(Practical Hints For The Modern Woman)

By April Rhodes

For uniform muffins and cup cakes, fill containers no more than two-thirds full.

Make a safety check of your home. Most accidents in the home can be prevented if periodic checks are made of loose wires, small rugs and other home hazards.

If you're troubled by blackheads, whiteheads and pimples, cleanse your skin with soap followed with a mild steaming to open pores.

Encourage teen-agers to eat ice cream. They'll get the necessary nutritional needs they would get from milk.

Family Life Specialist Gives Advice

COLLEGE STATION — Avoid "head-on" clashes with children by channeling actions. Many problems can be short-circuited if imagination is used and outlets provided for feelings, according to one authority.

"Instead of punishing a child, consider letting him take the consequences instead."

This advice comes from Jane Fleischer, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

"For example, if he hits another child, going without companionship tells him what his behavior accomplished."

"If he insists on running through mud puddles without boots, staying inside while his shoes dry is more effective than scolding," she contended.

Miss Fleischer was quick to point out that this method isn't always easy on parents.

"It may be quicker, easier and neater to do many things yourself, but the goal is to give the child responsibility for his own behavior."

According to the specialist, six guidelines encourage the "positive" approach to living with children.

—Give commands in line with a child's nature.

—Commands often interfere with a toddler's natural curiosity, exploration, sense of adventure and perpetual motion.

"For example, if the child enjoys getting into drawers, furnish him one of his own. By diverting his behavior through a substitute, reprimands will diminish."

Consider the child's ability and your expectations.

"Match expectations to his current abilities. After all, it takes time for a toddler to eat without creating some mess."

—Have more "do's" and fewer "don't's."

"Use the positive approach — it works wonders with youngsters. Indicate what to do, not what not to."

Instead of "Quit jumping on the sofa this minute," try "Let's see how high you can jump on the floor."

"Once a command has been given, follow it through," Miss Fleischer emphasized. "Otherwise, the child will stop paying attention."

—Change the environment to achieve desired behavior.

"Three tools are anticipation, diversion and substitution. For example, in order to get a toddler to the bathroom, ask him to 'Go find the soap.'"

"Whispering often adds a magical effect."

—Set limits.

Although a child definitely needs limits, balance them and impose only those necessary, the specialist said.

"A reasonable number is beneficial — at least the child knows where he stands."

"However, limits shouldn't be considered restraints, but channels for normal behavior."

"A youngster needs things he can touch and places he can go, as well as those he shouldn't."

In general, a child can't always control his own impulses. He may vary from great independence at times to clinging dependence.

"Protect him from real harm, but not to become upset or hurt."

"When setting limits, tear the child away from Fleischer stressed, and praise generously."

"Show your love. From the time infants, talk things over with children. Sing to them, read stories and recite rhymes."

"Show they're persons," she said.

"In addition, love for others. The sharing and taking often difficult for children to accept."

"Thus, sharing in terms they understand as the counting game, example of this is a child bounce on the count of 25."

"Young children understand this is a Fleischer concluded.

Do mountains have anything to do with rainfall? What role do they play in controlling precipitation in the United States? Mountains have a definite effect on cloud movement and rainfall. In the United States the really high mountains near the West Coast are a major influence on the weather. In this case they block moist, maritime air, or drain the moisture out of it as it moves east causing the dry regions in the western areas.

The United States is favored with four sources of moist maritime air which brings rain and produces necessary vegetation. From the Pacific, air masses move in from the northwest and southwest. In the air masses enter the east and southeast. Only from the regions, via Canada, Mexico (in summer) get dry air masses United States.

1940, subscriptions were $1 in the county and $2 out of county. Advertising rates given on application. In one issue it showed the Texas trucking industry in 1939 paid taxes to Floyd County in the amount of $24,374.92; State and county officials were praising Santa Fe Railway Company for their assistance in rescuing stranded motorist in Friday blizzard. The storm, with gales said to be 60 miles per hour and snow reaching 13 inches, paralyzed South Plains traffic. Roads east and west out of Floydada were impassable and 300 families were without electricity when the Floyd County R.E.A. Sub-station was put out of commission at Aiken. There was evidence that persons were not venturing out to shop at bargains either. The Style Shoppe was running an ad Thursday before the storm and the same ad the next Thursday. TULSA oilman Robert Parker brought along his box of Tide, Alpha Bits and Cocoa Krispies to the Chamber of Commerce banquet Saturday night in Canadian. Parker used the boxes to indicate oil reserves. He used the smallest box, a Pillsbury product, to show total U.S. oil reserve; the Tide box represented the total world oil reserves; the reserves in the Persian Gulf by the Alpha Bits box, and Canadian Arctic reserves by the box of Cocoa Krispies. Parker said there are great prospects for gas development in the Anadarko Basin, and predicted that the industry would be drilling wells to a 30,000 foot depth within two years and said the basin has the best chance of solving the energy problems of the U. S. The Tulsa oilman said "The shortage is real. . . people are going to be cold. . . next year."

FROM The American Farmer — Price changes in the last 20 years: Farm prices of food products are up less than 11 percent while retail food prices are up 46 percent. Thus, rising costs of transporting, processing and distributing foods have had a much greater impact on food prices than on prices paid to farmers. This takes on more significance when we learn that these costs amount to 60 percent of the consumer's food dollar.

Average hourly earnings of industrial workers went up 129 percent, and food marketing employees, 148 percent.

Health and recreation costs posed a 75 percent bulge; housing, 63 percent; and transportation, 54 percent.

And now for some even bigger increases — semi-private hospital rooms, 370 percent; physician's fees, 122 percent; dentist charges, 94 percent; and the good old 5-cent cigar, a threefold increase — plus taxes.

Keep in mind that farm prices have been very low and this increase is only a partial recovery. Despite the improvement in farm incomes in 1972, disposable income per farmer is still only 78 percent of that enjoyed by nonfarmers.

Food is a big bargain — even at today's prices. The U.S. farmer is feeding the population better and more cheaply today than ever before in history. Twenty years ago, consumers spent 23 percent of their disposable income for food. In 1972, it went below 16 percent.

Will Food Prices Go Higher?

Yes, except for a few items where production may exceed demand.

Business is booming, wages are going up and consumers are buying vigorously. This means a strong demand for some time.

Longfellow could take a worthless sheet of paper, write a poem on it and make it worth $6,000.00. . . that's genius.

Rockefeller, by signing his name to a piece of paper, could make it worth a million dollars. . . that's capital.

Uncle Sam could take gold, stamp an eagle on it and make it worth $20.00. . . that's money.

A mechanic can take material that is worth only $5.00 and make it worth $50.00. . . that's skill.

An artist can take a 50 cent piece of canvas, paint a picture on it, and make it worth $1,000.00. . . that's art.

Leukemia: Reason For Hope?

Twenty years ago, little could be done to stop rapidly-developing acute leukemia. Children would live only three to five months after their disease was diagnosed. Now, drugs can produce remissions, where the child is apparently free of the disease for awhile. In some medical centers, remissions are achieved in up to 90 per cent of the acute leukemia patients.

Many of the children are living three years instead of three months. Active, pain-free years. Is that a reason for hope, a reprieve? Ask a parent. The answer can't be put into words.

Research in leukemia has advanced so much in the last two decades that many scientists think a cure for leukemia will be the next major breakthrough in cancer control.

The American Cancer Society invests more than $1,250,000 each year just in leukemia research.

BLOOD CELLS

Leukemia is a disease of the blood-forming tissues that occurs in children and adults. Like Hodgkin's Disease it affects the white blood cells. The two basic types of white blood cells, the lymphocyte and the myelocyte, are formed in the bone marrow, the lymph glands, and the spleen. The kind of white blood cell that is dominant in these areas determines which of the two types of leukemia is present. Leukemia can be acute (fast-developing) or chronic (long-term), and always involves abnormal, immature white blood cells. Acute leukemia usually strikes children between the ages of 3 and 14 and accounts for about half of the childhood cancers in the U.S.

SYMPTOMS

The lymphocytic leukemia, the lymphocytes monopolize the space in the lymph nodes and the bone marrow. Enlarged lymph nodes, then, are often the first sign of the disease. While any lymph nodes can be affected, those in the neck, armpits, and groin will most likely be noticed first, since these can be felt. In myelocytic leukemia, most of the disease activity is in the spleen. While the spleen normally cannot be felt, when enlarged, it is felt as a firm mass in the upper left abdomen.

Bleeding is an early sign of any leukemia. Because the bone marrow is disturbed, there are fewer blood platelets to clot the blood, and the patient bleeds more easily. Spontaneous nose bleeds or excessive bleeding from a minor operation may occur.

Because the red blood cells are crowded out by the white ones, a leukemia patient becomes anemic. The signs of anemia are tiredness, weakness, and a paleness of the skin and lips.

TREATMENT

Leukemia cannot be treated surgically because the abnormal cells are scattered throughout the body. However, leukemia cells are often very sensitive to radiation, so x-rays are applied to the major areas of disease activity - the spleen, enlarged lymph glands, and selected bones.

Therapy with drugs offers promise as a form of treatment. Some drugs in series have prolonged the lives of leukemia patients for over ten years.

CELL SEPARATOR

An exciting new treatment for chronic leukemia uses a machine called a cell separator instead of drugs. The separator lowers the number of white blood cells by removing the blood from one arm, straining out of the abnormal white cells and returning the blood to the patient's other arm.

In chronic leukemia, the white blood cell count increases periodically. For a certain period, usually one to three months, a cell removal mechanism in the body keeps the number of white cells under control. At this point, production of white cells gets ahead of the removal mechanism. The cell separator acts to return the number of white blood cells to a level which can be controlled by the body.

A 15-year-old Minnesota girl receives cell separator treatment for her chronic leukemia only when the number of white blood cells reaches the higher level. The girl diagnosed her own disease at age 12 when she asked for a blood count after studying about blood diseases in school.

Since the disease was discovered so early that major symptoms had not even appeared, the girl's doctor was able to pinpoint cycles when her blood cell count was high and low.

At the high point of the count, obvious leukemia symptoms appear. After cell separator treatment, the headaches and fatigue disappear and the white blood cell count returns to the lower level.

The cell separator treatment is also used at M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Clinic in Houston.

Treatment with drugs, radiation, and the cell separator are given new hope to leukemia patients by giving them added pain-free years of life.

At the same time, researchers are seeking the cause of leukemia and investigating new drugs for more effective control. The search is on for a test to detect leukemia before symptoms develop. Scientists are studying the structure and function of leukemia cells, and some feel a virus may be the cause.

The American Cancer Society continues to support an all-out attack on leukemia through research. The watchword is hope.

Four Bills Introduced On Abortion Practices

Governmental control of abortion practices made news in Austin as the Human Resources Committee, chaired by Rep. Phil Cates, considered four bills in connection with the controversial subject last week.

Rep. Cates noted with regret that the U.S. Supreme Court has blacked out all laws in Texas concerning abortion, making it essential to reinstate some type of control.

"Abortion on demand is detestable and inconceivable to me," Cates said. "And although I disagree with the Supreme Court ruling, at this point the best we can do is pass some laws which prohibit abortion on demand, or total legalization of the process."

However, Rep. Cates said he was not in favor of the four bills now under consideration unless they were amended and strengthened. The first of the four bills gives a 16-year-old female the right to ask for a termination of her pregnancy without the consent of her parents. If she is under 16, her parents must give their consent. It also makes the physician who does the abortion liable only for negligence, and rules that no doctor be forced against his conscience to perform the abortion.

Cates said he could not vote for such a bill unless it read that a 16-year-old must have the consent of her parents, if she lived with them, and of her husband, if she were married. The second bill specifically sets out that the consent of the spouse is not required for sterilization. Rep. Cates said he could favor this bill only if the couple had been separated for a long period of time, and the husband or wife was clearly not concerned with continuing the marriage.

The third bill gives minors permission to consent to birth control and pregnancy treatment in addition to consent to examination and treatment for venereal disease. Cates stated again, that he believed minors living in the home with their parents should have the consent of those parents to seek birth control practices and pregnancy treatment.

The fourth bill simply asks for repeal of the articles of the penal code of Texas which the U.S. Supreme Court made unconstitutional.

Easter Seal Appeal Letters Due This Week In Floyd

Easter Seal Appeal letters are to be delivered this week in Floyd County according to Miss Lyda Walding, the Easter Seal Representative of the Easter Seal Society for Crimped Children and Adults of Texas. As representative, Miss Walding serves as contact representative for disabled persons needing Easter Seal rehabilitation services and also serves as treasurer of the Easter Seal Appeal in Floyd County.

The Easter Seal Society offers physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs, and special equipment loans to enable disabled persons to make the best use of their abilities to overcome handicaps. These services are financed by the annual Easter Seal Appeal. The Society also provides for research into the causes and cures of crippling conditions, finances public education programs, and provides scholarships for training of professional personnel to staff rehabilitation centers.

Miss Walding pointed out that all these programs are important if Texas is going to continue to provide the best in rehabilitation services for its own disabled citizens. During 1972, the Texas Easter Seal Society provided treatment and services for 16,572 children and adults who were in need of assistance. Easter Seal services are available to any disabled person who can benefit from help provided by the Easter Seal Society, and who do not qualify for any other assistance, Miss Walding added. The Easter Seal Campaign will continue through Easter Sunday, April 22.

Floyd County Vets To Get $19,000

(Special to the Hesperian) NEW YORK — World War veterans in Floyd County who have maintained their GI insurance in force will be on the receiving end of some extra cash this year.

Some 250 of them will receive approximately $19,000 as their share of a record payout of dividends totaling $297 million.

The bulk of the money, $276 million of it, will go to 3,800,000 World War II veterans who hold National Service Life Insurance policies, reports the Veterans Administration. The remainder will go to 147,000 veterans of the first World War, who have United States Government Life Insurance.

The $297 million payment is the largest regular dividend ever declared by the VA. It is $11 million above the previous high. It has become available because the interest earned by the trust funds governing the insurance policies has been unusually large.

Of the 920 veterans of the two World Wars who reside in Floyd County, according to the latest count, only about 28 percent will be getting checks, the figures show. They are the ones who held on to their policies. The payments to them will average $143 if they are World War I veterans and $73 if they were in the second World War.

The actual amounts, in individual instances, may run several times as large as this and, in other cases, much smaller. It all depends upon the size of the policy held and on its duration.

Some ex-servicemen, it is noted, will be using their dividends to purchase additional insurance, rather than taking the cash.

As for those in the local area who were involved in other wars, no distribution will be made to them because they were not covered by policies of this type.

Throughout the State of Texas, a total of nearly $14,827,000 will be paid to some 190,822 veterans, according to the VA.

The $19,000 earmarked for Floyd County vets will be payable on the anniversary dates of their policies and will be sent to them automatically, without application.

Most of the money, it is expected, will find its way without much delay into the cash registers of local retail stores.

Man Charged For Kidnapping Held In Floyd County Jail

Willie Floyd Law, who has been charged on four counts in Motley County is now being held in the Floyd County jail.

Law is charged with kidnapping, armed robbery, burglary and auto theft in Motley County, according to District Attorney George Miller. Miller said the charges came from events in Roaring Springs involving Law's kidnapping a Motley County deputy, back about January 16.

Law is being held for grand jury action.

Average Tax Deduction In Floyd County $2,520

(Special to the Hesperian)

NEW YORK — Bread cast upon the waters during the past year by Floyd County residents in the form of charitable donations are now returning as blessings.

So are various other expenditures made by them, such as for local and state taxes, for doctors' bills and the like.

To people who are going over their financial figures, preliminary to working up their income tax returns, the outlays of yesterday are the tax deductions of today.

How much do these deductions amount to normally? What have other people who itemize their deductions and are in similar income brackets been listing for charities, medical expenses and such?

Answers to these questions, based upon information provided by the Internal Revenue Service, have been prepared by the Commerce Clearing House, specialist in tax law.

They show that most families in the United States that have earnings of the size reported by the average family living in Floyd County list deductions of $2,520, equal to 19 percent of their income.

In general, it is found, it ranges from 16 to 25 percent of adjusted gross income. The percentage is higher among those in the lower brackets and lower for those with large incomes.

Local families with an income of $7,000 to $8,000, for example, would have a deduction of 23 percent if they conformed to the average, whereas those at the $15,000 to $20,000 level would be taking 17 percent.

Nationally, for those with earnings equal to the average prevailing in Floyd County, the amount normally listed for charitable deductions is $340, for interest paid on loans and installment debt, $850, for local and state taxes, $950, and for medical and dental costs, $380.

If a family's deductions run higher than these most others, it does not mean that they will be approved, it is pointed out.

FAIRVIEW, Feb. 26 — Saturday and Sunday were nice springlike days after the surprise snow storm we had on Thursday. It was one of the largest snows we had had all winter and was a beautiful sight when falling and no wind at all. This Monday morning we have a heavy fog. A few of the farmers still have some cotton in the fields and are waiting for more sunshine.

Mrs. W. O. Tye and her son, Jim Tye, were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tye. The dinner was in honor of Mrs. W. O. Tye, for her birthday.

Coming in the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Tye of Lubbock, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marble, Mike, Kelly and Cindy of South Plains.

Mrs. C. H. Wise prepared a birthday supper Thursday night in honor of her son, Charles, whose birthday was Feb. 21, and Frankie Buckner, whose birthday was Feb. 18. Floydada Volunteer Fire Department Receives Check

The Floydada Volunteer Fire Department received a check for $75.00 recently from Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies as an expression of thanks for the Department's work on the property of Mack Hickerson, 507 W. Georgia, Floydada, Texas.

The money will be used for their loss prevention program. The Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies pay volunteer fire departments this amount when the department works at a fire in rural areas, involving property insured by them.

The Insurance Company believes volunteer fire departments have contributed to reduce the amount of loss involved by fire and more important, to prevent fires. It is their hope this money will help the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department in their program.

Tommy Assiter Leader Of The Month

Tommy Assiter, Southwestern Life Insurance Company representative in Floydada, is off to a good 1973 sales start. Assiter was named "Leader of the Month" for January in the company's Amarillo territory.

WEATHER DELAYS COTTON HARVEST

The South Plains cotton harvest was delayed another week to ten days by the rain and snow over the area, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the USDA. However, farmers were able to harvest some cotton before the unfavorable weather halted all harvest activities.

Samples from 113,000 bales were tested and classed at the South Plains USDA cotton classing offices at Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamesa during the week ending Friday, February 23. This brought the total classed for the season to 1,779,000 bales.

More cotton remains in the fields across the region than at any other time in history at this late period in the harvest season. Approximately ten percent of the cotton crop remains in the fields.
