Burglary charges have been filed in Floyd County against Billie Jay Doherty, 21, and Billy Lee Croft, 28, both of Lubbock. The two are charged here in the January burglary of the L H. Parks home at South Plains, Sheriff Walter Hollums said.

The pair are also charged in Tulia with murder with malice in the slaying of Mrs. Lillian Kessler, 79, at her home east of Tulia. A shotgun reportedly taken from the Parks home is believed to be the murder weapon in the Tulia case, Hollums said. Parks identified the 12gauge shotgun recovered in the investigation as being taken from his home in the January break-in, Hollums stated.

View Plans For Community Center

By WENDELL TOOLEY

Two meetings have been called by the Floydada Chamber of Commerce to view plans for a community center building. The first will be at the Chamber's board of directors meeting this morning, and the second will be at 9:30 a,m. Friday in the bank community meeting

Plans have been drawn for the 5,000 square foot community building and estimated cost is Every individual or organization interested in such a building in Floydada should attend the Friday morning meeting.

> The building is designed for smaller meetings that would accommodate the weekly Lion and Rotary meetings, and all other community club meetings. It would also be available for family reunions, youth center activities, old settlers round-up, Lighthouse Electric's annual barbecue etc.

The building is designed with a stage, kitchen, snack area, missing from Mrs. Kessler's restrooms and storage for games, tables, and chairs. The Texas Ranger Clay Bednar building cost estimate includes and Swisher County sheriff central heat and refrigerated air conditioning.

The youth of this community have long desired a youth center, service clubs like Rotary and Lions have for years voiced the need of a noon luncheon meeting place.

It is also possible that the American Legion will be interested in using the building. There are two ideas about where the community building should be located. . . . some prefer in the park just east of the baseball diamonds, some prefer a downtown location. It is hoped that the city of Floydada will take over scheduling of events in the building and furnish upkeep for it.

The $54,000.00 must be raised through individual and organizational donations.

Three Floyd County 4-H Club members were members of the Livestock Judging team that won ninth place at the Southwest International Livestock Show February 11 at El Paso. Mike Simpson, Kay Russell and Joe Jones represented the county club at the contest.

4-H and FFA teams numbering 83 from Texas and New Mexico were entered in the competition, in which steers, lambs and swine were judged. The local youths scored 1505 points out of a possible 1800; the first-place winners had a score of 1548.

Whirlettes Enjoy Good Season

The Floydada Whirlettes had a winning season with a record of 15 wins and 12 losses. In district play, the record was five wins and five losses which was good for third placebehind district champion Friona and Dimmitt. The Whirlettes had to overcome a lack of size - the forwards averaged about 5'4" and the guards about 5'6". They also had to overcome an overall lack of experience in that five starters had graduated from last year's team. The Whirlettes hustled and showed a tremendous amount of desire in having a successful year. Terri Shipman, senior, led the Whirlettes in scoring with a total of 617 points. This is a per game and a district average of 21.4. Debra Baird, a junior, was the leading rebounder and Sarah Williams, a senior, was the team leader in steals. Graduating from the Whirlette team are Terri Shipman, Sarah Williams, Kathy Chappell, Mychele Reed, and Denice Cates. Returning lettermen for next year will be Denice Chadwick, junior; Debra Baird, junior; Cindy Moore, soph.; Linda Beaver, soph.; Sherry Harris, soph.; and Karen Shipman, soph.

The Junior Varsity didn't have a winning year, but several girls gained experience. Janette Conwright and Rhonda Jackson, both sophomores, led the team in scoring. Ann Winter and Krista Simpson, both juniors, led in rebounds; and Simpson also led in steals. The Freshmen Whirlettes also had a good year. Their season record was 11-4 and their district championship record was 7-1. Jeanna Hodges, Nancy Puckett and DeAun Wilson led the scoring. Pauline Cooper and Sonja Curry led in rebounding.

Several from the Junior Varsity and Freshman teams should help the Varsity Whirlettes next year in addition to the returning lettermen.

The Whirlettes and coaches wish to thank all who supported the Whirlettes this year. The Whirlettes should have another good year next year.

FHS Netters Start Season

Coach Don Ford's tennis players will see their first competition of the season Friwhen they try Plainview High School netters in a practice match set for 3 p.m.

Miles Davis and Rick Mc-Dowell are entered in the singles competition. Joe Kimble and Kirk McIntosh make up a doubles team, and Danny Martin and Larry Jones are also in doubles competition.

The FHS girls on the tennis team are Sherry Harris in singles and Denice Chadwick and Karla Tooley in doubles.

The team is entered in the Lubbock tournament March 15 and 16, and the Amarillo tourney April 2 and 3. On April 5, Floydada hosts the District 3-AA Tournament.

Miss Wylie And William Douglas Womack Wed In Double Ring Ceremony Saturday

Church in Floydada was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding vows of Miss Marijon Wylie and William Douglas Womack. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Wylie Jr., of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Womack of Abilene.

Rev. C. B. Melton performed the double-ring ceremony at 6 o'clock before an altar banked by white glads, red roses and pink carnations. Hurricane candles lighted the nuptial area.

Wedding selections of "Oh Perfect Love;; and the "Lord's Prayer", were sung by Miss Gay Lynn Edmondson of Lubbock, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Vernie Moore.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of sata-peau, fashioned with Venise lace-which complemented the high Victorian neckline, the bodice and wide bishop sleeves. Matching lace motiffs were scattered on the A-line skirt that extended into a bouffant back and swept into a chapel length train. Tiny Jace daisies of Venise lace edged the train.

Her profile headpiece was of Venise lace and held a shoulder length veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white bridal roses and wore a pendant, a gift from the groom. She also carried a handkerchief belonging to her paternal grandmother and in her slipper, for luck, was an antique coin, which belonged to her late paternal great grandmother.

Mrs. Phillip A. Wylie, Lubbock, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mrs. Michael D. Wilson, Lubbock and Mrs. Jerry Biggs of Amarillo were bridesmatrons. Miss Nancy Simek, Lubbock was bridesmaid and Miss Paula Wylie, Lubbock, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Feminine attendants were gowned in shocking pink velvet. Their dresses were styled with high waistlines and the necklines were accented with pearl chokers. Their headpieces were of matching peau de soie and they carried heart shpaed bouquets of milti-colored flow-

Duncan said he believes the boy kneeling next to him is Charles Ellis, instead of Ocie Huskey. Needless to say Duncan toldhissister he was very happy to get the clipping with the pictures, which he had never seen.

NOW why didn't our teachers think of this for Valentine? A mathematics and social science teacher in Hutchinson, Kansas, gave his pupils valentines containing coupons shaped like a heart. Inscribed were the words, "This heart is good for one 'A' on any forthcoming test you do not wish to take. The heart expires May 26, 1971. and is negotiable only in this room."

LOS ANGELES - It was here all along. From the beginning . . In 1769, when Americans in the effete East were complaining about the high taxes, especially of their tea, the first Spanish colonizers were coming north along the edge of the Pacific. One group, led by Don Gaspar de Portola, camped on the bank of a river when the earth shook. The tremorlasted about half as long as an "Ave Maria." It knocked Don Gaspar and his men and their horses to the ground and caused the river to leap from its channel. Don Gaspar named the stream "The River of the Sweetest Name of Jesus of the Earthquakes,"

Today it is known as the Santa Ana River, 25 miles east of the place and state of mind called Los Angeles. Here, two years ago, a calypso singer could always draw a laugh along Sunset Strip with the refrain: Every day more people come to L.A. Don't you tell 'em de whole place shakin' away.

Last Tuesday, before first light, it seemed the whole place was indeed shaking away, that here at last was the "great earthquake" scientist and soothsayers had been predicting for years. More than 60 persons killed, more than 1,000 injured and the face of the city took hundreds of millions of dollars in damage. Still, say the scientists and soothsayers, this was not the "great earthquake". This is et to come, they say, without saying when, California, espe-cially Los Angeles, waits for the other shoe to drop, the big

WELL WORTH REMEMBER-ING. . . Two men went duckhunting. They crouched near a small pond in tall weeds waiting for the birds to appear.
"Duck!" said the first,
"Where?" said the second, as he stood up in time to catch a bullet in the shoulder. Love is God's greatest gift to man. It enables him to make with joy supreme sacrifices for the benefit of others. The man of Gallilee exemplified that in His life and death. "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends." The Master went further still. He laid down His tife for His enemies.

Around the world today where there are men or groups of men who believe in His teachings and follow Him, there are love, kindness, generosity, harmony, and peace among them. There could not be war if men followed His precepts for there would be no hate, no antago-

NFO Claims Hog Price Raise

Jim Jackson, President of Floyd County NFO, said, "The NFO hog 'lift" and other activities of the NFO collective bargaining program raised the price of hogs three to four dollars per hundred weight when we had a lot more hogs this year than last year and proved that united farmer action is effective."

The NFO started preparations for its hog "lift" at its December convention in Louisville, Kentucky, then followed with a convoy of trucks in Washington, D.C., which showed farmers receiving 15¢ per pound for hogs while the consumer was still paying about the same price for pork as when farmers were receiving 25 to 28¢ per pound for hogs,

The build-up for the NFO hog "lift" started the first part of January and then the big push of the hog "lift" started January 25 and was officially suspended at 8:00 p.m. February 2nd. The price of hogs in most markets went up every day the ig push was on.

The NFO County President said, "This was our greatest narket action victory. It proved that farmers moving their production in massive volumes into new marketing patterns could dramatically raise prices in spite of heavy supplies and when no one expected the prices to go up. According to USDA fibures 1,612,000 more hogs were slaughtered in January 1971 over January 1970. This was a tremendous increase of 27% We have proven our point and now it's up to farmers to unite their strength through the NFO so more gains can be made.

"The NFO suspended the hog "lift" so we can turn the three to four dollars price rise of hogs into organizational strength. Farmers have seen what can be done. Our ability to get fair prices depends on the number and proportion of farmers who join us and participate in our collective bargaining program. We must have the largest possible participation and we are going to take time out temporarily to enroll new members and increase our ability to show what united farmer action can attain."

Floyd County NFO will be holding informational meetings for non-members to explain how the NFO now has the scope, experience and structure to raise farm prices. All non members will be invited to at-

No water for West Texas!

Growing more perturbed with each sentence, we read an editorial in a neighboring newspaper written by Ray Greene of the Gilmer Mirror. We read the article twice more and came up with a different feeling each time.

At first we were angry because Greene was suggesting in essence that West Texas could dry up and blow away and that all Texans should live in the central and eastern sections of the state. The second time over, we pitied the writer because his views could be perverted. But, the third time around we had to realize that the Gilmer Editor was just boosting East Texas, his home

Greene's opening paragraph stated:

"Louisiana's U. S. Senator Long snorted the other day that Texas would get water from the Mississippi River 'over my dead body.' You recall that taking billions of gallons of water from the Mississippi into Texas through a series of canals and upstream pumping was a major part of that 1969 'Texas Water Plan' which Texas voters narrowly defeated. And by the way, they narrowly missed fiscal disaster in doing

Greene and others of this ideology or idiology - may be rudely awakened if they propose to be so selfish as to allow West Texas to dry up. "Fiscal disaster" would really come home to East Texans, plus those in metropolitan areas in the southern part of the state, if this happens. West Texas, in reality, will one day become even more important as their "bread basket" if the water is available!

The Gilmer writer continues:

"Both the cities and Dallas and Houston, through their water departments, already are proud of the fact that present and future reservoir plans and pumping facilities will keep them supplied with enough water to meet their growth for 50 years or more.

"When the growth gets ahead of the water supply. Let's bring the new people, new plants to where the water is, here in East Texas - and not spend billions to irrigate West Texas. By the way, a lot of that 'irrigated land' is not even being cropped. It is 'set aside' and the government has been paying its owners millions not to grow anything because of surpluses in cotton."

Is the man too naive to realize that this money actually is subsidizing him every time he buys food or clothing?

Then Greene's true motivation comes

"There are many fine new reservoir sites which can be used. Three of them are in the U.S. Corps of Engineer's plans in this immediate area, west of Mineola on the Sabine, on Lake Fort in Wood and Rains County. The Sulpher River-Cooper reservoir is already under way. Another huge one will be located between Winnsboro and Mt. Pleasant on Big Cypress above Lake 'O the Pines. Many others are planned. Texas has the water. Let's keep our heads about spending millions in electric power to send water to an area where farmers cannot afford to buy it, let alone the state taxpayers afford to pick up the difference."

Do you get the feeling, as we do, that this man is saying it's fine to tap the government kitty to develop East Texas water sources, but let's not help those greedy West Texas farmers? How else can his message be construed?

This further lends credence to the thinking of Marvin Sherbert although he says it more discreetly - that if East Texas' water is fully developed before West Texas is helped, we can just forget about future water here. Shurbet, lest we forget, is a member of the Texas Water Development Agency, who was "revolved" out of the chairmans seat by Gov. Preston Smith, whom Greene believes 'has become more water wise in office. He now tells the Texas Water Development Board to halt these grand designs and come up with some short range, positive projects for people today - not 50 to 100 years from now."

Again, the Gilmer editor is defending his section of the state and saying 'hang West Texas' water development ...now or ever"

West Texans - you and I - had better wake up and smell the coffee brewing before it all boils out. We had better "get out and vote" if and when a plan is again presented to help develop water for the ENTIRE state of Texas! - Lockney Beacon.

FFA...Building Our American Communities

State Vice President

This year is half gone now. My term as a state officer will soon be passed on to another, but the memories of this year will remain with me forever. Throughout the year, I have seen many examples of the American people. I have seen the hippy with his sign of protest. I have seen the bystander watching a crime, not becoming involved. I have seen 14,500 members of America's coming involved, I have seen policemen ridiculed. And yet, in this time of a troubled America, I have seen 14,500 members of America's future attending the National FFA Convention in Kansas City. Youth involved in America's future, the Future Farmers of America.

It brought a chill to my spine to see blue jackets of the FFA everywhere in Kansas City and then to realize how many more there are in every community in the United States. This year our national theme is "Building Our American Communities" which is a challenge to us to become involved with our community. For so many years, our communities have supported the Future Farmers of America by participating in our activities. Now it is our turn to support our communities and show our appreciation.

Too often communities fail to plan for the future. They fall behind in employment opportunities and their young people leave for a new life in the city. But as the big cities become more crowded and more tages of smaller communities are becoming more evident.

So what can you do to help your community prepare for the future? The FFA was founded on the premise that students need sound training in cooperation, community service, leadership, and citizenship. The "Building Our American Communities" program is designed to stimulate interest in community improvement, then point out ways students can take constructive action to help their community prepare for the fu-

The Communication Gap

By: Wendell Schronk, State Vice President People throughout America today are concerned about a generation gap. After traveling many miles as a state vice president this year, Ifeel that really no generation gap but a communication gap exists today. There is not a very good reason for this gap, only that young people do not understand their elders. I believe youth organizations such as ours are helping everyone across this great nation of ours to show that the youth of this world are ready to accept the responsibilities thrust our way.

Wherein the fault lies really does not make a great deal of difference. We, as responsible with those of our group who do not act as they should. These are the people who ruin our image which is projected to the older generation. We, as the Future Farmers of America, should take this time during FFA Week to project an image eryone in the United States that we are willing to face up to the future no matter what it brings. We should and can destroy this communication gap that exists today. Throughout this coming year I challenge each and everyone of you to do your best in your local levels as

as an organization to show ev-well as your respective areas. Set your goals early and work with a zeal to secure those goals and I guarantee you that you will succeed.

If every member of the FFA exhibits his best this entire year, then people can look at our organization and say we tried and succeeded at understanding their problems and they in turn will understand and help us solve our prob-

I certainly have learned a great deal this year and hope each of you continue to develop our organization into being the best in the world.

A Future Farmer is a leader, whether it is in his church, school, home, or his FFA chapter. The main objective of a leader is to plan and supervise the efforts of others, to net the best possible returns and labors. Romanticists, too often, look a one's success as a leader through rose-colored glasses. A down - to - earth person will go so far as to use a magnifying lens to see every minute part of an operation, from their combined efforts

A leader has to construc and operate an organization of men or women, or both, with individual skills and accomp lishments that are useful. Then he must provide a climate in which these diverse people can function as a team. His leadership proficiency frequently ranks higher than his academic knowledge. He keeps the organization working, purposefully and harmoniously.

Besides energy, enthusiasm,

The FFA Building Our American Communities program is one of the activities FFA members are emphasizing as they carry out this year's FFA WEEK theme: "Involved In America's Future."

Emphasizing the need for constructive action, Mr. Nixon said

Local FFA Joins National Observance

Members of the Floydada FFA Chapter are aware of the need to get "Involved in America's Future." They join FFA members everywhere to celebrate National FFA Week, February 20-27.

Throughout the WEEK chapter members are planning activities to illustrate their involvement in preparing to meet future challenges of agribusiness in America.

'We want our community and the nation to know that, as FFA Members, we are concerned with the challenging problems we will face in our lifetime," says Ricky Biggs, chairman of mittee. "In the FFA we learn to work together to accomplish worthwhile objectives," Biggs emphasized.

Floydada FFA members feel that their involvement in the future of agriculture is vital to the nation and its objective to feed an ever growing population. "If this nation is to continue to satisfy demands for low-cost, high-quality agriculture products, we must continue to train responsible men and women to fill the thousands of jobs both on and off the farm. says O. L. Harris, Floydada FFA Chapter Advisor and vocational agriculture instructor.

Washington The Farmer

George Washington Considered Agriculture Important To The Success Of Every Nation

Washington gave seven years of his life without pay to command the Revolutionary Army and eight more to serve as the new country's first president. What isn't so well known is that he would have been much happier "under his own vine and fig tree." By his own admission, George Washington's first interest was farming.

It was because of his interest in farming and his accomplishments as a successful farmer that FFA WEEK is celebrated during the week of George Washington's birthday. In addition, George Washington has been heritance that launched Washington's career as a farmer; he was 11 when his father died. According to custom, Lawrence -as the oldest son-got most of the estate including Mt. Vernon. Washington's small inheritance was only a 280-acre Cherry Tree Farm plus a share of land at Deep Run.

age of 34, leaving Mt. Vernon to his young daughter who died and Lawrence's will then made George the owner of Mt. Vernon's 2,500 acres!

Washington resigned his military commission when he was 26 and soon married Martha Custis, a wealthy Virginia widow. At that time he owned about 5,000 acres of land which had not fared well under his brother's care during the cam-

Washington began to take farming seriously! He had a keen business mind, an eye for detail, and a searching curiosity about anything new. He kept a daily diary from 1760 till his death in 1799, much of it dealing with his farming activities. The only major interruption in his diary came during the American Revolution.

The management system was quite modern. Each farm's overseer made weekly reports which Washington used for his notes, diaries, and account books. He made exacting notes on planting, harvest, and sale-a trait that is recognized in the FFA opening ceremony when the treasurer says, "I keep records of receipts and disbursements, just as Washington kept his farm accounts - carefully and accu-

As early as 1766, Washington realized the error in continued tobacco cultivation. He practically abandoned tobacco, the major colonial crop.

Nothing was wasted at Mt. Vernon; Washington used everything that was usable and bought nothing he could produce-he tanned cattle hides and sold fish from his waters. Most historians credit Washington's farming suc-

two Vocational Agriculture Teachers of Texas are advising and teaching fifty-three thousand, eighty-two Future Farmers of America that Agriculture is more than farming and ranching. The task of producing food and fiber for an ever increasing population also requires a well-staffed agribusiness industry. The opportunities for young people in the total Agriculture industry were never brighter.

In 1969-70, 49,632 Future Farmers of Texas produced $5,438,889,57 worth of agriculture products from their supervised farming programs.

According to O. L. Harris, Troy Harris and Homer Jones, vocational agriculture teachers at Floydada High School, the local FFA Chapter produced $34,268.47 from livestock, poultry and crop projects raisand school district,

Eight hundred and fourteen students in Texas, working in Programs, earned $494,869.26. High Schools in Texas provide an opportunity for their public Texas membership has grown from 28,643 in 1950 to over 50,000 in 1970. In a study conducted by Mr. J. A. Marshall, State Director of Vocational Agriculture, it was found that over sixty percent of the vocational agriculture students who graduate from high school and are available for employment are employed in full-time farming or in agricultural related occupations.

The FFA supports and supplements training for those involved in production agriculture as well as those processing and distributing agriculture products. Many people are employed in agricultural occupations such as engineers, scientists, management personnel, sales and service personnel, and educators. FFA training lends support to those providing these services for agriculture. Also, there are over 60,000 desirable openings each year for farm operators, farm engineers, and full - time hired farm labor.

Vocational agriculture and the FFA are striving to provide a sound and a continuing education to help produce the leaders and work force so direly needed in our nation's agriculture industry.

The theme this year is "Involved in America's Future," As the theme implies, Future Farmers are definitely involved in the future of America. A new program called "Build Our American Communities" was recently inititated by the achievements won by the present and past generations of agriculturists. Grant unto us a belief that to live and work gaged in other agricultural pursuits is pleasant as well as challenging. May we develop leadership from ourselves and respect from others; develop our own ability to work efficiently and think clearly. Thou happiness depends upon us. We pray that rural America can and will hold true to the best traditions of our national life and that we can exert an inmunities which will stand solid for our past in that inspiring task. Teach us obedience in all Thy plans for us and for mankind. In Jesus' name. Amen."

National FFA organization. This program is aimed at encouraging members of FFA Chapters to survey their comand to select at least one community improvement project to work on during this year. Through this program, it is felt that many Texas communities will be a better place in which to live because these young people become interested and involved.

City, School, Hospital Elections Set April 3

Wednesday, March 3 is the filing deadline for candidates in the April 3 city council and school board elections here. March 9 is the last date candidates for the Caprock Hospital District board of directors may file their petitions.

Candidates for the city school elections file applications at City Hall and at the School Board Secretary's office, respectively. Candidates for hospital district directors must file a petition, signed by not less than 25 qualified voters of the district, asking that their names be printed on the ballot, with the secretary of the Board of Directors of the district at least 25 days prior to the el-

The city election is to fill the expiring terms of Mayor Jimmy Seay and councilmen Boone Adams and Ed Hammond; all three have announced for reelection. City Secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart said Tuesday afternoon that no other applications had been received at City Hall.

The terms of Newell Burk, Bill Hale and Thomas Warren expire on the school board. Warren filed Tuesday for reelection. Burk and Hale have announced that they will not seek re-election. Applications will be received through Wednesday, March 3, not March 4 as previously reported. The Caprock Hospital District will elect two directors in the April 3 election. Jay S. Hale Jr. has announced that he is seeking re-election to his director spot; Walton Hale reportedly will not run again. Floydada (and Texas) residents have until February 28 to register to vote. Last day for -person registration locally is Friday, February 26, as the County Tax Office in the Court House will be closed Saturday and Sunday, the last two days of registration.
