City Council Visits With Member Of Water Development Board

The Floydada City Council met with a member of the Texas Water Development Board here Tuesday night in a special called meeting in their study of the future water needs of this city. Marvin Shurbet, a member of the Texas Water Development Board for approximately ten years outlined the overall plan of water for the future for the state and more specifically the South Plains and Floyd County.

Shurbet said that although the state board is planning ahead on storage dams in this area, "a bird in the hand is much better than a bird in the bush." He was referring of course to the Mackenzie Water Authority dam project which is ready for the voter's approval in comparison to the area dams that will probably store water from East Texas or some other state as it is piped into this area.

Shurbet said, "there is no doubt in my mind that the Floydada residents should take the Mackenzie water. I know it is of high cost, but water will continue to cost more and more... and it looks like if the towns of Crosbyton, Ralls, Post and Spur can afford the more expensive dam water... Floydada should be able to afford it and be glad to get it."

All councilmen were present except Louis Anderson. Mayor Leonard Matsler officiated at the meeting which was also attended by city manager Bill Feuerbacher.

Rev. Bradley Baccalaureate Speaker

The Rev. Floyd Bradley, pastor of the First Baptist Church will give the Baccalaureate sermon for Floydada High School's graduating seniors Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

The services will be held at the First Baptist Church.

Marijon Wylie will be at the organ and play the procession- al, recessional and some or- gan selections.

A vocal duet by Mrs. David Batteny Jr. and Mrs. Wendell Tooley will follow the organ selections.

The Rev. Herschel Thurston, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will give the invocation and George Elkins, minister of the City Park Church of Christ will give the benediction.

Congregational singing will be led by Bob Copeland.

Approximately 200 students were recognized with awards that ranged from drama to athletics at the annual awards assembly at Floydada High School last Friday.

170 Pints Of Blood For Steve Williams

Lockney's Steve Williams got out of debt to the Carter Blood Bank at Fort Worth Monday and has around 80 pints of insurance for the future as Floydada community folk gave blood and money to take care of 170 pints.

At press time Wednesday money was still coming in and the count was 125 pints of blood given Monday and $450 (or 45 pints) given in donations for Steve.

Steve was here Monday helping register the donors, and his mother was here and gave another pint of blood... which she has become accustomed to doing. Steve's father was in Lockney at his job of school teaching.

Just about every organization in the Floydada community helped one way or another in organizing the blood drive. The First Methodist Church gave its fellowship hall facilities for the drive.

Thanks Folks

"Since I was unable to thank everyone who gave money or blood Monday, I want to take this means to express my sincere thanks to the folks who so generously gave in the interest of my future.

May God bless each of you is my prayer."

MAGIC NUMBER 1980: Development Board Seeks Dam Site Near Crosbyton

by Jedd Blessing CROSBYTON - Members of the Texas Water Development Board, including a Geological Survey team and a drilling group, are presently at a site about five miles northeast of Crosbyton seeking possible sites for dams and water storage facilities for the future.

Early this week, and probably for the remainder of the week, the group, working on a site on the Bridwell Ranch found in their core drilling hard rock at 113 feet, which would make a good foundation for a water storage.

"This is just one of many sites we are exploring, and our survey has to be completed by July 1, 1967," stated James M. Perdue, Jr., Geologist with the TWDB.

The team has looked into dam sites at Illusion, Bull Lakes in southern Lamb County, Yellowhouse Lake in Lubbock County, the one here, one on Tule Canyon, one on Palo Duro Canyon, and one of the Canadian River.

"Not all our prospective sites come up with good reports," Perdue said. "For example, the one on Palo Duro Canyon stated that gypsum was too near the surface of the land. Gypsum is a salt, which, when combined with water, dissolves, which can lead to collapse of a formation. Besides, the mixture of gypsum with water doesn't add to the quality of the water."

According to Perdue, the group is seeking possible water storages for irrigation for the future. Most municipalities have lines to a lake or probably will have branch lines off metropolitan areas that are connected with lakes, in the near future, for drinking water.

"One of our biggest problems is finding out how much irrigation water is used on the High Plains each year, an area that has 75 per cent of the irrigated land in the state and produces 35 per cent of the agricultural products," he stated.

Here the magic number appears to be 1980, a year when virtually all the water for irrigation purposes will be gone.

In the upper Panhandle the year is around 2,000.

"If we could establish some set formula, even one we could vary from area to area, for figuring the power cost in proportion to the gallons of water pumped, we could possibly project how many acre feet of storage for a given area would be needed per year, and work from there," Perdue said.

If the need is determined for a dam in this area, where the group is testing, if it appears feasible for a dam to be placed there, and if a dam could be constructed that would store water to 3,000 feet elevation, it would make ten or twenty White River Lakes, holding 960,000 to 1,000,000 acre feet of water, according to Perdue.

"But," he added, "where would the water come from?" A lot of IF's and a lot of questions have to be answered before even the feasibility tests for a dam are put into action, but a lot of people on the High Plains are hoping Perdue and his group, and others like him throughout the state find the answer to a lot of questions before 1980.

And a lot sooner wouldn't hurt anyone's feelings.

Country Club Stock For Sale

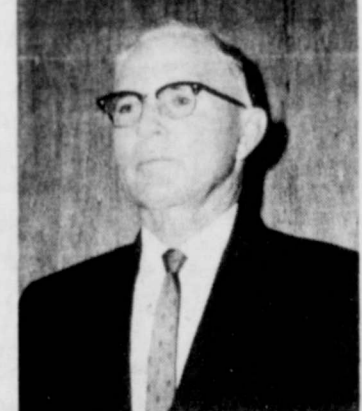

The board of directors of the Floydada Country Club has opened a campaign this month to stimulate the sale of country club stock and to sell the few remaining shares held on the club books.

A letter from president Gary Carthel was mailed to one hundred Floyd County families and additional copies were distributed by the directors which pointed out the opportunities for family recreation throughout the year. The directors feel that the organization's nine hole golf course, swimming pool, club house and other facilities should be used to full capacity by Floyd County families. The club has long had the reputation of having one of the best green grass golf courses in West Texas. Bobby Westfall is the club golf professional, Sam Gilbreath is in charge of

CENTER NEWS by Mrs. J. E. Green

CENTER, May 15 - We had a rather cold weekend for this season. Imagine a temperature of 36 degrees in Floyd County! There was some shifting of population yesterday, as sons and daughters, or the parents arranged to dine or get together.

The Welborn Clan - the Arneys, the Roger Gooches, Bob Welborns, J. D. Welborns and Mrs. Donna Booth all dined in Plainview with the son and brother, James David Welborn and family.

The J. E. Greens proceeded to Plainview after church to dine with the Victor Greens. Guests over the weekend at the Leo Frizzell home were Mrs. Frizzell's sister-in-law, Mrs. Elam Carpenter of Winoka, Okla., and Mrs. Carpenter's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Snelleman of Amarillo. The Frizzell's daughter and family, the Garvin Beedys of South Plains were also present for Sunday dinner.

Mrs. Ava Jackson's daughters who came for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Orbin Carroll and their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stringer and two children, all of Amarillo. Also Mr. and Mrs. Neal Wright and son of Rotan.

In the afternoon the women and children - Mrs. Jackson and daughters and granddaughter all visited with the other relatives in the Frizzell home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer Denison and family of Lubbock spent Mothers Day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Denison.

Mrs. Frank Dunn went to Lubbock Saturday. She took granddaughter Rhonda home and remained over the weekend to spend Mothers Day with her children and families there.

Sunday dinner guests of the Hal Thomases were Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Orman. Also daughter Sue Thomas of Lubbock.

Mrs. Thomas had a rather painful accident one day last week when a car door slammed on her right hand, breaking her thumb. She is trying to take it easy this week with her hand in a sling.

Where families could not get together for Mothers Day the telephone was one good means of communication.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sims received such a call from their daughter, Mrs. Charles Horton (Betty Jo) of Alvin, and one from their grandson, Bruce Horton of San Diego.

The R. C. Bosses had a Sunday night call from their daughter, Norma (Mrs. Rob Robinson) of Denver, Colo., relaying news of a good rain on Saturday and snow on Sunday.

The J. E. Greens also received a call Sunday evening from their daughter, Margaret Ryan, of Hubbard. These make parents happy, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lambert visited the Greens Friday evening.

Sunday dinner guests of the Thomas Warrens were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alldredge and family, Mrs. Ola Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Battey.

We had a good crowd at Calvary Baptist Church Sunday. Several of our faithfuls were out of town for Mothers Day, but we had a good number of visitors.

One interesting feature of the service was the awarding of corsages. The oldest mother receiving one was Mrs. C. A. Cumble, the youngest mother was Mrs. Don Galloway; the mother with the most children present was Mrs. Robert Smith from Amarillo (visiting his mother, Mrs. Wexler, over the weekend). Another enjoyed feature was the special song brought by Mrs. Karen Hubbard of Gruver, granddaughter of our pastor, Bro. Butler.

Bro. and Mrs. Butler also had a son and daughter and some of their families present, and there were several others.

At the evening service we were favored with a slide demonstration of missions in Togo, West Africa, brought by Mrs. Morris Pruitt. She was accompanied by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Buck Pruitt of Roaring Springs.

The Morris Pruitts were recently appointed for Africa and are to leave soon for language school in France.

Grasshopper Control Meeting At South Plains

A meeting explaining the Federal Government's Cooperative Grasshopper Control Program will be held at the South Plains School Tuesday, May 23 at 8:30 p.m. D. H. Russell, District Supervisor of the Plant Pest Control from Lubbock will give the details of the program.

Under this plan the government pays one-third the cost of controlling the grasshoppers on rangeland.

According to the Plant Pest Control a grasshopper survey is underway in Floyd County at this time. Some areas to the east of South Plains and north and east of Cedar Hill are building up to a heavy infestation. The hatch is approximately 25% complete.

The cooperative spray program must be requested by the ranchers. All funds are collected and deposited and disbursed by a grasshopper control committee set up by the producers.

The request must be made in the near future as time must be allowed to plan the program and the appropriation must be set aside by the government.

Weekend Auto Accidents Reported

According to a report from the local highway patrol a couple of Texas Tech boys overturned their auto in the Blanco Canyon Sunday, but were not seriously injured.
Floydada police reported an accident in front of L&J grocery at 5:40 p.m. Sunday. Two autos were going south, the front one driven by Birdie Ward was hit by an auto driven by Audon Salinas Jr. from the rear.
Salinas was charged with following too close and failure to give proper lookout.
Occupants of the Ward car included Mrs. Ward, daughter Cindy and friend Marilyn Harris. All were taken to Methodist Hospital where they were x-rayed and treated for whip lashes, bruises and abrasions. All returned home Sunday. Salinas was not seriously injured.

SOFTBALL MEET SCHEDULED
All teams wishing to play this summer in Lockney Softball League are asked to have representatives at an 8 p.m. Monday meeting in the fire station. Entry fee of $50 must be returned in at that time so that the schedule may be drawn up.
Donald Reecer, a member of Lockney Volunteer Fire Department, league sponsor, says that the first game each night is to start at 8:30.

CHADWICK WINS RACES SUNDAY
Kelly Chadwick's "Wild Thang" Camaro won against the Ram Charger Dodge from Detroit, Michigan last Saturday night at Memphis, Tenn.
"The Flying School Teacher from Floydada" went through the quarter of a mile at 160 miles per hour...a time of 8.98.
Chadwick was also due to run Sunday in Carlisle, Arkansas, but was rained out.
This Saturday, Chadwick and Don Hardy will race at Fort Worth, then back to the Amarillo Speed Bowl Sunday.

100% cool

When the temperature soars, 100% cotton's the coolest because cotton "breathes," absorbs and evaporates moisture to help keep your body temperature down. Cotton never gets clammy. It's the most comfortable way to go through the summer. And cotton is so easy to care for. Wash it in the hottest water (cotton comes out truly clean). Dry it as you please (cotton isn't fussy). Iron it without worry (cotton won't melt, discolor or pull at the seams). Even after repeated launderings, cotton things bounce back looking fresh and without dinginess or odor buildup. When you shop for clothes, play it cool. Insist on 100% cotton.

Influence Dips

Thought is warranted by the results of the latest Gallup poll which shows the influence of the church in the United States is declining. The results of polls are so clear, and the trend in the past ten years so consistent, that it is hardly surprising that the Gallup Poll asked Americans to question on four occasions. The percentage of those answering that the church was increasing its influence had dropped to 31 per cent. Last year it was only 34 per cent. Likewise, in 1957 44 per cent of those answering the question were losing their interest in the church while in 1965 45 per cent believed church influence was declining, and by last year the percentage had risen to 57 per cent! These are disturbing figures and prove beyond much doubt that churches and church leaders face a critical decision, either adapting to circumstances and the knowledge of today or continuing to lose influence on the people of the country. One of the more sober results of the poll was the finding that young people are taking a more pessimistic view on the church's influence than older people. The issue is squarely up to church officials and church leaders; it seems clear Americans are not going to be satisfied with archaic or inflexible rules and totalitarian organization. And it is already late for this realization to be faced.

Westmoreland's Report

The first time in over three years General William C. Westmoreland came home and reported on the war in Vietnam. He said there are indications the war is being won. He said the return of West Point commandant, Westmoreland, an able speaker, and his close relationship to the Administration in his U.S. speechmaking and his criticism of demonstrators against the war and charged they aided the enemy and dismayed our own sons in the war. He pictured the situation as one which has improved in the past two years and looked for hard fighting ahead. He said the most interesting of his reports on the war was his explanation of the opposition to cease-fire negotiations and his conviction that only military pressure would bring Hanoi to the negotiating table. He also said the combat capability of South Vietnamese Army units was improving, contrary to some reports, and noted that the number of enemy prisoners defecting was increasing at an encouraging rate. The Westmoreland report to the nation was taken by some as the Administration reply to widespread demonstrations and opposition to U.S. policy. If there is substance in the assumption, General Westmoreland presented the case for prosecution of the war in style, and with demonstrated ability. And at a time when the United States is escalating its military effort, Westmoreland's return and his report to the nation were timely, perhaps even vital to public support of present U.S. policy.

God Is Not Dead, Even in Moscow

It is the irony of the age. Millions of Americans in this great land, founded by rugged believers in the free worship of God, are today assailed by doubt. "What's wrong with the churches?" they demand. "Why doesn't somebody do something about religion?"

The extremists tell us that God is dead. The moderates claim that He should be taken out of the church and moved to the market place and hippie joints.

Young people cry out that religion is not meeting their needs. Instead of digging to find God for themselves — which is what all of us must do eventually — they stand back and wait for somebody to hand Him to them on a silver platter.

Clergymen take to the streets, lending their presence to violence in the name of peace, and to license in the name of freedom.

In the midst of all this doubt and confusion there suddenly appears on our shores an assured and smiling woman with a message.

Svetlana Alliluyeva, daughter of modern history's most ruthless atheist dictator, is here to find "freedom of self-expression."

As for God, she has no doubts.

"When I became a grown-up person," she explained, "I found that it was impossible to exist without God in one's heart. I came to that conclusion myself, without anybody's help or preaching."

If Svetlana Alliluyeva was able to find God by herself in the top level of a society that officially denies His existence, cannot we find Him in this free and open land, founded by men who sought a place where they might pray as they deemed right?

What is she like, this daughter of a dictator?

Mary McGrory of the Washington Star was there at the New York press conference. She reported:

"Svetlana Alliluyeva's face is too broad for beauty. But it is illuminated by magnificent eyes, deep-set, heavy-lidded, jewel-bright, the color of zircons, a light blue green.

"Only her dress proclaimed the Soviet Union. It was an indifferently-cut two-piece suit of bright blue, figured in black, and it emphasized her dumpy figure."

"Her coiffure was also out of Moscow. The richly waving blond-red hair was simply brushed back and chopped off."

"She has no mannerisms. Her hands are the hands of a woman who has baked her own bread and scrubbed a floor. She seemed astonishingly serene at her press conference."

"Two things happened to Svetlana Alliluyeva that mattered. One was that she found God; the other was that she found, late in life, true love."

"The regime did not interfere with her religion — she said quite casually that she had been baptized five years ago in the Russian Orthodox Church."

"She explained how it happened. It was not an intellectual conversion. She had 'religious feelings.'"

"As one day a person is blind and one day his eyes become open and he can see the world, the sky and birds and trees. It was like that."

Such is Svetlana Alliluyeva, who came bearing untingly a message of assurance to a disturbed land.

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER

To Collect Fee From Airlines For Use Of Air Above His Farm

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has, you might say, his mind in the sky this week.

Dear editor:

According to an article in a newspaper which somebody threw out of a car on the road near my place and which I picked up — it's one thing to pick up newspapers to help keep America beautiful but I'm going to take a different attitude if they start trying to pick me up on the same grounds — some residents near a big city air field are suing the airlines for flying too low over their houses, arguing that a homeowner owns the air above his property and consequently the airlines have to get an easement before they can use it. Otherwise they're trespassing.

I was discussing this with a neighbor and he just scoffed. "They won't get anywhere with that," he said.

"Why not?" I asked.

"You think you own the air above your farm?"

"Sure. Don't you?"

"Nope."

"Not even two feet above your farm?"

"Two feet? Well, sure."

"How about four feet?"

"Certainly."

"Ten?"

"Of course."

"Fifty feet? A hundred? Five hundred? A thousand? A mile? How high up do you own the air above your farm?"

I could see we both had something to think about and I came on back home to do mine. It seems to me this opens up a brand new field for lawyers and the courts, because it's obvious a man owns the space above his property some distance at least, otherwise one man could build a house on stilts above another's front lawn.

The question of course is how high up do you own, and since the question never came up at the time I doubt if it's mentioned in the Constitution, although it's possible the Supreme Court could claim it is, as those fellows occasionally can get more out of that document than other people. Wear better glasses, I guess.

At any rate, I'd like to get this problem solved, and if any airlines owe me for flying through my air space without permission, I'd like to collect. Next to government checks, I can't think of anything that'd improve the profit in farming more. It's just what I've been looking for.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Local Pastor Says Liquor-by-the-drink Does Not Mean More Control And Moderation

"If you're really interested in more control and more moderation, liquor-by-the-drink is certainly not the answer," Rev. Floyd Bradley, Pastor of the First Baptist Church said today.

Rev. Bradley advocated other alternatives which would incorporate liquor controls without increased availability, and raise much more needed tax revenue.

"Advocates of liquor-by-the-drink claim that they are interested in tight controls, in more enforcement, and in moderation. If this is true, they should be in favor of these alternatives which would raise liquor taxes, beer taxes, and private club taxes without increasing liquor consumption," Rev. Bradley said.

Rep. Bob Bass of DeKalb has introduced House Bill 1159 which would tax private clubs 15 percent and raise liquor license costs.

"Nine out of every ten letters I have received have been against liquor-by-the-drink. My proposal would raise the needed state revenue without making liquor more accessible than it is right now," Rep. Bass said. "My bill would probably bring in around $20 million more than Connally's proposal without encouraging increased consumption of alcohol," he said.

House Bill 1149 by Rep. J. M. Stimpson of Amarillo and Rep. James D. Cole of Greenville would incorporate the strong controls of the Connally liquor-by-the-drink bill, but without the liquor.

"If their motives are as pure as their words, champions of liquor-by-the-drink would be behind HB 781 by Vernon Stewart of Wichita Falls. This bill would crack down on sale of liquor to minors. They would be behind HB 953 by Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock, which would increase beer tax and raise an additional $59 million in revenue; or HB 1015 by Rep. Neil Caldwell of Angleton, which would increase the tax on beer from the present $4.30 per barrel to $6.30; or HB 1030 by Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, which would increase beer tax to $10.00 a barrel," Rev. Bradley said. "It's not as if there were finding up to 20 young hoppers per sq. yard in some areas. The heaviest infested areas were north and east of Cedar Hill and east of South Plains along the edge of the Caprock escarpment. The hoppers are on pasture land at this time.

The hatch is expected to continue on in to June; however the most of the hoppers are expected to be out by June 1. Day explained that a large rain at this time would reduce the hatch considerably. He also stated that in some areas the count was only 3 to 5 hoppers per sq. yard which is under the level for an economic damage to rangeland.

After the grass is destroyed the hoppers can be expected to move into the cropland areas.

The best time to control the grasshoppers is at the end of the hatching period before any reach maturity. If control measures are used after they have reached adults then egg laying will have begun producing another generation for the following year. Grasshoppers are also easier to kill in the younger stages. The following insecticides are approved for use in controlling grasshoppers on grassland: Malathion at 1 qt. per acre, Sevin 80% W.P. 2/3 to 1 3/4 lb. per acre, Toxaphene at 1 qt. per acre, and Heptachlor at 1/2 to 3/4 pt. per acre.

There is no waiting period on grazing for Malathion or sevin. If toxaphene or heptachlor is used wait 7 to 10 days before grazing. Other restrictions for Toxaphene include do not graze dairy animals, do not graze meat animals in treated pastures within 6 weeks of slaughter, do not apply but once during the season, and do not apply near lakes, streams or ponds.

Spike Wideman Cast In Hardin-Simmons Play

ABILENE — Thirty-five students make up the cast of the play "Lamp at Midnight," being produced by the Hardin-Simmons University Theatre Department as part of the university's Diamond Jubilee Celebration.

The cast is one of the largest groups to appear on the stage. They performed for Barrie Stavits, author of the play, at last dress rehearsal and opening night.

Playing a supporting role in the cast is Spike Wideman as Carlo Barberini, advisor to his brother the Pope.

Wideman, a 1966 graduate of Floydada High School, is son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris H. Wideman of Star Route, Ralls.

The play of Galileo, the man who found that the earth is not the center of the universe and that there are more than seven planets, is a dedication of the newly-named and equipped Van Ellis Theatre.

The cast is faced with the problem of aging, since the time ranges from the characters' young years to their old age. The plot involves the Pope and the Vatican, since Galileo was a devout Catholic.

The play has no less than eight scene changes which are arranged around the three-sided stage area. They include the Vatican, a convent, a church, a bookshop, Galileo's workshop, a Roman house where he conducts experiments, and the Lynx Academy.

The staging brings performers into the midst of the audience. A platform in the center of the audience area will be the center of attraction for several speeches. From it Galileo will address the Cardinals.

Man From Turkey Visits Soil Conservation Service Here

Ferhan Erkan of Ankara, Turkey, visited irrigated farms in Floyd County the past two weeks. He has been a guest of Glen Black at the Soil Conservation Service and Black has been showing Erkan various types of irrigation in the county.

Erkan has been in the United States since April 1 and will be here for a year. To date he has visited Washington, Oklahoma, Temple, Texas, Crosbyton, and plans to visit Plainview, Littlefield, Lubbock, Utah, California and Arizona.

He will study in the Universities of Utah and Arizona. Erkan reports that the average rainfall in the area of Ankara is 16 inches per year.

He said they are now doing some irrigation. They pump water from 150 feet underground and have pumps and motors similar to what is used here.

Most of the rain in Turkey comes in April and May. Erkan said they raise wheat, cotton, tobacco, sugar beets, all sorts of vegetables and fruit.

Irrigation wells there cost about $3,000 and the farmer borrows the money for the agriculture bank. . . and gets a 20 year pay out. The average size farm is 15 to 20 acres and a good irrigated farm will sell for $800 per acre.

Erkan is married, has a child 1 1/2 years of age, and is of the Moslem religion.

RICE IS ONE OF THE FINEST STAPLE FOODS. Pounded for pound, no other food offers you so much for your food dollar as rice. In many parts of the world it has been for generations the main food—the only—food in the diet. American rice offers high-nutrition value and improved quality in flavor and cooking ease.

There is no waste in rice; every ounce is edible. What's more, there's no peeling, shelling, or scraping—not even any washing, for modern rice is machine-milled and comes to you ready to cook. In fact, never wash or rinse enriched rice. You lose valuable vitamins and minerals. Here are some more don't's—

Don't peel when boiling rice. It lets out steam, lowers temperature.

Don't add cold liquid to boiling rice. If necessary to add a bit more liquid, be sure it's boiling.

Don't stir rice after it comes to a boil. This mashes grains, makes rice gummy.

Be sure the rice you buy is enriched. Grain enrichment restores the important B vitamins—thiamine, niacin, riboflavin plus iron that are lost when the bran and germ are removed from the kernel during milling. B vitamins are especially important in the diet. These vitamins help promote normal appetite and good digestion, keep a healthy nervous system and help prevent cracks and lesions around tongue and lips. Iron combines with protein to make hemoglobin, an important part of the blood. Breads and cereals should be included in the diet every day to insure an adequate intake of these nutrients. Rice is versatile. It is good for any meal of the day and can be soup, salad, main dish or dessert. Here is a favorite recipe your family will enjoy.

PARSLEY PIE

Prepare 1 cup of rice as directed on package

Mix—
1 finely chopped onion
2 beaten eggs
1/2 cup cooking oil
1/2 cup dried parsley
1/2 pound grated Old English Cheese

Floydada Girl's Husband Praised By Raider Coach

Pete Norwood of Dallas, who is a student at Texas Tech, received high praise recently from J. T. King, his coach of the Red Raiders. King was interviewed by Roy Edwards of the Dallas Morning News last week on this year's team, while he was preparing to leave Dallas for a SWC meeting to lecture at the University of Nebraska coaching clinic.

Floyd County persons will want to keep a watchful eye on the Red Raider lineman. He is married to a Floydada girl, the former Vickie Jarboe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malvin Jarboe, and Floyd County fans just naturally holler for their own.

King said of Norwood, "He is going to be a real good one; he's a red-shirt soph, about 6-1 and 220. Pete runs 40 yards in five seconds flat, which is good for a lineman. He's one of those muscled-up quick kids. He came to us weighing about 185. He's one of the quickest linemen we've had, and strong." Norwood, King said, has shown many of the qualities that have helped Arkansas SMU nose guards earn all-SWC and All American recognition in recent years.

"He can hit and go and pick his way through traffic," King said. "He shows signs of being the best we've had." Last season the Raiders were third in the league in total offense with 310 yards a game and last in defense with a yield of 334. With 10 offensive regulars returning, the Raiders figure to move the ball again come fall.

GET THE MOST FROM YOUR AIR CONDITIONING
The central air-conditioning system in your home is reliable and responds quickly to your cooling needs. By keeping a few rules in mind, you can help it to work more efficiently for you.

Keep your air conditioning system on the job all the time. The hottest part of the day is in mid-afternoon. That's when your air conditioning has to work hardest. If it has been working all morning, the house hasn't had a chance to store up much heat. Then, when the outside temperature reaches its peak in the afternoon, the cooling system will be able to handle the heat load much more easily. By letting the air conditioner space out its work load and operate with maximum efficiency and economy, the system will keep the house uniformly cool and comfortable throughout the day.

Set the thermostat and leave it alone. It takes about an hour to condition your home to the level you have chosen. Frequent adjustment of the thermostat produces fluctuating temperatures and the accumulation of undesirable humidity. The thermostat is a much more accurate instrument for detecting temperature changes that is the human body. Help your air conditioner. Avoid heat and humidity producing activities in the hottest part of the day. Mop floors, do heavy cooking and wash clothes in the morning. (Vent the clothes dryer to the Residential neighborhoods which were quiet between 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. will be alive with children popping out in all directions. Streets and highways will be laden with carefree inattentive motorists going on vacations and outings.

"This means that motorists must be constantly alert at all times during the summer months for children darting out from unexpected places and the unpredictable actions of the carefree vacation motorists," the Sergeant added.

The walls and furniture will "store up cooling" during the day, and this will provide comfort for several hours after your company comes, even in large rooms. You don't have to change your patterns of living for the benefit of your air conditioner, but with a little understanding, it will work much more efficiently for you.

Hightower Votes For Teacher Pay Raise

AUSTIN — Senator Jack Hightower cast his vote with the Senate majority last week in approving a $55 million teacher pay raise.

The proposed raise was incorporated in a $2.4 billion, one year spending bill to finance state governmental machinery for 1968. The budget was sent to the House.

Senators also proposed an amendment to the bill which would provide a boost in old age proposal would age payments per month. The Legislature three weeks to appropriations for both houses but session ends. In other news, week, Senator cured passage which would be national offense to
