Caprock Chat

BY WENDELL TOOLEY

SOME observations should be made about the Constitutional Amendments: People do not take the time to read and understand them, and just to be "safe" . . . they go to the polls just don't take the time to vote.

Country it seems that a lot of extra money is spent when four or five people are employed at $10 a month to make 20 to 30 votes. Fact is, the Court should consolidate some of the smaller boxes and costs and boxes. Of course I am highly in favor of help when a general election comes along with a large voting turnout.

The people of Texas had approved amendment No. 1, to give our legislators a pay raise. A man that seeks the state office must spend a lot of campaign money it takes money to live, and $4800 just won't do. This means he must be a rich man to afford state office, or he must take campaign donation money to influence his vote, or he's gotta make money, or he has gotta steal from his expense account.

The voters of Texas did the same thing last year when they got a pay raise by the legislators was not an amendment like this year's Number 1. The amendment asked for a certain amount of pay increase . . . the voters of Texas said "no."

We continue to expect a legislator to campaign and we should expect only rich legislators, bribed or embezzled legislators, or heavily indebted legislators.

People say . . . well, they still have their jobs at the end of the session. When a legislator is not in session making "free" trips all over the state making attending to district business. Senator Jack Highme last year, "because I am away from my law office in Verna so much, my income has dropped."

PLAN of congressional districting is just right according to what I want and also what Congressman George Mahon has in mind. The new plan keeps Floyd County in Congressman Mahon's 19th district with Hale, Lamb, Bailey, Paragostino Counties. Congressman Price would seek his seat in the Panhandle counties intact, it would keep the counties west of us in with the South Plains counties that have a similar economy.

This is the way it ought to be.

There was the lady who mailed out all her Christmas cards to beat the postal rate increase.

If you haven't noticed the new counter over in C. J. office in the courthouse, . . . do so the next time you're in. It is evidently a pretty good craftsman, as he built it.

Water Amendment Approved

Floyd County voters in a tight turn - out approved Constitutional Amendment No. 4, the Clean Water Amendment, Tuesday as they turned thumbs down on the first three amendments.

While the amendment election was fairly "ho-hum", a straw vote on whether or not to modify the water among ten area counties stirred up considerable interest.

Again Floyd voters joined the group of ten, indicating they preferred that Mother Nature not be modified. Floyd's vote of 223 for cloud seeding and 517 against was similar to the percentage against weather modification in the other nine counties.

The straw vote, which is not legally binding, will have no effect on this year's hail suppression program which will be carried out in the nine county area by Atmospherics Inc., a California based weather modification firm.

A large group of farmers and ranchers favoring natural weather have indicated they might seek to halt the hail suppression program through an injunction if the referendum showed strong public protest.

THE RETURNS

Although a complete listing of all voting boxes is printed elsewhere in this issue of The Hesperian the county vote is as follows:

1. Ethics - Legislator's Pay: 203 for, 663 against; state vote 273,678 for, 494,038 against.
2. Easier amendments: 175 for, 678 against; state vote 340,273 for, 414,481 against.
3. End of some welfare ceilings: 350 for, 510 against; state vote 373,137 for, 400,476 against.
4. Water quality bonds: 519 for, 344 against; state vote 403,532 for, 356,437 against.

Only one box in the county approved amendment No. 1 . . . the absentee vote was 4-0 for. All boxes voted against No. 2. Sandhill and Lone Star were the only boxes to favor No. 3. Goodnight box showed a 11-1 tie on number 3. All county boxes approved the No. 4 "water" vote except Allmon, Sandhill, Baker, Lakeview, Har-

Wheat Vote Ok

R.G. Dunlap, Floyd County leader of the Texas Wheat Producers Association, said this week that unofficial reports on the May 11 wheat referendum indicate the measure passed, with 67.1 per cent of the voting growers favoring the research and promotion proposals. A 2/3 majority was needed to make an assessment of "not more than five mills per bushel . . . at the first point of sale" on wheat marketed in the 34-county area polled in the referendum.

The State Department of Agriculture is to issue the official results on the referendum soon, Dunlap said.

Band Names Drum Major, Twirlers

Donnie Fortenberry has been named Whirlwind Band drum major for 1971-72; assistant drum major next year will be Reita Fitzgerald.

A panel of six judges made the selections Monday from a field of five FHS band members trying out for the spot. The panel included Bill Nelson, Ralls High School band director; Charlie Wood, Lorenzo High School band director; Bob Alldredge, FHS faculty; and three band students - George Finley, Carla Suggs and David McCulley.

Others trying out for Whirlwind band drum major were Cecilia Smith, Larry Guffee and Willie Zinn.

Twirlers for next year were also named Monday. They will be Cary Brown, 14-year-old freshman - to-be; Paula Bryant, 15, and Ester Luna, 16, both sophomores next year.

The newly-selected drum majors and twirlers will attend the Texas Tech Band and Twirling School July 11-23.

The Whirlwind band has 60 members signed up for next year, the most in three years, according to band director Jim Swofford, and the band is already prepping for the fall marching season.

Summer band activities begin August 8, Swofford said, with rehearsals scheduled for mornings and afternoons.

The marching band received a I rating in UIL competition this year, the first time since 1959 that the FHS band has accomplished that feat; and the concert band got the I rating in sight reading, for the first time since 1960. They placed fourth in the Panhandle-South Plains Fair parade in Lubbock, and are sending four musicians to the upcoming state solo and ensemble contest.

Funds are available and applications for such loans may be made at the FHA County Office located at 107 W. California Street, Floydada, Texas.

PITY THE MIDDLE CLASS
"For years, the greatest fear in a man's life was to be poor. It was about the worst thing that could happen. But gradually it's changing. In fact, now a days, you can get subsidized housing, health, and dental care, university scholarships, and various other welfare benefits provided you're poor enough. All you need to enjoy the many advantages of life is proof that you are disadvantaged. Nobody can complain about that. It's human and kind. However, in curing poverty, society has created another problem group. That's the middle class.

Nobody wants to be middle class anymore because the middle class has an awkward amount of money - too much to be eligible to live as well as the poor, too little to live as well as the rich. The middle class wage earner is caught in between.

Instead of living downtown (like the rich and the poor) the poor sap has to buy a crummy lot outside of town because that's all he can afford. And then the rest of his life trying to pay his bills, educate his body will help him to meet the mortgage. Third Graders Write Prize Winning "Pollution" Letters

Over 170 third graders of Duncan Elementary wrote detailing the many problems caused by pollution. The perian is happy to print the top three who received $1 prizes.

FIRST PLACE
Dear Floydada Citizens,
Just think how our world would be 40 or 50 years ago. We need to stop the pollution! Black smoke pollutes the water animals and fish. It makes things ugly. Polluted air is bad for our health. We are ruining our water. We are ruining the beautiful things around us. We are ruining our scenery. God gave us this beautiful world care of, and to love. But we came along and started polluting. God loves us, and we ought to appreciate it. He gave us a usable gift, to help us to make a living, and if we can't live the way God wants us to live.
Yours truly,
Becky Crabtree

SECOND PLACE
Dear Citizens of Floydada,
When we drive along the road there is a bunch of dirt. It looks so ugly it makes me mad. I see dead animals. time that smells bad. When I go to the lake there is trash lake and beer cans all over the ground. If you don't care for your car that causes exhaust pollution. If you get the trash can lid on the trash can then all the trash everywhere and then it don't look pretty. I'll do my part America Beautiful. I hate Pollution. Stop Pollution.
Yours truly,
Lisa Anderson

THIRD PLACE
Dear Citizens of Floydada,
I would like to keep our town clean and nice. Not to pollute our bug. To keep our roads in good shape. Not to pollute our water supplies, also not to ruin our naturally beautiful town. Not to build so many factories that we will be up to our ears in smog. To keep our skies clean so the sun may shine and get the vitamins we need, and so our plants will stay beautiful so that we may live. To keep our town so we can live in it, and so our children and their children will live in it, not only because they were born here but because they love it because it has not been polluted by other people.
I like everybody in our school and the teachers and Citizens of Floydada and Mr. Nickolson too. I like you.
Your friend,
Beatrice Bueno

NOTICED RALPH RUCKER has been in business for 20 years in Floydada and this week Powell's Super Market celebrates their 21 year anniversary. Congratulations to both firms.

I SUPPOSE every really outstanding newspaper has a fishing column. . . and, since I am possibly the most experienced writer at The Hesperian in going fishing (not necessarily most experienced in catching them) I should be allowed to go fishing more, and write a fishing column each week.

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER

Wants Ping Pong Championship

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm gets into the ping-pong matches this week.

Dear editor:

According to most of the newspapers I've read lately, the celebrated ping-pong matches between the Americans and the Chinese champions are opening up a new era in international relations and everybody hopes it's true, but it won't hurt to keep on the alert.

If you recall, we got invited, I guess that's the word, to a war over in that part of the world and whatever you want to say about the results, they haven't been happy. Nobody knows what the score is or how much time is left, the officiating has been terrible, very few people are left in the cheering section, and changing the coaching staff hasn't warmed up the fans' enthusiasm much.

You never can tell about these Orientals. You notice it was a ping-pong, not a football, team they asked us to send over there to play with.

However, in discharging our obligations to return the favor, the State Department figures it would be undiplomatic or indelicate to ask the Chinese to send a football team over here to take on the Baltimore Colts or the Dallas Cowboys, why not ask them to send over a basketball team? We've got to even up this ping-pong thing one way or another. You ever see any seven-foot Asians? Let's get em over here before Wilt Chamberlain or Bill Russell get too old.

Seriously, sports may be the answer to world turmoil, and I've got a plan. There are now nearly 300 million television sets in the world and as everybody knows, football, once a fan gets hooked on it on television, leaves no time for much of anything else.

Since a football player can't hold up to playing 12 months out of the year, the world should be divided into three conferences, one to play during the fall and early winter, one in the spring, and one in the summer, with all games televised world-wide. It might take a little time for a fan in Floydada to get interested in the Peking Bandits or the Sidney Kangaroos, but it could be done.

You get an average of 3 people to the set, and you'd have nearly a billion people glued to their screens watching football the year round.

Where's the leader who could work in a war under these circumstances?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

COUNTY AGENT'S CORNER

As the production of grain sorghum has mushroomed on the South Plains over the past decade, a tiny insect pest has continued to lurk in the back-ground and has inflicted heavy damage where the situation was ripe. The sorghum midge, one

The trend toward smaller differences between loan values for higher and lower qualities and longer and shorter staples began in 1970 as a result of the supply-demand relationships of the various classifications. For the past two years the supply of shorter staples and lower grades of cotton has been somewhat restricted, generally speaking, and in some instances very tight, while the supply of higher white grades of medium and longer staples has been relatively plentiful.

The base loan rate for Middling 1-inch cotton, basis 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire and net weight at average location, for 1971 is 19.5 cents per pound. That rate is effectively two cents per pound below the 1970 loan rate of 20.25 cents, which was based on gross weight and average-of-the-crop micronaire.

The loan rate for Middling 1-inch cotton at Lubbock area warehouses, excepting Floydada, last year was 20.20 cents per pound, five points below "average location." Floydada rate was the same as the average, 20.25 cents. However in this year's announcement, USDA said "Minor revisions were made in the 1971 location differentials because of increased transportation costs."

The extent of these revisions, according to a spokesman from CCC's New Orleans office, has not been finally determined. Freight rates have been increased since last year to both the northeast and southeast, which presumably means the "location differential" for cotton on the Plains will be greater than last year's five points. However the Washington announcement stated that changes would not exceed 10 points for any warehouse location.

Until the location differentials are known, calculation and publication of physical loan prices will be impractical.

of the most damaging insects of grain sorghum, must be reckoned with each year.

"Early planting is the most practical means by which producers can avoid midge damage to their sorghum crop," points out Dr. Don Rummel of Lubbock, area entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Sorghum should be planted so that it will bloom no later than August 1. This is when the critical period begins for potential midge damage on the South Plains."

If the crop escapes midge damage during the bloom period, then the danger is over, explains the entomologist. Sorghum is susceptible to the midge only during this period of growth.

"Our observations over the past nine years indicate that midge populations seldom reach damaging levels in this area before the first of August," says Rummel. So, producers can beat the midge by selecting the proper variety and planting date."

Although midge infestations have not been serious in the past few years, the insect pest was responsible for devastating losses during the early 1960's. Grain yields in late-blooming fields have been reduced from 20 to 100 percent. So, the sorghum midge can virtually wipe out a sorghum crop if conditions are right, notes the entomologist. That's why he cautions producers to take steps now as planting time approaches to avoid midge damage this summer.

A COLD COLD STORY...FOR A HOT DAY!

Former Floydada Man Tells Of Pulling Mobile Home To Alaska

(Editor's Note: Jerry Crawford, 1959 graduate of Floydada High School who is now in the Air Force in Fairbanks, Alaska shares with our readers this week a day by day trip to Alaska in the dead of winter, pulling a 19 foot mobile home. He left Floydada with his wife and daughter, pulled the trailer across to California, then in to Washington, and we pick up his account as he enters British Columbia.)

First day, Jan. 18 - We got a late start (planned) and drove to Hope, B.C. - beautiful scenery along the Fraser River - it snowed some along the way and there was about 12 inches on the ground in Hope. We stopped at a trailer court and they cleared a space for us. Temp. was about 35 degrees dropping to 28 degrees at night. I had installed a block heater in L.A. Here I bought a battery blanket (electric) and had the oil changed to 5w-20. We got off the next morning after the oil change about 9:30.

Jan. 19, 2nd day. We heard on the radio the roads closing behind us because of snow, so we knew we couldn't go back. It snowed during the day some. We had hoped to make Prince George, but only made it to Quesnel. I didn't like to drive in the dark, as with snow on the road, you have to know what's ahead of you. We had a problem in Quesnel. According to the guide there was a trailer park open all year. When we found it, the guy said he only kept it open all year for permanent trailers and didn't have any space cleared for travel trailers. The temperature here was around 0 degrees. We ended up staying all night in a Safeway Supermarket parking lot. We also managed to get stuck while trying to turn around in a driveway. A little shovel work and some pushing by Joanne got us out. We got turned around finally because she was able to push the trailer sideways on the icy road. Anyway, it's a good town to pass up.

Jan. 20, 3rd day. We got off to an early start as we wanted to make Dawson Creek. They had been doing some work on the roads in Prince George at the Service Station where we stopped for gas, and the gradient was very steep out of the station and everything was covered with ice. After the 3rd try we finally got enough momentum up to make it back on the road and continued on the John Hart Hwy toward Dawson Creek. Out of Prince George the road was fairly clean - the weather was good. In fact, from there on we had some light snow, but no heavy accumulations during the drive. Temperatures from here on ran anywhere from -10 degrees to -35 degrees. It was colder in places, but I will say when temp. gets colder. Anyway, up the western slope of the Rockies toward Dawson Creek wasn't too bad, although slick in spots - we were able to maintain 40 to 45 mph. However, when we reached the summit, and started down the Eastern slope, the road condition deteriorated - it was all hard pack snow or ice and the gradient was steeper. I don't think we could have made it uphill. Once we had to stop on a very slight upgrade for a wrecker trying to pull a small truck out of the snow bank on the side of the road, and we almost didn't get started again. We never saw the pavement again until a short stretch in Whitehorse. We made it to Dawson Creek and stopped at Paulson's Trailer Park. The water in the bathroom had frozen up, but the kitchen water was still all right.

Jan. 21, 4th day. Got off to a good start - the road was better and traffic heavier - Dawson Creek is Mile 0 of the Alaska Highway and there is ONLY a little over 1500 miles of ice to traverse. After hitting the gravel, we continued to make good time, as it was just rough enough to give good traction. However the road has more and steeper grades and MANY MANY curves. In spite of the furnace going full blast, all the water froze up. The trailer was still comfortable inside, but cold near the floor. We needed a blower to distribute the heat. We made it to Ft. Nelson and stopped at a motel that advertised camper facilities (Blue Bell Motel). They didn't have regular sites, but the manager let me park next to his double wide trailer home and plug in to the electricity ($2.00) for the car and trailer. It was about -35 degrees. We saw only a couple of other trailers after Prince George and they were being pulled by big pick-up trucks.

Jan. 22, 5th day. The road got worse. Many long steep grades and sharp curves. Had plenty of power but not enough traction. The farther we went the slicker it got until the road was a solid glaze of ice covered by about 1/2" to 1" of fine powder snow. Traffic dropped off a lot. I was having to "run" the hills to make them - very hard to do when there is a steep curve at the bottom of the hill. We finally ran into one just after crossing the Coal River at Mile 533. I put on chains but still just set there spinning. Had a passerby leave word for a wrecker at Fireside Inn, Mile 543. Took him about an hour to come get us. He managed to pull us to the top. We stopped at Fireside Inn as it was dark and I was exhausted - we all were. A truck driver stopped in his Mobil Home pulling tractor and said he dropped his load in Watson Lake because the road was so slick and was going back after it later. The towing charge was $35.00.

Jan. 23, 6th day. Still staying in the trailer. Decided to lay over and get some rest today as we were all exhausted. Parked the trailer by the Inn and plugged in to electricity. Worked on the chains - had broken some, and put them on the car better. Also cleaned off about 300 lbs. of ice and snow which had accumulated on the back of the trailer - the trailer seems awfully heavy now. Joanne and I discussed the possibility of leaving the trailer and coming back for it in the summer. We decided we would try and get it as far as we could.

Jan. 24, 7th day. Decided to make a go at it so we took off. Just a couple of miles from Fireside we got stuck under another hill - not so steep as the one at Coal River, but we were in luck. A guy driving down from Anchorage in a little 1 ton truck stopped. He gave us a tow to the top of the hill, but wouldn't take any money. Very nice. Also gave us some encouragement (very needed) by saying that this was the worst part of the trip. Part of the reason for us getting stuck was that the grease on the pulling bearings as we made tougher hills. We were about Allen's Lookout Mile 570. In order to make it we had to keep my speed up to about 40 on the straightaways. I have liked to go much slower as it was very slick. I previous to our coming the weather had turned and rained, then froze so the road was much worse. We crested Allen's Lookout about 30 mph and made the immediate very steep downgrade with hairpin turns. I couldn't get the rig slowed down enough to hit the turn, the trailer came sideways, the rear end clipping the snowbank on the right side. We ended up completely across the road. This violent maneuver rack holding the propane bottles and they were laying all along and it was the fellow who ran the wrecker service. I jumped out and cut off the valves, but there were no lines just bent, but didn't break. My next worry was the body, probably a truck would come along and clear us.

I knew they wouldn't be able to stop. As quickly as we disconnected the bottles, put one in the trunk and the other in the trailer. Managed to back up a little, then got the rig ened out. I felt sure we were stuck as there was no grade. Joanne got out and pushed and we got it up a steep hill just prior to Iron Creek Lodge. It was the first got stuck on it. About 5 minutes after we stopped at Iron Creek Lodge. He went back and got his wrecker service. The hill - charged us $10.00 as he only had to come to the mile. Also told us that we had made the worst mistake I shouldn't have any trouble from there on. We stopped and stopped at Morley River Lodge, Mile 777.7 because of a mess. Since our heat in the trailer was gone we were up. I did hook the bottles back up, but it took a while to get up. It was -42 degrees there and the propane wasn't very well. We decided we would start living in mobile homes. That night was really great as it was the first time we had slept in a mobile home.

Jan. 25 - 8th day. Took about 10 miles to get to the top of the hill to roll easily, very cold, but road was coming good. Averaged about 40 mph. Pavement around Whitehorse Didn't stop at Whitehorse - it was about 50 below here. Windows on the inside of car frosted over except for the windshield. Just enough to see. Rear defroster kept rear windows clear. Had to run defroster full blast to keep windshield clear. Made it to Haines Junction - country much flatter, but mountains. Problem seeing the road when you make a turn. As road has fine light powder of snow, no wind, and no over road like fine dust, also ice fog from the exhaust. Stopped at McKenzie Lodge - a very nice room, but had no power from his generator. The power went out when we went to bed and I ran out and started the car, but generator started again. A two vehicle group stopped at a international pickup pulling a 14 ft. trailer (looks very nice side ours) and a Volkswagen bus pulling a small two wheel trailer.

Jan. 26, 9th day. Went to start the car. The car wouldn't start. I checked my block heater - battery was dead. The touch and it usually is too hot to touch. The car won't start. You can tell it's cold. Luckily temperature is only -20. We give them a boost with our battery, finally about 10:30. The Volkswagen started so we decided to leave. It was time as road is slick and uphill. After a few miles the pull is easier and road improves. Very pretty drive. Mountains are pretty to our left and we are across the Elk on the road. We cross into Alaska - paved road winding as they have taken the sharp curves out. We Northway Motel. Stay in a little cabin with an oil heater is comfortable. Temperature is -52 degrees and I have with the lock on the trailer door, but thawed it with a blowtorch.

Jan. 27, 10th day - got off to good start, stopped at U.S. Customs, had very good breakfast. The road was as an arrow and smooth 'til after Delta Junction, where we into convulsions, but we made it. There is ice fog with in the -50 degree range when we arrive. I checked the car got rooms in BOQ. What a relief to be there at last. Trip and a lot of things I would do differently now. But I'm glad we did it. Joanne has already made it. I drive back I'll do it by myself - can't say I blame her. It was a very tense ten days. -62 degrees F was the first night - quite a welcome. I could hardly move because the grease in the differential was so stiff. I had anything but good about that little Plymouth though. I go and she never hesitated a minute and still is the same.

So much for the trip - think it's enough? We are the am flying on the RC 135S; quite a bit different type of plane than Offutt, but still essentially the same thing. We go every three weeks for a week at Shemya on the Alaskan near the Western (or Eastern as its Longitude is 174 W. East Longitude) and fly out of there when we are alerted. All I can tell you about the operation. It is a one of the best plane and highly specialized.

The weather is warming here, the snow is melting. We have a flood in May. Wish we could send some of the water down there. Have been hearing of the dust storms and the Hope you soon get rain.

We are going to go fishing soon as the ice clears off the lake they have rainbow trout 18 to 30 inches.

Love,
Jerry, Joanne and Heidi
-also Heidi - you should see how thick her fur is now! (the hound)
