RESTORING SERVICE. This is a picture of a somewhat heroic job linemen were doing on Lighthouse Electric's lines eight miles east of Floydada, after Thursday night's sleet, rain and high wind had laid power lines on the ground. Hole digging and pole distributing crews were working on ahead, as these men got a new pole set. Broken pole lies in the foreground. Wires got an inch in diameter with the accumulation of moisture before the poles whipped in two in the 50-mile gale. Picture was made about 9:30 Friday morning. The crews had the lines back in service before nightfall. Note the snow, which fell generally across the east side of Floyd County. (Staff photo).

NO PLACEMENT OFFICE

Determined that no action of theirs would give the appearance of willingness for the Federal government to get its "foot in the door" in connection with farm management and labor relations, farmers here last Friday gave evidence they were not for Texas Employment Commission to locate a placement representative in the county.

Texas Employment Commission has been assigned the job of making a weekly survey of wages paid in this county and making a report to a central agency, which takes their report as a basis of fact and issue, a ruling on "prevailing" wages that must be paid braceros. This is the relation with labor, which, no doubt, predicated objection to spread of its activity to the local area.

The farmers referred to are those of a group who told the Commissioners Court in a public hearing Friday that they were opposed to the move. If sentiment had been indicated as favorable the county would have supplied office room for the TEC man at taxpayer expense.

REPRESENTATION IS SMALL

Representation at the hearing was small because others were preoccupied by the demands of their business, or harvest. There was no doubt that any larger number of farm people would have given the court the same answer.

Only town people present thought the idea was a good one and favored the establishment of a local office, (1) because it would add another family to the population, and (2) because it would get the Commission closer to those who had business with it (the unemployed through no fault of their own). A claimant must make a weekly trip to the nearest office of TEC in order to collect unemployment compensation. Also, it is embarrassing not to be able to send a job seeker to somebody who could answer his questions intelligently.

PROTEST AT LOCAL LEVEL

Perhaps these considerations are of no consequence but regional offices of the Texas Employment Commission are in such large cities as Lubbock and Amarillo without evidence of protest, and district offices in such cities as Plainview. Concern over possible location of a local office in Floydada is, therefore, not understandable to us.

Fortunately the Chamber of Commerce kept its nose clean in this regard. It sought for and got a hearing in which unmistakable objection was indicated, and graciously bows to the will of the majority, which it is intended to serve in the first place.

RESISTS FEDERAL PRESSURES

Texas Employment Commission is a state agency, which was fought for by the state authorities at the time the current plan was in the formative period. It is about the only agency (possibly the only one) that Texas authorities were able to keep on the state's rights basis. All the others that we know about have local people in direct relation with the federal government without regard to state boundaries.

Through the establishment of the agency on a state basis the most of the millions that are collected (farmers do not pay any of it) stay in the state and state administration of its affairs, (including the distribution of moneys) is kept in Texas. A three-man commission, one of whom represents the worker, the employer and the public, respectively, operates it. To date they have been able to resist pressures from the federal bureaucracy and the labor over lords.

IS HARD WEATHER DUE?

Has the wather cycle reached the point where Boreas is going to trigger some cold weather for the plains of Texas? No telling, of course, but it might be—and a good thing, too, should it come. Floyd County fields need some assistance in ridding the ground of insect pests. They need for winter to make a foray at the boll weevil. With several moderate winters, some of them extremely so, the weevil has moved westward. There were some signs of weevils in Floyd County in the 1961 crop.

Boll weevils put the black lands out of the running as a major cotton producing area in the early part of this century. The weevil has never been a threat in this part of the cotton producing country and presumably will not be again, because of the severity of winters. Which is one reason why we need a February of severe cold. There are other insect pests which a cold winter would not exactly encourage.

A NEW KIND OF GIN?

Although many improvements have been made to result in the modern gin plant, the basic model that grew out of Eli Whitney's inventive mind is still being used.

The gin stand with its saws and ribs to separate the fibre from the seed is the gin. The other things are needed to make the gin complete, the cleaners, dryers, presses, et cetera, et cetera. An investor can spend about as much money as he has on improvements for his gin plant, and sometimes he does, it seems. But it is all built around the whirling saw that carries the lint through the "ribs", tears it apart from the seed and drops the seed in a bin while the lint is blown into a receptacle, pressed and sent out to clothe the world.

All this only to say that there should be some kind of a break through to get cotton processed faster and without such a tremendous investment in plants. Even a mobile gin plant can be imagined.

No Answer Yet. The damage such as was done last week to the distribution systems of telephone and power lines requires a peculiar combination of weather. There must be the right kind of moisture falling in the right temperature and a wind to go along with them. When the three conditions get "right" the serviceman knows to expect a call out into the weather to see what he can do. There has been no mechanical answer found yet. Experiments are still going on but the force is practically irresistible and it may be a long time before an adequate remedy is found this side of burying the lines in the ground.

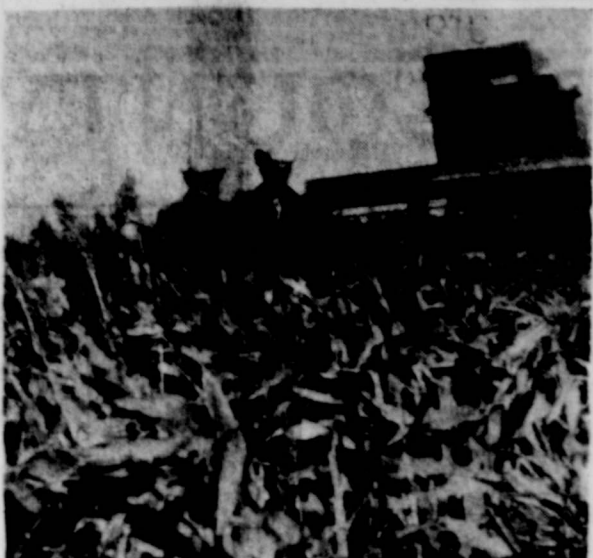

Millions Wasted. Because many people are overweight and need to reduce, foods, pills, vitamin supplements, drugs for weight control are legion. On these and such gadgets as vibrators, electric belts and mechanical exercises health authorities estimate that millions are wasted annually. Actually no trick or miracle foods are needed. Generally the weight reducer needs re-educating to the amount of food needed per day, stressing variety in the daily diet. Taken thus we are told the average person can lose weight on 1,500 calories per day, provided some moderate exercise is also taken daily.

Mean Weather. The Floyd County cotton crop lost quite a bit of tonnage after October 1 due to weather, in addition to the attrition of hail and rainstorms that pestered some areas in the spring and summer. This cotton loss was occasioned by wetness and green cotton. Probably eight thousand bales were lost in this manner, in the field and at the gin. Usually 2,000 pounds of pulled seed cotton will turn out a 500-pound bale. Many farmers hauled 2,600 pounds to get the same amount of weight this year.

Sesame Seed. A trucker enroute to Muleshoe this week told us he had 600 thousand pounds of sesame seed to haul from that point to a California destination and would haul dried fruit on the back haul. Muleshoe farm operators are also having some luck with early-planted corn according to report from High Plains Research Station.

Governor Winning. The called session of the legislature is due to pass the escheat bill wanted by the governor, which will be watered down to some extent, however, as possibly it should be. Also the plan to put farm to market road maintenance on an assured basis. Whatever is or is not done about the loan shark mess will not be satisfactory to many people. We, frankly, wouldn't have a good idea on how to cope with this situation in Texas. We doubt if the governor or the legislature does.

Cotton Mechanized. Probably three-fourths of the cotton crop in Floyd County was harvested the past season by mechanical means. It follows there is no reason to expect next year's crop to be less so. Producers are "running" from an arbitrary federal Labor Department which has been given a free hand in many ways. The average farmer speaks of the Bracero program as pretty well scuttled, and he realizes that the number of capable, efficient laborers worth the money is limited. He has to do something, he thinks.

BIG MAIZE YIELD. This field of DeKalb maize, grown in 25 inch rows on the George West farm north of South Plains by the Marble Brothers, averaged 11 thousand 20 pounds per acre. Mr. West said last weekend. Pictured here are Mr. West and Keith Marble in the field at harvest time.

SOUND OFF

STYLE—Turning through a back issue of a magazine, I was amused at the long, long skirts which made the girls look oddly out of proportion. As I thought to myself that I had really run across an old magazine, I turned back the pages to look for the year and found I had a 1959 issue. Only three years! How quickly we adjust to the whims of the fashion world. In 1959 we probably would have laughed at anyone who told us our knees would be showing this year.

HERO—One type of hero of this age who has been sadly neglected is the kind gentleman who help women in distress. Never have I felt more grateful than when one of these unsung heroes of the highways stopped and changed a flat tire for me. I had two small children in the car, one just a baby, and was afraid to get out of the car even to try to change a tire. I could hardly believe my eyes when a passing motorist, realizing my predicament, came back to offer his help. A hearty "thank you" to all of you men who are brave enough to stop and lend a hand when you see the need. After all of the terrible things we read in the papers each day, we naturally are wary of stopping to help a stranger regardless of appearances.

MATE MATERIAL According to a recent survey the relation of a man's job to his success as a husband is an overlooked factor when a woman is matrimonial minded. Males on the move, for instance, are the poorest matrimonial risks of all. Traveling salesmen, concert musicians and truck drivers rate among the worst husbands. Even local mobility seems to have drawbacks: for plumbers, carpenters, bond, real-estate car and insurance salesman all fit into the same category. There just seems to be something about too much freedom that is a strike against marriage. A girl's best mate material appear to be found in such stable and stationary professions as the academic, electrical and chemical engineering, printing, office work, the ministry, and, for some unexplainable reason, athletic coaching.

J. J. Fuller Observes Eightyninth Birthday

Railroad Man, Retired, Good Yarn Spinner

By Peggy Medley

A Floydada man who celebrated his 89th birthday on Jan. 4, admitted in an interview with this reporter that he is his daughter's "chief cook and bottle washer" and enjoys the job. Such a spirited and jolly person who can tell hair raising tales of yesteryear is John J. Fuller who makes his home in Floydada with a daughter, Mrs. Gene M. Collins and Mr. Collins.

Mr. Fuller says after giving up putting in the Collins yard sometime back his only hobby is smoking his favorite stogie. Very seldom do you see the gentleman that he doesn't have one fired up. He delights in getting down town occasionally and spinning yarns with fellow townsmen he has become acquainted with over the period of years in Floydada.

HIS EIGHTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY — What would a birthday celebration be without the presence of loved ones? Not to be different is John Fuller, who observed his 89th milestone last week. Perched on his lap is his great-grandson Kirby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Collins, Jr., of Lockney. Kirby likes to think he has something to do with his great-grandfather's birthday. Just what he doesn't know unless the excitement of seeing elders observe their birthdays as do the youngsters. (Staff photo).

One of his thrills is having his five great grandchildren around him whose ages range from infancy to school age.

Mr. Fuller is in unusually good health despite his age. His eyesight is good and his hearing fair. His appetite is that of a growing boy. He can eat anything and usually does.

Native of Georgia, he was born in Calhoun, Ga., Gordon County, in 1873 to Mr. and Mrs. Vinson (Cap) Fuller. He grew up as a farm boy, being the eldest of four brothers and four sisters. Of the family Mr. Fuller and two sisters who live in Georgia are still living.

At the age of 19 he came to Texas and settled at locality where he lived with his sister, Mrs. J. C. Holman, now deceased. He helped her husband forced to open the bank vault and the hoodlums made off with some 42,000 dollars. Employees McLarry. The couple later went back to Georgia and Mr. Fuller worked for the railroad for what the outcome might be.

After several hours in the vault one man was located in Leonard who was able to open the vault and free its victims. Mr. Fuller said two of the robbers later were captured but none of the money was ever recovered as far as he knew.

After such a close call with possible death, members of the family decided bank night watchman was not for Mr. Fuller. He and his wife moved to the bank at Leonard where his son-in-law's late brother, Home Collins was president. One night a band of robbers, including a man named "Red" who was in all, forced their way into the bank. Three of them held Mr. Fuller captive all night while a home stood guard at his nearby house and the others were spotted about the bank.

He recalls that one of the men held a gun at his head until his employees of the bank arrived the next morning to open up. After Mrs. Walter Smith of Lubbock, and a son, Royse Fuller of Strawn.

There are six grandchildren, all grandsons. Gene Jr., Lockney, Johnny and Jimmy are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gene M. Collins, James and Larry Fuller of Pecos and Don Fuller of Florida, are children of Mr. and Mrs. Royse Fuller.

The great grandchildren are those of the three Collins boys and their wives, Kirby, Shelly, Cathy, Christi and Mike Collins.

So. Plains News

By Mrs. Murray Julian

SOUTH PLAINS, Jan. 8—Friday morning a light skiff of snow and ice covered everything here and all the power lines were down. Most of our people had no lights, no water, and some no heat. The electricity had gone out with the high winds during the night. With no breakfast, and no lights, no water, and some no heat. The snow didn't melt for two days, and here this Tuesday, it's again snowing, and about 13 degrees. Typical January weather. We are happy most of the farmers have finished their crop gathering.

At 9 o'clock this Monday morning, January 8, a group of neighbors and friends went in a body to the home of Mrs. Walter Wood to surprise her on her birthday. Her Sunday School teacher, Mrs. Bryan Karr, baked her a birthday cake which was served with hot coffee, after which Mrs. Wood opened her surprise gifts. Present at the coffee were Mmes. Herschel Wimberley, Lee Pearson, Truman Bradshaw, John Wilson, J. P. Taylor, Murray Julian, Sylvian Kinnibrugh, Grigsby Milton, Bryant Higginbotham, Horace Marble, Arby Mulder, Frank McClure and Mrs. Bryan Karr.

The E. J. Kinslow family, Stevie and Phil left Dec. 26th for Los Angeles, Calif. and spent one night at La Puente, on the outskirts of Los Angeles, with his sister, Mrs. C. J. Loveless and family. The smog there affected them, and they were not able to spend any time out there, but headed for the desert. They visit Boulder Dam and Boulder City, and then Stevie took Chick on a fox. E. J. took Phil to see the Grand Canyon, but the rest of the family stayed in the car. They all enjoyed the trip, in spite of mishaps and were home in time for children to start school.

The parents of the Kinslows, Mrs. D. E. Kinslow is ill in the Taylor Clinic at Lubbock, and Mrs. J. T. Scott has been in the Northwest Hospital in Amarillo with pneumonia, but both are reported better at this time.

It's a girl! At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moore. They have a daughter, born Sunday morning, January 7, at 4:30 a. m. in the Peoples Hospital young folks on their party. At 10 o'clock, weighing 6 lbs. and 7 oz. The parents live at Claytonville at present, and maternal grandparents here are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Newton where the mother has been staying. Paternal grandmother is Mrs. Ivie Moore of Monette, Missouri. Congratulations to all.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Higginbotham and Bud spent Sunday in Lubbock having dinner with their children, the Alton Higginbothams.

Friday night at 7 o'clock a pie supper was held at the schoolhouse under the auspices of the South Plains PTA and according to Mrs. H. S. Calahan Jr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings about $46.00 was netted from the supper, which is to be applied on library books for school children.

A hunting accident occurred Saturday afternoon down in the canyon when a group of hunters were flushing out game. Glen Wood was the victim of the accidental shot gun discharge, but he only had artificial flesh wounds, and was in the Lockney Hospital until Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Smitherman, Kelly and Bryn went to Dallas last weekend where they stayed with various relatives and Sunday Rex and Kelly attended the National Championship Rodeo held there in Dallas. Most of us saw it this Sunday on TV.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Marble have been attending basketball games most of the past week. Thursday, Friday and Saturday they went to Hale Center where the Hale Center Tournament was being held. Lockney won first place in the final rounds Nancy's brother, Robert Holland, plays on the Lockney basketball team.

Aliyah Club Meets At The Bledsoe Home

Mrs. Roy Bledsoe and co-hostess Mrs. Sterling Cummings entertained in the Bledsoe home Thursday morning at 10 o'clock for members of the Aliyah Study Club with guest speaker Mr. John Stapleton of Floydada. Theme of the program was government, and Mr. Stapleton spoke on "Government or Women", a subject thoroughly enjoyed by all the members. Miniature pastries of pecan and apricot tarts were served on a tea cart from a copper tray, with coffee contained in a copper pot. Attending the study club were Mmes. Varner Hodge, Wm. Mangold, Tommy Montanden, Raymond Parker, J. M. Tye, Glenn Watson, Dale Widener, and Valca Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kinnibrugh and Beverley of Truscott visited here with the Sylvian Kinnibrugh over Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClure and Regina McClure, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Calahan Jr. and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Sylvian Kinnibrugh, Marilyn and Beth went to Crosbyton this Monday night to help celebrate the birthday of the McClures daughter, Mrs. Jean McClure, and they all enjoyed supper there.

Service Will Honor Four Boy Scouts

Four members Troop 257, Boy Scouts of America, will be honored in a service Sunday afternoon at 3:30 at First Baptist Church in Floydada. The Scouts are David and Ricky Holland, sons of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Holland, and Lon and Ralph Johnson, Jr., sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnston.

The four will receive the God and Country Award which will be presented by their pastor, F. C. Bradley.

The award is presented by the church and is given only to scouts who show leadership and do outstanding work for God and for their country.

Scout Master J. Elza and Assistant Scoutmaster Jim Word will be present for the presentation as will a number of local and area scouts.

The public is invited to attend and honor these boys who have distinguished themselves in scouting and church work.

Dougherty HD Club Met With Mrs. Ross

The Dougherty Home Demonstration Club met January 3 at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Jack Ross.

The roll call was answered with "My Favorite Place to Hide Things".

The president, Mrs. Mac Ward presided and minutes were taken by the new secretary, Mrs. J. T. Polvadore.

Mrs. Jack Ross gave an interesting five-minute demonstration on "Highway Accidents that Start in the Home".

The devotional was taken from Psalms 19:1-2.

Mrs. Ned Bradley led the group in the song "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles".

Miss Phyllis Roggenдорff gave an informative demonstration on "Laundry Aids".

A refreshment plate was served to Mmes. Ned Bradley, Johnny Cates, Gus Hammonds, Howie Hines, A. H. Kreis, J. T. Polvadore, G. W. Smith, Mac Ward, Loyd Deavenport and Dennis Miss Phyllis Roggenдорff and the hostess, Mrs. Jack Ross.

A grass fire at mid-afternoon Monday burned dangerously close to some out-buildings on East Ollie Street but firemen were able to keep the blaze under control until it was extinguished.

Shortly after noon on Monday the firemen were called to the R. C. Henry old building on East Missouri where fire caused considerable damage. Cause of the fire could not be learned nor could the extent of the damage.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Talk of ending the revolving fund which would be special session of the Legislature kept in the Treasury for that on its opening day turned out to purpose. Rep. Charles E. Hughes of Sherman, who has worked for 10 years to get laws to enforce the escheat laws, felt that ground had finally been found on which the state and the banks could agree.

RURAL ROADS: Governor Daniel's veto last summer of the $15,000,000 appropriation for farm-to-market road construction during the year starting next Sept. 1 was designed to bring another long discussion to a head. It did.

BANK ESCHEAT: Her a Where $60,000,000 was available in 1961, $50,000,000 in state sought, under which banks taxes and $10,000,000 in federal would advertise locally each aid for construction and im-year for the owners of accounts improvement of rural roads. State Treasury which would Daniel get agreement from seek the owners, and if they ap-the Texas County Judges and pair, pay them from a $100,000 Commissioners Association and from the Texas Farm Bureau. But some rural legislators think this is too big a cut all at once, and are talking about the Daniel proposal as the "minimum".

INTEREST RATES: Daniel made no specific recommendations to the lawmakers on interest rates and loan regulation, except to say that the rates proposed by the Texas Legislative Council were too high.

Here there is tremendous difference of opinion among legislators, over two issues.

First question is—"what is a small loan?"

Some think interest ceilings should be held to 10 per cent on all loans over $500 while others think higher rates should be allowed up to $3,000, to include the auto loan category.

Latest proposal would regulate rates up to $1,500 or $1,000, thus hold interest to a 10 per cent maximum on all loans over that amount.

This issue will be hard fought and many legislators do not expect it to be settled when the 30-day session is over.

TOURIST ADVERTISING: Daniel urged a $300,000 appropriation for advertising Texas to tourists. Proposal is backed by numerous organizations who feel that the investment will pay big dividends to the state, especially since the state now has a sales tax.

JUVENILE PAROLE: Last year the start was made on a system of state-paid parole officers to supervise boys and girls released from the juvenile schools. But money was provided to pay only six men, including a state director.

Daniel asked for 17 more parole officers. Most legislators agreed on the need, but worried about where to get the money. One thing is certain—this leg-

CHEVY II WINS AWARD FOR ENGINEERING EXCELLENCE!

This is the Nova 400 Sport Coupe, just one of 11 Chevy II models you can pick from.

The men who know cars best put Chevy II to the test. And, after they had compared it with the rest of the '62 crop, the editors of Car Life magazine picked Chevy II for their coveted Engineering Excellence Award. Why? Here are some of the reasons in the editors' own words: "The Chevy II, in either 4- or 6-cylinder form, represents an important development in the American automotive field. The car is maximum transportation at minimum cost..." And throughout the test. THE LATE COLONEL TERRY
The news of the death of Col. Terry, of the Texas Rangers, has filled the whole land with the deepest sorrow, which is lamentation which come back to us from all portions of the South. They are the natural expressions of deep grief for the loss of one so highly valued and esteemed as a soldier, a citizen and a friend. His most undaunted bravery and gallant daring, which seemed the embodiment of Southern valor, made him the pride of his comrades, which his noble and manly bearing as an officer, in spite of his discipline, which was strict and almost stern, rendered him the idol of his men who were ruled not so much by his authority as by the love they bore for him. Those who knew him best bear the highest testimony of his worth as a warm and generous friend, and a high-toned, honorable man. BOWLING GREEN COURIER.

LETTER FOR THE SECEDED STATES—To the Editor of The New York Times: Will you please tell me and about 40 others if there is any way by which letters can be sent to the seceded States? I have relations there that I would be glad to know are alive. By so doing, you will oblige many readers. Very truly yours,

So far as we know, the only way in which letters can be forwarded to the seceded States is by direct permission of the military authorities, and under flags of truce. If sent open to General Wool, he will probably have them examined and forward if there appears to be nothing objectionable in so doing. The general rule, however, is that all communications with the seceded States is cut off, and it is certainly unlawful if carried on without the specific permission of the military authorities. THE NEW YORK TIMES (Reprinted in Texas newspapers)
