State Of Texas Out Of The Red--Temporarily

AUSTIN, TEX.—Big news around the State Capitol is that the state finally got out of the red. Treasurer Jesse James announced the good news, deficit, which had existed since September 28, 1958, was wiped out by heavy income from annual insurance and corporation franchise taxes, plus revenues from the new sales tax.

As of 1 p.m. May 18, there was a cash balance in the state's main checking account — the general fund revenue — of $1,233,106.

Fund will be back in the red again, from time to time, before everything gets squared away. However, about a year from now a steady surplus should be on hand.

At 10 o'clock officers and directors of the association will hold a business meeting for the purpose of electing officers for the new year. Duncan Hollums is retiring president; Hubert Frizell, vice president; Ann Swepston, secretary; and Calvin Steen, treasurer.

The Memorial service is in charge of Mrs. Mattie Hale and Mrs. Frank Dodson. Names of Pioneers who have since expired will be read by District Attorney John B. Stapleton. The introduction of old timers here since 1890 or before will be made and special recognition will be given to the man and woman who has continuously lived in the county the longest.

Judge L. G. Matthews of Brownsville, a former long-time attorney in Floydada, will be pioneer day speaker, bringing the address at 11 o'clock.

The pioneer day dinner will be served at the noon hour by Jetton Catering Service. A. T. Swepston will be in charge of the meal as well as the pioneer dance on the platform Saturday night.

Impromptu speakers will address the pioneers following lunch and entertainment will be furnished throughout the afternoon by local and distant talent.

Kitchen And Field Report
From Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Inc., by Nancy Morckel, Home Economist.

The very word picnic has a special meaning to nearly everyone. In most every instance just the word brings happy memories.

Every year sees more picnic areas set up in the parks, along the highways, and even in folks' backyard area. In the past the word picnic meant some sort of a sandwich lunch and some soda pop but now-a-days more and more families entertain at picnics and often times they are comparable to an elaborate buffet supper.

Whether the picnic is carried in a "sack" or in a fancy picnic hamper complete with vacuum bottles, plates, cups and silver it is the advance preparation that makes it a success.

Here are some ideas that might be helpful:
Keep hot things hot and cold things cold. A good way to keep salads appetizingly cold is to chill them in heavy pottery casserole. A steaming pot of pork and beans will hold heat for several hours if wrapped first in foil and then in newspapers.

Make chicken or potato salad and chill thoroughly; take to picnic in refrigerator containers. Omit raw vegetables, but carry washed lettuce, radishes and green onions in a plastic bag. Sliced cucumbers and carrot sticks are doubly good if popped right in with the French dressing and allowed to marinate on the way.

Dip tomatoes into boiling water for a few seconds. Put into refrigerator until they are cold and peel when you are ready to serve them.
Chicken, tuna, macaroni, or potato salad are convenient to serve if packed in waxed paper cups. Also, individual portions of cottage cheese, cold baked beans and many desserts are nice to serve when packed in this manner.
Cakes are easiest to transport when left in the baking pan. Pies travel well between paper plates taped together. Sandwiches made ahead of time and stored in the refrigerator or freezer save a lot of last minute flurry. Cream butter or margarine and spread on the bread before spreading the filling. The butter acts as a sealer and keeps the sandwiches from becoming soggy. Don't forget to take salt and pepper, also sugar if there is coffee or tea to be sweetened. In hot weather avoid cream puffs or anything else containing eggs unless you have a portable refrigerator. A few hours is not enough, under certain circumstances, to make these foods dangerous. There are so many other ways to tempt yourself into the risk of getting food poisoning. Always be sure foods to be taken on picnics or outings have been frozen or refrigerated properly. We are told that many food poisoning cases occur when a housewife goes outside her usual routine to prepare dishes for a party, a club outing or a church supper. Preparing food in large quantities or the day before it is to be eaten can be dangerous.

If a large quantity is needed, prepare the ingredients and refrigerate separately. For example, if you are making a large amount of chicken salad, bone and dice the meat and put in the refrigerator; then chop the celery and chill it; fix the other ingredients and refrigerate separately. Just before serving, mix the chilled ingredients.

If a dish is taken out to supper be sure it is kept cold (or hot) until it is time to serve it. The danger temperatures for food in which germs thrive are between 40 and 120 degrees. By being careful much danger of food poisoning can be avoided.

Mrs. Loran Nixon and Beverly returned to their home in Hornbeck, La., after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henry, and Loran's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Nixon and other relatives and friends, for several weeks.

Speaking of "time-savers" here comes one in the form of a Chocolate Skillet Cake — from Mrs. M. True Jr., Route 1, Plainview.

1/2 cup cold water, 1/2 cup cocoa, 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup Crisco, 3 un-beaten eggs, 1/2 cup buttermilk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 4 1/2 oz. thin Hershey bars.

Gradually add water to cocoa, beating well after each addition. Sift flour, soda, and salt. Add sugar, shortening, eggs and 1/4 cup buttermilk. Beat 3 minutes. Add: vanilla - the other 1/4 cup buttermilk and the cocoa mixture. Beat 2 minutes. Pour into well greased heavy skillet. Top batter with squares of candy bars.

SOUND OFF

By Beth Pratt

WHAT A BLAST listening to some recently graduated senior girls relate their experiences at their after graduation slumber party was quite an experience. I always said that when my children were grown I wouldn't forget how it was to be a teenager. Alas I have already forgotten.

While I remember much of the feeling I had at the time, I had forgotten about the cocky exterior presented to the world at large. I couldn't help but smile at the exuberance and exaggerations and yet feel a little sad that in such a short while the problems of an adult world will suppress that spontaneous joy of the moment.

Still, I do not believe the old saying that the high school period is the happiest time in a person's life. Those who look upon the past as happier than the future are looking through the haze of memory, which blots out the unpleasant and keeps the happy times to dwell upon. It is with nostalgia and good wishes that we smile when we hear the current descriptive slang "What a Blast!"

FROM THE RADIO Since this is national radio month, I thought I would pass along some of the things I happened to hear last week. I have been listening to the radio as I painted and found it an enjoyable companion.

In Art Linkletter show in talking with his audience he found this problem along with the lady's solution. She complained that her neighbor kept borrowing coffee and detergent and paying her back with cheap products. Her solution - she saved the returned items until the neighbor came borrowing again and then let her borrow the things back!

And of one of his school children he asked this question - "What is meant by world tension?" The answer was "It is when you come to 'tention to salute the flag'."

BIG PROBLEM - Poor Eddie Fisher is having problems. It seems that whatever he sings takes on double meaning since his marital merry-go-round hit the headlines. The audiences can't hold back a snicker when the lyrics seem to refer to the Liz situation. Consequently Mr. Fisher and his manager are working over his songs and changing the lyrics as seem necessary.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

A useless bit of information came our way this week. We mailed a newsletter to someone who has chosen as a temporary home the U. N. protectorate of Ruanda-Urundi in the heart of Africa. For 11 cents we could send the letter, but it wouldn't reach her for 30 days. If we spent 50 cents on air mail, it would be delivered in a week. Since she had two full years in which to read the thing, we resisted the impulse to have it fly.

Probably one of the hardest things for foreigners to understand about Americans is our extravagant use of air mail. Americans traveling in Europe for a month or two will write dozens of "wish-you-were-here" picture postcards from Venice, Paris and London, and double or triple the cost by sending them all air mail. To the economy-minded Europeans, this is just plain silly, since the cards say nothing of importance.

To the American, it makes all the sense in the world. He may get home before the card does, in these days of fast travel, if it goes regular mail. Or else he'll be in Austria when his greeting from Scotland reaches home, and what's the sense of that? It's confusing! Then, too, carries added warmth for friends and loved ones if it's timely.

Much less sensible, it seems to be our air-mail attitude at home. We wait six months to answer a letter, then stick an air-mail stamp on it in order to hurry it to its destination. By this time the receiver has despaired of ever hearing anyway, and certainly could wait another three days for the apology. Apparently Americans gave up being penny-wise with the Puritan era, but being pound-foolish has remained constant.

The plant has been pumped dry, scrubbed and treated, and equipment put in shape to have a clean and healthy bathing conditions.
The new pool will be opening for the third season, and will be operated this year by Teddy Allen who will serve as manager, life guard, and will teach swimming lessons.
The country club plant is equipped with fresh water filter and chlorinator.
City Pool a Question Mark
Mayor S. W. Ross said yesterday morning that nothing definite had been done as to opening the City Swimming Pool. He was talking with persons interested in leasing the plant and operating it for the season, and hoped that a workable plan could be reached that would allow the pool to be opened early in June.
The pool was built several years ago following the passage of a $25,000 bond issue voted by the people. Since that time management of the plant has been under the Volunteer Fire Department and others and has been a losing proposition financially as far as the City of Floydada is concerned.
Young people of the community have been swimming at Roaring Springs and other popular spots for several weeks as they eye the empty pool and the hot summer sun.

Rain And Some Hail Hit Area

Weather has played havoc over the Floyd County area with intermittent showers in the city and from light to heavy rain reported in surrounding communities the past week.

On Wednesday night of last week a portion of South Plains was hit with heavy hail and a report of over two inches of rain fell in places. Some of the farmers there say most of their cotton will have to be replanted, for what the hail didn't damage, rain flooded the remainder. Paymaster Farm, north of Lockney, reported 1.85 inches and light hail. The same occurred at Dougherty last week and again on Sunday afternoon when a fast moving squall line zipped through the county, dumping very little rain east of the city, but scattered hail. Some farmers in the Dougherty area are planting over and some are leaving things as is. Farmers at present are more concerned about hot dry hard blowing winds which have prevailed here for some two weeks. One comment was "our crops are blowing away."

City folk are finding it hard also to keep grass, shrubs and flowers looking like they should this time of the year. Sprinklers are being kept going at residents but to little avail what the wind drying out the ground in a short time. This however is a small task to what the farmers are finding in trying to irrigate. Everyone is hoping for rains, but are rather sceptic scanning the skies for fear of a real damaging hail.

Between the city and Sand Hill, some four miles west, a good rain fell Sunday afternoon and bar ditches were standing full. The rain was confined mostly to a small area with reports of over a half inch.

At McCoy no rain has fallen lately and the same goes at Barwise.

Cedar Hill area reported a good shower Sunday. Greer Lackey, northeast of the store, said he received 80 hundredths and no hail. Most of the other farmers in that general vicinity received from a half inch to 70 hundredths.

At the Lakeview Store Sunday they received one inch of rain which came down fast washing out some cotton crops. A few farmers there are back in the fields planting over what was washed away. Some hail fell with the moisture.

The threatening clouds build upon the city about 2:15 Sunday of the county.

afternoon, moving east-northeast. For a while it looked as if the Rodeo would have to be postponed again, but in a short time the sun came out and only light sprinkles fell.

Saturday night in the city a hard but brief shower fell causing the Rodeo Association to call a halt to their last night performance, which was completed Sunday.

Helms Family Win At Rodeo

The annual Floydada Rodeo had a fair turn out at their three performances, however Saturday night's events were postponed due to threatening storm clouds and the final performances presented Sunday.

A complete list of the winners were not available in each of their categories, but riders, ropers and bull doggers found it rough going with the stock brought in from Palmer Ranch in Oklahoma.

Waylene Mankins was presented the title of Rodeo Queen for the event and runner-ups were Joyce Noland and Janice McNeill.

Clifford Helms was the winner of the shetland pony given away at the final performance and it was understood he had quite a bit of trouble getting him home.

The shetland was taken to the Montgomery Ranch operated by Q. D. Williams. Later in the night Mr. Helms came for him in his pick-up and trailer and as he was pulling the caprock the gate to the trailer came loose and he lost the horse unaware.

He traveled on home to the Lakeview community still not realizing he was minus the shetland. Shortly after the horse came running back into the yard at the Williams place where several youngsters were bedded down out in the open.

Mrs. Williams said "It took quite a telephone conversation to convince Mr. Helms that he had no horse in his trailer." After checking he made the trip back to the ranch and proceeded on home, arriving this time with the winning prize, much to the delight of his children.

Local firemen have been kept relatively busy thus far this month fighting blazes but no heavy damages have been reported other than grass land, which has proved to be rather stubborn fires, what with high winds prevailing.

Fred Lambert, driver for the department said their first fire for the month of May was east of the Davis Gin confined to grass. The second was on May 5 on South Main Street when a stove ignited in a trailer house back of Piggly Wiggly causing only minor damage.

A grass and post fire was reported on May 6 at 729 East Jackson, and on May 7, firemen Mr. and Mrs. Nathan McCleskey were called southwest of town where they fought a pasture land fire on the Massey place.

Without doubt, many wells which were marked on the maps as dry holes in the 1920's and 1930's would have been produced had the boom-day operators had the benefit of present-day processes.

This was proved west of Eastland, to cite one instance. A well drilled in the boom era encountered only a show. A score of years later, on this same farm, another well was drilled and only a showing was found but a then new process was formed into use (fracturing the formation through intense pressure) and an excellent well was the result.

In fact, a veteran operator, pointing out that the well was producing through a choke (three-eighths of an inch), whereas the boom wells flowed wide open, declared that the later well wide-open would have rivalled the Norwood, which was the greatest and has gusher of the Ranger boom.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Tyler, of Hereford, visited Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. James Lovell. In the home Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lawson, Floydada. Another change we hated to see come about was the retirement of the Hesperian's long-time editor, Homer Steen. Of course, he has earned a rest. But don't we miss his frank, spicy editorials? Well, we hope this will still be the best county week in West Texas.

Lajuanna Rimmer, left, of Colley, right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken and Mrs. Ira Colley, was also the winner of the "Paderewski Memorial" pin award presented in a piano recital given by Mrs. Pearl Fagan, Rita Carr and Mrs. Mather Carr at the Cecil Stanton home. Center News

By Mrs. J. E. Green CENTER, May 21 — The dry, windy weather was somewhat relieved Sunday afternoon by a good shower which varied from forty hundredths to sixty hundredths of an inch in different places in the community, in some places it was accompanied by a little hail. Both services were well attended at Calvary Baptist Church Sunday. The evening service was closed after the baptism of half a dozen youngsters. School closed for the year with the graduation exercises Friday evening. A class of some seventy or more young people leaving these class rooms for the last time. Now for another decision: shall they look for a life work, or temporary work and get ready to go to college for further preparation? Go to college if you can. And for some there will be wedding bells. Congratulations, all!

Social Security Benefits Available To Those Employed

"Me? Retire?" How many times have you heard some older say that. The fact is that there are quite a few older people still working, still giving a good day's work for a good day's pay. These folks may be making one mistake though. They think that because they haven't retired, and they can't get their social security. This is not entirely true. Meet one man who found this

Wish to Express Our Regret

We wish to express our regret that those competent and beloved teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Graves, who have labored so faithfully with our young people these eighteen years are leaving Floydada, surely to rest awhile. We bid them God speed wherever they go and thank them for all they have done for ours. Brother Vance Zinn, left for San Angelo this Monday for the parental home where his father is sick. We hope he finds the father improved. The next thing on the church roster is Vacation Bible School which starts at First Baptist Church Wednesday and at Calvary next Monday. Children, don't miss this at your church. Brother and Mrs. R. C. Hodges, of Plainview, were at the First Baptist Church Sunday and dined with Mr. and Mrs. Leo Frizzell. We centerites would all have loved to see them. Brother Hodges was our pastor and Mrs. Hodges a Sunday School teacher at Center for about six years.

Working for Texas

Meet a fellow Texan: Preston Smith.

Preston Smith's story is in the best Texas and American tradition—a farm boy who worked his own way an education and a place of honor in his business and community life.

Born in the heart of Texas, at Georgetown, he grew with his family to Dawson County in 1923 when he was 10 years old. He went to school at Sunset, Lamar, and Texas Tech. In his adopted home town of Lubbock, he and his wife Ima and their two children, he now carries the full responsibilities of a typical Texas business and civic leader.

A steward at St. John's Methodist Church—member of the Salvation Army Board, the Kiwanis Club, Chamber of Commerce, the Texas Farm Bureau—are some of the activities close to the heart of Preston Smith, citizen.

He did not stop there. In his daily pursuits Preston Smith came to realize that business and government are closely related in the American system—and without good government we cannot have a favorable climate for good business. A man of direct action, Preston Smith went into the business of government. He served six years in the Texas House of Representatives and six in the Senate.

Senator Smith has supported sound state legislation for better schools, roads, welfare and conservation. He took the lead in establishing a permanent budget program for state colleges. He had the integrity to support necessary state spending and the courage to oppose extravagance and waste. In government, as in business and at home, Preston Smith believes in doing our obligations and paying our bills.

Having proved himself as one of the best informed, best-equipped, best-informed and most highly regarded Texans in both his private and public careers, Preston Smith was a logical candidate to succeed Ben Hays as Lieutenant Governor of Texas.

Voters in 102 counties gave Preston the lead over four opponents in the First Democratic Primary. He is in the runoff. He got there without the support of any self-serving group or power bloc. His opponent's endorsement of labor leaders and other interests who want to dominate our state government.

Preston Smith asks only for the votes of independent Texans who want a Lieutenant Governor without strings attached. He is depending on independent Texas voters everywhere to vote for him on June 2.

Elect your independent candidate for Lieutenant Governor—

“Modern?” That’s like what you’ve got Gas Air Conditioning!

“Modern” is a real hard word to explain. Like, fr’ instance, if you were talking about the “newest” in Summer comfort—the Sun Valley Gas air conditioner. It’s the “most” in Summer comfort, because the air is the “coolest,” and “cleanest,” and stays that way when it’s “hottest” outside. And it’s the “economical,” too, because it uses low cost, dependable GAS. And no moving heating or cooling cycles make it the “maintenance free” of any unit on the market. So I guess you’d say “modern” ends everything with an “est,” like the Sun Valley does.

KING-SIZED FILTER
Mama says it’ll be all right for daddy to stay in the house smoke his cigar now, thanks to Sun Valley’s new twice-as-big filters.

BUDGET-SIZED ECONOMY
Mama says it’s never too soon to learn the dollars and sense facts about utility bills. She says “constant efficiency” means it keeps you cool all the time, and doesn’t cost any more when it gets hot.

Woman Thinks Back Pioneer Endeavors

at last the endless green grass-covered prairies were reached and the journey came to an end. But it was not an easy life these pioneer men and women found. Their flour had to be hauled over one-hundred miles by freight wagons slowly creeping along in winter's bitter cold or summer's tormenting heat.

But there was meat, antelope was almost as good as the deer left behind, prairie chickens, plover, quail, and now and then beef. But there was never a time when the magical old crock jar would not yield its contents of sour dough for biscuits or the black skillet hold enough steak for a passerby or a stayer as it often was. In fact for every one who put bootled feet under the pine tables of these hardy hospitable men and women. Room and bed were not too plentiful, but quilts made pallets and no one was turned away.

But today the one thing I like to remember and think about was the lantern that hung on the windmill on dark stormy nights to guide the traveler across the unmarked prairies. Full of oil, precious oil, carried long distances on horseback from the nearest towns in small quantities, the lantern wick carefully rimmed the globe washed and shining clear. Often timid women, afraid of the dark and of climbing the steep tower of the life-giving windmill, did not shrink but in the absence of their menfolk, lighted and hung the lantern high above the dark ground.

We are told by the poet of how the light of a small candle shone through the dark but the candle in the window could not light like the one on the high tower.

Today we sit in the shade of these fine old trees planted by hands long at rest, and we will talk and laugh and remember "That was the best cuttin' hess I ever rode." "Wasn't that one more dance, Christmas night of 1902 at Old Emma?" "We came to the Plains Jan. 20th 1899". There was the good old days. Why I would know yore ole shank bones in a pot of soup.

THE PILOT WALKED AWAY from this crash that destroyed a new spray plane and completely demolished a farm labor house. Eleven members of the family that occupied the house also escaped uninjured. The accident happened on Friday afternoon when Earl Koop circled to make the first pass on a spraying job for Chuck Holmes in the Sandhill community. The plane a new Snow S2-C belonging to Norman Spraying Service of Dougherty evidently hit an air pocket or whirlwind and the pilot lost control. The plane hit the house and both were destroyed by fire. Koop received minor burns on his right arm and left leg. He was spraying tomatoes for Holmes. Weims Norman announced this week he had already leased a plane and Koop will continue to fly. Norman Spraying Service will take care of all customer contracts and ask friends for their consideration as the change to new equipment is being made.

I remember that cold winter of '90 that was the year my Susie was born. My, how awful I thought it was to burn cow chips at first, but I got used to them and was thankful to have them to burn. They cooked our meals and kept us from freezing. I remember the way we made pies, vinegar pies, chess, and molasses.

I went up trail that year with Stringfellow and Hume, String was a good boss. I cooked for the Bar N Bar's one year. I left my trail wagon way up on the North Tule, not a thing taken when I went back for it a month later. All my cows looked like got on the left that late winter and spring, had a time, ma and I did liftin' them up every day. I went plum huntin on Goose Creek, got lots of wild plums, too, we had plenty of plum jelly that year.

Yep, give me a good cow horse. That cow was the contrariest old critter. That was the year Arthur Duncan was elected Judge of Floyd Co., a good man he was, too. Yes, the girls were as sweet and pretty then as now. He moved down under the Cap that year to get a hill to keep off the wind. Yes, Tom crawled right down that old loafer's den and brought out some pups.

That was the Christmas of 1900, mustache cups for the men, work boxes and silk handkerchiefs for the gals, that was the prettiest tree, we went to the brakes for the biggest cedar we could find.

I looked at the canyon walls as we came to the picnic this year of 1902.

But the above bits of conversation were heard years ago at the Reunions, gone are most of the ones who rode a "cuttin' Hoss", who came up the long cap in a covered wagon, who hauled the freight from the R. R. and the wood from the canyons. Who made sour dough bread and boiled beans in black pots over cow chip fires.

Why is it that the faces of the ones who are left to meet again are strained, their eyes always turning and looking here and there. Their ears tuned to hear voices they once heard? Voices whispering in sweet memory even as we talk to the ones gathered here.

So many have gone on, climbed the "NEW CAP" where there will not be hardships. Only last year we shook the busy hands of Dr. George Smith and of Glad Snodgrass, they too have gone on. Dr. George doctored the soul as well as the bodies of the people who came to him. How we miss him!

And Mr. and Mrs. Olson, we do not see sitting here under the shade with pleasure in their eyes as they shake hands with old friends, many, many more are not with us today.

We looked at the gray canyon walls as we drove into town from Ralls. But they seemed to be aloof. Did you know the pioneers, we ask them? What people are you talking about? They answer. We have known many people, we saw the Spaniards when they came with Coronado, with silver buckles on their shoes and velvet and lace on their bayonets and suits of mail. We saw the Redmen on their swift ponies, felt the big herds of buffalo climb our walls. We knew the ranchman trying to keep out the settlers like you were. What people?

Is it the Red men who smoked their pipe of peace under these cottonwood trees? We have seen so many come and go, on horse back, in hacks, surreys and buggies, loaded wagons have been pulled with oxen up our steep sides. Cars and more cars, trucks and big engines have carried many people across our width.

What people did you say? We are so old. How can you expect us to keep up with man whose life is full of trouble and is as short as is the life of the grass on our hillsides.

So many friends I have had through the years, thanks to Mr. Homer Steen for printing my column in his good newspaper and many thanks for what you have all done for me. And may you give Mr. McBeath the same help and loyalty you have extended to Homer Steen—to these many, many years.

May Mr. McBeath give to the beloved Hesperian the same faithful service and prestige that it has had from its very beginning.

The Hesperian has been like the lantern hung high on the pioneers windmills — may its light still shine.

God richly bless and keep you all for "The Great Reunion Over There."

In Memory of Sanford

By Daisy Cagle of Amarillo

Sanford lived a life that was simple. To some, nobody was he. But in the eyes of his Savior He was like a great oak tree.

Sanford was always faithful. Rough, hard was the road he tread. He traveled in the path of his Savior. He walked in the steps where they led.

Sanford never searched for a fortune. Of wealth in silver and gold. But sought the words of his Savior. He knew them as they were told.

Sanford stored his riches in Heaven. A place where he'd never grow old. To await for his home going. There to rest in the Shepherd's fold.

Sanford's life was lived with a purpose. Which only our God could know—God gave him life for a purpose. An example to others to show.

Sanford in the Church a Deacon. Always found his place in his pew. The church people admired and loved him. For he was a good man, they knew.

It seemed that by his suffering That God's power would be made plain.

Sanford diagnosed his own case. In Reader's Digest last fall. Emphysema of the lungs. Could not be cured at all.

Sanford in the last several months. When his strength was almost none. Kept the faith and completed. The tasks needed to be done.

Sanford had made all plans. That's more than we can say. He knew the time was very near. When his earthly form would be laid away.

Sanford knew the Lord would call. The time he knew not when. With faith secure—work all done. He knew—I'm ready then.

Sanford told his dear pastor. With words both bold and clear. "Sinner—A sinner saved by grace. Give a message for them to hear."

Sanford's life's work all completed. Retirement, Social Security and all. Veterans pension papers all signed. He was ready, waiting the Master's call.

Sanford drove his car to Plainview. The doctor which to see—In case, "Mollie grab the wheel."

Sanford owned no earthly home. But there was a warmth inside his door. A warmth which came from Heaven. As his children played on the floor.

Sanford's friends which were many. Always a kind word for him had in Sanford they found a comrade. To them he could never be bad.

Sanford had a sick physical body. Which often caused suffering and pain.

It seemed that by his suffering That God's power would be made plain.

HOME MAKING HINTS

A Guide For Using Cheeses
What is your favorite cheese flavor?
There's cheese to suit every taste and every need. Homemakers are sometimes confused about what cheese to use for what purpose, however.

Here is a guide for using the more common cheese varieties.
The old favorites - Cheddar, Swiss and Provolone of the firm ripened varieties - are good for appetizers, sandwiches, snacks and hot dishes.

Semi-soft cheeses like Brie, Brick, Port du Salut and Muenster - make good snack time eatings. They are just the right consistency to serve in chunks with chips and crackers.

If you are looking for a cheese to spread, choose Camembert or Limberger. Blue, Gorgonzola and Roquefort also make a tasty spread if you thin them a little with cream.

Dessert cheeses include Blue, Gouda and Edam, along with Gorgonzola. Others of the semi-soft ripened varieties - are Brie, Bel Paese, Muenster and Port de Salut.

For grating, the best cheeses are hard Italian, like Parmesan and Romano. Cottage cheese is a salad favorite - and with fruits, vegetable, or nuts, it can be turned into a tasty dip or sandwich spread.

All of the cheeses are nutritionally good and easy on the budget. In June, when milk and dairy products hit their production peak, cheese is one of the best food buys.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

BUSINESSMEN LOSE MILLIONS - Texas businessmen are throwing away more than $3,000,000 a year, according to State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert. This because they're not taking advantage of the prepayment plan under the new state sales tax.

Since small and big businessmen usually pay their bills within 10 days to earn a two percent discount, Calvert can't understand why they waste $3,100,000 a year by failing to get this same discount from the state.

Under the sales tax law's Prepayment plan, a businessman can increase his allowable discount from one to three per cent. He can do so by rendering the tax for each quarter by the middle of the quarter to be reported. In other words, he can pay the tax in advance on a logical estimate.

Prepayment was conceived by the Legislature, Calvert said, as an incentive, with some consolation to the business that is forced to collect and report the tax. But to date prepayment has been the most neglected section of the sales tax law.

TEXTBOOK LISTS WILL BE PUBLIC - When the House Textbook Investigating Committee was holding open hearings on books recommended by the State Textbook Committee of the Board of Education, one of the most frequent complaints registered by those who protested selections was that they couldn't get copies of the texts in time to study all the content.

The newly-appointed textbook committee for 1962 has set forth a system for adoption which will give every possible protestant as much time to pore over this year's offerings as the committee itself will have.

On or before July 1, publishers must file a statement of intent, listing all books offered by title, subject, copyright and authors. A compilation of this information will then be forwarded to all school districts, as well as interested groups and individuals who request the list from the Texas Education Agency.

Textbook publishers also have been instructed to make all considered texts available for purchase by the public from their various depositories.

Final date to file intent to protest any book offered for adoption will be August 1.

There would be a big cedar post set in the ground, and the driver would stop at the post and start taking the team loose from the hack. You may wonder why all of this. These little mules were as wild as a jack rabbit and not much larger. To catch them he would have to rope them. This post was called a snubbing post, and the driver had to use the post every time he changed teams; I think it was thirteen times between Floydada and Childress. The only harness he had on the team was collar, hames and tugs. Well, he did have bridles and lines.

When we got to the cap and started down that is when he started to holler, kick the dashboard, use the whip. He soon had the team in run. I just knew something would happen, maybe so the tongue would drop down, and that would be it. Not too far from the bottom was the Lyman Post Office. There was a Mr. Campbell who lived there, and this is still part of the Campbell ranch. Here is where we changed teams again.

So the driver had to handle the mules and horses at every stop as I told you before. It was hard to tell who was the meanest, the teams or the driver.

Experiences in the City

We got to Childress after dark in time to catch the train for Fort Worth and Dallas. Went the next morning to the Metropolitan Business College, in Dallas. This was the first time to ride a train and to be in a city. I got by pretty well even though one of the teachers told me if he didn't know any more than I did he would go down to the Trinity River, tie a rock to my neck, jump in and say there goes nothing.

I got over that blow all right, and got along just fine. I will tell you about two churches. One was a Catholic. A few of us boys on Easter Sunday night went to see, and it was so much different from what we had seen. We got there early, saw the members come in. We saw a man light all the candles, and this was something to see. Just twice a year they light all the candles on Easter and Christmas so we were told. I would not attempt to tell you all that we saw inside of this Church.

The other church was the First Baptist. I joined the men's Sunday School class of fifty or seventy-five. It was a wonderful class, had such a fine teacher. He was up in years, just as white headed as a person could be. I heard George Truitt preach almost every Sunday I was in Dallas.

About ready to start home, I had to do some shopping so that all the people at home might know I had been to the city, and to business college. So I went to a men's store and got fixed up, got a pair of patent leather sharp toe slippers, pair of very light trousers, and a derby hat. I had blue serge coat. I was really fixed up to land at home. Got in about eleven p. m. same old stage, don't remember whether it was the same driver or not. Floydada sure looked good to me the next morning.

Floydada Business Houses

So far I have not told anything about Floydada and the merchants. I will have to drop back a few years, and start in. Over on the corner where Cline and Rainer have their business there was a wagon yard operated by I think by Hugh Harkley. Next on the southeast corner of the square there was the hotel operated by the Hugh Harkleys. The sold out to Mr. and Mrs. John Owens who operated it for a number of years. Next there was the Ranit building. This was a two-story building. They lived in the top part, and the first floor was a shelf hardware store operated by the Ranits.

On the corner where Arwine Drug Store is now there was a grocery store and next to it was a dry goods store. These two stores were owned and operated by Mr. C. Snodgrass, and his son-in-law, Will Nelson. I remember this is where we did most of our trading.

Before I start on the west side of the square I want to tell you about Uncle George Griggs. His place was along there where Glad's store is now located. Mr. Griggs had a little store there and he had few groceries and a few dry goods. The main thing he had for the people was a corn mill he operated with a wind mill. People who tried to grow a little corn had their own meal when the wind was strong enough to turn the mill.

On the west side of the square where the bank is now Frank Montague and Walter Posey were in the mercantile business. I think the next was a dry goods store, don't remember who operated it. Then there was a drug store, operated by R. C. Scott. About next was the bank operated by Mr. Posey.

On or near the northwest corner there was the Post Office, and it was operated by J. D. Starks, who served as postmaster for a long time. On the corner was the Masonic building. It was a two-story wood building. C. Sarginer and Son had their hardware store on the first floor.

When we first came to Floyd County the Sarginers were on the north side in a small building and later moved to the Masonic Building. Later on Uncle Joe Bowers was in the dry goods business, and he could have been the one that I mentioned farther back who operated the store on the west side.

T. F. Houghton had a small office building on the north side that he used for quite a long time. Mr. Houghton was an attorney. I think part of this building is still on the north side. The Court House was a two-story building. County Judge, Clerk, tax collector and sheriff on the first floor. The Court room and some other offices were on the second floor. There was a hitch rack most all the way around the court house. On the south side near the walk was the jail house. It was very small. I think it had two rooms covered with sheet iron. It looked like a chicken house.

On the south side near the walk was the well and wind mill, near by was the water trough, where people could water their teams and saddle horses when they came to town.

I would like to mention some more of the old merchants. If I remember right I. D. Gamble and Will Robbins were in the dry goods business on the west side, and there was G. V. Slaughter who was in the grocery business for awhile, and there was Jim Burrus who was in the drug store business and I think Tip

AN ACT — To define and punish sedition and to prevent the dangers which may arise from unloyal persons in the State.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Texas that if any person within this State shall maliciously and advisedly discourage the people from enlisting into the service of this State or the Confederate States, or dispose the people to favor the enemy, every such person shall be deemed guilty of a high misdemeanor, and all conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than five years, at the discretion of the jury. — THE HOUSTON TELEGRAPH

ABLE MEN SHOULD JOIN ARMY — Public sentiment has not yet viewed with a sufficiently stern frown, the able-bodied men of some degree of intelligence and fortune, who are taking part in the public defense. There are thousands of such men in the State. Our privates are mostly very young or very poor men and leave one of his wagons for a week or two before he could get back and pick it up, if anything was taken it was paid for. So this is a good reason I liked the early days.

I will mention some of the early day officers. Arthur B. Duncan was first county judge, and held this office for a number of years. E. C. (Emmett) Henry was the sheriff and tax collector. U. S. Wilkerson was clerk, John L. Vanhook was treasurer. My dad was commissioner two turns in precinct building Mr. J. T. Morris and sons operated a grocery store on the first floor. There are three or more old residences left in town. In the east part of town there was the C. Sarginer home, W. A. Shipley on South Main.

In the southwest part of town was the John Farris house. I think the J. T. Pitts house is still standing.

I would like to drop in a word about the schools here in town in the winter of 1867 and 1868. The building was a two room on the small order I would say. Two teachers, a Mr. Crutcher was the principal. I can't recall the other teacher's name. This building was located in the north part of the town in the block north of the Co-op Gin. Our next school building was a two story, four rooms below and two rooms above with an auditorium. It was located fairly close to the main part of town. It was in the block north west from the city hall. The principal was Mr. Goodson. I remember two of the other teachers, Lillie and Susy Garrison. These two are sisters of Mrs. Bourland of Elmore. This building did not stand too long. It caught fire and burnt to the ground. The next was a brick over in the southeast part of town. This was a nice looking building. It did not stand too long. It went to pulling apart and it had to be condemned. I am sure F. E. Savage was the principal over at this school to start with.

Those Were Wonderful Days

I think those were wonderful days. People who wanted to leave home and go places in the summer time would start out, leave their houses unlocked and whoever came by at meal time could stop in and fix them something to eat. They did not leave the place messed up. It was left just like it was found, cleaned up. Something else I liked about the early days. They did not try to carry all your things off. I remember on several occasions when we had to depend on freight wagons for all of our supplies, if it rained a lot and the freighter was forced to go

Now I think I will tell you about the churches. There was only one church building. It was the Methodist, and all the people and the different denominations helped to build this church. It was located about where the Bohannon Gin is now located. The Baptists got one Sunday a month. Bro. G. I. Brittain was pastor part of the time. He was living at Matador. The other denominations got a Sunday. This I last recall for quite a long time. I can recall two of the Methodist pastors, one a Brother Smith and the other a Brother Stephens. Our Sunday School literature was union.

We still had some of our horses, and I was freighting from Plainview. In 1869 the Baptists built their first church home. We got the lumber from J. C. Woodruff at Plainview. This is about all I can say about the churches between 1861 and 1869. (Continued Next Week) stand up in the field... stand out in yield!

The combination of standability and yields rates high with sorghum producers. Strong stalks, healthy roots, and bred-in resistance to lodging have earned P-A-G sorghums the reputation for being "up" when harvest time arrives. The large semi-compact heads dry quickly in the field for easy combining. High yields of plump grain will bring you top sorghum profits. I have a good supply of adapted seed and would appreciate the opportunity to serve you. Plant P-A-G hybrid sorghum.
