WATER INC.

By Jake Street

We have about reached the point where we have developed practically all of the water sources within the Water, Inc. region. Our present high economic level can be maintained or expanded only if supplemental water supplies are imported into the region.

The water deficit for this region is growing. It is estimated that the West Texas area alone will eventually require an additional 25-million acre-feet of imported water. New Mexico and Oklahoma areas have advised that they will need 4-million acre-feet each year for their existing needs and immediate future development. All in all, we are talking about a lot of water.

Numerous sources have been mentioned. Considering such distant sources as Canada and the Pacific Northwest with the attendant geographical and political problems associated with such sources, we have concluded we must look nearer home.

The states of Kansas and Nebraska, in cooperation with Federal agencies, are developing state plans for the maximum beneficial use of their water supplies. Matter-of-fact, they have announced they could use another 9-million acre-feet if it were possible.

Oklahoma is in somewhat of a more favorable position with its bountiful rainfall in the eastern half of the state. However, Oklahoma has no surplus water to export into other states. They need all they have - and maybe even more.

The foregoing review of water availability brings us to the point of considering the Mississippi River surplus water as the most logical source of supplemental water for the Water, Inc. region.

What is surplus water in the Lower Mississippi River? We must first adhere to the basic principle that only water in excess of the foreseeable needs of the states of the Lower Mississippi Valley is that which can be considered as surplus. That determination has yet to be made. We do know that over 500-million acre-feet of water is entering the Gulf. How much of this is surplus is not presently known. Some certainly, but certainly not all.

We must recognize that plans for movement of any water from the Mississippi River must be compatible with the affected states water development plans and to the maximum extent possible must aid the economy of these states.

MRS. LARRY DAVID COLTHARP

Miss Williams, Larry David Coltharp Married

An impressive wedding ceremony was read in the First Baptist Church in Waco at 7 o'clock p.m., July 19th, for Betsy King Williams and Larry David Coltharp. Dr. Henry Jackson Flanders Jr., Professor of Religion at Baylor University, performed the vows.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Williams of Waco are parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony W. Coltharp of Floydada are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a formal gown of silk organza over English net accented by elbow length sleeves and a scalloped neckline. Seed pearls and re-embroidered lace adorned the empire bodice. Her detachable train was highlighted by lace medallions and a bandeau of lace and pearl English net roses held her veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white daisies.

Her only attendant was Mrs. Edward Daniel Sulak of Houston. She wore a formal gown of yellow linen trimmed at the sleeves and empire waistline by white Irish lace. Her bouquet was of yellow daisies.

The bridegroom's father was his best man. Ushers included K. Leo Smith and Joe Smalley of Lubbock; Fred R. Wood and Walter B. King, of Waco; Arthur W. Coltharp, Baytown; Robert L. Fitzhugh, Alexandria, La.; and Edward D. Sulak of Houston.

Organ selections were by Mrs. W. J. Wimpee. Mr. and Mrs. Williams were hosts for the reception which followed in the drawing room of the Baylor Student Union Building.

After a wedding trip the couple will be at home in Waco where both are teachers in the Richfield High School.

are looking forward to the month of August when they will hold a family reunion upon the arrival of a son from Vietnam, Capt. Melvin McPeak is due back August 20 in Yuma, Ariz., after 14 months overseas. After a furlough with homefolk he and his wife and children will depart for Hawaii where they will be stationed for the next three years. Capt. McPeak will be here in time to help his mother and sister celebrate their birthdays August 25 and 28th respectively. He has served the past 16 years in the Marine Corp.

THE J. R. White family is enjoying the company of their son, Dennis, who just recently returned from combat service in Vietnam. Dennis went to Vietnam in November of 1967 along with another Floydada boy, Paul Stout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stout, who will be returning to the states from Vietnam around the 10th of August. Both have been home on leave since but returned to Vietnam for another tour of duty with the U.S. Marines. I call these men boys, which they are, when they leave here, but they return to the arms of loved ones as men. Dennis will be stationed in California at Camp Pendleton and Paul at Camp LeJeune, N.C.

MIKE Hollums, also in the Marine Corp., is due in Floydada for a visit with his grandparents before departing for a tour of duty in Vietnam. I understand we have several other Floyd County men with orders for Vietnam but I couldn't verify all the names at this writing.

CHARLEY Berry said he never saw such a fantastic spread of food for the McCoy reunion held Sunday. He said there were more people there than usual and that all were eagerly awaiting next year's event.

THAT'S meddlins for this week.

Job Applications For June Are Up

Job applications during June at Texas Employment Commission offices took an upward turn as students, 1969 high school graduates and other sought employment. Job applications jumped to 92,987, up 35,507 from May.

After allowing for the three-day longer work month, most of the changes in activities from last month represent those occurring each year in June. Testing activities, both proficiency and specific aptitude, were up.

June nonfarm job placements increased over May by 8,675, largely in the "under 22" age group.

"Local offices filled almost 19,000 more farm job openings in June than they filled in May, mostly because of blackberry, vegetable and broomcorn harvesting, and cotton cultivation activities," said R. L. Coffman, Texas Employment Commission Administrator.

Unemployment insurance claims for June were up over those for May by about 8,000.

ELECTRICITY: WANTED HERE

Every year more and more people trade the bustle and noise of the city for the quiet contemplative air of the country. Some move permanently. Others plan weekend cottages "away from it all" . . . except electricity. These people take the rural electric cooperative for granted. They expect and receive dependable low cost electricity and first class service. Every year the LIGHTHOUSE ELECTRIC CO-OPERATIVE makes long range studies to determine its power requirement so it will be ready with an abundant supply of low cost power when it is needed. So come on out to the country. The LIGHTHOUSE ELECTRIC CO-OPERATIVE has power to spare. Helping Texas Grow.

VOTE YES FOR AMENDMENT NO.2 AUGUST 5TH

OVER A BARREL

The High Plains' Economic Future Rest Solely On Receiving A Supplemental Water Supply For An Outside Source. Importation Can Not Become A Reality Unless The Texas Water Plan Is Developed!

THE TEXAS WATER PLAN

The Texas Water Plan is a comprehensive long-range guide to serve as a basis for solving the water problems of the State of Texas over the next 50 years. The plan has been left flexible to allow change, correction, addition or deletion as future studies, needs or lack of justifiable demand may be deemed necessary by the State of Texas.

Since 1958, the State has spent approximately $10 million developing the Texas Water Plan. The time has come for Texans to decide whether this investment is to bear fruit or be thrown away.

Amendment No. 2 (HJR 9) will ask the voters of Texas to give the Texas Legislature the authority to authorize the Texas Water Development Board to sell up to an additional $3 1/2 billion in bonds over a 40-50 year period in increments as needed. No bonds are expected to be issued before 1975 for construction of the proposed system or until Texas has cured an out-of-state supplemental water supply.

The adoption of Amendment No. 2 will place Texas in a much stronger position for seeking the federal assistance necessary for the project, since the Legislature and the citizens have expressed readiness to provide financing for their proportionate share of the cost in implementing the Texas Water Plan.

All phases of the Texas economy have a major stake in water development. The State carefully points out that every source of employment is dependent on a supply of good quality water in adequate amounts.

THE DECISION IS YOURS!

VOTE YES To Amendment 2 Aug. 5th

"We need your vote for Amendment No. 2 on Aug. 5."

Youngster Baseball Game Ends In Hilarious 6 6 Tie

The "Youngster Baseball game" last Friday night ended on a hilarious, disputed, unofficial 6-6 tie. . . according to announcer Floyd Bradley and a group of official women umpires.

The game, matched between adult managers, baseball officials and coaches was enjoyed by all. . . except possibly Jr. Martinez, who was struck by a swinging bat and later in the game hit on the arm with the ball.

Freddie Morren had a lot of fun hitting home runs, making impossible fielding plays. Dale Kincer got to bat all the time, although not playing in field all the time.

Baseball president Carl Armstrong pitched the slow ball for his team, the "Never Wases" against the "Has Beens", but was soon pulled for a faster pitcher.

Announcer Bradley introduced "Has Been" fielder Wendell Tooley as "Fanny Tooley" because he always fanned. Just to show the announcer he could hit the ball, Tooley hit the first ball pitched. . . a pop up fly to the pitcher.

"Has Been" fielder Jack Yearly made the first score for his team. . . and made one of the few field catches for his opponent's "out."

Bill Hale played all over first base. . . didn't break his leg this year.

Midway in the game, the mosquito spray plane came over and completely de-loused all the lousy players.

Armstrong reports that $70 was made on the game and this will be used in helping the teams go to state playoffs.

Red Sox Win American League Championship Over Mets

Last Thursday night's play-off battle for the championship of the American League in the Freshman baseball competition was one of the best games of the season.

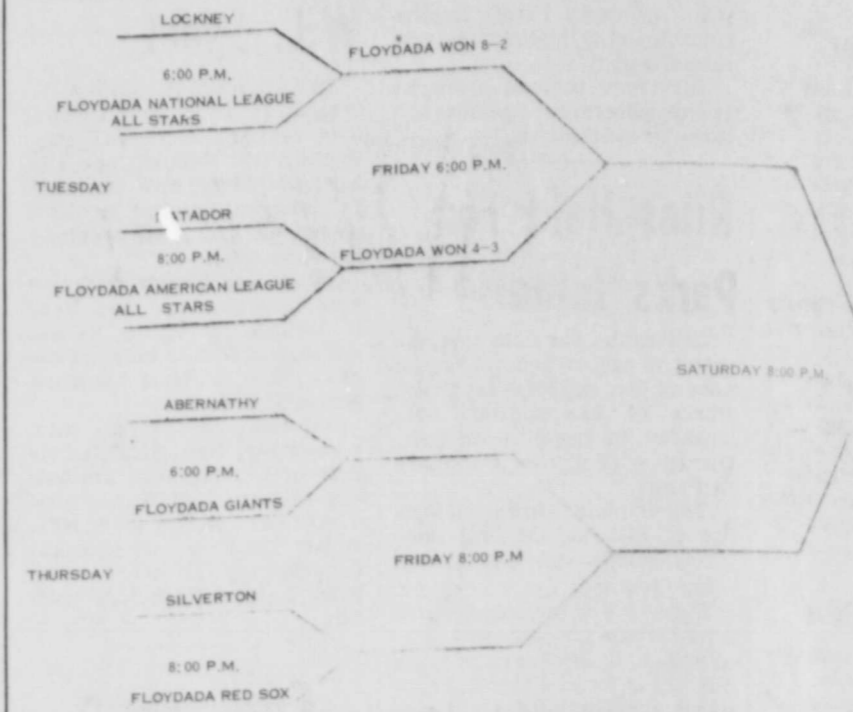

It ended with a tight 1-0 win for the Red Sox over the Mets. It was a pitcher's duel all the way, with Mets pitcher Craig Hambright and Red Sox pitcher Rex Yearly firing the ball flawlessly inning after inning.

The Mets threatened two times when they had runners tagged out at home plate.

The Red Sox will advance to regional tournament play next week at Matador, along with the Giants who won the National League pennant.

"Offensive balance is the big hope for Friona, which counts 4 offensive and 6 defensive regulars back from a 7-3. QB Danny Kendrick, FB Isidore Cordova, HB Ted Procter, center Donnie Carthel, guard James Weatherly and tackle Joe Boggess make up a solid nucleus. Nor should the contributions of HB Larry Smith, FB Donnie Lewellen, tackles Tim Oden and Floyd Schlenker (200) and guard Charles Fangman be overlooked.

"Hale Center, counting 4 offensive and 4 defensive hands from a 6-4, puts its faith in such veterans as center Don Brown, HB Tommy Dyer, FB Johnny Davis (6-1, 195), tackles Jimmy Shenck (205) and Tim Hill (205) and guard Dowell Lynch. Committee Of 500

Smith recently organized a 500-member committee of prominent Texans, led by former Govs. John Connally, Price Daniel and Allan Shivers to work for the amendment's passage.

Scattered, unorganized but angry opponents have begun to make themselves heard.

Some conservationists fear the plan would cause widespread destruction of natural river basins and estuaries.

Other opponents object to the use of bonds, instead of direct appropriations, to finance Texas' share of the plan's cost. They say the cost will be doubled by interest payments. There will be some tax burden, too, in servicing the debt before the water users pick up the cost of the various projects. The Texas Research League estimates $630 million in tax revenue will be needed to pay interest and principal from 1978 to CLEANING WORLD" dared its 32,000 readers to clean the spot without damaging the material. King was one of the drycleaners in this area who did a perfect job.

The "Spotting & Finishing Award", which is now prominently displayed in his store, reads: "To Russell King, Russell's Cleaners, in recognition of professional drycleaning skill demonstrated by actual test performance."

King was born and reared in Floydada, a graduate of FHS, and has lived here all his life except for five years.

He went into the dry cleaning business in 1946.

He has one son, Dennis, who is now at North Texas State University.

He believes the future of Floydada looks real, real good. "It is one of the few country towns that is holding its own and gaining," King said.

His business motto is, "When we clean, we clean, clean."

Will We Accept Our Responsibility To Our Senior Citizens?

The subject today is not a pleasant one. It is one that we have pushed aside too long—so long, in fact, that we have almost reached the point of no return as far as thousands of elderly people in our State are concerned.

I want to talk about these elderly people. I want to act in their behalf to you, and to many people like you, and ask you to carry the message wherever you go. For too long, these senior citizens, most of whom have made a contribution to our society, have had no representation and have been at the mercy of an indifferent public.

We have been indifferent because we have been uninformed about their plight. This is why I want to try to bring the facts to you today. After you hear them, I feel you will know we MUST pass Amendment 5 which will be voted on August 5.

In Texas, we have OVER a quarter of a million old age pensioners trying to live on an average grant of $58.96 a month. Now—think about this

The longest loaf of bread ever baked measured 20 feet 5 inches—not nearly long enough for the longest sausage, which measured 2,000 feet in length for a minute. How would you like to try to live on that amount for one week? Just ONE week? I already know the answer without you telling me.

Many of us spend more than $58.96 on a single fishing trip, or a hunting trip, or an out of town football weekend. Please ask yourself one question—will you continue to enjoy these pleasure weekends if you fail to help pass Amendment 5?

We have thousands of blind people in Texas who are exist- are larger than that just for one week.

In spite of this, there are people in this room who will pay air conditioning bills for the month of July that will equal or exceed the amount the blind people have to live on. When you think about it, is it too much to ask when we urge you to support Amendment 5 and ask you to ask your friends to do the same thing?

We also have thousands of completely and totally disabled citizens who are trying to live on $59.74 a month. This is difficult to believe when many of you have grocery bills that

by Sherry Mullin
Floyd County H. D. Agent

The variety of cantaloups influences its shape, thickness of its meat and the percentage of sugar that it contains. Some of the new varieties have tasty meat that is 2 inches thick.

When shopping for cantaloupe, look at the color. Select a melon that is green in color with a slight appearance of yellow or orange. This is the period of the highest sugar content and greatest flavor.

Melons that are predominately yellow or orange are over-ripe. Flavor and sugar content has begun to disappear.

Another guideline is to check the netting, it should be deep and uniform, with no bald spots or smooth areas unless it is one of the few "slick varieties."

Check the stem end for a depressed scar. If more than 1/2 of the stem is attached to the melon, it is under ripe, and will have quite firm meat with a poorly developed flavor.

Be sure there are no soft spots or insect spots on a cantaloupe.

Select a melon that is well shaped - round to oval and of medium size. Small the stem end, it should provide a good cantaloupe aroma.

Store cantaloupe in the refrigerator, for unrefrigerated melons deteriorate rapidly. Once cut, the melon should be tightly wrapped to avoid dehydration, shrinkage and flavor contamination of other refrigerated items.

Have you tried cantaloupe pie? This pie has a pleasing flavor that might surprise you.

CANTALOUPE PIE
1 medium ripe cantaloupe, peeled and diced
1/4 cup margarine or butter
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 egg yolks, well beaten
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 tablespoon pineapple flavoring.

MERINGUE
3 egg whites
1/3 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon pineapple flavoring
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Add 1/2 cup water to diced cantaloupe and cook until soft, mash to a pulp. Add margarine, sugar, egg yolks, and flour. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add vanilla and pineapple flavoring. Pour into baked pie shell and cover with meringue. Bake in 425 degree oven until meringue is lightly browned. Makes 1 nine inch pie.

Tulia Manufacturing Firm Buys California Electric Company

FLOYD DATA

Sam H. Murrif, president of Affiliated Manufacturing & Supply, Inc., formerly B & W Products Co. of Tulia, has announced that the Tulia firm has purchased the Electric Pony Express Co. of Santa Fe Springs, Calif.

Another division of the Tulia company manufactures tool bar and feed lot equipment with Bates in charge of production. Still another division, of which Al Burks is in charge, is engaged in selling and distributing livestock pharmaceuticals. At present this division is servicing 70 feedlots in the area.

For more than 30 years, the California based company has been engaged in the manufacture of battery driven equipment including warehouse tractors, personnel carriers, fork lifts, and a variety of other power driven trucks used by airports, hospitals, grocery and drug warehouses and other activities using equipment especially adapted for special needs.

In addition, the company manufactures trailers which are drawn by the battery driven carriers, as well as parts.

BRANCH OF FIRM
For the present, the California company will be operated as a branch of the parent company in Tulia. Bill R. Rasor will be in charge of the California plant which will continue to manufacture vehicles and equipment and direct the sales organization in the Western U.S.

The Tulia plant already is in the process of tooling for the manufacture and assembly of this equipment as well as establishing a nationwide sales organization.

Other officers of Affiliated Manufacturing & Supply are Sam T. Murrif, executive vice-president and general manager; P. L. Francis, Artesia, N.M., vice president; Elwood Bates, secretary; and Richard Griffith, Portales, N.M., treasurer.

Mrs. J. M. Williams of Floydada and her sister, Mrs. N. L. Cowan of Washington, D.C. are both reported to be improving in Lubbock Methodist Hospital. The women are under treatment for injuries sustained in a car mishap near Benjamin Monday of last week.

Mrs. Williams is suffering from a broken pelvis and broken ribs, and Mrs. Cowan a broken leg. Both are in room 631.

1969 WHIRLWIND ANNUAL... Two of the happiest and proudest of those receiving the new 1969 Whirlwind Annual are Janet Milam, the annual sponsor, and Sherry Crutchfield, the annual editor. FLOYD PHILOSOPHER Comes Up With A Final Solution For The Traffic Congestion Problem

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm attacks the traffic problem this week, but we're not sure he wins.

Dear editor:

Five cars drove past my mail box on the road near this Johnson grass farm yesterday morning in a span of two minutes and I walked down to see what was causing all the heavy traffic and while I didn't find out, any more than I've ever been able to figure out where all the cars are going bumper to bumper seven days a week on a regular highway, I did find a newspaper some passenger had thrown out.

In it I found an article that reported that a big bridge built four years ago to allow traffic to go around Manhattan - which certainly is a good idea, I've never seen a city yet I hadn't rather go around than through - last year handled 29 million cars, trucks and buses. Faced with such a mess of cars, the city decided to solve the problem by adding a second deck.

The second deck will now enable the bridge to carry 48 million cars a year, after which, when that proves inadequate, I don't know what they'll do.

It is hard for me to imagine 48 million cars passing by one spot every year - can you imagine that many going past The Hesperian office? - and the problem is increased when you realize half are going in one direction, half in the other. If they were in the same direction, you could see the end of the procession but like it is, they aren't getting there. The thing could go on forever. If you add another deck, you invite another

I have a theory on solving this problem. It is to stop trying to keep the road from becoming obsolete. Now, one end of a new highway is finished before the other end is finished. This drives people to widen or double the first section, then the last section time to start over on the first section.

The entire policy should be reversed. We made our mistake was, when we widened roads, rushing in to gravel roads. When they became paved, we rushed in and built paved roads, lanes, then six, then eight.

Anybody should have seen that roads we built the more cars we had, the more cars we had. Highways attract cars like sugar.

If we really want to stop the traffic we'll stop building highways. If this is not perfectly clear, come into Floydada and explain if you get somebody to fill up in the road going by my house, it's too narrow too for safe driving.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

HAIR-RAISING CUSTOMS

Tressed for the Occasion

A fortnightly shampoo was enough for the well-groomed woman of fifty years ago who believed that combing and brushing—not washing—was the last word in hair care.

In the 20's, flappers washed and set their bobbed tresses once a week while today's cool mods spend so much time shampooing, tinting, frosting, and combing their free-swinging locks that men wonder how they have any time left over for homework and hobbies.

But no matter how lovely a girl looks, she spoils her good appearance every time she combs or fusses with her hair in public.

"Of course, every girl must carry a comb wherever she goes, but she should use it in the ladies room not the library—and never, never at a restaurant or near food," cautions Ann Evans, grooming consultant for Ace Comb Company.

Miss Evans adds the following useful tips to young men and women who are job hunting.

- 1—Take a comb with you but don't let it show at the interview.
- 2—Don't run your hands through your hair when being interviewed, as this indicates a lack of interest in the job.

Whether you're a job or just want good appearance, pay attention to your hair.

People may be looking over with a fine-tooth comb.

You And Your Health

On the one hand we have an undernourished, or, maybe overweight teenager, with abundant acne and poor school performance, despite a normal, maybe above normal I.Q.

On the other hand, we see a middle aged housewife with diffuse complaints, and backaches. A 76 year old man also fits in the picture, with complete appetite loss, and persistent tiredness and irritability. What can so many different patients have in common, why do we list them in one group?

Could it be that the teenager revealed a constant hostility between her and her parents, the housewife a constant and increasing estrangement from her husband, the old gentleman a cold and rejective attitude by his children, who patronize him for one thing, but, at the same time don't understand that he could still be active and about, helping around and feeling that he still has a reason to live?

The key word that brings all of the previous under a common denomination, is the following: it is a question of, or rather, the lack of UNDERSTANDING.

Nowadays, more often than ever before, we hear discussions and see the results of lack of tolerance between ethnic groups, age groups and generations, nations and governments, employers and unions. There is a persistent trend to widen and broaden the gap caused by loss of confidence, by mistrust and lack of faith.

All those world moving and confusing problems are rooted, as is natural, in the individuals that compose those groups, because, each nation, each race, each union is made up of people, human beings, like you and me.

If we look around, even in our own homes, we will probably find everyday incidents in which we openly ignore that the people around us are individuals, all different from each other, therefore, we'll often expect for them to react very differently from what they often do, and frustration will ensue. We have discussed, quite often already, that frustration leads us to that letdown and fatigue feeling that we so often experience in daily life. The most usually found misunderstanding, in our homes, is that called so descriptively: generation gap. But, this is, like many others, simply a label, that provides, not a key or clue to evade this problem, but simply, by making it a conversation piece, increases its reality and presence.

The first step to take, is to understand that this would not exist, if we'd provide environmental and individual circumstances where understanding is furthered. Generations are simply an abstraction, it is the individual, it is YOU and ME, that counts, and with this understanding we can rapidly progress in making this issue a nonentity. This can only be accomplished by replacing the readiness to shut some one else's mind off, for the will to make room for other people's egos, besides our own. Harry and Bonaro Overstreet, in their book: "The Mind Goes Forth" state in the foreword:

"We believe that the most appropriate drama in which humans can engage is that of understanding. This is the drama of trying to see the other person's point of view: of trying to look at problems through other people's concerns and life conditions. Wherever this drama is enacted, the qualities that make us human have a chance to find expression and endow life with meaning." Better understanding furthers happier people, hence, healthier people. The adults are those that should partake more than halfways in understanding, because they have the knowledge, and the experience, but, unfortunately, a mental laziness seems to be the curse on our twentieth century. Maybe our youth can help to make them see their errors, by loving tolerance, and good will.

Martin Buber wrote in his book, called "Eclipse of God": "To be told is a glorious thing when one has not unlearned what it means to begin." And, the Overstreet brothers add "It is a glorious thing, to have friends who can invite us to new beginnings."

Till next time.....

This week's winners of the encyclopedia are:

Virginia Grimmer who asked:

"When and by whom was the bicycle invented?"

The first two-wheeled vehicle with a steering device was designed by Baron Karl von Drais in 1816. He called it the draisine. But a crude, two-wheeled vehicle propelled by the feet was popular as early as 1690.

LEGAL NOTICES

Being certified by the Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of Texas for this purpose, the Southwestern Peanut Growers' Association of Gorman, Texas proposes a referendum election on September 24, 1969, under provisions of House Bill 764, 61st Legislature on the proposition of whether or not peanut producers in the State of Texas shall assess themselves a maximum amount of $1.00 per net ton (farmers stock basis) to be collected at the point of first processing or sale and to elect members for a 9-man commodity producers board to administer proceeds of such assessment to be used for research, disease and insect control, education, and promotion designed to encourage the production, marketing, and use of peanuts. The referendum and election will be held by mail ballot which will be provided to all eligible voters not later than 15 days prior to the election. Ballots must be mailed to the polling place at Gorman, Texas before midnight of the date of the election. Any person within this state engaged in the business of producing, or causing to be produced peanuts for commercial purposes is eligible to vote, including owners of farms and their tenants and sharecroppers, if such person would be required to pay the assessment proposed. Any person qualified to vote at the referendum may place his name in nomination for membership on the proposed commodity producers board by application to the above organization signed by himself and at least ten other persons eligible to vote in the referendum. Such applications must be filed at least 30 days prior to the election date. Any person qualified to vote who does not receive a ballot prior to September 9, 1969, may obtain one at his local County Agent's office. (8-7-69)
