

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER

Has A Few Sharp Words To Say About Who're Too Lazy To Walk

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm comes out against laziness this week. It's amazing.

Dear editor:
I was sitting under a shade tree out here on this Johnson grass farm yesterday, it's my favorite because it's lined up with two others so that when the sun moves, one tree picks up the shadow, then the next, and I can sit in one place four or five hours without losing my shade, and if you don't think this is important, have you ever gone to sleep in the shade and woke up in the sun?
I wasn't sleeping today, I was wide awake and for more than an hour had been watching a newspaper in the pasture about a hundred yards off moving about gently in the breeze. The wind seemed to be toying with it, rolling it around like a kitten with a ball of yarn.
I kept hoping it'd blow over to where I was, after all, one of man's first obligations in this fast-moving world is to stay informed, democracy can't function when the people are in the dark, politicians prove this all the time, but when the second hour passed and that paper was still a hundred yards away I took things into my own hands and got up and walked over and picked it up and brought it back. I got tired of people who can't do things for themselves. That's not all but it's part of the trouble with some people in this country today, and around the world too. They not only want something for nothing, they want it delivered.

After all, it didn't really hurt me to get up and go after that paper. It seems to me that if hundreds of people scattered throughout the world are going to the trouble of gathering the news and others are going to the trouble of making the paper to print it on and others to the trouble of editing and printing it in readable form, it's not asking too much of me to get up once in a while and walk over and pick up a copy.

This country wasn't built on people who waited forever for a newspaper to drop into their lap.

Feeling pretty good about this show of initiative, I sat back down under my line of shade trees and later on in the day, after I've rested up, I intend to open it up and read it thoroughly.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Floydada Soldier Happy To Be Home From Vietnam

"I'm mighty glad to be home . . . and out of Vietnam". . . this was the statement that Hubert Giles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Giles, made to a Hesperian reporter Tuesday morning. Giles is home and out of the army after two year's service, the last one about 25 miles south of DaNang in Vietnam. He served as senior scout observer for H troop of the 17th Cavalry, 198. Most of the time he was scouting in an armored personnel carrier. Giles sustained two shrapnel wounds, one in the hand and one on top of his right ear. Giles was in the area where Floydada soldier Jack Osborn lost his life and had visited with Jack previous to his death. "The Viet Cong soldier is trained to be a terrorist. . . to hit and run and the regular North Vietnamese trained soldier is brave and will fight to the end," Giles said. Giles added that about the only way he could distinguish between a South Vietnamese and a North Vietnamese was whether he was armed or not.

Giles visited Australia while on a six day r & r leave from Vietnam and flew home via Tokyo to Seattle. He now plans to enter school on the GI bill.

Gin. Throughout the afternoon, members of the committee concerned, plus others invited to assist who are interested in the agricultural production dis- plays, will be hosts for the exhib- its. Plants, products, treat- ments and equipment used for each of the several phases of agricultural research will be shown.

Field tours of the Research Farm featuring studies under- way at the Foundation will start at 1:00 p.m. and continue until 4:45 p.m. Guides for each large truck will be professional agri- cultural personnel.

A popular feature of the Field Days has been the display of the latest in farm equipment and supplies. The various manu- facturing firms supply the dis- play and have representatives on hand to explain and some- times demonstrate. The var- ious firms are allotted space on the grounds of the Halfway Community Building on the ba- sis of first reservations being received being given priority on sites for their equipment or product.

The display of activities and programs of the various gov- ernmental agricultural serv- ices is another feature of the Field Days. Included are: Farm Home Administration, Exten- sion Division, Soil Conserva- tion Services, Tri-County Weed Control and Home Demonstra- tion Services.

The evening program will start at 5:00 p.m. An outstand- ing Agricultural speaker is a feature of the evening program. Attendance prizes will be drawn using names of those who regis- ter. Another drawing will be held for current members of the Research Foundation.

Dr. Longmecker stated that the attendance for the last sev- eral years has numbered from 3,500 to 8,000. We are expect- ing a large attendance this year as there are some new and in- teresting research results to be shown.

Beauty Scope

By Bonnie Johnston

Dear Bonnie:

How can you touch up a permanent hair color?
Mrs. W. Oklahoma City

Dear Mrs. W.

To touch up a permanent hair color requires meticulous skill. There shouldn't be an overlapping of chemicals, nor a line of demarcation. A sound technical knowledge plus practice and perfection offers the best method for color retouching.

Dear Bonnie:

Can nerves effect the condition of the hair?
Mrs. W. Kingfisher

Dear Mrs. W.

Since the nervous system controls and co-ordinates all the systems of the body, and the hair receives its nourishment from the circulatory system, it's possible the nerves can affect the condition of the hair.

Dear Bonnie:
What shampoo should be used by an adolescent who is having a skin problem?
Mrs. H. Kingfisher

Bonnie Johnston

Dear Bonnie:

What can be done about white spots in the nails?
Mrs. W. Oklahoma City

Dear Mrs. W.

White spots (Leuconychia) are caused by bruises or air bubbles in the nail body (visible nail). To prevent the formation of white spots, avoid injury, such as excessive pressure, to the nail. As the nail continues to grow, eventually these white spots will disappear.

Dear Bonnie:

What is the difference between back-combing and raiting?
Mrs. M. Kingfisher

Dear Mrs. M.

Usually the terms back-combing and raiting are interchangeable words which means to comb the short hair toward the scalp while the hair strand is held in a vertical position. Sometimes it's referred to as "teasing." However some people do refer to raiting as meaning a heavier type of back-combing, packing the back-combing into the hair.

SCS NEWS

The Declining Water Table

The declining water table is a problem of major concern on the High Plains today. Wells that pumped an eight inch stream of water a few years ago may be pumping only a four inch stream of water today. The declining water problem is not only the concern of farmers but businessmen as well. The economy of the High Plains will be greatly reduced without irrigation.

Several plans have been presented to import water to the Texas High Plains. Imported water is needed and would solve some of the problems. The big difference is that the water will cost a lot more.

The most overlooked factor in irrigation today is management. Efficient water management could save thousands of acre feet of water as well as dollars in water and labor costs. In addition the quantity and quality of the crop irrigated would be equal or better with less water.

The only value placed on an acre foot of water by many irrigators is the cost of pumping. This is a poor yardstick to use because on this basis it may seem cheaper to waste the water than to hire the labor to manage the water efficiently. The declining water table will change the balance between labor and pumping costs. In the meantime, thousands of acre feet of water will be lost.

Many things such as irrigation pipelines, landleveling and sprinkler systems help increase efficiency, but they are not the final answer. The answer lies in the ability of the irrigator to know and use the tools at his disposal.

Good irrigation water management includes these essentials: Irrigating at the right time, putting on the right amount of water and applying water at a rate which the soil will absorb without excessive runoff. When to irrigate and how much to apply will vary with the different types of soil and stage of plant growth. Different moisture measuring devices are made today that show the percent moisture at different depths. Although these are good, some are expensive. A very good moisture determining device is a combination of a soil probe and farmer. The farmer can use the probe to take soil samples at different depths. The percent moisture is determined by squeezing the soil sample in the hand to feel the moisture. With practice the farmer determines when to irrigate and how much water to apply.

Soil Conservation Service technicians working through your local Soil Conservation Districts have been busy the past few weeks helping farmers do a more efficient job of irrigating. They will be happy to help you.

Soil And Water Conservation News

A laborer, 40 acres and a mile composed a farming unit a half century ago. A generation ago, the farmer got a small tractor and farmed two or three times as much land. Now, he has a mammoth tractor, precision equipment, and can till hundreds of acres. That is, if he can use the equipment on large fields that are relatively free of obstructions.

A farmer can't make a living today with 40 acres and a mile. He has been forced to mechanize because of labor shortages, high wages, and the narrowing gap between the cost of production and the price he gets for his product.

And thereby hangs a tale about the revolution in conservation farming in America. Practices, installed through local soil and water conservation districts, have revolutionized farming, but now the requirements for large scale farming with big machinery are revolutionizing conservation planning and farm layout.

"Terraces snaking across the hillside could be farmed well enough with small equipment," H. N. Smith, State Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service points out. The crooked, irregular rows were worrisome but posed no serious problems. But times have changed. "Today the farmer still wants to farm in a conservation pattern, but he wants that pattern to be as modern as his equipment. This calls for a high degree of preception and skill on the part of conservationists and other technicians who help the farmer," he added.

"The conservationist must be able to see - with the help of soil and engineering surveys - an entirely new layout for plains or sloping plains farms," Smith explained. He must visualize the land with the old ditches filled, old farm roads gone, and even some

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE NEWS

Rotational grazing is a system whereby each pasture is divided into two or more units and one or more of these units are rested at planned intervals throughout the growing season. The size and number of units will depend on the size of the original pasture. Four units are the most desirable.

The main purpose of pasture rotation is to promote the natural increase of desired forage grasses and to maintain a high producing grass cover and reserve supply.

Semi-permanent fences such as the one pictured, can be used effectively in a program of rotational grazing to separate the pasture into different units. Each of these units will be grazed a given number of days while the other units are fertilized, watered and allowed to make regrowth. This method of management has proven to be the most effective way to obtain the maximum benefit from pasture grasses.

There are several ways to set up rotational grazing. The Soil Conservation Service personnel will be glad to explain them to you and help work out the one system best suited to your situation.

buildings removed. In its place he must plan fields of even width, as long as they can possibly be made.

"In Texas, parallel terraces are replacing old terraces. In the interval between the ridges, in most cases, there is a pre-determined number of rows with no land left over for point rows. The irregular areas that formerly existed between every pair of terraces are now found in just a few terraces intervals. There they may be farmed in point rows or planted to a sown crop. This innovation has reduced the temptation to plant or plow over the terraces, and destroy them," Smith said.

The design for other farms is undergoing a transition, too. Open irrigation ditches are giving way to underground pipeline to save space and remove obstructions. Even the surface of the land may be given a major treatment of leveling.

"Field arrangement is just as important to the modern farmer on sloping uplands as it is to flatland farmers," Smith added. "Good deep soil is just as important, too. All this adds up to a better conservation program. The farmer plants thin soil and odd areas to grass which benefits wildlife. And the beauty of the countryside is enhanced by this new aspect of conservation farming - brought on largely by big machinery."

COUNTY AGENT'S CORNER

by Joe Wilson

The weather continues to be cool and wet over the South Plains. This condition is not the best weather for the small late cotton in the area. Looks as if the farmers in Floyd County will be taking less cotton to the gin this year and more than likely it will not be a good high quality cotton either.

Last year's cotton crop probably set some sort of a record in Floyd County for quality. Farmers should be proud of their accomplishments on the 1967 crop. Here are some of the statistics on the crop.

Total bales ginned 74,900. The fiber was worth $6,837,931.00. The seed was worth $1,423,100. The micronaire discount for the county was $353,733.00 which made the gross value of the cotton crop worth $7,907,258.00. 51.3% of all the bales were white SLM and above. This was the third highest percent in the South Plains area. Dawson and Cochran were higher with 68.1 and 52.2% respectively. 56.2% of the cotton was 1 inch or longer in staple length. This ranked 4th behind Gaines, Yoakum and Dawson, with 68.1, 61.6 and 57.7 percent respectively.

The micronaire was a different picture however. Floyd County ranked fourteenth out of 21 counties in a micronaire range of 3.5 to 4.9. Only 28.4 percent of all the cotton in the county fell in this range.

A few insects have appeared in small numbers in some Floyd County crops. One infestation appeared in grain sorghum in the Cedar Hill Community. Cotton bollworms were eating the leaves in the whirl of the stalk. The infestation was only light at the time; however, with the cool wet weather it would be wise for farmers to check their fields periodically for this insect.

The cotton is very late and all early squares need to be saved. Farmers should keep a close watch for fleahoppers which are present in some cotton, generally in very light numbers.

AT&T Announces Rate Reductions

AT&T has announced, effective August 1, a reduction in long distance rates for interstate calls covering distances greater than 506 miles.

The latest reductions will lower rates for station-to-station daytime calls, placed between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, from 5 to 10 cents for the first three minutes.

"This rate reduction will save customers approximately $20 million annually," said Bob Davis, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. Only last November, AT&T reduced interstate rates by $100 million annually.

"Since World War II, the consumer price index has risen 77 percent," Davis pointed out. "That means, in bread-and-butter terms, that whatever cost 20 cents in 1945 now costs 35 cents today."

"But the bread-and-butter of communications - long distance telephone service - today costs about half as much as it did in 1945, thanks to this 23rd reduction in rates since coast-to-coast service began in 1915." Davis noted that in 1915, when it was first possible to call from New York to Los Angeles, it cost $20.70. After World War II, the cost was $4.

"Under the new rates, a three-minute call from New York to Los Angeles on daytime, station-to-station rates will be $1.70," Davis pointed out. "Already," he noted, "customers can call interstate station-to-station anywhere in the U.S. between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. week nights and all day on weekends for $1 or less."

SOUTH PLAINS NEWS

SOUTH PLAINS, July 15—Residents of the area were awakened around five o'clock Monday morning to the tune of rain. What seemed like might be a good rainfall resulted in only spotted areas receiving any appreciable amount. One inch fell at the Jack Smithers and Sylvan Kinnibrugh's while only one tenth was recorded north of South Plains on the Don Probasco farm. All farmers are busy irrigating.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wood were hosts in their home Sunday for visiting preacher Don Malone and family of Plainview. A smaller than usual crowd was noted for church services at the South Plains Baptist Church this past Sunday with many families being away to reunions, vacations or other various reasons.

Marc and Monty Smitherman spent the night Saturday with their grandmother, Mrs. J. K. Bean, in Silverton. Mrs. Sylvan Kinnibrugh went to Gilliland last Friday to be with her mother, Mrs. J. R. Spivey, who was hospitalized in Knox City. Sylvan Kinnibrugh and the Kinnibrugh's daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Horne of Plainview, went to Knox City Saturday. Mrs. Spivey was feeling much better Sunday and the Kinnibrugh's and Hornes returned home Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Spivey arrived last Monday from Navasota for a visit with his sister and family. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dillard, Monday night the group were all supper guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kinnibrugh.

Mrs. Roy Bledsoe was hospitalized last Monday afternoon in Caprock Hospital in Floydada. She was able to return to her home this Monday morning and we hope she is able to be up and about very soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bean took their youngest daughter, Carla to Abilene last Sunday afternoon where she underwent allergy tests there Monday and Tuesday.

Doug Reeves remains in critical condition in Plainview Medical Center Hospital. He suffered two cerebral hemorrhages last Wednesday afternoon. Among those going to Plainview to be with the family of Doug were Mr. and Mrs. L.H. Parks and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Smitherman. They went last Wednesday night.

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kinnibrugh and family were Mrs. Kinnibrugh's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Reeves and son of Gilliland, Texas.

Early Pritchett, Don Probasco and Travis Young took the Junior boys from the South Plains Baptist Church to the Baptist Encampment near Floydada at noon Monday. The group will return Wednesday around two o'clock. Boys going included Ronnie Stewart, Ronnie Pruitt, Randy Calahan, Steve Pritchett, Marc Smitherman, Larry Bradford, Kirk Young, Maury Probasco, and Zach Cummings.

Mrs. Nima Upton's name was unintentionally omitted from the sponsors of the Junior Girls camp last week. Mrs. Upton went to the camp Thursday and spent the night helping return the girls home Friday.

Guests last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nichols were their daughter, Mrs. Glen Whitfill and granddaughter Cindy Whitfill of Sweetwater. They visited from Wednesday until Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols attended the funeral of Mrs. Nichols' cousin, Mrs. Elmer Mosley, in Plainview Monday afternoon. Mrs. Mosley died at her home in Plainview Saturday night of an apparent heart attack. The Nichols have had five deaths in their family in the past five weeks. We certainly extend our sympathy to them in their loss of each of their loved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClure left Sunday morning for Houston where they will visit their son Donald McClure this coming week.

Several residents took to the area lakes Sunday for outings. Enjoying water skiing and supper at Tullia Lake were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bean, Mike and Judi, and Mr. and Mrs. Button Beedy, Mark and Todd. Camp Blue Haven near Las Vegas, N.M., will be the destination of Rance Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Deral Young next Saturday. Rance will leave from Floydada with a group of other Floydada youngsters on Saturday and return the following Saturday. Camp Blue Haven is a Church of Christ affiliated church camp.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Parks went to Abilene Saturday night to visit their son, Jay Frank Parks and Mrs. Parks. On their return Sunday they encountered terrific storms in the area and spent the night in Snyder before returning home Monday morning.

Bud Higginbotham, son of Mrs. Ruby Lee Higginbotham, was turned down by the armed services last week in Amarillo where he underwent the physical examination. Higginbotham has a bad wrist which has disabled him for armed services.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Land from Clarendon came by last Wednesday and Mrs. Land's sister, Mrs. Arby Mulder, accompanied them to Littlefield where they spent until Friday visiting another of the ladies' sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Dale McCaugh. Mrs. Mulder became ill with a sore throat and they returned earlier than planned.

Tuesday evening supper guests in the home of newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Billy Moody in Lockney were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arby Mulder of South Plains and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moody of Lockney. They enjoyed barbecue steaks with all the trimmings plus home made ice cream.

CANNED FOODS
If you are throwing away syrups and liquids from canned fruits and vegetables, you're pouring money right down the drain. Save them to use in these ways.

- FRUIT SYRUPS
- * Sweeten raw fruits
 - * Mix with other fruit juices for a beverage for breakfast or snacktime.
 - * Combine with a little sugar, cook about 10 minutes, then serve as a pudding or cake sauce.
 - * Use for part of the liquid in gelatin salads or desserts.
 - * Heat and spoon over pancakes or hot cereal.
 - * Spoon over baked ham or roast pork to glaze top.
- VEGETABLE LIQUIDS
- * Substitute for part milk in cream soup, white sauce, gravy.
 - * Use as part of the liquid in tomato aspic or vegetable molds.
 - * Add to canned or homemade soup.
 - * Stir into roast-meat drippings when making gravy.

MEALTIME STAND-BY
Working wives and busy homemakers find that a canned meal in the cupboard is good menu insurance. Emergencies are bound to come up, waiting appetites grow fast, and here's where a canned "peace-of-mind" meal, hidden away, pays off. Once it's used, replace it with a new combination for another time. Here's an idea for a starter:

- Tomato Juice
- Macaroni in Cheese Sauce with dried Beef
- Green Beans
- Brown Bread
- Baked Apples

Tomato juice can chill while you mix 2 cans of the macaroni

Higginbotham's mothers' folks, the Lackeys, held a reunion at Plainview Park. Coming for the reunion was another of Mrs. Higginbotham's sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Magnusson of Amarillo and Mrs. Higginbotham's son, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Higginbotham, also of Amarillo.

Mrs. John Key West, Mrs. R. G. Dunlap of Floydada and Mrs. Ruby Lee Higginbotham left Monday morning for about a week's stay in the mountains of New Mexico. They planned to go to the West Ranch, then on to the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Taylor and Katie enjoyed dinner in Lockney Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Taylor and family. That afternoon the group enjoyed a trip to the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum in Canyon.

The W.M.U. ladies met last week with Mrs. Bryan in charge of Royal Service program. Mrs. L. T. Wood called a special business meeting prior to the W.M.U. meeting. This will be their only meeting during the month of July and only one meeting is planned for August. Those present for the meeting were Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Karr, Mrs. Doris Powell, Mrs. Jewel Fortenberry, Mrs. Bessie Myers and Mrs. Lillie Mae Milton.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Julian called their son and family, the Kendis Julians, Friday night from White Horse Yukon. They planned to be in Fairbanks, Alaska this Wednesday. The Julians are traveling by camper and having a wonderful time. In a letter received this Monday Mrs. Julian calls themselves "Seasoned Campers." Thus far they have been to Mt. Rushmore in South Dakota, Glacier Park in Montana, Canada's Glacier Park and Lake Louise with many interesting stops in between. They have traveled over nine hundred miles of unpaved roads thus far with the great mountains, rivers and valleys unspoiled by civilization.

with 1 jar of dried beef, pulled into pieces, in a casserole. Sprinkle with paprika, and slide into the oven to heat along with the beans, bread and apples. Now isn't this an easy way to beat a mealtime emergency.

HOW TO STORE CANNED FOODS
Canned foods seem to last indefinitely as long as nothing happens to the can to make it leak. And while it's smart to have a well stocked cupboard, keep moving the oldest products out front to use up first. If you have a basement, store your canned foods there, for they keep best in a moderately cool, dry place. If you are limited to kitchen storage, choose a cupboard as far away from the range as possible. A product stored at 70 degrees will keep twice as long as one stored at 90 degrees.

Copies may be secured from departmental chairman, Brose reports. The catalogues were printed at Stewart Printing in Floydada.
