NEWS FOR HOMEMAKERS

by Sherry Mullin Floyd County H. D. Agent

What Does Vitamin C Do? Vitamin C, or ascorbic acid, is a relatively simple white crystalline compound resembling monosacharides. The least stable of all the vitamins. it may be lost through exposure to heat, air, alkalies and to light, which accelerates the activity of oxidative enzymes, The primary function of Vitamin C is its role in the formation of collagen, which may be regarded as something of an "intercellular cement," Collagen is an essential protein in cartilage connective tissue, callus and skin tissue. The healthy formation of bone material and the dentine of teeth depends on Vitamin C. All the essential nutrients for the construction of these tissues may be at hand, but unless an adequate amount of ascorbic acid is also present, the cells will not be put together properly.

Although it was one of the first vitamins to be discovered and in spite of intensive research, ascorbic acid has remained an enigma in many respects. The mechanisms of many of its actions have remained obscure. It is not a catalyst, as most vitamins are, and it has not been linked with any specific enzymatic reaction.

Ascorbic acid has been established as a requisite for metabolism of large amounts of the amino acid tyrosine, and for conversion of folic acid to its biologically active form. Vitamin C also facilitates iron absorption from the intestinal tract and seems to facilitate calcium absoprtion. There is a strong possibility that the vitamin is involved in the production and secretions of adrenal hormones, Substantial evidence indicates that levels of blood cholesterol rise in a deficiency of vitamin C, A dependency on the vitamin is also indicated in the conversion of tryptophan (an amino acid) to serotonin (which is involved in maintaining blood pressure levels). Ascorbic acid further seems to have a sparing action on several of the B vitamins.

How Much Vitamin C

Is Needed?

The minimum requirement the amount needed to prevent scurvy, is 10 to 20 milligrams of ascorbic acid per day. Individual requirements and utilization vary widely. A daily intake of 55 to 60 milligrams for adults is recommended for the maintenance of good health. Under abnormal conditions, however, such as injury, illness or severe stress, daily intake of 100 or more milligrams may be necessary. Ascorbic acid is nontoxic, and very high levels may be safely taken. One of the most important and intriguing questions under study is whether or not consuming superfluous amounts of vitamin C results in significant improvement in physical and mental performance, enduring severe stress and rate of recovery from injury, illness or

In patients with severe and extensive burns or wounds, high levels of the vitamin have promoted the healing process. especially in skingrafts, Benefits have also been demonstrated in severe trauma and in decreasing the incidence of postoperative shock. The benefits are less evident in moderate injuries and virtually imperceptible in cases of minor wounds or surgery.

While an adequate intake definitely helps to resist infection, there is very little evidence that additional benefits are derived from consuming superfluous amounts.

An individual's requirements and use of ascorbic acid may be affected by a variety of drugs. Moreover, the activity of various drugs may be affected favorably or unfavorably by high tissue levels of the vi-

Sources of Vitamin C A natural component of fresh fruits and vegetables, ascorbic acid is abundant in the active and developing parts of plants. It is thought to be synthesized from natural sugars in the plant cells. The actual content in any one species varies greatly because vitamin C syn-

ANOTHER SERVICE OF

Floydada Part Of A "Gabby Nation"

Floydada residents are helping make the United States the gabbiest nation in the world. According to Doug Simpson, manager for Southwestern Bell, the average number of calls made annually per person in Floydada - about 700 - outnumbers the combined average calls per person in Ireland, France, Argentina and Switzerland.

Simpson said one reason for all the talking in Floydada is the number of telephones in the town, Based on 1968 statistics, he said, Floydada has more telephones than the entire country of Niger.

Floydada had almost 3,100 telephones in 1968 as compared with the 3,073 total telephones of Niger, Simpson stated that Texas with 4,480,194 telephones had more phones than the country of Sweden with 4,110,579 telephones.

These figures are based on statistics presented in the American Telephone and Tele-graph booklet, "The World's Telephones." They are the most recent statistics available since it takes about a year to collect all the information from all countries of the world.

S mpson pointed out that nearly half of the world's 237 million telephones are in North America. The world's communications network was increased by some 15 million telephones in 1968 with more than six million of these added in the United States. Texas contributed 325,983 additional telephones to the total.

In the five states Southwestern Bell serves - Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Texas - there were more telephones in 1968 than Mexico and the U.S.S.R.

Mexico had some 1.2 million telephones and Russia some 9.9 million, while there were over 11.4 million telephones in Southwestern Bell thesis is accelerated by sunlight, Plants grown in shady areas or in a cloudy, rainy season will therefore contain operation. Dr. Jack Jordan, County Health Officer, said most children have not received this vaccine and cautioned parents not to confuse Rubella with the vaccine your child received several years ago to prevent the 10 day or Big Red Measles. He said, "Every child age 1 through 10 should receive this vaccine."

Normally, German measles, or rubella, is a mild childhood disease of little medical importance. But, if the rubella virus strikes a pregnant woman, there can be tragic consequences. You, as a parent should give this careful consideration. Even though you think you child has had German measles (3 day or Rubella), especially girls, you should still allow this protection for them. The sponsors are trying to protect you in case of pregnancy, by giving this vaccine to the carrier, your own child, age 1 to 10, the one person who is most likely to bring it home to you.

This week your child brought home a permission slip from school for your signature. This is all that is needed for the vaccine. If you returned the slip unsigned, call the school nurse and let her know you want the vaccine given to your child. The vaccine will be administered by using the virtually painless "Jet Injector." State Health Officials, the Floyd County March of Dimes, and members of the Floydada Lions Club urge parents of children ages one through ten to take advantage of the availability of this vaccine.

residents. TO THE COUNTY TAX PAYERS OF FLOYDADA AND FLOYD COUNTY

Due to the recent inquiries concerning rural fire protection in the surrounding area, we feel that some explanation and clarification should be made public.

Several people have approached the City Council and asked if the County Commissioners Court had made any offers concerning rural fire protection.

The Council would like to state here in a brief form the history of this issue and what has happened since its beginning. The Council conducted a five year study on our fire department covering the years April 1, 1964 through March 31, 1969. We found that approximately 44% of the total expense should be allocated to rural fires and that 56% of the cost should be borne by the City. This was determined by the number of fire calls made within this five year period of time. The cost was then computed and a meeting was held with the County Commissioners Court to ask that they bear their share of the cost of fire protection. At that time the County was paying $1,500 per year plus $140 per year insurance cost on one truck or a total of $1,640 annually.

The Fire Department was in need of a new truck and equipment. We asked the County to bear their share of the cost of the new truck and equipment according to the study that we had made showing their percentage to be 44% and the City's percentage to be 56%. Actual operating figures taken from audited records show that the County's portion of the operating expense would amount to approximately $8,000 annually. The County's pro-rata share of a new fire truck (estimated at $25,000) would be $11,000.

In our first meeting with County Commissioners Court no offer was made toward defraying any of these expenses over and above what was being paid at that time. The Commissioners did agree to study the survey and be prepared to give an answer at a later meeting. At a meeting on June 9, 1969 the Commissioners offered an increase of $50.00 per month or an annual remittance of $2,100. The offer was declined by the City Council. On June 23, 1969 the Commissioners offered to pay to the City $3,000 per year plus the insurance on one fire truck with nothing being paid toward the purchase of new equipment. Our present equipment was used on both city and rural fires so we felt that it was only fair that the County pay their fair share on the purchase of new equipment. Approximately two months later the City contacted the County again in the third effort to settle the issue on rural fire protection. The City Council offered to settle with the County at this third meeting for a considerably less amount of money. The amount being $5,000 toward the purchase of a new fire truck instead of $11,000 originally asked and $6,500 annually for operating expenses rather than the $8,000 originally requested.

We invite you at any time to examine our records concerning the Fire Department and its

At the present time we have other cooperative efforts with the County on our Police Department, the Department of Public Safety and our dump ground. The City dispatching office takes care of County dispatching work from 5 p.m. until 8 a.m. during the week and twenty four hours on Saturday and Sunday. We also perform this service for the Department of Public Safety. The City receives no compensation for this service but it is done as a cooperative effort between our Police Department, the Sheriff's Office and the Department of Public Safety. The City also furnishes a radio in the local ambulance so that we will have radio contact with the ambulance and in this way can better serve the local community and County. The dump ground is another cooperative effort, the dump ground being operated by the City and the pits being dug by the County.

We, the members of the City Council, would like to work in closer harmony with the County Commissioners in a joint effort to solve all the problems of the community.

in your town," I asked the panel, "how do I know if our youth in Floydada are using narcotics?" Their question back to me was, "do your school teachers and parents know how to recognize the characteristics of a student who is using dope?"

So, I ask you parents and teachers, do you know how to detect a youth under the influence of dope? If not, let me know, and I'll give you some of the facts I received from this panel of experts. One of the members of the panel was Jim Freeman, a member of the Department of Public Safety for the past 14 years, now working out of the Amarillo office. I introduced myself to him and in visiting asked, "where were you raised?" He replied,

It seems that Jim left Floydada bout 1952 and I arrived here in December of 1962. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Grady Free-

LAST FRIDAY I had the privilege to see a lot of exciting tennis matches at regional. Saw a couple of "little fellers" from Crane in the boy's doubles contest. Think one was a freshman, the other, a sophomore. They literally beat the hound out of every team they faced. Like I say, they weren't very big, but they could play the game. This is one of the good things about the game of tennis, any size can play the game and win

Wendy has a story similar to the Whirlwind football team. "I didn't win state, but I got to play the person, or team that did." Her opponent has been regional champ two years in a row, was second in state last year. Looks like she'll make the state championship this year.

IT SEEMS TO me that there are a lot of truck drivers in Floydada. The Hesperian would like to take some pictures of our people who make a living by driving a truck. Call me or James Huggins, and we will include you in our trucking feature. (This does not include United drivers - we'll get them

LITTLE JOS ACTIVITY CHANGE

Pattersn of job activity established earlier this year at Texas Employment Commission local offices continued without notable change during March.

"After allowing for a twoday longer work month, the changes occurring since February appear insignificant," R. L. Coffman, TEC Administrator, said today.

March nonfarm job openings were up 2,813 over those of February, and nonfarm job placements were up 317.

Commission offices filled 16,847 farm job openings in March, 2,849 more than filled in February, and 1,861 more than were filled in March of last year. TEC Employment Service Representatives made 9,998 calls on employers to explain their services or to solicit job orders during March, a monthly gain of 816, March job applications hit 60,238, up 2,831 from February. Unemployment insurance claims for March showed a 24,903 monthly increase.

Four Vehicles Bumped, Two Are Damaged

An accident about 5:45 Sunday afternoon resulted in no injuries but did considerable damage to two of four vehicles involved. The 1970 Maverick Grabber, belonging to Shirley West, sustained most of the damage to front and rear. The 1962 Ford, driven by Steve Covington, 16, sustained damage to the front portion.

Tom Hopper, city police investigator said Mrs. W. H. Simpson Jr., front car, had stopped at the intersection of 2nd and Mississippi, to make a left turn. Behind her vehicle was Coach Curtiss Chatham, who also had his vehicle stopped to make a left turn. Behind his car was that of Miss West. Her car was struck from the rear by the Covington vehicle and in turn her car hit the rear end of the Chatham car, and his bumped the Simpson car.

In a second accident, this one occurring Friday night at 10:11 Larry Fawver sustained bruises and contusions when he and a stalled motorcycle was struck by a car. He spent overnight in Caprock Hospital.

Whatever you do, be sure to vote Saturday..... officer, Pat Patterson, Fawver was driving a 1948 motorcycle belonging to Bobby Cozby. The vehicle stalled at 3rd and Houston, then was struck by a 1964 Rambler, driven by Mike Light-

Letter The Editor'

April 28th, 1970

Re: Letter from Colorado Springs, Colorado There is one of us that feels alone. A person, probably young, maybe one of our high school students, that sees a little more of the world he moves in, and tried to denounce it, to pour those unpleasant truths in front of those who prefer not to see them. One who has a message to convey, a message that many don't like to hear, a message that could get him or her in trouble. But he tried to give it to us, to give us the benefit of his awareness of the gap existing between complacency and truth, between conversion and fact, between deliberate blindness and the clear crude and impersonal reality of daylight. He knew ahead of time how the crowds would roar, how they'd let the lions loose on him or her. So he concealed his or her name, and address. And the lions roared, and the wolves howled. Howled and roared at his anonimity, at the message, but only at part of it. They never considered the origin of a person that has sought the chemical relief of anxiety or incompleteness, even if these chemicals or drugs were not the best of answers. They did not look in themselves for a cause of that anonimity, but let the welcome unknown scapegoat take the blame. Adults felt good in blaming the writer from Colorado for his "cowardice". All adults that I heard talking prided themselves in the fact that they voiced their "opinions" aloud, in the open. Have they ever considered how easy it is to echo the voice of the majority, how different from repelling it. . .?

I'm unpleasantly surprised at the voice of the youth, that felt the urge of ganging together for an attest of self justice, in a group throwing of stones, such as if the fact that there are some that play in a game or theatre group, disavow the fact that there also are many who do not have such equal emotional balance; or as if those apparently balanced may not also have other kind of immaturities or flaws.

I'll echo a few of Mr. Tooley's words, and say: If we have a problem let's go and search it out, delve in its roots, and correct it with the same fastidiousness, tenacity, and impersonal devotion we'd give to some of the weeds in our crops. Let's not forget that, even if we cannot value it in dollars and cents. human happiness and mental health is the highest value we can achieve in the world we are living in, that cannot be sacrificed to prejudice, obsolete institutions and selfseeking pride and complacency. After all, most of us preach after some who asked the following: Who made me a Judge or arbitrator of your affairs?. . . or don't we. . .?

GUEST EDITORIAL A HOME MUST BE BUILT FROM THE BOTTOM UP!

Whatever the weaknesses of our churches, schools and government, one can be sure they are created by the personnel. Where do the people come from who staff our institutions? Our homes. Where else? American institutions will will never be any better than American homes.

voting on justice of the peace elections in Floyd County, as they

What caused the decay of our homes, and the infection which has spread to all our institutions? The causes are complex, of course, but the basic source of infection is lack of parental discipline. Many youngsters who grew up during the Depression were determined to save their children from the character-building deprivations they suffered. When this well- meaning philosophy was added to the theory that discipline might warp children's little psyches, a generation matured with the conviction that to do as one pleased was an inherent right.

There is no magic in parenthood that turns a -selfish, immature, irresponsible person into a responsible adult. Discipline, like everything else, can be taught only by example.

The average American wife will rule her husband if he will permit it and despise him if he does. But, if a father cannot discipline himself to take his place as head of the house, and provide food, clothing, shelter and protection for his family, he cannot expect to discipline his children.

A mother who cannot force herself to treat her husband with courtesy and respect, keep the house comfortably clean, prepare good, nourishing meals, take care of the laundry and other clothing problems, and maintain a pleasant atmosphere in the home. cannot hope to guide or discipline her children.

Parents who smoke tobacco, drink alcohol, live on tranquilizers, overeat, fight like shrews and shirk their responsibilities, need not anticipate respect or obedience from their children. Respect must be earned. If such parents attempt to discipline or advise their teenagers they are likely to be silenced with "Look who's talking."

The most learned authorities agree that a child's emotional balance is probably formed by his first birthday, and his moral fiber is fairly well set by the time he enters school. All the propaganda he may encounter at school, church or in the alley is not likely to alter the pattern of development started in his home.

The well-meaning programs proposed by church, school and government, in efforts to compensate for parental neglect are not likely to do so. Our FRIENDLY TEXAN WEEK MAY 4-10 Governor Smith signs proclamation urging Texans to practice our state motto "Friendship" on the 24 million out-of-state visitors Texas expects to host this year. the primaries May 2.

The ever increasing demand for liquefied petroleum gases as fuel for internal combustion engines, space heaters, and central heating units, Ramsey said, constitutes one of the most dynamic segments of the growing market for petroleum products. These light, pure hydrocarbons burn cleanly and eff ciently, he explained, and do not contain the solid particles nor the lethal gases that state and federal authorities have found to be harmful and dangerous to humans, plants and other animal life,

Ramsey said the Commission, responsible for protecting the public health and safety in the transportation, storage and use of these gases, has recently adopted revised requirements tailored to help maintain liquefied gas as one of the safest fuels available to the consumer.

The Commission, Ramsey added, also has moved to help improve the supply and demand situation that has plagued the propane and butane markets in recent years. The said Commission acknowledgment of jurisdiction over the underground storage of these products is designed to help smooth out the erratic supply and demand fluctuations that propage has been experiencing due to its dual role as a fuel and product supply for the chemical industry

Candidates Comment on Farm Crisis

Bentsen

Lloyd Bentsen Jr. of Houston, Democratic candidate for U.S. Senator, gave the following statement on his views of farm "Few domestic problems in America are as severe as the Congress and the Adminstration face in assuring a healthy agricultural industry "Despite the efficiency of American agriculture, and all of the national agricultural programs of the past 30 years, the returns from agriculture are disappointing and there are problems in pricing in almost every field, with the possible exception at the moment of beef cattle and

"I DO NOT presume to have an answer to our farm problem. If elected to the senate, I will go to Washington, however, with a strong interest in helping to develop an intelligent pricing program, improved supply management, expanded research in marketing and other measures to assure the farmer a fair return on his investment.

"In my judgment, we cannot summarily abandon our present program of subsidies, because it has become too much a part of our economic life.

"SOME PARTS of West and South Texas have a particular problem in that a tremendous agricultural economy has been based upon irrigation, and in the not too distant future, these water supplies will be inadequate.

"An economic collapse brought on by reverting 5 million acres of irrigated farms to dry land will have a damaging effect on every Texan, regardless of where he lives.

"I WILL WORK for ways to get more water to areas that must have it to maintain their economy," Bentsen concluded. Bentsen continues to have farming interests in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, principally rect opposition to Yarbrough's YARBOROUGH has gone on record as supporting the current Federal Farm Program of 1965, with increases in supports for ministration's program is in di-several commodities to increase income to producers. 'Farmers are being caught in a real squeeze, pressed from two sides," Yarborough's statement noted. The present runaway inflation, with the highest interest rates in history, and with the tight money, and with the reces real blow to the farmers.

Now the Secretar yof Agriculture, Clifford Hardin, has been handing down order after order for the past year which undercuts the farm program.

YARBOROUGH pointed out that in August of last year, Hardin announced a 12 per cent cut in wheat acreage for 1970, a reduction of 5 million acres.

Hardin cut the price support of cottonseed nearly $5 a bale; in November he was calling in the 1967 and 1968 reseal loans on grain sorghum to force the price of grain sorghums to farmers to plummet downward.

In December of last year, Hardin cut rice acreage for 1970 by per cent, and had already cut the rice acreage before that for a two year cut of 25 per cent.

IN ADDITION, the Secretary of Agriculture recently announced that there would be no more advance spring payments on wheat and feed grain, forcing farmers to go to banks to pay what he called "atrocious" rates.

The USDA ordered low projected cotton yield figures and the recomputation of projected yields to further reduce cotton growers' income

Yarborough objected to the lower price support by Hardin for soybeans, milk and corn, and he noted that he has protested vigorously to the secretary on the detrimental effects of all of these cuts on producers.

"THERE ARE bills in the Senate, which I am co-sponsoring, to force the Secretary of Agriculture to at least make the 50 per cent advance payments to our wheat and feed grain grow-

Yarborough also stressed that the postal service should not be turned into a corporation, hecause rural people would be deprived of adequate services.

He charged that budget cuts in rural development programs for better electrical, water and sewer systems for rural America were a further effort to make the family farmer extinct.

"THE FARMERS of our nation realize what is being done to them, even though these decisions have received little publicity," Yarborough stated.

"They are feeling this downward pressure and we are extremely alarmed, and justly so. They read the classified sections of the newspaper and see great numbrs of the farms and ranches of their friends being auctioned off every week," the Senator said. He pointed out that one Lubbock newspaper recently had 20 farms from the Texas Plains that were up for auction.

The importance of guarding thought against the influence of evil suggestions will be stressed in the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon to be read on Sunday, May 3.

Bible readings on the subject of "Everlasting Punishment" will include a warning by Jesus to "Fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell."

One of the religious tenets of Christian Science stated in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is: "We acknowledge God's forgiveness of sin the destruction of sin and the spiritual understanding that casts out evil as unreal.
