Rescued From Drowning In Swimming Pool

A 10-year-old boy, almost 11, was rescued from drowning in a swimming pool in Floydada about 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Wheat Market Chat

BY WENDELL TOOLEY

EVERY YEAR a farmer will occasionally ask me, "What's the market report in the Hesperian?" In the past, we have been publishing the Plainview area market report in a daily newspaper, we would be more up to date on wheat prices every day now.

I feel that publishing them each issue gives our readers an idea of market prices. If you want to be up to date on wheat prices (KGNC Amarillo) each day at 1:50 p.m., a pretty accurate grain price.

Wheat prices vary within the Panhandle with wheat usually paying more.

FROM FLOYDADA BUSINESSMEN on the square... they just wonder if there is some move to the vacant building between Hale's former location of the Ben Franklin store and the traffic spot in Floydada. It is a big building on the front.

A COMMITTEE that investigated the cattle feedlot here were probably wise to do so for a period of time.

Through Snyder last Thursday and noticed their cow in it, where it appeared full earlier. It comes the report that many feedlots are only packing in Plainview are laying off help and production because there is no profit in selling the wheat control prices.

PRICES for agriculture mean higher costs to consumers. William J. Kuhfuss, American Farm Bureau Federation, reminded agriculture Butz of this problem in asking him to help assure farmers of an ample supply of fuel, propane and butane. Suggestions included protection of the Alaskan pipeline; protecting companies and their customers from a squeeze on prices; lifting price controls on petroleum products; denying production incentives; continuing to subsidize import fees; and taking possible transportation tie-ups due to strikes.

OVER there's a rail car shortage. The Iowa Commission recently reported that if last year's cars were loaded on a single train, the railroad cars would travel a half the distance from New York to a total of 6,400 miles.

TOO many college students are refusing to finance their education. Four percent of students have defaulted on their federally-insured student loans, according to the U.S. Office of Education. The default rate is four to eight times higher than that of bank loans because, as one banker says, "we're acting in the dark. They just don't have

Spokesman for the group was Bob Copeland, who lives across the street north from the chicken houses.

The group is concerned about the odor and flies created by the chicken houses and asked the city to join in the suit against Carmack for removal of the houses and chickens.

The council agreed to join in the suit and pay half the court costs. Lubbock attorney John Sims has been selected on behalf of the group. Thirty-one families are represented.

Stop Lights

Bill Cagle met with the council and suggested that the new four way stop lights that the city has just installed at Main, Wall and Missouri Street intersections be changed to caution lights for traffic going east and west.

The council studied the proposal, but since there have been several accidents at the two intersections decided the stop lights for east and west traffic were a must to slow it down.

New Business Admitted

The council approved the request of Chuck Holmes to admit the Hi-Plains Farms vegetable plant into the city limits. This is the former location of the Wylie Grain Company Elevator, also S & W Grain.

In other business the council learned that seal coat paving on 50 blocks in the city is about to begin.

County Agent's Corner

By Doyle Warren Floyd County Agent

Farm activity is now in full swing and that means more tractors and other farm equipment on public roads. It's a time when road safety is especially critical, both on the part of the tractor operator as well as the motorist.

Tractor operators should make sure the slow-moving vehicle (SMV) emblem is properly displayed, clean and clearly visible before traveling a public road with farm equipment. This emblem is required by law.

Extreme care is essential when entering or crossing a road with a tractor or other farm equipment. Make allowances for the additional time needed to turn with a trailer or other long implements.

When traveling on a public road with farm equipment, pull over when possible to let traffic pass. Be sure to signal turns and check for passing vehicles before turning.

A tractor can turn over easily at high speeds so steer it with caution and avoid sharp turns.

Motorists should learn to recognize the SMV emblem. It's a fluorescent yellow-orange triangle with a dark red reflective border and identifies all vehicles designed to travel at speeds less than 25 miles per hour.

Since tractors and other farm implements travel at such slow speeds, motorists should take immediate action when sighting them or the SMV emblem. A motorist should decrease speed immediately as he will approach the tractor rapidly due to the great differences in speed of the two vehicles. With a tractor moving 15 to 20 miles per hour and a car traveling 60 to 70 miles per hour, there isn't much time — only a few seconds — to react once a motorist sights a tractor in the lane ahead.

Safety on public roads is the responsibility of everyone, and there's always room for plenty of courtesy along the way.

By Everett E. Janne
Landscape Horticulturist

A good mulch helps prevent summer heat damage. Almost any plant will benefit from the use of a good mulch. It conserves water, reduces soil temperature, reduces weeds, prevents compaction and keeps vegetables cleaner. Fresh organic mulch materials may require additional nitrogen fertilizer to overcome the deficiency caused by the decomposition of the organic matter.

If beds are not mulched keep soil around plants loose and cultivated to allow better water penetration and aeration. With repeated watering, soils often become compacted.

Do not allow hydrangeas, coleus, caladiums and mums to suffer from lack of moisture. Caladiums will go dormant and the foliage will die. The others will get hard woody stems and stop growing.

If irrigation is needed, water thoroughly and allow soil to become dry before watering again. This encourages deeper root penetration and aids in plant growth.

You can still plant some of the heat loving summer annuals as vinca, salvia, zinnia, marigold and portulaca. Except for zinnia it is best to use started plants rather than seed.

To keep annuals blooming over a longer period, remove the faded blossoms and provide occasional light applications of a complete fertilizer.

If you move house plants out of doors, place them in a shaded garden bed and plunge the pots into the soil.

Remember to water container plants and hanging baskets frequently. On a dry windy day several waterings may be necessary.

Dig and divide those beds of crowded spring flowering bulbs as soon as the foliage dies.

Observe the beauty of the blooming daily and select the new varieties you want in your garden.

Roses still need monthly applications of fertilizer and weekly spray applications for insect and disease control. See L-878, Roses: Summer Care for details.

Pests to watch for and control this month include Elm Leaf Beetle - Sevin spray applied as needed or at weekly intervals. Be sure to cover under side of leaves.

Lace bugs - on pyracantha, azalea, chrysanthemum, sycamore, etc. Injury appears as spotted or mottled graying discolorations on upper leaf surface. Insects usually on lower leaf surface. Control with diazinon, (spectraide) dimethoate (cygon) or malathion.

Spider Mites - small oval reddish mites having 8 legs. Almost need hand lens to see. Usually on under surface of leaf. Attack many types of plants. Control with Kelthane. Indiscriminate use of Sevin in the garden can result in build up of mite populations due to the eradication of their natural predators.

Tent Caterpillars - frequently found in pecan, mulberry, and other trees. High pressure spray of malathion or Sevin will control. Removal of nest or web with cane pole will also expose insects to birds and other natural predators.

Chinch bugs in St. Augustine - control with diazinon, aspon or trithion.

Aphid, scale and whitefly control with diazinon or malathion.

Bagworms on juniper, arborvitae and other plants - control with sevin, malathion or diazinon while the worm and its mobile home is small. Hand pick if the portable bag is more than an inch long.

Powdery Mildew - attacks roses, crepemyrtle, zinnia and euonymus as well as many others. Control with karathane, Acti-dione Pm, or benomyl.

Fireblight - burned looking leaves on pear, loquat, apple and pyracantha. Bacterial disease. Remove dead or infected wood. Disinfect pruning tools after each cut using a 10% chlorine solution. (1 part clorox to 9 parts water)

To edge grass along flower beds, under chain link fence and around foundations use naphtha in a tank type sprayer using low to moderate pressure. Spray every 4 to 6 weeks. Naphtha kills plant tissue on contact. Avoid getting it on tender bark or leaf surface of desirable plants. Use just enough to thoroughly wet the leaves and stems of undesirable plants.

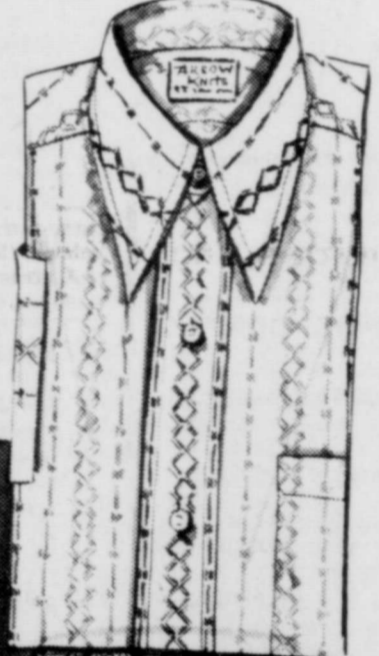

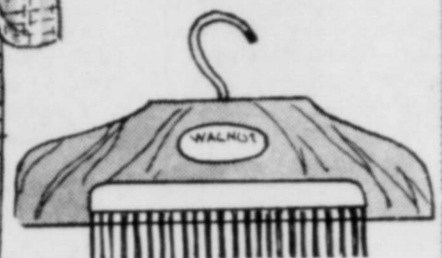

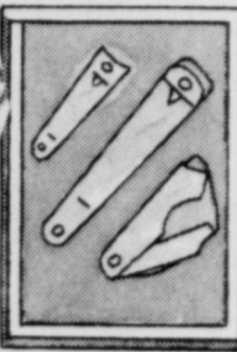

Make a close examination of your landscape at the peak of summer development. Make notes regarding how it can be better arranged, planned and planted to fit your family needs.

Save some time to sit back in your favorite lawn chair under a good shade tree and enjoy the peace and quiet of a lovely summer evening in your garden.

The amount of your social security benefit is based on your average earnings over a period of years.

MRS. ORVIS DALE MARKHAM

Miss Mangum Becomes Bride Of Dale Markham June 9

In a candlelight garden setting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cotton Collins, 1309 Utica in Plainview, Saturday, June 9, Miss Laura Mangum was united in marriage to Orvis Dale Markham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mangum of Lockney. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Markham of Matador.

Officiating at the ceremony was Rev. Gene Joplin, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church. The nuptial area featured an arch candelabra with blue candles and bows.

Miss Sharon Reves of Lockney sang "One Love" and "The Twelfth of Never", accompanied by Miss Willa Reves, also of Lockney.

Mrs. Cotton Collins was her sister's matron of honor. Misses Nancy and Betty Sue Markham of Matador, sisters of the groom, were candle-lighters. Tara Mangum and Julie Collins, sister and niece of the bride, were flower girls.

The attendants wore gowns of light blue dotted swiss designed on empire lines. Lace outlined the neckline and short sleeves. Lace flowers encircled the waistline. The bride's and the attendants' gowns were fashioned by the bride's mother.

Bill Battey was the groom's best man. Ushers were Cotton Collins, brother-in-law of the bride and Robin Smaeley of Matador. Miss Stacie Race of Lockney, registered the guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown styled with a lace bodice and long tapered sleeves. Narrow gathered lace outlined the portrait neckline, empire waistline, and sleeves. The skirt was gently gathered peau de soie. The tiered veil of silk illusion was gathered to a Juliet cap covered in seeded pearls. A folded satin ribbon bow accented the center fold of the headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of daisies entwined with baby's breath and blue ribbons on her lace covered Bible. She presented a long stem red rose to her mother before the ceremony and one to the groom's mother after the vows were exchanged.

For something borrowed the bride wore the veil of Mrs. Gary Stennett and something old was a portrait of her paternal grandmother, the late Mrs. W. E. Mangum. She carried the eighty-one year old portrait in her Bible. Something new was her wedding gown and she wore the traditional touch of blue.

A reception was held in the Collins' home following the ceremony. The table was covered with a lace cloth and featured a two-tiered cake trimmed in blue. Misses Sarah Schacht and Cathy Crader of Lockney presided at the table, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Messimer of Wolfforth.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 607 Portland in Plainview.

The bride is a spring graduate of Lockney High School. She attended Lamar

Pioneer Gas Reserves 'Enviably'

HEREFORD — K. Bert (Tex) Watson, president and chief executive officer of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, speaking before a luncheon meeting of city officials and civic leaders from area towns in the company's Hereford district, said, "Pioneer continues to enjoy an enviable position with reference to its gas reserves."

This meeting was the first of a series of such meetings to be held throughout Pioneer's West Texas system during the month of June. The purpose of scheduling these programs is to give the communities served by Pioneer an up-to-date report on the energy problems facing the nation and Pioneer's position in this situation.

Quoting from the company's 1972 Annual Report, Watson pointed out that, based on 1972 gas consumption, Pioneer's reserves are sufficient for approximately 14 years. He went on to say, "After deducting all current contractual commitments to all large industrial customers, the volume of reserves is sufficient to supply all other customers at the 1972 consumption level for a net reserve life index that exceeds 20 years."

Watson emphasized that Pioneer is able to offer gas service to new industrial customers throughout its system. "We are prepared to enter into gas supply contracts with these large industrial firms. The contracts will be tied directly to the field cost of gas and, for the larger customers, subject to monthly cost of gas adjustments," Watson said. "We expect to be able to continue to offer this industrial service, which should prove to be a real competitive advantage for the communities we serve," Watson continued.

He emphasized that the field cost of gas was escalating in an unprecedented manner.

He said that projections for gas costs for 1973, made two years ago, were surpassed a year ago, and it is assured that this trend will continue in the foreseeable future.

Watson pointed out that Pioneer's acquisitions of new gas supplies since the beginning of the year have been most promising and that the cost of gas adjustment currently in effect has provided the company with the ability to negotiate for these new gas supplies in the highly competitive market. Watson conjectured that in the near future it may be necessary to change the cost of gas adjustment to a quarterly basis in order for Pioneer to maintain its position of advantage in the area of gas supply.

Watson used detailed maps of the Anadarko and Permian basins showing Pioneer's current exploration activities. He said that Pioneer's planned expenditures for the current year had been more than quadrupled over previous years. It is expected that, through company expenditures and those of its drilling partners, between $20 and $30 million would be spent for exploration during 1973.

During his talk, Watson touched on some of the "near term" and "long term" problems facing all types of energy suppliers in the country. He discussed some potential "immediate term" and "long term" solutions.

Watson concluded his talk by saying, "In this rapidly changing business we have stayed in a comparatively good gas supply position, and we can foresee a continuation of this position, although there are numerous pitfalls as the nation proceeds through the extreme energy problems in the near term."

In addition to the guests from the various communities, most of the company's officers and area managers attended the luncheon.

Former Lockney Man Is Seeking Health Reform

Among those from South Plains who are taking a micro term class at Wayland College are Miss Paula Cummings, Mrs. Troy Cartmill, Sandy Reeves and Tommy Powell.

The Girls in Action of the Baptist Church will register June 19 at Baptist Encampment, from 8:30 a.m. until 9:30 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Upton, Christy, Ricky and Rocky of Amarillo arrived Saturday to spend the night here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Upton. Sunday the Ronnie Uptons went to Floydada where they were hosts for the Golden Wedding Anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Blum.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Upton and Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby Milton and Darla were among those from here who attended the reception.

Larry Bradford, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Myers of Ralls, has enlisted in the U.S. Armed Forces, and is at present stationed at Ft. Polk, La. Larry was graduated in May from the Quataque High School. They formerly lived here.

Need information about social security survivors, disability, retirement, or Medicare benefits? Call or visit any social security office.

In March of this year, Lynn Rhoderick, a former Lockney teacher and area farmer, began a citizen's health care reform crusade. He is a teacher in the Grants, New Mexico schools.

In a door to door campaign in the Albuquerque and Grants area, Rhoderick has organized a citizen's movement of almost 1,000 families. With financial support from members he will visit Washington in July with a petition of reform for the Nixon Administration.

The purpose of the organization he says, is to focus local and national attention on the "health care crisis" and to examine possible solutions. The petition platform of the Citizens for Health Care Reform is as follows:

"We believe the average income family can no longer afford proper medical, optical and dental health care. We believe our taxes should be returned directly to us so these services can be purchased or the services rendered in lieu. We believe all rural communities should receive full time service of paramedics and periodical services from certified health care personnel."

"We believe health insurance companies should be regulated and required to insure every citizen. We believe the money being spent on medicare programs should be paid directly to the elderly in the form of higher social security checks which they could use to purchase or not purchase their own insurance. We believe our nation would profit from a Children's where she is recovering from eye surgery. Mrs. Reue is the mother of Mrs. Dale West in our community.

National Health Program which would give preventive health care to all children 0-10 years old."

The Baptist Women's Missionary Union Camp will be held at the Baptist Church here Monday, June 18, with registration from nine o'clock to ten o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fortenberry of Stratford, who formerly lived here, were visiting in our vicinity over the weekend, and stayed in Lockney with members of her family.

Vacation Bible School ended a wonderful week Friday night with commencement exercises. Mrs. Peggy Roberts, superintendent of the VBS, reported a daily attendance of 76, and gave a vote of thanks to all the teachers and students, who had their work on display. It is pure joy to see a house full of boys and girls, and hear their lovely verses and songs.

Pastor Troy Cartmill was on hand every day for guidance and help, and after the evening exercises Friday, visitors went to each room and to the Mission to view the work of the children. Teen Time will be held later in the summer. The money given amounted to nearly fifty dollars, and it was sent to a pastor in Floyd, New York, who was robbed of all his possessions.

Edell Moore of Floydada spent part of the weekend in Perryton with his daughter, Mrs. Bruce Julian and family. She and baby Clay accompanied her father to Omaha, Nebraska, Saturday where they are visiting another daughter, the Ronnie Tuckers, Ricky and Kristi. Ronnie is stationed there in the Air Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whitfill of Sweetwater came Thursday to her folks, the Alvin Nichols, and that night all went to Plainview to supper at the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. James Whitfill, where the mother, Mrs. Frank Whitfill, had all her children present and part of her grandchildren. The Whitfills left Friday for

Lake City, Colo., for a week's vacation, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Dorothy Stutz of San Angelo.

Mrs. Lillian Marble, Mrs. Poyner Roberts and Mrs. W. O. Tye, all of Floydada were at the Baptist Church here Friday night for VBS Commencement. All had grandchildren taking part.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Johnson, Denise and Deneen, accompanied by Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham were in Fort Worth Saturday and Sunday visiting with Rev. and Mrs. Sealy Smith and children. They report all are getting along fine.

Mrs. Sterling Cummings reported a total of $212.00 given to the Cancer Fund by people of the South Plains area, and there were some she could not find at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arby Mulder went to Avoca Saturday to spend the night with an old friend, Mrs. Vella Edwards, who lived here at one time. Sunday they went to Lake Stamford where they attended a family reunion of the Ray families. Among those they visited were old friends, Mrs. Evelyn Marr and husband.

Pam and Glenna Powell are spending this coming week in Lubbock with their brother, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Powell and children. Kathryn Powell is spending this week in Lubbock with Miss Barbara Muse.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale West, Sonja and Krista have moved this past week to the home formerly occupied by his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bean, who recently moved to Floydada.

Sandra Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Powell, was playing with other children last Tuesday morning at the Vacation Bible School and in doing so, fell, breaking her collar bone. It was a clean break and Sandy is doing fine, not letting the accident keep her down.

Mr. and Mrs. George West are enjoying having their family here with them this week.

More Men "At Leisure" In Floyd

(Special to the Hesperian)
NEW YORK — In Floyd County, a growing proportion of the male population over age 16 is, by choice, not going to school, not working and not choosing to work.

There are some 528 local residents in this non-work category, according to the latest figures from the Department of Commerce. Included are 234 who are between 16 and 65 and 294 who are above 65.

They represent 15.2 percent of the over-16 population. Nationally, the average is 14.9 percent.

The majority of them are retired persons who have sufficient financial assets or sources of income to enable them to lead lives of leisure.

There are others, of course, who are able-bodied but who are neither self-supporting nor interested in working. They represent a small portion of the total, however.

Throughout the country, in the over-16 male population, there are nearly 10 million in this non-school, non-work group, a big increase over the 6,800,000 reported in 1960.

Much of it is attributed to the fact that more men are quitting their jobs when they reach retirement age. Less than a fourth of them continue to work beyond 65.

Of Floyd County's male population over 65, approximately 41.9 percent are still on the active list, according to the Commerce Department. This compares with an average of 24.8 percent throughout the United States as a whole.

The major factor in enabling people to retire, in many instances before reaching 65, is the rapid expansion and scope of private and public pension programs in recent years.

In addition to pensions, there are other sources of income, such as interest on savings, dividends, life insurance annuities and the government's so-called "transfer payments."

These payments, which include social security, welfare, unemployment insurance and veterans benefits, provide them with a large part of their income.

In the past year, $104 billion came from these transfer payments, the reports show. Related to the total personal income of Americans in 1972, which was $936 billion, it appears that one dollar out of every nine is provided in that way.

Masons Honor Grand Commander

Jimmy Willson, Right Eminent Grand Commander of Texas for the Masonic Order, was honored Sunday afternoon at a reception at First United Methodist Church in Plainview.

Willson, of Floydada, was installed in San Antonio on May 15. He is head of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar of Texas for 1973-74, an organization of 29,000 Masons. The organization is active in helping those who cannot help themselves to correct eye problems through its Knights Templar Eye Foundation, which has spent over a million dollars in Texas alone, and to give educational loans to young people to complete their college or professional training.

A native West Texan, Willson completed his public school education in Floydada High School.

He received a BBA degree from Southern Methodist University, followed by three years of active duty in the Army. He returned to Floydada to become active in a retail building supply business, which he owns and operates.

Willson has been active in the Masons for many years, having become a Master Mason in the Floydada Lodge in 1947. He has served the Masons in many capacities through the years, and is an active member of the First United Methodist Church.

Dickens County: Center Of Cow And Marlboro Country

DICKENS COUNTY: CENTER OF COW AND MARLBORO COUNTRY

The last time Texas wrote a constitution (1876), it created 54 new counties. Among them were half-a-dozen grassy neighbors then overrun with buffalo, closely followed by disagreeable horse Indians. By 1890, though, cattlemen had about cleared the countryside of such intruders and were ready to get on with the steak-and-raw-hide business.

The counties of Dickens, King, Motley, Cottle and Kent were good cattle country then, and still are. There's where you'll find some of the last massive cow kingdoms -- Pitchfork, Spur, Matador, Four Sixes, or what's left of them after breakups. These counties were organized in 1891 and '92.

The area was broken and rolling; protected on the northwest by the Caprock; sodded with buffalo grass, blue grama and other sustaining fodder; and, best of all, underneath, Ogallala Formation aquifers storing the best water in West Texas.

Early free-range seekers didn't know that much about hydraulics but they knew good herds from Jinglebob John Chism on River in New Mexico, turned the cap Frank Collinson with orders to drive the best open range you can find. Englishman stopped in future Dickens In Life in the Saddle, over 50 years Collinson still remembered what became try under the Caprock.

"This virgin range was all open country I have never seen its equal... Water and wood were plentiful. There were every thicket and antelope on every acre.

The Spur Ranch, once over a hundred acres owned and leased, is best known as the property of a London syndicate, Puella Land and Cattle Co., Ltd., a turn of the century. In its heyday it spanned four counties. Headquarters were in Spur, in Dickens County. (Dickens was named for an Alamo martyr.

Dickens town was the original and seat. By 1893 it had a courthouse, stores and a wagonyard. Population 295; the county had 3,737. Highway State 70 cross at Dickens.

The picturesque Dickens-King area is "Marlboro Country." Many spectacular shots were made on the Four Sixes fork ranches with real cowboys -- the gon boss Carl (Bigun) Bradley. In 1973 Bigun Bradley was breaking a both wound up in a stock tank and both ---WELDON HART

China To Buy More U.S. Cotton

EDINBURG, Texas (Special) — The chairman of the Cotton Board analyzed cotton export prospects before the Lower Rio Grande Valley Ginners here Tuesday and said China could become an important customer for U.S. cotton in the future.

G. C. Cortright, Jr., a cotton producer of Rolling Fork, Miss., and chairman of the Cotton Board, pointed to this year's sale of about 400,000 bales of American cotton to China. He said further relaxations of trade between China and the United States might create a much bigger market there.

He also said cotton benefits from the present energy crisis in the U.S. because "cotton requires only one-fifth as much energy pound-for-pound as man-made fibers."

Mr. Cortright explained to the cotton leaders that cotton gets most of its energy from unlimited sunlight, while manufacturing processes for synthetic fibers consume scarce petrochemical energy.

In addition, man-made fibers are manufactured from these same petrochemicals, which must be diverted from energy-producing sources to be made into synthetic fibers.

"Nearly all man-made fibers are now being rationed to the mills, and this limits our competitive losses. Part of the reason for this arises from the shortage of petroleum and natural gas, from which come most of the raw materials for synthetic fibers," Mr. Cortright said.

He also reviewed the roles of the Cotton Board, Cotton Incorporated, National Cotton Council, and the certified cotton producer organizations. He said the Cotton Board

MOUTH-TO-MOUTH RESUSCITATION

When a person cannot breathe for himself due to electrocution, suffocation, choking, drug overdosage, carbon monoxide or smoke poisoning, you may preserve a life if you do the following at once:

1. If Air Passage Is Blocked, clear at once by striking victim sharply on back, by dislodging the obstruction with your fingers, or by drawing it out by suction.
2. Start Resuscitation Immediately—Now...at once—the first several seconds are vitally important.
3. Place Victim on His Back with neck fully extended (head back).

4. Elevate Victim's Jaw by grasping the lower jaw and lifting it forcefully upward until the lower teeth are higher than the upper teeth.

5. Close Victim's Nose by pinching the nose.

6. Cover Victim's Mouth by placing your mouth completely over his with airtight contact.

7. Blow Air into the victim's lungs until you see the chest rise (less forcefully for children); remove your mouth and let him exhale. If chest does not rise, check the position of his head and jaw (Steps #3 and #4); check for air passage obstructions.

8. Repeat the above steps 12 times a minute until victim revives (20 times a minute for children).

James Word Appointed To National Board

Announcement is made today of the appointment of James H. Word, owner of the Floydada Real Estate & Insurance Agency located at 108 W. Missouri Street, Floydada, Texas, to the National Advisory Council of the National Federation of Independent Business.

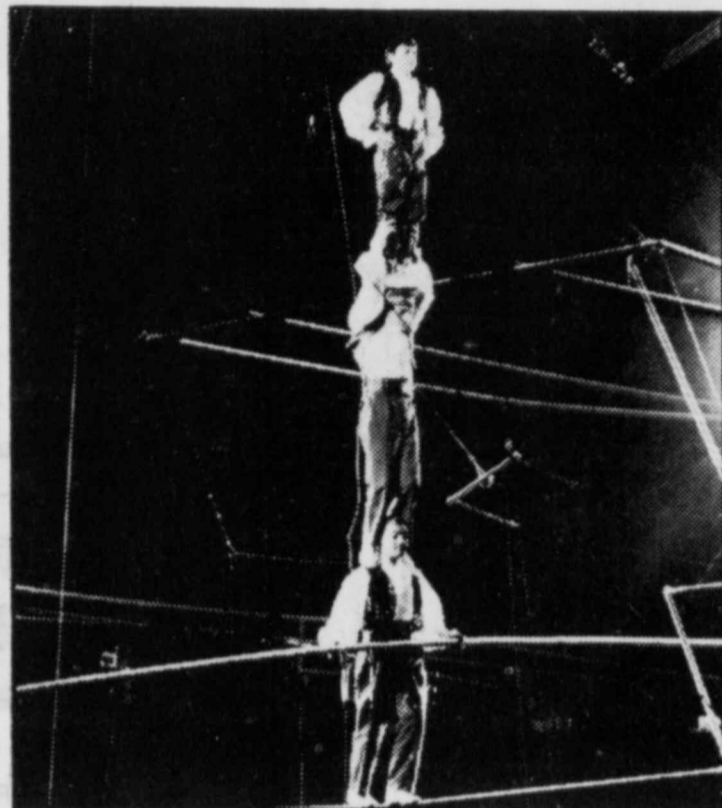

This appointment is part of the program inaugurated by Wilson Johnson, president of the Federation to expand the Advisory Council from its present membership of more than 2,000 to a more comprehensive "grass roots" base of the national organization currently comprising a membership of 343,008 independent business people in all 50 states.

Although in keeping with the growth of the organization,

Johnson has tripled the Washington legislative staff of the Federation, he is a firm believer in the principle that "all business is local" and plans to get an enlarged viewpoint of small and independent business problems at the local level.

Word is typical of the calibre of business community leaders who serve on the Advisory Council. His firm has been established in this area since 1946 and he has two employees.

His civic activities include the following: president, Chamber of Commerce; school trustee, Lions Club (vice president, president, director); United Methodist Church (official board, superintendent of Church School, teacher); South Plains Archaeological Society (president, vice president, director); Texas Archaeological Society (vice president, president, regional vice president, director); VFW (member); American Legion (member); Boy Scouts of America (18 years scoutmaster, district chairman, vice president of council).

Mr. Cortright said the cotton industry maintains most of its strength through a spirit of unity.

Judges Choose Finalist In Windmill Art Contest

CANYON — The judges have chosen the finalists in the Windmill Art Competition. Their paintings, drawings, photographs and three dimensional windmill forms will hang at the Pioneer Amphitheatre during the evening of June 21 at the Gala Opening of the eighth season of Paul Green's Musical Drama, "TEXAS". There will be twenty-one works on display.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Burleson, M.C. 17th District, Texas WASHINGTON, D.C. — There is now some pretty good evidence that students in our schools are not hopeless slob, probably up to no good, and that trusting the fate of the nation to their witless hands will be a final disastrous downfall.

A new world-wide study shows that American school students are right up there with the best of them. In spite of the fact that this country's classrooms are kept open for at least twelve years to all wanting to attend, elsewhere in the world they would have been shut out at an early age.

The director of the International Association for the Evaluation of Achievements, Dr. Torsten Husen of the University of Stockholm, has warned that the study might be a sort of an "Intellectual Olympics" but nevertheless there is more than a grain of satisfaction in the study. It embraced nineteen nations and revealed what has been noted before — that home atmosphere is more important than anything else in producing scholastic excellence. The report also referred, as often has been done, to the presence of reading materials in the home as having a very great influence. School efficiency does make a difference, according to the findings, in the quality of public school education. This is in contradiction to the conclusions reached by Harvard's Christopher Jencks who maintains that schools make little or no difference in, for instance, social inequality.

In some countries, West Germany being the best example, youngsters are weeded out of the academic program starting around the age of ten. This tends to make those remaining in school an "elitist" bunch with similar backgrounds and cuts off the "late bloomers" before they have developed enough to show their capabilities.

One might think then that these pruned "elitists" would swamp the American pupil in the later reaches of their scholastic training but it doesn't work out that way, according to the study. In the final overall comparison of the top groups' ability, the United States student out-classed all the restrictive systems' students. The United States schools still had on our rolls some 14 percent of what is called "lower class" starters who could still go on to better things because they hung in there and kept trying. This 1 percent from such beginnings still in German schools. It can be assumed that just about anything can be improved but in the process some things have been ruined. There are deficiencies, of course, in our secondary educational system and, while this study referred to may not be all gospel, it shows by comparison that our teachers, our school facilities, and the end product — the student — in fact the entire system deserves commendation.

Letters To The Editor

June 1, 1973

Dear Mr. Tooley:

After being away from Floydada for 30 years, I thought I would not renew my subscription. As time goes on most people there are strangers to me.

The more I think of it, I do miss the "goings-on" at Floydada and the town's achievements, so enclosed is my check for another year.

I have enjoyed the reminiscence of Arthur Gamble's articles. Sincerely, Roma Wilkinson
