Divorce Laws May Be Coming

The family passe? Mar- an outmoded and ant institution in the Aquarius? would go so far as to the family off as our social institution. But a position to know say family is in trouble, deep and that it needs all it can get — from the church, from sciences. of the most pressing says Eugene L. Smith, an of the Family Law of the State Bar of is to set up legal that will give help to families in the Christian Life of the Baptist Convention of Texas, and has urged support law reform. Recently most of Texas law was the product of century. It was reflected the living of the rural grand- of today's parents. the grandparents lived in when "nice" people did divorced, and when people lived, married and in the counties where were born. y's Texas families troop the divorce courts in increasing numbers than 60,000 in 1971) and about the country with frequency. But horse- ggy law, say the and judges, is totally ate to cope with the ms created by the ted pace of twentieth family life. State Bar of Texas will at an ambitious and ching plan for family ad when the Texas are meets in Austin in y. The proposals, officially as Titles II of the Texas Family are the results of seven research by hundreds persons. They will oded in four legislative ally the bills deal with and the parent-child ship. The areas to be d include: custody, support and visitation of children whose parents have been divorced.

2. Adoption.
3. Rescue and protection of abused children.
4. Juvenile delinquents and children in need of supervision.
5. Support for children born out of wedlock.
The new laws, if passed would be the continuation and completion of a family law reform program begun by the State Bar in 1965. Two segments of the new Code have already been enacted — an updated matrimonial property act in 1967 and revised marriage, divorce and annulment laws in 1969. Passage of the new bills would make Texas the first state in the nation with a modern, comprehensive family code.
Actual drafting was done by the lawyers and judges in the Bar's Family Law Section. Clergymen, physicians, psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, juvenile officers and many other groups consulted.
Not even its most ardent proponents expect that the new "family code" would re-capture for today's families the stability of Victorian days. Rather, the reforms are urged as a means of providing legal tools to help families cope with present-day stresses and disruptions.
"Time was," one lawyer observed, "when a man would marry one woman and have six or eight children by her. Today he's more likely to marry three or four wives and have two children by each one."
The new code is designed to protect the children caught up in these successive family breakups.
These are the children who are the "prizes" in prolonged, vindictive custody fights, the children who are fought over by natural parents as against adoptive parents, the children with parents whose twisted minds cause them to abuse the children to the point of death, the children who start out by running away from home and wind up in correctional school.
Successive installments will describe proposed legal protections for these children

Scheele, Duckworth Vows To Be Read December 31

SPRING FASHIONS '73

Cotton Makes Big Impact

DALLAS (Special)—Cotton Country is producing great fashion impact for spring-summer '73 with a tuned-in, turned-on cast of new fabric classics.

California, Texas, and New York designers are turning to corduroy, denim, chambray, prints, and knits for brilliant interpretation of the upcoming season's newest fashion looks.

Cotton corduroy—in the fashion spotlight by popular demand—is super-charged for local sports or peripatetic globe-trotters. It stars in new pastels, frothy ice cream tones, the brightest whites, and the whitest whites. In addition are unusual prints on transeasonal pin-wale, mid-wale, wide-wale, ribless, and sculptured corduroys.

Widespread "denim-mania" rivets fashion attention to fresh-as-paint pastels of pale yellow, green, blue, and pink. These are deftly brushed and often textured for a luxurious, feather-soft touch.

The new denims spring up in gentler, higher-styled clothes designed for on-the-go wear clock-round, year-round, and weather-round. Easy-going, carefree shirt-weights are matched to pants-weights in perfect partnership for flightweight comfort by land, sea, or air.

Chambray sings the "Bye Bye Blues" with a new color-struck palette in imaginative muted solids of red, yellow, green, and natural. It's also decked out in colorfully interplayed stripes, prints, decorative appliques, and stitchery.

In all its various forms, chambray adds flavorful fashion zest to shirts and shirtdresses, sportswear separates, palazzo pants, and "private lives" ensembles.

Cotton prints project new art forms as well as social and ecological influences. Printed knits and wovens come alive with dots. Pin dots, polka dots, carnival dots, and coin dots are deftly scattered on neutral grounds. Flower prints pop up amid a field of geometrics, swirls, or galactic circles. Edibles abound in mini-prints. Batiks are brightened, and photographically-rendered prints are dashed with humor.

Naturally comfortable cotton knits spin into '73 with sharply-needed fashion points. Pointelle knits—open, lacy, and cool—make a fashion statement in shirts, sweaters, and pants.

Jacquard knits have multiple patterning. Mixed-media styling in the form of color-related dots, stripes, florals, or geometrics shape coordinated sweater sets, dresses and sportswear separates.

WHAT a wonderful holiday even if it calls for double-time to get caught up with newspapering. Another good ole' fattening weekend is also coming up, and a little football on TV for those who wish and I always wish, cause I love it. You can watch all your soap operas you want, I'll take football.

WE have been hearing complaints from persons who have had pets shot accidentally in farming areas. One young man found that some time over the weekend his horse had been shot under his shoulder, apparently by accident. He will probably live but it's doubtful that he will be worth $800 if he survives, a price offered for him earlier. The family's pet dog was found recently near his farm home, shot by a high powered rifle and again apparently by accident. Hunting can be a very dangerous and costly sport. Some bullets travel a great distance, so make sure you are a safe distance from houses and animals before you shoot at your target.

A TEXAS judge decreed in 1911: It is extremely difficult to draw the line on a drunk. There are various stages such as quarter drunk, half drunk and dead drunk. There are stages of being vivacious, foxy, tipsy, and on a "high lonesome". It is about as difficult to determine when a young lady gets to be an old maid as to tell when a man has taken enough alcoholic stimulant to become "jolly sober" or

"gentlemanly drunk."

A New York court ruled: There is no such thing as a secret when known by a woman.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals stated that a wife may pour castor oil in her husband's whiskey because it is a wife's right to try to reform her husband.

A California court decided a drunken man has as much right to a good sidewalk as a sober man, and he needs one a good deal more.

An Attorney General in Connecticut ruled that if you are a beaver you have a legal right to build dams.

A municipal court in Pontiac, Mich., ruled that it is unconstitutional, discriminatory and unreasonable for police to ticket ice cream vendors for ringing bells.

An Iowa court ruled that a man has a right to keep his mother-in-law out of his house.

A Michigan judge ruled that a woman's hair belongs to her husband.

The Oklahoma State Supreme Court ruled that gin is intoxicating.

And a Georgia district court ruled that love matches exist only in the imagination of novelists.

THE FBI has its "Ten Most Wanted Men" list. I like this one, contributed by a reader:

Ten Most Wanted Men

1. The man who tries to be the right example to every child rather than talk about it.
2. The man who has a passion to help rather than a passion to be helped.
3. The man who is willing to say, "I was wrong, I'm sorry."
4. The man who will look at temptation squarely and says, "No."
5. The man who puts God's business above any other.
6. The man who throws himself totally into a project, then gives the credit for its success to his helpers.
7. The man who has a ready smile and a pat on the back for others.
8. The man who brings his children to church rather than sending them.
9. The man who can see his own faults before he sees the faults of others.
10. The man who gives his money, time and talent without any thought of return.

MRS. ROBERT ALLEN SPURLOCK

Victory Baptist Church Setting For Charlotte Nelson, Robert Spurlock Vows

The Victory Baptist Church in Floydada was the setting Saturday, December 23 for the double ring wedding of Miss Charlotte Lorraine Nelson and Robert Allen Spurlock. Performing the 3:30 p.m. vows was minister of the church, Rev. Emmitt Clappitt.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Julian Lipham of Floydada. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Spurlock of Tenaha, Tex.

Brass tiered candelabra in front of the pulpit, flanked a profile kneeling bench. White mums, orchid pompons and English holly, along with palms of commodore foliage completed the wedding scene.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of faille satin with panels of re-embroidered acetate and nylon lace. The high V-shaped neckline and bodice was fashioned with the lace which descended the skirt front and bordered the hem. The lace formed a bow in the center back, falling into a chapel length train. Her Bishop sleeves were caught at the wrist by self buttons.

A waist length veil of silk illusion was attached to a beaded tulle and she carried a lace and satin covered prayer book, a gift from her parents, on which lay a cascade bouquet of feathered white carnations, holly foliage and a purple orchid.

As the bride descended the aisle she paused to present her mother with a long stemmed red rose and in leaving the church presented the groom's mother with a matching rose.

Miss Brenda Nelson of Denver, Colo., served the sister as maid of honor. Billie Dunn of Lubbock was bridesmaid and Julianne Lipham, sister of the bride, and Teresa Spurlock, niece of the groom, were flower girls. What Does "Totalled" Really Mean?

By Larry Schwartz

The approaching car suddenly went out of control. There was nothing you could do to avoid the impending crash. It was a real "smash up", as they say.

Your insurance company unhesitatingly declared the automobile a total loss. Adjustors said it would cost entirely too much for repairs. Finally, the wreck was towed to the junkyard.

Is this the ignoble end of your blue beauty with shiny vinyl top, the one car you truly loved? No — not really.

Before the battered frame is lifted by crane and dumped unfeeling into hydraulic presses, a salvage team of mechanics will systematically strip the vehicle. Many basic components are thus saved for future use. Water pumps, fuel pumps, brake shoes, carburetor, clutch assembly, and the electrical parts, such as alternator, starter, generator, voltage regulator and distributor, can easily be remanufactured. And, surprisingly enough, remanufacturing of the components is performed

Nixon Determined On Cuts In REAP

WASHINGTON — White House economy pushers are going all out to trim $85 million from what Congress allotted for next year's Rural Environmental Assistance Program providing federal payments to farmers for carrying out conservation practices on their land.

The economy drive against REAP has been undertaken before, but each time the Agriculture Department with grudging approval from the White House—has yielded to congressional pressure and restored the funds.

But now, with the Nixon administration in for another four years, USDA officials who work with the program say the White House is determined to hold the spending line.

Estimated $223 Million Congress earmarked $225.5 million for REAP allocations to states in 1973, but the department last Sept. 29 announced an initial funding next year of $140 million.

At that time, officials said the door would be left open for increases later if it is shown more money is needed to make REAP payments to farmers.

The administration tried a similar tactic last year when it announced the 1972 REAP program would be held to $140 million despite Congress specifying $195.5 million. But the heat built up, and the department last January announced the remaining $55.5 million would be available this year.

On Dec. 7 the USDA quietly published in the Federal Register the official 1973 REAP allocation to states totaling $134.5 million. The balance of $5.5 million was held in reserve to take care of unforeseen state requests.

No Formal Announcement There was no formal announcement of the 1973 REAP allocations through regular department public information

Journey To The Sun To Be On KLBK TV

A one-hour special will be shown Saturday, Dec. 30, at 11 a.m. on KLBK tv, Channel 13 in Lubbock.

The program will be a special on Texas Tech and North Carolina who meet in the Sun Bowl, El Paso at 12 noon following the program.

The program will highlight the play of the Red Raiders in 1972. This is the second journey to the Sun special.

The program is presented by the Channel 13 sports department. Writer, producer and narrator of the program is Ray Boyd, sports director of Channel 13. Director of the program is Bill Blann, production manager at Channel 13. Doug Hodel, director at Channel 13 was in charge of audio. Doug is a graduate of Lockney High School.

A spokesman for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said such announcements are not usually made for state allocations.

One official who works in REAP said he believes the Office of Management and Budget in the White House would insist the program be held to the announced level.

The REAP cutback is but another indication that the Nixon administration intends to trim as much as possible of Agriculture Department spending in the coming year.

Officials already have announced farm set-aside acreage plans for wheat, feed grain and cotton which, over-all, will mean up to $1 billion in savings next year.

Facility Loans Cut Other programs are being reduced, including a recent announcement of tighter control over loans for building on-farm grain storage and drying facilities at a saving of $100 million or so in the fiscal year.

Full details of USDA budget cutting will not be available until the Nixon budget for next fiscal year is released late in January.

The 1973 REAP program continues a policy started by the Nixon administration of requiring states and counties to justify through priorities what conservation payments they need for farmers.

Practices Combined Some older practices which were operating many years under the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP)—the name was changed two years ago—have been combined with others in an effort to streamline the program.

Also, because of a recent awareness about pollution, REAP emphasizes projects for water management and waste control. Congress, however, has insisted that county programs offer to farmers the same benefits that were available in 1970 before the overhaul.

Allocation under REAP for 1973 to the top five states, compared with the 1972 shares, included: Texas $12,380,000 for next year and $17,450,000 in 1972; Iowa $5,585,000 and $7,860,000; Missouri $5,331,000 and $7,462,000; Illinois $5,065,000 and $7,151,000; and Kansas $4,532,000 and $6,355,000.

Payroll Taxes U $456,000 In Fl

(Special to the Hesperian) NEW YORK, Dec. 16 — Residents of Floyd County will soon have to pay the piper for the increases in social security benefits that were voted this year.

Beginning on January 1, local wage earners and their employers will be hit with an increase in payroll taxes to finance the 20 percent hike in pension checks that went into effect in September and the added benefits provided for widows, disabled persons and others.

Working people who are covered by social security will begin paying at the rate of 5.85 percent on the first $10,800 of earnings. Matching contributions will be made by their employers.

The new rate represents a rise over the 5.2 percent on the first $9,000, which they are now paying.

As a result, a person in the local area who earns $10,800 or more will be paying $631.80 next year instead of the current $468.

The self-employed locally will be paying a maximum of $864, as against $675 at present.

What it amounts to, for residents of Floyd County, is an overall increase in social security taxes of approximately $456,000.

The figures are data released by the Security Administration's Internal Revenue Service. For the local area, the total paid by employers in 1972 was $312 in social security taxes. The new cost will be $468 instead of $312. The total this year will be $429 billion.

Floyd County's contribution to that total will be approximately $2,279,000, estimated.

And next year, new rates, it will be $2,735,000, based on the same number of workers.

Unless Congress further expansion of the maximum tax reached in the year 2000, a person earning $10,800 or more will be paying social security. Self-employed people will be paying $1,014 beginning in 1973.

Water Management Increases Dryland Sorghum Production

More efficient management of available water supplies can increase dryland grain sorghum production with certain varieties, according to a study comparing Agronomy and conventional cropping systems at the High Plains Research Foundation. The term "Agronomy" may not be familiar to many people. In this system, a special machine cuts a four-inch wide slot in the center of 80-inch middles. The machine fills the slot with stubble and slants the bed profile toward the slot, allowing available moisture to be "stored" by reducing runoff. Grain sorghum is planted on 40-inch centers located 20 inches on either side of the slot.

The conventional area was disked and worked with a harrow-stalk cutter-plane combination implement and planted flat. Water use efficiency is influenced by cropping using the early variety. However, the was increased on the maturing variety from pounds of grain per acre under the convention to 289.78 pounds of grain per acre under the Agronomy or micro system.

Production Short Course Scheduled January 15-18

The production short course for adult farmers will be held January 15-18 under the sponsorship of the Floyd County School Vocational Department and the Department of Agriculture, Extension Service, at Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas. The course is being conducted by Dr. Elmer V. Krehbiel, Beef Specialist with the Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas. He is a native of Floyd County and has been a resident of the county for many years. He has a B.S. in Agriculture from the University of Oklahoma and a Ph.D. from the University of Texas at Austin. He has been a member of the American Society of Animal Production and the National Association of Beef Cattle Raisers. He has been a speaker at many agricultural conferences and has written many articles on beef cattle production. He is currently a professor of Beef Cattle Production at Texas A&M University.

DR. ELMER V. KREHBIEL

will include such important topics as cattle reproduction and pregnancy diagnosis, selecting bulls and replacement heifers, calf crop percentages, and supplemental winter feeding. The course can be changed to meet the wishes and interests of the farmers and ranchers enrolled.

"Short courses in beef production, as well as in other areas, are now available to farmers throughout the state under the cooperative program between Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University," states Bob Jaska, associate professor, Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A&M University, who coordinates the program for Texas A&M.

"This cooperative program," states Jaska, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm people."

Specialists are now available in the fields of beef production, farm electric wiring and safety, farm electric motors, welding, swine production, tractor maintenance, pasture, and oxy-acetylene welding.

County Cotton Allotment Cut

The 1973 cotton program has been released by the government and Floyd County, like most South Plains counties received a cut in acreage allotment...some 12.7 percent.

Base cotton allotments in the 25-county High Plains area for 1973 total 1,488,145 acres, a cut of 197,388 acres — or 11.7 percent — from 1972.

The Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., compiled the county totals from allotments announced earlier this month by the USDA. The national allotment was set at 10 million acres, a 13 percent reduction from this year's 11.5 million acres.

"Major effect of the allotment cut will be to reduce total price support payments to producers in the coming year," PCG officials pointed out.

The payment rate for 1973 again will be 15 cents per pound. The payment will be on the assigned yield on the allotted acres. The assigned yield, with some exceptions, is the average of what a farmer actually has made for the past three years.

With no change in the assigned yield for next year, the total reduction in payments would equal the 11.7 percent cut in acreage allotments. Payment yields on individual farms may vary up or down from this year, however, since they will reflect the 1970-through-1972 output, with certain adjustments.

County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service officials must have a production report from each farm before its 1973 assigned yield can be figured.

"As in 1971 and 1972, farmers may overplant 1973 allotments to any extent they desire without penalty," PCG officials pointed out. "Thus the allotment cut, standing alone, is not expected to have significant impact on the number of acres that will be planted to cotton on the Plains in 1973."

Growers on the Plains this year planted something like a million acres beyond the paying base. The allotment this year was 1,685,533 acres. Cotton was planted last spring on an estimated 2.6 million acres. In making their planting decisions for 1973, producers will study the outlook for supply, demand, price and other factors, including the prospective profitability of other crops.

Cotton produced on non-allotted acreage receives no price support payment but is eligible for the government loan program at a base rate of 19.5 cents per pound for middling one-inch, 3.5-4.9 micronaire, at average location.

There will be no cotton set-aside in 1973. Growers this year were required to set-aside or idle, the equivalent of 20 percent of their allotment. The acrewide cotton set-aside requirement for the Plains was about 337,000 acres.

Actually, however, many farmers in West Texas, as well as elsewhere, have planted in skip-row fashion, such as in the popular two-in-two-out pattern, and have counted the two blanks on their set-aside requirements. And many farmers will continue to plant in skip-row fashion because of moisture conservation aspects and other reasons.

On a percentage basis, the allotment loss on the Plains is less than the reduction across the Cotton Belt because of cotton acreages previously transferred to this area through purchases from other sections of the state, PCG officials believe.

For example, Gaines County, which has been the most active in acquiring cotton allotments from outside the Plains through lease or sale arrangements, posted a gain of 5.4 percent in allotted acres for 1973. Deaf Smith County, however, showed a loss of 14.4 percent, well above the national average.

Walter Y. Wells, executive director of the Lubbock County ASCS, said allotment notices will be mailed to individual farms on Jan. 12. Cotton allotments and base feed grain acreages for 1973 will be on the same notice.

Producers will be sent separate cotton notices later on their assigned yields for 1973.

Babson's Business And Financial Forecast For 1973

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., December 28, 1972. Our Forecast a year ago was heavily laced with reasons for optimism regarding economic and financial prospects for 1972. In retrospect, our two key predictions proved to be correct. On the economic front we envisioned the emergence of a more hopeful attitude on the part of businessmen and consumers that would speed up the economic recovery. On the financial front we projected a good year for the stock market in 1972, and indicated that the Dow Jones Industrial Average would pierce the 1,000 mark in either late summer or early fall.

Home Free In '73?

1972 turned out to be a year of almost unbroken economic and business progress. The public might well have been more keenly aware of this healthy environment had it not been for the politically motivated rhetoric on some of the less-than-Utopian aspects of the business picture. The most facile means of forecasting is, of course, simply to take prevailing conditions and project them into the future, even though this is not necessarily the most logical or accurate way. Such an approach is commonly used among laymen, and often even by those more knowledgeable in business affairs. Little wonder, then, that just as optimists were conspicuous by their absence a year ago, most forecasters of 1973 business up to this point reflect today's enthusiasm and happy anticipation.

Pockets Of Potential Trouble

The staff of Babson's Reports once again stands somewhat apart from the herd and takes a more moderate view of developments over the next twelve months. Our opinion is far from pessimistic, but it does incorporate a healthy respect for some of the vital problems which the nation's economy may have to face in the new year. Hence, readers of this Babson Forecast are advised to be psychologically prepared to cope with possible disruptions of varying intensity along the labor front, on the monetary scene, in the fight against inflation, and in areas of high sociological sensitivity.

Strike Threat

A year from now, we may look back and credit labor relations with having molded the profile of 1973's business pattern. Whether the nation is to suffer an inordinate degree of economic dislocation during the coming twelvemonth could depend to a considerable extent on just how aggressive sively and persistently labor leaders press their demands, and also on how the Administration handles the labor issues in its effort to stave off serious, long-term injury to the economy from further ravages of inflation. While the Babson staff is hopeful that the overall damage will not be excessive, there are bound to be a number of conflicts which will jar business and public confidence for a while.

Labor-management confrontations will start at the crack of the new year, except for brief respites, will remain on scene throughout 1973. It is estimated that more than 4,000,000 workers in a fistful of key industries will become involved in new labor contract negotiations. First at bat are the United Rubber Workers who are already facing the petrochemical companies to hammer out a labor pact to replace the one just expiring. Bargaining will be due thereafter in rubber, cement, construction, apparel, retail trade, services, electrical manufacturing, and foods. Most important, however, are negotiations involving the Teamsters and United Auto Workers. The fact that both of these significant contract expirations will be quite close together is disturbing, since industrial production could plummet sharply for an indefinite period if either or both groups should strike.

Inflation —

Grave or Tolerable?

Prospects for 1973 hinge so importantly upon the inflation threat that an early examination of this subject seems appropriate. There are two types of inflation, monetary and price. In trying to pull the economy out of its recent recession, the monetary authorities opened the spigot and increased the money supply. They accomplished their objective, and their recent actions have been more moderate. In 1973, therefore, we can look for the monetary officials to "lean against the wind" whenever it becomes necessary to squeeze any fresh threat from inflationary forces. But unless price (and wage) inflation commences to slip out of control, it is not likely that the severe tightening of money and credit which precipitated the 1968-69 credit crunch will be repeated.

This does not mean we have put inflation entirely at rest. Some price and wage inflation seems unavoidable in the year ahead; the primary question is just how severe it will be. Determining factors will be the behavior of labor, management, and the Administration. If labor is aggressive and adamant in its demands and if management makes little or no attempt to hold costs to a reasonable rate of increase, the seeds will be sown for a potentially dangerous crop of inflation of the cost-push type.

What Will

The Administration Do?

The Babson staff foresees some sharp jawboning by the Administration to convince labor and management that they must co-operate in keeping wage and price increases within tolerable range. Should such moral suasion fail, however, there is always the last resort: Price and wage controls far more restrictive and of greater scope than the partial curbs and guidelines we have been operating under for about a year and a half. With such stringent anti-inflation curbs, neither labor nor management nor the consumer really benefits or is happy. Hence, we are hopeful that the pending labor negotiations in pattern-setting fields will be resolved with only moderate price inflation and without business stoppages.

If price inflation should be held to a walk in the early months of the new year, there is a good chance that controls will be modified and eased. Although it would be unrealistic to expect total cessation of anti-inflation controls in 1973, even some relaxation would have a positive impact on public confidence. Overall, we are hopeful that price and wage hikes can be kept to around 6% in the coming year, leaving the normal productivity gain of 3% to 3.5% per annum as a partially counterbalancing influence. The Administration itself will be in the forefront of the inflation battle. While it would be overly ambitious to look for a balanced federal budget in either fiscal 1973 or fiscal 1974 (portions of both fall in the calendar year 1973), the Nixon Administration will aim for a moderate budget deficit by impounding funds allocated for certain purposes.

Industrial Production

Allowing for a reasonable labor climate with some disruptions of brief duration, the staff of Babson's Reports feels that industrial production can post a gain of 5% in 1973 over the 1972 average. This would be in terms of physical volume of output and not subject to inflationary factors. This rate of increase would amount to somewhat less than that registered during 1972.

On the other hand, the increase in industrial activity should be spread over a broader base in terms of industries participating. There should also be some shift in leadership. For example, the production of automobiles and trucks which did yeomen's work in pulling the economy upward these past two years may well level off, but the hitherto laggard capital-goods sector will come on strong. Other lines which are expected to contribute to the advance in industrial production include paper and pulp, containers, instruments and controls, machine tools, apparel, and both military and consumer electronics.

Gross National Product

It is the opinion of the Babson staff that through the combination of anticipated higher prices and increased output, the nation's 1973 Gross National Product in current dollars should post an advance approximating 9% over 1972, a gain of about the same magnitude as that seen in the year just ended. In constant dollars (deflated basis), with 1958 as the base period, we expect a year-to-year increase of about 4% compared with 5.5% for 1972. This smaller rate of progress points up the fact that general business in 1973 will tack on further gains but not with the same degree of vigor.

Two aspects of economic activity we think will be prominent in enabling 1973 to chalk up a climb in business, and hence in GNP, are in the private sector of the economy. These are personal consumption expenditures and private domestic investments. However, state and local demand for goods and services, betterment in the nation's foreign trade balance, and the unavoidable updating of the nation's defense capabilities will also lift the GNP.

World Peace and Trade

By the time this Annual Forecast is published, there could already be a cease-fire agreement for the Vietnam war. In any case, such a truce should not be far off. How long such a cooling-off arrangement will last, however, is indeterminate. We are hopeful that this forward step can be followed by negotiations leading to a permanent peace treaty. Even if a cease-fire is achieved but fails to hold, any resumption of fighting will presumably take place without American forces. Hopefully, settlement in Vietnam may be only part of a favorable peace package which will incorporate agreements to maintain the integrity of all other Southeast Asian nations.

It is the conviction of Babson's Reports that there will be no World War III in 1973. There may well be more internal strife in the emerging nations of Africa and other underdeveloped countries of the world where the climate for leadership is still a partial vacuum and thus invites struggle for domination. Similar conditions also exist in portions of South and Central America. It is to be hoped, however, that the expected redirection of U.S. foreign policy and assistance will include a shift back to Latin America in time to stave off serious trouble there. In the Middle East no full-scale war is likely in 1973, but the area will unfortunately continue to teeter on the brink of outright

Conflict

The commercial transactions achieved between this country and Russia and Red China barely scratch the surface of the trade potential which exists on an international scale. We forecast an increase in foreign commerce for the United States in the new year, involving more industry groups. Stupendous though the potential may be, we can tap only a tiny fraction of the basic markets. Iron-curtain countries simply do not have enough dollar holdings or trade credits. Sales made on a credit basis require tedious negotiations to establish terms for such transactions. Eventually, however, the worldwide revamp of the international monetary system will result in some improvement in this situation. But the solution will not come in 1973. Nonetheless, there should be a better showing in our foreign trade balance and a less horrendous deficit in our annual international balance of payments.

Good Year for Farmers

The step-up in grain exports this past year has stiffened agricultural commodity prices materially, and 1972 is winding up as one of the best years in history for the nation's farmers. Realized net income could reach $18.8 billion, a total which would outstrip the previous peak of $17 billion reached back in 1967. Farm income next year should hold near this all-time-record level. Domestic demand for agricultural products will remain strong, while exports are expected to rule on the upside. Farmers are already "champing at the bit" to start tilling and planting 1973's spring crops. The farm-equipment market is booming, and demand for fertilizer and seed will be brisk. Farm real estate prices have also strengthened.

Bright Consumer Psychology

All told, the nation's consumers can look forward to a good year in 1973. There will be some dissatisfaction over prices as well as occasional tremors among workers unsettled by labor-management confrontations, but the overall atmosphere will be heartening. Employment should move above the record rate already achieved during 1972. Already the "Help Wanted" newspaper sections are reflecting an increase in numbers of job openings. On the other hand, unemployment will shrink only a trifle from the current 6% of the civilian labor force, possibly reaching the Administration's target of 5.5%. This is scarcely satisfactory to labor leaders, but it must be recognized that it is difficult to reduce jobless totals — even when employment is on the rise — if there is a massive influx into the labor force of young people and mothers seeking part-time or full-time work. And this will be the case during 1973.

As we said earlier, wage rates will climb further in the year ahead. The pattern for raises and fringe benefits for the ensuing three years may well be determined by contracts inked in the key trucking, auto, and construction industries in the new year. With multi-year agreements usually calling for the lion's share of the overall increase in the first year, average wage rates in American industry will show a significant rise in 1973, tempered somewhat by whatever controls are in effect. All of this will mean an upward push in both gross and disposable personal incomes.

Spending Will Rise

The combination of full employment, soaring wage rates, and new highs in personal income will, of course, put consumers in a spending mood. For that reason the staff of Babson's Reports looks for a substantial rise in consumer spending for 1973. The continuing advance in consumer expenditures will be spurred to some degree by a decline in the rate of savings. The trend toward putting away a smaller percentage of disposable income has been in evidence since the third quarter of 1971, after hitting a peak in the preceding quarter when consumers channeled 8.6% of their disposable income into savings. For the full year 1971 the savings rate was 8.2%, but we estimate the 1972 figure will prove to have been reduced to 6.6%.

With little chance for much reduction in food prices and with consumption per capita still climbing, a fair portion of the increase in personal incomes will go for food and beverages. Consumers will also spend more for eating away from home. With new housing starts in 1972 holding up longer than was earlier expected, furniture and home furnishings are likely to remain strong areas of buyer interest. Purchases of new autos were extremely heavy during the bulk of the past year, and there is no indication that this tendency will soon be reversed. It should be noted, however, that we look for considerably less of an upward fillip in home furnishings and auto sales in 1973 than was seen in 1972. In both instances, it is getting late in the upward phase of the selling cycle. We do expect, however, quite positive gains in consumer spending for leisure-time activities and products, and for apparel and accessories.

Capital Expenditures

Business capital expenditures will help to stimulate the economy during 1973, but not with the same potency as in previous business booms. It is probable, in fact, that a good chunk of capital spending will be not for increased productive capacity but for items of high social priority. Most firms will be laying out more money to comply with anti-pollution regulations, and companies in the oil and gas industry will expend huge sums in the search for new reserves. Major gas distributors are so hard-pressed for fresh supplies of natural gas that they are advancing millions of dollars to help pay for exploration and development costs in exchange for the right to purchase a major part or the entire output of a given area. All in all, business capital expenditures in 1973 could show a gain just about matching the 10% marked up during the past year.

Interest Rates — Bond Market

Since the consumer will be spending more and business will be building up inventories and pouring out more funds for capital-equipment programs, there will inevitably be some upward pressure on interest rates. But we stress once more that we do not anticipate another traumatic credit crunch such as occurred during the closing years of the 1960s. The brunt of any interest-rate rise is likely to come at the short end of the money-rate scale, with only a moderate firming of long-term rates. Keep in mind that the total of new housing starts will probably ease a bit in 1973. Moreover, corporations are generally in good financial condition after building up their resources over the past two years with the aid of the investment tax credit. The Babson staff looks for corporate profits after taxes to go up about 12% in the new year compared with 16% in 1972. Even this smaller gain, however — coupled with the freeze on corporate dividend disbursements — will enhance business liquidity.

One area of danger in the money-rate picture may be traced to the government's doorstep. The U.S. Treasury is slated for fairly active refinancing in 1973, and the unusual and unexpected tax receipts that have come in during 1972 through overwithholding will not be seen in the new year. Whether the Treasury's debt-management efforts will pose a problem depends on inflation prospects. If, as now seems to be increasingly accepted, the general public feels that inflation is being restrained, the federal refinancing projects are likely to occur without undue pressure on interest rates.

Hence, bond prices will probably show sporadic signs of softness in the short to intermediate sectors of the maturity scale. But on the long-term end prices should be generally well maintained. In general, 1973 should offer ample opportunity to make selected purchases of bonds and preferred stocks of good quality for investors who need to nail down a fair amount of fixed income from their investments. Wherever possible, however, some inflation hedge should be sought, even to the point of sacrificing a little income on a portion of investment capital. This part of investment funds can be placed in some attractively priced convertible debentures and convertible preferred stocks.

Bigger Tax Bite?

The outcry for tax reform, the staggering projected federal budget deficit, and the need for help at state and local levels indicate that somewhere along the line in 1973 there must be a heavy tax wallop. The staff of Babson's Reports does feel, however, that by closing tax loopholes of the more glaring sort and putting some restraints on public spending, the federal government can avoid an outright increase in both corporate and personal income taxes in the coming year, over and above the social security tax hike that is already scheduled to take effect January 1, 1973.

Stock Market Outlook

The stock market during 1973 will have three powerful factors in its corner: (1) The element of peace; (2) The generally healthy economic climate; and (3) The decisive hurdling of the 1,000 mark by the Dow Jones Industrial Average which is whetting the investment appetite. These are considerations that tend to stiffen investment confidence substantially. On the assumptions that corporate profits can post another gain during the coming year and that inflation can be prevented from running away, the Dow Jones Industrial Average can be expected to work into still higher territory over the next twelve months. The possibility of a move past the 1,100 mark to even a challenge of the 1,200 level, should not be ruled out. However, there may not be a smooth jet flight for the stock market, if only because of the overhanging danger of labor troubles which will threaten for virtually the entire year ahead.

Nevertheless, barring an unpredictable major adverse development, many of the stocks which have been in the doldrums will have an opportunity to catch up with the parade. Among the groups that can give a good account of themselves in 1973 are those related to the energy crisis; the reawakening laggards such as steels, chemicals, and insurance issues; and those which stand to benefit most from the increase in business capital spending and stepped-up foreign trade. The intense atmosphere along the labor front in the new year could also attract investors to the stocks of concerns dealing in equipment that would cut back excessive labor costs. Promising though market outlook may be, however — coupled with the freeze on corporate dividend disbursements — will enhance business liquidity. Reports is of the of investors should healthy measure of tism in their in moves. Resolve, for not to chase stocks already gone whi ward; try to open sensible investment plan.
