

Mackenzie Water Authority Lets Bond Contracts

Site Changed

Meeting of the Mackenzie Water Authority in Tulla tonight the group let the bonds for the organization, according to Lon Davis, Jr., president of the organization. The First Southwest Company of Dallas received the bond contract and the Securities received the contract.

It was reported at the meeting that the engineers for the dam had been at work on the potential site of the dam. They suggested another location than the two previously considered, for the location of the dam. The dam is to be built on Creek northwest of Tulla.

The engineers reported that the dam in another location would be built and create a reservoir of 50,000 to 54,000 acre feet of water instead of the 20,000 acre feet expected from a dam located in one of the locations.

At the meeting, the group had decided to place a dam in a location "downstream from the dam" at 284 crosses Tule Creek. The cost of moving the dam would be prohibitive in case it was learned that the dam site of the proposed dam was on the west side of the dam and construct a longer dam not so deep.

The location being considered for the dam would be deep water, thus creating a reservoir that would be deeper, thus having less evaporation from the surface. The depth of the water would be 60 feet.

The engineers said they would increase the cost of the project in the least. The organization may seek to continue with the study, mapping and drilling will be done before the dam can be built. The site of the dam can be situated in a particular site.

The Mackenzie Reservoir is being studied in an effort to build a dam, Lockney, Silverton, and a future dam.

The four-county area has ginned 126,830 bales with Hale accounting for 61,053, Briscoe 4,308 and Swisher 5,602. This total compares with 168,163 ginned a year ago and 169,734 two years ago.

Last year at this time the county had ginned 60,783 bales and two years ago 66,540 had been processed.

The three classing offices, Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamesa, received the largest number of samples received any week this season, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Office.

Grades of the cotton classed were about the same as during the previous week. Seventy-one per cent of the cotton was classed in the White Grades and 29 per cent in the Light Spotted Grades.

Staple length remained about the same last week and continued to average approximately 15/16 of an inch. Eighty-two per cent of all cotton classed at Lubbock last week was 15/16 of an inch and shorter and 65 per cent was 15/16.

Micronaire continued to decline. Thirty-three per cent of all cotton "milked" in the Lubbock Office was in the desirable category of 3.5 and better.

The Consumer and Marketing Service of the USDA reported steady trading in the new crop cotton at slightly lower prices. Prices paid farmers for cottonseed ranged from $45 to $55 per ton.

A family from Lubbock has leased the Floydada Travel Center recently, according to Arthur Wylie, owner. They are Grace Rhoderick and her two children, Barry, age 18, and Sarah, age 16.

Mrs. Rhoderick said recently she has run across several people in the restaurant she used to know when she lived at Turkey, where she attended high school.

Oklahoma Residents Here

Cone, Dec 6, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Blair, Tishomingo, Oklahoma, arrived Saturday afternoon at the home of their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Lynn Davis and children. They will spend a few days here and plan to go on to Albuquerque to visit relatives. Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Barnhart visited the Blairs in the Davis home on Sunday afternoon.

Misses Jan Hutsell and Joyce Brooks, Silvertown, visited on Sunday afternoon with Jan's grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Guest.

Saturday evening, Mrs. Ray Lee Tinney and Danny visited in the home of Rev. and Mrs. James Pope in McAdoo and also visited with Rev. and Mrs. Gene McCann, missionaries to Mexico, who were guests in the Nation. The National Institutes of Health were financing with Federal money, over 50% of the operating expenses of the more than 80 medical schools in America. Under the Health Professions Educational Assistance Act, the building of new medical schools, additions to old schools, and renovations of buildings are being done with up to 2/3 of the money being put up by the Federal government.

Yet, this is not enough, because there is a growing shortage of doctors in this country. Our rapidly expanding population is such that in recent years about 18% of all doctors licensed each year in America come from foreign countries not trained in American medical schools. In 1963 27% of all internships in the hospitals in the United States and 24% of all residencies in hospitals were filled by foreign medical schools graduates. At the same time that we have such a shortage of our own medical school graduates, the Soviet Union is graduating three times more doctors per year from medical schools than we are.

Realizing the difficulty that the medical schools are in, Congress passed several laws this year to combat this shortage in the profession.

1) To increase the number of doctors graduating from medical schools, we extended the Health Professional Educational Assistance Act to provide both a $25 million a year student loan fund and $160 million a year for new construction for medical, osteopathic, dental, optometric, and podiatric. $50 million a year more was spent to strengthen the quality of education in all of these schools and we also established a scholarship program for students in all of these schools in addition to the conventional medical schools.

2) We extended four health programs: the migratory workers health program; the mass immunization program; grants of $5 million annually to schools of public health; and the grants to general and community health services.

3) The Health Research Facilities Act was extended for three years to provide $280 million for construction of health research facilities to research into the ways of improving health and to allow the National Institutes of Health to distribute medical knowledge to all doctors so that the medical knowledge accumulated in a few centers can be made available to every practicing doctor in America.

4) A new program was begun to pay the initial costs of professional and technical personnel at community health centers, because of the shortage of such personnel in most towns and cities.

5) The Heart, Cancer, and Stroke Bill recommended by President Johnson was passed to avert the death and disease caused by these three crippling diseases. More than half of the deaths in the United States are caused by these three diseases.

6) A new Medical Library Assistance Act was passed to buy new books to improve medical research and better facilitate the use of medical knowledge. All of these Acts are aimed toward improving the quality of medical training and eliminating the shortages of personnel from medical service. If we are to remain first in the world in medicine, we must continue to progress in our knowledge and our abilities to train more doctors to take care of the health needs of our Nation.

QUESTION: Are hormones safe to use?

ANSWER: A broad question—one that could take a book to answer. Unfortunately, many prospective customers consider the term "hormone" all-inclusive and assume anything they read or hear about hormones could apply to a cosmetic cream or lotion. There are many hormones in the body...insulin, for example...but we are dealing with just one of these hormones—"estrogen." As to the safety of estrogen...it has definitely been proven that natural estrogen hormones in the correct quantity (10,000 IU's per ounce) have only a local or cosmetic effect and are completely safe. Bonne Bell is justifiably proud of her Plus 30 Cream research project conducted by one of America's most eminent dermatologists at New York City Hospital. The report on this research, proving both the effectiveness and safety of Plus 30 Cream, was published in the Archives of Dermatology that is copyrighted by the American Association in 1949.

A digest of this report appeared in the American Medical Association Journal. Following these reports many leading publishers—foremost among them Good Housekeeping magazine, endorsed the effectiveness and safety of fine estrogen hormone preparations.

YOUNG HOMEMAKER CHAPTER NEWS

MRS. BROCK, REPORTER

Homemaker, do you want to enjoy the holidays with your family? Then take a few tips from Mary Phillips and Nancy Morckel. Try something new—a turkey roll—boneless—and about the same price per serving and a lot less trouble than the ordinary turkey. Prepare unbaked pie shells, for custard or one crust pies, or fruit pies and place in the freezer for last day cooking. Most cookies and cakes are excellent after freezing! If you need any ideas on how to be free of the holiday baking rush, just see one of the above mentioned ladies or both! This is what the Homemakers chapter did last Thursday and everyone left there with a sigh of relief (and some new recipes!).

The Homemakers had a short business session, before the program at the Lighthouse kitchen, with all but one member present. Beginning February, the Homemakers will be meeting at night at 7:30 in the homemaking lab. The regular meeting night will be the 2nd Thursday night of each month. The January program will be the night of the lily. At that time the program will be presented on childhood diseases and preschool information. Anyone interested is urged to attend this meeting will also be at 7:30 at the high school.

About 30 persons accepted invitations from the Young Homemakers to attend the FHA Style Show and Tea for November 18. The homemakers hope to continue being the hostesses to this event each year. They hope that more mothers will be able to participate next year. Many thanks to all the girls for presenting such a wonderful program.

Knitted garments continue to be in the fashion headlines. Creations for every hour of the day and evening are in the shops.

29 Club Holds Christmas Party

The Christmas program for members of the 1929 Study Club was held in the home of Mrs. J. B. Smitherman on December 2nd. Assisting with hostess duties was Mrs. C. R. Yeokum.

Mrs. Hollis R. Bond, president, was in charge of business. A report was given by Mrs. George Smith on the shower of gifts sent by the club members to the State Hospital in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Bond was leader of the program, giving a brief discussion on the origin of Christmas. Useful ideas for the celebration of Christmas were presented by Mrs. C. W. Denison. She had many pretty gift items to show and gave suggestions for the preparation of the coming holidays.

Giving Christmas stories which were also enjoyed were "The Trees That Need No Stars", Mrs. Kinder Farris; "How Christmas is Celebrated in Other Lands", Mrs. S. W. Ross; "The Story of Irving Berlin's White Christmas", Mrs. C. B. McDonald and J. Edgar Hoover's "I Love Dogs" by Mrs. J. A. Arwine.

Lovely refreshments were served from a table decorated with holiday arrangements.

Guests and members present were Mmes. A. B. Keim, Bob Muncy, W. H. Kistler, J. A. Arwine, Hollis Bond, C. W. Denison, Kinder Farris, R. E. Fry, Verne Gaunt, Clarence Goins, C. B. McDonald, R. W. Overstreet, S. W. Ross, George Smith, J. B. Smitherman, Carl Wilkins, Carl Yeokum and Mrs. Ed Clark.

56 Club Holds Program At Lighthouse

November 23 members of the 1956 Study Club held their Thanksgiving program at Lighthouse Electric Kitchen. Mrs. Ray Gene Ferguson was hostess and Mrs. Eugene Beedy, speaker hostess.

She introduced Mrs. Nancy Morckel, home economist at Lighthouse, who gave a "Turkey Talk". Mrs. Morckel showed the group the proper way to carve a turkey, then assisted by Mary Phillips served the turkey and all its trimmings along with pumpkin pie to those attending.

Mrs. Gordon Hambricht gave the invocation and members answered roll call with "count your blessings". Those present included Mmes. Eugene Beedy, Gary Carthel, Ronald Evans, Ray Gene Ferguson, Laron Fulton, Gordon Hambricht, Ray Johnson, Glad Norman, A. C. Pratt, Charles Reid, Don Shurbet, Roy Teague, Marvin Wells and Mrs. Jackie Younger.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party in the home of Mrs. Glad Norman on December 14. Members are to bring gifts for the State Hospital and a toy for a needy child.

Gamma Iota Chapter Meets

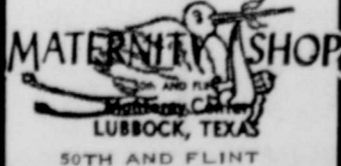

The regular monthly meeting of the Gamma Iota chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma was held on Saturday in the Alcove Restaurant in Plainview. An initiation service was conducted in which Helen La Duke of Tulla was initiated.

The subject of the program "Looking at Creativity" was discussed by Mary Burgess, Zula Atwood, Mary Cannon, and Hazel Douglas, and several attractive examples of the creative work done in the Tulla High School art, music, mechanical drawing, and home economics departments were displayed. Those attending from Floydada were Mary Pearl Coward, Kathleen Stewart, Edna Phillips and a visitor, Gladys Peck.

SECOND SUNDAY SINGING

Central Tax Office

The Floydada Independent School district and the Comers Court are using the same evaluating company to appraise all property in the school district and county for tax purposes. It now appears that the City of Floydada will also use the company's evaluations.

So far, rumors that the City of Lockney and the Lockney School district will use the company's worksheets in assessing property values will be less confusion and less cost of evaluating all these taxing agencies use the work of one company.

At this point a lot more confusion and money could be saved if there was one central taxing office in the county to handle the board of equalization. Each controlling board could have a basic evaluation of real and personal property and set percentages of collection in order to meet each budget. A considerable savings could result from this plan. At present, it is too late to locate a big high school in the county, but if the cost of educating children is where correct, according to a study made by the Texas Education Agency, it would be more economical to have one big school instead of the separate schools at Lockney and Comers.

The cost of educating a child per ADA in Plainville is $332.63. The cost at Lockney is $360.00. The cost at Comers is $485.00.

The economics of running a school is something like big operation in business. The larger the system the less the cost per child or item to produce.

Therefore, the quality of graduate can vary in each school. The smaller school can give more individual attention to each student. . . . yet it is evident that the high schools are able to offer more courses of study and at a lower per student cost.

A centralized taxing office. . . centralized high school. They make sense. Like we said back up there in the beginning editorial, it is too late to consolidate the two high schools in the middle of the county, but it isn't too late to go to a central taxing office for all taxing agencies in the county. This is worth consideration.

Rhodesia

The world has condemned the white government of Rhodesia. It is, of course, fighting a hopeless battle over the long term. There are many facets to the question of independence for Rhodesia which should be kept in mind. The white government has never claimed all inhabitants of the country are white. And the present government is the legal government. No doubt governs over a majority of half-illiterates.

The long-term goal of educating these natives, so that they can govern themselves, is the key question. Whites believe that over the country to these people prematurely would be another Congo chapter in African history. Who is to blame for not wanting this?

The principle of independence from Britain is one we are careful to condemn, and Rhodesia is the first colony to break away from its colonial states to break away completely from Britain. Yet we have condemned this action, as has most of the world.

Could we keep in mind that it is asking too much of a minority which has built a country and which governs, and whose people enjoy good living and businesses and order, to ask them to give all over to a largely illiterate majority.

The process must come slowly. The pressures and political times demand quick action and that has prompted Rhodesians to declare their independence—to preserve their lives and welfare. It is yet to be demonstrated if rule by the majority would produce better conditions for either race.

By the situation in Rhodesia is similar to America in 1776. Americans were seeking independence from England and they were certainly in the minority in regard to the Indians here. Yet, they controlled the Indian, killed him and developed the country. Could the Indian have done as well? We think not.

The situation is similar in Rhodesia where the native blacks outnumber the whites.

The answer is not in total black or white rule. . . . The solution may be in allowing the blacks to participate in government, and allowing the literate to vote. . . . with control until the blacks are capable enough to take on responsibility.

Income Taxes!

Almost every day we either hear or read about "our growing government." Two facts are obvious, (1) government grows when the population grows. . . we'll never find a community where school enrollment increases while the school district decreases in population. (2) It's time to push the panic button when schools and towns either stop growing or perhaps begin sliding backwards in size.

More towns lost population in Texas between 1950 and 1960 than gained in population.

We thank God that we live in a community that is growing. We thank God when our income tax increases!

This does not mean that we enjoy paying higher local taxes and more income tax. It does mean that prosperity has its price. And we are thankful that we are among those so blessed that we find ourself among those who have to pay our part.

Whenever we hear complaints about the bite of the income tax, we always have the urge to reply, "All right Buster, you weren't annoyed by the income tax back in 1932. . . is that the price you want to pay to avoid the income tax?"

We know lots of people even here in Tullia who do not have to pay an income tax. Some of them have the tax withheld. . . but it is all refunded the following spring. Some don't even have to file a report. We imagine that most of these people would gladly exchange places with those of us who have to pay a part of our income to IRS.

The income tax is sort of like the tithe. . . we aren't obligated to pay it if we have no income. Neither God nor Uncle Sam would suggest that we pay taxes. . . or tithe. . . on something we never had.

We have noted this. . . invariably those who complain the loudest about the income tax are those with the highest standard of living, who have the most for which to be thankful, who are living better than ever before.

We cannot think of a person we know who had to accept a lower standard of living due to the present income tax. We cannot think of one who was better off back in the 1930s when he had no income tax to pay.

So when we are inclined to curse Uncle Sam about high taxes and "growing government," let us remember that our proportional part of the national debt is less today than it was in 1946, that our federal government is in much better shape financially than it was in 1946. In 1946, our federal debt was 130 per cent of our gross national product. Today it is between 40 and 50 per cent of our GNP.

Uncle Sam's fiscal problems are just like our own. Both of us are subject to inflation, both are making more than we made in the 1930s, yet a dollar won't buy as much today as it did in the 1930s. . . but in spite of this, we are better off today from a business standpoint. We live better today than ever before. We have had some new burdens placed on our budget. As an individual, we have to have a television set today, an expense we did not have in the 1930s. Uncle Sam has the same problem. . . he has to finance a space program, a more expensive defense system, expenses he did not have in the 1930s.

Firemen Answer Three Calls During Month

Local firemen have answered only three calls this month, despite the fact that the gins are going 24 hours a day, a usually busy time for the fire department.

Two of the calls were to the same fire. Around noon Tuesday the firemen answered a call at Scott Gin, where a burr pile in back had caught fire. About 2 P.M. they were called back to put a little more water on the smoldering burrs.

Around 7:45 Tuesday morning the firemen were called to the delinting plant where a tractor motor had caught fire. The wiring was burned on the tractor, but there was little damage otherwise.

No damage was reported at the burr fire.

Good Turn Becomes Catastrophe

When Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hutchins started making the paper route for their son last Friday morning, they had no idea their lending a helping hand would lead to anything near a catastrophe.

But, as the couple was throwing papers and driving on Texas Avenue a paper fell into the floor board and Hutchins reached for the fallen object. As he did, he pulled the cart to the side of the road where it hit utility pole "dead center."

The impact threw Mrs. Hutchins, seated in the back, but balanced forward, into the windshield, knocked a large hole out of the glass, broke her nose, both her arms and cut her around the face.

She was taken to People's Hospital then transferred to Plainview. Although the injuries appeared to be very serious, and very painful, she was allowed to return home early this week.

Boston—With the news that her car had been found, Mrs. Theresa Fancy acquired more trouble. The car had been left in an underground garage for seven days and at $2.50 a day the storage fee of $182.50 had to be paid before the car could be released. The Fancys bought the car the day before it was stolen.

HELLO WORLD

A baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Pruitt on December 2 in Plainview Hospital, weighing six pounds and producing around 1 1/4 bales of cotton per acre, or 625 pounds of lint. On around 100,000 acres of the crop the county usually has a production of about 125,000 bales.

One-half the diversion payment - and none of the price support or production payment - will be issued to growers when they sign up for the 1966 cotton program.

This surprise development was confirmed this week by the Lubbock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

It had been thought that one-half of all payments - both diversion and price support - due a farmer would be issued at the time he signed up in the new program.

But county ASCS offices now have been notified that this week by the Lubbock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

It is logical to assume that the farmer will make more net money on his cotton, due to the government checks, although he may not experience as much gross money.

It also seems that the new rule that allows farmers to purchase, lease and move allotments all over the state will stimulate considerable amount of real estate and brokerage business.

Already some brokerage firms at Brownfield, Texas have cotton allotments for sale. According to reports last week, allotments are available for various projected yields. It seems that the going price for purchase of 600 pounds per acre projected yields is $150.00. A year's lease on the same yield at $36.00

The Floydada Chamber of Commerce received a letter from a farmer near San Saba last week who had for lease 101.8 acres with a projected yield of 230 pounds. He wanted $23.00 for a year's lease on the allotment.

MY OLD FRIEND R. B. (Mac) McAllister of radio station KSEL, really got all the excitement he could stand (and probably more) when he and his staff covered first hand the Idalou bank robbery.

Mac has always been a "sensationalist" to a big extent, and when a once in a lifetime situation presented itself. . . he was right there giving the "blow-by-blow" details.

My best wishes to Mac and congratulations for a job well done. Mac, the family and I were sitting at a drive in, in Lubbock when we picked up your broadcast and of course decided to spend just a little more time in Lubbock, until the robbers were captured!

A GOOD quality story turned up right here in town this week. Nathan Simpson has been sitting in his kitchen watching a covey of quail in his back yard. Think he's been contemplating driving them out of the city limits so

BACK TO this cotton transfer business. Approximately 61 counties approved such transfers in Texas. According to some Hale County farmers who have been trying to buy some cotton allotment, it's too high. One said, "we just want to buy the allotment, not the land."

Hale farmers have expressed themselves as willing to pay no more than five or six cents per pound for a one-year lease and not much more than 20 cents for purchase of permanent allotment.

And here's something more!

If the projected yield on the receiving farm is more than 10 per cent above that on the transferring farm, the average has to be prorated. Look at the following example:

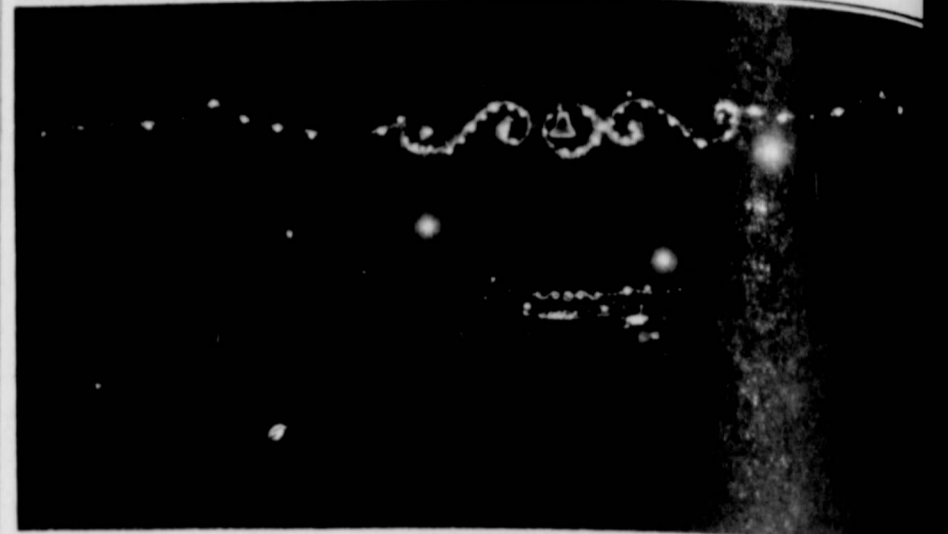

If a grower buys a 100-acre allotment with a projected yield of 200 pounds and the buyer's farm has a projected yield of 400 pounds the 100 acres is multiplied by the 200 pounds projected yield, giving a total of 20,000 pounds. The buyer's projected yield then is divided into 20,000 to give him the number of acres he could plant, which would be 50. The comparative yields in such an instance would dig into the buyer's acreage allotment. If the yield on a buying farm is not more than 10 per cent more than that on the transferring farm allotment would be acre for acre.

Officials with the United States Department of Agriculture's Plant Pest control division here have announced the completion of the second year of massive spraying in the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program. PPC Supervisor D. H. Russell reports that about 1,513,000 aggregate acres were sprayed this year.

This is slightly more than officials had estimated at the start of the program September 7. However, heavy rains in September hampered the effectiveness of one application and a late fall forced extra sprayings.

The final application was completed November 17. It was the seventh application and covered slightly more than 63,000 acres.

According to Extension Entomologist Don Rummel in most areas the program appears to have been highly effective. Field reports show adult weevil populations are significantly smaller than last year.

Trash surveys this winter will give a good indication of the number of weevils which

Workers Complete Day School For Migrant Children

Day schools have been completed during the past week by a group of local workers in a community-wide effort to help the children of migrant workers. The schools were held each morning of last week at two gin labor camps by volunteer workers. A total of 31 children were reached through the women's efforts.

The Christmas theme was carried out in the school as were emphasis on health, saying Grace, general knowledge, and other areas, through pictures, songs, stories and games.

Each child attending the school was presented a "Health Kit", consisting of a bar of soap, wash cloth, comb, fingernail file and a small packet of tissues. Refreshments were served at each of the sessions.

A repeat performance is planned for next year with family nights where the children can show their parents what they accomplished, as well as allowing the teachers to meet the parents.

Farmers will vote on December 7 in 19 states to determine cotton quotas for 1941.

At the regular noon luncheon last week the Lions Club members heard Jim McMorries of McMorries and Company, tax appraisal firm, explain some of the methods used in tax re-evaluating.

The firm is now in the process of re-evaluating the county property for tax purposes, and the City of Floydada will use the same basis for taxation in 1966.

McMorries explained that there are 27 different classes of residential property used, eight commercial, eight farmland and eight pastureland classes.

He emphasized the point that there is no perfect taxation program, but a properly evaluated tax system can get the next thing to equalization.

After property is re-evaluated all property owners will have the opportunity to review appraisals of their own property as well as that of their neighbors.

McMorries said the equalization of property for tax purposes is a good step toward gaining industry, for large firms want to expand in areas and into areas where they will be treated fairly.

He cited the example of Holly Sugar. He said the firm almost located in Castro County, but found more just taxation in Deaf Smith County, so changed their plans.

The Board of Directors at their meeting elected Wilbur Floyd and Jeff Glazner to the board after losing Bill Cagle, who resigned, and Glen Black who moved up to second vice-president after Weldon Harris, former president of the club, moved to Amarillo.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

In Floyd County (Dec. 5, 1940)

Resumption of public works in Floyd County to afford work for upward of 50 men on the WPA rolls was started Wednesday.

Funeral rites for Jasper Merrell Ford, 82, who died at his home in southeast Floydada Monday morning, were held Tuesday in the Lakeview Church.

Sue McAadoo and Sam S. Rutledge were married Thursday in Wichita Falls.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams was buried Saturday in Carrs Chapel Cemetery. The baby was born dead Friday in Plainview Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dunlap left Monday for California where they plan to spend the winter months with their chil-entered hibernation sites, he said. Yet the total effectiveness of the program will not be known until next spring when the weevils emerge.

Next cotton season will determine the overall effectiveness of the program as it will be the second year after the first application of insecticides.

This year the program was a little disappointing to farmers in Floyd County as weevils moved approximately 10 miles farther west than previously recorded. The population did not build up as high as in previous years so the damage from weevils was less this year than last.

For the program to be highly effective in season control must be applied by farmers. This will prevent population buildup and stop the westward migration.

December, January and February is the ideal time for planting bare root trees and shrubs. Planting at this time assures good root development before the top growth commences.

Here are suggestions on how to do the planting job. Dig the tree pit large enough to receive the roots without bending or breaking; do not cut the roots to fit the hole. Separate the good top soil from the poorer subsoil as the hole is dug. Unless the top soil is extremely poor, it can be mixed with the peat moss or well rotted compost and used as backfill. Use two parts of soil to one part of peat moss in preparing the backfill.

It is desirable, to prune back the top growth to compensate for the roots lost in digging and transplanting. Do this by removing about 1/2 of each branch, making the cut to an outside bud. It may be necessary to thin out some of the lateral branches to develop good scaffold branches. By no means should all lower limbs be removed reducing the main stem to a whip. If a high limbed tree is desired, low limbs can be removed later after the plant is well established. Do not remove more than two lower limbs per year.

Place a mound of the enriched top soil in the bottom of the hole to support the roots of the plant so that when placed in the hole the plant will be at the same level with the soil surface as it was in the nursery. As you fill the hole, work the soil in around the roots so that there are no air pockets. After the hole is 2/3 full, fill with water and allow it to drain away. Then fill the hole with the enriched soil until level with surrounding soil. Using additional soil, build a berm or dam around the outer edge of the hole to aid in watering the first season. This should be removed or spread out after the plant is well established.

The trees over four feet high should be staked the first year to keep them straight. This can be done by driving a wooden stake or iron pipe into the ground about 6 to 8 inches from the trunk in the direction of the prevailing wind. The tree can be tied to the stake with a soft rope or a wire which has been run through an old piece of hose to prevent cutting the bark. Never mix fertilizer with the soil used in the backfill. Wait until the plant is well established before applying fertilizer.

More people buy Chevrolets? Yes!

Than any other make car? Yes!

Any other? Yes!

There must be reasons. Sure!

Name ten. OK:

1. All these comforts are available: steering wheels that tilt or tilt and telescope; AM/FM Multiplex Stereo radio, first ever offered in cars; and Stratobucket seats (to give you just a sampling).
2. Comforton automatic heating and cooling you can order—Just dial the temperature and turn it on; Comforton automatically keeps you comfortable no matter what the weather outside.
3. More engine choices—the widest horsepower range available: the 425-hp Turbo-Jet V8 in Chevrolet and Corvette to a 90-hp Four in Chevy II.
4. Body by Fisher—Craftsmanship by the world's best known coachmakers with everything from luxurious interiors to the long luster Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish.
5. Self-cleaning rocker panels flush out salt and other corrosives with rainwater, dry themselves with outside air—another way Chevrolet takes extra care so you needn't bother.
6. A hushed and gentled ride with body mounts designed to isolate vibration better and shock absorbers matched to body style—coupe, sedan, convertible, wagon.
7. America's only rear-engined car, Corvair, with more weight over the driving wheels where you need it and less on the steering wheels where you don't.
8. America's only true sports car, Corvette, with fully independent suspension, four-wheel disc brakes and engines you can order up to 427 cubic inches.
9. Higher resale value—Chevrolets traditionally are worth more at trade-in time because more people want Chevrolets . . . new or used.
10. All these safety features standard now: seat belts, front and rear; padded dash and sun visors; outside mirror (use it always before passing); shatter-resistant inside mirror; 2-speed electric windshield wipers for better visibility in a downpour; windshield washers; back-up lights.

Editor's Note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm take a look at the satellite situation this week. His vision may be limited.

Dear editor:
According to an article I read last night in a newspaper which showed up in my mail box as a sample copy, France has put a satellite in orbit, not a very big one but still a satellite, and this has got me to thinking.
Now off hand I don't know exactly how many countries there are on earth, do you, but say there are around 250 on any given day, allowing for unreported earthquakes, revolutions, typographical errors and the inability of anybody to spell some of the lesser-known.

Also, I don't know how many satellites Russia and the United States have already launched, but it must be in the hundreds. Furthermore, assuming that the secret of launching one will eventually develop along the lines of the secret of the bicycle - anybody can build one if he has the time and the money - and assuming that all 250 countries will sooner or later feel their national pride demands that they get in the business too, have you ever stopped to think how many satellites outer space is going to be swamped with?

Figuring the bigger countries will put them up at the rate of about 50 to 1 over the smaller countries, I estimate that in 20 years there will be over 1,000,000 satellites sailing around out there, requiring 50,000 tracking stations on earth keeping up with their radio messages.

And that only takes in countries. Supposing private individuals, knowing a good thing when they see it, horn in on the business too?

There'll be so many satellites hurtling around up there a man will be taking his life in his own hands when he takes off for the moon.

On the other hand, maybe it's just a passing fad and will disappear like the hoola-hoop. I've had the notion for some time that the secrets of outer space may be like the secrets of the Sahara Desert, hardly worth the camels it takes to uncover them.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

DISCUSS STATE CONVENTION

County Agent Presents Program On Foreign Agriculture To Young Farmers

The Floydada Young Farmers Association heard Joe Wilson, County Agricultural Agent, tell the group about foreign agriculture at their meeting last week. Wilson was on a month exchange trip to Ireland a few years ago.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ: We have reached the age of computers in handling our tax returns. Internal Revenue has called computers that are able to make five hundred computations each on your tax identification or security number tells the state who you are.

50,000 STOMACH ACHES: Doctors have traced the cause of Walter Cunningham's stomach ache. Indigestion was a result of swallowing 91 diamonds, a garnet ruby, and an emerald. Cunningham, an auto dealer, was arrested loitering near a pawn shop. Another $72,000 worth of jewelry was found in a trunk in his home.

He talked some about world marketing and pricing in comparison with the U. S., talked about his trip to Ireland and showed slides of some of the countryside.

Very little irrigation is needed in the country, for the rainfall averages from 40-60 inches per year.

The production of the land is very good, in fact about doubles what this area produces, and with the use of very little commercial fertilizer.

The country averages 100 bushels of wheat per acre, and can run 15 cattle on 25 acres of pastureland, year round. In addition to the cattle the farmers are able to gather a hay crop off the land.

In Ireland the government pays people to grow crops, where in the U. S. farmers are being paid not to grow crops.

The labor is cheap in that country, for the farmers use highly mechanized farming methods.

Most of the buildings in the country are of concrete construction.

AFTON YOUNG FARMERS

Gerald Thompson, local Young Farmer advisor, Carl Brock and Walter Labay of Plainview area FFA supervisor, traveled to After last week to help organize a new chapter.

According to their reports there was good interest and attendance.

Simpson Gets Five Years

J. C. Simpson, retired Plainview farmer and former resident of Floyd County, pleaded guilty last Thursday to a reduced charge of murder without malice in 72nd District Court in Lubbock and was sentenced to five years in prison.

The 63 year old Simpson was accused by grand jury indictment of murder with malice in the Oct. 25, 1964 slaying of his wife, Irene, at their home in Plainview.

YOUNG FARMER CONVENTION

The group discussed the upcoming State Young Farmers Convention slated for January 14 and 15 in Austin. Pre-registration must be done before January 10.

A. C. Carthel sponsored the refreshments served to the 11 attending last week's meeting.

The next meeting will be January 6 and the subject will be Drylot Feeding. A representative of the Spur Experimental Station will present the program.

The Organization went on record as favoring the proposed airport.

Production Of Tomatoes Is Phenomenal

by L. A. Marshall
On my recent trip to California I made some observations on tomatoes. The tomato plant responds to experiments very nicely. They can be made to harvest late or early, practically no seed, free of wilt, extremely heavy production, etc.

aggressive, ruthless, vicious. The canners demand the best flavored, most meat, less seed, biggest producing tomato that can be developed and every year the experiment stations come up with an improvement. The S-36 and the S-3 are the heaviest producers I ever saw in tomatoes. I will get the addresses of seed dealers for anyone who may be interested. I think California Agriculture College and Experiment Station is at Davis, California. California sells its tomatoes mostly to canneries and juicers. They get around a cent and a half per pound. The money to be made in the tomato business is in what is called the "pinks".

No vegetable takes on water, therefore tonnage, like the tomato. And 20 tons at 10¢ per pound... figure that one out. I have been hollering raise vegetables here on the South Plains for years. I think our farmers must raise something that pays more per acre than cotton. In California farmers gross an average of $1,000 per acre, where our farmers seek $150. We have everything here, too. Good land, water, fertilizer... all we need is a little organization and information. One of California's best selling spots is Lubbock, Texas. Did you farmers know that you are among the best buyers in this nation? Why? It's this. In your 23 irrigated counties you raise half of the cotton of Texas. You have the money with which you can do about anything you wish. You are therefore sought after by all who have something to sell. Put the shoe on the other foot. Have something to sell them. Right now there are a few acres of green tomatoes that in a few days will be frozen and lost. If we had a cold storage plant, these tomatoes could be stored from 30 to 60 days and sold on the highest market of the year. Old Mexico starts shipping us tomatoes in December. This loss each year of these tomatoes would pay for a storage plant in a very few years... probably no more than three years, on a reasonable acreage. A cold storage plant could be built very easily. The Co-op in Houston will loan 75% of the money and the farmers who were interested in growing tomatoes could make up the rest. Always remember this. The South Plains is the garden spot of this nation. We raise the best quality vegetables found anywhere. Our onions, bell peppers, cauliflowers, strawberries, in fact anything one wishes to raise, are top quality. And remember this... the people are not going to quit eating. Every morning there are 5,000 new mouths sitting down at our tables.

Don't get sore at me for telling you what California is doing, for those people there are making the money. What I am trying to say is this... we can do anything they can do, only more, bigger and better.

Governor's Conference On Libraries Subject Of Plainview Meeting

The First Texas Governor's Conference on Libraries, called by Governor John Connally for March 23, 1966 to discuss improved library service for the State, was the subject of the Texas Library Association District I meeting held Saturday, Nov 20 in Plainview. "Library Excellence: Today's Necessity" was presented as theme for the conference which is being planned at Governor Connally's request by the Texas State Library and the Texas Library Association. Slides illustrating the absolute necessity for improving library service in Texas and the suggested solutions which the Governor's Conference will offer were presented by Miss Thelma Andrews, Librarian Abilene Public Library. Distinguished state and local community leaders will be invited by the governor to attend the one-day conference to hear the governor, educators and professional librarians discuss problems and suggest solutions for Texas' library problems. Librarians are planning the conference, will lend their assistance with workshops and will assist in implementing programs of change in their local communities after the conference, the speaker explained. In addition to the problem of inadequate facilities and book collections, they said, the conference will point out the growing demands for broader services. Industry and professional men (including doctors), considering a location, use the library as an index of the cultural level of a community. Expanding adult education programs are making heavier demands on libraries. Competition for college entrance is increasing library demands at all levels. The speakers emphasized the opportunity open to librarians to help arouse the layman's interest and support in helping meet these demands. The 133 TLA members in attendance at the institute were invited to detail their local library problems in order that they might be incorporated in the conference study of overall state problems. Mrs. Helen Patterson, Mrs. Henry Barber, Mrs. Beverly Shorten and Mrs. A. T. Hull attended from Floydada.

Randy Hollums Member Of First Computer Matched Debate Team

CANYON - Randy Hollums, Floydada, will journey to Texas A & M Friday with a group of eight debaters from West Texas State University to compete in the state's first computer matched debate tournament. Hollums, a junior majoring in speech, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hollums, 300 E. Crockett. The WTSU teams will be paired with teams from other colleges in the state in the first round, according to Edward E. Lewis, debate coach. He explained the first round would be paired at random. From the second through the sixth round, the teams will be matched with a computer. Considered by the computer in the pairings will be standard levels of judgment, speaker points, word-loss records, team points and several minor factors. Representing WTSU in the senior division will be Hollums; Tanya Benton, Amarillo; Robert Trapp, Perryton; and Sammye

Monroe, Pampa. The two junior division teams will consist of Steven Busby, Amarillo; Laura Edler, Dalhart; William Slagle, Amarillo; and Sandra Markley, Amarillo. The group will leave at 1 p.m. Thursday for the three-day meet which will begin Friday. The subject for debate will be, "That law enforcement agencies in the United States should be given greater freedom in the investigation and prosecution of crimes." Lewis said this was the first time a computer-matched debate has been held in Texas. A highlight of the program will be a debate between Texas University and Texas A & M on the national issue. The debate will be nationally televised according to A & M officials.

WHIRLWINDS PLACE THIRD-WHIRLETES WIN SECOND Springlake Girls, Post Boys Take Tourney Honors

Springlake girls and the boys walked off with high honors at the Floydada Invitational Tournament here this weekend. The Springlake girls won the Whirlettes in the final game by the score of 55-45. Post eased by Springlake in the finals to the tune of 89-78.

Ronnie Pierce at the Antelopes were never in any game during the tournament. He sank 48 for Post in the game Saturday.

Post boys defeated Perry for consolation honors. Springlake girls won the consolation game by the score of 55-45.

Floydada boys defeated Junior Varsity for third place and the Post girls won that honor in the girls' division.

In the Whirlettes opening game of the tournament the team had to fight in a come-from-behind effort to down a very scrappy Frenship team, but an 18-point burst in the final eight minutes was the effort needed as the locals won the game 55-45.

After the first eight minutes the Whirlettes found themselves holding the short end of a 14-11 count. At halftime the locals were still behind, but by only one point in a 25-24 battle.

In the third quarter the locals added 13 points and allowed Frenship 12, to face a 37-37 tie going into the final eight minutes. The Whirlettes went into the stretch in full strength as they outscored Frenship 10 points in the final quarter to win 55-45.

Shirley Rainer was once again the leader in the scoring department as she accounted for 45 of the team's 55 points. Sally McIntosh had 6 for the locals.

Sherry Howard sank 30 points to pace her team in scoring.

In the first round of play the Whirlwinds dumped the Frenship Tigers to the tune of 75-55, only to face defeat at the hands of Springlake Friday night 84-60.

FRENSHIP-WHIRLWINDS

In the Frenship game the locals fell behind 15-13 at intermission. During the third quarter the locals dumped 22 points through the basket and al-job she did at containing the Post forwards was certainly commendable.

At the tournament this past weekend the drawings of the various teams mascots caught my attention. Although they added to the color of the event I couldn't help but notice the one for Springlake, since that is only about 20 miles from my hometown, and when in high school, I played football and basketball against the Wolverines.

The Wolverine is the symbol for the Springlake team. There was a wolf drawn for this symbol and on the wall at the gym. There is quite a difference in a wolverine and a wolf.

The wolverine is a small animal about 2 to 2 1/2 feet in length and stands about a foot in height at the shoulders. A musteline, a member of the weasel family, the animal is very strong, clever, and fearless, particularly for its size.

The wolverine has been known to approach other animals, including coyotes, pumas, and bears, after they have made a kill and drive them from their prey. Part of their attack plan lies in their strength and part lies in the strong odor they can emit.

Texas has averaged 14 tornadoes a year since 1916.

Whirlwinds, Whirlettes Take Victories From McAdoo Teams

The Whirlettes and the Whirlwinds came out with a double-victory last week when the teams hosted the McAdoo Eagles here and defeated both the girls' and boys' teams. The Whirlettes won by a score of 53-37 and the boys defeated their visitors by a 75-53 margin.

The Whirlettes broke a first quarter tie of 9-9 and moved ahead to lead their visitors 25-18 at the half. In the third quarter the locals widened the margin with a 37-27 mark and added 16 points in the fourth quarter while allowing McAdoo only 10 points.

Shirley Rainer led the locals in scoring as she sank 11 field goals and 18 free throws to account for 40 of Floydada's points. Janice McNeill added five to the locals cause while Jan Killian and Suzanne Guthrie had 4. The guards, Linda Rucker, Nona Pernell, Donna Martin, Beverly Smithy and Peggy Switzer kept the visiting forwards under control by allowing a mere 37 points.

Natalie Neff had 27 points for McAdoo.

For the first time in many years, perhaps the first time ever, the Whirlwinds downed McAdoo. The final score was 75-53, Floydada.

In the effort the Winds overcame a first quarter deficit of 10-17 and moved to a 27-24 lead by halftime. Going into the final period the score stood 49-43. The Winds added 26 points in the final period and held the Eagles to 10 to take the victory.

The Winds took the win from the field goals, for McAdoo made 13 free throws while the Winds hit only 17. The locals sand 29 field goals while McAdoo was accurate on only 17 attempts.

Steve Marler led in the scoring with 27 points followed by Roland Adams who hit 15. Hardin led the McAdoo scoring with 22, followed by Pope who had 20.

BY JEDD BLESSING

Congratulations to Linda Rucker, Shirley Rainer, Nona Pernell and Steve Marler who were named to the all-tournament teams this past weekend.

Also, although she wasn't named to the team, Donna Martin was certainly outstanding in the Whirlettes win over Post Friday night. Of course the win was a good team effort, but the

WHIRLETTES-POST

WHIRLETTES TOOK LEAD ONCE AGAIN BY A 37-25 MARGIN
In the final quarter the score was tied at several points, but in the final minute a scoring surge by the locals secured the victory.
The Whirlettes took a two point lead with one minute left to play. The defense got the ball from Post before they were able to score, and moved the ball down-court to the forwards. The forwards went into a stall, with Rainer taking the ball to one side dribbling. Shortly, all three Post guards surrounded her and a pass to Sally McIntosh gave her a lay-up that put the Whirlettes four points in the lead.
A foul by Post was another fatal mistake as the free throws were good.
The Whirlettes won the game at the free throw line as the locals hit 20 and the Does hit only 15. Each had 16 field goals.
Shirley Rainer led the scoring with 40 points followed by McIntosh who hit ten points. Marilyn Jones led the Does with 34 points.

The teams played on even ground in the third period and going into the final eight minutes the score was 65-50, Springlake. During the final period the Wolverines added 19 points while allowing the Winds only 10 points.

WHIRLETTES TOOK LEAD ONCE AGAIN BY A 37-25 MARGIN
In the final quarter the score was tied at several points, but in the final minute a scoring surge by the locals secured the victory.
The Whirlettes took a two point lead with one minute left to play. The defense got the ball from Post before they were able to score, and moved the ball down-court to the forwards. The forwards went into a stall, with Rainer taking the ball to one side dribbling. Shortly, all three Post guards surrounded her and a pass to Sally McIntosh gave her a lay-up that put the Whirlettes four points in the lead.
A foul by Post was another fatal mistake as the free throws were good.
The Whirlettes won the game at the free throw line as the locals hit 20 and the Does hit only 15. Each had 16 field goals.

get the bighead and want to rule the world, the world is constantly at war in a least one of the many nations. The people who want to rule are fighting a losing battle, because as long as there are people who want freedom, there will be wars, and I believe that the people who want freedom WILL NOT give in.

As an American and a soldier in Viet Nam, I only say that no one should protest to people who want freedom, and need help to obtain it. I am proud to be in Viet Nam doing my part not only for my country, but because I believe that all people should have freedom.

I am an American and I am proud of it, and I am also proud that I am doing my part to help the Republic of South Viet Nam. Protesters or not, its like President Johnson said, "We Will Stand In Viet Nam."

OPEN LETTER

Editor's Note: The following article was written by PFC James E. Britton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Britton of Floydada. The young soldier is stationed in Viet Nam.

WHEN WILL THEY EVER LEARN?

Must we always be at War? When are people ever going to learn that the world should live in peace? Many people and much property have been destroyed as a result of war. When I say that people have been destroyed, I mean just that. They have been destroyed by loss of a loved one, and others more or less by losing property. The United States is fortunate in the respect that Americans haven't fought a war on the home grounds. The United States has lost millions of dollars worth of equipment and supplies, as well as the lives of many Americans.

Peace Corps To Test On December 6

Floyd County residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 3 p.m. on Monday, December 6 at Post Office Building, Room 16A, Lubbock, Texas. Please notice the change in time and day from the usual Peace Corps tests.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language and the ability of achievement. (If test scores indicated a limited language-learning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English speaking country.) The placement test requires no preparation and is non-competitive - an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of Volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C. 20525.

The placement test takes about an hour and a half. An optional achievement test for applicants who have studied French or Spanish requires another hour.

Davy Jones is the popular name of sailors for an evil sea spirit or the devil generally.

have a Merry Christmas.
Love,
Kim Bertrand

Young Farmers Association Stresses Education

Education is a life-long process. Rapid technological advancements in this age has made this so.

Possibly no one realizes this more than members of the Young Farmer organization. Today there are over 225 Young Farmer Chapters operating in Texas. The Young Farmers plan and carry out educational activities designed to increase their skill and efficiency in the business of farming - production, management, and marketing. Though organized primarily for educational purposes, chapters participate in many civic and community service activities. Rural leadership development and recreation are also important parts of each chapter's program. The vocational agriculture teacher in the public schools serves as Advisor to local chapters. Young Farmers work hand in hand with their sister organization, the Young Homemakers of Texas, in many communities throughout the State. In its many phase program, planned annually on a twelve-month basis, the Young Farmer Chapter becomes an instrument for strengthening family ties and for making the rural area a better place to live.

The Young Farmer program had its origin in clubs formed by FFA Alumni. These clubs met in 1954 and formed the State Association of Young Farmers. Voting membership was opened up to anyone, ages 18-35, in farming or ranching. Associate membership is available after 35. There has been a gradual increase in number of chapters and members since 1954. Today there are over 4500 paid members in the 225 chapters making up the State Association of Young Farmers of Texas. There are ten area associations of Young Farmers, each has a program which enriches and supplements local chapter activities. Over 2,250 Young Farmers and Young Farmer wives participated in the ten area awards banquets last year. The State Association of Young Farmers is headed by Kenton Harvey of Azle, a member of the Parker County Chapter. Other State Officers are James Stair of Plainview, Truman Hayes of Welch, Waldo Smith of Brenham, Tommy Knowles of Brownwood, Bill Paul Russell of Pittsburg, James Eckhardt of Fredericksburg, Gary Kimbrell of Itasca, Sherman E. Clark of Madisonville, and Dick Elliott of Three Rivers.

George Hurt, Director of Agricultural Education, Texas Education Agency, Austin, is State Advisor.
