EDITORIAL VIEWS AND COMMENT

Touching on Featherbedding the railways have an advertisement in The Hesperian this week. They say the practice is costing the shippers half a billion dollars a year. We have about come to the conclusion that the reason there is little apparent indignation over this and similar situations in other lines is that a good many of us are looking for ways to get a soft touch of our own. The idea is growing that it is nice to have something for nothing.

Speaking of Railroad affairs we have friends in the railroad operating business - engineers, conductors and the like - who are making more than a good many college presidents, although we admit the colleges are fast coming up in this world.

Primary Road Program. The road machinery people and the highbinders in road construction abetted by the unions may have carried their program of increasing costs too fast. The Bureau of Public Roads has admitted that costs have gotten out of hand and the only way they can halt the waste is to bring it to a halt. We suspect the ground swell of indignation from the people of nation may have had some effect.

Leaves are falling, tired of their long tenacity. Many trees will be nude before Jack Frost does his work unless he hastens. Trees are said to be bustling with energy, their alchemy being prepared against another season. Having done with one set of leaves the tree growth pushes them loose from succulence and begins storing up for next year's bursting forth.

Another natural phenomenum of the fall is the early morning gathering of the night's visil, just a bit above the freezing mark, seems to make the yellow breast of the plains want to gather

RAILROAD FEATHERBEDDING:

$500,000,000

TO THE NATION-INCLUDING YOU-EVERY YE

Featherbedding on the railroads - pay for work not done or not needed - is costing the American people the shocking total of more than $500,000,000 a year.

You pay for it every time you shop, because featherbedding costs are hidden in the price of everything you buy.

Obsolete union work rules, involving the railroad operating employees, are responsible for this gigantic burden. Right now, for instance, these rules require every diesel locomotive to carry a fireman - even though diesels have no fires to stoke, no boilers to tend.

The forthcoming negotiations between the railroads and the unions are urgently important to the whole nation.

In asking the unions to drop these featherbedding rules, all the railroads ask for is a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.
