Engineer Preparing For Bids

A phone call to Hesperian publisher Wendell Tooley yesterday at noon revealed that the go ahead light is flashing on building of the Mackenzie Water Authority dam. The phone call came from Lon Davis, president of the Mackenzie board, who had just come out of a meeting with the Texas Water Development Board in Austin. Davis reported that bonds are being sold by the board and the Mackenzie Water Authority's request for a little over 3 1/2 million dollars has been changed from "conditional to firm commitment" status. Davis said engineer Jim Nichols, who was also in the Austin meeting will finalize plans for bidding on the project immediately. In the meantime, Davis said the legal authority for the Mackenzie board, Don Bookout of Tula is trying to negotiate for purchase of the 2,000 acres needed for the lake site. The board received some $300,000 back in November for purchase of the land and other costs incurred in the seven years of attempting to build the project. The project has been stymied the last year or two due to the high bond rates, prohibiting sale of the bonds. Recently the rates started dropping. Joe Smith of the First South-west Company who is financial advisor for the group was also in Austin at the meeting, with Nichols, Davis and Bookout. Davis said Floyd County's Marvin Shurbet served as acting chairman of the meeting.

Floydada Merchants Set Holidays, Promotions

In a big turn out of Floydada merchants at the bank last Thursday morning several decisions were made. The meeting was called by Bill Hale, head of the retail trades committee.

The merchants agreed on the following town-wide holidays: Memorial Day, Monday, May 31; Independence Day, Monday, July 4; Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years. Promotions approved by the group for the year included Harvest of Values about the last week of June, Back to School about the first week of August and Christmas about the first week in December.

NURSES MEET HERE

Hearing, Vision Workshop

A workshop on audiometric and vision screening will be conducted here Tuesday (March 30) by the State Health Department for area school personnel. Letters were sent to 22 schools inviting school nurses or other representatives of their school to attend the workshop beginning at 9 a.m. in the First United Methodist Church. Certificates will be awarded for those attending the audiometric portion of the program.

Elijah Brown, a health program specialist from the Maternal and Child Health Division of the State Department of Health, will instruct the school personnel in operation of hearing and vision check devices.

Another Rabid Skunk Reported

With the confirmation of several rabid skunks in the county since the first of the year, public health inspector Choise Smith has warned pet owners to pen and observe dogs or other animals seen fighting with skunks.

The local Migrant Health Service, J. K. Holmes, director, sponsors the workshop. Jake Webb, president of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce, will extend the welcome Tuesday.

Planning committee members are: Evelyn Ulmer, Beverly Kincer, Choise Smith, Billie Jordan and Olin Watson.

Representatives have been invited from these schools: Roaring Springs, Flomot, Matador, Ralls, Silvertown, Petersburg, South Plains, Dougherty, Crosbyton, Lorenzo, Lockney, Floydada, Plainview, Hale Center, Spur, McAdoo, Patton Springs, Dickens, Quitaque, Turkey and Kress.

Smith said several dogs had been exposed to rabies since the first, and recommended that dogs and even pet cats, in town as well as in rural areas, be vaccinated against the disease. The latest rabies confirmation came Wednesday when results were received from a skunk killed on the Travis Gentry farm east of Lakeview. Smith said a report from Austin confirmed the animal did have rabies.

A dog, which killed the skunk, is penned and is being observed for signs of the disease. Earlier this month, a skunk killed on the Toby Williams farm about five miles south of Floydada was confirmed rabid. See rabies bulletin, page 7

Officers Check Treflan Robbery, Pickup Theft

Floyd County sheriff's officers are looking for the thieves who broke into Custom Farm Services at Muncy last week and made off with 65 five-gallon cans of Treflan. Deputy Connie Reed said the thieves cut a hole in the northeast side of the CFS building (the side next to the railroad tracks) and helped themselves to the nearly $7,000 worth of farm chemicals Monday night or, more probably, early Tuesday morning of last week.

The county officers are also investigating the theft early Sunday morning of a pickup belonging to Greer Christian. The 1969 Chevrolet half-ton pickup was stolen from the yard of an employee of Christian's, about 2 a.m. Sunday. Christian's employee heard someone crank the truck and leave, and he called the police department. A statewide pick-up order is out on the truck. Officers said they expected to find the truck abandoned somewhere downstate.

Three elections are set for that date in Floydada - to choose two city councilmen and a mayor; three Floydada Independent School Board trustees; and two members of the Caprock Hospital board of directors.

No absentee votes had been cast Tuesday afternoon at City Hall, balloting place for the council election.

Through Tuesday afternoon, only two absentee ballots had been cast at the County Clerk's office, where absentee voting is being conducted in the school and hospital elections. Those two were cast in the school board race.

secretary and Bill Hardin, treasurer. New directors elected were Bob Kirk, Gayle Baucum, Jerry Thompson, and Rev. C. B. Melton.

NEW MISS FLOYDADA IS CROWNED ... Brenda Willis, right, last year's Miss Floydada, places the crown on the new Miss Floydada, Lisa Gregory, after she was given the title at the annual pageant Saturday night.

Lisa Gregory Is Crowned Miss Floydada

Lisa Gregory, 15 year old sophomore, was crowned "Miss Floydada" Saturday night in the annual high school pageant. She succeeds Miss Brenda Willis, last year's winner. Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gregory. She wears the crown and title also worn by her sister, Mrs. Garrett Boyd of Houston, the former Shirley Gregory, who was Miss Floydada in 1960. Lisa is a Student Council representative in high school, is a cheerleader, a member of the International Club and Future Teachers of America. She will be a member of the Whirlwind Staff next year. Lisa is also a member of the Methodist Church where she is active in Youth Fellowship, and is also an officer of the District Youth Fellowship.

Mrs. Jim Simpson. Judges were Texas Tech coach Richard Bell; Lubbock mayor, Dr. James Granberry, and Mrs. Clyde Bennett, Petersburg, professional model.

Steve Puckett, senior class president, gave the welcome and Mrs. Keith Burhman narrated the pageant.

Entertainment was furnished by the Floydada High School Stage Band and a group, "Just Us".

Baseball Group Nominates Officers, Asks Parent Support

The Floydada Baseball Association met last week and made nominations for officers for the '71 season. Nominees are: for president - Carl Armstrong; secretary - treasurer - Jack Covington; league vice president - Bill Orman in the T-Shirt, Jim Jackson in the freshman, and Jerry Thompson in the junior league. Preliminary sign-up sheets for the '71 baseball season are in the schools, according to president Carl Armstrong, so the association can get an idea about how many boys will be participating in this year's program.

Armstrong said about 250 boys played in the Floydada youth baseball leagues last summer, but that so far, not more than eight to ten parents have shown at any of this tal interest and said parents need to attend the meetings to let their view be known on how the baseball program should be run.

Time for the next meeting had not been set at press time; Armstrong said the association

 o American farmers to go back to the hoe and give e of pesticides is a challenge, indeed - but not just the present time we have to make a choice - do we hundred million people. Of these three million far-percent produce 60 percent of the food.

vw about 200 acres of corn, 100 acres of potatoes, 150
 soybeans and the rest in small grains and hay crops.
 rtilizer and pesticides in order to grow enough to make ur our family, but I have a proposition for Mrs. Gleason o agree with her.

ar, we'll grow six acres of potatoes without fertilizer des and my family will hoe the weeds and pick off the ties by hand. If blight or some other calamity doesn't strike we'll probably grow enough potatoes to feed our family and two or three other people. We'll also grow 10 acres of corn without fertilizer, and weed and insect control.

We may, if we're lucky, produce enough corn to feed three or four cows and our family will drink most of the milk produced.

Now then, that means we'll have a few hundred acres of land left. We'll loan Mrs. Gleason any number of acres she'd like - rent free. We'll also loan her doctor, lawyer, taxi driver, filling station attendant, beauty operator, grocer and her minister a few acres. They can grow whatever crop they choose on this land - they can hoe it and pick off the insects and live on what they grow.

Of course, they'll be so busy hoeing and chopping, Mrs. Gleason won't have any medical service or taxi service. She won't be able to get her hair done or go to church on Sunday, but that won't matter because the minister will be hoeing, too. Of course, none of these things will really matter because Mrs.
 Gleason will probably have died of starvation.

Now let's get to the money deal. The farmer is supposed to be getting rich. We are getting about 10 percent more for milk than we were in the 1940s and how much has the cost of living risen in this country since then? We get less for corn and soybeans than we did in the early 50s.

This year we sold our potatoes for an average price of $1.65 per 100 pounds, and what did the consumer pay for 10 pounds in the grocery store?

By gosh, I sick to death of the American farmer being told what to do by people who don't know what they're talking about.
 Frankly, I'm living for the day when the farmers organize, go on strike like everyone else in this country feels free to do regardless of the consequences, and let the whole population starve to death. Then nobody will have to worry about the environment.

Hunting Mishap Trial Continues

A jury of U.S. District Court in Lubbock continued deliberation yesterday in the personal injury lawsuit of J.A. Lewallen of Floydada and his son, Carl, 16, against the Savage Firearms Corp.

The plaintiffs are seeking $175,000 for personal injury when a defective weapon caused a hunting mishap. Carl Lewallen, the youth, was wounded in the right wrist May 31, 1968.

According to testimony Monday the Lewallen boy was injured when a bolt action .410 shot gun owned by a friend had a defective mechanism and caused the gun to misfire. The Lewallen boy and Mark Vinson were hunting on the Jerrold Vinson farm at the time of the mishap.

was looking for a date and time when all parents could attend.

He said one of the changes that might be made in this year's program would be the expanding of the T-shirt league to include teams with fewer boys on each team. There are now five teams, and they're hoping to expand to eight.

Armstrong stated that the parks are now in the best shape they have been in since he's been here, thanks to city manager Bill Feuerbacher and the "Green Thumb" program. The "Green Thumb" workers have rebuilt bleachers, painted fences, pruned trees and cleaned up at all three parks.

The association has permission to install lights at the T-shirt park, and Lighthouse Electric workers are set to do the installation. Plans are in the works to paint bleachers and revamp the public-address systems at all three parks, Armstrong said.

Rail Crossing Lights Going Up

Protective devices are being installed at three railroad crossings, here, according to Texas Highway Department resident engineer Sam Fowler.

The Highway Department is paying 90 percent of the cost of the flashing signals, and the railroads are putting up the signs, Fowler said. Flashing lights are being erected at the QA&P tracks across US 62-70 (at the Travel Center Restaurant) at the "Q" tracks across FM 1958 (near the piggy-back lot), and at the AT&SF tracks across Price Street, which is now being paved, Fowler said.

A new type of sensor being installed at each of the three city locations senses train movement on the tracks and automatically turns on the flashing signals when a train is moving near the crossing or when one is across the road.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Q. How can I be sure all my wages are being reported correctly to my social security record?

A. Your social security office has a card you can use to get a record of the earnings that have been reported to your social security record. If some of your earnings have not been reported, ask your social security office for help. It is important for you to check your record from time to time, especially if you change jobs often.

Rest Home Birthday Party

Birthday time is here again
So let us all be gay. . .
And fill our hearts with love
and joy
And have a happy day!
Now Mrs. Glenna Jackson
. . . A lady all the way. . .
Is always very good and kind
No matter what the day!
Mrs. Hallie Bertrand

(Born in ninety-four)
Is very spry and happy
"Most like the days of 'yore,"
It's fun to greet Mrs. Newton
On such a day as this
And just to keep her happy
Let's "blow" a birthday kiss!
Mrs. Verba Jackson
Has a birthday, too. . .
And for her all our wishes
To soon be "good as new."
Now here is Mr. Culpepper
A sprightly ninety-one. . .
He sees no use complain-
ing. . .

Just have a lot of fun!
Our Mr. Alexander. . .
(Cornelius is his name)
Has reached the magic "hundred"
And laid a claim to fame.
The things he's seen in passing
Throughout this hundred years
Has often made him happy. . .
And yet, there has been tears.

TWO PERSONALITIES?

London—Scientists are toying with the idea of whether two distinct personalities, two minds, can in fact be produced within a single skull by the two hemispheres of the brain.
In a recent conference of the British Psychological Society,
Prof. M.S. Gazzaniga of New York University described experiments with monkeys which he said had shown that the same stimulus could produce opposite effects in the hemispheres of the brain.

Rabies Bulletin

RABIES

1. Identification—An almost invariably fatal acute encephalitis. Onset is with a sense of apprehension, headache, fever, malaise, and indefinite sensory changes often referred to site of a preceding local wound resulting from bite of a rabid animal. The disease progresses to paresis or paralysis, with spasm of muscles of deglutition on attempt to swallow. Delirium and convulsions follow; death is from respiratory paralysis. Usual duration is from 2 to 6 days, sometimes longer. Synonym: Hydrophobia. Other diseases resulting from bites of animals include pasteuriosis (Pasteurella multocida) from cat and dog bites, tularemia p. 256, rat-bite fever p. 186, tetanus, p. 239 and cat scratch fever, p. 62.
2. Occurrence—Uncommon in man; primarily a disease of animals. Occurs throughout the world except in Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii and other Pacific Islands, some of the West Indies, Great Britain, and the Scandinavian peninsula. Urban rabies is a problem of dogs and occasionally other pets; sylvatic or rural rabies is primarily among wild biting animals, with sporadic disease of dogs and domestic livestock.
3. Infectious agent—The virus of rabies.
4. Reservoir and source of infection—Reservoirs include many wild and domestic Canidae, including dog, fox, coyote, wolf, and also cat, skunk, racoon, and other biting mammals. Vampire and fruit-eating bats are infected in South and Central America and Mexico; insectivorous bats in USA, Canada, Europe, and the Middle East. Source of infection in rabies of man is saliva of rabid animals.
5. Mode of transmission—By bite of a rabid animal or rarely by saliva of such animals entering a scratch or other fresh break in the skin. Transmission from man to man is possible but not confirmed; the saliva is known to be infectious. Air-borne spread from bats to man in caves where bats are roosting.
6. Incubation period—Usually 4 to 6 weeks, occasionally shorter or longer; depends on extent of laceration, site of wound in relation to richness of nerve supply, and other factors.
7. Period of communicability—In dogs and most biting animals, for 3 to 5 days before onset of clinical signs, and during the course of the disease. Bats may shed virus for many months.
8. Susceptibility and resistance—Most warm-blooded animals are susceptible. Natural immunity in man is unknown.

9. Methods of control—

Preventive measures:

1. Specific prevention of rabies in man is by vaccination. Protection depends on administration soon after injury, usually on 14 consecutive days; in severe or multiple bites sometimes for 21 days. Vaccination often is supplemented by passive immunization with hyperimmune serum. The following is a guide in different circumstances:
 - a. If the animal is apprehended, confine and observe for 10 days. Give vaccine to exposed person at first physical sign or laboratory evidence of rabies in the observed animal.
 - b. If animal is not apprehended and rabies is known to be present in the area, start vaccination immediately.
 - c. In severe bites, particularly in region of head, face and neck, where there is any likelihood of the animal being rabid, give a dose of rabies hyperimmune serum immediately; follow promptly with a full course of vaccine, with booster doses of non-nervous tissue vaccine at 10 days and again 20 days after initial series is completed. An intradermal sensitivity test should precede administration of serum.
 - d. Rabies vaccination carries a small risk of postvaccinal encephalitis. This must be weighed against the risk of contracting rabies. Vaccine should not be given unless the skin is broken. The schedule of inoculations may be reduced if the person has had previous antirabic inoculations. If severe sensitivity appears in the course of vaccination, either with suspensions of nervous tissue or avianized (duck embryo) vaccine, complete the series with the other type.
2. Wounds of persons caused by bite or scratch of an animal with rabies or suspected rabies should be cleaned promptly with soap or detergent solution. Hyperimmune serum may be infiltrated beneath the bite wound; do not suture for at least several days.
3. Education of the public in the necessity of complying with restrictions on dogs, of vaccinating dogs, of seeking immediate medical attention if bitten by a dog, of confining and observing animals that have inflicted bites, of prompt reporting to the police of dogs manifesting strange behavior, and of reporting rabies in dogs and bites of persons by animals to the local health authority. Warn against picking up or handling sick or strangely acting bats.

4. Detention and clinical observation for 10 days of dogs, bats and other animals known to have bitten a person, or having suspicious signs of rabies. Animals should not be killed until existence of rabies is established. Rabid animals usually have a change in behavior, with excitability or paralysis, followed by death; if animal was infective at the time of bite, signs and symptoms of rabies will follow within 10 days, except for bats.
5. Immediate submission to a laboratory of fixed intact heads of animals dying of suspected rabies. Confirmation of rabies is by demonstration of Negri bodies in brain, by animal inoculation, or by demonstration of virus by fluorescent antibody test.
6. Immediate destruction or 6 months detention in approved pound or kennel of unvaccinated dogs or cats bitten by known rabid animals. If previously vaccinated, revaccinate and restrain for 30 days.
7. Register and license all dogs. Owned dogs in congested areas should be kept on leash when not within homes of owners. Collect and destroy stray dogs by public authority. Emphasize preventive vaccination of dogs; attenuated live vaccines administered intramuscularly confer longer lasting immunity than inactivated vaccines.
8. Cooperative programs with wildlife conservation authorities toward reducing numbers of foxes, skunks, and other wildlife hosts in areas of sylvatic rabies.

Control of patient, contacts, and the immediate environment:

1. Report to local health authority: Obligatory case report required in most states and countries, Class 2A (p. 7).
2. Isolation: For duration of the illness.
3. Concurrent disinfection: Of saliva and articles soiled there with. Immediate attendants should be warned of the hazard of inoculation with saliva and provided with rubber gloves and protective gowns.
4. Quarantine: None.
5. Immunization of contacts: Contacts of a patient with rabies need not be vaccinated.
6. Investigation of contacts and source of infection: Search for rabid animal and for persons and other animals bitten.
7. Specific treatment: For clinical rabies, none.

ners from Spearman 0-6, 1-6 in the third round.

I REMEMBER, I REMEMBER.....

Rights Of A 'Liner'

While I was Democratic chairman, the things I did had to do in part with what people were thinking politically. I was intrigued occasionally by the remarks I'd hear from 'liners'. Now a 'liner' I was given to understand, was a man who lived on the line between two adjacent Commissioners' precincts. Usually a well-kept road was on the dividing line.

ever convinced is when he gets into court and his vote is thrown out as illegal.
And even then he doesn't think it was fair.

Baker said applications may be filed from now until the first

Such a voter could cast his ballot in whichever of the two precincts he preferred. Thus, if a candidate on his side of the road had no opponent or a weak one, the "liner" could exercise a choice and vote in the precinct across the road, where a hot contest might be going on,
and where the "liner" might have a strong preference.

I suppose this myth still prevails. The first time I engaged in a conversation about a "liner," was in 1914, I think, and the last one sometime in the 1940's. At first I was quite sure the voter could legally cast his ballot only in the precinct of his residence, and said
so. So far as I could learn the election law did not say anything about a "liner" and his rights.

It is needless to say that I did not convince anybody and in the course of time I quit trying.
I am sure that during the years
I was Democratic chairman many a "liner" voted in "the precinct of his choice."
Like many another curbstone opinion the "liner's" rights are well set in many minds.
The only way a "liner" is

LAKE MEREDITH

TRAGEDY

More than a week ago two boats collided on Lake Meredith. One man was dashed against the front of one boat, resulting in his death. Two others were seriously injured.
One boat sank in the middle of the lake. Amarillo News stated two men in another boat came to the scene, but did not mention their names. The two men were Harold Berry and Elber Ewing of Amarillo. There were less than six boats on the lake that cold evening.

Berry and Ewing were heading in toward the lake entrance, heard the crash nearby, turned around and hurriedly went to the rescue of the men. Before park personnel, ambulance, etc. arrived, one man was dead. Artificial respiration failed to succeed. Berry went for the wife of one of the men, who was waiting in a pickup, already backed in the water a few miles away, waiting for her husband.

This was the 19th fatality since Park took over six years ago; seventeen were from drowning.

High School Student Will Be Selected To Take Part In United Nations Pilgrimage

A teenage high school student from Floydada High School will be selected to take part in this year's annual United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth, sponsored by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. The student selected in this competition will be an observer at the United Nations headquarters for a week as a guest of the Odd Fellows, with all expenses covered, including travel. Students, to qualify, must be sophomores or juniors, and who will not be over 17 years old by August 1, 1971. Good health is an important requisite.

The UN Pilgrimage for Youth project has been on the Approved List of the National Association for Secondary School Principals for the past fourteen years. In 1970 the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs sent 1,005 students at a cost over $250,000. To date 15,990 students have participated.

A committee will interview the contestants to determine comparative qualities of scholarship, leadership, character, interest in community welfare, concern in world affairs and general fitness. The delegate must be selected by the end of March, 1971.

Over 1,000 winning students from the United States and Canada will make up this year's 22nd Annual United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth.

The chili supper and pancake supper recently sponsored by Floydada Lodge, to raise expense funds for the student selected, brought good results, a spokesman said.

Members extend their thanks to the public for their response.

Farm Bureau Men Attend Study Tour

Albert Scheele of Providence and Neal Bertrand of Floydada, represented the Floyd County Farm Bureau as participants in a three-day study tour of feedlots and livestock marketing facilities in the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma. The study tour, sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau, left Dallas March 15 and returned in the afternoon, March 17. Eighty livestock producers, representing sixty County Farm Bureaus, traveled on two chartered buses. Bill Race of Lockney, president of the local county Farm Bureau, said that Scheele will make a report to the organization's board of directors on the findings of the tour. In addition to inspecting feedlots and other facilities, the Texans met with representatives of five other state Farm Bureaus and the American Farm Bureau Federation while in Oklahoma City. The purpose of this briefing was to acquaint the Texas group with livestock marketing experience in other states. The local county president said the purpose of the trip was to gain first-hand knowledge of markets in the booming feedlot region in the Texas High Plains and to learn what other state Farm Bureaus are doing in the field of livestock marketing.

ON LIVESTOCK TOUR - Albert Scheele of Providence and Neal Bertrand of Floydada are shown at the Oklahoma Farm Bureau's cattle auction ring in Holdenville, Oklahoma while on a three-day livestock marketing study tour of the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma. They represented the Floyd County Farm Bureau on the trip which was sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau. Pictured with the local representative is J.T. "Red" Woodson, president, Texas Farm Bureau.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor, We would like to use your paper to thank so many wonderful people in Floydada. On Jan. 31, while visiting some friends at a lake 14 miles north of Matador my husband had a heart attack. Mrs. Tom Daniel gave us some nitro-glycerine tablets, which played a big part in his condition. When we arrived at Caprock Hospital, everyone was great. There was no question asked about who was going to take care of his bill or if we had insurance. Instead they started working on my husband and I must say Dr. Haenosh was there in seconds. There isn't enough words to express our thanks to the staff at Caprock Hospital. In a 30-day stay I met some wonderful people. People that had loved ones in the hospital but still had time to think of others. So may we take this means of extending our deep appreciation to all who showed concern during his stay in the hospital. God bless each of you, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon W. Williams and Alan, 236 Kimberly Drive Lubbock, Texas

SOUTH PLAINS NEWS by Mrs. Murray Julian

SOUTH PLAINS, March 22—Special representative for Lions International, Ed Skypala, of Hereford, will be at the South Plains schoolhouse, Friday, March 26, at 7:30 p.m., to speak concerning the organization of a Lions Club in the South Plains community. Men of the area are invited to be present to discuss the formation of a Lions Club here. Doug Meriwether and Jim Reynolds of Lockney issued letters concerning the meeting. Men are asked to bring a friend or neighbor. Lisa Gregory, sophomore at Floydada High School, was named "Miss Floydada" at the annual Miss Floydada pageant held in the high school auditorium in Floydada Saturday night. First runner-up was Rhonda Teeple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Teeple of South Plains. We are happy to learn of the honor she received. Many from here attended the pageant Saturday.

Members of the Baptist Churches will meet at the Calvary Baptist Church in Floydada Tuesday, March 23, for a Stewardship/Missions Conference. Those especially urged to attend are the Missions Committee Chairman, Stewardship Chairman and deacons of the church.

Marvin Wells of Mineral Wells recently went to Tucson, Arizona to visit with his uncle, Clarence Wells, who has been in the hospital there, quite ill. Marvin came back this way and spent the night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wells, and also visited Mrs. Lillian Marble. Mrs. Wells, the former June Marble, stayed at Mineral Wells to keep the two older girls in school. Marvin has started a new class in helicopter training at Mineral Wells where he is an instructor at the helicopter base.

Mrs. Johnny Powell of Lubbock is to undergo major surgery this Thursday morning at University Hospital. Mrs. Fletcher Powell will be there with her during surgery.

Last Monday planes sprayed around the South Plains area for green bugs in wheat acreage on the Marble Bros. farms. Green bugs have also been reported to be very bad down around Seymour and surrounding country.

Mrs. Harold Hamm and Jeaneva Hamm of Amarillo, left here Tuesday and returned Thursday from Arlington, near Dallas, where they were visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Staples and Billy.

Dr. Fred Howard from Wayland College is the new interim pastor at South Plains Baptist Church. Dr. Howard will be teaching the first chapter of I Corinthians next Wednesday, and it is hoped many will make plans to attend. Around 65 were present Sunday morning.

Dr. Howard went home after church services with Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby Milton and Daria to have dinner and the afternoon with them. He accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings to Floydada where they attended the funeral services of Mrs. Clyde Saul in the afternoon.

Stanton FFA captured the sweepstakes trophy in Sweetwater's 12th annual 4-H and FFA judging contest Saturday. During the day there were all kinds of judging. In the cotton judging an all girl team from Highland topped the field and Terry Julian conducted the cotton judging. Murray Julian attended the Sweetwater judging contest with Terry Julian Saturday.

Bible Study will be held at the home of Mrs. H. L. Marble March 23 with a study in Psalms.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Julian spent from Tuesday until Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burks at Rockwall, near Dallas. Other dinner guests in the Burks home Tuesday night were Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Karr. All formerly lived in the South Plains area. Wednesday night the group enjoyed dinner together, and visited in the Bryann Karr home in Richardson. The towns around Dallas all enjoyed a good rain Thursday morning, and Lake Jim Hubbard, near the Burks, has wonderful fishing. The group enjoyed a fish supper while there.

Mrs. Lillian Luttrell, mother of Mrs. Leighton Teeple, fell Saturday at the convalescent home in Floydada and sustained a broken hip. We are sorry to hear of her accident. Mrs. Teeple is with her mother this Monday in Plainview Hospital where they are setting her hip.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wells went to Plainview Monday to visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Melvin Walters.

Mrs. Clyde Saul died Friday afternoon in the Plainview Hospital after being ill only a short while. Services were held at the First Baptist Church in Floydada Sunday afternoon. Several from here attended the funeral services, including Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Fortenberry, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Taylor, Dr. Fred Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Julian visited from Thursday afternoon to Saturday night in Roscoe with their son and family, the Terry Julians, Dee and Dickie. Other visitors there included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Althof and boys, and Mrs. Richard Young and Scott from Abilene.

Hobby Club members will meet April 14 at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Harold Hamm. Guest with them for the day will be Mrs. W. M. Stanforth, Jr., who will be showing her slides she made on a recent visit to New Zealand.

Outstanding high school science students were honored Tuesday, March 16, at a Science Recognition Day sponsored by Southwestern Bell in Lubbock. Several programs were demonstrated during the day and from South Plains, Dee Earle Cummings, was selected to attend the Recognition Day.

Spring came Sunday to our area, but with the cold winds this Monday it does not seem like spring. The terrible dust storms that choked West Texas on Wednesday swept clear to Dallas and beyond. Rockwall and vicinity received a good shower Thursday morning, and it was wonderful to be in a rain storm again.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Smitherman, Marc and Monty went to Floydada last Saturday night to meet Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bledsoe of Brownfield and have supper with them. The Bledsoes had been visiting here with friends, Mrs. Hamm Smith and A. B. Keim, who have been ill. Early Pritchett is getting along fine at his home after undergoing ear surgery some time back.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fortenberry went to Sweetwater last Friday to attend the 13th annual rattlesnake roundup. They spent the night with Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Trice and family of Lueders.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendis Julian, Mitzi and Kristi went to Lubbock Friday evening to have dinner and attend the 29th annual ABC Rodeo.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Jim Roberts of South Plains due to the death of her father, W. J. Epperson of Lockney, who died Friday night in Lockney General Hospital.

Services were held Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist Church in Lockney, with burial in the Lockney Cemetery. Many from this community attended the services.

Mrs. Garvin Beedy came home from the Lockney General Hospital last Wednesday, and is recuperating at her home from what the doctors say is rheumatoid arthritis. We hope she continues to improve.

Curtis Sanders and Warren Powell made a trip to Albany last week, and while there they visited in the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Trice of Lueders, and they had supper with them.

Mrs. Jim Roberts is helping get her mother, Mrs. Buster Epperson, settled in her new home in South Plains, formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Powell.
