to get his job completed, On Monday of this week only one patrolman was definitely lined up to work with him.

TWO MORE EXPECTED

It was expected that within ten more days the city council would have two more patrolmen employed. No change in the general set-up of the police department was expected, Hopper will receive $450 per month.

The board of directors of the newly formed Floydada Development Company in a meeting last Friday afternoon authorized the beginning of a membership drive with a goal of 100 members, Membership certificates will be given for each Doyle Walls heads up the membership drive and he will be aided by Aldine Williams and Bill Cagle.

The membership money will be used in contacting new industry and helping existing industries expand and costs of organizing the development company.

After considerable discussion by the board the decision was made to go for the $25.00 memberships for two reasons: to get more people involved in the effort and to get some financing for operation of the new development company.

Walls said that he and his committee would try to see every business in this community for memberships and in the meantime persons desiring to become members could see him or a member of the membership committee.

In the Friday meeting, which was attended by 15 board members and committee heads, discussion centered around the need for money should a prospective industry request gift of land, building, or someother help in locating here. The group decided that once this need had been determined, a financial drive would be initiated to assure the location of the industry here.

Sammy Hales In Auto Collision

The Sammy Hale fam'ly was involved in an auto collision Sunday afternoon that left the parents in the hospital, doing fairly well, but was fatal to the driver of the other car. Richard Wayne Owens, 20, of Hereford, was killed in the collision about 1 p.m. when his car collided with the Hale family automobile.

3 MILES EAST OF CANYON According to officers, Owens was driving east on Texas 217 when his auto was in collision with a car driven by Hale, going south on Farm Road 1541. All four members of the Hale family were treated at Neblett Hospital in Canvon, It was obvious that the parents would need further treatment, and Randy, 11, was checked very closely by x-ray. Andy, 14, did not appear to be in bad shape from the beginning. Neither boys were considered in need of further treatment when they left Canyon feed grains may be planted on wheat allotments.

Producers will be able to substitute wheat for oats and rye on the same basis as in the 1967 program. The "excess wheat option" in the 1967 program will be continued next year. Under this option, a producer can plant in excess of his allotment acreage and be eligible for marketing certificates and price support loans, if (1) the wheat acreage does not exceed the allotment by more than 50 per cent, (2) the excess pro-duction is stored and (3) the farmer complies with other terms and conditions similar to those in effect for 1967.

The value of domestic certificates purchased by pro-cessors to cover wheat used for national consumption will be 75 cents a bushel, un-changed from 1967.

Jean has suffered severely from facial lacerations, Sammy does not have a broken back, as was once feared, but he does have torn ligaments. Randy is quite bruised.

SAVED BY SEAT BELTS Sam my's mother says that the seat belts worn by Sammy and Jean are surely responsible for saving their lives. They are both badly bruised around the waist, from the pressure exerted by the belts. The back seat was not equipped with belts, but the boys had the advantage of the front seat between themselves and the impact of the two cars, which appears to have been around the hoods.

QUITE SOME TIME It appears that Sammy and Jean will be in the Methodist Hospital for quite some time.

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER

A Quizzical Look At A New Idea

For Saving Time While Fishing

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses fishing this week, we suppose.

Dear editar:

I was fishing the other afternoon and thought I'd hooked a good one, even when it broke the surface glinting in the sunshine. Looked like at least a three-pound gaspergou, but when I got it to the bank I discovered it was only a copy of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and I lost my bait besides. There are days

I re-baited and let the paper dry out and looked it over and ran into an article that: made me forget all about my cork.

According to it, science is moving in on fishing. It's working on a system where you ride along in a boat, locate a school of fish by radar, then pull them in with a vacuumcleaner-type suction pipe. In thirty minutes a man can have a boat full and be back on the job on his tractor on in his office or wherever he works.

I estimate this will save 15 million manhours of fishing a year, and it got me to thinking of other areas.

Take golf. As I understand it, from what I've seen on television when no western was on, the object of the game is to sink a ball in a minimum number of strokes, but like it is you drive the ball through the air and when it lands it bounces around no telling where. Why not connect the holes up with pipes on the ground and drive through them, making a hole-in-one at every green and thus saving maybe 50 million man-hours of golf a year?

Or dominoes. Why puts dots on just one side? Put them on both and a game could be played in 30 seconds. The same could be done with bridge cards, although I haven't worked out anything yet with checkers. Baseball? Magnetize the ball and the outfielders' gloves and finish a game in 30 minutes with 27 flys caught by both sides. All games would end in a tie, the national standings would always be the same and the newspapers would never have to re-set any type.

By failing to utilize science in all games and sports, I figure the United States is wasting 14 billion man-hours a year, delaying the average man's entry into a rest home by 15 or 20 years. I turn the problem over to Congress.

After finishing reading the paper, I resumed fishing and about sundown pulled in four 2pounders and came home. There's nothing better than a copy of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal to wrap fish in.

Dear Friends and Neighbors

Thank you, seems very insufficient. There are not enough words to express how grateful we are for the many kind deeds, and all the encouraging words during the months our grandson Rickie Pernell was in the hospital and up to the present time, We, the grand parents and the entire family could not have made it through without you and God.

To you of the Dougherty community, of Floydada and the surrounding area, thanks, for every visit, your prayers, the encouraging words the food that was brought to Lubbock, also the food that was brought to their home upon his return home. For every card, letter, the beautiful flowers, for each and every gift, the donations, the many meals that were brought for us and our kids while we were in Lubbock.

To the ones that so willingly opened their hearts and homes to the children that had to be left at home. We thank you and love you so much for it. We especially thank you for the giving of yourselves and your time. During the many months, the many long hours of surgery we never felt alone, there was always someone there to lean on, to sit with Rickie, to give an encouraging word, to help anyway you could. God bless you

To our wonderful teenagers we say thanks, we learned to love all of you. You did every thing you could from the time he was hurt up to the present to keep him cheered up and his spirits high. The nice gifts, cards, letters, visits, the money tree, your cheerful faces, the many ways you helped, too numerous to mention. I know Rickie joins us in saying thank you so very much and God bless you all,

There are so many ways you helped us and our family during this trying time, it is impossible to name them all. Our family, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Pernell, Nona, Rickie and Randy, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Robertson, Holly and Hope join us in saying thank you and may God's richest blessings be upon you all.

We feel very fortunate and thankful to live in, and be a part of a community such as ours.

We close with a thank you, and a warm feeling in our hearts The grandparents of Rickie Pernell, Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Holly.

Daughter Writes Poem On Parents 48th. Anniversary

Yesterday was the 48th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Womack of the Sandhill community and their daughter, Joyce Cotham of Brownfield wrote the fellowing poem to them:

Marriages are made in Heaven, I've heard said, haven't you? Of one thats lasted buty eight years, I'm sure it must be true. Cause if we had picked out a "Mom", or if we'd chose a "Pop", I'm sure we'd hunted for you two before we would ever stop. Through the good years and the bad ones, together you have been, So lets stir up some memories, that happened "way back when". First there was a little shack that stood down by the lake Where tousel headed little boys licked icing from the cake. The kitchen in that little home was a sight for all to see For it was done by loving hands, as it was told to me. Then there was a bigger house - and then more little boys And at last a little girl that filled your hearts with joy.

The tears of disappointment, the sorrow for her pain Her smiles that brighten up the world, as the sunshine after rain. After her four girls, two boys - that adds up to eleven. (How would you ever have managed if THIS marriage weren't made in Heaven? The fire that came at Christmas time, the love of many friends That helped us up to bounce right back when all seemed at an end. The house that Pop built, the first one of our very own, No matter where we go to live, we'll always call that "Home"

We'll remember all the happy hours, singing, laughing, playing --

Watching lovely hollihocks in gentle breezes swaying. That big old kitchen table and the bench against the wall, The many happy dinners with our friends who came to call. Measles, mumps and chicken pox - eleven times and then, When one thing had made the rounds, we'd start around again. You worked so hard so we could have a high school education. We love and appreciate you for your dedication

The nights of sewing until wee hours, the canning, ironing, mend-

Milking cows and gardening and to the chickens tending. Wars came, and with them worries for those precious little boys Who had grown to be "almost men" and put away their toys. many days not hearing sprinkled gray in both your hair But God sent them each one home safe, in answer to your prayer. Wedding bells rang out - and out and out and out, Until we each had found a mate, now little children shout. That family of eleven has grown and grown and grown.

Now you have fifty children that you can call your own. You never had much money, but look at all those treasures Stored up in your memories - more than I can measure. Yes, marriages are made in Heaven, at least yours was I know,

For God has given it forty eight years to bud and blossom and

When your life on earth is ended and you both shall journey on I'm sure that up in Heaven is where you'll also find your home. There amid that mighty splendor with the Father and the Son You'll stand there together and hear Him say "Well done". Happy Anniversary and many more to come. I love you.

> FLOYD DATA Mal Jarboe is recovering from a very painful and dangerous accident that occurred last Friday while power mowing. At that time he was mowing a vacant lot that he had mowed once before and something hit him in the leg, severed a blood vessel, and went right on through the muscle. He does not know even yet if the cause was a rock, or a piece of glass, or something else, but the leg bled so profusely that Mrs. Jarboe considers him lucky to have received the immediate attention of Dr. Guthrie.

On Monday morning of this week he went on crutches to receive more medical attention from Dr. Guthrie.

veterans entered training during the first year of the educational program under the 1966 GI Bill, Jack Coker, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco reported today,

He predicted an even more successful program in fiscal year 1968, with well over 60,-000 veterans expected to enter colleges and universities throughout the country.

The peak enrollment month during fiscal year 1967, saw 323,000 students on campuses, but that figure is certain to be exceeded during the coming year, Coker said.

The average GI Bill student during FY 1967 was 28 years old, and 45 percent of the students had one or more dependents. Seventy-six percent of the veterans entered courses at the college level, compared to about 30 percent during the World War II G! Bill program and 50 percent when the Korean GI Bill was in effect.

Approximately 15 percent embarked on graduate studies. Statistics show that 93 percent of the veteran-students had completed four years of high

For 35 percent of the students it was their first year of college, Coker said.

FREEZER HELPS ORGANIZE YOUR LIFE, SAVES TIME AND

MONEY Economy and efficiencyminded homemakers rate home freezers as one of their biggest assets. If you're fortunate enough to own one, you know what we mean. If you're planning to buy one, there's a model and a price to suit every family's needs. With a new freezer you can buy in quantity and most often at lower prices. You'll save trips to the store because you've got a supermarket right in your kitchen. The time you save can be used in doing other work, playing with your children or just spending a little time relaxing which all busy mothers deserve once in a while.

Whether you own a freezer now or you're planning to purchase one soon, here are some tips you can use. To keep food at its best, freezer must maintain a constant temperature of zero degrees or lower - keep a thercheck it frequently,

Keep freezer well stocked. The fuller it is, the more efficiently it will run, and the less frost will accumulate.

In case of temporary power failure, leave freezer closed. If power will be off more than 48 hours, cover food with about 25 pounds of dry ice. Refreeze food only if it still contains ice crystals - plan to use as soon as possible. Buy meat when on special, of course, but look for bargains in frozen dinners, vegetables and bakery goods, too, as these are good "freezer stockers."

Carefully wrap food for freezer, sealing it in packaging material that will keep moisture in, air out. Mark package each with contents and date.

Where you place food to be frozen is important, too. In upright freezers, place foods directly on shelf. After freezing, they can be stacked with other packages. Store food in rack on door only after solidly frozen. Foods to be frozen in chesttype freezer must come in direct contact with freezer wall, can be moved to center after

Don't keep frozen foods too long. Turnover not only insures against loss of quality; it saves you money. Operation cost remains the same, so the greater the turnover, the less storage costs per pound,

You'll find your freezer's a handy helper in other, less obvious ways too: store nuts in the freezer - they'll stay fresh and can be chopped easily when

Tulia Hits A Bonanza In Water

TULIA - Drilled to a depth of 825 feet in the Santa Rosa formation, a new well a mile south of Tulia is pumping 2,000 gallons of water a minute, and has been since Monday morning.

If the well continues to pro duce and laboratory tests of the water to be taken Thursday morning show it to be sweet, ci ty residents will take a second look at participating in the Mackenzie Water Authority to build a dam at Tule Creek as a water source for the city. James McAlister.

manager, anticipates that a city election in late August or September will be called to decide the course Tulia will take in supplementing its water sources.

City officials are "pleased and amazed" at the water production of the well, said McAlister Preliminary tests had indicated the well might produce 1.200 gallons a minute said McAlister. Bill McDonald McDonald Drilling Co. in Amarillo said he believed it was he best of about 35 wells in the Panhandle which have been drilled on the Santa Rosa formation.

No one can know just how long the well will produce. said McAlister. "It could pump for two months or 20 years," he said. He did add that Hereford, Kress and Happy all have deep wells drilled on the Santa Rosa formation and said he understands Canyon has three such wells which have been pumping for about 20 years.

The objective of the National Farm Safety Week is to draw attention to the safety problems of farm and rural people and dents on the farm, in the home, and on the highways.

Bobby Gilliland, who has done yeoman work as both moundsman and batter, was charged with the defeat as Lockney came last Sunday afternoon by the Freshman Baseball representatives from Earth-Springlake, Abernathy, Matador and Floydada to set the stage for the District Tournament to be held at Matador on July 31, and Aug. 1

Seniors Take Lubbock Pipeliners

The local Senior League team | three. Several Floydada boys did themselves proud in taking the Pipeliners from Lubbock in a first-round contest of the invitational baseball tourney at Lockney Monday night. The score was 3-1. They were to play a second-round game on Wednesday night. Originally there were to have been two teams from Lubbock, but one dropped out and a substitution was made in this 8-team tour-

Other places represented inlude New Deal, Abernathy, Lockney, Petersburg, and Plainview. Lockney, in fact, had two teams in the tourney, as one of their Junior League groups served as a replacement

Stragglers Beat Strugglers 18-14

Ronnie Hill could be heard | enthusing loud and long last Saturday evening. ('Course that's not too unusual). But this time he had a cause. He was telling over the PA mike about the adult baseball game at Junior-Senior Field, in which managers, coaches, umpires, and league officials battled among themselves, with the Stragglers coming out on top in a wild melee, 18 - 14. OLDSTERS BENCHED Libel lurks our trail as we journalistically inch forward. The pathway is strewn with Leland Wood pitched four sinister explosives. Particularly is this so when four of the y Gilliland hurling the last "gentler sex" (chuckle) do the umpiring. But it does appear that some of their rules were unorthodox. Our subhead is not so dangerous, as it deals with mere men and not-so-mere high school boy managers, but it also is alleged (don't ask us for names of said allegers, or we'll chicken out, we allege) that the winners benched all of their men of 30 or older in the third inning.

THE AIM: VICTORY Purpose of this maneuver was to win. Strange age in which to live!

on one of her hands. It looked in the way. So what did she do? Of course, she tried to catch it with the free hand! She got a black thumb out of the deal. Well, except for 23 others not being able to get out of bed on Wednesday morning, this seems to be the picture, as ladies, mostly mothers of players, representing the American League took the National League representatives into camp 15-3 on Monday night.

All-Stars Take Lighthouse To End Junior Led

Monday night of this week the All-Stars, composed of three boys from each of the four disappointed teams, salvaged some of that disappointment by doing what only one team had been able to accomplish during the regular season. By a single marker they took the measure of the LHE champs, 3-2. TWO LAST WEEK

There were only two games played last week. For West Texans there was some strange ber of question stuff out on the ground called - future plans of "moisture." It played hob with the schedule. On Monday, as reported on the sports page last veek, VFW took First National Bank 1-0. Then, on Tuesday, Lighthouse, which had been idle longer than any other team, took

Linda Williams Plays In State Cage Tilt

Floydada's Linda Williams got to play over half of the state basketball game last Saturday at Duncanville, Texas. Linda was playing guard for the north team, which won 58-56 over the south. Linda was a member of the Whirlettes who went to regional in Lubbock the last two years and was also selected all district guard this year. This is the second year in a row that Floydada has had a girl play on the state team. Forward Shirley Rainer played for the winning north team last year. Linda plans to enter Texas Tech this fall,
