Which Shall Be Official Flower?

At a city beautification committee meeting Tuesday afternoon it was decided that the citizens of Floydada should decide upon the official flower for the city. Therefore everyone in Floydada is asked to call 983-3737 or 983-2841 and express a preference for one of the following flowers: rose, iris, crepe myrtle, lily. The blooming time of the flower, ease of growing and resistance to insects and inclement weather should be considered by everyone in making a decision, according to George Miller, head of the beautification committee.

Results of the vote will be released next week, and votes must be made by telephone Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

In other business the committee decided to divide the city into four zones, give "green thumb" awards to the residents with the 1. most colorful, 2. most improved, 3. happiest yards each month in each zone.

INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION ST. LOUIS 1904

THE HAMBURGER is still America's No. 1 sandwich. It was introduced 65 years ago at the International Exposition in St. Louis.

Hamburgers For 65 Years

Hamburger on a bun may be a 65-year-old food idea, but it's not about to retire from the American scene. Hamburger alone has been around for centuries. However, it didn't catch up with the bun until 1904. That was the year that somebody decided to serve hamburgers on buns at the great St. Louis Exposition. Introduction of the hamburger on a bun shared the spotlight with another great American innovation, ice cream in an edible cone.

The hamburger's ancestry goes back as far as ancient Egypt when meat was minced for quicker cooking. Through the ages, men found that grinding meat was a good method of tenderizing it. Exactly how ground beef came to be called hamburger is a bit obscure. However, it was probably named for the German seaport Hamburg. In medieval times, traveling merchants from the city of Hamburg went to the Baltic lands. They saw the Tartars scrape raw meat and season it with salt, pepper, and onion juice to make what we now call "Steak Tartare."

This is the way the Hamburgers ate their beef until some cook decided to shape the raw meat into patties and broil them crisp on the outside, nearly raw inside.

German immigrants brought their rare hamburger idea with them to America. Here people of English-Irish-Scotch ancestry leaned more to the well-done variety of hamburger. In England it was called "Salisbury Steak" after physician, Dr. James H. Salisbury.

Dr. Salisbury had recommended to his patients that they eat such "steak" three times a day with hot water before and after each meal. It was his contention that such a diet would relieve an assortment of conditions from asthma and bronchitis to hardening of the arteries and gout.

Nevertheless, it was simply because the hamburger proved to be so easy, economical, and popular with everybody in the family that it became a regular item in the weekly eating schedule.

Today the plump, juicy hamburgers are still sizzling on grills from coast to coast. Most often they're in the good company of fresh hamburger buns, thick slices of onions, tomatoes, mustard, and pickles or relish.

For more sophisticated appetites, the adventurous cook departs from the traditional hamburger and serves variations as simple as these. Try them in celebration of the hamburger's 65th year.

Top the cooked ground beef patty with: Crisp bacon curls. A slice of grilled pineapple topped with toasted coconut. Broiled mushroom caps. Or sliced mushrooms and sliced water chestnuts.

Sauteed walnuts, almonds, or pecans.

A few French fried onion rings.

Avocado slices with a few drops of garlic dressing.

Drained, chopped sauerkraut mixed with caraway seeds.

Sour cream mixed with chopped chives and dill, or with grated onion and black caviar.

And serve on a hamburger bun!

Cotton Industry Utilizes New Ideas

"Textile mills need cotton for a rather simple reason: Cotton has inherent qualities that they have not been able to work into any of the man-made fibers or any combination of man-made fibers," Russell Giffen, Fresno, Calif., president of the board of trustees of Cotton Producers Institute, says.

In opening the spring meeting of CPI Board, Giffen told of a series of recent visits with cotton manufacturers in the Southeast and their marketing executives in New York.

"Keep up your effort to improve your product" was the response of mill men who were asked what kind of cotton they wanted.

Giffen said that following last year's meeting in Lubbock, a committee had been appointed to take an unbiased, new look at everything being done to strengthen and expand cotton's markets and that this study is being made.

"There seems to be no question that new approaches, new thinking, and new judgments have got to be made and we will be seeking the counsel of all of you to help us determine and chart this course."

A detailed review of the Institute's research and promotion program followed.

Research reports held promise of: (1) significant breakthroughs in insect control, (2) regulating plant growth to achieve higher yields and more efficient production, (3) lower off-farm costs, (4) greatly improved durable press finishes, and (5) processes to make cotton more competitive in industrial uses.

"More and more top stores are planning their cotton promotions as integrated heavily-merchandised events that in some cases are almost store-wide in scope and in others cover an entire area of coordinated merchandise," the trustees were told in a promotion report which noted increasing interest in cotton by manufacturers, retailers, and consumers.

This interest is being stimulated by an expanded schedule of national magazine advertising, newspaper ads sponsored 50-50 with retailers, shopping center projects, televised cotton fashion and operative merchandising, major retail chains, libraries, fabric departments and promotion organizations.

The Council's entire said systems offer to nurse for insecticide insects feeding off but protect parasites predators. Temik, the velped so far, is commercial use as clearance is obtained Department of Agriculture Federal Drug Administration.

More effective bollworms and pink bollworms is centering around that eat the eggs, on and on sterilization.

Attacking the bollworming the diapause period fall is proving highly effective.

In the area of durable trustees were informed American Laundry Manufacturers has just licensed new vapor phase process application to garment made-up textile products that negotiations are cess with a major manufacturer to license vapor piece goods. The well-cess developed for marketing uses, such as is being further refined use trials are under previously announced to market all-cotton shirts for the fall 1970 season. is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T.W. Battey of Ruidoso, N.M.

Large palms in the background formed the setting. Altar baskets filled with white mums and daisies, placed at each side of a Cathedral candelabra decorated with emerald, completed the wedding scene.

Elaine Warren, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied soloist, Mrs. Don Cheek as she sang "The Twelfth of Never" and "Whither Thou Goest".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white peau de soie and Chantilly lace. The empire silhouette was fashioned with a bateau neckline, long pointed sleeves and A-line skirt. The Cathedral length train of peau, which fell from the shoulders, was accented by Chantilly lace. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was attached to a cluster of white fabric roses and lace petals highlighted by pearls and crystals.

She carried a cascade bouquet centered with a white orchid atop her lace covered Bible. She also carried a lace handkerchief belonging to her great grandmother, Mrs. Amy Green for something old. Something new was her wedding dress; something borrowed was her veil belonging to Mrs. Michael Hinsley and something blue was her wedding garter. She also wore a penny in her slipper bearing her birthdate 1950.

Mrs. Linda Hinsley, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor and Kathy Hinsley, her sister, was maid of honor. They were gowned in floor length old-rose colored ensembles accented by white daisies. Panel trains were attached by bows to the back. Their headpieces were short veils of rose colored maline and each carried a cascade bouquet of white marguerite daisies trimmed with the matching color of their gowns.

Angie Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Anderson, was flower girl. She wore a rose colored floor length gown trimmed in lace and carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

Peggy's Meddlin's

BY PEGGY MEDLEY

COMEDIAN Pat Paulsen of the Glen Campbell Show just can't win. He set out across Lake Michigan Friday in a row boat saying he could lead the American people to right thinking in matters of physical fitness. When scrawny Paulsen reached the choppy waters outside the breakwater of the Monroe Street Harbor, he and the boat sank and he had to be rescued. Paulsen's arms didn't give out, his boat sprang a leak.

CAN'T figure out why someone with plenty of time to write didn't enter the contest Amarillo Globe News was running on "My Home Town." So many nice things can be said about Floydada and its people. If I had entered I think my subject would have been the hospitality of our residents and the fine staff at Caprock Hospital. Not only do local people praise these dedicated women and men but those from out of town as well who sometimes find themselves in their need. Such was the case of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Whitson of Pampa. Whitson was enroute to Floydada in his delivery truck and became ill this side of Plainview. He managed to drive on to Floydada in order to deliver fresh tomatoes to Piggly Wiggly's. When he arrived here his condition required hospitalization, due to a heart attack. That's when doctors and the hospital staff took over. He said he received the best of care, his wife was notified of his illness and after her arrival she was also promptly cared for when she found out her days might be many in Floydada. She said the staff at the hospital fixed her up a bed in her husband's room, supplied her with needed items she had failed to bring with her and strangers came to her with requests she be their houseguest during her stay in Floydada. Does't it make you feel good all over when you know we have people like that in our "Hometown."

SPEAKING of the hospital reminds of the paved road leading off the highway to the hospital. It should be repaired, nuff said?

THE Hesperian received a letter this week from an unknown writer. We couldn't print the letter because it wasn't signed, but I can give you an idea what it contained. Seems this man or woman wanted the people to know, "Those that do a lot of gossiping, come to the Old Settler dances and are church people and don't believe in dancing. They think its a sin, but let me tell you there is no more harm in dancing, than for all of them of the church, to sit on the front row seat watching". Unquote.

OLD Settlers, as usual, was quite a success but complaints each year from residents dwell on the fact that the reunion should be held on a Saturday nearest the date of the 28th. I've brought the subject up a number of times but have been voted down so to speak. True the date stands for when the county was organized, but I don't think our ancestors would object much if we changed the day of celebration. A number of business people and their employees are unable to come downtown and watch the parade or participate in any of the activities. Former residents living a great distance off are unable to make a trip in one day during the week, having the reunion on a Saturday closest to the 28th might solve a lot of problems for those wishing to attend. Just a suggestion to the Association to think on.

JACK Herbert said "Live your life so well that when you die even the undertaker will be sorry."

GIRLS I've learned cement hair, the plastered down kind with heavy hair spray, is on the way out. Locks are going to be softer. Fashionable ladies hairdressers in France have also found out women there prefer the older type man with gray streaks in their hair, so now they have come out with a salt and pepper dye job for men. It works in ten minutes in case you men are interested.

I WON'T have a column next week as I'll be off work for some two weeks recuperating from surgery. Hope I have plenty of meddlins to fill a newspaper page time I get back. In the meantime to enrich our community and our lives, say less and do more.

If you see that lightning is active in the west, it will probably be upon you soon, but seeing it in other directions usually means it will not molest you. The old rule for judging the distance of lightning by counting the seconds is valid.

You see the flash, count a number a second until you hear thunder. Then divide the seconds by five, because sound travels only a fifth of a mile a second. Your answer is the distance of the lightning from you in miles.

GIRL SCOUTS HEADED FOR RUIDOSO, ...

Comment On Sports

Washington, D.C. -- If someone doesn't slow down the high-flying Baltimore Orioles pretty soon, this year could be a repeat of 1966. And that year the O's ran over the Los Angeles Dodgers in four straight shocking World Series games.

The Birds are in the toughest division of the American League and will not win it the easy way. They must play the Tigers, Red Sox and Yankees more games than western division teams. Yet they are streaking away from the field and look stronger and stronger. Great pitching and timely hitting are carrying them along.

The big test for the Birds might not come until late in June, when they will meet the world champion Tigers eight times in ten days, beginning June 27th in Baltimore and ending July 6th in Detroit. Then they play Boston eight between July 10 and July 20th! This is a time that could make or break the Bengals and Sox also, for in between that set with the Birds the Tigers are taking on the Red Sox in three (July 1, 2 and 3).

The Birds are leading the field in the American League's eastern division even though Boston has been red hot and though both Denny McLain and Mickey Lolich of Detroit have been pitching good ball for the champions.

The difference has been that

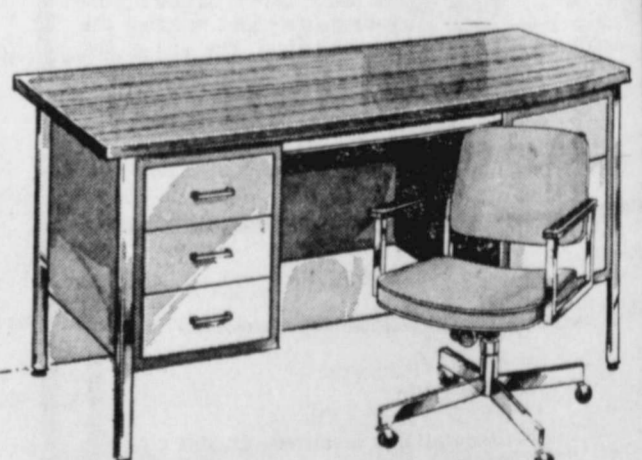

Baltimore, with McLain, Phoebeus and P... been getting consistent from the whole first... staff while Boston... has had problems a... its third and fourth... Willie Wiredhand NOTES

LIGHTHOUSE ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. MARY PHILLIPS, HOME ECONOMIST

"Live Better Electrically" - a simple slogan and not new, but its meaning changes each day. For instance, a few years ago, the all-electric pig was unheard of. Now it is almost a necessity. Housewives thoroughly enjoy having this little waste disposer that fits neatly under the kitchen sink and goes into action at the flick of a switch.

Any modern home should not be without this sanitary feature. Its round whirling disc forces food against a shredding ring to pulverize it. Hammer-like impellers hold the food against the ring until it is fine enough to go down the drain. Thus, you can eliminate waste food before it becomes smelly and unhealthy garbage. The abrasive action of the pulverized food washing through the pipes helps keep your drain clean.

Since many rural homes are not connected to a central sewage system, many rural home owners ask if they can use an electric waste disposer with a septic tank? The answer is "yes", and a rule of thumb is that it will add a load to your septic tank equal to having an extra person living in your home. Therefore, you'll need your tank cleaned that much more often.

Your septic tank should at least meet FHA standards which provide for electric waste disposers, dishwashers and automatic washers. Standards are a 750-gallon tank for a 2-bedroom house; a 900-gallon tank for a 3-bedroom house; a 1,000-gallon tank for four bedrooms, and a 250-gallon additional capacity for each additional bedroom.

How do you go about selecting a waste disposer? Consider your needs and the capacity of the disposer to handle them. If you have a lot of fibrous food wastes, such as corn cobs and husks, fruit rinds, steak and rib bones and egg shells, make sure you're buying a disposer which includes cutting devices with the shredding ring.

Look for these features - an insulated sink mounting that suspends the unit from the sink drain mouth so that vibrations are at a minimum, and foam or fiber insulation or a sound-absorbing plastic disposer body - which reduce noise during the brief periods it has to operate.

There are two basic types of disposers - batch - feed, in which the cover is locked to start the disposer. To add more waste, it must be unlocked, thus turning it off. A wall switch turns the continuous feed disposer off and on. When the disposer is in operation, you can add more waste just by washing it down the sink. Quality also depends on whether all parts exposed to water are made of noncorrosive materials. These may be made of stainless steel, epoxy and other plastics. Also, request a demonstration and listen if the disposer runs smoothly. Compare disposer demonstrations, or check with neighbors and friends who have them, or with a local home economist or home demonstration agent.

A waste disposer will cost from $25 to $140; but installation differs because some are more difficult to install than others. Installation may run $30 to $40. Inquire to be sure you are getting both electrical and plumbing estimates. Don't buy a cheap disposer with possibly a high installation cost when you might be able to get a better disposer with a lower installation cost. Compare all costs.

Finally, one thought to remember about all disposers. Like any good electric appliance, be kind to it and treat it properly. Remember, it can't do the impossible - plumbers have taken metal, rock, and what have you out of broken disposers. Don't overload it. Feed it as you would a baby - a little at a time and you'll be surprised how fast it eats. And always, always, run cold water through it when it's turned on. Never, never hot water which would overheat the motor. Hot water will also melt greasy foods only to have them build up inside the drain pipe. Greasy particles will be chopped up under cold water flushed away in small pieces rather than in a liquid form.

With summer not far away, and summer lightning storms, or thunderstorms, approaching, the facts about lightning become especially timely.

Lightning, it is true, kills a number of people each year. Dangerous places are under a big tree, in the bathtub, or around or between sizable metal objects.

Lightning is caused by up and down drafts in thunder-

SOAKING LAUNDRY - A TERRIFIC OLD IDEA

Consumers are being bombarded with so-called washday miracles - laundry products supercharged with enzymes.

Research proves enzyme products get rid of many stubborn stains, but the housewife may be able to achieve the same results at half the cost.

The idea of soaking clothes before laundering to make your wash significantly cleaner is not new.

Pre-soaking with detergent does as good a job on most of the stains as does enzyme products and a detergent in their performance on blood and gravy stains, with the enzymes doing slightly better. But all three removed egg stains completely in 30 minutes of soaking and spaghetti sauce stains overnight. All three removed a good part of grass, syrup, coffee and tea stains overnight.

None did very well with mustard stains. It is suggested that housewives first try pre-soaking in a solution made up of whatever laundry detergent they now use. It may perform surprisingly well - and at half the cost of an enzyme presoak.

Promoting the new enzyme products is expected to boost the total budget for laundry products from $70 million in the last 12 months to $100 million in the next 12 months. So if you would like to save on your laundry dollars, here are some presoaking suggestions:

1. Heavily soiled work and play clothes.
2. Dusty curtains and draperies
3. Heavily soiled slipcovers
4. Certain stained articles to help loosen stains.

The most satisfactory way of soaking clothes is to agitate them in the washer a few minutes in warm water with detergent. The addition of detergent helps to hold the dirt suspended in the water. Use about half the amount of detergent needed for washing. The length of time to presoak will depend on the amount of detergent needed for washing. The length of time to presoak will depend on the amount of soil or stain in the laundry. Extract water and follow with complete washing cycle.

If you have only a few things to soak, use a small container rather than the washer. Submerge items in warm detergent solution, let soak for 15 minutes or longer depending on amount of soil and add the items to a normally soiled load of similar fabrics for the complete washing cycle.

Another suggestion is to make a paste of your detergent and water. Rub this into areas that are heavily soiled such as collars, cuffs and other soiled places. Leave this on for 15 minutes or longer and then wash in usual way.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

By Ray Purcell
Social Security Representative
Q. I quit work in January of this year. Will the income I receive from a rent house and the interest I receive on my savings bonds count toward the $1680 that I am allowed to earn?

A. No. Income from interest, rentals and other investment income is not counted in the $1680 you are allowed to earn and still draw full social security payments. Only income that you earn either working as a self-employed individual in your own trade or business, or working for wages for someone else is counted to determine whether you earn over $1680 in the year.

For more information contact your social security office at 1401-B West 5th Street, Plainview. If more convenient, meet with your social security representative. He is in Floydada at the courthouse on Wednesday morning, in Matador in the lobby of the First State Bank on the first and third Tuesday mornings of each month and in Abernathy in the City Hall on the second Tuesday morning of each month.

as fire resistance to durable press for cotton.

In a CPI project to develop a non-woven high-cotton-content backing material for carpets, dozens of different structures have been tested in the past six months, another report stated. Similarly, toward making cotton more competitive in markets for disposable items, an attempt is being made to develop low-cost non-woven cotton fiber webs. In the planning stage are several projects concerned with backing fabrics and cushioning in automobiles and furniture.

The Council's advertising director cited a promotion with a major sportswear manufacturer (Jantzen) as an example of how CPI dollars are multiplied through joint effort. National advertising, television commercials, newspaper ads by retailers, and trade paper advertising all were coordinated. For spring 1970, he reported, Jantzen's women's sportswear will be 100 per cent cotton and swimwear will be about 60 per cent.

He described how more and more stores are helping promote cotton, citing an intensive two-week merchandising effort by Neiman-Marcus which included 31 ads in Dallas newspapers and 16 in Houston. "During the past 12 months, local promotion programs have spread to virtually every section of the Belt and groups are being organized in new areas practically every week," another report pointed out in describing projects spearheaded by cotton growers and their wives.

They are putting special emphasis on getting more cotton in stores, visiting retailers to provide them with source lists for ordering cotton merchandise, and sponsoring fashion shows, cotton weeks, and other events.

"LOVE"

"In this life we have three great lasting qualities - faith, hope and love. But the greatest of them is love," I Cor. 13:13, Phillips translation.

For everything that is done there is motivating force behind it. For instance, if there is to be a winning football team there must be a real desire on the part of the entire team to win. A school is good, not because of a fine building, but because of a deep conviction in the hearts of those who are leading that they want to help young people. A gang of thieves will steal because of a desire for material things.

The supreme motivating force for all good in the world is LOVE. There are many other reasons given as to why good is done but they all find their roots in the subsoil of love.

Love is that indescribable something that causes people to willingly give themselves for something or somebody. Likewise, it is easy to see that a lack of love is the breeding ground for all that is sinful and cruel in the world.

Love's first demonstration was given by Almighty God in the making of man. He created man with the full knowledge that man would sin and that he would then, in the fullness of time, give himself in the person of His Son, for the salvation of all mankind. It may be noted that no power has been known like the power of God to "speak" a world into existence and that no love has approached the act of redemption of mankind in the giving of his Son on the Cross. LOVE motivates all God's action to man. "God is love."

LOVE also motivates man's action to God and men. David said on one occasion, "Against thee, only have I sinned." So if man is to be Christian, he first must come to love God and realize that sin is first of all against Him. When this breaks through to a man's heart, he will turn to God first, and then his actions will be altered toward his fellowman.

LOVE motivates a Christlike spirit in a Christian. It is a love for God that makes a person desire to live a righteous life. It is love that gives genuine concern to hearts of men concerning the church, lost people, missions and etc. It is love that promotes intercessory prayer and Christlike compassion. Finally, it is love that brings a genuine forgiveness in the hearts of men - one toward another. As God, through love, provided salvation, so man through love, or the lack of it, finds motivation for all of live.

All of us at South Plains who take the Sunday Lubbock paper, are very grateful to Mrs. Roy Bledsoe who found a way to get our papers delivered to us here on Sundays instead of Mondays as they had been in years past.

Congratulations to Mrs. Donald Bean who received her BA degree from Texas Tech in commencement exercises at the Municipal Coliseum in Lubbock. Members of Mrs. Bean's family who attended the address and exercises were her immediate family, Donald, Judi and Mike; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cobb, a brother, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cobb, all of Tulsa, and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Smitherman, Monty and Marc.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Byrd and their four children from Stanton were weekend visitors here with their folks, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wells, Kim, Jill and Kay from Mineral Wells, arrived last Thursday to visit until Sunday afternoon with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wells, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Marble and other relatives here. Sunday Mrs. Ernest Wells honored her husband on the occasion of his birthday with a dinner. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Marble, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wells, Kim, Jill and Kay. Wells reports the whole county celebrates his birthday each year, as his birthday comes on May 28, Old Settlers Day. The Marvin Wells returned home so that Kim could attend Girl Scout Camp in Mineral Wells this coming week. Jill remained here with her grandparents, and is attending Vacation Bible School
