Rotary Club members heard a report at their noon meeting at the Colonial House on the proposed Mackenzie Dam from S. W. Ross, who represents Floydada, His report was supplemented by that of Lon Davis, who serves as chairman of the group, which also includes Tulia, Silverton, and Lockney.

Three alternatives were given: Take part in the full program with dam, filter plant, and transmission lines at a cost to the 4 cities of nearly eight million dollars; build the dam alone, with no income from it except as a recreation site, and regard it as insurance, for two and a half million; or do nothing at all and run the risk of being left high and dry.

Crash Tuesday In Acuff Takes Fifth Lockney Victim In A Week

A Lockney laborer was killed and two other persons seriously injured in a head - on collision of two pickup trucks two miles north of New Deal on U.S. Hwy. 87 Tuesday afternoon. The death brought the total to five Lockney residents killed in wrecks the past week.

Pedro Gonzales, 40, Box 906, Lockney, died in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock about an hour after the 3:45 p.m. accident. His 10-year-old son, Victor, and Paul Collins, a Lubbock salesman, were injured.

Highway Patrolman Kenneth Anthony, who investigated the crash, said Gonzales was pinned inside the wreckage of the pickup he was driving after the collision with another vehicle driven by Collins. Wreckers were called to pull the vehicles apart so Gonzales could be

Collins was admitted to the hospital for treatment of a broken left leg, internal injuries, and broken teeth. He was considered in fair condition.

The younger Gonzales, conidered in critical condition, suffered a fractured skull and internal inturies.

Anthony said his investigation indicated Gonzales, headed north on U. S. 87, was attempting to pass a semi-trailer truck on a two-lane portion of a construction zone. Collins was headed south. Both drivers swerved in attempts to avoid the collision but the left front fenders of the vehicles collided.

Gonzales' body was taken to Franklin-Bartley Funeral Home for transportation to Carter Funeral Home in Lockney where arrangements were pending yesterday.

Charles Allen To Speak At Methodist Laymen's Retreat

nual Laymen's Retreat at Ceta Canyon Methodist Camp near Happy are in for a real treat this year, if past experience means much. The event is set for August 18-20. The 21st renewal of this much-awaited meeting features the preaching of Dr. Charles L. Allen, pastor of First Methodist Church at Houston, author of over twenty books, and much sought after speaker for banquets and other special occasions. He will deliver two sermons, at 8:15 on Friday evening, Aug. 18; and at 10:30 Saturday morning.

On the first occasion he is to be introduced by Jimmy Willson, who is associate district and conference lay leader, and who will make introductions at the opening service on Friday evening, as well as preside on Sunday morning. Dr. Allen is remembered as the last Chamber of Commerce

Banquet speaker.

CHARLES LUTRICK Rev. Charles E. Lutrick, who served the local church as pastor for almost six years until being appointed superintendent of the Amarillo district fourteen months ago, is to deliver an address at 8:30 on Sunday morning. Dr. Clare N. Pettit, Chairman of the General Board of Lay Activities, is the other featured speaker, while Dr. S. Duane Bruce, Childress dis-trict superintendent, delivers the devotions.

WESLEY BOYDS an added interest for local men, the music is to be directed by Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Boyd of Oklahoma City. He led the singing in the last revival here in the local First Methodist Church, while she was forced by illness to miss all but one service. In fact, they were not able to finish their engagement here, and he promised Rev. Hershel Thurston, local pastor, that when it be-came feasible he would return for an evening

July will go down in history in Floyd County as one of the most tragic for wreck fatalities. Six lives have been snuffed out in three separate wrecks occurring in Floyd County and a fourth wreck in Hale County last Thursday took the life of the seventh Floyd victim and badly injured her brother. In the four wrecks seven lives were lost.

Three persons, a father and his two sons, were pronounced dead at the scene of a wreck early Monday morning in the Providence Community, which also critically injured a fourth man and occupant of the same

Bud Rainey, State highway patrolman, who investigated the accident, said the mishap occurred about 7:45 at the intersection of Farm Roads 2286 and 2301, some ten miles east of Plainview in Floyd County.

Romulo Salas, 46, his sons, Jesse 17 and Aurelio 21, were apparently killed instantly in the grinding crash of their 1960 Oldsmobile station wagon and a 1957 semi-truck-trailer driven by John David Yarbrough of Plainview. Another passenger in the Salas car, Juan Morales, was critically injured and remains in Lockney General Hospital. Driver of the truck was treated at a Plainview Hospital and released and two passengers in the truck, Dean Yarbrough and David Ward, both 16, also of Plainview, were kept overnight in a Plainview Hospital for observation. All those in the truck are employees of Walker Brothers Produce of Plainview.

Rainey said the men in the Salas car were evidently enroute to work as hoes were in the car. Their vehicle was going north on FM 2301 and the truck was traveling east on FR 2286. The wreck occurred in the car striking the truck trailer broadside. Rainey said a stop sign faces traffic on FR 2286. The mishap took place a short distance from the scene of another wreck earlier in July which took the life of Mrs. Doug Reeves and her young son.

Jesse Salas was one of two persons seriously injured in a Joint services for the Salas men were held yesterday in the San Jose Catholic Church in Lockney. A wreck five miles south of Plainview on Highway 87 early Friday morning took the life of a young Lockney woman, Mrs. Clarence Hardy, 22, and critically injured her brother, Melvin Sissney, a former athlete at Lockney High School. Sissney underwent surgery in a Plainview hospital for head injuries, then transferred to Lubbock Methodist Hospital where he remains in intensive care.

Mrs. Hardy, the former Fern Sissney, a native of Lockney, was killed outright in the one car mishap about 4:50 a.m. According to Lockney sources, Mrs. Hardy and her brother were returning to Lockney from

Lubbock where they attended a night for their sister, Lynn, a student at Texas Tech. Investigating officers said the 1966 Mustang car, driven by Sissney, went out of control after making a curve and struck a telephone pole. The impact almost severed the auto, according to reports. Mrs. Hardy was pinned in the

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 26, 967 - Representative George Mahon reports from Washingon that this week the House passed the Public Works Appropriation Bill which includes $400,000 to continue a broad investigation of the possibility of importing water into the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico

Of the sum provided, $200,000 goes to the Bureau of Reclamation and was included in the President's budget and was placed in the bill upon request of Mahon, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, Mahon stated that the additional funds would be made available to the Corps of Engineers in order to achieve proper coordination between the two - encies.

The preliminary study of water import possibilities for the area was launched last year. The amount provided in the current bill will continue this study and will broaden it to include both the Bureau of Reclamation and the Army Corps of Engineers.

Mahon pointed out that the importation of water into the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico area was an extremely long-range proposition and will require the coordinated efforts of many interests. He was confident, however, that proper steps were being taken at this time to move the project for-

Sisters Have Reunion Here

Three sisters have recently enjoyed a reunion here at the lovely home of Mrs. John Farris on 604 S. Third. Mrs. J. B. Jenkins of El Paso arrived on July 24 and is to remain for an extended visit, and Mrs. C. E. Swalwell of Dallas, spent two lights at the home last week.

All of the sisters and their brother, who died about nine years ago after having lived for many years in Ft. Worth, moved to Floydada in about 1898, Mrs. Jenkins remembers very vividly being able to see the courthouse from their home block south of where her sister now lives. She lived there for fifty years, and only six years ago moved to El Paso to live with a daughter. Their maiden name was Rucker, and they were born in Knox County, Mrs. Swalwell never lived in Floydada as a grown woman, but resided for many years in Lubbock.

John Farris was a victim of the flu epidemic of 1918. At that time he headed up the First National Bank, of which his son, Kinder, is now chairman of the board of directors. Another son, John, lives at the family home, which was built in

There is an air of quiet dignity, and a sense of a living heritage in the home on South Third, which is both spacious and gracious. Mrs. Jenkins, whose husband died in 1957, adds to this atmosphere with her pride in a granddaughter, Frances Marie Van Wickel, a senior at the University of Texas in El Paso. She expects to be graduated in May of 1968. One of four finalists in the National College Queen's Contest, the first ever to reach this position from that school, she is majoring in music education and is a member of a number of scholastic honorary organizations, including Alpha Lamda Delta, Chimes, and Chenrizing, as well as of several other sororities.

Another indication of the realization of a living heritage is seen on the wall of the living room, which has a beautiful framed picture of the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia with the American flag beside it. When George Farris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kinder Farris was about to be graduated with a master's degree from Wharton Graduate School of Business of the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, and all of his immediate family witnessed the ceremony, grandson Johnny Farris, who will be a high school sophomore this next year, suggested that his grandmother would appreciate this picture, And she certainly does.

Grateful remembrance of things past and bright hopes for the future mingle in this gracious home.

Nixon And Reagan

The latest political speculation in Washington concerns the possibility of an alliance between Richard Nixon and Governor Ronald Reagan of California. Whereas a few weeks ago the gossip concerned a possible Nelson Rockefeller-Reagan ticket in 1968, now there's inside talk Nixon may be the one to push Reagan for the top spot on the ticket, should his chances falter, in 1968.

Some Reagan supporters feel Nixon is likely to make a less-than-overwhelming showing in the primaries next spring and that this will be the writing on the wall for the 1960 G.O.P. nominee. At that point, they hope, Nixon will join the swing to Reagan.

American Tourists

During the summer months a great many Americans visit foreign countries. The result of this tourist activity is varied and affects both our diplomacy and our image abroad. Americans, for many reasons, have not made particularly praiseworthy ambassadors to the countries which they have visited.

Many of the foreigners who have discussed the U.S. influx to their countries feel that we exhibit an air

Should he do so and should the Californian win, he could have a choice Cabinet post in a Reagan Administration-the thinking goes. And it's said Nixon would naturally favor Reagan over more liberal candidates.

The meeting of Nixon and Reagan in California late in July added fuel to this line of speculation-though both men said no deals were made. Next spring's primaries will bring a hint of an answer whether Nixon can still poll a large vote from the general public. If he can't, his thoughts may logically turn toward an alliance with one of the other top contenders.

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER His Mina Off Of Riots And Onto The Weather, With Small Success

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm reacts to some weather experts, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editar:

Some practical joker in town, apparently having read in The Hesperian last week that I wasn't in the market for tin cans and bottles wrapped in a newspaper and thrown in a ditch by the road near my Johnson grass farm out here, has now left a batch of tin cans and bottles in the same place, with a rolled-up page of a newspaper stuck in each one. He didn't get the point.

Anyway, I pulled the pages out one by one and put them together and found I had a complete newspaper except for the front page, which didn't matter as one day's riots seem about like another's. There are times when the most predictable thing in a paper is the front page.

Speaking of predicting, I found on page 14 of the can-and-bottle-delivered paper (by the way, if the joker who did this will let me know his name, I have a few items I'll be glad to deposit on his front lawn in town to maintain a balance of trade) an item about the weather.

According to it, the odd weather we've had this summer such as unseasonably cool days and too wet in some places and too dry in others has been blamed by a weather bureau expert on the jet streams, the upper air wind patterns above 10,000 feet. One jet stream flows from Alaska and northwest Canada over the Great Lakes region and then toward the Northeast. The other comes in from the Gulf of Mexico, crosses the Southwest, and turns east over Kansas, he

The weather expert went on to say the jet streams explain this summer's weather, but when asked about how to explain the streams, he said "We don't know the full answers. They're never normal."

I have thought this over and I believe what he's saying is that he doesn't understand the weather either and that it too is never normal. I get very little satisfaction out of knowing that when I need a rain and it stays dry, the fault lies with a jet stream. This is like always putting the answer one step out of reach.

So far weather experts are like economics experts, they're a lot better at telling you what happened yesterday than what's going to happen tomorrow. You don't find many economics experts getting rich in the stock market or many weather experts getting rich in farming.

Yours faithfully,

Booster Spirit Pervades Dougherty News In 1928

A tone of optimism, often referred to as the 'booster spirit," pervades the very first issue of The Dougherty News, issued under the dateline of September 14th, 1928. A copy brought in to the Hesperian office by Mrs. W. E. Oden had been unnoticed in the family storage for many years. It is in a fine state of preservation and reads easily.

PREVIOUS ARTICLE

A previous article, based on this first issue, has outlined the news items and has thrown some light on the advertisements of that period. This piece spotlights the opening of the townsite, the beginning of business there, and the school situation as it relates to the proposed consolidation of the Mayview and Newland schools into one Dougherty system. Homer Steen says that this paper, promising as it may appear in its first number, lasted only a few months. A later article will list the rural teachers for Floyd County for 1928-29, and seek to give some interesting features about quite a few of them. CEMENT FOR DOUGHERTY

This is the title of a second column article, A great deal of building was going on at Dougherty, including cement curbs and grading the streets. Word went out that "Dougherty is looking more like a city each and every day. There are still several lines of business that we need, and which we expect to have in the near future." Evidently some of these never materialized.

DOUGHERTY SCHOOL NOW BEING DISCUSSED This was a larger head at the top of the third column, with a smaller head reading, "Effort Being Made To Get School House For The City Of Dougherty." At this time, the Dougherty school was a dream. To make it a reality, it was proposed that Mayview and Newland schools be consolidated. A meeting of most of the patrons of both districts was held at the Mayview school, with the question of consolidation uppermost. An offer was made to donate a ten-acre tract of land at Dougherty for this purpose, "and the town also agreed to help with the establishing of one of the best schools in Floyd County. There were several speakers who gave expressions on the subject, many of them wished for time to give thought to the matter before making a decision, and therefore, nothing was done in the premises as to whether the consolidation would become a reality or not, however, it was believed that an agreement could be perfected and a consolidation agreed upon in the near future." This was done and became effective the very next year. Dougherty now has three teachers and a six-grade school, the remainder coming into Floydada. At that time the two constituent districts had three teachers, the C. Austin Smith couple at Mayview and Mrs. Bennie S. Liebfried at Newland. Mrs. Liebfried is now the Floydada School secretary.

INSPECTOR APPROVES POST OFFICE FOR DOUGHERTY Thus reads a story at the top of column 4 in this six-column sheet. F. M. Dougherty, leader in the building of "the new city," expected the confirmation of a post office shortly. The article concluded, "Mail for Dougherty will be handled over the Floydada-Matador Star Route temporarily, according to the plan recommended, until mail and passenger train service is established over the Quanah, Acme & Pacific."

C. A. ADAMS, Editor and Owner

Under "The Dougherty News" in the masthead occurs these words, with subscription price set at $1.00 per year. Evidently mastheads did not have to be so complete, as is now the case. Adams stated that this first issue was being distributed "four ways out of Dougherty for a distance of eighteen miles." An invitation to send in news was given, especially to lodges, churches, for cards of thanks, etc. Births, deaths, marriages, and announcements were called for in hopes of getting out a real good country newspaper, reaching those who previously had had no paper. In an ac 'e spotlights

"AMONG THOSE PRESENT." He states, "In castle or cottage human nature is the same. News of personal doings of friends and neighbors is almost always interesting." Subscribers would have weekly "accounts of all the commercial, religious and social activities in Dougherty and Floyd County. Then too, you get pictures, cartoons, comics and special features which have to do with state and national affairs. And we are always first."

Bond Sales For June 56,015

Don Pemberton, chairman of the Floyd County Savings Bonds Committee, reports that E and H Savings Bond sales during the first six months of 1967 totaled $85,371. June sales for the county were $6,015 and 39 per cent of the sales goal has been achieved.

January-June 1967 sales for Texas were $83,851,046 and 46 per cent of the sales goal has been achieved. This is an increase of 8.6 per cent during the same period last year.

Nationally, sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds totaled $408 million during June. This is the highest of any June for the past 12 years; 3 per cent more than a year ago. Sales for the first 6 months of 1967 amounted to $2,617 million 4.2 per cent above 1966.

Flying Hoboes Wing Westward Way

From sleeping in the open to being put up in a house by themselves as guests of an exgovernor's son have been extremes in the lives of two young college men from Seattle, Wash., this summer. Gordon Reilly and Cliff Orcutt, both students at the University of Washington, have been winging their leisurely way in the skies at about 65 miles per hour in a "fly over" much of the United States and parts of eastern Canada this summer. Their plane is 35 years old. They expressed gratitude for being able to borrow the Municipal Airport station wagon and eat their evening meal at a downtown cafe on Monday afternoon of this week, saying they found Floydada friendly. Many of their contacts in the world of aviation have been very helpful, enabling them to do such things as spend three days touring Expo 67 in Montreal and getting tickets for the Johnny Carson show, with VIP treatment, within 15 minutes after meeting a walrusmustachioed gentleman who works with planes of World War vintage in New York City.

ROSS BARNETT, JR. In Mississippi they ran ac-ross a man about 35 who introduced himself as "Ross Barnett, Jr." He, too, was a flyer. This made little impression on them until they realized he one way to spend the summer!

was the son of a former Mississippi governor. He arranged for them to stay in a very nice home that night with fine meals, in contrast to a few nights in the open with corn flakes as the chief item on the menu. The two young men, whose wechanical engineering majors are right in line with their flying hobby, carry their gear in the back of their plane.

They are accustomed to landing from every 100-150 miles to refuel. Generally they like to fly from 500-700 feet above the ground, but in the Plains area need to go up to 2000-3000 feet. The low flying tends to avoid monotony, giving a sense of movement. They are going back to Washington by Albuquerque and Palm Springs. They have been as far south as Florida and all up and down the east coast. In connection with the Johnny Carson show, they were given a special tour of NBC. They expect to sell a story of their trip to "Flying Maga-zine." One of the features they like best to remember is being hosted in Massachusetts by a dairy farmer during a bad weather stop. They had been gone from home six weeks when stopping in Floydada on July 31, and expected to be back home in another two weeks. Well, that's

It's Work And Travel Summer For Bill Potts

Bill Potts, halfway through his undergraduate studies at Texas Tech, has mixed work and travel this summer. It goes back to the summer of 1966, when he was employed by the Mission Manufacturing Co. in Houston. There he met a personnel man from Ireland, who arranged a job for him this year in the Emerald Isle, So Bill left Lubbock June 3, spent a couple of days in New York City, hopped over to London where he stayed three days, then went on to Ireland where he worked for the rest of June. He found the Irish people to be very friendly. He stayed in the British Isles until the middle of July. While in London he roomed with Joey Thacker of Roaring Springs, who had also been his roommate in Houston last summer.

MARLENE KESSELS Bill went on to Belgium to see

Marlene Kessels, who was the foreign exchange student at Floydada High School in 1964-65. She is employed in Belgium. They then visited her family in Holland, His tour of Europe continued, taking the time-honored student method of staying in student hostels, and doing a great deal of hiking, both of which have proved of benefit to ve olde pocketbook.

DAVID LUTRICK David Lutrick had toure Europe several years ago, ... he recommended this method of travel to Bill. He expects to be back home in early September.

Young Potts has been awarded a scholarship amounting to $800 to help him through his junior year at Tech, where he majors in mechanical engineering.

High intensity lamps are great - but NOT for study ... and NOT by themselves.

How do you feel, looking into the high beams of oncoming car headlights when you're driving on a dark road? Piercing, isn't it?...blinding. But a lighted road, oncoming headlights are not so bad. You get the same feeling when a high intensity lamp is the only source of light in a dark room, It's too, too bright. Turn on some overhead lights, or some other portable lamps around it, and the brightness is easier to tolerate. Brightness is relative. The disturbing factor is not how MUCH light, but the CONTRAST between the light and the darkness around it.

When the contrast is great, one's eyes must continually adjust to the light and dark areas. This makes a person tired and tense. Therefore, one never uses these very intense sources of light all by themselves. Even with other lighting, the high intensity lamp is not adequate for study, or for reading. The intense narrow beam of light will not illuminate the whole page. It will focus light on one spot, and each time the eyes come to that spot, they have to re-adjust to the greater brightness on the page. Again, the reader becomes tense and tired from continual re-adjustment of the

Where high intensity lights ARE wonderful, is in close, fine, detailed work. Here, used as a supplement to lighting which is otherwise adequate, the high intensity lamp can provide the additional "punch" of light needed to make fine details clearly visible. You'll think this great, when you're working on a minute repair job, looking at the stamp collection, giving yourself a manicure, or sewing night - especially on black fab-

Another delightful use for high intensity lamps is for decorative lighting. If you have a favorite decorative object on a bookshelf or room divider, try beaming the intense lamp toward it, from above or below, and see how much prettier it can look with this spotlight upon it.

High intensity lamps are avone more game to settle the ailable in many shapes and sizes. Always make certain a lamp has the UL label (Underwriters Laboratory) for assurance of electrical safety before you buy.

Remember, good high intensity lamp use rules are simple. For general lighting purposes, along with the high intensity light, turn on some other incandescent or fluorescent lights around the room to prevent tiring dark-light contrast. For crucial seeing jobs or special decorative effects, beam the high intensity lamp for the extra lighting "punch" where you need it.

So as you furnish that youngster a place to study soon, remember that high intensity lamps are good as accessories, but they should not be used as the chief lighting of a work area.

IT PAYS TO HEAT WATER ELECTRICALLY, BUT IT DOESN'T PAY TO WASTE HOT

If a hot water faucet is leaking 15 drops per minute, you would waste 48 gallons and 12 kflowatt hours per month. Sixty drops per minute and you would waste 192 gallons and 48 kilowatt hours for the heating per month. At 120 drops per minute, you would waste 429 gallons of hot water and 107 kilowatt hours for heating during one month. If the faucet is leaking so that there is a smooth stream at all times, you would be wasting 1,905 gallons of water per month and for heating that water, you would use 274 kilowatt hours of electricity. It's expensive to be wasteful!

For the average man locally, the chances of living to see his children married and self-supporting have improved considerably. So have his chances of surviving to the age of retire-

The findings are based upon a national study of family stability, conducted by life insurance statisticians.

It shows that a child has 96 chances out of 100 of surviving from the time he is born until the time he gets married. Back in 1940, it was only 92 out of 100. For the 130 young men in Floyd County who turned 18 this year and are just going to work or college, approximately 90 of them will live to the retirement age of 65, according to the statistics.

Under present conditions, the odds are 69 cut of 100 that they will live at least that long. A generation ago, the odds were 63 out of 100.

For a man, the period of maximum family responsibility begins when he marries and it continues for the next 30 years

His survival through this period, when there are likely to be dependent children in the family, is of great social and economic importance. Of the 118 men in the local area who are now at the average marrying age of 23, the figures indicate that about 100 of them - 87.7 percent of the total - will be alive at age 54, which is the average age at which the marriage of the last child in the family takes place. In 1940, only 83.3 percent lived long enough to see their youngest child married.

For women, the chances of survival are greater than for men at every period of life, the study shows. Young women have better than 99 chances in 100 of successfully getting through the first 10 years of married life, when most of their children are born.

As for the average Floyd County woman, from the time her first child is born, at age

one, when she is 52, her chancent, as against 89.6 percent ces of being around to witness

RALPH A. STAGGS PASTOR, FIRST ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Devotional of the Month

The Christian's Joy

(Romans 5: I-2) Paul writing, Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. By whom we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God. As Paul put it: We rejoice in Hope of the GLORY of GOD. Tears are inevitable in this life. Jesus wept. Words and deeds bring tears to all. Pain afflicts us. Every nerve and limb can add to our pain. Sorrow comes in various ways and shadows the lives of the good and great. Bereavement

But one day it will be different. We shall have the sweet without any of the bitter. God shall wipe away all tears from our eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away; (Rev. 21: 4) The Psalmist says: Thou wilt show me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of JOY; at thy right hand there are pleasures for ever more, (Psalms 16: 11)

Jesus shall reign over all the world, righteousness, peace, and Joy will then prevail. There will be glory and blessing for all the people of God. What a great day that will be.

The life of christian JOY amazes those who do not have it. It puzzled the ancient leaders (and all) who looked at persecuted christians. In vain they reviled tortured, and martyred them, but the christians kept on rejoicing. When the lions were turned on them in the arena, the christians sang. When the executioners sword was about to fall on them, they gave thanks. They had a JOY nothing could curb, they were unconquerable.

We can have the Holy Spirit in our hearts. He works within, stirring up the fountains of joy so that we rejoice in the Lord. Jesus said; These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full, John 15: 11.
