County Wheat Harvest Stands At Half way Point

Caprock Chat

By Wendell Tooley

WHAT I'M doing this week... I wrote this column the morning before leaving for Colorado Saturday to see those huge fighting trout. So, here's hoping I will see several by the time you read this column.

I believe, the 11th year that the Tooleys have gone up the Conejos river for Trout fishing in the summer time. I stay in the same old run-down cabins that are still averaging around $7.00 per night.

Because the cabin price hasn't run up is due to the fact the cabins are running down. There used to be an ice box on each, and now you may just find one with a leaky roof. An afternoon mountain shower comes down the valley. Each cabin has a good old wood burning cook stove, wood, and comfortable, warm beds.

The situation isn't too good. The water pipes run along the ground, and if you're around the cabin about middle of the morning when the sun has warmed the pipes, you just might get a shower bath... otherwise, the shower is plenty good.

I usually get plenty of baths in the river... step in the rocks.

Fishing the Conejos and the creeks coming into it. If it is up, I can usually catch a few with a spinner... also usually good fly fishing in the smaller streams coming in.

There are now more fishermen on the Conejos because they paved the roads into that area... and more pavement means more people, and more fishermen.

Now, I love people, but now and then I sorta get tired of there's just nothing as wonderful as the quietness of the streams, the peaceful streams, the wind softly humming the pine trees.

It gives a fellow a chance to meditate and wonder what it's all about... and the purpose for which he was created.

EARLY ONION HARVEST is beginning about 10 miles south of Floydada. This 27 acre patch missed the hail storm, and producer Dude Walding (right) reports a good crop. At left is Poforio Alaniz of Sinton, Texas who has worked in the onion harvest in Floydada since 1952. The onions will be processed for shipping at the H & S Packing shed in Floydada. (Staff Photo)

With holidays and dry weather, wheat harvest is continuing in full swing this week with over 50 percent of the harvest completed in the Floydada area.

Irrigated acreage is averaging 20 bushels to the acre and dryland is yielding 24 bushels to the acre. If good weather holds, the end of wheat harvest should occur in some two weeks in this area. Elevators operated through the day and past mid-night last week due to the rush of harvesting.

This mid-week city elevators were at a lull and late wheat is expected to start coming out of the fields in a few days.

While some farmers in the county are harvesting others are replanting, the results of rain, high winds and hail occurring on what some farmers are calling Black Friday, June 13th. Farmers, whose wheat fields were missed by the hail are working day and night to complete the harvest while watching threatening clouds.

Hail and high winds from the June storm damaged or destroyed 15,000 acres of crops in the south part of Floyd County. Several farmers in the Harmony community area have suffered four straight seasons of "hail-outs." One farmer there said, "I was in a state of shock for several days after viewing my ruined crops, this is the fourth straight year for me, but this week I am trying to make a come-back, I'm replanting what I can."

Holiday Road Patrol Set For July 4

Trained truck and bus industry safety men will take to the roads July 4th and Labor Day to participate in a unique Holiday Road Patrol.

The Texas program is being sponsored by the Texas Motor Transportation Association and its Council of Safety Supervisors, a state-wide organization representing the motor carrier industry.

Jack C. Bryan, Director of Safety for the Texas Motor Transportation Association of Austin said about 50 to 60 road patrol cars will be on the most heavily traveled highways of the state during the peak traffic hours during the holiday weekends. The cars will be manned by experienced members of the Texas Council of Safety Supervisors who will be particularly alert for motorists in trouble.

The Holiday Patrol vehicles will be equipped with tools, spare fuses, warning flags, first-aid equipment and gasoline safety containers. In addition, many of the cars are radio equipped to allow the driver to summon repair equipment or additional help.

"While these men will not have arrest powers," Bryan emphasized, "we will cooperate with the State Highway Patrol in every way possible."

Governor Preston Smith commended the Texas truck and bus group for its cooperation and said:

"We welcome the added assistance PATROL, PAGE 10

MOSQUITO CONTROL

Aerial Spraying Planned

Floydada City Council is negotiating with the Mosquito Control of the Southwest Inc., for aerial spraying in the local area. Citizens here will be notified in advance as to the date of the first spraying, according to Floydada City manager Bill Feuerbacher.

The Southwest Company has contacts with Plainview, Olton, Hale Center, Tullia and Floydada. Feuerbacher said it would cost in the neighborhood of $900 for each aerial spraying of approximately 2,560 acres.

This would cover inside the city limits with boundaries south to the old city dump, west to the Floydada Nursing Home, north just past Floydada Farm Supply, and east past the Ponderosa covering the entire square of land. This will cover all nearby lakes, breeding places for mosquitoes.

The twin engine plane will spray some 150 feet off the ground in the morning hours from 5 until 6 o'clock. Dates will be announced as soon as plans are complete.

Feuerbacher said the City would continue spraying chemicals until all contracts are signed for the aerial spraying.

The City was sprayed Monday night and will be sprayed again Friday night if good weather continues to hold on.

Water Loss May Hurt Louisiana

RUSTON, La. (AP) - Diversion of Mississippi River water would damage Louisiana's multi-million dollar seafood industry and result in greater salt water intrusion along its coast, a state public works official said today.

Calvin Watts, assistant state public works director, said those are two major reasons why Louisiana must proceed with "extreme caution and care" before agreeing to plan to divert surplus water from the river.

Watts' remarks were contained in a paper prepared for delivery at a conference on the massive plan to divert surplus water from the Mississippi River to the dry sections of Texas and New Mexico.

Officials of the states involved and the U. S. Corps of Engineers gathered at Louisiana Tech to air the problems, policies and potential of the plan.

Watts said that aside from calculating Louisiana's water needs for cities, industry and agriculture, the state must assess the impact of decreasing fresh water flow into the marshland.

"In our considered opinion, any out-of-basin withdrawal from rivers feeding into Louisiana marshes would result in diminished returns from the high productive marshes," he said.

Reduction of fresh water flow could seriously affect the reproductive cycles of fish and wildlife in the areas, Watts said.

He said the success of the seafood industry is "directly dependent on the annual discharge of fresh water to the estuaries."

Another major consideration for Lower Mississippi Valley States would be the impact on vast economic investments along the river, Watts said.

He said the states along the river would not agree to export water to Texas and New Mexico until being assured that diversion would not slow down economic development.

Louisiana is assessing its future water needs, but a report will not be finished until 1971 or 1972, he said.

Soldier Injured Critically In Wreck Near Here Sunday

A Fort Hood serviceman was critically injured about 2:30 Sunday afternoon when his 1968 Chevrolet El Camino overturned four times and skidded some 600 feet three miles east of Floydada on Highway 62-70.

Spec. 5 Clovis B. Head, 22, whose parents reside in Belton had been in Dougherty visiting an uncle, Bill Head and family, and was returning to Canyon to visit his grandmother when the mishap occurred. Head was on furlough and was due to leave for Vietnam July 13.

Investigating officers Bud Rainey and Don Riggs, local highway patrolmen, said the soldier was driving west when he lost control of his vehicle. The pick-up overturned four times, twice end over end. Head was thrown from the vehicle and sustained broken bones and lacerations.

LEGAL WEAPON to curb permissiveness in films is California.

A man Act, which forbids transportation of persons across for immoral purposes, may be invoked in an unprecedented way in a trial involving participants in filmmaker Antonio's "Zabriskie Point."

Persons connected with the recently completed MGM film "Blow Up" were subpoenaed by the U. S. attorney's office in Sacramento, to appear before a federal grand jury investigating violations of the Mann Act.

Antonio, whose film "Blow Up" was denied a film seal of approval two years ago because of explicit scenes, was not subpoenaed. He is currently in Rome. The "Zabriskie Point" was shot on location in Death Valley, the eastern central border of California at the Nevada border. Members of the cast traveled frequently across the area allegedly became upset at what they deemed as filming of cast members in the nude and may have filed suit with authorities.

There have been court actions before against films released to the public, this is believed to be the first time in the making has been the subject of such action. It sets up a whole area of law that foreseeably could be used by filmmakers.

VIEWING the hail storm area of Floyd county the day after the hit, I thought a strip across the southern part of the area was wiped out.

Friday, again looked over the area, and found crops growing off nicely. Not all the area was hailed out, the slightly damaged areas look good now.

There's still hope for some crop from Southern Floyd County.

TOM AND I visited the Crosbyton blouse factory last week and were real impressed with the start the new industry. Fourteen women are making three or four different styles and they're selling faster than they can make them. Some of the Floydada firm will display and sell the blouse made blouses. Think all area towns around Crosbyton want 100% effort to help in the sales and advertising of the blouse.

Way, cotton farmers, they are made of 100% cotton.

Hesperian will give a free introductory adv. to the Floydada resident who wants to sell these blouses.

Astronaut was poised for his launch when a reporter asked "how do you feel?"

"I would you feel," the astronaut replied, "if you were sitting on 15,000 parts - each supplied by the lowest bidder?"

Asked to weather bureau. "Sir: I thought you would be disappointed in knowing that I have just shoveled three feet of partly from my front steps."

Big difference between a little rascal and a juvenile delinquent is whether he is your kid or somebody else's.

Q: "If you have seven pieces of candy and I asked for how many would you have left?"

A: "Seven."

Q: "Don't marry women on $25 a week any more - a girl must be at least three times that much."

Q: "Middle-age has been described as that perplexing time of when we hear two voices calling. One says, 'Why not?'"

A: "Why bother?"

Q: "Can you catch the 6:16 train," explained the hiker, "if you'll just cross your field."

A: "I can't," said the farmer, "but you'll catch the 5:45 if my dog lets you."

Q: "I'd like to tell my wife that all that stuff she looked at in an antique shop was junk, until I went in and priced a few pieces."

A: "I'll put a family in debt as much as a small raise."

Q: "The secretaries were talking about their dates. The first one said, 'My date was terrible, really terrible. He not only was about the size of his yacht, but he made me row!'"

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State Capital

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN - Biggest organized plan in Texas history - to fight crime - is in the approval stage, with early approval anticipated. Plan was submitted last month to the U.S. Department of Justice by Governor Preston Smith's Criminal Justice Council.

With approval will go $1.1 million in action grants to state and local units of government for brand new approaches to the war on crime.

An initial planning grant of $830,350 started the action, and $235,000 more was freed for the purchase of riot control equipment. If this program is successful and continued, $11 million more in federal aid will go to Texas in federal fiscal year 1970.

Plans of cities and regions were cleared through the Criminal Justice Office for inclusion in a statewide approach. Experts in crime prevention, apprehension, trials, sentencing, corrections, pardons and paroles participated in the drafting of the overall program.

Work proceeds under federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets acts of 1968.

Urban Coalition and Urban America Inc. groups recently criticized the program. Private organizations doubted the ability to spend money effectively and complained that the U.S. Justice Department did not give states enough guidance on planning. Also it was contended that private citizens were not sufficiently involved.

Texas Council insists that the best job possible was done in the close time framework available for initial planning. Criticism, the Council contends, should be held up until there is an opportunity to measure action.

This effort is the first attempt to pull together courts, law enforcement and correctional institutions, in a mass movement against crime. Only time and experience can measure results.

Some Texas Hospitals Stop Cigarette Sales

Some Texas hospitals have stopped allowing cigarette sales on the premises because they cause cancer, according to a survey of Texas hospitals just completed by Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE).

One hospital stopped cigarette sales "because they were considered a health hazard," but allowed cigarette vending machines to be returned because of "quite a bit of pressure" on the part of a vending company which insisted that cigarette machines be accepted with other machines.

A Dallas physician whose hospital evicted cigarettes, said, "We felt in our group of 21 doctors that it was immoral to urge patients not to smoke and at the same time make cigarettes available through machines from which we made a profit."

Of the 763 questionnaires sent out, 580 were returned; 194 stated that no tobacco products were sold; 366 said cigarettes were sold on the premises; chewing tobacco and snuff numbered 23. Of those allowing tobacco sales, 277 were sold by a concessionaire rather than directly by the hospital.

Of five U.S. Air Force hospitals answering, four did not have cigarette sales. Most Army hospitals did, and all Veterans Administration hospitals did.

Of twenty state hospitals replying, four had no cigarette sales.

TANE is a non-profit, educational organization supported financially by Texas churches of 19 different denominations. Its work includes public school assembly programs, publishing books for students and teachers, producing film strips, and other educational materials on alcohol and drugs. One of the film strips is entitled, "Smoking or Health," and is used nationally. TANE also has a speakers bureau of more than 100 men who speak in some 2,500 Texas churches each year. The organization's books are sold nationally, and some have been translated in three other languages.

"Our purpose is to prevent problems that arise from the use of alcohol, narcotics, and other dangerous drugs," said Albert F. Tucker, TANE Executive Director. "Cigarettes kill people slower, but they still kill people. Therefore, they contain a dangerous drug," he said.

Results of the survey were (1) Are tobacco products sold on hospital premises? None, 194; Cigarettes, 366; Chewing Tobacco, 23; Snuff, 23. (2) Are such tobacco products sold directly by the hospital? Yes, 30; No, they are sold by a concessionaire, 277; other, 74."

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

Persons receiving social security disability benefits must report improvement in their condition to the Social Security Administration. Mencie King social security manager, stated that disability beneficiaries also must report a return to any kind of work.

King made the announcement because of some cases in which beneficiaries were overpaid because these two events were not properly reported and benefits not due had been continued. Overpayments have to be refunded and this can work a financial hardship on those having to repay benefits.

King explained most overpayments in these cases occur because beneficiaries misunderstand the requirements of the law. Disability benefits can be paid only if an individual is so disabled he can't do any kind of work. Therefore, any improvement in the disabling condition needs to be reported to social security. Too, when a disabled worker does some work, even if it is sheltered or light work, it must be reported so that a determination can be made about whether benefits should continue.

King pointed out that in some cases; disabled workers can get benefits up to twelve months while they try out some job to see if they can do it but their work still must be reported. For more detailed information, check with the Plainview social security office at 1401-B West 5th Street. You may dial them at 293-4371.

CLOTHES MAKE THE GIRL

If a lady behaves differently when she's wearing an evening gown, compared to when she's wearing blue jeans or a swimsuit, a little girl's behavior is affected even moreso by the clothes she wears. So say the psychologists and the fashion designers. "Carelessness in clothes brings carelessness in habits and manner," says one authority. Robert Love, who designs all the famous Love clothes for little girls. The key question to ask in selecting a fabric, says designer Love, is, "Is it washable?" Mothers have long realized the importance of washability in children's clothes because of the fish story for this week, I mean meddlins for this week. JUST don't have time this week to get any sports pertaining especially to baseball. Will try to carry all last weeks results and this weeks in our following issue of the Hesperian. THE Seven - year - old had gone fishing with her father. After an hour or so, her daddy asked, "Are you having any luck?" She replied indignantly, "No, I don't think my worm is really trying." And thats the normal pattern of the child's active life. Spills and stains are accepted as part of the daily routine.

Texas isn't the only state being hit by devastating storms. Theone hitting in this area moved down through Colorado first where at Denver maintenance crews worked nearly 24 hours clearing five inches of hail stones from six lane Valley Highway in that city.

COULD you be a relation to the late William Goodman of California? If so you might have $111,000 coming to you. Goodman was a Los Angeles shop owner and when he died he left no will but did leave a huge estate mostly in cash. Efforts to locate any decedents have failed. If a relative has not come forward with full proof of relationship by May 6, 1974 the estate goes to the state of California.

SPEAKING of decedents a young man by the name of Marty Lockney Jr., of Santa Ana, Calif., was in the Hesperian Thursday. He is in this area trying to trace the decedents of the founders of Lockney, Tex., who was J.F. Lockney. He was wondering if his family might be related.

A CAR driven by Hubert Humphrey hit a motorcycle ridden by Daniel Fink which then plunged into a parked car owned by George Wallace. The men however, are not politicians. They all reside in Palmdale, Calif.

If you are one of those unlucky people who is always being bitten by chiggers a druggist has come up with this remedy. "Take an alcohol massage, then roll in the sand and the drunk chiggers will stone themselves to death". He also came up with a remedy for bald headed men. "Use one part persimmon juice, one part Alum water, two parts of tap water, shake well and massage scalp. "This will not restore hair", the druggist explained, "but will shrink the head to where the sideburns will come together." *****

EVIDENTLY last week just wasn't the best week for some to be "out among 'em". The most unusual accidents can happen and four local residents must feel they were at the wrong place at the wrong time. Accident prone were Travis Jones, a kick in the face by a cow; Jay S. Hale Jr., knocked into the side of a pick-up by a cow; one of the Probasco youngsters, a black eye from a bed post and Mrs. Garland Foster, baseball fan due to her son, who was hit in the mouth by a fly ball at the park last Friday night. No lost teeth and glasses unbroken, but Mrs. Foster is sporting a mighty sore and bruised mouth. Travis had some stitches took in his face and Jay spent some time in the hospital with his injuries. Some days it just don't pay to get up.

Safety LINK

With home burglaries and car thefts on the increase, more and more products and systems are being developed to protect against thieves. But you needn't spend much money to guarantee safety for your belongings.

Here are some expert's tips worth latching onto.

A snap lock is not adequate for your doors because it can be forced when a strip of celluloid is pushed through the slot between the door and the door frame. That's why experts recommend both chain locks and chain bolts. Bolts, attached to a welded chain, which extends from the door to inside the door frame cannot be readily forced open, and also give you the opportunity to see who is calling when you answer the door.

Case windows that open inward may be secured with a horizontal length of chain. And you can provide additional security for double hung windows by fastening links of chain between wooden window frame and trim in the same manner as your doors are secured.

And if you own a car port, experts say use a chain padlock between posts. Even if a thief is able to jump start your car, the chain will prevent him from backing it out without the padlock key. In your garage, chain your expensive gardening tools such as power mowers and your children's bikes, and padlock them too.

So far, our area has escaped the hail and tornadoic like winds of the past weeks, and many farmers have started their irrigation wells on cotton and feed.

Wood and helpers Mrs. Jim Roberts and Mrs. Don Probasco met at the church in Fellowship Hall to have a house party Thursday night. The girls and leaders enjoyed supper, then several games were played. Beverly Kinnibrugh led in skits and Renda Trice gave a song which she had written. Mrs. Probasco helped with games, and girls enjoyed home made popcorn, and refreshments of cookies, punch, dips and chips. The girls slept in sleeping bags and cots, and in the morning they enjoyed breakfast together. Those who were present were Pam and Cam Probasco, Darla Milton, Beverly Kinnibrugh, Arlaime Hamn, Dee Julian, Katharine Wanda and Donna Powell, Donette Marble, Renda Trice, Carl Roberts, Deneen Johnson, and Pam Reeves.

McGUIRE CATCHES UP ON SPORTS HAPPENINGS

Surprises Many For City Coaching Expatriate

By BURLE PETTIT
Executive Sports Editor
Lubbock Avalanche-Journal

Bob McGuire was surprised to hear Estacado had won state. In fact, Bob McGuire was surprised to hear about Estacado at all. When he pulled out of the Lubbock school system five years ago to chase a dream down a world-wide path, the Northeast Lubbock school was nothing more than a scheme in some conference room.

"I guess the main thing I've missed has been the Lubbock and area sports news," McGuire was saying. "Gosh, this football championship is the greatest thing I've ever heard of."

McGuire arrived in town Tuesday from Wethersfield AFB in Essex County of Jolly of England, where he teaches history and physical education to American dependents of junior high age.

For five years, McGuire served as head track coach at Lubbock High. In 1964, he asked for a leave of absence to attend the Olympic Games in Tokyo, figuring that, as both a world history teacher and track coach, the journey would be to his educational benefit. The school brass balked at the idea, so McGuire resigned and went anyway.

From Tokyo, Bob made it all the way around the world, getting back to the stateside in 1965. After returning unemployed to Lubbock, he worked a year in the Ideal school systems and then decided to take off abroad once more.

"I had been impressed with England when I came through there a year before," McGuire recalls. "So that's where I headed and where I've been ever since. I love it."

McGuire is solely responsible for the girls track program which now thrives in Lubbock. Back in the early 60s while he was at Lubbock High, McGuire built a track team around Mary Carl Rose, one of the most outstanding female cinder stars in Texas history. From there, the program has developed steadily.

Being of sound mind and body, Bob has noticed a remarkable difference in the miniskirted lassies of the Continent and the Colonies. "They wear them much shorter over there," he chuckled. "And consequently, I've seen lots of good track prospects . . . with legs like that, they'd have to be great hurdlers."

Athletics at Bob's school consisted mainly of soccer until he arrived. Promptly he installed a track program for both boys and girls.

"We had some pretty good athletes, too," he said. "I guess the best one was a ninth grader who went 38.5 in the triple jump and ran a 10.2 hundred. Gee, it's too bad they won't allow these kids to play football. But air force policy prohibits it below the high school level."

McGuire suffers from the lack of statewide communications, particularly on football weekends. "Every Saturday, the AFRN (Armed Forces Radio Network) broadcasts one college game. I got to hear the Texas-Houston game early in the season. But, because of the time differential, you have to sit up until about 2 a.m. to hear the kickoff. You begin to get pretty sleepy by the time the fourth quarter rolls around."

Living expenses, generally, are lower in England, McGuire has found, particularly where food and clothing are concerned. "But electricity and gasoline are much, much higher. If a family used as much power over there as they normally do here, their electric bills would run more than $100 per month. Gasoline is 78 cents a gallon."

Bob subscribes to five daily newspapers, and he praises the writing displayed in all of them.

"They really play up the college riots taking place here," he said. "And any story concerning violence in America — Texas in particular — always gets page one play. "The sports sections are hard to get used to. Darts and badminton will be the top story on many days. And any day you open the sports section, you'll see a picture of some captain of a darts team being presented a trophy."

McGuire is visiting in Lubbock for only a week, then he'll return to his adopted home just 55 miles northeast of London. But it appears now that he'll be out of the coaching business. He expects to be named principal shortly after his return.

"I really like it over there," he repeated. "I admire the people for their simple sincerity. There is not the general resentment for Americans I had expected. Oh, you'll find it if you go to London and get among the student crowd. But most of the students are foreigners themselves, so they don't reflect the true English attitude."

McGuire spent more than an hour pouring over the A-J bound files. But each time he would go back to the ones describing Estacado's route to the state title. "This is something I really hated to read," he said. "The beating Texas row."

McGuire is a former coach at Floydada High School.

NEWS FOR HOMEMAKERS

by Sherry Mullin
Floyd County H. D. Agent

KEEP IT COOL, KEEP IT CLEAN

"It's just another one of those 24 hour viruses," reported the mother of a young school boy. But is it? The boy may have a food borne illness.

Summer is here, signaling backyard barbecues, picnics, camping trips to mountains in general, enjoyment of the great outdoors.

And where you find people outdoors you'll usually find food - in endless variety that stimulates even the weakest appetite.

Warm weather stimulates not only humans, but microorganisms too. And, spore-producing microorganisms can affect all perishable foods.

The salmonella bacteria is a major cause of stomach upset and diarrhea. Onset of vomiting and diarrhea usually occurs eight to twelve hours after eating contaminated foods.

The greatest danger from salmonella infection is for young children and elderly people.

What can you do to protect your family from this illness? Your first responsibility lies in the way you handle food as it comes from the grocery store.

Select fresh meat and poultry and processed products like sausage, bacon, and luncheon meat - only from clean, refrigerated display cases. Reject products when the package, plastic wrap, or vacuum seal is broken or punctured.

Return any products to the store which you feel are suspicious - most stores will replace the item willingly.

And don't buy any dented cans, or jars of food showing signs of gas or pressure such as bubbles or bulged lids, or abnormal odor or color. . . even if they are on sale. It's also a good idea not to accept gifts of home-canned foods unless you are sure they were processed under established guidelines, such as the USDA's.

In selecting frozen meat or poultry products, make sure they are solidly frozen.

At the check-out counter, ask the clerk to pack meat and poultry and other refrigerated or frozen items together. This will help maintain their cool temperature until you get home. Protect these perishable foods from warm temperatures at all times - don't dally on your way home.

At home, store meat and poultry promptly in the coldest part of your refrigerator. Loosen the wrappings of fresh meat and poultry to allow some circulation of air. Store cured and smoked products in their original wrappings - follow any storage directions on the label.

Now what happens to these micro-organisms when food is cooked? Once the temperature gets above 120 degrees F, yeasts and molds are killed, while the activity of bacteria only begins to slow down. If the internal temperature of meat and poultry reaches 160 degrees, most food poisoning bacteria are destroyed.

However, as food cools down after cooking, it can become recontaminated by you, the equipment, or air. And when the temperature cools down to room temperature, these bacteria will become very active unless the food is refrigerated immediately.

Now, where do the food poisoning bacteria come from? The major source is the uninformal or careless food handler.

If you have a cold or other infection, open cuts, sores, or boils you can contaminate both the food and the equipment you are using.

These bacteria are also carried by flies, cats, dogs and rodents. . . or unclean utensils.

In most cases, how the homemaker stores, prepares, and serves the food will determine whether or not her family gets food poisoning.

What foods are most affected by food poisoning bacteria? Any foods which have been handled, such as salads, sandwich fillings, casseroles, and leftovers. Or foods which have not reached the boiling point during cooking like meats, poultry, stuffings, and custards.

Some advice for picnic lovers - use a good cooler or insulated food carrier. It is the best security measure you can have for a healthful summer.

Use the cooler for cooked meat and poultry items such as fried chicken, cooked sausages, or luncheon meats. These are good picnic products because they are less susceptible to rapid spoilage than uncooked foods.

Leave the actual preparation of sandwiches, sandwich fillings, and salads until you are ready to eat. Refrigerate the ingredients, especially for salads until you are ready to eat. Mix just before you eat. This is particularly important in any food where salad dressings or mayonnaise are used since foods are most susceptible to food poisoning bacteria.

Never carry hot foods, such as fried chicken, baked beans, macaroni and cheese, or casseroles, unless they are packed in an insulated container - or are thoroughly chilled first, refrigerated, and then reheated at the picnic.

If you don't want to carry a cooler, plan your picnic meal around "cool-proof foods" such as bread, cheese, hard cooked eggs, fresh fruit etc. For the meat item, choose any canned meat or poultry product that you can carry in the can, such as corned beef, chili, ham, or some of the dry or semi-dry sausages like salami, summer sausage, thuringer and lebanon bologna.

Remember you are the most important person in preventing harmful bacteria from contaminating your family's food.

Then, its up to you to "Keep it Cool" and "Keep it Clean."

Floyd Cancer Unit Gets Award For Exceeding Quota

Floyd County Unit of the American Cancer Society was presented an award for "Exceeding Quota" at an annual meeting of District 111-South held in Lubbock Tuesday of last week. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is county chairman.

District directors were also named at the meeting with Mrs. Owen Thornton of Lockney being named as a director and Mrs. Wilson as an assistant director.

Mrs. Pete McLaughlin of Plainview, who was also named to the state of district directors, led the opening session and Lubbock Mayor W. D. Rogers presented an "Honorary Lubbock Citizenship" to Curt Reinman, executive director of Austin.

Reinman discussed the computerized reporting system which will be in effect in September. From these reports which will be mailed to the national office of the ACS, each unit will be measured against their unit's potential to help them have a better knowledge of how to reach the people in the respective county.

Hale County chapter, ACS was among those receiving special awards at the buffet luncheon. Dr. J. Irvin Gaynor, Plainview Crusade Chairman, presided and presented the "Better Your Best" awards to Cochran and Dickens Counties. Cochran "Bettered Their Best" with 154 percent.

"Exceeding Quota" awards were presented to Cottle, Floyd, Hall and Parmer Counties. Hale County's awards were for the unit's work in public education in the fields of school and college programs, employee education programs and total program audience.

Dr. Gaynor presented Crosby County with the Education Award for clubs and organizations and King County with an Education Award for the Total Project Audience.

Special entertainment for the luncheon was furnished by Miss Lubbock of 1968, Peggy Kincannon. Featured speaker was Dr. Martin L. Dalton Jr., president of the Lubbock County ACS Board.

Dr. Dalton told delegates "We are beginning to win the battle against cancer." He stated that having a successful Crusade is most important to provide money for medical research.

Stressing that board members should seek out cancer patients who need service, Dr. Dalton pointed to the fact that no matter how many dressings were made, unless the patients receive them, they are of no value. He called for a "revolution in cancer control to create a cancer-free world," and challenged ACS volunteers to speed the conquest by their efforts.

Following group sessions, delegates reconvened for a "plans and evaluations" meeting.

ing. Highlights of each of the group sessions were presented. Mrs. McLaughlin gave the directors report and Reinman gave the division staff report. Mrs. McLaughlin also asked for group discussion how to stress the year-round program of the American Cancer Society through publicity.

Also discussed by delegates was the five-year pledge program for ACS volunteers and how to get this type of program to work effectively in individual counties.

Veterans Get New Benefit

President Nixon has signed into law the first direct Veteran Benefit measure passed by the Congress in his administration.

Among its principal provisions, PL 91-22, which became effective June 6, 1969, increases from $17,500 to $21,000 the maximum amount which the Veterans Administration may loan a Veteran for a home.

Also raised from $10,000 to $12,500 is the amount which the VA may grant paraplegic veterans for specially adopted housing.

Another provision of the new law extends the specially adapted housing benefit to Veterans who have either lost or lost use of one lower extremity and are suffering other service-connected neurological or orthopedic disability requiring use of a wheelchair.

Previously, only Veterans who had lost or lost use of both lower extremities as the result of military service were eligible for VA "wheelchair home" grants.

Finally, the new law relaxes the first lien requirements for VA-guaranteed home loans to permit guaranty of homes for Veterans where basic financing requires first lien security for monthly charges to homebuyers for development of community and recreational facilities.

BONUS DEADLINE
The Montana World War I Veterans' Bonus deadline is June 30, 1969. The applicant must have been a bona fide resident of Montana at time of entry into service. The Bonus pays $10 for each month of domestic service and $15 for each month of overseas service. Certain survivors are eligible. Apply to:

Texas Law Is Invalidated Dividends For Stockholders Of Santa Fe

Texas Secretary of State Martin Dies, Jr., said today that the United States Supreme Court's decision in a Louisiana case last week has invalidated a Texas law which restricts voting in revenue bond elections to property owners.

By statute the Secretary of State is the chief election officer of Texas and is responsible for obtaining and maintaining uniformity in the application, operation and interpretation of the state's election laws.

On Monday of last week the United States Supreme Court struck down a Louisiana law which gave only property taxpayers the right to vote in elections called to approve the issuance of revenue bonds by a municipal utility, on the ground that it violated the equal protection clause of the Federal Constitution because it excluded otherwise qualified voters who were as substantially affected and directly interested in the matter voted upon as those who were permitted to vote.

The Texas Constitution contains a provision that only qualified electors who own property which has been duly rendered for taxation are eligible to vote in an election for the purpose of issuing bonds. The Supreme Court of Texas has interpreted this provision as applying to elections for issuing public utility bonds which are to be retired from revenues produced by the utility, as well as to elections for issuing bonds to be retired by levy of a property tax.

Secretary Dies said that the property ownership requirement could no longer be imposed in future elections for issuance of revenue bonds. He pointed out that the United States Supreme Court's decision applies only to revenue bond elections and that the court has not ruled on the validity of a property ownership requirement in a tax bond election.

WORTH TALKING ABOUT

"I submit that preoccupation with demand-pull inflation reflects entirely too little recognition of the impact of cost-push inflation on the payments deficit. If our prices are increasingly noncompetitive, it is because our costs, especially our employment costs, are increasingly noncompetitive. Further, inasmuch as government is far and away the largest employer in the land, it follows that accelerating employment costs accelerate the cost of government. For the U. S. economy as a whole, if not for the entire world, employment costs account for three-quarters or more of all costs."

Groundwork Laid To Boost Area Economy

Plans were devised and guidelines and tools were discussed in Lubbock recently for giving the entire economy of the South Plains a "shot in the arm" through the South Plains Development (SPD) Program.

More than 200 key agricultural leaders and agribusinessmen from throughout 19 South Plains counties were on hand at the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill to set up an "action program" for boosting agriculture and related industries, according to Billy C. Gunter, SPD coordinator and district agricultural agent for District 2 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Purpose of the meeting was to revitalize efforts initiated at the outset of the SPD Program some two years ago," said Gunter, who presided at the gathering. "We wanted to get the program into the hands of the people and instill in them a desire for action. County Program Building Committees will particularly play an important role in implementing the program."

Featured speakers at the confab included Dr. L. S. Pope, Associate Dean of Agriculture at Texas A&M University; Dr. John E. Hutchison, Director of the Extension Service; Dr. Lowell Schake, Extension area livestock specialist; Dr. Robert B. Metzger, Extension area agronomist; Billy Wayne Clayton, State Representative and Executive Director of Water, Inc.; and Dr. James E. Osborn, Associate Professor at Texas Technological College.

Dr. Pope, in discussing area economic programs, pointed out that he was very impressed with programs already in effect throughout Texas and that they focus in the right direction. However, a time comes when we need to reorganize, set new goals and move ahead. Dr. Pope stated that Texas A&M University stands ready to provide any kind of service possible to make this venture fruitful.

Dr. Hutchison expressed similar views concerning the SPD Program. He said that, although substantial progress has been made in the past decade, average production ranges from about 25% to slightly more than 50% of the potential agricultural income if the results of proven research were to be put into practice in a coordinated manner.

Areas of economic emphasis vital to the development of the area were discussed by the other speakers. Dr. Schake pointed out that the next few years will bring many changes in livestock production. "Animal agriculture is one of the most dynamic industries in the world today," he stated, "I can easily envision a two-fold increase in cattle feeding within the next 5 years - and perhaps double again for the long range projection."

State Representative Clayton pointed out that none of the potential production of the South Plains area can become reality without adequate water and it is necessary to find sources other than those within our boundaries. He discussed the need for legislation that will provide the water necessary to the increase in agricultural production in years to come.

In discussing cotton and other important cash crops in the area, Dr. Metzger emphasized that cotton has an economic importance unmatched by any other crop in the area, yet we must be ever alert to take advantage of other alternative crops or enterprises that more profitably fit the individual's farming system. Also mentioned were the new USDA ginning laboratory and the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech where many of the problems in cotton production are being investigated.

"An arsenal of information is being assembled in this area to shoot down the cost of production while our quality continues to improve," stated the agronomist.

Dr. Osborn, in looking at the overall economy of the area quoted facts and figures showing the importance of agriculture in the South Plains area. He presented a vivid picture of past growth and of increased production in the future.

An important part of the day's program was the election of officers and executive committee members. Officers elected were Donnell Echols of Lamesa, president; Ray Poage of Slaton, vice-chairman; and R. N. McClain of Brownfield, secretary-treasurer.

Executive committee members include the following: W. B. Tilson, Plainview; A. C. Verner, Lubbock; Jack Buchanan, Big Spring; W. L. Goble, Levelland; Gene Templeton, Earth; Jim Davidson, Sudan; R. C. Mitchell, Lockney; Roy W. Wicker, Seagraves; Gerald Hanson, Stanton.

These officers and executive committee members will serve for one year.

By-laws for the SPD Program were also adopted at the meeting and particular areas of economic emphasis and possible task forces were discussed.

The 19 counties participating in the SPD Program are Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Cockran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Andrews, Martin, Howard and Midland.

Savings Bond Sale Reported

U. S. Savings Bond chairman of Floyd County, Jake Webb, reports May sales at $4,958. Cumulative sales stand at $49,289 of the 1969 goal of $180,000, 27 percent of its goal.

In answer to some questions arising in the Savings Bond program, Webb said if you are in doubt as to the value of U. S. Savings Bonds held over a period of years, bond tellers at banks and other financial institutions will be able to assist you. If bonds have been misplaced, write and explain circumstances to the Bureau of the Public Debt Division of Loans and Currency, 536 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill. 60605.

Question: Can a refund be obtained for a Savings Bond bought in connection with a chain letter scheme, which I understand, is illegal? Answer: To obtain refund, you should secure, fill in and file Form PD 2966. Forms may be obtained at banks or to address of Bureau of Public Debt.

neighbors were Carl Lyles and Slim Robertson. Three dollar (per ton) crooked head maize, four and a half cent cotton had made a pretty good dent in P. Q.'s finances when the depression came along and finished his farming business up. Life does things like that to people. A whole generation grew up around P.Q., while he was associated in one way or another in the retail oil business, not knowing that P.Q. at heart was a farmer. But Carl and Slim and numerous others will always remember him best as a farmer who "planted a straight row."

Dr. M. F. Husky's wife was Ora Shurbet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Shurbet. The couple had three sons, Ocie, Dallas and R.V. I think they moved from Floydada to Kennedy some time in the late twenties. Both Ocie and Dallas died while they were there, and Dr. Husky passed away some time after they moved to Dallas. Mrs. Husky now resides in Dallas, as does R. V., who is a pharmacist in that city.

Larry Robinson and other relatives. Mrs. Blanton Hartsell and Mrs. Joe Thurston came by to see Mrs. J. A. Hartsell Sunday evening on their way to church. She isn't feeling too well.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. D. Massingell of Phillips, who have been visiting in South Texas, and their grandson, Mike, who is going home with them to visit awhile, called on the J. E. Greens Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Parks and Leigh Ann of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Parks, Mrs. Frank Dunn, went to Lake McClellan, near Pampa Thursday, for a few days outing. They were joined there by Jay Frank Parks and wife of Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burrows of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Burrows and family of Midland visited Mrs. J. A. Hartsell Sunday.

"As you prepare to consider the Department of Agriculture Appropriations Bill for 1970 and the amendments that will be offered from the floor, we urge you to full consider the far-reaching impact of agriculture on our nation and its people, and we urge you to be extremely careful that your vote does not contribute to the crippling of agriculture, our nation's largest and most basic industry."

So reads a paragraph from a letter to all U. S. Senators written by Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

The Senate will soon be voting on the appropriations measure, and an amendment is certain to be offered that would limit the number of dollars that could be paid from the appropriation to any individual farm operator under 1970 farm programs.

The Appropriations Bill came through the House with an amendment limiting total price support and acreage diversion payments under all commodity programs, excluding sugar, to $20,000.

"Any limit on the payments a farmer can receive is a limit on the extent to which he can participate in existing commodity programs and would seriously impair the supply management effectiveness of those programs," the letter states, adding that because of the snap-back provision in the law for cotton, "... a payment limit at any level would bring about instant chaos in cotton marketing procedures."

The letter attempts to impress on the Senators the importance of agriculture to the overall economy of the nation, quoting at one point from the Agriculture Appropriations Committee Report of the House:

"If the United States of America were a primitive, isolated village of 20 persons, and if one of those twenty produced all of the food and most of the fiber for clothing consumed by the other 19, that one man would be hailed as the preeminent contributor to the commonweal. For they would see clearly, in these simple circumstances, that they depended on this single individual for the most basic necessities of life itself."

"Agriculture is the principal source of new wealth. It is the main provider of raw materials which support all segments of business and industry. Reliable estimates indicate that each dollar of wealth taken from the soil generates $7 of income throughout the rest of the economy," the letter notes.

"Agriculture is our largest industry. Its assets exceed those of any of the next 10 largest industries. It employs more workers than any other major industry. It employs seven times the number of people in the mining industry, 23 times the number in the oil and coal industry and five times the number in the automobile industry."

"Agriculture is one of the major markets for the products of labor and industry. It spends more for equipment than any of the other large industries. It uses more steel in a year than is used in a year's output of passenger cars. It uses more petroleum products than any other industry in the country."

"Agriculture uses more rubber each year than is required to produce tires for 6 million automobiles, and its inventory of machinery and equipment exceeds the assets of the steel industry and is five times that of the automobile industry."

Johnson's letter says "It is no exaggeration to say that the health of the national economy is dependent on the health of agriculture, and agriculture cannot be healthy under present farm programs if its larger producers are to be discriminated against through a limit on their participation."

Appealing to Senators from urban areas, the letter points out that the U.S. consumer spends only 17.2 percent of his disposable income for food while Englishmen spend 30 percent, most other Europeans spend over 30 percent, the Russian spends close to 50 percent and the Chinaman's food budget runs almost two-thirds of his total income.

"Your vote against a payment limitation on the 1970 Agriculture Appropriations Bill will be a vote to continue agriculture's enormous contribution to the National economy and a vote to continue the provision of high quality, low-cost foods and fibers for your constituents," the letter concludes.
