COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

In my cogitations I often find myself cogitating or musing over the peculiarities, the virtues, the failings and idiosyncracies of the American people, although as a rule and as a whole, they are the best people on earth, the most sympathetic, the most charitable, the most sanguine, ardent, hopeful, resourceful, heroic, of all the various tribes of nationalities of the entire earth.

Yet, when confronted by an oppressive or depressive, or disastrous condition, they are more ready to throw reason to the whirlwind and adopt the mob spirit and the more ready, willing and even eager to engage in the hazardous game of "follow the leader," let that leader be whom he may or what he may. More ready to fall down and worship false gods, to resort to necromancy, witchcraft, crystal reading, sorcery, astrology, and what-not else, than any other people on the face of the globe. Of course, there are reasons for all such.

I read an article not so many months ago, written by some prominent writer, but I cannot now recall the name, in which it was stated, that practically every man in authority in the city of Washington, from the president down through the cabinet members and through both houses of congress, has his own particular "Witch of Endor," to whom he goes, before he will pass on any subject of importance, engage in any line of business or enter any sort of encounter. When approached on any question to which he had given no particular thought, he is passive as a child regarding the matter, until he has counseled his own special hallucinator, (I cannot think of any better word, though really there is no such word) after which he becomes brazen and even arrogant regarding the matter in question, and always veering in the direction advised by his chosen seer.

Now, it occurs to me that this is one of the worst afflictions this or any other nation should have to contend with, when those who are supposed to be our most intelligent men and endowed with the strongest power of reasoning, so limply throw this reasoning power to the wind and accept the cheap and harmful edict of the sorcerer, who gains his information from communication with the evil spirits, rather than trusting to the cosmic reasoning provided by the Almighty God, the source of all true wisdom.

It occurs to me, that our government and its people, are just now, beginning to come out from under one of those conditions that are mentioned in the first paragraph of this effusion, one which has lasted for at least 16 years, much longer than any such condition has ever lasted in time gone by, and which might have been cured many years ago if good sound reasoning with its resultant sound judgment had been used instead of political chicanery, quack nostrums and subterfuges in easy-to-take doses, sugar-coated with easy jobs, free checks and other honeyed emoluments at government expense. For such treatment has only prolonged the disease. But because the remedy prescribed was good to the palate, the people continued to take it, just as they used to take Bull's Bitters and Lemon-ginger for every imaginable ill.

However, if one is to place any confidence in what one reads in the newspapers and magazines or hears over the radio, the people are beginning to gradually emerge from the effects of this political cataclysm, and getting well on their way to recovery. Especially does this seem apparent if we are to believe what is written and said by our leading editors, columnists and radio commentators.

As I understand the trend of the ideas thus expressed, it occurs to me that the great burden of blame is being laid on the OPA and the Wagner Act, but it also appears that congress is doing but little to correct the power of influence of either of those agencies, and when congress does brace up and offer a light purgative or laxative in the form of sane legislation, the prescription is turned down by the Executive in the form of a veto.

Therefore, it appears that the people will simply have to wait patiently until such time as "Public Opinion" forcibly expressed, strongly indicates that there will be more votes gained by leaning to the side of the unorganized majority, than will be lost by swerving away from the organized minorities. Then and only then will our politicians in congress and other positions of authority, again adopt sound and honest reasoning and produce the necessary legislation, which is being called for by the above named agencies, and this may require the combination of forces irrespective of partisan lines.

The above portion of this effusion contains the aphorisms expressing the results of my own unbiased cogitations, and are not due to or prompted by any partisan influences. This, I can say without hesitation, as I have not heard a Republican speech in so long that I wonder if prominent republicans have lost their "power of speech," and I have not read a Republican newspaper in so many years that I wonder if there is such a periodical published. I read only avowed Democratic or non-partisan newspapers and magazines, and I need no other sources of information, to aid me in forming the conclusions I have here expressed, and I feel that I cannot reach any other conclusions and still be honest with myself, and I strive to be able at all times, look me in the face. I try to hold no convictions that I am ashamed of. If I owe myself anything, I shall be honest enough to pay myself.

The above expression reminds me of the argument some people put up when reminded of the gigantic public debt with which our government has become encumbered. They say, Oh, Well! why worry about that? We just owe it to ourselves, and no matter if we never pay it. I feel differently about such a matter. Even though we do owe ourselves, if we would be strictly honest with ourselves, we will pay the debt. And it will be a hard one to pay.

I carry no charge against nor excuse for either the OPA, or the Labor Unions, as such. But I am opposed to both as they are now being enforced or managed. In the case of the OPA, it simply is trying to save its own life, as a drowning man will grab for even a straw. As

S'long, Son... Don't Get Lost

Miss Jaquelyn Wilkison, of Houston, is here spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilkison. Miss Wilkison is employed by the Continental Oil Company.

Ms. and Mrs. Virgil Howard and son, Josh Truman, of Abernathy, arrived here Sunday for an indefinite visit with Mrs. Howard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Drake.

Mr. Jones of the Consumers Supply, of Clovis, was a Friona visitor, Wednesday. He called at the Star office for a few minutes while here.

GREETINGS FROM FRIONA LOCKER COMPANY

Dear Friends: It is now more than 1900 years since the angels sang, "Peace on earth, good will to men." One place there has always been peace, is between men of good will.

We are most happy for the good will that exists between our customers and ourselves. We value it above any of our assets. We trust that it will increase. We believe that our customers are the best in the world, and we believe that the world's best customers deserve the best goods and services. It is our earnest desire to give you both. If you feel we have fallen short in any way we would be glad to have you tell us so, you'll find us anxious to do better. If you have found it pleasant to do business with us, we assure you that doing business with you has been equally pleasant.

Please accept our thanks for the business you have given us in the past. We trust we may continue to serve you in the future.

A. R. Crow, W. S. Crow.—Advertisement.

to Labor Unions, the rank and file of these men are not dishonest nor scheming, they are simply the victims of thralls of unscrupulous and scheming leaders. And for any evil that has come out of the actions of labor unions, and been inflicted on the public at large, I blame the leaders for such. They justify themselves with the statement that they are still within the bounds of the law under the provisions of the Wagner act. In that I do not agree. As it occurs to me, a man who justifies his tyrannical act under the protection of an unjust law, is still a tyrant.

"To thine own self be true and thou canst not then be false to any man." The above sounds like Shakespeare, but I dunno.

Pentecostal Camp Meeting Will Be Held in July

The second meeting of this Pentecostal district will be held here, July 23 to 31, inclusive, according to Rev. E. E. Houlette.

This meeting will consist of services practically all day long. Bible lessons and good spiritual messages will fill the day services. Night services will be evangelical.

This camp meeting is one of the highlights of the year's activities, and we are anticipating a good time. For the town it means much, as delegates will be here from a wide area.

We appreciate the hospitality and co-operation that the people of the town have already shown in preparation for the big event. We are still in need of beds, as most of the delegates will be here in cars. We are asking the families in the rural districts to offer beds, and will be glad to pay a nominal sum for them. Please see me at once if you have a room with one or more beds.

We urge you to plan on coming and enjoying this feast of good things with us.—E. E. Houlette.

DINNER GUESTS IN ANDERSON HOME

Dinner guests in the G. A. Anderson home, Sunday, were: Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Edmonds, of Littlefield; Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson, and little daughter, of Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. Britt Terry and son, of Amadillo, and Mrs. Howard Towry and son and daughter from Compton, California.

Harvest Moving Steadily; Rains Do No Damage

The work of harvesting the local wheat crop has moved steadily along without any serious interruption, as the weather, for the most part, has been ideal for harvesting—not too cool and not too warm, and with little hindering moisture.

The light sprinkles during Saturday night and Sunday forenoon, stopped the combines for a portion of the day, Sunday, and in a few places, for all day, and in localities where the showers or sprinkles did not fall, the work continued unhindered throughout the day.

It was feared for a few days that the lack of cars might hold the work back a mite, but it appears so far, that little inconvenience has been experienced from that source.

Quite a number of the farmers completed their harvesting last week, and many others will finish this week, in fact, with continued good weather, it is expected that this week will find by far the greater portion of the crop either in the bins or on the market.

Another most satisfactory part of the harvest is the fact that most of the farmers report a better yield than they had anticipated, owing to the extremely dry season.

This harvest season in this locality, seems, from reports to be moving along with but little trouble or interruption for the farmers. The weather has been ideal for harvesting and the only trouble reported is that some of the combines are giving trouble from slight breakdowns.

Even after the machines had been worked over and thought to be in good running condition, some of them are giving trouble. Hurd Whitefield was in town Wednesday afternoon and stated that he had been in trouble and was slowing his harvest. He thought, probably by the time they got through harvesting they would have their machine in tip-top condition. C. A. Guinn was also being hindered by minor break-downs.

Wheat is reported as making much better yields than the farmers had expected, and the yields are ranging from four or five bushels to as much as 20 bushels per acre, the average yield being estimated at about ten or twelve bushels. The grain is said to be of excellent quality and is making good tests.

DAVID JOHNSON INJURED

Following is a letter from David Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson, formerly of this community, but now of Route No. 3, out of Hereford, to his parents. David was working in the bakery department of the Baker Hotel at Dallas, at the time of the explosion there on Friday of last week, June 21st. It read as follows:

Dear Mother, Dad and All: Hope this finds you all well and fine. I am not writing you, trying to scare you or anything, but I figured you would hear about it over the radio or in the newspapers and would worry until you heard from me. I'm OK, and haven't got a scratch on me but I'm so scared I can hardly write. In case you don't know what I'm talking about, the main floor and the basement of the Baker Hotel blew up about 11:30 today. It is about 3:00 now and I just got home a few minutes ago. When I left they had found nine dead and 36 hurt. An acetylene tank blew up and all the main kitchen and store rooms. I was really lucky, as the pastry shop sat back, sort of in the corner and nobody was hurt in there. The concussion knocked me down, but I'm OK now, except a little shaky. Mom, don't let this scare you as it is all over and I am OK. I can just thank the Lord that I was in the place where I was when it all happened. I also got your letter just now and was glad to know you are just about done with harvest. Well, it looks like I am going to have to go back again. Sure hate to, but guess I had better. Bye for now, and lots of love, David.

Mrs. Johnson stated that David will be employed at the Baker, until he returns to the Merchant Marine in July.

Mrs. J. T. Gee and small daughter are spending this week with relatives at Lubbock.

Louise Euler Has Become Member of Pilots Club

Word has been received at the Star office stating that Miss Louise Euler, Eastern Air Line hostess, has recently been invited to become a member of the Pilot Club of Atlanta, a classified club for business and professional women. Membership is by invitation and only outstanding women of ability and achievement are selected. Two representatives being chosen from each business or professional classification.

Miss Euler has been hostess with the Eastern for the past year. Their report states that she flew more hours in the month of June, than any other hostess stationed at Atlanta,—119 hours.

Miss Euler is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Euler, of the Friona community, and is one of our most popular and estimable young ladies, and her circle of friends is limited only by the number of those who know her, all of whom will be gratified and pleased with her success.

DIAMOND MUD, NO. 4

By Ed White

The Friona Cards bowed to the strong Clovis Superforts by the score of 10 to 8. The loss was due to catching and some wildness of the pitchers. However, the Fort could only get 7 hits off the Friona pitchers, but they gave ten bases on balls and hit two batters.

Friona got 14 hits off the Fort's pitcher, Major Cline. He has an underhand delivery.

B. Lawson, Friona short-stop, hit one out of the park for the only homerun, and he put a simple two-base and three-base hit to be the star batter of the game. Schlenker and J. Renner, also got three hits each, all singles.

The Friona team was fortunate in getting infielder, Steve Barnett. Steve played a fine game at third base and got one hit that drove in one run.

Friona will play here next Sunday with the same team—the Clovis Superforts. We hope to be able to take this game. However, it is expected to be a good game and we hope to have a large crowd out to see it. This game is expected to be one of the best of the season. Friona has a fast young team now. Come out Sunday and see them at 3 p. m.

Game summary: Runs for Friona—Martin, Wilke, B. Lawson; Schlenker 2, B. Lawson 2, J. Renner 2.

Runs for Clovis—Childs, Cammeron, Doorate 2, Ritcherwald, Fairfield 3, White, Cotten and Cline.

Veterans Can Get Surplus Material Through Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Texas, June 22—Commencing Thursday, July 11, World War II veterans can be certified for the purchase of surplus war materials in Lubbock instead of having to make the time consuming trip to Ft. Worth. According to M. M. Calvin and C. W. Holcomb, representatives of the district office of the War Assets Administration in Ft. Worth, two WAA officials will be at the American Legion Home, 910 Texas Avenue Thursday and Friday of every other week, their first appearance being July 11 and 12.

This schedule will be maintained as long as veterans indicate a desire for the service. While conferring with officials of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion and area Veterans Administration Office, Calvin and Holcomb said that certification of veterans for station wagons, staff cars, and typewriters was halted as of June 1. ## Try Home-Grown Feed to Solve Dairy Problems

Plenty of good roughage is about two-thirds of the job of feeding a dairy cow and G. G. Gibson, dairyman of the A. and M. College Extension Service, urges use of more good home-grown roughage. With supplies of concentrates short and the prices high, every effort should be made to replace as many pounds as possible with good roughage.

Highest quality hay is pasture with the water taken out so that it can be stored until needed. This means that hay should be harvested at as near the best stage for grazing as possible.

The difficulty lies in the small yield obtained at this stage which is best for grazing. By allowing the plants to reach the point where they are beginning to bloom, more tonnage will be obtained without sacrificing too much feed value. The man who waits to harvest hay until the plants have matured loses very much feed value although the yield might be higher. The season yield will be less, however, because plants cut when mature will not keep growing as plants cut earlier will do.

Although it does not take the place of hay and pasture, silage can be used to advantage on every farm. Silage is another source of cheap nutrients which can replace some of the high priced nutrients. The crop that yields the largest tonnage per acre should be used for silage. The better the feed that goes into the silo, the better the silage that comes out. Three tons per cow will be good feed insurance when grazing is short.

It has been a great pleasure for me to serve as your District Judge during the past two years. Our entire family greatly appreciates the confidence you saw fit to express in me at the general election in 1944. In fact, the unqualified support of my home county in this election was one of my most gratifying experiences.

The present volume of work in our courts, requiring almost 100 percent of my time in the court room, precludes my seeing each of you individually in connection with the present campaign, and I am taking this means of thanking each and all of you for your past efforts, and assuring you that I will likewise appreciate whatever support you may see fit to give me in 1946.

Use of Potatoes for Ensilage May Be Solution to Feeding Problems

With a record potato crop on the way this summer, and a general shortage of grain feed for livestock in prospect, many farmers are considering the use of potato ensilage as a solution to the winter feeding problem.

Experiments conducted during the past year by Texas and Colorado Agriculture Experiment stations have indicated potato ensilage, if properly prepared, can be used successfully as feed for all livestock.

Potatoes can be used as feed either in the raw state, dried, as ensilage (either raw or cooked) and with or without the admixture of forage crops for beef and dairy cattle, horses, swine and poultry.

Ensilaging of raw potatoes is usually done with the addition of 2 to 5 percent of ground corn or ground barley, or by placing forage such as alfalfa, grass, or corn fodder in alternate layers with the chopped potatoes.

According to the Texas Experiment station, potatoes can be ensiled successfully by washing off excess dirt, running them through a silage cutter along with 250 to 300 pounds of dry hay for each ton of potatoes, and storing in an ordinary type of tower silo or in a well-drained trench silo.

Potato silage has a feeding value for dairy cattle a little less than corn silage, the experiment station reports. It may be fed in amounts up to 30 to 35 pounds per cow per day.

Partly because of their bulkiness and partly because of the danger of animals going off feed, of scouring, and of suffering from indigestion, most authorities caution against changing the ration to a high level of potato or of feeding excessively high levels of potatoes. Apparently, the report states, potato silage can replace other silages in the rations of cattle and sheep also receiving normal amounts of hay and concentrate feed. In the hog ration, half of the grain can be replaced by cooked potatoes. Poultry have been fed rations in which 30 per cent of the feed was cooked potatoes.

Possibility that cull potatoes, which are ordinarily of little value to growers, can be used in this area for livestock feed has been suggested. Additional information in regard to potato ensilage can be obtained from the county agent's office.

Medicine Chest May Be Booby Trap Says Cox

AUSTIN, Texas, June 15—There are many persons who naturally hoard anything and everything including old clothes, boxes, and other useless articles, some of which constitute no greater danger than a possible fire hazard, but a very real danger is present when this tendency is applied to hoarding old medicine in any form.

Most medicine finds itself into the home through a doctor's prescribing it for some specific illness. For the sake of safety, left-over medicines should be destroyed immediately when they have fulfilled their purpose and never be stored in the medicine cabinet for future unprescribed use in case of another illness, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Self-medication with the use of left-over drugs which were of great benefit to some previous illness can sometimes turn a simple ailment into a very serious condition of actual poisoning," Dr. Cox said. "This is particularly true of the indiscriminate use of sulfa drugs which have been prescribed for some previous specific condition."

"It is wise to use medicines as indicated for the illness for which they are prescribed by your doctor, and when they are no longer needed, destroy the remaining medicine immediately," Dr. Cox said. "Even if you expect a return of the same condition at some future date, it would be better to obtain new medicine if the condition recurs than to retain this old medicine in the cabinet and subject the members of your family to the danger of using it unwisely."

Adding Salt to Water Will Save Heat Cramps

AUSTIN, Texas, June 17.—If your work is such that it causes excessive perspiration, add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water you take to help prevent heat cramps. This is advised by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, to prevent a possible increase in the number of heat victims as the Texas thermometer hits 95 degrees and above.

Laborers, mechanics, farmers, and white collar workers whose work causes them to sweat profusely, are in danger of having their body salt content become deficient with resulting heat cramps or heat fatigue. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat; the body may lose as high as 40 to 50 grams of salt during hot days.

In industry, a method of preventing heat cramps is to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Workmen whose duties require muscular exertion should be especially careful to add more than the usual amount of salt to what they eat and drink.

Salt deficiency may be prevented by taking salt in various ways. Where prepared tablets are not available, table salt may be added to each drink of water. Milk is a source of salt and will help to make up for the deficiency caused by sweating.

Heat cramp is characterized by pains (cramps) in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases, by nausea and vomiting. The body temperature remains about normal, likewise the pulse rate. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until there is a deficiency; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp.

Record Spud Crop This Year Sends Price of Potatoes Down; Harvest Starts Here July 1

A record-breaking crop of potatoes is in prospect in the United States this year, according to a report from the Department of Agriculture, and that old depression-born song, "Potatoes are cheaper, tomatoes are cheaper, now's the time to fall in love" may become the nation's theme song once again.

Potatoes will certainly be cheaper, according to economists of the Texas Cooperative Extension Department at College Station, as the gap between supply and demand is radically narrowed.

Predicting a crop of between 70 and 75 million bushels of early potatoes this year, Extension service observers report that "such a drop is about 10 to 15 million bushels more than our people can be expected to eat." Last winter the government recommended a goal of 52 million bushels of early potatoes, but farmers planted more acreage than expected.

The local situation will follow the national trend closely, according to local potato growers.

Howard Gault, president of the Deaf Smith County Potato Growers Association, estimates that about 6500 acres in this county have been planted in spuds . . . 500 to 700 acres more than last year.

However, Gault believes that the yield per acre will be slightly less than last year, although he adds that it's still too early to make any accurate estimate.

The 1945 spud crop ran well over one million bushels in Deaf Smith county, and estimates place the yield between a million and a million and a quarter bushels this year.

Fifteen hundred and 52 carloads of potatoes were shipped by rail from this county last year, and growers estimate that the equivalent of more than 300 additional carloads were shipped by truck. Average carloading is about 600 bushels.

Spud harvest will get underway in this county during the first week in July, and the big movement should be started by the second week in the month, Gault predicts.

Market price on early potatoes is already down to government support levels, and may go lower under the impact of the heavy early crop. Prices on late potatoes, however, may not be affected so strongly.

Early spuds cannot be stored, and are of no value for overseas shipment; but any surplus of late potatoes will find a ready market abroad.

A considerable market for the early spuds will be furnished ship program, Box 2115, University Station, Austin, Texas.

by distillers for the production of alcohol, since usual grain supplies have been virtually cut off by the heavy demands in famine areas abroad.

Potato growers face a shipping problem, however, in marketing the early crop at distilleries, since potatoes consigned to distillers and malt plants cannot be shipped in refrigerator cars under an ICQ order which provides that all potatoes shipped to such industries must be loaded in box cars or cattle cars.

The three daughters of W. E. McGlothlin, the Misses Aileen, Mary Belle and Frances, of Spanaway, Washington, arrived here last week to spend their summer vacation with their father. They were accompanied by their brother, Jerrold McGlothlin and his wife.

District Judge John Aldridge, of Farwell, was a business visitor in Friona on Thursday of last week. The Judge is a candidate for re-election and stated that his prospects for re-election are gratifying.
