

Council Sets Water Bond Election January 5th.

Drill Two Wells, Line Improvements

A bond election to finance drilling of two new water wells and make several improvements on the distribution lines for the city, was set by the City Council at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Two new wells, on the present water field just southwest of town, plus a 1/2 million gallon reservoir, a booster pump and 3,000 feet of distribution line will be purchased if the bond issue passes.

Congressman Mahon To Be Here Today

Congressman George Mahon will be a visitor in Floydada today. He will attend the noon Lions luncheon and will visit for a short time after the luncheon.

Congressman Mahon is home in Lubbock now and is visiting several areas in this Congressional district.

Congressman Mahon was instrumental in the granting of the Floydada airport money and has worked with both farm and civic leaders in many other items of progress for this area.

The public is invited to visit with him after the luncheon at the Colonial House.

During the past two summers it has been noted that the city uses far more water during the day than the present wells are able to pump, and, at times, a small fire could become a disaster for the town.

All the bonds have been tracked down by the First Southwest Company, the bonding firm, except for $29,000. They will be located, however, in a week to ten days. No bonds can be issued unless the old ones are recalled.

The upcoming election will be dealing with open bonds, that can be added onto without being recalled.

Although the city will call for a bond election at the time of the construction of the proposed Mackenzie Dam, the bonds that will be issued after the election will be "open". That is, they can be added to without being recalled, as is presently being done.

The average annual requirement to pay for the new bonds when issued is $26,301. The net income from the water works this year has been $94,851. The ratio of the income to the requirement is 3.61. According to bonding officials a 1.5 ratio is sufficient to handle the requirements.

Revenue bonds will be issued after the election. The principal and interest will be paid from revenue collected for the use of the water. The new bonds will require no increase in the present water rates.

The election will be held at City Hall. Absentee balloting is presently underway, and will continue until 5 p.m. December 31. All people who have real or personal property on the city tax rolls are eligible to vote on the bonds.

NEW TRUCK CHASSIS The council members voted to purchase a new truck chassis for the Sanitation Department in business Tuesday night. Cline and Rainer won the bid with a price of $3,238.25. Cartel's Phillips 66 was low SEE CITY PAGE 2

POOR MICRONAIRE INVESTIGATED

Floyd County Cotton Harvest, Ginning Coasts Past 2/3 Mark

A report from the Texas Employment Commission in Plainview shows that as of last Friday afternoon 81,728 bales of cotton have been ginned in Floyd County. At this writing the figure will be much higher than the 81,000, and will have surpassed the 2/3 mark for the county.

The expected production for the county, at latest report, was around 127,000 bales.

Last year at this time 89,132 bales had been run through the county gins and two years ago 89,020 bales had been ginned.

In the four county area 226,694 bales have been ginned. This compares with 262,362 at this time last year and 261,973 two years ago.

MICRONAIRE INVESTIGATION

An investigation of the poor micronaire situation, which has developed this year on the South Plains, substantiates the theory that September rains and warm fall weather--in some instances on top of late August irrigation--caused plants to develop an abnormally large and immature top crop.

Monday of last week a seed farm ran separate "mike" tests on bolls from the top and lower half of plants of two different varieties planted May 6 and May 21. In the four tests, cotton from the top half miked an average of 2.4 while cotton from the lower half of the stalk miked 4.2.

Dr. Harold Loden, director of the seed farms, is convinced that this is the most logical explanation for the high percentage of low micronaire cotton, according to a report from Plains Cotton Growers.

COTTON CLASSING

The South Plains cotton harvest was near peak activity until interrupted by the rains on Thursday and Friday, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the USDA Cotton Classing Office in Lubbock.

The Lubbock Office is operating on a two-shift basis and has 97 classifiers on duty. The Brownfield Office has nine classifiers on duty and the Lamesa Office eight classifiers.

Volume of cotton classed at the three South Plains U.S.D.A. Classing Offices was the highest for any week this season. The adverse weather conditions on Thursday and Friday temporarily halted harvesting activities, but the three offices continued receiving a heavy volume of cotton because of the backlog at gins and warehouses.

The three U.S.D.A. Classing Offices on the South Plains classed 354,600 samples during the week ending Friday, December 10th, bringing the season's total to 975,600. At this date last year the three offices classed 875,100 samples of the 1964 crop.

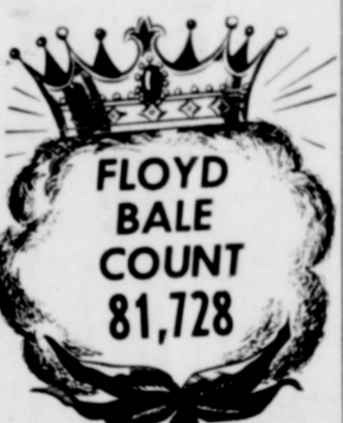

Quality of the cotton classed at the Lubbock Office last week remained about the same as the previous week.

County, State Tax Collections At 74.08% Mark

Collections for the months of October and November 1965 show 74.08 per cent of the State and County Taxes have been received according to C. J. Payne, county tax assessor and collector.

Payment of poll taxes have been rather slow due to the Federal Suit pending in Austin. Through the end of November 1965 there have been 500 paid polls. The latest information is that we will most likely be required to have a poll tax receipt to vote in the coming years elections. For those who have not bought their polls, please remember to do so prior to January 31, 1966.

There will be three Constitutional Amendments affecting voter qualifications to be voted on at the General Election in November 1966. One amendment to be voted on is, H.J.R. No. 13; to repeal the poll tax as a requirement for voting. The deadline for paying poll tax is January 31, 1966.

A large lobby with a beautiful fireplace greets visitors as they enter the brick structure at the main entrance. Just off the lobby is the office of the manager.

Located at a central point, with a view of all three of the care wards, is the nurses work area.

Philosopher Says He Deserves The Protection As Wildlife

The note: The Floyd County philosopher of his Johnson sounds like he has been ruffled. This big Sunday news-stand for a while but didn't put off till tomorrow he can put off till the day after tomorrow. The principle here had produced colic but it wouldn't be the atom bomb during a lull in there - you may wonder - can tell between a lull and other time, but I can't tell it up and started.

and possibly Red China, although it wasn't mentioned, and man is going to have to figure out how to handle this usable land. He can't just keep on multiplying and letting cities expand and sprawl helter-skelter over the entire area. The thing to do, the article said, is to divide the 26 million square miles into three equal parts: a third for production of food, water and minerals; a third for natural preserves for wildlife and places of unusual beauty; and a third for people. Now if I understand this, wildlife will have one third, people one third, and farmers and ranchers a third.

Since less than 10 percent of the population in this country is now classified as farmers, a figure hardly worth bothering with, certainly not big enough to swing an election, why doesn't Washington go ahead and declare all rural areas sanctuaries for farmers and ranchers, who're entitled to the same protection as wild geese, mockingbirds, and whooping cranes? I'm sorry I opened that newspaper. Sometimes it doesn't even pay to put off something till the day after tomorrow. Yours faithfully, J. A.

While I have never bothered to distinguish between people and farmers, this looks like somebody is coming close to it, and while I don't object to how I'm classified, what I want to know is why do they let wildlife go tax-free and keep us farmers on the rolls?

Pink Tomatoes Top Money In Vegetables

by L. A. Marshall
There is no doubt about it... to raise and sell pink tomatoes is where the money is in the vegetable business. They pay more than most any other vegetable.

About now is the time to start getting ready for next year's crop. First the merchant has to know ahead of time where he will get his supply of vegetables. As a starter if we could get as many as 10 farmers who would be interested in raising 5 or 10 acres of tomatoes next year, I will be glad to help arrange the market set-up. Pink tomatoes will pay one two thousand dollars per acre, but they must be packed in 20-pound lubs ready for the merchant to sell. Arrangements must be made to sell the ripe tomatoes, in case of rain at harvest time tomatoes will get too ripe and must be sold somewhere else. A cold storage place for tomatoes, just before freezing weather like the past few weeks, could be very profitable. The tomatoes can be kept for 60 to 90 days at around 40 degrees. Check with your grocer. Now the price of fresh tomatoes is around 40¢ and 50¢ per pound. The tomatoes that are lost right now in Floyd County by freezing could have been gathered and stored for several days and from $500 to $1,000 per acre saved.

CAPROCK SH GROCERY

Floyd County can start in the pink tomato business in a small way at first and grow into a real money maker. The opportunity is wide open and it will be easy to do. If as many as 10 would be interested get in touch with me then we will have a get-together and talk it over. You may be asking, "Why is Marshall so interested in tomatoes?" I'll tell you why. The farmer has helped me make a living all my life, first in the gin business, and for 25 years in the grain business here in Floydada, so if I can help the farmer make some money, why shouldn't I?

Four and five generations are featured in the photos above. At left are four generations of the Martin family, former residents of Floydada. The youngest is Joel Allen Martin, being held by his father, James "Tony" Martin of Tullia; Tony's father, Henry J. Martin of Petersburg, right and between them is Henry's mother, Mrs. Troy Martin Jones of Lorenzo. Henry's grandparents, the late Wes and Sally Martin were early Floyd County pioneers coming here in 1898. They lived in a half dugout located what is now near the Sandhill Highway. The dugout was finally filled some ten years ago. Henry's great grandfather and father of Wes, came to Floyd County in 1888. The center photo pictures five generations of the Glenn family. They are again Joel Allen Martin held by his father, Tony and behind Tony is his mother, Mrs. Henry J. Martin of Petersburg, her father, Aden L. Glenn of Dimmitt who is standing and his father, seated, W. F. Glenn also of Dimmitt.

The Glens are also former Floyd County residents. In the photo at right are Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Glenn, seated, who celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary in August. Glenn celebrated his 92nd birthday October 10 and Mrs. Glenn is 88. The Glens came to Floyd County March 28, 1918. They reside in a rest home in Dimmitt. Standing behind the couple are Mrs. Henry J. Martin, Mrs. Tony Martin holding Joel Allen, born July 5, 1965, and Aden L. Glenn.

County Agent's Corner

A cotton variety demonstration was completed this week by the Harmony Community Center and the Agricultural Extension Service. The demonstration contained five varieties DeKalb 302, Paymaster 202, Lankart 611, Stripper 31 and Paymaster 101A, and was established to show the total yield of lint per acre. The quality of the cotton has not been checked yet. The results of the demonstration showed stripper 31 was the high yielder with 700 lbs.

lint per acre. Lankart 611 was second with 630 lbs. lint per acre. Other yields were DeKalb 302, 500 lbs. lint per acre; Paymaster 101A, 450 lbs. per acre; and Paymaster 202, 400 lbs. per acre.
This was only a one year test and was conducted on one site. Different sites and tests over several years would vary in results.
Stripper 31 and Lankart 611 were the earliest varieties in the demonstration this year, with Paymaster 202 and DeKalb 302 being the latest varieties. The demonstration was conducted on the Harmony Community Center land.
One other cotton variety demonstration was grown in the county this year. It was on the Chester Mitchell Farm near Lockney. Eight varieties were grown in this test. Complete results, including yield, staple length, micronaire, pounds of seed, percent turnout, and grades will be calculated on this test. Results will be released in the near future on the demonstration.
John Seibert, Area Extension

Farm Management Specialist, will head up a study of the High Plains problem survey. The survey is to be made in request of area farmers and agricultural personnel that met in Lubbock November 4. Attending this meeting from Floyd County were Jack McIntosh and Gerald Lackey.
The group noted that the South Plains counties have many problems in common and should be studied as a unit. Several areas of the state have already conducted such a study. "The Blackland Income Growth (B. I. G.), and the "Build East Texas" (B.E.T.) are the most well known.
Cotton stripper baskets are a labor saver device well worth the extra expense" says N. S. Abbott of Lockney.
Abbott could not secure a hand to work in his cotton trailer so he decided to purchase a basket to mount on his tractor. Besides saving labor expense, Abbott claims the basket saves time in harvesting. No difficulty is encountered in turning at the end of the row and it only takes two minutes to dump a load of cotton in a trailer. This is faster than a person can change trailers.

The over head basket was first developed by the Experiment Station at Lubbock and has been adopted by several major equipment dealers at this time. Farmers may want to take a quick check on their income for 1965 before January 1. If your income is higher than usual you may find it profitable to purchase needed equipment or machinery before the year is out so that deduction can be made on income tax. The 1966 Farmers Tax Guide has not been released yet, but they are to be mailed in the near future. Copies may be obtained at the County Agents office when our supply arrives.

Add Fringe Benefits For Unusual Gifts

What makes the difference in a gift that's run-of-the-mill and one that's out-of-the-ordinary? It can be the special touch you add to it with decorative cotton trimmings.

Even if you're a novice when it comes to sewing, you'll find it's easy to transform inexpensive, ready-made items into gifts that look as if they came from a high-priced boutique.

Plain cotton sheets and pillowcases, for example, take on a custom-made look with the addition of a cotton braid border in an interesting black and white Greek key design. Look for unusual cotton trimmings wherever drapery fabrics are sold. They come in varying sizes, colors, and patterns—ranging from flat decorative braids to jumbo-size ball fringe.

Beauty Tips

MRS. AUSTIN HOLMES

MAKE UP FOR SALLOW SKIN
Q. What shade of foundation would you recommend for sallowness?

A. A foundation with a pinkish tone is best for skin that lacks natural color. It will add some warmth and a glow to the face.

USE OF FACE BRIGHTENERS
A. Do brush-on brighteners replace rouge?

A. Yes, the new face brighteners - used in either powder, liquid, or cream form - are a more subtle replacement for rouge.

CONCEALING DARK AREAS
Q. What kind and shade of makeup should I use to conceal the irregular pigmentation of my skin?

A. If the contrast between the normal and dark areas of your skin is not too great, use an overall makeup foundation with good coverage that is a tone or two darker than your normal skin colorings.

If the hyperpigmented areas are very dark, cover this dark area first with a cover-up preparation that is close in tone to your normal skin coloring. Then apply a makeup foundation to your entire face.

FASCINATING HOBBY

*Butcher? ... Baker? ... No!
Candlestick Maker*

by Jedd Blessing
An old nursery rhyme makes mention of a "Butcher, Baker and a Candlestick Maker."

Almost every community has a butcher and a baker, but the art of making candlesticks, or candles, is not found every place a person may travel. However, the Harry Morckels of Floydada are such a couple. Making candles is not such a profitable business for them, but they do enjoy the hobby and use several hundred pounds of wax in the process.

During the first two years they worked with candles they utilized 6,000 pounds of wax per year.

The candles vary in size from small glasses filled with wax and a wick weighing only a few ounces, to Christmas trees, and larger candles, for centerpieces, conversation pieces, etc., weighing as much as 14 pounds each.

The hobby started in 1960 after Mrs. Morckel, Nancy, the well-known Home Economist for Lighthouse Electric Coop, attended a Home Economist School at New Mexico A & M at Las Cruces, as she does almost every year.

That particular year the class saw a demonstration of candle-making presented by Ruth Stovall, who owns a candle shop in Mesilla, a suburb of Las Cruces.

Nancy brought the information back with her and put on a demonstration here. Lighthouse was convinced there was art and a lot of knowledge to be gained from such demonstrations and the firm sought a source of wax to continue the demonstrations.

Morckel, who operates the farm store for Lou Davis, Jr. that he used to own, found he could get the wax through that firm.

In the meantime, he was learning the art of making candles from Nancy.

Over the past five years a number of demonstrations in making candles have been presented by the couple. Once they showed the art to an audience at the Montrose National Bank, in Montrose, Colorado. Only last November 5 the Swisher County Home Demonstration Club saw the presentation.

Presently, Morckel does most of the candle making, for Nancy does not have the time necessary for the art.

To make the various size and shapes of candles the couple uses a number of molds made from galvanized metal, or the more expensive ones made from tin. The galvanized molds can be made locally but the tin molds are shipped from Seattle, Washington.

To make the candles the wick is pulled through a hole in the base of the mold and wrapped around a small rod that rests on the sides of the mold at the top. The mold is lowered into a vat of water deep enough so the water will cool all the wax, but not deep enough to allow the water to go over the edge of the mold and into the wax.

The wax is then heated in a container, an electric cooking pan that holds about seven pounds in this case, to about 175-225 degrees, the crayon color is added, as well as a touch of stearic acid.

The mixture is then poured into the mold and allowed to cool. The rapid cooling caused by the water gives the candles the very smooth appearance. Uncontrolled cooling can cause pits in the wax because part will cool faster than other parts.

From this central candle a number of things can be made. The Christmas tree shown in the picture above, was started by this process, then after the center stem cooled, more wax was heated and "dripped" onto the stem. As the wax cooled, it stuck to the center candle and built the mass of wax. A very interesting one that had holes in it. When asked how that was Morckel said a milk can filled with broken ice and as the ice melted left the holes. The candle was very fragile ever, in contrast to most made by the Morckels.

"When making a candle a person has to add a white crayon as they melt it, if they were making a candle," Morckel said. "Otherwise, the candle will clear, yellowish appear."

To get a marble appearance the candles the crayons melted in the pan, but a little later, then the wax of crayon give the marble appearance.

"One thing about candle making hobby," Morckel said, "you make an error, break a candle, scratch one in any way, you can wax down and start over."

A number of various scraps tend to accumulate candle making process. Morckels make black from these.

The layered candles point of curiosity to the other and when asked how were made, Morckel said, "We make the shape various layers in the wax we make any other an electric soldering make a hole in the wax pull the wick through and melt the wax around and around the other layer, touches another layer, iron."

The soldering iron is used to make the wax grapes often decorate a home kitchen. The flat mold is pushed into the wax. The wax then melted just above so the wax drips into it by using the soldering heat, until the mold is in the deep purple color grapes. A green wax was used to make the last just a few minutes the cooled, and the wax was ready to be removed.

The rose that appears in the picture above was not the Morckels, but he made it is done. The wax is into a flat mold, very thin the wax begins to cool, it is cut, the edges are As the wax cools further the shape given it.

From the central candle was explained above, at a listed number of shapes

Kitchen & Field News

Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Inc. Nancy Morckel and Mary Phillips

Christmas time is here again! How about another favorite story from my scrap book collection? I do not know the author of this story. It was given to me, September 13, 1939 by a friend, Rev. Pittman, who said it was his favorite. It speaks to be "updated" so to speak, but basically it "fits" today just as it did 30 years ago.

THE UNEXPECTED CHRISTMAS GUEST

It happened in the home of Mary Gray, but perhaps it might just as easily have occurred in your home or mine. Mary and John Gray were above the average Christians. I'm sure you will agree with me when I tell you that they even went to prayer meeting... sometimes. They attended church services regularly. Measured by the way some other members gave, they would have been considered liberal givers. Mary was chairman of one of the circles in the Woman's Missionary Society, and was A-1. Be it said to her credit that her four children belonged to the Junior organization of the W.M.U. . . . and, more, she saw to it that they attended regularly. (Now you will know for sure that she was above the average Christian.)

Christmas was approaching. Mary's circle and all the others had duly observed the "Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions" and made their Christmas offerings and now that all was over and out-of-the-way, Mary could make ready for the real thing. . . the usual celebration of Christmas. Probably it would be better to let Mary tell you the story in her own words:

"You see, we were planning for an unusually happy Christmas. Our oldest daughter, Julia, had gone to college that fall and would be home for the holidays, and, of course, we wanted to give her a happy time. I planned to have our 'family dinner' on Christmas day. John's sister lives in our town and she has two children; and my Aunt Sallie also lives here, and she has a daughter about Julia's age. . . . so, you see I felt that I had to have all these for a meal while Julia was at home, and it just seemed the best thing to do to have them all at one big dinner on Christmas day."

Following the dinner, we were to have the family Christmas tree. I told John he would have to get an unusually large one. . . . and he did it. It was a beauty. But you know when I got out the decorations that I had put away so carefully from last Christmas, I found that I didn't have half enough for that tree. It looked too 'skimpy' for words. So I had to go to town to get more decorations for the tree. It seemed that they had never shown such beautiful tinsel and new kinds of lights. And I just had to have some extra lights for this larger tree.

And Oh, they showed me such adorable little ornaments, and I knew they would look so beautiful, that I couldn't resist buying two or three dozen of them. So, the first thing I knew, I had not only broken that five dollar which I had in my purse but had spent every bit of it and more for the extra decorations.

"About that time a little buzzer went off in my conscience and game me a twinge; but I quickly silenced it by assuring myself that I just had to buy those things. And, anyway Christmas comes but once a year, and you just naturally have to have things pretty whether or no."

"And then came the buying of the family presents, and it seemed in every instance we had to get unusually nice ones. There was Julia, we told her when she went off to college that if she made a fine grade we would give her the wrist watch she had wanted so long. Well, she certainly had sent us fine reports; so of course, the watch had to be ordered.

Then there was our little John. John is fourteen years old and has been begging for a bicycle for two years. Poor little fellow. . . I felt so sorry for him last Christmas when he didn't get the bicycle. He tried hard not to show how disappointed he was; but I knew he almost cried. And I've felt so sorry for him all the year as he'd borrow some other boy's bicycle to ride. You see nearly every boy on this street has a bicycle except our little John; and I just told big John that our boy had to have one this Christmas. So, we got it, and it cost seventeen dollars."

"And Fred, our other boy wanted skates and a football. I really didn't know that a football cost five dollars, but it seemed foolish to buy a cheap one that would come to pieces.

TO AIRPORT FUND - Tommy Assiter, Lions Club President, is shown presenting a check for $100 to Jack McIntosh, of the Chamber of Commerce Airport Committee. The committee is seeking $25,000 in donations or pledges to help finance the local area's half of the proposed $100,000 installation. (Staff Photo)

the emotions that surged through my heart. . . amazement, awe, and yes, fear, Oh John, I said you cannot mean. . . 'I mean the Lord Jesus,' said he.

"How did it happen, John?"

"The children and I were sitting in the living room. Hearing a knock at the door, we all hastened to greet our guest. When we opened the door there stood the Master Himself! Seeing our great amazement, He seemed to hesitate, but quickly He smiled and said: Oh, you were not expecting Me? But Mary is, for she prayed Me this morning to come and be her Guest today."

Then I remembered that closing sentence in my prayer that morning; and suddenly I realized how little I really meant by those words. Well, as soon as I could calm myself, I went down to meet my Guest Divine. One look into His radiant, loving face, and the tumult in his heart began to calm and it seemed so wondrously blessed to have Him with us in person. Of course, we gave Him the seat of honor at our table. When He lifted His hands in blessing and we saw, for the first time, those jagged scars in the palm the quick tears started from every eye. As He looked down into our hearts and saw that we continued to be so amazed that He would come and be our Guest, He said: 'Marvel ye at this? If any man will open the door, I will come in and sup with him and he with Me!'

"So, all would have been well, but for that Christmas tree! From the minute He came, the uppermost question in my mind had been: What will He think of my gift to Him when He sees that tree? Every minute my embarrassment and pain of heart increased. What could I do? Oh, I would have kept the parlor doors closed and not had any Christmas tree that day, but well I knew that closed doors did not shut out anything from His all-seeing eyes. One idea came to me and as soon as dinner was over I called John aside and said: 'Oh, John that tree. What will the Master think? John, you know we have a hundred dollars in our lock box at the bank for an emergency. Do get it and let me put it on the tree for Him.' But John said: 'We can't get it. This is a holiday. The bank is closed.'

There was nothing to do but proceed with our plans. The doors were opened. The Master was seated. John turned on the lights. The tree with its lights and ornaments all besprinkled with Christmas snow, gleamed and glistened, but it had lost its charm for me. I noted the Master's calm, appraising gaze as He looked over the tree. I knew that He knew that the decorations on that tree. . . (to say nothing of the gifts) had cost twice as much as I had given Him and I had felt so self-satisfied when I handed in my envelope that day at church. As the many gifts were handed out, my cheeks burned. I sat with eyes downcast. Then drawn by an irresistible impulse I looked up at the Master. In His open hand there lay that lonesome five dollar bill. . . my so-called 'love gift' to my Savior and my Lord. There was such a sad expression on His face and far away look in His eyes, and He was saying half aloud. . . 'Do ye not remember?' Then His eyes met mine. Oh, if He had only censured me, if only He had said to me the words I deserved to hear. I could have borne it; but He only looked at me with that hurt of wounded love, and said slowly and tenderly: 'Mary I see that you were not expecting Me either today'. . . As I extended my hands to beg His forgiveness. . . He was gone!

● If you need hot moist compresses, a double boiler can be a big help. Put the wet compresses in the upper section of the double boiler, water in the lower, and set it on a burner over low heat. This method eliminates the possibility of scalded fingers and also assures you of hot compresses when the patient needs them. After reheating the compresses a few times, it may be necessary to redampen them.

● If you use salad oil quite often for cooking, fill a plastic squeeze bottle with the oil and keep it near the stove. You can easily squirt out just the right amount of oil. Use an old detergent bottle with a cap top. It takes repeated washings and lengthy airings, but it's well worth the trouble!

● To starch black clothing (or any solid color fabric) merely turn the article inside out, and then proceed as you would with any other garment.

No Serious Injuries In McCoy Wreck

A two-car collision at McCoy Tuesday morning resulted in five people being taken to hospitals, but none were seriously injured, it was learned later.

The mishap occurred when Robert Smith, driving a new Chrysler attempted to pull onto the highway in front of the McCoy Store. A late model Cadillac driven by Mrs. Cecil Reeves of Ralls hit the Smith vehicle in the left front. The Reeves vehicle finally stopped in the McCoy Gin yard.

Mrs. Reeves, and the other three occupants of her car, all members of her family, were taken to West Texas Hospital in Lubbock, but were not injured seriously.

Smith was sent to a hospital for observation.

Several hundred dollars will be required to fix each car.

FLOYD COUNTY ASCS NEWSLETTER

LUBBOCK, Friday, December 10, 1965 - ASCS personnel should now have the information needed to answer most producer questions on the new cotton program.

From Washington they have received Handbook 1-CN (Revision 1) -- 132 pages of instructions, definitions and regulations on administering the cotton section of four-year Agriculture Act of 1965. There's another 72 pages of sample forms and pointers on how to fill them out.

It's called a "Short Reference." There's a similar document for feed grains and wheat, cropland adjustment etc, so don't push county ASCS managers too fast.

Dale Carter, District ASCS Supervisor, Plainview, confesses that the regulations pertaining to landlord-tenant relationships may prove the most ticklish to administer.

The law itself states: "The Secretary shall provide adequate safeguards to protect the interests of tenants and sharecroppers, including provision for sharing diversion payments on a fair and equitable basis..."

Handbook 1-CN sets rather lengthy guidelines for those safeguards, but leaves final decisions up to county ASCS committees. Generally, it is the intent of the Secretary that landlord and tenant are to share in both price support and diversion payments in the same proportions as they share in the crop.

Payments may be withheld if the county committee determines that the landlord has, "in anticipation of or because of participating in the program," reduced the number of tenants or sharecroppers on the farm.

A county committee may also disapprove payments if it determines that any "scheme or device" has been adopted to deprive a tenant or sharecropper of payments to which he would otherwise be entitled under the program.

Carter said both tenant and landlord would in all probability be asked to appear before county committees to help them in rendering decisions where AAU and NCAA agree to temporary truce.

THE SENATE hurriedly passed legislation providing stiff penalties for destruction of military draft cards. Senator Strom Thurmond (R., S.C.), a retired Army Reserve Major sponsored the measure.

Present plans are to extend Head Start, the summer program to prepare deprived youngsters for school, through the winter. Funds for the project depend on congressional approval.

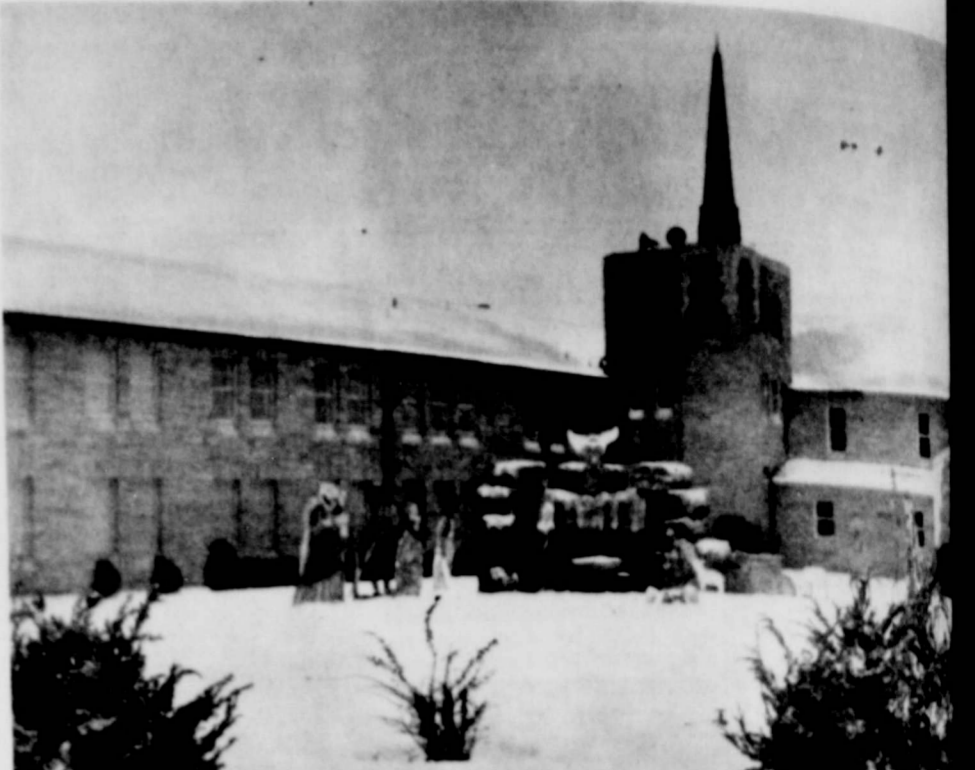

THE cotton handbook also revealed that only half of the diversion payment (10.5 cents times projected yield on acres diverted) will be made at the time producers sign-up. The Secretary has authority to make half of both diversion and price support payments (9.42 cents times projected yield from domestic allotment) in advance. He is declining to exercise that authority on the grounds that sufficient funds will not be available at sign-up time.

The final half of diversion payments and the price support payment will be made at a later date yet to be announced by the Secretary. Most expect, and certainly hope, that total payments will be made on proof of compliance.

This word helps when you feel like singing; And is always present when crying comes; It should always be present during all your thinking, But still it is known to only some. If everyone could know this word, Instead of saying "Yes, it's one I've heard." The world would forever live in peace, And all war and fighting soon would cease. Love is cheerful; and love is sad; But if it were felt by everyone, The world wouldn't be half as bad, And we could live like God's great Son.

So lets all try to find this love, That is sent to each from heaven above, And let's all try to use the word, And not just say "Yes, it's one I've heard."

The next poem is written by a Floydada young man who is currently serving in Viet Nam. His letter that accompanies the poem read as follows:

made. After the shape desired is produced, decorations can be tacked on with the wax or with pins.

The Morckels have always been known as liking to work with their hands, and in doing so have been creating beauty within people as well as inanimate objects.

Candle making for them is no exception, and in view of the growing number of power failures, the demand for candles could increase considerably.

'64 I came into the Army. Right now I'm serving a tour of South East Asia namely Viet Nam. I am the son of J. F. and Iva Jewel Bonner and the grandson of Mrs. Annie M. Taylor. Since I've been in combat I've written a numerous amount of poems and I am enclosing one of them hoping that you would print it for me. If there is any charge I will send it in the future. Your kindness will never be forgotten.

Thank you
Johnny Bonner

WE FIGHT

Here we are fighting in a foreign land, All with the same thought in mind, Trying to lend a helping hand, To a small country left behind.

With efforts combined and love of being free, We aid in this country's plight, To show all haters of liberty That for democracy we will continue to fight.

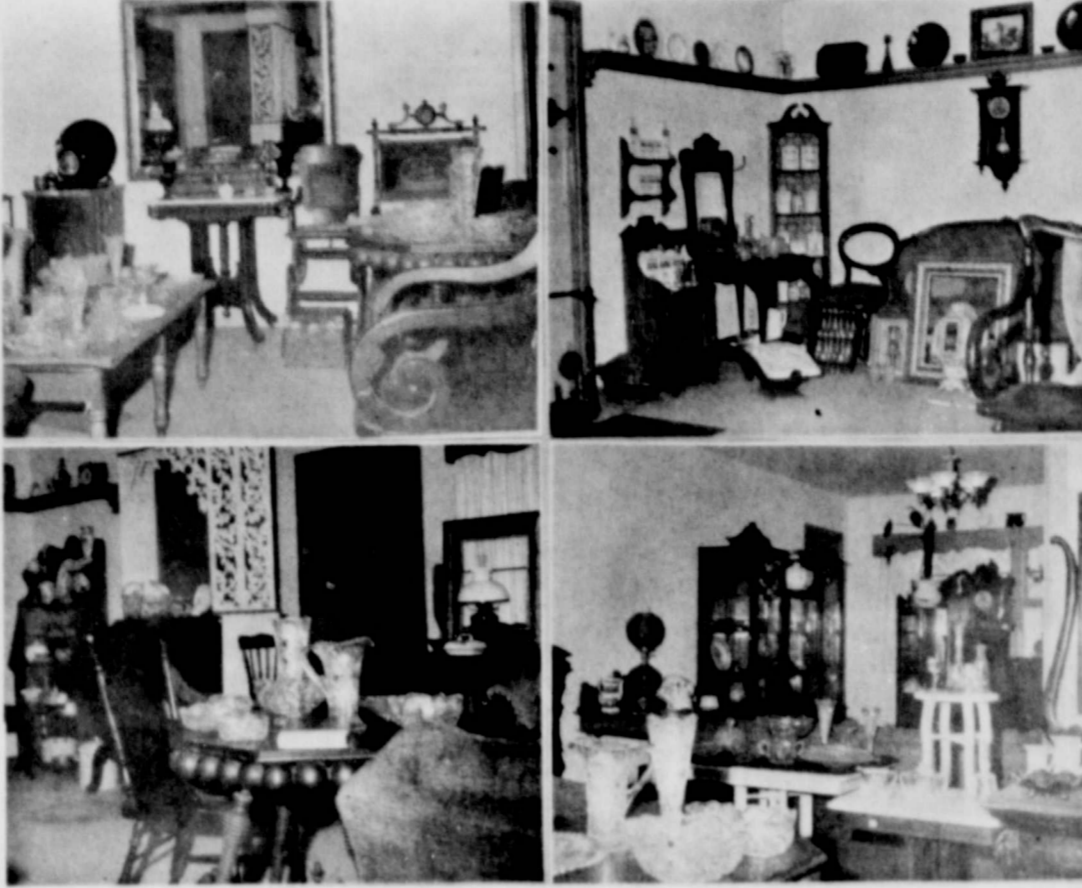

We left our homes and loved ones To come to this place and fight, We ask no rewards or anything, For we know what we are doing is right.

On the land, in the sea or even in the air We'll continue to push freedom's hand, And flush the lion of Communism, From her very well hidden lair.

A war is a strange and dreadful thing, That takes many shapes and courses But we have confidence and know we'll win Men of the United States Armed Forces!

I WANT TO urge everyone to visit Mar Dell Manor... our new Convalescent Center in Floydada during the open house from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday. Our congratulations to Jerry Miller on the completion of this beautiful new home.

Collectors' Item Included In Local's Antique Pieces

"Some things are old, and some things are antiques. An antique is something over 100 years old."

These are the words of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Watson concerning her antique collection. She has just opened her antique shop at 813 West Lee Street here in Floydada.

The most prized items, according to LaVerne (Mrs. Watson) are three she got from one woman recently. The woman is an antique collector and to date has nine items in the Metropolitan Museum of Antiques.

The items are an old Pennsylvania Dutch high chair, a marble based clock and a coal hod. The high chair has several adjustments which allow the chair to be of normal height on rollers, down to the point that the young tyke using the chair has a rocker. The chair can be locked at almost any height in between at around two inch variations.

The clock is from Germany and was made there several years ago. Although the base measures only about a foot square and is about eight inches in height, it is very hard for one person to lift one side of the clock.

The coal hod is one that was probably used years ago where a well-to-do person had a fireplace, or stove in his bedroom. The bottom of the item is the hod, with a mirror that could be used for dressing making up the top portion.

Another of the favored possessions is an Ivory jewelry case with an interior of pure silk. The case was made in the early 1800's.

LaVerne is also proud of her tables and desks. She has Spanish, English, French, German and Danish tables and desks.

Included in the collection are a pair of perfectly matched brass lamps that came from just outside Paris. It is not hard to find a brass lamp from France, but a pair of perfectly matched ones is very rare, according to the Watsons.

The glassware includes a covered Dutch butter dish that was made in 1755. Over 100 pieces of cut and pressed glass are in the items in the collection. Such items as the butter dish mentioned and an English Porcelain tea pot, which is white with blue trim, are not uncommon in the Watsons supply of antiques.

The Watsons have several pieces of Carnival glass, the glass that is next in line to become most sought after pieces of glass in the world. The carnival glass was once given as a premium for paying bills.

Not included in the "old" or antique stock, but unusual, are some discs that Watsons got from Mexico. They are large

FROM THE SPORTS DESK

BY JEDD BLESSING

Congratulations are in order to John Cantrell, Fighting Whirlwind and to Dee Wilson, 1965 Football Sweetheart.

The Cheerleaders are due a lot of credit, not only for the work they have done to boost school spirit this year, but for the fine job done in preparation for the annual Football Banquet. Everyone there could see that a lot of work had gone into the planning, preparation and decorating for the event.

The banquet was very enjoyable and Gene and I say thanks for the honor of letting us attend.

It was brought out any number of times at the banquet that the fact the Winds didn't have a winning season wasn't so important as the fact that the players worked hard all year and put forth a lot of effort during the past football season.

You are still winners when, although bested by someone else, you can pick up the pieces and give it all you've got again. The Whirlwinds did this time and again this year.

This too, was brought out at the banquet, that it is easy to be a good winner, but it is hard to be a gracious loser, and continue trying in spite of difficulties.

Certainly one of the brightest notes of the night was brought out when the all-district players were introduced and presented their certificates.

If I didn't miss someone, there were nine who were nam-

FLOYDADA (Special)—Butch Emmert whipped in 20 points to pace the Floydada Whirlwinds to a 68-57 win over the Littlefield Wildcats here Monday night. Phillip Pace had 20 for the losers.

Kerry Bearden netted 16 and Steve Marler added 12 for the Whirlwinds as they captured their fourth win in 11 games. Littlefield is now 5-4.

In the B team battle, Littlefield won, 68-53, with Reg Manning scoring 27 and Frank Cowington hitting 18 for Floydada.

ed to the offensive, defensive team, or received honorable mention. Only three of these, Clinton Fawver, Gary Lyles and Zeke Robertson, are seniors. The others, Kerry Bearden, Steve Marler, Nathan Johnson, Mac Baker, Waldo West and Bobby Murray, are underclassmen.

Notice where our girls' basketball coach has his hands full this weekend. His varsity girls are entered in the Tullia Tournament, his B team is playing in the Springlake Tournament, and his Junior High girls are entered in a tournament at Abernathy, I believe. He'll have to spread himself pretty thinly to cover all three at one time.

Oh Yes! While we're sending congratulations, Mac Baker, Steve Marler and Kerry Bearden are due a tip of the hat for being named the tri-captains for the 1966 football team.

It is a great honor to these three, and a responsibility that should not be taken lightly. During the coming grid season, the entire team will look to these three as examples of what a Wind should be.

The responsibility does not begin and end on the football field but the team members,

BOYS LOSE TO CANYON

Whirlettes, Winds Split Games With Crosbyton Teams

The varsity basketball teams traveled to Crosbyton last week and came home with mixed feelings, for the girls took a victory and the boys were downed by the undefeated Crosbyton team. The Whirlettes won by a score of 48-31 and the boys fell in the final quarter to lose 64-53.

In the girls' game the Whirlettes went to the free throw line to down their opponents. Each team sank 13 field goals, but the locals dropped in 22 free throws while the Crosbyton girls managed only 5. This accounted for the 17 point difference in a 48-31 victory.

The locals' lead was never threatened in the game by Crosbyton.

Shirley Rainer had 31 points for the locals while Sally McIntosh added 7 and Linda Williams 4. Bette Ellison sank 17 for Crosbyton and Susie Perkins followed with 10.

The guards did an outstanding job on defense by allowing the Crosbyton team only the 31 points. B TEAM In recent activity the Whirlette B team has downed Post, Petersburg and Crosbyton.

In the 52-26 victory over the Post girls, Valdonna Bennett accounted for 28 points and Zandra Phillips added 22.

Against Petersburg last week the girls pulled a close one out of the fire in the third overtime by a 50-48 margin. Patti Adams was the high scorer in the contest with 20 points. Janice McNeill was outstanding on defense.

In the final game last week the B team took a 36-20 victory over Crosbyton.

The team is entered in the Springlake tournament this weekend.

VARSIITY BOYS

In the boys' game Crosbyton jumped to a four point lead at the end of the first quarter, but this was closed to a 27-26 margin at halftime. Going into the final period one point still separated the two teams with Crosbyton still in the lead, however 42-41. In the final eight minutes Crosbyton pulled ahead and won the game 64-53.

Three of the Winds scored in the double figures with Steve Marler leading in that department with 15 points. Tommy Weathersbee added 13 points for the Winds and Kerry Bearden sank 11. Morris sank 33 for Crosbyton and Ellison got 12. The Whirlwinds hosted a nest full of Eagles here Friday night that was a little more than the locals could handle. The Canyon team took home a 81-59 victory.

The locals were a game crew, however, for after trailing 22-6 at the end of the first period, a surge by the locals pulled the margin to 35-31, Canyon, at halftime.

After the third quarter Canyon had pulled far into the lead with a 56-41 score and went on to win the game 81-59. The Winds got beat on the open court as Canyon put 32 field goals through the hoop while Floydada had only 17. The locals hit 25 free throws of 34 attempted while Canyon had 17 for 25.

Butch Emmert led in the scoring with 23 points and Bearden hit 19. Rick Bacon hit 19 for Canyon.

The Whirlwinds and the Whirlettes are entered in the Tullia Tournament beginning today and continuing through Saturday.

Tech Team, Individuals Smashed Host Of Statistics During 1965

LUBBOCK--Texas Tech's Tom Wilson more than doubled the Red Raiders' passing yardage record in leading his Gator Bowl-Bound teammates in their massive assault on the school's season marks.

Wilson, 160-pound senior from Crociscana, accounted for 2119 yards of aerial yardage. The old mark was 954, set in 1947 by quarterback Freddie Brown.

Wilson's name also appears under the following sea-

Bench Levelling Can Increase Yields, Conserve Soil, Water

Bench leveling is becoming more widely accepted among irrigation farmers in the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District. The reasons are simple. Farmers are realizing that their underground water supply is fast being depleted, and that efforts must be made to utilize every drop in the most efficient manner possible.

On sloping irrigated cropland, bench leveling has been proven an economical, soil and water saving practice.

The High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, Texas, has recently completed a five-year study comparing bench leveling to rows directly down a 1% to 3% slope. Bench leveling was definitely the superior type of land management. According to the Foundation, Bench leveling increased grain sorghum yields 1255 pounds per acre and returned $25.49 per acre more with 7.1 inches per acre LESS irrigation water. Cotton yields were increased 55 pounds of lint per acre and returns increased $24.41 per acre with 1.3 inches LESS irrigation water when bench leveled.

Needless to say, bench leveling will also control erosion from excessive rains, and will conserve rainfall, our cheapest source of water, for crop use.

Questions often arise concerning the problem of weeds growing on borders separating the benches. This can be solved by utilizing a border plow or weed control chemicals. Bench leveled land can be compared to other investments a farmer might make, such as a piece of machinery. Maintenance and upkeep are necessary to realize maximum benefits.

According to the Floydada Work Unit of the Soil Conservation Service, many of the benches being installed these days are being built parallel. This eliminates point rows, and in many instances, eliminates point benches. Parallel benches can be constructed to fit the size of equipment being used, such as four or six row.

Further information concerning bench leveling can be obtained from the Floydada Work Unit of the Soil Conservation Service, assisting the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District. The personnel there are prepared to further discuss the practice of bench leveling and can assist you in the design and layout of benches to fit your particular needs. They can also advise you of cost-sharing assistance which is available through the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Floyd County Records 8 Accidents With One Fatality In November

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 8 accidents on rural highways in Floyd County during the month of November, according to Sergeant Thirman Keffer, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for one death, five persons injured and an estimated property damage of $4,415.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county from January through November of 1965 shows a total of 63 crashes. As a result of these crashes there were two persons killed and 31 persons injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $38,830.00.

"If you think drinking and driving is not such a big problem as we picture it - you are wrong," the Sergeant stated. "Drinking drivers are involved in more than half the fatal Christmas-time accidents, a higher percentage than the usual out-of-three proportion during the rest of the year. The problem is not only the heavy drinker but also the social drinker and even the person who only had a few at the office party or on the way home from work. Just a little alcohol takes a shortcut toward a driving accident by reducing judgment, self-control and driving reactions. The best solution is not to drive at all after drinking."

The Patrol Supervisor offered these suggestions to emphasize holiday traffic safety: restrain impatience, haste, inconsiderateness and preoccupation that may creep into the holiday attitudes. Know the safe winter driving techniques and use them. Obey the regulations and signs. And when you are the pedestrian, don't take chances with the traffic by jaywalking, rushing, obscuring vision with packages, or failing to allow extra alertness for dusk and hazardous weather conditions.

Letter To The Editor

Floydada, Texas
Dear Mr. Tooley,
Sometimes I think we are over zealous about criticizing a city or town or some public official, but that many times we fail to give someone the credit and praise for work that they do.
At this time I am commending the people of Floydada, the city officials and all the other people who have had a hand in purchasing and placing the Christmas decorations on the streets of Floydada. The effort has promoted the beautification of the city by a great extent and it is truly noticeable. Saturday night I went to East Texas and admired the various towns' decorations, but one city we passed through had no decorations except for one factory. It is surprising how barren and desolate BROTHERS — John Wayne portrays the oldest of four brothers. He's the toughest; the gunslinger. Dean Martin plays a different breed of hombre; good with a deck of cards and good with a gun when he has to be. They star with Earl Holliman, Michael Anderson, Jr., and Marlyn Hyer in "The Sons of Katie Elder," a Paramount release in Technicolor and Panavision opening Friday at the Capita Theatre. Based on a story by Talbot Jennings, the film was directed by Henry Hathaway. The screenplay was written by William H. Wright, Allan Weiss and Harry Essex.

This town looked in comparison with others. Until this time I had not realized how important the Christmas decorations and the beautiful lights are in the looks and response to a town.

So I think that all the people who have contributed time, money and effort have done an outstanding job here in the City of Floydada, and I say it is beautiful.

Also at this time I would like to take time to extend the appreciation to the City Police department for the work they have been doing for the promotion of the safety of school children crossing the highways. It makes me feel good when I go by about 8 a.m. and the officers are on duty seeing the children across the highways safely.

This takes time and effort, but I feel like it will be amply rewarded by the health and happiness of the children of Floydada.

Yours truly,
Pete Looney

Teen-Agers Spend $872,000 Annually

NEW YORK, Nov. 27--Floyd County's teen-agers have come into their own. They have wealth such as their parents never dreamed of at their age.

They have plans, ideas and an influence over the family pocketbook that was unheard of in former years.

Mother has virtually abdicated in their favor. Time was when she was the family purchasing agent. She still does most of the buying, but only after lending an attentive ear to what junior has to say.

On the other hand, junior does his own purchasing without consultation, except among his own contemporaries.

And he does plenty. On the basis of recent surveys, Floyd County's teen-age capitalists are spending in the neighborhood of $872,000 of their own money per year.

It goes for records, soft drinks, toiletries, cosmetics, entertainment, food, cameras, automobiles, sports equipment, fountain pens and many other products.

The spending total is arrived at from studies and surveys made by the National Education Association, the Small Business Administration and the American Marketing Association.

They find that the nation's teen-agers have an income of no less than $11 billion a year, equivalent to $489 for every youngster between 13 and 19. In Floyd County, it amounts to a healthy $872,000 for the 1,783 who are now in the teenage bracket locally.

Some of them earn part of this money by doing odd jobs after school and during summer vacations. The rest comes from their weekly allowances, which vary with their age and their requirements.

Louis Cardinal, son of T. J. Cardinal, is thought to be much improved following serious illness the past week. The boy was injured Tuesday in a basketball practice at the high school gym. He slipped and fell on his hip causing bruises that was considered serious.

Dave Willis was dismissed from the hospital Monday after several days treatment for injuries sustained when he was knocked down by a horse.

Martha Yearwood was crowned football sweetheart in the annual football banquet held last week. Coach Winters named co-captains for 1941 these being Carlton Fawver and Joe Rushing.

Roy Wilks, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Wilks, who is enrolled as a senior student at Tech, is among 21 students there listed in national Who's Who of American colleges and universities.

Mrs. E. C. Henry and Mrs. Lula Slaughter, longtime members of Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church, have been given special recognition of their outstanding service to the society by being given life memberships.

Victim of burns sustained in a hog scalding vat Monday the remains of Roy Clifton (Sonny) Mason, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mason of Lockney, were interred in Lockney Cemetery Tuesday following rites in the Assembly of God Church. The little boy died Monday night in Greer Clinic where he was taken following the accident at the home about noon. The youngster was out playing carrying an apple in each hand when he stumbled and fell into the vat.

Drag News Features Chadwick

The December issue of Drag News, a magazine for the drag racing cult, has a four page spread with two full color pictures of Kelly Chadwick's racing history and his Chevelle. Chadwick teaches and coaches at the Floydada schools, as well as builds and races cars.

The article is entitled "Torrid Teacher from Texas," and tells of some of the records he and Don Hardy, his partner, have cracked racing cars for themselves.

The article states that when people hear of the performance of the Chadwick-Hardy cars, they immediately ask what factory team they represent. The person asking the question is always surprised to find that Chadwick and Hardy represent no one except themselves.

The article goes into great detail explaining the changes made on the Chevelle to make it ready for the track, from the fiberglass hood and fenders to the removal of the front brakes, and back to the fuel tank and battery in the trunk of the car.

The car was powered by a 396 cubic inch engine that was reworked to be rated as a 427 engine developing over 500 HP.

The Chevelle featured in the article has since been sold and the team is building a Chevy II for racing.

In talking with Chadwick recently, he mentioned that the latter car should go faster for two reasons. First, they are increasing the HP to over 600 and the car itself will weigh about 200 pounds less than the Chevelle. Second, "It's just got to," Chadwick said, "to stay in the running with other drivers."

The Chadwick-Hardy team has a lot of experience building cars, and they learn a lot from other drivers, particularly factory representatives when they go on racing tours, but mainly they rely on their own knowledge and ingenuity in an effort to be the top racing team in the state of Texas and in an effort to gain national recognition.

Claude Ring visited his mother at Quanah Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Bradley visited with relatives at Lubbock Thanksgiving day and on Friday visited her mother and brother at Spur.

Cut Off Deadline Faces Veterans On TDIP Rider

A cut-off deadline faces all Veterans over 55 years old who wish to obtain or exchange a Total Disability Income Provision Rider (TDIP) on their GI Insurance Policies.

They must act BEFORE JANUARY 1, 1966, the VA said today.

The Total Disability Income Provision provides payment of $10.00 per month per each $1000 of National Service Life Insurance should the policyholder become disabled before his 65th birthday. The policyholder, who before the January 1, 1966 date can be under 60, pays an additional charge for this Rider.

After January 1, 1966, the Rider will be sold only to Veterans under 55.

The previous law required that the disability be in effect before age 60. The present law extends the period in which disability may occur to age 65.

All World War II and Korean Conflict Veterans whose NSLI Policies are not preceded by the letters "RH" are eligible to buy the Rider.

Veterans under 60 holding existing Disability "up to Age 60" Riders and who wish to exchange them for the disability "up to Age 65" Riders may do so, but those over 55 years old will have to do so before January 1, 1966.

Any VA Regional Office can furnish further details.

MAJ. AUBREY C. EDINBURGH

Son Of McAdoo Couple Evaluating F-54 Jet Fighter In Vietnam

WITH U. S. COMBAT AIR FORCES, Vietnam - The son of a McAdoo, Tex., couple is in Vietnam participating in a unique combat evaluation of the F-54 jet fighter.

Major Aubrey C. Edinburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Edinburgh of McAdoo, is flying the Northrop-built aircraft in an extensive test of its operational capability.

Major Edinburgh is an operations officer in the 4503rd Tactical Fighter Squadron - a unit organized and trained at Williams AFB, Ariz., for the F-5A mission in Vietnam. Performance of the aircraft in combat conditions will be studied by a special Air Force evaluation team.

A graduate of McAdoo High School, the major attended Texas Technological College. He was commissioned in 1948 through the aviation cadet program.

Major Edinburgh's wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Tessier of 355 Bridge St., Northampton, Mass.

The F-5A has been delivered to allied nations under the U.S. military assistance program. The small twin-engine fighter can use short, unimproved airfields and provide close ground support or air-to-air combat maneuverability at 35,000 to 40,000 feet.

Arnold operated an ice plant in Floydada for several years. He moved to Ralls from Slaton in 1926 and built the Ralls Ice Plant for Texas Utility Co. He was active in ice manufacturing until 1962 when he retired. In 1945 he opened the first electric shop in Crosby County, and continued to be involved with various ice making plants around the area. He was a member of the Ralls Fire Department for 20 years, and was a former member of the Masonic Lodge in Ralls. In 1952 he moved back to Slaton and had maintained his home there since.

He was married to Miss Lois Benson, Dec. 18, 1914, at Christmas, Tex. He was born at Caldwell.

Survivors are his wife, Slaton; a son, Marvin Arnold, Ralls; a daughter, Mrs. Don Pemberton, Floydada; and five grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Bud Stephens, O. D. Stephens, Clay Campbell, Guy Surratt, Walter Williams and Travis Cook. Other Ralls Fire Department members were honorary bearers.

AUSTIN - Past experience indicates some 110 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the 10-day Christmas-New Year's holiday period, it was reported today by Col. Homer Garrison, Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Garrison said in addition to the grim traffic death projection made by DPS Statistical Services, it is also estimated that there will be 43 homicides and suicides and 42 deaths from accidents other than traffic, for a total violent death toll of 195.

"We would like to appeal once again to the driving public to join us in an all-out effort to cut down on this terrible toll, particularly in traffic where observance of traffic laws and rules of safety can actually do something about it," the DPS director said.

In an effort to call attention to the dangers involved in holiday travel, the DPS will conduct its annual "Operation Deathwatch" during the 10-day period. From 12:01 am December 24 (Christmas Eve) through 11:59 pm January 2, violent deaths will be tabulated and the totals announced three times daily from the Department headquarters in Austin.

"We will also have every available patrolman on duty," Garrison said. "These men are on the road to protect and serve the citizens of this state. In addition to the highway patrol, there will be some 150 extra patrolmen from other DPS uniformed services on duty."

During last year's Christmas-New Year's holiday period, a total of 228 persons died violently. Of these, 128 were killed in traffic.

This year's estimate of 110 holiday road deaths means an average of 11 per day, which is considerably greater than the normal daily average of traffic deaths, Garrison noted.

In addition to the DPS effort to hold down the toll, several other organizations and state agencies are cooperating in an effort to focus attention on the need for safe driving practices. Among these are the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Highway Department, the Texas Motor Transportation Association, and the Texas Broadcasters Association.

Lockney Club Hosts Luncheon At Floydada

The Lockney Garden Club hosted a Christmas guest luncheon recently at the Colonial House in Floydada. Hostesses were Mrs. Ewald Quebe and Mrs. Raymond Rucker. "The Community Decorates for Christmas" was the program topic and Mrs. Clyde Briley presented a film entitled "Holiday With Flowers."

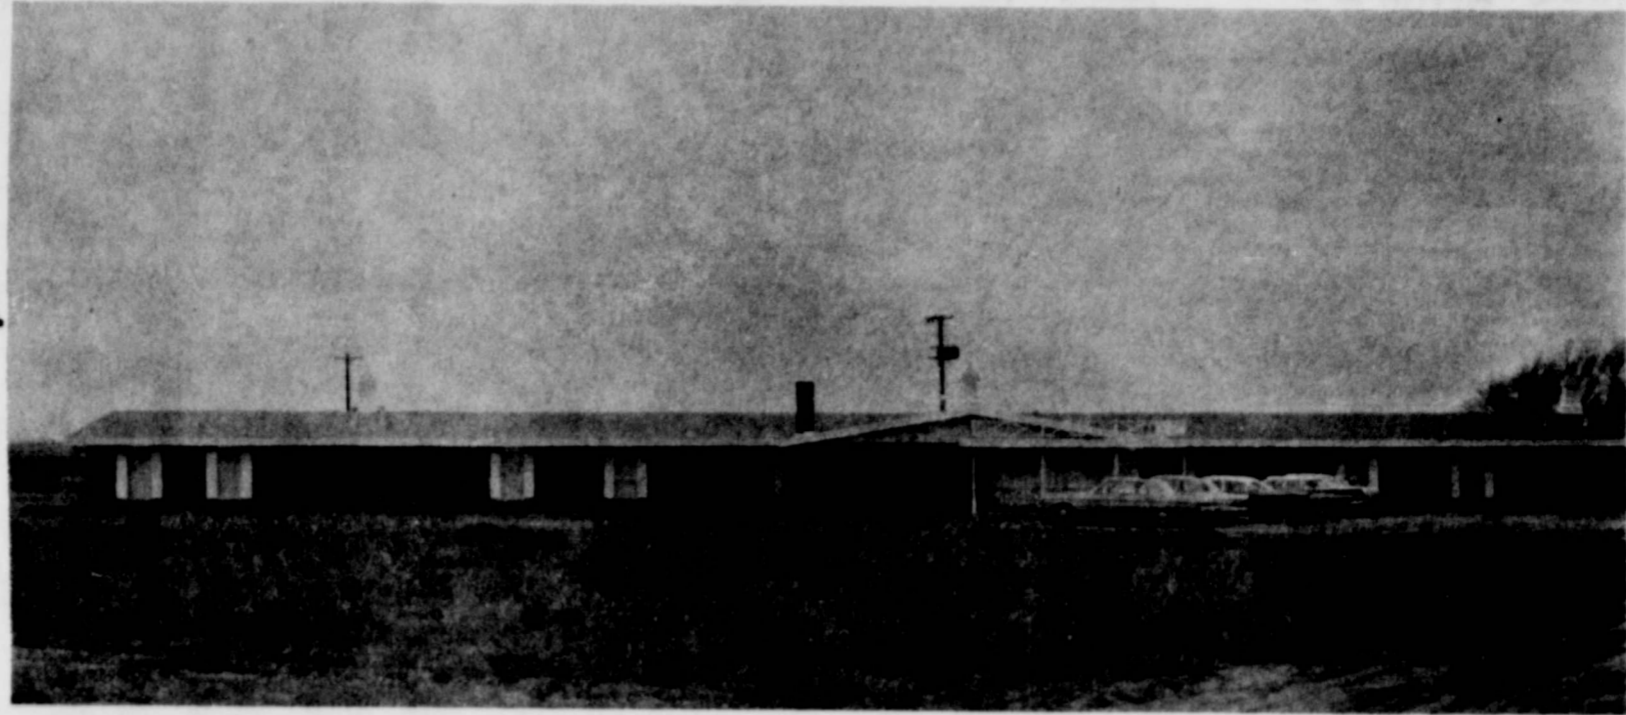

Tables were decorated in the Christmas motif featuring favors of red net sachet bagstied with white ribbon, filled with rose potpourri and accented with a Christmas sticker.

OBVIOUSLY, HE'S HOOKED — And what better way for a little girl to tie up Dad than with this Old Spice Shower Soap on a rope. "Hard-milled" — excess air bubbles have been eliminated. Dad gets longer-lasting soaping pleasure. The price is right for her piggy bank budget too, just one dollar. (And no Federal tax).

GIVE HIM A ROLLS for Christmas — A model kit in 1/24th scale, that is! Youthful builder puts "Lady Mascot" radiator decoration on just-completed 1931 Rolls Royce Phantom II Henley Convertible. Doors open, steering wheel turns and rumble seat cover moves. About three dollars the kit.

SALE AND TRANSFER CONSIDERED Farmers Speculating On Administration Of Crop

LUBBOCK, Friday, December 17, 1965 - Some High Plains cotton producers are finding it necessary to speculate on how the new cotton program may be administered after the 1966 crop year. This is particularly true with

OFFICER SAYS:

Liquor Will Cause Many Yule Deaths

"If you think drinking and driving is not such a big problem as we picture it--you are wrong."

"That is the warning issued by the highway patrol.

According to Sgt. O. C. Guthrie, patrol supervisor for the Lubbock area, "Drinking drivers are involved in more than half the fatal Christmas-time accidents.

"That is much higher than the one-in-three ratio during the rest of the year."

Any alcohol, he pointed out, reduces judgment, self-control, and driving reactions.

Holiday Safety

The patrol supervisor offered these other suggestions for holiday traffic safety:

Restrain impatience, haste, inconsiderateness and pre-occupation that may creep into holiday attitudes.

Know the safe winter driving techniques and use them; obey the regulations and signs.

And when you are the pedestrian, don't take chances by jaywalking, rushing, and obscuring vision with packages, or failing to allow extra alertness for dusk and hazardous weather conditions.

Rural traffic accidents, investigated by the patrol, in Lubbock County from Jan. 1 through November of this year totaled 390. These crashes resulted in 15 person killed and 221 injured. Property damage was estimated at $295,400, the highway patrol reported.

respect to sale and transfer of allotments and rates of payments, both price support and diversion. These are only two of the areas in which significant changes could be made after 1966 under authority granted the Secretary of Agriculture. In the case of the sale or lease and transfer of allotments, it's simply a matter of whether or not they will be permitted at all. The law states that the Secretary "may" permit transfers by sale or lease "if he determines that it will not impair the effective operation of the program involved."

Since no transfers will be permitted under the law between January 1 and June 1, farmers have only until the end of this year to register such transfers for the 1966 crop. Whether transfers will be permitted between June 1 and December 31 of 1966 remains to be seen.

The price support level, paid on projected yield from a farmer's domestic allotment is also subject to revision, but with some restrictions. The loan rate plus these payments must add up to at least 65% of parity on domestic acreage. With the current parity price of about 42 cents, this means a total to the farmer of about 28 cents, basis middling-inch cotton at average location on at least 65 percent (domestic allotment) of his acreage.

The price support payment for 1966 is set at 9.42 cents per pound, which when combined with the 21 cent loan is about 72.5 percent of parity. So this payment could conceivably be lowered slightly in future years.

The rate of the diversion payment "on the acreage required to be diverted" must be at least 25 percent of parity. The 10.5 cent rate for 1966 is, then, at the legal bottom. But while the rate per pound can't go down after 1966, the "acreage required to be diverted" can be cut or even eliminated, thereby reducing the total amount of a farmer's payments.

Further, the 10.5 cent diversion payment is not mandatory in the law as a payment on acreage diverted voluntarily.

On any acreage diverted by a farmer over the "required" diversion, the Secretary has authority to make payments at any where from zero up to 40 percent of parity.

These are the possibilities within the range of the Secretary's authority. But what the Secretary will actually decide about the level of payments and about permitting sale and transfer of allotments will most likely be affected more than anything else by the extent to which the 1966 program succeeds in reducing the cotton carryover.

As of August 1, 1966 this surplus of cotton is expected to reach 16.2 million bales, the highest since 1956 and almost two million bales above the 1965 carryover of 14.3 million. Domestic consumption is now estimated by the USDA at 9.5 million bales during the 1966-67 marketing year. Exports are guessed in at 5.3 million for a total of 14.8 million bales. And they are placing 1966 production at around 13.5 million.

Many cotton people feel the estimated production figure for 1966 may be too high--perhaps as much as a million bales. But experience in recent years with the Department's export predictions leads the same observers to believe the export shortfall may offset that error.

Either way the reduction in carryover would come to somewhere around 1.3 million bales, still leaving a carryover of 14.9 million.

That figure, assuming it is achieved, is far above what the Department considers a "manageable" surplus. And the whole philosophy behind the Agriculture Act of 1965 would indicate that the Secretary, in 1967 will be seeking ways to a further cut in production.

If this be so, then there is at least a possibility that the Secretary will consider abrogating the sale and transfer provisions of the law.

By the same token, the acreage required to be diverted from cotton production is not apt to be less than the statutory maximum of 12.5 percent. And the payment thereon cannot be less than 10.5 cents unless the parity price declines, which is not likely.

As for the diversion payment on the other 22.5 percent of allotments, most feel that it too will remain at about 10.5 cents. The logic here is that 1966 will see almost all producers diverting the maximum 35 percent, so the Secretary would gain very little or nothing by increasing the rate of payment.

On the other hand, with his continued need for getting the

BEGAN IN SECOND CENTURY Caroling Almost As Old As Christmas

Christmas caroling is almost as old as Christmas itself--though not in the form we know it.

An early historian wrote that in the Second Century the bishop of Rome urged his people to sing "in celebration of our Lord." Christmas hymns go back to the Fifth Century, when most of them were written in Latin.

St. Francis of Assisi is regarded as the father of caroling as we know it, according to World Book Encyclopedia. In 1223, St. Francis placed a creche (miniature Nativity scene), in a hermitage in Greccio, Italy.

After this many churches began displaying a Nativity scene at Christmas, and soon the people began acting out the Christmas story. The actors composed carols to sing with their Nativity plays and after the plays they would stroll down the street, singing. In that way, street caroling was born.

Joseph Mohr, a pastor in Oberndorf, Austria, composed "Stille Nacht," or "Silent Night," on Christmas Eve, 1818. Franz Gruber, the local schoolmaster and organist, composed the music the same day, and hymn was sung for the first time at Midnight Mass that night.

Charles Wesley, brother of John Wesley, wrote "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing!" in 1739. Phillips Brooks, a noted Boston clergyman, wrote "O Little Town of Bethlehem" in 1868 after visiting Bethlehem.

Though not a carol, Handel's noble "Messiah" is a Christmas tradition. It first was performed in Dublin in 1742. "Joy to the World," written in the early 18th Century by Isaac Watts, was set to the music of a segment of the "Messiah." "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," written in 1703 by Nahum Tate, was set to music taken from "Silent Night" by Handel.

No one knows who wrote "The First Noel." It first appeared in print in 1833 in a book called "Christmas Carols Ancient and Modern," and is believed to be very old.

The author of "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen," also is unknown, but he lived before Shakespeare. So if you should go caroling this Christmas season, think of other carolers of years gone by, of the people of Charles Dickens' time in their beaver hats and cutaway coats, of English villagers in hose and jerkin, of good St. Francis, and of the priests of the time of the Christian Roman Empire who, before caroling as we know it existed, sang "in celebration of our Lord."

OTHERS . . . Some Will Reach Christmas Destinations

Everywhere bells toll and music applauds the entrance of the Christmas Season. We are constantly reminded of the joy and happiness extended at this time of year. It would be miraculous if ALL could enjoy the remainder of the year. But being realists, we know that all will not; some will not reach their destination; some will not even begin the journey; others will not return from the trip. Why? Because the motor vehicle traffic accident will be a part of the holiday season. It will again take its toll. The figure 110 represents the number of persons who will die in Texas traffic this holiday period.

Sergeant Thurman Keffer of the Texas Department of Public Safety appeals to the driving public to join him and his personnel in all-out effort to curb this tragic toll. Obey all traffic laws and rules of safety and go a little further, extending courtesy and patience to other drivers - giving them the right of way at pertinent places.

Sargeant Keffer stated, "Every available patrolman will be on duty. These men are on the road to protect and serve all highway users. All the uniformed services of the Texas Department of Public Safety will be making every effort to see that the highways are safe for all to use. Will you supplement their efforts and drive safely?"

maximum acreage out of production, he isn't likely to reduce the amount of the payment on acreage voluntarily diverted.

The per-pound rate of price support payments on domestic acreage will not materially affect the number of bales produced. So we can expect that payment level to be dictated almost entirely by political expediency--a factor which might invalidate logic-based speculation on other phases of the programs' administration as well.

Sound pollution may soon take its place with air and water pollution as a danger to the health and well-being of our citizens, warns Dr. Lee Farr, professor of Nuclear and Environmental Medicine at the University of Texas Medical Center at the M. D. Anderson Hospital Houston. This sound pollution--or unwanted noise which has increased in volume as our mechanized, urbanized society uses more and more machines in closer and closer quarters--is a hazard to the well-being of the family and individual in today's complex society, says Mrs. Patsy Yates, Texas A&M University Extension specialist in family life education.

Floydada Spur Area Featured

The Floydada - Spur area is featured in a now-complete, three-volume, soft-cover collection of Texas' major stories, "Off The Beaten Trail", just completed with release of Volume 3, by Hill Country author-historian-news columnist, Ed Syers.

Now in seventh printing, popularly-known OBT has appeared for several years as a weekly metropolitan feature in most major Texas cities. Now topping the 50,000 mark, its coverage is, as one reviewer puts it, "border to border and prehistory to yesterday."

Texas historian Syers claims it primarily dedicated to our smaller cities and towns, "where too few Texans know how much history was made and what needs be seen."

Far west, Syers takes you hunting a strange and haunted Stampede Mesa. He recounts, from old tale, the legendary terrible first stampede, then enough others for you to see the ghost riders plunge over the cliff with their herds.

Waco's Tribune Herald calls it "the different books on Texas"; Fort Worth Star Telegram, "a reading must for Texans"; Amarillo Globe News, "from the best Texas story teller." OBT holds 1964 award from San Antonio's Conservation society, has been cited by the State Historical Survey Commission as "a major addition to explore old Texas."

Syers simply says more big-city people "need to get off the concrete jetstream and learn." His close out dedication is to the "Old-Timers who made Texas."

The three-volume series is available through book stores. Otherwise, it may be ordered direct, $1.50 per volume or $4.25 per full set of three

Keep Safety In Mind When Buying Toys

AUSTIN, TEX. — The Texas Safety Association today advised Christmas shoppers to keep safety in mind when selecting toys for children.
 J. O. Musick, TSA General Manager, said toys should be selected that are sturdy and well-made and that are "suitable for the child's age."
 "Cheaply constructed toys which may come apart or be broken under strenuous play, have no place in a child's Christmas stocking," he said.
 Musick suggests testing toys for strength, — see how much bending it will take and whether it will last past Christmas Day.
 In matching toys to a child's physical ability, the safety director pointed out that a toy which may be easily handled by an eight-year-old may not be handled safely by a four-year-old. A toy which is too heavy for any child can cause an accident.
 "Toys for babies and very young children should be washable, large, light in weight and of non-brittle material. All toys made of lead or colored with lead based paints should be avoided," he added.

 "Key-winding toys should have a strong spring enclosed in cylinder and keys should not revolve when the toy is in action."
 Music further suggests that electric toys should have the label of the Underwriters Laboratories (UL) on the card and the toy itself.
 He also urged parents to be on guard for pressure from a child for a particular toy.
 "More and more manufacturers — looking to increasing their share of an annual $2 billion business — are directing their sales pitch directly to the highly impressionable consumer, the child himself," he explained.
 "It takes a strong-willed and well-informed parent to resist a child's hue and cry for a particular toy — good or bad, safe or unsafe — that he's seen advertised."
 In closing, Musick reminded parents that instruction in the proper use of some toys is necessary for safe play.
 "Some toys require special handling, such as air rifles, chemistry sets, darts and bows and arrows, he said.
 "Assist children in acquiring skill before trusting them alone with such toys."
