General Crude on the Birnie Ranch.

Two boys from Floyd County, three from Motley and one from Swisher are on the list of Local Board No. 45, Selective Service, to report for military duty on July 15.

AMERICAN LEGION POST TO ELECT MONDAY NIGHT

D. G. Ayres, post adjutant issued the call for the election, meeting this week.

Ester-Created Mutation? At least a thousand acres of cotton in South Plains and adjacent district have leaf mutations in the fields like this. Some kind of a herbicide did it, the experts tell the cotton growers.

At extreme right is a normal leaf on the stalk before the application. The three top leaves have grown to approximate maturity since the application, looking like no cotton leaf ever did look naturally.

It is touch and go whether the tremendous growth stimulus the herbicide gave the cotton will damage it irretrievably or make it produce more.

The streak of affected cotton is two to four miles wide, 15 to 25 miles long, indicating a possible vapor-carrying wind drift from southeast to northwest, or vice versa.

Discussions are under way on the question whether Floyd County should voluntarily adopt the state law governing the application of herbicide and other applications that change the nature of soils and plants.

School District Tax Raise of 20 Per Cent

A raise of 20 per cent across the board is planned by the board of trustees of Floydada Independent School District for the current year.

This means a higher ad valorem tax for the property in the district if the schools are to be operated on the current basis of efficiency.

Every property owner in the district has been notified that the Board of Equalization of the district will sit on July 6 beginning at 10 o'clock a. m. in the county court room.

Motley County Oil Prospects Brighten

MATADOR — The Matador good producer, casing is being set and the well will be placed on new well in the South Central pump.

Some believe it may be rated between 500 and 1000 barrels. The No. 1 Hamilton, filed as a wildcat, is one and one-eighth miles west of the nearest Roaring Springs is indicated as one of the top producers of both the east and west fields.

The well was drilled to an approximate depth of 4250 feet. In one drill stem test 500 feet of free oil was shown, and no water was indicated in either test.

Another new well has been started this week by General Crude on the Birnie Ranch.

It will be the Ollie Echols Birnie, 10 miles northwest of Matador hit granite.

The exploration is projected to 9,600 feet, which is calculated to hit granite.

There are no nearby dry holes, but the location is two miles southwest of Pan American No. 1 Birnie, 1958 Pennsylvania sand discovery, and is 4.25 miles southeast of General Crude's No. 1 Fish, 9,615 foot failure plugged earlier this year.

The bids were opened on June 22 and Taylor & Dyer declared the successful bidders for the job.

HIDDEN COSTS BARED Indirect Levies Add to Burden of Local Taxes

Special to the Hesperian) NEW YORK — When the average Floyd County resident discovers what his real "tax discomfort index" is, he will be astounded.

The index, so-dubbed by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, goes behind the taxes that most people know they pay for Federal, state and local government and adds to it the huge indirect taxes that are hidden the price of virtually everything we buy. It develops that for every $100 in the form of direct taxes paid, there is an additional $60, roughly, that goes for these hidden taxes.

It isn't the taxes that are levied in Floyd County that are burdening the local taxpayer beyond endurance. The federal government is the dog in the manger. Read this report on indirect levies of which you may be unaware. Local taxes are just a breeze in comparison.

In Floyd County, on the basis of the foundation's study, it adds up to a surprising $2,440 a year for the average local family.

The hidden taxes are not the luxury taxes with which every one is familiar. They are the five percent of the cost of a refrigerator, which has been incorporated into the price because the manufacturer had to pay that amount in selling it to the distributor.

They are the $711 in taxes actually paid on a $3,000 car, although the buyer thought he was paying only $345. The rest went for Federal excise taxes on the radio and heater, the weight tax of a gross income of $20,466,000.

They are the several cents included in the cost of a pack of cigarettes, over and above the visible taxes, passed on to the consumer by handlers, who had to pay them in the form of transportation taxes, license fees, gasoline taxes, inspection fees and the like.

DADA TEACHER and TENNESSEE MISS WED IN CHURCH CEREMONY AT HAPPY

The sleeves were long, coming to a point over the wrists. The bouffant tulle skirt over skirt featured a softly draped apron of chantilly caught up in back to form a bustle. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a coronet of lace encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white stephanotis centered with white cattaleya orchid on a white Bible. Satin streamers tied with love knots completed the flowing cascade line arrangement. She wore a gold necklace set with pearls.

Mrs. Wade E. McFarland was matron of honor and Mrs. Robert L. Beckett, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. The attendants wore identically styled cocktail length dresses of embroidered cotton satin with sheer nylon net over skirts. The dresses were styled with scooped necklines, short sleeves, full skirts and nylon cummerbunds terminating in large bows and sashes. They wore matching picture hats and carried colonial nosegays of matching carnations edged with white lily of the valley and satins in rainbow hues.

The matron of honor's dress was Chantilly lace and pink and the bridesmaid was blue delight ivory satin. The candle lighters were Miss Velma Ruth Edmonds and Rebecca Martinez. Their dresses were net over satin, green and

A reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel F. Harrison, 15 West Arney Rd., following the ceremony. A white wrought-iron arch, entwined with pink and red rosebuds formed the wedding scene, flanked by candelabra holding pink tapers.

Mrs. Sandra Noland of Floydada attended her cousin as matron of honor. Her waltz length gown of pink embroidered polished cotton was fashioned with a fitted bodice and brief sleeves, accented by a full skirt a crimson chiffon cummerbund. Her picture hat and mitts were of crimson rose as was the single long stemmed rose she carried.

Bridesmaids were Misses Rita Griffith, Kay Golden, Lawauna Taylor, of Lockney, and Miss Patsy Cartel of Amarillo. Miss Golden and Miss Cartel are cousins of the bride. Candlelighters were Miss Raye Watson and Kenneth Sams, a brother of the bride, both of Lockney. All feminine attendants were dressed identically to the matron of honor.

Flower girls were Debbie Bybee and Dani Simmons. Ring bearer was Donnie Carthel of Black, cousin of the bride. Houston Sweett of Lubbock, attended the groom as best man. Ushers were Joe Richard Noland, Floydada, George Boedeker Jr., Lubbock, cousin of the groom, Garland Sams Jr., and Jerry Sams, brothers of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of net and Alecon lace over bridal taffeta. The fitted bodice was styled with a scoop neckline, sprinkled with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The waistline was enhanced with a full skirt fashioned with lace panels in front and back. The full billowing skirt cascaded into a flowing chapel train. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown of lace and sequins. She wore matching elbow length net mitts and carried a bridal bouquet of white feathered carnations flecked with seed pearls, on top of a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom.

She observed the traditional "something old, something blue." For something old she carried a handkerchief given her by her great grandmother, Mrs. Fannie Brown of Lockney.

A reception was held in the J. R. Belt home following the wedding. After the couple's trip to San Antonio and points of interest in South Texas they will reside in Lubbock where Boedeker is presently attending Draughans' Business College. He is associated with the Hub-of-the-Plains Gin at Lubbock.

Mrs. Boedeker is a graduate of Lockney High School and Watson Business school at Plainview. For the past two and one-half years she had been employed as secretary bookkeeper for the Baker Plow Co. at Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Amburn and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Amburn and sons visited one day recently in Canyon with their daughter and sister, Mrs. B. C. Taylor and family and enjoyed an outing in Palo Duro Canyon. Mr. and Mrs. Amburn continued on in the afternoon to Amarillo where they visited briefly with their other son, Thomas Wayne Amburn and family.

Co-Hostesses Fete New Bride Friday Evening

The former Miss Margie Sue Stansell on June 5 in the Church of Christ at Coleman, and whose home is now in Lockney, was feted Friday evening with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Pike Hanna.

Mrs. Hanna received guests, and presented them to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Henry Creek of Coleman, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Troye Stansell.

Mrs. Grady Walker presided at the register, where a miniature bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley was placed in front of a pair of wedding bands and small kissing angels.

Mrs. Ralph Gordon of Amarillo was in the gift room and Mrs. Dub Hodge poured from crystal appointments.

The serving table was covered with a white linen hand embroidered cloth and centered with two white bisque angles and an arrangement of tiered Bells of Ireland and daisies. These were flanked by white tapers in crystal holders. The bride's chosen colors of mint and white were carried out in decorations, and in the refreshments of sand tarts and lime rickie punch.

Assisting Mrs. Hanna with the houseparty were Mesdames Hodge Gordon, Walker, and Mrs. Menard Field, Mrs. Woodrow Badgett, Mrs. Hazel Bradley, Mrs. Preston Badgett, Mrs. L. D. Britton, Mrs. G. L. Cardinal, Mrs. Tom Porter, Mrs. A. H. Robertson, and Mrs. Gladys Wimberly. Among gifts received by Mrs. Stansell was a steam-dry iron presented her by hostesses.

Layette Shower Compliments Mrs. Ferguson

The home of Mrs. H. G. Barber was the setting for a layette shower honoring Mrs. Bearl Ferguson on June 19th, from 5:30 until 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Jane Ferguson registered guests, who were served by Mrs. E. J. Durham and Mrs. Felt Patterson. Mrs. Barber presided in the gift room.

A stork made from styrofoam and pushing a miniature baby buggy formed the center arrangement placed on a cloth of white net over pink. Pink punch, cookies and nuts were served from crystal appointments.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Barber, Patterson, Durham, Clarence Ashton, Thurmon Batten, J. S. Hale Jr., Foster Amburn, E. L. Judy, E. J. Womack, Cecil Baxter, Ruth Duncan, Albert Mize, E. L. Ginn, W. H. Simpson Jr., Lee Burton, G. G. Mize, Truitt Hartsell, Floyd Fuqua, Herschel Hammonds, Carl Smith, Otis Anderson, and Miss Jimmy Lou Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown and family and Mrs. Charity Brown in company with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Taylor and family, spent a part of last week at Buchanan Dam enjoying a pleasure trip.

LET NOT YOUR HEART BE TROUBLED

In this age of juvenile disturbance it is time for all of us to act. It is time to be a friend to the friendless. Time to set examples, solicit respect. Here is a broken hearted lad who is in trouble, and deep. He is one of many who don't know which way to turn. His father wicked and his mother's spirit is bent... which way shall he take? Evidently he has started in the right direction. God's Word is open and his heart is broken. He is repentant and that is a good place for God to begin work. Here is opportunity for God's people to work. Here is where confidence in a troubled youngster will pay dividends in church membership community betterment. May all of us alert ourselves to opportunities to serve.

EDITORIAL VIEWS AND COMMENT

House Speaker Carr of the Texas Legislature put his finger on one angle of the tax fight at Austin that escapes casual notice. That is the not inconsiderable element in the legislature which favors no tax at all—not either business nor sales tax. This minority is willing to join with either element in the tax fight to defeat the other. This attitude is commendable at first blush, but will hardly stand up under scrutiny. All the taxes being fought over are to provide care for helpless people in eleemosynary institutions, in the prisons, and for schools and roads. The actual expense of running the state is relatively small, and would be no problem except for these other things that seem to us to be moral obligations.

Meanwhile, don't think there isn't a lot of soul-searching in the legislature. For weeks the butts of attack from all sides these gentlemen find themselves in the unenviable situation of making up their minds to accept compromise or have no tax bill at all.

The president's bid for fiscal responsibility by the Congress and his attack on that body seems to fall by its own weight when it gets this far out in the country, with the politics rubbed off. While he pours it on the Congress, asking fiscal reforms, he at the same time calls attention to the fact that the big federal road system is going to languish if the congress does not increase the gasoline tax by a cent and a half a gallon. Angle taken by many people in country circumstances is that it is just as well for the federal primary road building job to slow down, even to come to a halt. The government, somehow, has let costs get out of hand in the first place, and in the second place not enough consideration is given to the fact that good roads are supposed to serve the people. A good road in a neighborhood that the neighborhood can't use, hasn't added too much to the wealth and happiness of the nation.

Another viewpoint on fiscal responsibility also lies in the areas in which the federal appropriations shall be spent. The president thinks it is fiscal responsibility to add taxes for the Primary Road System, also to increase the tax rate on government financing. The Congress has different ideas, at least the majority Democratic element in the Congress. No doubt the orgy of spending must come to an end, but spending also must go on. The point of view is the big factor here. Where to spend the money. The 1960 political campaign may be fought out along this line.

10 SECONDS TO LIVE

(By Raymond M. Eastman, Des Moines Register and Tribune. Reprinted by Special Permission of the Des Moines Register and Tribune.)

HE PUSHED HIS SLEEVE BACK, held his wrist close to the lighted speedometer, squinting to read the time. A little after nine. Five, ten minutes after. Ought to be home in half an hour. If he'd known he had only ten seconds to live, he might have checked the time more closely. He might have done several things differently.

10 SECONDS TO LIVE. He messaged his eyes with thumb and middle finger, trying to rub out some of the sand.

9 SECONDS TO LIVE. He'd driven almost eight hours since lunch, and was beginning to feel it.

8 SECONDS TO LIVE. Lousy driving in the rain. Light from your headlights just seems to soak in along with the water.

7 SECONDS TO LIVE. Probably need a new windshield wiper blade. Old one just spreads the water around instead of wiping clean. Get one tomorrow, or next time it rains.

6 SECONDS TO LIVE. Somebody threw a cigarette out of an oncoming car. The red glow dissolved almost before it hit the pavement.

5 SECONDS TO LIVE. He planted his heels on the floorboard, squirmed in the seat, trying for comfort.

4 SECONDS TO LIVE. At 60 miles an hour, a car covers 88 feet of pavement every second. Four seconds; 352 feet.

3 SECONDS TO LIVE. Something looked wrong, through the blurry windshield. A tentative dab at the brake stiffened into desperate pressure as he made out an old, unlighted, slow-moving truck ahead.

2 SECONDS TO LIVE. Panic moved in. Turn to the left. No! Car coming. Headlights too close. Can't make it. Turn to the right.

1 SECOND TO LIVE. Horror numbed everything into slow motion. He was floating right into the rear corner of the truck bed. He opened his mouth to scream.

ZERO-NO SECONDS TO LIVE. It's happened to lots of people; maybe not just that way, but similarly. Drive too long, eyes get tired, reactions slow down. Rain, darkness, a windshield that's hard to see through. Driving too fast. A car or truck ahead that you can't see. It's happened to lots of folks.

As a Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

I have always longed for red velvet curtains. This has been a symbol of the greatest luxury. Always in the old paper back novels I read, the beautiful heroine pulled back the heavy red velvet curtains and gazed at the glittering stars or she tapped a silver bell and a soft-footed servant pulled together the hangings of the rich thick material and set a small table with lustrous china and engraved silver. When things got bad I think I could pull the soft fold of red velvet over the windows of my soul, the bad could be shut out.

But it is in my power to pull the red velvet curtains that hide the past and sit in the beautiful room of happy memories and live again the bright days of the long ago. I am a little girl again, with plaits of long brown hair I lie on the rug carpet at my great grandmother's home in Weatherford Mrs. Margaret Hunter was her name and she was a grand person.

The fire burns brightly on the hearth of the big fireplace making pictures that delight a child as she listens to the talk of the grownups. The Civil War is not far behind, the talk is still on battles, retreats and hard times in the duration. They talk of North- ern prisons, Yankees, bushwackers and deserters.

Then the talk switches to Indian days in Parker County. I shudder and slide to my mother's chair and touch her skirts. They laugh and tell about the time when my grandmother Isabel Jones took her children down into an old dry well and stayed so long, and how Tom Franklin ran so hard afoot thinking he was on a horse, wore out his pants leg with the whip. His brother Felix had played a joke and scared him.

Grandma Hunter tells of how embarrassed she was when the preacher caught her drinking coffee from the coffee pot, a favorite way with her during the day.

The grownups draw their rawhide-bottomed chairs closer to the dying fire, the smell of the clean straw under the rag rug blends with that of the woodly smoke as another log is put on the fire. The talk grows dim, sounds like the murmur of the little stream that passes by our little house in Weatherford where the tall water oaks spread their leafy boughs. The old clock ticks on and on. The ticking grows louder as I awake at the talk of mad dogs. I raise up and ask mother if there are any around.

At her reassurance, I slip down again, close by the table made of three broom sticks, the table top of oak bound with rope. On it is the big Bible with all the names of the family, deaths, marriages and births. I doze and wake.

Now the rustle of starched petticoats, the women arise to go to bed. The sweet voice of mother calls me and she stoops to draw me in her arms and carry me to the fat feather bed.

The bedroom was also covered with woven rag carpet over a covering of straw, the bedstead was dark and high. At the marble top bureau Aunt Annie had hung a foot of rope, ravelled about two-thirds the way up. It was for cleaning the comb by running the strands through the teeth of the comb. Mother put on my nightcap under my chin, then she put on her long ruffled and tucked gown and tied on her nightcap, then as she heard my prayers, the old clock ticking, ticking the minutes and hours away, we slept.

Oh, would you pull back the curtains of yesterday, or would you always sleep in the soft feather bed at grandma's home?

I wonder how women in Parker County could sit placidly tackling rags together for a carpet, piecing and quilting quilts when depreeding Indians roamed the country, killing men and women and carrying off children and horses. Mostly drab rag these frontier women had, grays and browns and blacks but there were weeds and bark that would make a fine dye and red, yellow and other colors were used that made bright spots in the carpet. Bright spots in the lives of these pioneers were made by going to church, quilting bees and log rollings, corn shelling and house raisings. These made the pattern of some- er days bright as did the reds and yellows and blues of the rag carpets.

The visiting of the preacher was looked forward to by every member of the family. I remember how Aunt Texana Tubbs, that was a Spikes, tell of looking forward to the Presiding Elder's visit when her little boy was only six days old. She laughed as she said, "I knew the colored girl could do most of the preparing of the food, but her pies and their instructress, Mrs. Carrick cakes were not to be compared to mine, so I got out of bed and made them."

It is time to close another visit sure learning to be good cooks with the ways and peoples of an early age. Those present yesterday. Seems as if there for the demonstration were Jan-should be a horse hitched to a buggy awaiting me at the gate but I know I shall find a modern car. So goodbye, and God bless you.

Family's Annual Trek Magazine Writer

Mrs. Wisdom read the Journal feature concerning another family. She wrote to the magazine, telling of her family's experiences on their trips and the magazine quickly responded expressing an interest. After several long distance telephone calls from New York, Miss Matthews arrived here on May 13 staying until May 16.

The magazine will send a representative to meet the family while they are away this summer, possibly at Albin, Wyoming, to get more pictures of the family life in their trailer house and in the combines at work in the field. The Journal works eight and nine months a year of their feature articles, Mrs. Wisdom was told, and this type story must be published in the summer time, thus the delay in publishing the feature until next summer.

While away in the harvest, Mrs. Wisdom usually cooks for 10 men and her family. Not only that but two of the meals must be carried to the fields where the men are working so that they may eat with a minimum loss of time.

The Wisdoms follow a certain route each year and know where they are going and what farms they will work on before they leave. Mrs. Wisdom explains, "They usually are gone all summer and into the fall but last summer Mrs. Wisdom and the children returned home in late August so that the oldest boy, Steven, age 7, could start school. Their other children are Paul, age 4, and Judy, almost 2. They always take the children with them.

The 10-man crew this year will include two Lockney boys, Wayne Cooper and Jake Wofford. Mrs. Wisdom's brother has been a member of the crew for three years and will be with them again this year.

Mrs. Wisdom has received a letter from Nelle Keys Bell, associate editor of the Journal, asking for information about living accommodations in some of the places they are to stop and suggesting that they meet them at Two Buttes, Colo. to secure the remainder of the material for the article.

The custom harvesting firm is called "Wisdom Brothers" and is composed of Raymond and Ed Wisdom, sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wisdom. They have been doing this type work for several years. Raymond handles the wheat harvesting operations while his family handle work on the farm operated jointly by the two brothers in this community. They will have three combines and four trucks in operation this summer in wheat harvest.

Daylight Robber Strikes Again

The day-light robber in Floydada struck again Thursday afternoon about 2:45, with approximately the same take which disappeared at T. L. Shipman grocery last week.

This time the cash register at Carnack Feed and Seed was hit for a sum of over $100 dollars according to the owner's reports.

Carnack, who has been fighting a near case of pneumonia while hospitalized, said he felt the person or persons who took the money, knew that he was out of the store at the time.

Dewey Hatley, employee of the feed company, was helping Art Miller load some feed in his pickup at the back of the store. No one was in the front at the time. Both men came to the front part of the store where Hatley signed the register to deposit Miller's check, and noticed that the money was gone.

Shipman's Grocery was robbed of $85 last Tuesday morning when one colored man kept Shipman busy wrapping a purchase while the other's hands were busy in the cash drawer.

Both robberies are under investigation.

Captain Joe Ray Carvajal, nephew of Grady Walker, was a house guest in the Walker home several days last week, and was en route to his new base in Virginia. Capt. Carvajal just recently has completed a three-year tour of duty with the army in Hawaii.

J. W. Laminack Passed Tuesday

J. W. Laminack, 74, grandfather of Mrs. Elton Turner of the city, and a former resident of the Rushing Chapel community, died Tuesday afternoon of last week enroute to a Fort Worth hospital where he was being treated after becoming gravely ill at his home. Mr. Laminack had suffered from a heart and diabetic condition for several years.

Rites were held Thursday afternoon in the Lake Worth Methodist Church. Floydada relatives were unable to attend.

Mr. Laminack was married Dec. 27, 1902, to Catherine Elizabeth Henderson. She passed May 6, 1957.

Survivors include five sons: J. L. Laminack of Ralls, Ala.; Willard, Roy and Homer Guffee and husband.

Irvin of Fort Worth, and one daughter, Mrs. Vera Blackwell, of Fort Worth.

Mr. Laminack was a brother of Mrs. Ollie Stewart of Floydada. One other sister and a brother also survive.

VISIT DOWN STATE

Mrs. Ina Hammonds, her daughter, Linda and Sally Potts, returned home recently after going to Victoria to get Mrs. Hammond's mother, Mrs. W. C. Sims, who had been there the past week visiting her sisters, Mrs. J. D. Calahan and Miss Elta Henry.

Mrs. Sims accompanied her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Harold and daughter, Elma, as far as Victoria. The Harold family were enroute home to Acordia, La., after being in Floyd J. L. Laminack of Ralls, Ala. Allenada visiting a daughter, Mrs. of Alabama, Willard, Roy and Homer Guffee and husband.

Floyd County Hesperian, Floydada, Tex., Thursday, July 2, 1959

D. L. Henry and Jimmy Sims Phil Green, Mark Goen, and Steve Fullerton are back home after attending Ceta Glen Camp last week. Floydada youngsters there this week include Jimmy Barrow, Gary Jarnagin, Suzan Badgett, Francis Van Wickel, Sue Johnson, Leonard Johnson, and Nancy Robertson.

"My Daddy says that the electricity that lights our house comes from the Electric Cooperative and that if it hadn't been for the Cooperative we might still be using a kerosene lamp."

That's right young lady. Twenty years ago your Dad and some of his neighbors got together and borrowed money to build their own lines. They are paying the money back with interest. During the drought the payments were sometimes hard to make but they never missed a one. When you're old enough to have your own farm, remember the electrical system wasn't given to you. You are paying your own way with interest. It's a wonderful story of rural people working together to make a better life with Rural Electrification.

New Club Officers

Civic Clubs here have changed officers of and the new Presidents, Vice-Presidents, Secretaries and Boards of Directors are preparing to go about their duties of the Club for the new year for them off with a BANG.

What functions does a Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, etc., perform? We might say that they are made up of solid citizens, which are professional men, laborers, salesmen, etc., trying to make this community a better and more livable place. The activities of these club members are varied and many.

It is certainly recommended to each of you to support various projects that each of the Civic Clubs town engages in; because as I said before, the objects or activities of these clubs affect you in every other person in town.

Vacations and Telephones

When you think of vacation, about this time of year you probably think of fishing, swimming, visiting plain relaxing at some nice vacation spot. Well, I'm happy to say that more and more people are using the telephone to have more fun on their trips.

Here's how it works (and you can do the same one of the lucky people still looking forward to it):

First, call ahead to reserve your accommodation to let the family know when you'll arrive.

Next, call ahead to make overnight reservations on the highway. This way, you can drive longer and be sure of a place to stay.

Think you'll find this "calling-ahead habit" you and your family have an even better vacation.

Why not give it a try? And remember, call a station—it's about one-third cheaper.

Ten Rings

With backyard barbecues so popular nowadays, spending more and more time outdoors. So call your friends, remember it may be quite a bit more to the backyard to the telephone.

Give them time to make the dash by letting the ring ten times.

Who knows? They may ask you over, too, for those hamburgers on the grill!

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Farm Safety Week Is July 19 - July 25

(John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture)

Farm work accidents claim about 3,500 lives each year, which is more than any other major industry. About 12,000 farm residents lose their lives each year in all types of accidents.

And a million or more farm people suffer accidental injuries and the accompanying disabilities, miseries and financial troubles each year.

Pretty grim statistics, aren't they?

To make the picture more grim, the National Safety Council says many of the deaths are somebody's fault — and could be prevented.

This is the reason the President has proclaimed the week beginning July 19, as National Farm Week and requests all persons and organizations interested in the welfare of farm people to support and participate in its observance.

The National Safety Council says human failure — ignorance and carelessness — are the main causes of farm accidents each year.

As individuals, rural residents can help in the battle against farm accidents by making regular inspections of their homes, buildings, fields, machinery and equipment. A little repair and extra care is about all it takes to bring safety home to the farm.

As groups, farmers can work for safety, too. Rural organizations should make accident prevention a part of their activity, a feature on their programs, a subject of their discussions.

Farm Safety Week is a good opportunity for rural residents to take a few lessons in safety, and then practice them all year long.

Many farm groups are planning special programs during Farm Safety Week and a number of rural ministers will mention the special week at church July 19.

The theme of this year's Farm Safety Week is "Safety Makes Sense".

Safety does make sense. It could save your life.

MUCH CONFUSION IN THE HOMES

WE BELIEVE there is a remedy for confusion in the Home. The average home today is one of dread and torment for the children, and nothing but heartache and sorrow for the parents. The devil is master of most homes, causing trouble and confusion and creating a little hell here on earth.

Most of the trouble stems from the fundamental fact that on the whole, parents are non-Christian, having never been saved by God's Grace, and are therefore representatives of Satan, and are doing his will. They drink, curse, fight, fuss, and in many cases are untrue to each other. This situation will always produce active rebellion in the child.

On the other hand, the children are fed trash and filth in many of our schools and most everywhere else, which doesn't tend to better the situation. The Lord Jesus Christ gives the remedy:

1. Parents are not to provoke their children to wrath. "And, ye, fathers, provoke not your children to wrath; but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." (Eph. 6:4) Some fathers complain about the wrath, indignation and anger of the son when if the truth were actually known, they are only reaping what they have sown over a period of years.

2. "Children obey your parents in the Lord." (Eph. 6:1) It is a beautiful sight to see children obeying and honoring their parents in the Lord. The Lord said it would be well with them and that he would give them a long life on the earth. (Eph. 6:3) This promise is precious indeed. There is something very important in this verse.

The children are to obey their parents "IN THE LORD." If the leadership of the parents is such that it drags down instead of elevating, the children must never submit. Training up a child in the ways of the Lord means much more than merely feeding him three meals a day. The spiritual life must be carefully cared for too. (Read Eph. 5:1, 2.)

You cannot be a friend and follower of God until you have experienced Christ Jesus in your hearts. Repent of your sin of rejecting Christ and trust Jesus now with all your heart. "He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life." (1 John 5:2)

Four Mishaps Bend Fenders On Highways

A rash of accidents the past week in Floyd County put a Lubbock woman in the hospital, and a Floydada miss required medical attention following two separate wrecks. Persons involved in the other two mishaps escaped injuries.

The chain of fender bendings started Thursday afternoon with the first collision occurring at the intersection of Mississippi Street and highway 70. Miss Nancy Meredith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Meredith, sustained two cuts on the head, requiring stitches, when her head banged against the car glass, after the 1957 Oldsmobile she was driving was in collision with a vehicle driven by Donnie Galloway.

Miss Meredith said she stopped at the highway intersection and let several cars go by then started across, failing to see the Galloway car approaching. Both cars were damaged but no estimate was available. The Galloway youth escaped injury.

The second accident occurred west of the Barwise community on Thursday Emmitt Willis, operating a county maintainer for Precinct 1, started to turn onto side road, just as Tom Snead attempted to go out around him. Damages resulted to the pickup driven by Snead.

Mrs. C. M. Lyles of the Campbell community and Don Barrow of Floydada were involved in an accident Saturday morning in front of the Commercial Hotel. Mrs. Lyles had pulled in to park at the hotel planning to visit with Mrs. E. J. Morehead. Barrow came around the corner in his 1939 Ford and bumped the rear end of the Lyles car. Some damage resulted to the Barrow car, but neither occupant injured.

In an accident Sunday, Mrs. A. J. Collins of Lubbock sustained numerous lacerations and abrasions, and bruises of the neck and back when she was injured in a car wreck southwest of town on the Ralls Highway. The Collins family were enroute home. A colored man by the name of J. D. Hughes, driver's license giving the address of Amarillo, was coming toward Floydada and turned off the highway into the path of the Collins 39 Ford.

Investigating officers said the Negro was intoxicated at the time of the wreck. He was charged with DWI and possession of liquors.

Collins, driver of the car, and their married daughter, and her children travelling with them, were uninjured.

FARM FAMILY TAKING UP NEW RESIDENCE

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Richardson and family are making preparations and hope to get settled this week in their new residence on the Charlie Battey farm four miles southeast of the city.

Mrs. Battey is making her home temporarily in Floydada with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Warren.

Mr. Tax-payer:

Which of these pipes will your city use

Texas-made Lone Star cast iron pressure pipe will last over a hundred years

The use of cheap substitutes, such as foreign-made cement-asbestos pipe, is wasteful and means probable replacement in a very few years. (This pipe was taken from a Texas city's water system. Photo is unretouched.)

Officials of most Texas municipalities know that when they buy and install cast iron pipe they are helping to support the American economy and the high standard of living we all enjoy. They are buying products made in America for use by Americans. They are not fooled by the slightly lower initial cost of foreign goods because they realize that this "paper savings" will be more than offset by the cost of excessive maintenance.

Domestic cast iron pressure pipe is time-honored, centuries-proved, and is backed by strong, resourceful American companies that will be in business for years on end to guarantee their product.

Really, who backs foreign-made pipe? Who answers for it when it fails? To whom will the few ill-advised pipe-buyers look for the answers to these questions when trouble develops? Were they penny wise and pound foolish?

Take a look at some of these important factors back of the initial price tag, then pick up the telephone and call the first city official you think of and tell him you appreciate his good judgment in buying American-made cast iron pipe with your tax dollars. If he has been buying Lone Star pipe, tell him that we, too, appreciate the business!

LATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Much more than Seidom, if ever before, have lawmakers been so sensitive to criticism — from governor, from press, from public.

For the first time in years, the House met on a Saturday (June 20) to work on the long overdue tax bill. Knuckling down had come reluctantly — but surely — after governor and press had chided lawmakers for long Thursday-to-Monday recesses during the short 30-day special sessions. Lawmakers fussed back earlier in that week — but they stayed late.

For the most part, the fussing was all bark and little bite. House members who threatened to evict Capitol news reporters from their quarters and House floor press tables in reprisal weren't taken seriously. Reporting of legislative affairs is fundamental to the democratic processes — and no one realizes it better than do lawmakers.

In brief: pressures mounted — a safety valve blew — and work was resumed in earnest.

NEW TAX PROPOSAL — A 2 per cent "luxury tax" on items costing more than $50 is the principal new feature of a House committee-approved revenue bill. Tax committee voted 12-to-6 to send the bill by Rep. Frates Seeliger of San Antonio to the House floor.

Like several previous bills, it was an attempt to compromise the conflicts between the "sales taxers" and "business taxers." It would raise an estimated $170,000,000 for the biennium.

About $36,000,000 would come from the luxury sales tax. About $6,100,000 would come from a one per cent severance beneficiary tax on natural gas and about $13,000,000 from increased franchise taxes on corporations.

Rest would come from increased levies on gross receipts of utilities and sales of automobiles, tobacco, wine and liquor.

In the showdown on taxes last session, the House refused to approve a bill heavy on sales taxes. Some committee members voted against this bill on grounds that a 2 per cent sales tax, even though it was only on $50 or more items, would be ruinously unpopular.

A majority of the Senate, however, has shown definite disapproval of loading too much of the new burden on business. They feel heavy business taxes would shut out industry and cut off the source of new prosperity.

SPENDING BILLS RE-PASSED — Both houses re-passed the appropriation bills that went through the first special session.

They went to same conference committee that worked before to adjust differences. House bill was some $20,000,000 higher.

Conference committee reportedly did most of the routine work on the bills and set them aside until a tax bill could be passed to make spending possibilities more definite.

STILL FEUDING — Abandoned property bill, which provoked some of the most heated legislative debate this year, is having its third round.

Rep. James Bates of Edinburg, sponsor, told the House tax committee the bill wouldn't change the escheat laws that have been on the statute books for years. He declared it would make the old law more workable.

Bates' bill, as introduced this session, would require banks and other holders money or property unclaimed for seven years, to report it to the state within 60 days after passage of the bill.

It also would give state agencies authority to examine the books and records of businesses to see if they are holding such property.

Bankers labeled it a "free hunting license into all bank accounts" and unconstitutional search and seizure.

Bill was sent to subcommittee.

STUDENT FEE BILL MOVES — Making progress in its second legislative round is a bill that would allow state colleges to require students to pay an activity fee.

Similar bill died in the first special session.

It would allow the colleges to make mandatory a student fee of $30 a semester. This would pay for such campus services as hospital and medical care, book rental, student publications and tickets to athletic and cultural events.

College presidents are supporting the bill. Those from smaller schools, particularly, say they need the extra revenue to stay in the black on these activities.

Spokesmen for student groups opposed. They said poorer students would rather do without these services than pay the fees.

Senate Finance committee leaned toward the presidents' view, voted the bill out by a 2-to-1 majority.

NEW BEACH BILL — Senate has a simplified substitute for Rep. Robert Eckhardt's bill to protect public beaches.

New bill says that no one shall get in the way of the public's right to go to and from public beaches. It leaves to the courts the job of defining where the line is between public and private ownership along the coast.

It would not, according to its Senate sponsors, cloud the title of privately owned land next to beaches. Sponsors are Sens. J. P. Phillips of Angleton, Culp Krueger of El Campo and Robert Baker of Houston.

At the House committee hearing on the Eckhardt bill, many came to testify for and against. Supporters of the bill said the only opposition was from "self-called land owners." Opponents called it an effort to "take land without just compensation."

land children and Mrs. John Lyles and children were guests of Mrs. Ada Hinton Sunday.
