Ode To An Unknown Soldier

The call me grunt or Demo man
 They do not know my name
 And tho we're here in Vietnam
 Our jobs are not the same.

I live a life of danger
 Daily filled with fear
 I walk a think line of life and death
 For Charlie's always near.

I make my way on by foot
 For there is no place to ride
 With explosives upon my back
 And a 16 at my side.

I'm in a world of booby traps
 Of mines and flying lead
 Where death could lie beneath each step
 Where friends are easily dead.

I have a hat and dirty job
 One that most men fear
 For I am where the action is
 And where the war is near.

And they? They work upon a hill
 Where the air is cool
 Where death is just a figure
 And impression is the rule.

And they are safe upon that hill
 Where war is more a game
 Because of a grunt or Demo Man
 And they don't know my name.

HOPE the new postal system for airmail delivery really works. Now if they can just find a system for getting airmail delivered faster outside the 800 mile radius, one local resident recently received two air mail letters on the same day, but mailed three days apart. That would be a good one for Ripley to solve.

The name of Mrs. Kenneth Bain, as giving the program for the 1922 Study Club recently, was unintentionally omitted from the write-up.

Times assessment of the status of women, based on the new data from the 1970 census, government surveys and reports and interviews with Census Bureau analysts. I predict times will change too. One of these days we may again don our bonnets, work in the fields, milk cows, churn butter and see that there is three squares a day on the table. Isn't it nice the now to eat out, have a husband to pamper you so you will be able to show up at work the next day and take care of you if your sick, so you can hurry and get well in order not to be docked a day's pay; do his own washing so we can get that much needed rest; do the vacuuming because our shoulders ache from bending over a typewriter all day. Yes this women's lib is something else.

"WORK is the basis of living. A man'll rust out quicker than he'll wear out. I'll never retire," so says Col. The colonel chuckles that he went from rags to riches from the age of 65 to his present 79. Now if I could just learn what his 11 herbs and spices are which he uses in his famous chicken seasoning!

To make an evening out an occasion to remember, beautiful footwear steps into the picture.

Lustre and patent, suede, smooth, embossed and metallic-toned leathers take part in the footwork.

Sifting the sandal-pile for after-five shoes discloses a treasure trove of straps. They're mostly on the very slim side.

Ornamentation stresses jeweled strap buckles, piping and two-tone gold and silver effects.

In evening pumps, the closed silhouette with draped front is set off by jeweling. For the open-toed pump, slingbacks or open sides are sometimes added.

Also pointing its elegant toe is the evening pump with slim instep or diagonal strap, and the pretty pump with jeweled or silvered heel treatment.

Mom Buchanan Honored On 95th Birthday

Mrs. James H. "Mom" Buchanan was honored Friday with a reception in the home of a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morckel. The occasion marked the 95th birthday of the well-known Floyd County woman, who now resides in the Floydada Nursing Home. Friends called at the Morckel home throughout the afternoon and were served refreshments of frozen fruit punch, cake and cookies. Milk glass appointments were used from a table covered with a white cloth, accented by white lilac colored napkins and center floral arrangements.

Children which now span from the youngest of 54 to the eldest, who is 70, he also held pictures from her youth until the present time.

Mom Buchanan was born Myrtle Sires, April 9, 1876 in Missouri and was an only child. She was married January 24, 1900 and following the death of her husband in 1939 she moved to Floydada and has resided here since.

Fresh, White Suits Emerge In 30's Style

Women's liberation is getting front-page attention, but it's male liberation that will make the style headlines, predicts Ken O'Keefe, fashion director of the Men's Fashion Association.

When it comes to coats and suits, men are due to be liberated from the heavy weights and somber colors of winter, as the fresh white suit emerges.

"If you think you've seen the white suit before, you probably have," says Mr. O'Keefe, "perhaps on Douglas Fairbanks in last night's late show."

Violence & TV

Even during the recent holidays the continued and astonishing violence in America continued. Father and son shot it out with highway patrolmen. Fanatics boarded themselves up in rooms and shot it out with police. Street shootings occurred.

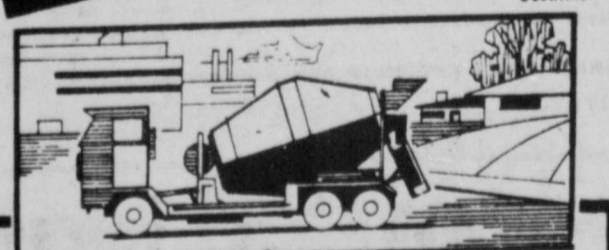

In practically no other country in the world is there such an awful rate of violence. Our cowboy heritage and the constant deluge of violence we are subjected to on television are obviously to blame. Perhaps our toys and our wars also contribute.

But whatever the cause, the almost unbelievable level of violence in exacting a dreadful and completely unnecessary number of lives.

ON HOUSING

A Senate committee reports the federal government has increased the nation's housing shortage by tearing down more homes than it helped build and by spending more to subsidize squalid homes than decent ones. In a report on 33 years of "federal failure" in housing, the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs also accused the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) of adopting discriminatory policies which accelerated the decline of central cities into slums.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

It's true that many of us take our eyes for granted and fail to appreciate the great gift they are to us. Some people put their eyes through years of constant wearing use, without any sort of care. The eye is like a camera, and although it's said to be much less perfect mechanically, it suffers neglect and abuse as no camera could.

The eye can automatically adjust itself to variations in light and dark. Normally no oil is needed for perfect action, but much abuse may make corrective glasses or contact lenses necessary.

If people would stop to think how their life would change if they suffered loss of sight, they would cherish their eyes for the valuable, priceless organ they are. However, most of us do all kinds of things every day that are bad for our eyes. We read in bed, at a bad angle and in a bad light, doing irreparable damage without giving it a thought. When reading, there should be no shadows on the page. The rays should not strike the eye itself but should come from behind.

If your eyes are weak, don't read too much under artificial light. There should be no glare from the paper. The page should be held fourteen or twenty inches from the nose. Don't bend over the book, but lift it to the required distance.

If you have any blurring of vision, have your eyes examined by an oculist, or ophthalmologist, who is a physician specializing in diseases of the eyes. Eye troubles are often associated with ailments located in other parts of the body.

An optometrist is a person licensed in the scientific examination of the eyes for the purpose of prescribing glasses. An optician makes and adjusts eyeglasses.

ABOUT YOUR HOME

It's time again, in most sections of the country, to start thinking about roses. Roses aren't hard to grow if you choose healthy plants and stick to the varieties that are blight and bug resistant. Plant only those types that do well in your part of the country.

Don't look for bargain plants. Buy only the best grade plants from a reliable dealer.

The cones of dormant rose-buds should number three or more. At least two cones of the floribundas should be fifteen inches long—eighteen inches for hybrid-teas and twenty-four for climbers.

The low buds should be plump and unscarred. Buds should be dormant with some growth showing late in the spring. The bark should be green to the tips, unshriveled and show no signs of rough treatment.

Be sure to check the neck of the plants you buy to make sure they have not been split in packing. The roots should be well branched and unshriveled.

Plant your bushes as soon as possible after they arrive. Never allow the roots to be exposed to the sun or wind.

Follow careful planting directions. If you must hold the plants for a few days before you plant them, set them in a shallow trench and mound with moist soil.

Sleepytime Styles Copy Day Wear

Sleepytime gals—the littlest ones—copy their fashions for snoozing from those they wear at play.

Pajamas look like they're ready for the patio, and may well be. They show the frontier look, in stripes, peasantry prints and, of course, red-white-blue.

Sleepshirts have the outdoor air, too. Stars as well as stripes might be seen here.

Because little girls like to look pretty and feminine, there are plenty of ruffles and flounces on more conventional sleepwear.

Patients and doctors seldom agree upon the treatment of any illness.

I REMEMBER, I REMEMBER.....

Ansley Lived Here

Mention of the bright young reporter named Ansley who died in a highway crash, and his father, who was the deluxe real estate man, reminded me of another Ansley I had "lost" in the limbo of time.

This one, when it occurred to me, was F.W. (Fist) Ansley who made his home here in the twenties. He operated a steam laundry down by the ball park for a living, and for recreation mostly he played baseball. He was a pretty fair third baseman and a hard ball hitter.

He and Mrs. Ansley were interesting young people you liked to know. They had a daughter born here. A sister of Mrs. Ansley became the wife of E. C. Nelson, Jr. To carry this bit of reminiscence a bit further Mrs. Nelson succumbed some 25 years later in Athens, Greece, interrupting a world tour they had begun.

In later years Judge Nelson and the former Mabel Yearwood, also once of Floydada, were married.

Candidate's Fees

I read in the papers last week that a high court is being asked to hold that a candidate for nomination on a party ticket cannot be required to pay a fee to get on the ballot. So many of the things we did for many years just to keep the world on an even keel, have been found all wrong by our moderns, such a thing might just come to pass.

Had such a ruling come along in Judge Stalbird's day as chairman, it would have been just the opposite extreme of the way affairs were, and during my time, too.

There was a period of some 30 or more years when a state or district candidate could get his name on a county primary ballot for a dollar a county. A state candidate could even pick the names of the counties in which he chose to run. County committees were just about smothered by the aspirants who did not expect to be elected but liked to see their names in the published lists of would-be governors, lieutenant governors, senators, and so forth.

I recall more than one year when there were six to a dozen candidates for every state office. The primary election counters really had their jobs cut out for them.

The pendulum has swung to the other extreme in more recent years. Candidates are so scarce both county and state executive committees have to charge an extremely high fee in order to meet the costs of a primary.

A Possible Nightmare

In this modern situation one or two candidates could decide to pull out of a race and leave the chairman without enough money to pay his bills.

It would be a ludicrous situation, quite unfunny to the party chieftain, if just at the time he got his plans ready and his commitments made, a Modern Moses should rule that a candidate cannot be required to pay a fee to get his name on the ballot.
