ast week took on an even rosier hue When the eighth test for oil got under way. Eight prospectors in progress at once makes a considerable bit of activity. All the drilling is on smaller ranches or on preemption land, principally in the vicinity of Roaring Springs. Humble Oil Company, which has drilled a test at the rate of approximately one every eight months on the Matador ranch lands over a long period of years and has not as yet reported a producing well, had given Motley the reputation of being an "oil poor" county. The changed situation has been a great thing for the small farmers who have leased their lands for development and a few of whom have hit the jackpot with actual oil production. Also it has Been great for Matador and Roaring Springs business people and property owners, who now have people moving in who just must have homes, food and clothing for their families.

Journalism Study Made by Floydada Girls Last Week

Misses Sue Ring, Addie Adkins, and Grace Ann Potts returned Thursday from Lubbock where they attended the summer journalism workshop sponsored by the West Texas High School Press Association.

While they were there an isue of the Toreador, Tech's college paper, was published by the students. They received all their assignments from Preston Maynard, editor of the paper for the summer, and one of Sue's stories made the front page in an article about President Jones.

Addie and Sue stayed in the dorm while Grace Ann commuted to the classes. A tour through television station KDUB, and through the new Avalanche-Journal Building had been planned for them as well as a bar

Sanitary Dishes Need Hot Water Temperatures

Once upon a time when people caught a "common cold," they took to their beds with hot water bottle. buckets of fruit juice, pots of tea, and an old woolen sock wrapped around the neck. Nowadays, they reach for any of a number of preferred "cold pills" and try to avoid the stay-abed period.

But no matter which way you try to fight it, the cold germ usually stays with people about a week ... once it gets into the system.

Extensive testing under all types of conditions has proved, however, that dishes washed in an automatic electric dishwasher, with water temperatures from 140 to 160 degrees, rinsed with the same scalding water, and then dried by the circulation of hot air, more than meet the standards set by the U.S. Public Health Service.

20 Years Later . . . SAME STATION - DIFFERENT WAGON

The setting is the same as 20 years ago but, otherwise, these pictures tell a graphic story of two decades of station wagon development. The photograph at top was taken at the Wyandotte, Mich., New York Central station in 1939 as Chevrolet introduced its first station wagon model-a unit featuring a body made of wood and steel. In contrast below is a 1959 all-steel Nomad with huggage rack, wraparound windows, folding seats, electrically operated tailgate window, dual headlights, etc. A further note on station wagon history... in 1939, less than seven out of every 1,000 cars built were station wagons. Today, about every sixth care is a wagon. Five of Chevrolet's 15 passenger car models are
