

Floydada Girl Wins County Spelling Bee Here

Winner To Enter Bee At Lubbock April 11

Carolyn Ann Hobbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hobbs, won the Floyd County Spelling Bee held Tuesday night in the 110th District Court Room in Floydada.

The runner-up was Cathie Jean McDonald, the 12 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. McDonald of Lockney.

The heartbreaker of the night was when Cathie, who was named the winner of the 5th and 6th grade Junior Division, missed the word "pore". She forgot to ask for a definition, or use in a sentence, so she spelled it "p-o-u-r". She was vying with Carolyn for the championship at the time.

There were representatives from all the county schools at the bee. About 50 people were in attendance.

The judges for the contest were Mrs. Ted Carbel of Lockney, Mrs. L. H. Christensen of Floydada, and Mrs. L. E. Groves of Lakeview. The word pronouncer was Mrs. Eunice W. Greenhaw of Lockney.

The contest was divided into two separate contests, the Junior Division and the Senior Division. The Junior portion consisted of 5th and 6th graders, and the Seniors were the 7th and 8th graders. The Juniors spelled first, followed by the Seniors. There were only 5 Senior spellers, so Cathie the Junior winner spelled with the Seniors.

The contest was conducted in this way: The contestants were seated in a row facing the pronouncer. The chairs were numbered 1 through 6. Each speller was given a word in turn. If the speller missed the word, he was out of the contest. However, when there were only two spellers left, and one of the contestants missed a word, the other had to spell that word, plus the next to be named the champion.

For example, Cathie was given the word "pore". She failed to ask for a definition so spelled it "pore". Carolyn then had to spell the same word, but she asked for a definition or example. The example was, "a pore in one's skin." Carolyn then spelled "pore". The next word on the list was "pour" which she also spelled correctly making her county champion.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Friend Tooley, This letter, if published, may reach just the person or persons I need to contact, and I know of no other way to accomplish my purpose. So, in a way, you are acting as Providence, or a mighty fine go-between.

I have become very interested in the history of this county. Just finished reading the book, "A History of Crosby County, Texas," by Spikes and Ellis where in many incidents of early days in Floyd County were mentioned. Enough to whet my appetite for more details.

Having spent all Sunday afternoon sketching the ruins of Hank Smith's Rock House (thanks to Mrs. Bennett!) I am wondering if Floyd County has anything of equal interest for me to paint or draw?

I hope to hear from anyone who knows of old buildings, houses, or ruins of ranch headquarters, old dug-outs, furniture brought in by early settlers, leading irons, chuck wagons, maps or similar relics which are fast disappearing-anything that can be made into a sketch for an oil painting or water color.

Contact me by phone (YU 3-3196) or drop me a post card, telling me a little about it, and where the item may be seen.

Mr. Editor, if you see fit to publish this, you will be doing me a great service.

Sincerely, Mrs. D

McCoy Woman Alright After Insect Sting

Mrs. Albert Jones of the McCoy Community feels she is a mighty lucky person this week after recovering from an insect bite which could have proved fatal had it not been for the quick action of her physician, Dr. El Bayouth.

The family said Mrs. Jones was cut hanging clothes on the line shortly before noon Tuesday when an insect stung her on the hand. Mrs. Jones thought possibly it was a yellow jacket and was not alarmed until a brief time later when she became quite ill. She was home alone so immediately she tried to get in touch with her husband by phone at the McCoy Gin. Failing to do so she left word for him then phoned Dr. Bayouth about the insect sting.

While Mrs. Jones is to the doctor she has had the family and accompanied by the Jones home who were intently administered. Jones was then taken to Peoples Hospital for medication and by Mrs. Jones was yesterday.

Mr. Ogden, field man for Carthel Fertilizer and Oil, was traveling alone to Plainview in a truck pulling an empty grain bed. It is thought the slick pavement caused from intermittent rain all day Wednesday was the main factor in the 3:30 mishap.

The truck veered from the highway then back on as indicated by the tires, then overturned throwing Mr. Ogden from the vehicle. The truck was damaged approximately $750, according to employees at Carthels.

Mr. Ogden was brought to Peoples Hospital by Harmon ambulance where he received emergency treatment, then was taken to Lubbock, accompanied by his physician.

I THINK I've got the answer to the city's dog problem. It seems that the city of Floydada spends some $30 or $80 per month for having stray dogs killed. My solution to the problem would be for the city to haul the dogs out to Lyndell Roberts' house and turn them loose.

Lyndell and I live just outside the city limits on the Ruffs highway . . . and the cars run over our dogs about as fast as we can bring them home.

So far, we've only lost one dog and have another that is managing to stay off the highway pretty well. We've got an organized plan that has worked pretty well every morning. In order to keep "Cheepee" (she's half Chihuahua and half Pekinese) from following the children across the highway to catch the school bus each morning, I run out the back door and dish out her breakfast while the children dash for the bus.

Well neighbor Lyndell lost a nice collie dog last week . . . it had started to follow Peggy and the kids to town and a car hit it. This makes three or four they have lost to the highway.

And then there's another neighbor Roger Poage . . . he gets a new pup killed ever so often . . . (y) may want to send him a few strays!

AND WHILE we're on the subject of dogs let's don't overlook the county politicians who are risking life and limb to visit every voter in the county and they're learning about dogs the hard way. County candidate "CX" says to be especially watchful of the little quiet dog who hinks near the corner of the house, sneaks in behind and nips you while you're knocking on the front door.

I noticed an article in one of the big dailies the other day that stated the Post Office figures it will save about a million dollars next year in lost man hours due to dog bites. They plan to equip their walking postmen with a spray bomb which will be carried in a holster at their belt. When the dog starts for the postman, he makes a quick draw and sprays this awful smelling stuff on the dog. The spray won't harm the dog but makes him get high behind in a hurry!

SOMEONE said this column was going to the dogs . . . guess they're nearly correct at this point.

MUCH HAS been said about this new "Modern Math" that our school system is beginning to introduce to the students.

I'd be trying to explain it, but math wasn't one of my strong subjects in school. In fact, I'm seriously considering trading our six grade student to my wife for the fourth grader . . . believe I've got more than I can handle in helping with her math home

Chief Of Police Injured While Making Arrest

Floydada Chief of Police, Bill Taylor was injured slightly when he fell out of his car Sunday in the process of keeping an arrestee individual inside his car.

Taylor chased a pickup that was speeding out of town and caught the vehicle. Two men were riding in the vehicle. Taylor put one of the men into the police car and had the other follow them back into town in the pickup.

Before they reached town the one riding with Taylor reached over pulled the keys out of the ignition and started getting out of the car. Taylor lunged after him, caught him, then fell to the ground. He got the man back into the car and brought him into town.

In the processing of recapturing, Taylor hit his shoulder and head on the road causing quite a crick in his shoulder. He is in the Lockney Hospital listed in good condition.

In other city activity an accident was reported Saturday morning at 211 West Crockett involving a transport truck belonging to Alfred Beaver and a Falcon pickup, belonging to A. J. Jester.

Curtis Dan Jester was driving the pickup and Joe Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Greer Christian, was riding with him. It was about 7:06 a.m. when the sun was just rising above the horizon.

According to Larry Christian, investigating officer, the sun blinded the boys when they turned onto the street and they did not see the transport truck. The right front of the Falcon hit the left rear of the truck. Both boys were taken to Peoples Hospital and released after a few hours. No citation has been issued.

The Crucifixion

by Iris Jean Crawford

They called the Christ "King of the Jews" and laughed,
And placed a crown of thorns upon his head,
(They had not heard the angels sing that night, Nor seen kings worship at a manger bed.)

Thy nailed Him to a cross on Calvary's Hill
And mocked to see his agony and pain.
(They had not tasted of the fish and bread
Nor seen the dead man rise to life again.)

All day they taunted Him with bitter words,
And cursed Him that he ever dared to live,
(They did not see compassion in his eyes,
Nor hear the tender voice that prayed "Forgive".)

But we have known it was the Prince of Peace
That men of old Golgotha crucified,
And known that Easter comes eternally
To signify to earth He has not died.

And we have pierced His brow with sharper thorns,
And mocked His pain on steeper Calvary—
How small the sin of Pilate's men becomes Beside our awful greeds and cruelties.

WELL I'M A LITTLE UNDECIDED BUT I MIGHT KEEP IT . . . seems to be the reaction from Brad Turner on the left, as he looks over his Easter bucket filled with eggs. His cousin, Karen Turner, has a grip on her bucket so her decision is made. Karen's brother, Kelly, plainly shows his intention of keeping the basket after all, its the largest, holds more eggs and after all he is the oldest. Baby sister of Karen and Kelly is Suzan Turner. This is her first Easter and all she can do is look at the pretty colors of her Easter Basket. We bet Mother rabbit will have to deliver more eggs to the Turner home Easter tho for its doubtful if these will be a-round to use in the Easter egg hunt. Brad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Turner and the other three youngsters are children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Turner.

EASTER REPRESENTATIVE — Mitchell Layton holds a close relative to the real Easter Bunny, which is one of the many animals thought of at Easter. Mitchell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry C. Layton. Mr. Layton is working with the U. S. Coastal and Geodetic Survey group now stationed in Floydada.

Winners of Soil Conservation Service Essay Contest Announced Recently

Winning Entry Will Be Sent To State Contest

Every year the Soil Conservation Service sponsors an essay contest for high school students in which the students express their views on conservation. The winners of this year's contest are Jerry Allen, Carolyn Franklin and Vernie Moore, first, second and third respectively. Jerry's winning entry will be sent to Ft. Worth to be submitted for the state contest.

The results were announced Monday afternoon by R. G. Dunlap, when he presented the awards to the students Monday afternoon at the high school. Awards are $25 for first, $15 for second, and $10 for third.

The local CSC district made up the money for the prizes for the the youth of our area should get acquainted with the facts on how to preserve our soil and water.

The young people may ask why they should learn about conservation. The answer is simple. In our area almost everybody depends on the farmers. If the farmers have a bad year, then this hurts the business of other people. Everyone depends on the soil for just about everything, directly or indirectly. The food we eat comes from the soil. The clothes we wear come from the plants or animals that depend on the soil for food. Yet, every year thousands of tons of the precious soil is either blown or washed away. It is the duty of the young people to learn how to save our soil and water, because in the years to come they will be the ones on which America depends.

"How can the young people help toward the matter of conservation?" This is probably the question of many young people. The answer lies in their own community where they can enroll in the Future Farmers of America or 4-H. There they can learn how to conserve our soil and water and thus prepare themselves for the future.

ESSAY WINNERS — These three high school students are being congratulated by R. C. Dunlap, head of the local Soil Conservation District on the quality of the essays each wrote on "Youth's Stake in Conservation". Left to right are: Vernie Moore, who won the third place prize of $10, Carolyn Franklin, who won the second place prize of $15, and Jerry Allen, who won the first place prize of $25. Jerry's composition has been entered in the state competition.

Management Suggest Given For Swine Care

Because of the importance of hog production to many Floyd County farmers and the role that swine play on the high plains where grain is plentiful, good management is a must during farrowing time because success or failure for the swine enterprise depends on it, says County Agent H. T. Davison. And he adds, it's that time again on the hog farms of Floyd County.

Davison offers these suggestions for making the season a successful one. Increase the sow's feed during the last 30 days before farrowing to allow for the maximum development of the pig embryos. Clean the farrowing house thoroughly and disinfect with lye and hot water before the sow is moved in. Wash the sow, with warm water and soap before the move and give special attention to her underline.

The move to the farrowing house should be made two or three days in advance of the expected farrowing date and decrease her food to half normal ration and half wheat bran. Provide the needed bedding for the farrowing house.

Be present at the farrowing time to clean up the pigs and to place them under a heat lamp which can be placed in a corner of the pen. He adds that the pigs' needle teeth should be clipped during the first 24 hours to about a fourth of their original length. The needle teeth should be clipped about the third day after the pig is born. The second clipping should be made about the third day after the pig is born. The male pigs should be vaccinated for scours at 2-3 weeks of age. Eggs should be vaccinated for scours at 2-3 weeks old.

As an aid for placing a pan of iron in the house for the pig, about the third day after the pig is born, the pig should be vaccinated for scours at 2-3 weeks of age. Eggs should be vaccinated for scours at 2-3 weeks old.

most young people are directly connected with the soil. Their families are supported by the produce gathered from it. Many young people are very familiar with terracing and crop rotation. Wind breaks are also common sights in this section. Although most young people do not farm themselves, each has a definite responsibility to the land. The soil must provide food, shelter, and clothing for many years to come. Young people can help by encouraging adults to learn and practice more careful conservation. They themselves must also learn more about conservation, and practice it as adults.

Young people in their teens can help most by preserving their own human resources. Teenagers must strive to develop their own abilities and potentials. By studying hard and getting a good education, young people can greatly reduce the amount of money, time, and food spent on those who are ignorant and hungry because of the lack of education. Education is the best way young people can help the country preserve its economies.

Time will fly quickly past, and young people must be prepared to take their places of responsibility in communities and homes. Learning and practicing soil conservation and developing human ability will put them out front as leaders, and provide better living, education, and happier homes for themselves and their families.

CAROLYN FRANKLIN
 Youth's Stake in Conservation Thesis: The entire future of young people and the nation depends upon conservation.

The entire future of young people and of the nation depends upon conservation. Conservation is the wise use and preservation of human and natural resources. There are many types of conservation such as soil, wildlife, water, minerals, health, safety and human ability.

Conservation has been practiced and proved necessary since ancient times. The Indians killed only what they needed, and rugged pioneers rationed food and water in order to survive. During war time conservation has been most useful, and the areas in which it was not practiced created great shortages and difficulties.

In this section of the country forest and streams. It may mean nothing to many young people because it is only remains of rock and organic matter of previous life. Yet we still take advantage of such a simple thing. The soil is like our lives in the most important way. Take the plant for instance, compared with our lives on earth. Soil is the cradle for the seed, the support of the plant is the parent of our lives, and the final resting place for both. Soil is but one of God's many laboratories where he breaks down the inert remains of plants and animals only to build new from the dead.

Doctor Austin Burges said, "The soil is incredibly slow to form but swift in the dashing rain to erode. Once wasted, it can never be reformed nor possibly replaced by man." If we young people would pay more attention to smart people like Mr. Burges, our youth's stake in such a matter would never be questioned. Only to think twice before doing is sometimes not good enough, but to think deeply is

Meat Prices Down On The Hoof; Same Or Higher On The Table

Much adverse publicity goes against the farmer as prices are reflected on the cost of food on the table. Yet, it has been very well pointed out that the farmer could give his wheat to the mills and the price of bread would not go down.

This points to the middlemen who are involved in the processing, packaging and marketing of the farmer's product as the culprit in not allowing lower farm product prices to be realized by the consumer when she goes to the grocery store to buy the food. The middleman complains that organized labor unions hold his costs of operation up . . . and the housewife demands better looking packages, etc.

It is known fact that cattle prices are down . . . yet it is interesting to look at some facts revealed by a member of Congress last week when he became riled about the beef situation in the United States.

WASHINGTON, March 19 — A House member who went out to buy himself a steak because live cattle

Trudan I grows surprisingly fast . . . reports of one and three inches a day are not uncommon. prices are so low reported today he found he did not even want to buy hamburger, retail beef prices were so high.

W. R. Poage (D., Tex.), being chairman of the House Agriculture subcommittee on livestock, was in a better position than a disappointed housewife in a like situation to do something about it.

Poage told the House that he bought a chicken instead of paying $1.35 a pound for a "full-cut sirloin steak, including a substantial amount of bone fat," then ordered his staff to investigate retail beef prices.

As a starter, Poage said, he has directed major Washington retail stores selling meat to submit to his committee their beef price schedules for the last week.

"When I have received these I will be in a better position to form a judgment . . . as to whether these retailers are trying to take advantage of low wholesale beef prices to collect unusually high retail profits," Poage said.

Poage last weekend ordered the House Agriculture Committee staff to find what the big supermarkets in their neighborhoods were charging for beef and they reported the following range of prices:

Pound
Rib Roast	65 to 79 cents; Rib Steaks 75 to 89 cents; Hamburger 53 to 59 cents; Sirloin Steak, 75 cents to $1.19; Round Steak 79 cents to $1.19; Chuck Roast 49 to 69 cents; Stew Beef 66 to 79 cents.

What riled Poage most was the store which advertised its beef. He found it also had been advertising beef a year ago. This is what he found when he compared prices

Per Pound 1963 1964
Porterhouse Steak 87 cents—$1.19; Ground Beef 49 cents—55 cents; Sirloin Steak 77 cents—$1.09; Top Round Steak 77 cents—$1.29.

"I have come, regrettably, to the conclusion that the food chains operating in the Washington area appear to be doing little or nothing to help move the plentiful supply of beef which is now glutting the stockyards," Poage said. "Nor do most of them appear to be passing on to consumers the benefits of the ruinously low prices which farmers are now receiving for their cattle."

In looking back a year ago at some local grocery advertisements last week we noted that Chuck Roast was 49c a pound a year ago, as it is today. The cost of round steak has increased from 79c to 89c. One area wholesaler has announced new low prices on half beefs.

Floyd County 14 Years Ago

Mrs. J. C. Thomas 74 formerly of Floydada, was buried here Tuesday following funeral rites Thomas and her husband were living in Floydada when the court house was constructed in 1912. Mr. Thomas served as janitor for the court house until his death in 1915. At that time Mrs. Thomas moved to Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cline and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith attended funeral rites in Ben Hur Sunday for Mrs. Cline's father, James Allen Coker.

Mrs. Sim Reeves is in Van Buren due to the illness of her mother, Mrs. E. C. Austin, former resident of Floydada. Mrs. Austin suffered a severe heart attack Monday night. GUEST EDITORIAL

Consider The Non-Smoker

(From the Vancouver B. C. Province)

NO FAIR - MINDED person would deny the individual his right to smoke if he chooses.

But while the smoker's freedom to puff is protected, what about the non-smoker who finds himself suffocated by other peoples' pipe, cigar and cigaret fumes?

The old gracious days when ladies didn't smoke at all and no gentleman would kindle tobacco without asking leave, are gone forever. So are most of the restrictions on smoking in public places.

Many a restaurant meal has been ruined because some thoughtless person at a nearby table lighted up a foul-smelling stogie.

Smoking is permitted on buses, trains and planes, in waiting rooms, hotel lobbies, bars, many meeting places and auditoriums, in offices and clubs.

Most public facilities now cater to the smoker. The poor fellow who dislikes the smell of tobacco fumes or is trying to break the habit has no refuge.

Yet the air in a smoky room is not only unpleasant and annoying to the non-smoker — it is polluted.

The only way to safeguard the freedom of both smokers and non-smokers is to set aside, by law, special areas for smokers.

Where separate quarters are not feasible it would seem only fair to ask the puffer to desist, smoke in a washroom or stick their heads out of a window.

Smoking is not permitted in movie theatres (fire regulations), and even the most rabid tobacco addicts seem to be able to adjust to that.

Thirteen Million Winners

BEN EZZELL in The Canadian Record: Not exactly a hoax, perhaps but mighty close to it was the big "Lucky Number" promotion carried out by the Readers Digest and the B. F. Goodrich Company this month through the March issue of the Digest. In each copy of the magazine was a numbered card . . . and nearly all recipients, by turning to another page in the magazine on which a long list of "winning" numbers was printed, found that he or she was a "winner".

The list of prizes was headed by such items as new cars, power mowers etc. and to discover which big prize he had won the ticket holder was required to go to the local dealer of the company's product to check his number against a master list.

The local dealer didn't even have the master list and wasn't very happy about the whole deal, we understand . . . but it didn't matter because nearly everybody had "won" a book of coupons entitling the holder to discounts on the purchase of the sponsor's products. There were, we understand, some 13 million such "winners" across the nation . . . which didn't leave much room for "losers" among the Readers Digest subscribers.

One local dealer . . . an automobile agency at Matador . . . even bought advertising space last week in The Matador Tribune to apologize to customers in that area for "your disappointment when you determine your prize is not of the magnitude the advertisement led you to believe." If the public reaction generally was what it was around these parts neither The Digest nor the sponsor reaped any great benefits in the form of good will.

ERNEST JOINER in The Sebastopol (Calif.) Times: Our choice for president on anybody's ticket this fall is Marvin Kitman, who describes himself as being twice as Jewish as Goldwater. Floyd Philosopher Begins To Wonder Whether Small Nations Aren't Smarter Than Big Ones

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses size of his letter this week. He doesn't say whether he's for it or against it.

Dear Editor:

Sometimes you get to wondering, who's the smartest, the big fellow or the little fellows?

I'm not talking about big farmers and little farmers, although it works there too, with one difference being that when it rains and it is too wet to plow a little farmer goes fishing while a big farmer takes advantage of the 'lu' in work to rush into town and re-finance his loans.

What I was thinking about though was countries. Take Canada. Now Canada isn't considered a major nation but I was reading in a newspaper the other day that she has decided not to spend any money on atomic bombs, guided missiles, etc.

As I understand it, Canada has figured out that the main secret now to the atomic bomb is having enough money to make one, and since the United States and Russia each now has enough bombs in storage to kill every person on earth 100 times, anything Canada would do in this line wouldn't add to the world's safety, only to Canada's debt. When you get right down to it, I guess a man had rather be unsafe and solvent than unsafe and broke.

This is the difference between Canada and France. France is determined she is going to be a world power and is working like mad now to build atomic weapons.

Weevils May Be Hibernating In Soil Bank Trash

Trash samples from soil bank land are being gathered by W. L. Ovens, Entomologist from the Lubbock Experiment Station, in an attempt to find out if weevils are over-wintering in this type of cover, reports H. T. Davison, Floyd County Agricultural Agent.

Davison said that squares yard samples have been taken from Sorghum Alum fields in the Dougherty and Lakeview areas. The results of these samples have not been obtained. Other trash samples from soil bank land and slum areas have revealed more weevils in the latter areas. The weevil has seemed to prefer the slumery cover thus far.

Cages containing weevils are out to check on hibernation but these will not be examined until spring.

pons at a cost of billions of dollars, on the theory I guess that the deeper you get in debt, the more major a world power you become. She'll have to go a long way's to overtake the United States in this department. As for

Veteran's Ask

Q—Is a veteran given preference in obtaining private employment?

A—A veteran is aided in obtaining employment by the Veterans' Employment Service of the U. S. Department of Labor. This work is carried on through the local state employment offices in each of the 50 states. A veteran also has some re-employment rights for the job he held prior to going into the service. Full details may be obtained at the nearest state employment office.

Q—Can I select my own lot for future burial in Arlington National Cemetery?

A—No. Gravesites are not assigned in advance of immediate requirement. Application may only be made at time of death of the veteran or that of an eligible dependent.

Q—I am a Canadian and have served in the armed forces of the United States but not during wartime. Am I entitled to become an American citizen?

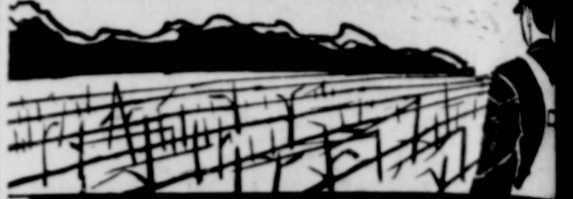

A—An alien with three years of active service during peacetime may have this naturalization process authorized and expedited provided he file citizenship papers while in the service or within six months thereafter.

Russia, I can't say. I don't know anything about her debts. It's hard to go into debt when no other country will lend you anything and your own people don't own anything.

However to get back to my first approach, I'm not saying that all little farmers or countries are automatically smart or vice versa for the big ones. I know how to gauge but my observations hasn't got anything to do with it. I don't think grass farm would be better if you doubted it.

CENTER NEWS by Mrs. J. E. Green

Spring Winds Very Chilly

CENTER March 23 — Well this is supposed to be the first week of spring. But March winds are still chilly.

In spite of the many absences we had 131 in Sunday School at Calvary Baptist. Some were out of town, some were sick. Spring colds are numerous. Since next Sunday will be Easter we hope we'll have a lot of visitors as well.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith of Abernathy visited Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Mankins Sunday afternoon. Mr. Smith and Mrs. Mankins are cousins.

We sympathize with the Mankins in the passing of her brothers-in-law, Frank Corley of Ft. Worth. The Corleys were long ago residents of Floyd County and attended Center Church. The Mankins were unable to attend last rites which were held last Friday.

Mrs. Frank Dunn spent Friday with the Mankins.

The J. D. Welborn's children who visited them Sunday afternoon were: Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Arney and Steve, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gooch and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Booth, and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Welborn and children all of Floydada.

Syve Arney is out of school today, Monday, with a bronchial infection.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Frank Dunn were Jimmy and Patsy Dunn and girls, Labbock, and Joe Lee Dunn, Texas Tech, and Lynn Jackson, Labbock. Sunday was Jimmy's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Montgomery of Plover visited Mrs. Dunn Friday night.

Bill Thomas and sister, Mrs. Maud Bristol of South Plains spent Sunday afternoon in the Hal Thomas home.

Mrs. C. M. Lyles and Mrs. W. F. Ferguson visited Mrs. O. C. Vinsen Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Green, who have lived for many years on the Green farm on the Silverton Highway, moved Saturday to their beautiful new home in South west Floydada.

Mrs. W. C. Phlanter who has been in the Lockney Hospital for two weeks is reported improving.

Mrs. J. E. Green visited briefly with Mrs. Phlanter late Thursday.

Klaine Warren visited Sunday with Jan Peery.

The rest of the Thomas Warrens dined Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alldridge and family. Other guests were Mrs. Charley Burley, Mrs. Olla Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Batten. The occasion was Mark Alldridge's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alldridge visited Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Daniel, southwest of town.

Mr. Green, Phlanter, visited briefly Monday with parents, the J. E. Greens.

The J. E. Greens, Mrs. Joe Evers, Mrs. Olla Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Batten visited Friday evening with Mrs. Charley Burley.

The T.E.L. Sunday School class of Calvary Baptist Church had a Social Get Together Thursday afternoon at the R. C. Ross home. Present were Misses, J. C. Olson, Louise, Phoebe, Phoebe, Mankins, Corone, Edwards, Whitley, Stacy Irwin, J. E. Green and hostess, Mrs. Ross.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and punch were served. Of the five members not able to come some were indisposed, and one out of town.

Mrs. Phlanter was the one member in the hospital and was remembered by the group with a card.

4-H Club News

(By Billy Finley)

The Floyd County 4-H Council held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, March 10th in the county, even with the meeting being called to order by chairman, Neil Mitchell. Roll call was made by Jackie Yeary, and the 4-H motto and pledge were led by Sherri Simpson.

Sherri Mullins gave the treasurer report in the absence of Steve Bell. Guests were introduced by Beverly Farver.

Miss Mullins, HD agent, gave a report on the last adult leaders meeting and reported the Yearbooks would be out, his week.

Joe Stansell and Bob Kropp were appointed as recreation leaders.

The group voted to have refreshments at each meeting which will be furnished by various clubs in the county in alphabetical order. They also voted to have a concession stand at Kropp's Lamb Sale in the spring as a money making project.

Each club was reminded during the meeting to write a thank you note to Gene Collins Sr. for the 4-H Clubhouse.

County adjourned to meet again the first Monday in April.
