White Cotton Fields Await Sun And Wind

Yesterday afternoon it became a certainty that harvesting machinery would not go into cotton fields with any degree of success before another week -- possibly 10 days.

Cotton harvesters in limited numbers, both machinery and manual, were in the fields Friday Saturday and Sunday. Gins operated part of Monday, catching up with the cotton that had begun to flow from the fields in pretty fair volume.

ARE COMMUNISTS HERE?

A Baptist minister, who beat it out of Cuba barely ahead of the gendarmes, told a group of newsmen the other day at Quaham that we may not be laying enough stress on our battle with communism, that is, not making the issue more clearly drawn.

We have arrived at the point where preserving our nation from the communists may be even for a greater cause than just preserving the American way of life, as so many of us think. The fact is, he said, we may be at the point where the issue is saving the country for Christ.

His experience in Cuba—he was a native who did not want to leave—had taught him, he said, that no one knows who is a communist. There may be communists in this very room, he said. Which gave his listeners a creepy feeling. Are there actually any Communists in West Texas?

DEMOS WIN SPECIAL ELECTIONS

To date the Democrats have lost no contests to fill vacancies in state and national offices. Noisiest of these was at San Antonio in the congressional special election. Culmination of the next Congressional campaign comes on Dec. 16 when a successor to Frank Icard of the Wichita Falls district is to be named.

Deaths and resignations also are causing special elections in the State Senate and House of Representatives. Resignations of the San Antonio and the Wichita Falls representatives were, in each instance, to take important political appointments made possible by the Democratic victory in November a year ago.

REPUBLICAN GETS BIG VOTE

Although acclaimed as an important victory for the Democrats it was, to us, significant that the Republican candidate polled 45 per cent of the big vote cast.

While San Antonio district years ago sent a Republican to congress, no such thing had transpired in the recent political history of that district.

Many Democrats in Texas are saying they have cast off the Democratic party and are voting Republican henceforth. From our point of view the thing for a Democrat to do is to stay in the party and put up the fight inside the organization. Texas has not done so badly as a Democratic state. The fact is that Texas is one of the best managed states in the nation. This is notably not true of many states where the Republicans and Democrats see saw back and forth in power.

TWO PARTY STATE

The hue and cry, the sound and fury, is raised for a two-party state for the sake of better administration of the state's affairs. This idea that a two-party state will have healthier conditions in public affairs than a one-party state is a myth that is easily exploded by research.

If one wants to vote Republican — or Democratic—because he leans that way, well and good. But not in the expectation that changing over from a preponderant Democratic state to a state of mixed political power will be of value. Study Illinois, New Jersey, New Hampshire and Vermont for a good answer.

STATE SALES TAX COLLECTIONS

Last week about 90 thousand of the estimated 130 or 140 thousand retailers in the state had made reports and remitted for September sales tax collections. The possible receipts were not sufficiently complete to give a clear indication that the income would be sufficient to overcome the state's deficit during the legislative session.

The comptroller is now faced with the job of shelling the woods for the little fish who are not yet "numbered" and haven't sent in their widows' mites.

The "growing needs" of the state are likely to call for more and more collections by the retailers. We note that Pennsylvania's much admired "system" now is up to four cents. "Growing needs" has an ingrown hormone.

THE PUBLIC PAYS CHEERFULLY

But while the retailers moan and the newspapers gripe about the state's new sales tax the public seems to be taking it with good grace, cheerfully paying off. We've yet to hear of the first complaint by a consumer. Evidently the public mind had been conditioned to the added costs and are going along because they think it is probably the best way out. Many think it is good because it entails contributions by a good many people who have not helped out on public expense heretofore.

WASHINGTON—A WASTEFUL DISEASE

Waste again in Washington attaches to the vast pile of marble or masonry which is being built for the members of the United States Senate, and for the House of Representatives.

Those of us who deplored that vast waste which is called the Supreme Court Building and decried the house of the Chambered Nautilus, that pile of corridors and offices and hide aways called the Pentagon, can now huff and puff about the new office chambers of our senators and congressmen—and how little good it will do.

It is significant in one respect—this waste in the national capital, significant of the fact that the Congress does not think like you and I think, about debt and responsibility to the people for their public funds.

The basis of mental health for the average adult is more work, provided the work is not mere drudgery.

— Dr. J. B. Nash.

Let us not be too particular; it is better to have old secondhand diamonds than none at all.

Those who are at war with others are not at peace with themselves. — William Hazlett

We all have strength enough to endure the misfortunes of others. —La Rochefoucauld

Christmas Near. One way one knows that Christmas is near is to note that Cal Farley is out shelling the woods to be sure that enough money is on hand for the Boys Ranch boys to have a homey Christmas with presents and everything. Mr. Farley has saved many a boy to a useful life. He must get great satisfaction out of the thing he is doing. At least he never seems to tire.

Financial. General of the Army Eisenhower has now come out against big government spending and robbing our grandchildren to pay our bills, reports D. E. Scott in "Crossroads Report." The ex-president did some pretty fancy spending for eight years, but, Scott assumes, his thinking has aged with years and experience, indicating the general has recovered from his eight-year spending jag and understands that financial intemperance is not so much a sin as a sickness.

Pheasants. Floydada had enough qualified voters in Southwest Nebraska last week to elect a sheriff if they'd been of a notion. The Hesperian mentioned five or six, but there were several carloads. Some found more cock birds and had better luck than others.

Why no pheasants in Texas we do not know for sure. Something we read, in the game and fish magazine perhaps, led us to believe the Wild Life Commission is doubtful whether pheasants would ever do well in this state.

One thing for sure, they won't do well unless they get some protection. Several small flocks or coveys have been turned loose in this area only to be slaughtered. Their bright plumage is so unusual for this area that the year-round hunters take a killing fit. The same people seem to respect the quail seasons reasonably well.

Not Far Away. Unless you've traveled the distance Nebraska seems far away. Floydada mileage meters recorded 485 to 500 miles to the state line, the returned hunters said.

Highway 70. Notable interest is being shown in Highway 70 in New Mexico, where Ruidoso and other communities on the route are whooping it up for increased travel. Highway 70 is the Ruidoso route. That community has plans under way to make their resort a year-round playground, by adding ski run, for which many thousands are now being spent, for roads and lifts and hostilities reaching up toward the summit of "the mountain." What they do there also will help here.

No Inkle Yet. We have been awaiting the announcement of some kind of an attraction that would cause highway travelers on 62 and 70 to pause for awhile here for something other than food and motor service. These latter have been augmented considerably in the past two years, most notable probably being the choice of good places to eat. Whoever has that good idea that will stop part of the travel in Floydada for another thirty minutes will have his name called blessed.

Tinnin Aids Warm Springs Foundation

GONZALES — John R. Tinnin, 108 S. 5th St., is serving as the Floydada volunteer representative for the Texas Rehabilitation Center of Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation.

As a volunteer representative, he is a part of the state-wide organization of men and women dedicated to the rehabilitation of the state's physically disabled citizens through treatment at the Texas Rehabilitation Center, the largest comprehensive rehabilitation facility in the Southwest.

TRC offers rehabilitation to any person who can benefit from its treatment program which is made up of many different types of therapies. Persons of all ages are treated at the Center for the after-effects of various diseases and injuries.

Organized and chartered as a non-profit, non-sectarian corporation in 1937, the Texas Rehabilitation Center has facilities with a replacement value of $2,500,000.

Two of TRC's large buildings are closed because of a lack of operating funds, even though there is a long waiting list of patients. With a budget of $55,000 a month, TRC depends upon public contributions for 55 per cent of its budget.

Meal Planning With Freezer Foods

Thanks to the Food freezer planning interesting, healthful meals is simple and fun. Just draw from the wonderful fresh game, fish, dairy products, baked and cooked foods - which you have carefully selected and prepared according to directions.

You need have no regard for season - you can serve fresh raspberries in November or Strawberry shortcake in February. A good rule to follow: Think first what's in the freezer, then plan the menu.

Whether planning food for one or many on the spur of the moment, or with notice far in advance - the food freezer is the most versatile assistant you could possibly employ.

Speaking of special gifts don't forget the Lighthouse Cook Books - they are ideal gifts for so many. Possibly some on your list for Christmas giving, and about whom you have been wondering what to buy, would like very much to own one of these books.

HOMEMAKING HINTS

by Phyllis Roggendorff Co. Home Demonstration Agent

Home Furnishings - 1962 Style
For those looking for the newest thing in furnishings in 1962, the market will have much to offer. The old stand-bys of mahogany, maple, oak and walnut are still very much a part of the fashion scene. More of each will be appearing in rubbed finishes and manufacturers are taking special care in cutting wood to bring out all decorative features. Methods used are slicing, quartering, and rotating. Burls are popular for inlays and accents.

Painted furniture is truly in fashion. This finish is to be found in most classic groups as well as French Provincial. White is the favorite and is found in a heavily brushed finish as well. Occasional pieces are being shown in sorrel, yellow, cinnamon red and chocolate brown.

In hardware, antique brass pulls are newsworthy. Also tiled pulls, painted hardware as well as wood pulls are to be found. Anodized aluminum continues to show interest. Laminated tops are still popular. Marble for furniture tops is perhaps gaining in popularity. White Carrara glass and tiles imported from West Germany will be shown for dining and coffee tables as well as tea cart tops.

Imported woods such as Brazilian Rose Wood, Zebra wood and others will also be a part of high fashion in furniture in 1962.

Plan to Make Those Added Years Happy Ones

There are more people over 65 years of age in the United States than there ever have been before. Statisticians tell us that we can expect this number to increase considerably in the coming years.

Though most of us want to live longer, we do not want to be "old". It is, therefore, becoming more important for us to plan to live fully as we grow older, so we can enjoy those added years.

The only insurance against growing old seems to be to live fully and intensely day by day, to have useful interests, activities and hobbies, and continue learning something.

What you learn doesn't matter a great deal, so long as it is something interesting and worthwhile to you. Some things can be learned best alone; other things are more interesting learned in groups.

Home Demonstration Council

The regular Home Demonstration Council meeting will be held this Friday at 2 p.m. in the council room of the courthouse. Plans will be made for the officers training meeting and plans announced for the council Christmas party.

WMU Elects Mrs. Black President

Of most personal interest to high plains people concerning the Baptist General Convention of Texas was the election of Mrs. Bert Black as president of the Texas Woman's Missionary Union in session preceding the general convention.

Mrs. Black, a resident of Crosbyton since the early 30's, has been president District Nine WMU five years, and six years president of the Floyd Baptist Association WMU.

In other actions the general convention of the church voiced unanimous conviction that they should take no part in crumbling the wall that separates church and state. With messengers from most every church in the state taking part, the convention called on their schools, hospitals and children's homes that accepting government loans, grants or property at reduced rates violates the Baptist stand on the historic principle of separation of church and state. This as a basic truth but "not as a way of expressing bias against the Roman Catholic Church."

Touching on Communism the convention urged Baptists to "avoid using Communist tactics of hate, half-truth and slander," and to guard against becoming like those whom Baptists oppose. In line with the stated convictions against government aid to Baptist institutions the convention launched a crusade to raise $25 million in an effort to provide Baptist schools with funds to meet the educational needs of the next decade.

One of the enthusiastic actions taken was to back a vast five week evangelistic crusade in Japan April 28-May 31, 1963.

A popular television program recently did a hilarious spoof on the "busy, busy woman." The gentle, home-body wife was miserable when her menfolk admired an efficient career woman-artist-community worker. The happy ending came when she discovered her rival's hubby did the housework and cooking, all of the errands and half of his wife's committee assignments while she got the praise.

We enjoyed this, first, because we've been a "b. b. w." most of our lives and know its seamy side; besides, we've always been irked by the expression "and she still finds time to..." which comes up invariably.

Anyone who has played the role — and half of us have at least once — knows that something has to give. In our household, for example, there are no growing children; the grandchildren live far away; and first-rate help keeps the home fires stoked and the spouse in homemade bread.

Even so, we often hear the refrain, "How do you find time to..." If we're feeling honest, we answer: "If you could see the closets at our house, you'd know"; or "I have an under-standing husband"; or "If the cooking leaves, I'm through."

At an age when good grooming makes a difference of ten years in appearance, we still dash home and snatch up good gloves, shoes and wrap to appear for fifteen minutes at a tea. There we try to act as relaxed as the women who went to the beauty parlor, had a nap, then spent an hour dressing. Shopping for a new dress is a chore, not a pleasure. Lounging on Sunday morning to read the paper is sheer luxury. An unplanned evening is an unexpected gift.

A better question to ask the "b. b. w." is not how, but why, "she still finds time to..."

Others are contributing to a needy relative but a worker enjoys talking with so many different people and being in the various homes. Several ladies have new furniture or have redone an old piece of furniture. This lady has just finished new drapes, someone else is canning pepper

Mrs Nina Upton Announces Postal Live Stock Survey

A number of patrons of the South Plains Post Office will find livestock survey cards in their boxes on November 16. Information reported on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms. Postmaster Nina Upton explains.

Cards are distributed at random among patrons having livestock and poultry.

"This means that not every box will get a card," Mrs. Upton said. "For this reason, it's important for everyone who gets a card to return it filled out so that USDA can get a true sample of the state's livestock holdings."

Facts and figures secured in this survey are the basis for the Texas and National pig crop report and inventories of the livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. Stockmen and many others use this information in making business decisions.

Survey results will be widely distributed through Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service releases, newspapers, farm magazines, radio and television.

"This annual survey has been a joint undertaking of the Post Office and the Agriculture Department since 1924," concludes Mrs. M. Upton.

FROM TERRY'S REGIMENT—We are permitted to copy the following extract from a private letter from a member of Terry's Regiment, dated "Near Bowling Green, Kentucky, October 18."

"We are now encamped near this place awaiting the remainder of our regiment. We are within forty miles of the enemy's lines, and it is the intention of Col. Terry to send us forward as soon as the rest of our regiment get up. We met numerous congratulations and praise from Louisianians, Mississippians and Tennesseans.

We have found a great many UNION men at our this encampment. The boys are anxious to swing them on the spot, but Gen. Johnson forbids any severe measures towards the Kentuckians. There are some 10,000 men here from Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas, Tennessee and Kentucky. You can not imagine with what anxiety our boys are looking ahead for orders to march. We have now 900 horses, and I think will move against the enemy within a week. The health of our men is only tolerably good at present.—THE WEEKLY TELEGRAPH

$25 REWARD—Runaway from the subscriber, living in Robertson County, Texas, near Sterling, on the 1st of July, a negro man named Reuben, or Blue. He is of black complexion, 5 feet 10 or 11 inches, about 40 years old, quite gray, has a small scar on his nose, very likely and well built, extremely polite and quick spoken, very smart and will be certain to deny his master. A No. 1 carpenter, and formerly belonged to Judge Buckner of Houston. I will give the above reward for his delivery in jail so that I get him. Jos. E. Hernandez.—THE WEEKLY TELEGRAPH

COFFEE BETTER THAN WATER

—Extreme thirst is one of the most severe trials the active soldier has to encounter. During a long march and on the field of a long and hotly contested battle, he is often almost overcome with fatigue and thirst. An old frontiersman, who has had much experience on the Western borders and on the plains suggests to us the following as the best remedy and preventative of thirst that has ever been discovered: After a meal take the coffee grounds, boil them over again, and pour it off in your canteen, and let it cool for your next march. It is not only nutritive and stimulating, but it will quench the thirst more effectively than water. It will go two or three times as far as water. Also, take the coffee grounds, after being thus used, dry them and put them in your pocket, and chew them at intervals on the march, or during any arduous service, and they will likewise repress thirst, and satiate greatly the cravings of hunger. This course has been tried with the most gratifying results, and is worthy of a trial by every soldier in the service.—THE BELLVILLE COUNTRYMAN

"WAGON WHEEL, CARRY ME"

—A young Irishman named Lanahan, a member of the New York regiment, was tied up to a wagon wheel, to be whipped for some indiscretion, by order of Maj. Lewis, an officer of the regiment, got loose, put a fatal bullet through the head of the major, was sentenced to be shot, and committed suicide. The North had better be careful of such men. They have not many who won't bear whipping.—THE BELLVILLE COUNTRYMAN

Both marriage and Maytag still working

The Maytag in the picture below is not the one that Mr. A. W. Bell of Vandergrift, Pa., bought for his wife back in 1933.

The Maytag Washer you see is his gift to Mrs. Bell simply because she wanted the most modern automatic available today.

Though her 27-year-old Maytag was still working, she felt it would be nice to have an automatic that has all the new features, plus the one that makes them work . . . Maytag dependability.

She expects both marriage and Maytag will continue working just as before. The remarkably long lives of so many of the 13,000,000 Maytags built since 1907 strongly suggest that Mrs. Bell has no reason to expect otherwise.

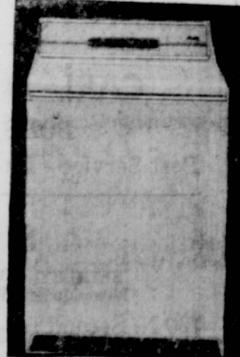

The best thing about it is that she gets all these new features right along with old-time Maytag dependability:

Automatic bleach dispenser that ends bleaching mistakes. Lint-Filter Agitator eliminates lint problems. Safety lid that stops action in seconds when opened. Automatic water level control that saves water on partial loads. And a zinc-coated steel cabinet to protect against rust.

For 1962...an all-new kind of Ford!

the car that's just right for just about everybody

You've never seen anything like it, because there's never been anything like it . . . until today. On the outside the new Ford Fairlane 500 measures a quick 197 inches from stem to stern. A good foot shorter than the cars from which it borrowed its name, it calls the snuggest parking places home. At the same time, on the inside the new Fairlane 500 is every inch as big as some of the biggest Fords ever built.

The new Fairlane 500 is priced way under previous Fairlanes, well under many compacts. But Fairlane economy doesn't stop with a pretty price tag. It runs to amazing gas savings—with the world's first economy V-8 or the nickel-nursing Fairlane Six. Routine service is reduced to a minimum—30,000 miles on many items, only twice a year or 6,000 miles on the rest. And it adjusts its own brakes.

Sen. Jarrard Secrest of Temple, Sen. Bob Baker of Houston, and Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock are the announced candidates. There is likely to be GOP opposition for this post as well as at least one other Democrat. Only thing certain now is that there will be stiff competition for those primary votes on May 5.

Here are a few suggestions: A colorful extension phone for Mother in the bedroom, kitchen or sewing room — or in the den or workshop for Dad. You can be sure a phone for the teenagers will be well received. Choose from a table model, a wall phone or the lovely little Princess phone with the light-up dial.

For family we offer Home Interphone. It lets you talk from room to room, answer the door, and take outside calls without racing through the house — a real step-saver for everyone. Or maybe you want the pleasant musical tone of the Bell chime.

To announce your surprise, be sure to ask for the free bantam Princess phone to place under the tree. It makes a wonderful child's toy too.

Why not visit or call our Christmas Phoneland in the business office and order the telephone gifts you want this week?

"HOLD THE PHONE"

Did you know color telephones are designed to give you a place to leave the receiver when you're called away from the phone in the midst of an unfinished conversation?

If you have a handsome wall phone you may have noticed it has a ridge on the top of each side. If you are called away just hang the receiver over this ridge. This offers two advantages: it gives you a handy place to hold the phone, and it keeps the spring cord from stretching out of shape and becoming unsightly in your home.

If you have a table model, place the receiver across the front of the instrument just above the dial, so that it rests on the recessed shoulders of the phone base. No need to worry about it falling off — these phones are designed to give you this extra convenience.

Now that fall has really moved in and taken hold I've noticed that the highways seem to carry a good share of fall vacationers and hunters. With more leisure time on their hands, folks seem to enjoy getting out on the road and going somewhere. Here's a tip if you're planning a trip. Call ahead to your favorite hostelry and make a reservation. That way you're assured of a place to stay when you arrive. Or if you're going to visit friends call them to let them know you're coming. Long Distance calls are low in cost—especially when you call station-to-station.
