'One Corner Of Heaven' Off Press

Blanche Scott Rutherford's new book, ONE CORNER OF HEAVEN, is just off the press. Mrs. Rutherford was once the Harmony community correspondent to the Hesperian.

ONE CORNER OF HEAVEN is living drama on the Great Plains. Floydada serves as the setting for the book. From covered wagons to jets, this book tells the story of life on the great Golden Spread area, from Kansas to Central Texas and New Mexico. Published by The Naylor Company of San Antonio, it is a factual study of what has occurred in the past seventy-six years blended with poignant evaluations of how inventions and other changes of time have affected the lives of all people.

Early day hardships, including the Depression, and farm living are told. The author relates how early homes were built and how food was grown and prepared. Community recreation is brought out through games, plays and programs.

Along with life's struggles, tragedy of death is shown. For

County Banks Deposits Top 13 1/2 Million

At the close of business October 1, 1964 the two county banks, the First National Bank of Floydada and the First National Bank of Lockney, had a total of $13,754,515.73. The amount of money out on loan from the two banks totaled $8,212,876.66.

However, the deposits in both the banks were down when compared with last year's report. The dry summer that ruined chances of any crops being harvested of dryland acreage was the main contributing factor in the drop.

The Floydada bank reported total deposits at $8,285,976.37 and Lockney reported $5,459,339.36 in deposits.

The amount out on loan from Floydada was $4,807,707.75 and from Lockney was $3,411,171.87. The total deposits for the county banks are down almost $1.2 million.

$630,000 Suit Settled Out Of Court Here

A legal suit filed on behalf of Mrs. Karl Vinson against the Ft. Worth and Denver Railroad Company was settled out of court here Tuesday. The amount of the settlement was $40,000, in favor of the plaintiff.

The late Karl Vinson, a salesman from Lubbock was enroute from Lubbock to Pampa about 1:30 p.m. at which time he approached the intersection of Texas Highway 270 and the Ft. Worth and Denver Railroad crossing in South Plains, Texas.

The car was traveling in a northerly direction and the train was traveling in an easterly direction, when Vinson's car skidded into the side of the moving train killing Vinson.

The woman sought the funds to replace the earning power lost when her husband was killed, and the comfort and convenience he would have afforded her, their children and his parents.

The plaintiffs contend that the Railway company was negligent in several respects, including operating the train at a dangerous speed as it approached the intersection, not having anyone to warn the cars of the approaching train, not sounding a bell or whistle or other warning device as the train approached the crossing and others.

The defendants contended, on the other hand, that Vinson was speeding, was not alert as he approached the crossing, and did not heed the eight signs posted along the highway, beginning over 1,000 feet away from the rail crossing.

Judge L. D. Ratliff heard the case in 110th District Court here.

Crosbyton Man Opens Super Market; Johnson Opens Drug

Two major business announcements highlight the news in Floydada this week. A spacious new drug store on the corner of California and Main is scheduled to open next Monday and a new grocery super market opens soon at Mississippi and Lockney highway.

The name of the new drug store in Johnson Rexall Pharmacy and the new grocery store firm name is Thrifty Super Market.

Both new businesses mean more new families will be moving to Floydada.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson of Oklahoma City will open the new drug store in Floydada.

The fifty foot front building has been completely remodeled and new fixtures and stock are fast going into the building this week.

Johnson said that the new business will feature prescriptions, cosmetics, and gift departments as well as the complete Rexall drug line.

Johnson is a graduate of Southwestern State School of Pharmacy in Oklahoma and Mrs. Johnson is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma and a licensed pharmacist.

The Johnsons together have over 16 years of experience and education in the drug business.

Johnson is a native of Memphis, Texas.

The Johnsons have two girls; Kellye, three years of age and Laura, 18 months. They belong to the Baptist church. Johnson is an ordained deacon. The family resides at 812 West Ross street.

After the business has been open for a week or two, a formal grand opening will be announced, according to Johnson.

Johnson said that he has already found Floydada people to be very friendly and helpful. He said that he had been observing Floydada for the past 2 years, contemplating opening a drug store here. He said that he and his wife look forward to getting acquainted with everyone in this community and working for the progress of Floydada and this trade area.

The new drug store will not have a fountain department.

Mayor Ross, Davis Attend Water Meet

Mayor S. W. Ross and president of the McKenzie Dam Water Authority Lon Davis attended a meeting of the authority in Tula Monday night.

Board members from Silverton, Tula and Lockney were also in attendance.

Jim Nichols of the Freese, Nichols and Endress Water Engineering firm of Fort Worth reported that the McKenzie Water authority is progressing faster than any authority his firm has ever worked on.

Through the help of congressman Walter Rogers and George Mahon engineering and mapping of the dam area has been advanced from 1968 to 1964, according to Davis.

Davis also reported that a gauging station has been set up on the Tule Creek under the bridge on the Claude highway northwest of Silverton and is recording volume and quality of water that comes down the creek.

In other business the group selected Don Bookout, Tula attorney as legal counsel to replace the late G. W. Suggs.

Winds Open Conference At Abernathy

The Floydada Whirlwinds, after a week's rest, will open conference play tomorrow night in a game against the Abernathy Antelopes.

Almost All Permits In Boll Weevil Area Are Signed

Around 99 percent of the farmers in the dipause boll weevil control spray area have now signed permits allowing cotton fields to be sprayed.

Agriculture Commissioner John White's office announces that around 3,358 of the 3,434 farmers contacted have signed spray permits. Only 76 farmers have refused to sign permits and quite a few of these are outside the present spray boundary.

In addition, Fred Roy of the Commissioner's office reports that his men were unable to contact around 50 farm operators who had moved out of state or otherwise could not be found. Fortunately, most of these were also outside the spray area, Roy says.

A county - by - county breakdown of the sign-up and refusals follows: Briscoe—272 signed, 12 refused; Crosby—836 signed, 2 refused; Dickens—545 signed, 5 refused; Floyd—812 signed, 37 refused; Garza—287 signed, 7 refused; Hall—133 signed, 3 refused; Kent—252 signed, 8 refused; Lubbock—63 signed, none refused; Motley—252 signed, 8 refused.

Roy said that spray permits are being sought from all farmers in the nine-county area with the exception of Lubbock County even though all cotton land in these counties will not be sprayed. He explained that this was to allow a little leeway in case it was necessary to change the spray boundary.

When a farmer in the spray area refuses to sign a spray permit, his fields are "flagged out" and not sprayed.

5,015 POPULATION

City Dads Approve Population Signs; More Help For Police

The Floydada city council approved new population signs for the city limits of the city at their regular monthly meeting in City Hall Tuesday night.

The new signs, which the highway department will install will read 5,015 population. The population estimation was based on an average of 1591 electric, gas and water meters and multiplied by an average of 3.25 persons per meter.

City manager Olen Petty reported that the work of the police department has skyrocketed since the influx of Latin Americans have come for the cotton picking season. He reported a total of 85 tickets given since Oct. 1, 1964. . . 44 tickets given from Friday, October 9 through Sunday, October 11, 1964. . . $1,141.00 fines collected since October 1. . . $670 fines collected from Oct. 10 through Oct. 12.

The council authorized Petty to employ two more policemen for week-end work.

In other business the council adopted a new ordinance forbidding the parking of vehicles on Houston and Second Streets from one city limit to the other. It also agreed to give the highway department permission to remark these streets for four-lane traffic.

Anticipating that speed of traffic through the city might increase, the council also voted to purchase speed limit flashing lights for the two school zones on these streets.

Jimmy Seay visited with the council and asked for information about how he might bring his property into the city limits. He has recently purchased a lot in the Massie addition. He was and spoke before the group at the Lockney Legion Hut.

Huff also said that the strength of the Farm Bureau lies in the community meetings on, and below, the county level.

"With an organization such as this, and being operated the way it is, the Farm Bureau endeavors to do what the majority of farmers want," Huff said. "This grass roots approach to the problem of the farm means a sound philosophy, according to Huff.

He said "1965 is a big year in deciding where we'll go as far as agriculture is concerned."

Autograph Party Given For Rutherford

Mrs. Rutherford did 10 years of research work on the book, and people from all walks of life have praised it. Dr. W. Mitchell Jones, Dean of Men, West Texas University had this to say:

"An excellent history of a community made into 'One Corner of Heaven' by pioneers who gave their all, under God, to carve out homes and build a community of abundance in a land that weaker characters considered a wilderness... a typical parallel of many such communities in this great area. One who wants to know how it was in the early days will find this reading both instructive and interesting."

A letter to our Congressman from JOE B. PHILLIPS

Hon. George Mahon, Congressman, 19th District, 111 New House Office Building, Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Mr. Congressman:

This letter is concerned with issues which are vital to our particular section of the country. I have some very definite convictions about certain matters, and I would welcome the opportunity of discussing these issues face to face if your schedule could be arranged to do so.

In my opinion the economic growth of West Texas has been retarded by the foreign investments of our federal government. Through the Compact, Texas has been forced to absorb a great percentage of foreign oil, while our own wells have been allowed to produce on the minimum of only 10 days a month. In my opinion, this is not fair to our area.

I believe that the cattlemen in our district have a just complaint over transportation of foreign beef, and that the farmers of our area have been denied support and encouragement to raise sugar beets and other crops because of foreign imports.

We are concerned that our district has lagged behind in the development of Interstate Highways, and in industrial development until this year.

Very truly yours,

JOE PHILLIPS

Congressman And Mrs. George Mahon Visit Here Wednesday

The residents of Floydada and the surrounding area were privileged to visit with Congressman and Mrs. George Mahon yesterday at a reception honoring them in the community room of the First National Bank in Floydada from 2 until 4 p.m.

WATER TABLE — Riley Teague, Christ, John Shanklin and Clarence look at a map showing the expected location wells placed in certain portions of Plains and Panhandle Area.

Teague and Rathel are directors of the Light-house Electric Coop, where the program was held and who are sponsoring a research project concerning irrigation, and Sechrist and Shanklin brought the program.

Some of the objectives advocated in Marx's book included: get control of all land in a nation, set up graduated income tax, have no rights of inheritance, take over all property, allow no loans except through government, get control of transportation, labor and schools.

In Europe, Communism was outlawed. When Marx died in 1883 he was known as a Socialist-Democrat. Lenin came to power and set up that party in Russia, exposed Communist leaders and the people in turn overthrew the Czar.

In a secret ballot vote, 75% of the people in Russia voted against Communism, but those controlling the elections were told to say the voters had favored Communism or die.

Degue went on to tell how the Communist use subversion, treaties, or any other device that will help them get a foothold in any organization or any country.

He reminded the people at the convention that these were not his thoughts, nor Farm Bureau's but what he was telling was actual history, and other things he quoted and told about were from actual FBI records.

He brought to mind that there is at least one organization in the U. S. that is advocating the same things that Marx did in his book. The one organization he mentioned specifically was the ADA.

Included in some of these points were: Unilateral disarmament of U. S., World government, nuclear test ban agreement, do away with loyalty oaths, do away with House Un-American Activities, support left wing give aways, socialize medicine, power and education, repeal the Connally Reservation which keeps people from being controlled by world court.

Chamber Board Meets

Health Of Candidates To Be 1964 Campaign Issue

AUSTIN — Three top Texas GOP leaders recently accepted the challenge of the Johnson-Humphrey forces to make health of the candidates a campaign issue.

In a joint statement the Republicans warned that "Al Johnson-Humphrey will be an uncertain heartbeat from the Presidency if Johnson wins in November."

Signing the statement were GOP State Chairman Peter O'Donnell Jr., of Dallas, National Committeeman Albert B. Fay of Houston and Tad Smith of El Paso, state campaign co-ordinator for Goldwater-Miller.

Their statement said the Johnson-Humphrey forces had raised a question about the mental and physical qualifications of Senator Barry Goldwater for the Presidency.

"This was done as part of another bitter, personal attack on Senator Goldwater. They have raised this question and we accept their challenge.

"These are the same smear tactics that Lyndon Johnson employed against the late John F. Kennedy in 1960 when Johnson sought and lost the presidential nomination."

The GOP leaders said Senator Goldwater "is in perfect health. Their charge has been discredited by the doctors who have examined the Senator."

They pointed out that Goldwater, a major general in the Air Force Reserve, continues to fly advanced jet airplanes. "No pilot with mental or physical deficiencies is permitted to fly these complex aircraft."

In reporting on Johnson's health the Saturday Evening Post said that he "suffered a massive heart attack — as bad as a man can have and still live" is the way he (Johnson) describes it.

The New York Daily News commented September 25, 1964 that Johnson had "a severe heart attack in 1955, and the statistics show that a repetition is often the case."

The GOP leaders warned that "never before had the extreme Left had its man so close to the Presidency—a man who helped found and who has a long record of allegiance to the ultra-liberal ADA."

Farm Bureau Facts & Faces

WHAT A FINE barbecue about 600 of you Farm Bureau families missed! You also missed a good program.

Janet Holmes made a most outstanding talk on "Our American Heritage" and Olin Degeer was very effective with a speech on "The Threat of Communism in America". It was not easy for Mr. Charles Huff, Legislative Director from Austin, to follow two impressive speakers like Janet and Olin, but he did a fine job too.

One of the main points Mr. Huff made is that the success of Farm Bureau is unquestionably tied to the discussions and participation on the county level.

District Director, Hub Kine, stopped by and enjoyed the meal with Floyd County before traveling on to Briscoe County for their convention.

A vote of thanks goes to Alton Higginbotham of Lighthouse Electric for providing the speaker system and movies for the children.

Debra Brandes entertained with organ music during the meal. The organ was provided by Matheny Music Company of Lubbock.

THE NEW BOARD OF Directors for 1965 is compiled of holdover directors Louis Pyle, Ray Lloyd, Weldon Smith, and Virgil Brasler, and new directors Kenneth Brosch, Doodle Milton, Gene Probasco, Durrel Fortenberry, and Hollis McLain.

A dinner meeting will be held at the Colonial House in Floydada October 22 at which time new officers will be elected.

The new board has a good example to live up to in the faithfulness and effectiveness of the previous board.

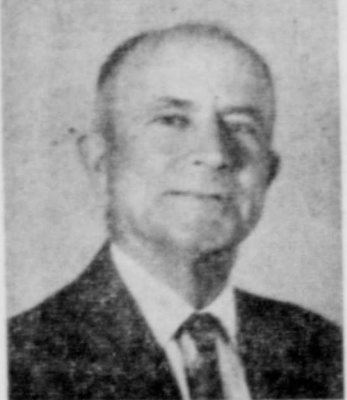

BILL SHERMAN will represent Floyd County at the District Discussion Meet, October 15, at the Holiday Inn East in Lubbock. Anyone who can attend is welcome. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Two persons will be selected to attend the State Convention and represent District II in November. One will be chosen from the talent portion also.

A Livestock Judging team from Floyd County won first place in the state. They left Monday at 2:30 p.m. for the American Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City, Mo. Floyd Co. Farm Bureau contributed $100 toward sending the team.

The members of the team are: Larry Golden, Neil Mitchell, Ricky Kellison, Bob Kropp and Coach Darrel Smith, Asst. County Agent.

All of the boys families are members of Floyd County Farm Bureau.

LBJ Not Staging Campaign, It's Political Roadshow", Barry Goldwater Claims

Over 10,000 Hear GOP Candidate Speak In Lubbock

Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential candidate, spoke to a packed Coliseum, the chant of "We want Barry" arose from the crowd.

Goldwater responded with "You'll have him."

That comment brought cheers from the crowd.

In his conclusion the Arizona, who was on his way back home after the Lubbock stop and a speech in El Paso, pledged leadership for all the people, not just special groups.

The text of the Goldwater speech follows:

"Yesterday, my opponent began a six-day campaign tour. At the outset we hoped he would discuss the issues with the voters even though he has refused to debate them.

"Recently I wanted to question him on atomic weapons, and he had to go dedicate a dam. Another time I wanted to ask a question and he had to dedicate another dam. Well, I have news for him, I have more questions than he has dams."

"Instead, my opponent has dodged the issues once again and has demonstrated that he is going to base his campaign on political double-talk as to his own record and political deception as to mine.

"In an extraordinary television performance he ran through a virtual shopping list of disproved charges, fear-mongers, and fantastic interpretations of history. In fact the way he was talking about the history, one would have thought he was the founding father of our country.

"He took credit for all that is good in the world. Then, by innuendo, and without any honest reward for the facts of the world as they are today, he blamed all who oppose him for everything that possibly could be bad.

"He pointed to the past 30 years as the only ones in our history that have produced worthy results, ignoring the principles that have supported all of our history.

"He did not seek to enlighten, but only to frighten.

Earlier in the day, my opponent said that Social Security would be an issue. I agree. I have supported Social Security, by my voting.

I intend to see it strengthened when I am elected. Disregarding my record and my statements, however, my opponent falsely hints at plans to weaken the system.

I ask you to consider the truth instead of my opponent's distortions. It was my opponent, this very month, who applied pressure in congress to kill needed improvements in the Social Security system. And why? Because my opponent took the attitude that if he could not add his co-called medicare plan to the cost of Social Security, he simply wouldn't let anyone else have the badly needed benefits. It was as cold a piece of political pressure as I can recall."

At this point the coliseum roared with applause, cheers and other signs of agreement and approval.

He continued, "And, as I have pointed out, my opponent's plan for Medicare under Social Security would seriously cripple the system and... as it has in France... bring the system to bankruptcy."

Once again he was interrupted by the roar of applause from the crowd.

"Next, my opponent charged that under a Republican administration farm supports would be suddenly ended. He knows that this is false. He knows that he is dodging both the truth and the issue, for the Agriculture Act is an instrument of Congress. The truth is that Republicans are pledged to return farmers to a free market (interrupted again) but that they are also pledged to do it without working any hardships on farmers who must now, mainly because of past government failures, depend on support payments."

"By the way, I haven't heard him say anything about what he's going to do about Freeman.

"Over fifty years ago the world became acquainted with the name of Orville Wright, and now they know Orville Freeman. We have gone from Orville Wright to Orville Wright in that short time.

"When I am elected your president, I will look around and find a farmer with dirt on his hands and ask him to be Secretary of Agriculture. I sure won't ask any unemployed Governor to take the job.

"Now those were the deceptions and distortions and, in a political campaign being waged by a man known as a master politician, probably are nothing more than we should have expected and should continue to expect.

"What will he, or can he do to return a sense of morality to government? What will he do to remove the shadow that such scandals as Billie Sol Estes and Bobbie Baker cast over the White House itself? He left the Senate to hide in the basement of the White House to escape these scandals.

"How will he make our streets safe from crime and riot?"

"What will he tell the American people about communism — a subject that has virtually disappeared from his political dictionary? In fact, he never mentioned the word in his acceptance speech last summer.

"What will he tell the American people of our plans and purposes in Vietnam?"

"How will he assure us that our defenses will be kept high, not just today, but tomorrow?"

"How will he justify his war against Congress, his war against the states, his war against individual responsibility?"

"How will he explain a running mate whose political roots are deep in Socialist-Radicalism?"

"I refuse to dignify my opponents by calling them Democrats. They should be called Socialists, for their pattern is on that road.

"Will he candidly admit that our course is toward Socialism — or if he rejects Socialism, will he tell how he will op-

Book Store On Wheels To Visit FHS

Mobile Book Fair, a giant custom built trailer stocked with 10,000 paperback books, will be available to students and their families at the Floydada High School on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. Proceeds will be retained by the school to support its activities program.

LARGE SELECTION — The inside store will be at Floydada High School on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of Next week.

Teachers with their classes will visit the trailer during school hours for educational purposes. At other times faculty members will supervise selling sessions during recess, lunch hour, and after school.

The 1800 titles on display were carefully selected from more than 23,000 paperback books in print. They have been approved for student reading by a committee of qualified educators and librarians.

Bringing students and good literature together is the prime purpose of the School's Book Fair.

Degge To Attend Southern Weed Conference In Dallas

Some tentative plans were made Tuesday, in the regular session of the Board of Directors of the Floyd County Noxious Weed Control District, for several of the Directors to accompany Douglas Degge, District Supervisor, to the 18th annual Southern Weed Conference in Dallas, January 19-21, 1965. Degge will give a paper on "Bur Ragweed Control With Systemic Herbicides."

Material for this work was obtained through test work conducted by Dr. Allen F. Wiese, Agronomist at the TAES-Bushland and Degge here in the county for the past three years. Degge informs us that the results from these tests and actual field applications here in the county have been better than they anticipated. The results of the tests have confirmed that the oil emulsion amine forms of 2,4-D will give an average of 75% control when applied when the bur ragweed has 6 to 8 weeks growth.

They also feel that about three successive sprayings will eradicate the bur ragweed.

Those farmers interested in having their bur ragweed sprayed may contact the Weed District for assistance.

The three Weed Control Districts, Hale, Swisher and Floyd, held a joint weed demonstration at Halfway on September 10, at the Hi Plains Research Foundation Annual Field Day. Some 6,600 people attended. Much interest was shown in their display.

Estes Layman Speaker At Sterley Church

A good layman's day address was brought in the Sunday morning service by Claude Estes of Floydada. His was a challenge to real participation in the Kingdom of God. There was a good number present, with the usual hearty singing, including a duet.

He spoke to the Sterley Methodist Congregation.

The church year is coming to a close in a few weeks, and there is much emphasis on the social relationships of the Christian faith. Temperance, world

STILL BOTHERED WITH INJURIES—It seems that since the football season began, the Whirlwinds have been plagued with one injury after another. As soon as one person recovers, another occurs. Shown above are Clinton Fawver, who has suffered a broken shoulder and broken leg, Mac Willson, who last week underwent surgery to remove part of a cartilage from his knee, and Raymond Thompson, who just got the cast off his healed broken foot and broke his nose last Monday.

Frona Moves Into First Place Tie With Whirlwinds

The Whirlwinds, after last week, now share a first place tie with Frona in the District 3-AAA season standings. Neither team has played a conference game yet.

The Frona Chiefs slugged down a tough class A team, Hale Center, last Friday night to move into the tie with a 4-1 won-loss record.

FOUNTAIN HELP & CAR HOP WANTED

Hale Center has dealt the 3-AAA teams misery all year long losing to two, defeating two, and tying one. The Owls, on the border-line of being AA themselves, have defeated Abernathy and Olton, tied Dismitt and lost to Lockney, by only one point, and Frona by score of 24-7.
According to area standings the Whirls dropped from second place behind Denver City, to fifth last week after a loss to Tulla. Frona, Olton and Lockney moved above the Winds. However, (this is being written before any area standings are published this week) the Winds should move up the scale once again, and probably will land in third place behind Denver City and Olton.

Tech and West Texas Post Wins This Week

Texas Tech and West Texas State each broke a jinx last Saturday to post victories, the third for each team.

Tech beat TCU 25-10 and West Texas downed NTS 21-13. Prior to Saturday's games, Tech had never defeated TCU in their home field in Ft. Worth and the Buffaloes had never downed the North Texas State Eagles in Denton field. The victory gives Tech a solid place in the Southwest Conference. The only teams they trail are undefeated Texas and Arkansas, who incidentally meet this Saturday in a battle of the undefeated.

Slaton Stops Flu Plagued Lockney Team

A determined Slaton Tiger team held off a touchdown drive, more specifically, a second and goal situation on the one, but on by the Lockney Longhorns and stopped another drive on the nine to go ahead and down the Longhorns 12-7 in Slaton Friday night.

The Longhorns were playing without the services of several starters who were ill with the flu and without Bill Hayes who had an appendectomy last week. Hayes has been a defensive stalwart for the Longhorns this season.

Slaton clinched the victory with a score in the last minute-and-a-half on a four-yard run by quarterback Billy Gass.

This game leaves Slaton with a 4-2 record, their only losses coming at the hands of Petersburg and Idalou. This record will get a test when the Tigers meet a tough Morton team this Friday night.

Presently the Longhorns are sporting a 3-2 won-loss record with their losses coming from Petersburg and Slaton.

Doc Mize hopes his team will be back up in top shape by Friday night at which time the Longhorns will get one of its greatest district tests against Olton Mustangs.

FROM THE SPORTS DESK
by JEDD BLESSING

It seems that the only time some people ever consider others is when they are looking for someone to blame for a mistake.

The World Series this year has been filled with one spectacular play after another.

At the writing of this column, the fourth game of the 1964 series has just ended with the Cardinals winning 3-2. And how did they win? On a home run, of course.

In the extra innings, McCarty stepped to the plate with two men on and slammed the ball into the bleachers for a three run homer giving the Cards the victory. The game was tied 2-2 at the end of nine.

This incident in itself is unusual, but let's look at the games played a couple of days before.

In game number 2, the two teams were fighting on even ground and the game approached the last half of the ninth. The first man up for the Yanks was Mickey Mantle. He met the first pitch with a powerful swing, that looked as easy as a warmup swing, and lifted the ball into the bleachers to give the Yanks the win and make the series stand at 1-1.

Sunday, the Yanks started off like they were going to walk all over the Cardinals by rallying and getting three runs in the first inning. It was like the little boy playing sandlot ball and was asked what the score was. "It's 2-0 in their favor," he replied, "but that's not bad, we haven't got to bat yet."

Well, when the Cards did come to bat, they didn't even get the score for a while. Not until the sixth inning when Ken Boyer stepped to the plate with the bases loaded, connected with a pitch, and cleaned the bases for the Cards. Neither team was able to get a score after that.

The next game of the series was to be played yesterday in St. Louis, and it will be too late for us to get the results in this column.

Perfect blocking is when eleven men are injured on the play. The Whirlwinds have done a lot of near perfect blocking, and tacking this year, for they have injured several opposing players. They don't try to do this, of course, but these little eleven men in green are some of the toughest, and hardest hitting that one can find.

Even though the team wasn't as consistent as it has been, most of them continued to hit as hard in the fourth quarter as they had in the first against Tulla. This was proven when just a few minutes remained and the boys in green continued to move the ball against the Tulla Hornets and made several good gains.

The defense looked good in the second half except for a few plays, and Tulla took advantage of these few plays by driving across two more six-pointers.

One of these was set up by halftime, stopped an Eagle drive early in the third period on the WT 45. Earl West, a few plays later, climaxed the 55 yard scoring march with a six yard run to put the Buffs on the scoreboard for the first time.

Shortly thereafter, Tony Waters returned an Eagle punt 63 yards to the 15-yard line and again went in for the tally, this time from 7 yards out.

Gene Browning ended a North Texas drive when he intercepted a North Texas aerial on his own 28 and riced 46 yards to the Eagle 26. It took only one play for the Buffs to reach paydirt from that point. The counter came on a quick pitch to Russell Munday who carried the pignin the 25 yards on the play.

This weekend West Texas hosts Memphis State and North Texas entertains New Mexico State at Denton.

Tech travels to Baylor to test the winless, but explosive, Baylor Bears and the Texas Christian travel to College Station to take on the Aggies.

Miller who was caught from behind, after a long run, by Sammy Watts. Miller was downed on the two by the Whirlwind speedster.

Looking at the film when Watts was chasing Miller, I was reminded of a time several years ago when Jess Neely of Rice had to put in his third string quarterback because of illness or injury to his others.

Rice was leading in the game 12-7, and it was in the closing minutes of the game.

The substitute quarterback was given specific instructions to stay on the ground, and have all these yardage if he had to but do not pass.

It seems Rice drove down to the 10 yard line and their drive was stopped by the opponents. The clock showed five seconds left to play and the young quarterback facing this situation couldn't resist the temptation to score, so he called for a pass.

He faded, passed, and the ball was intercepted at the goal line by one of the fastest backs in the Southwest Conference. In the pursuit the quarterback gained ground steadily and overtook the fleet back on the Rice 10 to save the game for Rice.

When the two coaches were talking later about the game, that particular play stood out in both their minds. The opposing coach asked Neely how it was reasonable for your substitute quarterback, a man of only average speed, to overtake one of the fastest men in the conference.

Neely looked at the man and dryly replied, "It's easy. Your man was only running for a touchdown, and my quarterback was running for his life."

Injuries seem to be the story of the Whirlwinds this year. It seems as soon as a player gets over a broken bone, another occurs, sometimes on the same person.

Such is the case of Raymond Thompson. Raymond suffered a broken foot early in the season and has never seen action this year.

About two weeks ago, the cast was taken off his foot. The following Monday in practice, Raymond received a broken nose. Last Monday he went back to the doctor to see how it was healing, and it was learned that the bone would need to be reset before it will heal straight.

Clinton Fawver, as we mentioned before, had a broken bone while he was playing against Ralls. When he was at the hospital with this break it was learned he received a broken collar bone early in the season, but it did heal properly. Only last week, Clinton hurt his shoulder again and it was not known whether he will see action against Abernathy.

Mac Willson, one of the team leaders, was injured in the Canyon game, and traveled back and forth to Lubbock to see if he could get back on the football field this season. Last week he had surgery on the knee, and he will not be back for the rest of the season.

However, Keith Teague, who has not been able to run, particularly since the team played Childress, is back in good shape and will be able to take some of the running load off Watts.

Bearden, who has been nursing a bruised hip bone should be back in shape for the encounter against the Antelopes, when the Winds open district play Friday night.

All in all, the boys should be in good physical shape, and that is all they can do. It's up to those supporting the team to tell them we're behind them to help build their morale and boost them through the tough district play.

It won't take much time, and little effort, to stop the boys when you meet them on the street and tell them you're behind them. They can't read minds, so this is the only way they know if you appreciate them or not.

The boys in the green and white are doing their share, the question is "Are the fans doing their share?"

Noticed in the Ralls Banner Where Ralph Carpenter says his "first statement still stands."

That statement said that Parks and Bill Potts hit out of bounds in the second quarter when Parks got hurt.

Ralph, the Floydada Quarter-back Club films all our games and that particular play came out quite clearly on the film. Please come over anytime that it is convenient for you, and we'll see if we can show you the film.

Let's go out and beat Whirlwinds through five featured games in district. The locals play at Ab this Friday night.

YOU CAN BAKE A ROAST FOR A FAMILY OF FOUR, EVERY SUNDAY, FOR OVER A YEAR AND A HALF—AUTOMATICALLY, TOO!

Electric cooking is clean and so inexpensive. For example, you can bake 35 four-pound roasts for about $2.00—that's what 100 kilowatt hours of electricity costs and this would be enough roast to feed a family of four, every Sunday, for over a year and a half. Or, to put it another way, you can cook electrically for about $2.00 a month, 3 meals a day... a small token for the all-around cleanliness of modern electric cooking. Clean... inexpensive—the two big reasons homemakers prefer electric cooking!

Old Timer ... Or Old Timer Will Enjoy Blanche Rutherford's New Book believe that both newcomers and old timers will enjoy Blanche Scott Rutherford's new book "One Corner of Heaven"...

Old Timer can relive and thoroughly enjoy the history of this area. The newcomer can learn much from the history of this area.

Floyd County 25 Years Ago

On Oct. 12, 1939, Cotton picking in the county is said to be about 40 percent done. The Lockney Longhorns won their first conference game Friday night from Paducah...

Williamson, fire accident, was brought to recover in the hospital in Amarillo. He is recovering nicely from the operation.

Earl Crawford underwent an appendectomy operation in the local hospital Monday. He is improving nicely.

And that should have been that. And it would have been except for the eagle eye of Jim Quayle, publisher of the Huntington (Ind.) Herald-Press...

And he promptly forwarded me page 227 of the Congressional Record, dated by an odd coincidence (which somebody ought to explain) Feb. 6, the very day Mr. Ezzell mentions.

But the verbatim remarks of the President are reprinted here not as a message to Congress, but as an official White House release headed, "Remarks of the President to a Group of Leaders of Organizations of Senior Citizens."

Now this group may be a fine body of men but unless the Supreme Court has decided otherwise while my back was turned - it is not the Congress. And somebody ought to tell Ezzell there's a difference.

The President, of course, knows the difference, and he wasn't wasting time asking these gentlemen to shift appropriations they had not authority over.

He was telling them, non-politically, of course, of the many advantages he was to bring them: such as Medicare, with the right to choose their own doctor and hospital if they became ill, at a cost of only 12 cents a week while they worked.

"This is just," he said, "this is necessary... with the help of the good Lord, Senator Anderson and Congressman King and you people... we are going to pass it."

After which - and just before inviting the group to a tour of the White House - he uttered that famous sentence about taking from the "haves" and giving to the "have-nots."

Now, no kind of liberalistic kerfuffle can transform that sentence - especially in the context in which it was used - into an appeal to the Congress to shift appropriations. Go read it for yourself and see.

Letters To The Editor

I recently had a letter from Mrs. Cella Ross, now of Oklahoma, a former teacher of Sandhill beginners. In fact she taught nearly all the McClain children and was loved by all.

TO THE ADULTS

If you plan to read this with a mind closed to suggestions, don't waste your time. It wouldn't interest you in the least. This is meant only for those who want to help themselves and the school they support.

LETTERS TO THE ADULTS

Football and athletics, as a whole, are rated without a doubt among Floydada's most prized interests. Students and adults, numbering close to 2,000, travel to out-of-town games or assemble at Wester Field for every football game to observe each play the Whirlwinds make.

LETTERS TO THE ADULTS

At a recent home football game, fewer than 25 adults took time to stand while the words "Two Bits" rang from across the field!

LETTERS TO THE ADULTS

It's certainly nice to be able to boast about having a winning team, and if some well-meaning adults would channel their "unwanted" advice to the coaches' into constructive encouragement to the team, the Whirlwinds might even set more outstanding records.

LETTERS TO THE ADULTS

Some students might take heed to this advice, also. Football players will verify that running onto the field is a much easier task when they are greeted with a long funnel of fans, shouting their encouragement.

Next time the cheerleaders call for people to come down and form a funnel, don't notice that you will save your friend's seat for him. Hurry down to the end zone and let everyone know whom you are supporting.

Floyd Philosopher Says Science Fails When It Can't Make Buggy Wheels Turn Forward

Editor's Note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm apparently is getting his mind off the political campaigns this week.

According to an article I read last night in a copy of a newspaper, I pulled off my television antenna and which much have fallen out of some Presidential candidates airplane as it was published at least 15 states away from here, the world has made more scientific progress in the last 50 years than it did in all the years before, throughout the long corridors of history.

This progress it said has been made in all fields of science, and cited not only space exploits and monster bombs but incidental progress here on earth in other areas. For example, it pointed out, scientists have now perfected a machine that picks heads of lettuce. Not only does it pick them, it first feels them to see if they're ripe, and will

Why Lyndon Johnson Must Be Elected . . .

EDITORIAL -- SATURDAY EVENING POST -- SEPTEMBER 19, 1964

A healthy, vigorous two-party system is absolutely indispensable to the survival of American democracy. Its proper functioning requires each of the major parties to put forward a man who is unmistakably and unquestionably qualified to be trusted with the incalculably grave and terrible powers of the Presidency.

In the presidential election of 1964, the two-party system has been seriously endangered. One of the great parties, the Democratic, has fulfilled its duty by putting forth a man, Lyndon B. Johnson, who has many flaws and much to be desired, but who is unquestionably as well qualified to be President as any tried and tested leader the Democratic Party now affords.

The other great party, the Republican, has shrunk and betrayed its duty by putting forth a man, Barry Goldwater, who is manifestly unqualified to be President and whose unfitness for this awesome responsibility becomes clearer with every passing day and with every reckless word he utters.

The two-party system has thus been endangered because this misfeasance on the part of the Republican Party has left the enlightened, the rational, the prudent, the responsible American voter no acceptable other choice in this election. He is not even given the option of an echo. He is given only the option of a question mark, of a man who is seemingly congenitally unable to say what he means or even know what he says, to say anything clearly or to hold the same conviction two days in a row. Barry Goldwater's tongue is like quicksilver; his mind is like quicksand.

The Post therefore urges the election of Lyndon B. Johnson as President.

It urges, even more strongly, the defeat of Barry Goldwater.

We are confident that Johnson will make a good President because he already is a good President. In the 10 brief months he has held the highest office, he has shown an unmatched in this century to bring all the diverse and warring factions of Congress behind the enactment of positive, progressive and needful legislative programs. In his greatest test as Commander-in-Chief — the attack on our Navy in the Gulf of Tonkin — he has acted with both the forcefulness and restraint which is required in the man who alone controls the ultimate weapon and bears all the fearful responsibility which that entails.

We are equally confident that Goldwater would not make a good President. He has not even made a good Senator. He has been in the Senate 11 years and not one piece of notable legislation attaches to his name. He has been in its councils through the most momentous and revolutionary decade in the history of this Republic as we have strained every fiber and fabric of our traditional habits and thinking to keep abreast of an age when all the supposed boundaries of man's environment are being broken, gravity defied, space penetrated, the moon reached, the riddle of the human cell being unraveled. Merely to understand, much less to master, this surge and change, heavy with unguessed new treasures of technology to increase man's wealth, has required and will require government entry into areas never before imagined. But Barry Goldwater has managed to live through this whole tremendous epoch with his face turned squarely to the past, his eyes closed, and his mind preoccupied with one — and only one — idea; somehow to shrink the Government back into the familiar, comfortably small proportions of his Arizona youth. Barry Goldwater has left no mark in the Senate because, he has truthfully declared, he sought to erase marks rather than to add them: "I have little interest in streamlining government or in making it more efficient, for I mean to reduce its size. I do not undertake to promote welfare, for I propose to extend freedom. My aim is not to pass laws, but to repeal them. It is not to inaugurate new programs, but to cancel old ones . . ." He is like the Cincinnati kettlemaker who, when first hearing Kentucky ironmaker William Kelly's use of air to make steel, exclaimed, "I want my iron made in the old way or not at all." His mind is surely not in phase with today's world.

Goldwater changes his "convictions" almost as often as his shirt. One day he is for abolishing Social Security, the next day for strengthening it, one day for giving field commanders control over nuclear weapons, the next day for restricting control to the NATO supreme commander. Many of his statements are inherently contradictory nonsense — e.g., to reduce all government expenditures, while expanding defense (which already takes more than half of every tax dollar spent) — like advertising a car that is bigger on the inside but smaller on the outside. Some of his statements, if they have any meaning at all, are rather frightening in the subconscious thoughts which seem to lie behind them, particularly those concerning his strange love affair with German prowess: "With all due respect to American military leaders, Germany would have won both world wars if she had not been badly led." "It was the Germans who originated the modern concept of peace through strength." This last remark prompted Hamilton Fish Armstrong, editor of Foreign Affairs, to ask The New York Times to clarify whether it was Hitler's or the Kaiser's "peace through strength" that Goldwater had in mind. However, it is always possible that he really had nothing in mind when he told reporters who briefly boarded his cruising Sundance, "I've thought for some time that talks with the Red Chinese might be profitable." He later radioed ashore that he really meant was that the U.S. should be ready to threaten the Chinese, telling them that "if they didn't stop, then you would blow up a bridge or show other sort of force." He finally cleared everything up by adding, "I'm not really recommending this, but it might not be an impossible idea."

Goldwater is a grotesque burlesque of the conservative he pretends to be. He is a wild man, a stray, an unprincipled and ruthless political jujitsu artist like Joe McCarthy, whose last-ditch defender he remained even when three fourths of the Senate had voted to condemn their Red-hunting colleague. He still defends McCarthy, well knowing that he committed treason to General Marshall and to President Eisenhower. He will not condemn the John Birch Society, though knowing that its leader, Robert Welch, has called Eisenhower a Communist agent. Yet, in order to get Eisenhower's vacuous blessing, Goldwater was capable of a tongue-in-cheek erasure of his infamous "extremism" slogan, a statement that was not written in haste but with extreme care, and gone over time and again by Goldwater before he uttered it. These words can, and should, forever symbolize the total fraudulence of his claim to be a true conservative: "Extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice, and . . . moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue." That statement deserves to be the "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" of this election, and Barry Goldwater deserves to be defeated for it alone, no matter how much he tries to clown it away. He knew what he meant by it, and so does every John Birch fanatic and Klu Klux vigilante.

For the good of the Republican Party, which his candidacy disgraces, we hope that Goldwater is crushingly defeated. It was clear, from poll after poll, that the rank and file of the Republican voters overwhelmingly preferred other leaders to Goldwater. It was equally clear that the fanatical Goldwater bias of a majority of convention delegates revealed the corruption of the Republican Party by a new breed of so-called "leaders" whose selection had been steam-rolled by extremist, well-heeled types. The men who have most deserved to lead the Republican Party, by virtue of their long, distinguished and responsible service in it, and to the country, have been made to feel unwelcome, hissed and hated in it, as they were repudiated by it. A crushing defeat for Goldwater will drive the fanatic saboteurs of the Republican Party back into the woodwork whence they came. It will provide the opportunity for the party's true leaders to build anew from the wreckage that these heedless, reckless, ill-mannered and arrogant men are sure to leave. Then the two-party system can be restored, and the voter will again have a choice, not a calamity.

But, ladies and gentlemen I'll tell you that in Washington when he wears shoes and says 'How do you do?', he speaks an entirely different language . . . in fact his language is like that of a Radical-Liberalist."

"Norman Thomas, one of the foremost communists in the U. S., made the statement that he backed the Johnson-Humphrey ticket because they have done everything for Socialism that the party has been trying to accomplish in the past twenty long years."

"Instead of answering or even facing such questions, he appeals to special interests, offers political porkbarrels, and tries to raise the details of political programs to the stature of National issues."

"I suggest that the American people have a right to hear those questions answered BEFORE they vote, not after."

"Perhaps, in this day of public relations, images and slick TV commercials, it is not politically smart to stick to the issues. But I intend to — and let the chips fall where they may."

"There are more Democrats in the country than there are Republicans. Therefore, the Democrats elected me as their Senator, they elected Eisenhower in '52 and '56. I was reared in a Democratic family. If my Democratic father were here this morning standing beside me, he would be urging his fellow Democrats in this audience to join the Republican ranks."

"He would say to you, 'You'll feel better in the Republican house, than in the delapidated old shack offered by the so-called Democratic Party.'"

"We have only three weeks, from now until November 3, to get our country back."

Goldwater was delayed for several minutes by the throng of admirers wanting to shake hands with the nominee and speak a few words with him.

He was due in El Paso about forty-five minutes after he left the Lubbock Coliseum.

Jack Critchton, Joe Phillips and George Bush also spoke to the crowd.

Bush introduced Barry Goldwater at the Thursday event.

peace, the Reformation, the Bible: these are a few of the themes offered for consideration. In a week in which Columbus Day falls, it is good to ask the question: What are we as Christians, as Americans, as citizens of the world, doing to show to others that Kingdom of the King of Kings and Lord of Lords?

Day by day the opportunity for witness in the world of work is given; Sunday after Sunday there comes the opportunity to gather together to give thanks for the goodness of the Lord and to seek His blessings for the lives that people live. It is a time of harvest in the fields of work; in the realm of the spiritual there is much to do, and few who will turn a hand. There's more room at the top than anywhere else.
