Richard Thomas Celebrating Five Years With Floydada Airport

Richard also reports that there will be several brand new airplanes on display and registration for several gifts: a free annual inspection for a person who owns a plane, a free wax job, a couple of free wash jobs. For the non flyer there will be registration for five free one hour flying lessons.

FAA SPECIALIST

FAA accident prevention specialist Ray Rainey from Lubbock will be showing aviation films and everyone is invited to try the "vertigo chair" for the sensation of flying blind.

Some local pilots may also be displaying their planes.

Richard told a Hesperian reporter yesterday, "this is my way of showing my appreciation to the community and trade area for the five enjoyable years of operating Thomas Aero Maintenance Inc.

Richard has been in aviation repair for 15 years. From 1958 to 1963 he was serving in the U.S. Army aviation repair work. From 1963 to 1964 he was associated with the Lubbock Airport. He was shop foreman of the Plainview aviation service from 1964 to 1968. He came to Floydada June 15, 1968.

Esley Yeary has served as operator of the Milton Flying Service since the new airport was built. Doodle Milton built the hangers and established the airport operation. The city of Floydada owns the land.

BULLETIN!

The famed B-25 Fighter Bomber owned by two Lubbock men who belong to the Confederate Air Force will be on display also.

Food Stamp Program Becomes Effective August 1 In Floyd County

A Food Program Specialist with the U. S. Department of Agriculture out of Lubbock will be in Floydada Friday night, June 22, at Lighthouse Electric, to explain the Food Stamp Program to grocery-men and others who may wish to attend. The meeting will begin at 7:30, to be brought by Ellis Schmid.

The Food Stamp Program is to begin in Floyd County in August, according to County Judge J. K. Holmes. The program will replace the existing commodities which will continue through June and July. Judge Holmes said the Food Stamp Program will eliminate four part-time employes which have been paid by Floyd County. The Food Stamp Program is operated by the State Health Department with grants and such. An office at 7th and Ash in Plainview will serve Hale, Floyd and Castro Counties, according to a State Department official.

At present 440 people in Floyd County are eligible to receive commodities, according to Olin Watson. If you want food stamps, you must go to the head of the distribution of commodities, Olin Watson, as the Court House in Floydada.

A person is normally certified for food stamps for three months, although if he is aged, he can receive certification for as long as a year, a spokesman said.

Food stamps are coupons that eligible households may purchase to increase their food purchasing power. Households pay less than one-third of their total net income for the food stamps, and then bonus stamps are issued to make up the difference between what a household can pay and what is needed for an adequate diet.

For example if income per month to a household of four is from $130 to $139.99, then $34 worth of stamps purchased would be worth $112 of food stamps, a bonus of $78. In a family of four if the income per month is from $270 to $289.99, $77 worth of stamps could purchase food worth $112. Guidelines will be available before the USDA-Texas Food Stamp Program becomes effective.

If you are receiving a welfare check, or don't make much money, you may be eligible to participate in the new program. Other persons eligible for food stamps include those who work part-time, the unemployed, those who receive small Social Security payments, or some kind of pension check. Households eligible for food stamps will receive one or two "Authorized To Purchase" (ATP) cards each month in the mail specifying the amount of stamps they are entitled to, and how much money, if any, they must pay for them. Recipients then take their ATP cards and any necessary cash to designated food stamps issuance office.

Participating grocery stores will accept food stamps for any food purchase except those items which are imported.

FFA Wins Several State Contests

Floydada Future Farmer of America teacher Orville Harris received word Thursday that the local chapter had won several state awards. The state convention is July 11, 12, 13 in Fort Worth.

Four boys will get State Farmer Degrees: Randy Ward, Tony Ferguson, Danny Daniels and Jimmy Parker. Ross Hamilton will receive the $400 Production Credit scholarship.

David Marriele placed second in the Investor's Credit Utility Co. award.

Joe Womack will receive an all expense paid trip to Kansas City from the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Assn.

The Floydada chapter won second in the Texas Safety Contest, a bronze rating in the BOAC program, a first in chapter rating, which qualifies them for the National, gold silver or bronze competition.

...and one of the girl FFAers won second in organ playing... Penny Bertrand.

Blake Hickerson, David Schwertner, Robert Ferguson and Mike Reeves attended the three day electric wiring, electric control and farm motors school in Amarillo Monday.

The school also included recreation and was sponsored by the Southwestern Public Service Company.

Reward Offered For Dog Poisoner

A $200 reward is being offered by concerned citizens of Floydada for information leading to the "arrest and CONVICTION" of person or persons poisoning dogs in Floydada.

A group of local citizens have contributed to make up the reward money and a spokesman, among one of the families losing a pet to poisoning, says the $200 reward will be given when the person is convicted of the crime.

A number of families have lost pets in the Floydada area the past two weeks due to poisoning.

Anyone interested in giving to the "reward fund" may contact Jerry Finley.

Friday one of the L. D. Simpson dogs was reported poisoned, but is recovering after medication. The Simpsons live at 832 West Tennessee.

There was also a report that Connie Gallaway's dog was sick. The Gallaways live at 706 West Lee.

Donations Badly Needed For Cemetery

Due to an abundance of rain this year and higher expenses in the upkeep of the Floydada Cemetery, donations are badly needed. A spokesman for the Floydada Cemetery Association said Thursday that it was taking three men to keep the cemetery weeded and by the time one batch of weeds was cut it was time to go over the area again.

Because of the longer work hours and additional workers, the association is of course encountering higher expenses, and need donations to keep the work going.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the Floydada Cemetery Association may send donations to Charlie Bedford at First National Bank in Floydada, who is treasurer of the Association, or to Moore-Rose Funeral Home, Floydada.

Floydada Girls Softball Teams Take Two Of Three Games With Roosevelt

The Floydada girls' softball team traveled to Roosevelt Thursday where they won two games and lost one.

The 9-10 year old won their game 12-8. LaQuita Davis and Jan Pleasant were pitchers for Floydada.

In the 11-12 year olds' game, Floydada "ate-em up" 32-2. Jaine Guest was pitcher. Floydada really got loose and scored 22 points in the first inning. Donnette Williams hit a home run. It was called in the third inning. Nora Black and Loraine Windom each scored five runs.

Roosevelt sorta got Floydada back... as they won 22-5 in the 13-14 year olds' game. Patsy Samuels and Carlan Young were the pitchers.

Opportunity Plan Helps 24 Floydada Students With $28,000

Milton Morris, father of the "Opportunity Plan" of WTSU spoke to Floydada Rotarians Wednesday about how his financing program for college students has grown from $500 to $4 million.

I don't care how a boy or girl ranks scholastically at school... if they have honor, I want to loan them money for an education, and help them, Morris told the Rotarians.

Since the beginning of the program Morris has helped 24 students with loans of some $28,000.

He thanked the Rotary club for its loan of $2,000 to help in the program. He told how he helped Rosie Luna, a 1970 Floydada graduate, get secretarial training and now has a job at Pantex. Mrs. Billy Staniforth had contacted Morris about helping Rosie, whose folks work and live on the Staniforth farm. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lupe Luna.

Morris also praised Virginia Dyson for her good work. Virginia is former secretary of the Floydada Methodist Church.

Morris was introduced by Rotarian Bill Brown.

When I get a letter that sorta brightens my day. I read from Mrs. H. C. Mitchell in Waco. She left me as Hazel Jones... and tells me she has never been in Hesperian ever since. She left Floydada to go to Waco, Texas where she met her husband. She was here the last Sunday in July for the anniversary of her death.

As a reminder... don't forget the Lakeview water bill. A clipping from the Waco Tribune Herald says that the water bill for 2,000 gallons. The next month will be $4.80 or 11.80 total. In Waco, the same amount would be $6.06.

Without a discount. Be thankful for small mercies. In Floydada would be terrible news in Waco. A 40 percent discount, the West Texans have a water bill for 2,000 gallons. The next month will be $4.80 or 11.80 total. In Waco, the same amount would be $6.06.

Everything In Its Place

Adequate storage space puts "everything in its place" - even where closet and cabinet space is limited. It also lessens clutter and confusion within the home to make it more livable.

Containers for "custom-made" shelves and drawers are available for the asking at grocery, hardware and furniture stores. Fruit boxes, of heavy cardboard with finer holes in the ends for easy carrying, make storage compartments for sweaters, out-of-season boots, ice skates, seldom used purses, or even copies of receipts and past tax returns. Several of these boxes can be painted or covered with paper, stacked together and labeled. For added convenience, build a rack to hold them so they will slip out like a drawer - or they will line up on a closet shelf.

For added space on that one shelf in the closet above the rod, get heavy boxes and cut tops out. Lay them on their sides, fitted together to make compartments into which handbags, gloves, hats and shoes will store.

Extra shelves are easy to add. Two screw-eyes of appropriate size screwed into the wall on each end - so they're properly anchored to something solid will support a shelf.

For toys, egg shipping cases solve storage problems, and cinder blocks or glass bricks will hold another shelf for books.

Odds-and-ends storage becomes attractive using clean ice cream or pretzel cans covered with paper or fabric. Also, they can be painted, laid on their sides and stacked pyramid-fashion, held together with paper clips or clothes pins. On the desk, the cans will wedge into a shoe box, or fasten together with epoxy glue, and hold pencils, letters, bills or stamps.

Roll call was answered with "How to Get the Most for My Money" by the following members and two visitors: Mmes. Allen Kellum, Melvin Brock, Herman Huffman, W. W. Trapp, W. A. Stewart, Linda Prater, Mabel Mercer, Willis Apple, J. P. Taylor, C. L. King, Guy Sams and J. T. Griffin.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, June 19 and it will be a breakfast at 8:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. J. P. Taylor.

The July 3 meeting will be held in the Rebekah Hall at 3 p.m. with the Lone Star 4-H Club members giving the program.

Other places she visited included Radio City Music Hall at Rockefeller Center; saw the Walt Disney Production of Mary Poppins; the Minskoff Theatre to see Debbie Reynolds in "Irene", lunched at the Waldorf-Astoria, visited the Little Church Around the Corner; Times Square, the Coliseum, Hayden Planetarium, Central Assembly Hall, Temple Emanu-El, one of the largest and best known Jewish houses of worship in New York; The Cathedral of St. John the Divine, which is still being built and when completed will be the largest and most impressive cathedral in the world; St. Patrick's Cathedral, designed after the famous Cologne Cathedral, and reputed to be one of the most beautiful churches in America; Philharmonic Hall and the Metropolitan Opera House.

Mrs. Shipley also enjoyed a three hours sightseeing cruise around Manhattan Island, cruising under 20 famous and historical bridges; sailing under four tunnels and 73 transit tubes, saw the Statue of Liberty, Manhattan Skyline, Yankee Stadium, United Nations building, Central Park, Empire State Building, and the Statue of Atlas, a bronze seven-ton, 45 foot high statue, carrying on its shoulders the largest armillary sphere ever to be cast. The sphere carries on its outer ring the 12 signs of the Zodiac and its axis points to the Northern Star.

Mrs. Shipley said she could not describe the thrill of seeing New York and attending the convention, but did say "The trip was wonderful."

MRS. THOMAS DEE HULEY

Miss Noblett-Thomas Exchange Vows In Plainview

Miss Donna Karen Noblett of 910 West 28th in Plainview became the bride of Thomas Dee Huley of 906 West College Street in Lockney Friday, June 15, in the First Baptist Church of Plainview. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Noblett of 5307 Goodnight Trail in Amarillo and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Huley in Lockney.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Carlos McCleod at 7:30 in the evening.

Bob Noblett of Plainview was the soloist accompanied on the organ by Marlene Hoover of Plainview.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar decorated with tall brass cathedral candelabras, imported greenery, and blue and white carnations, gladiolus, and baby's breath.

Miss Marsha Thomas of Plainview was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Pam Blackwell, Kaylene Churchwell, and Belynda Brown, all of Plainview. They wore sheer blue empire waisted floor length dresses lined with blue satin. The waist was accented with white lace complemented with blue long sheer full sleeves with cuffs. Their dresses were complemented with garden hats. They carried white parasols filled with blue daisies, pom poms and white baby's breath.

Flower girl was Tammy Ballard, niece of the groom, of Hico. Ringbearer was Tyke Dipprey, cousin of the groom. Lockney. Jerry Don Hulcy, brother of the groom served him as best man. Groomsman were Mike Noblett, brother of the bride of Plainview; Tracy Dickson and Jerry Morphis, both of Lockney. Ushers were Monte Huley, nephew of the groom from Lockney; and Joe Morphis of Plainview.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected a traditional wedding gown of white scalloped rose lace pattern of peau d' ange. The molded bodice featured a high wedding band neckline with a sheer yoke and a basque waist which formed a V in front. The long sheer bishop sleeves were gently shirred to wide cuffs. The full skirt featured five tiers of the peau d' ange lace and was gathered to fullness extending to a cathedral length train. She wore an elbow length mantilla veil which was two-tiered and completely encircled in a scalloped rose pattern peau d' ange lace. She carried a cascade of white stephanotis, white stock blooms, white orchids and baby's breath.

A good babysitter needs a lot more than a way with kids

Of course a babysitter should like children. And like taking care of them. But the job also involves some pretty big responsibilities. Caring for little ones means being able to handle just about any emergency. Because emergencies often require the use of the telephone, a handy list of important numbers can do wonders for your sitter's confidence. So write down the phone numbers for fire, police, medical assistance and the places you'll be while out. Keep the list right next to the phone, and remember to call home if your plans change.

Interested in getting more for your telephone dollar? We'll send 30 tips to help you save time and money. No charge. We'll also include an Emergency Numbers List.

Obituaries

Colin M. Rucker

Funeral services for Mrs. Colin May Rucker, 90, who died Thursday in the Westgate Nursing Home in Hereford, were held at 4 p.m. Friday in the Trinity United Methodist Church of Clovis, N.M.

Officiating was the Rev. W. T. Perry, pastor of the Hamlin Memorial United Methodist Church in Farwell, Texas, and the Rev. Clyde R. Stanfield, pastor. Burial was in Mission Garden of Memories by Steed-Todd Funeral Home.

Mrs. Rucker, a former resident of Bellview, N.M., had been living in Hereford for about 10 years. She was a member of the Grady, N.M. Methodist Church.

Survivors include three sons, Gibbs of Bellview, Raymond of Lockney, and John of Richardson, Texas; two daughters, Mrs. Jack Nelson of Friona, and Mrs. Ray Whately of Clovis; 10 grand-

Walter D. Ayers

Funeral services were held Friday in Lockney for Walter Davis Ayers, 72, in the Carter Funeral Home Chapel at 2 p.m. Earl Cantwell, minister of the Rock Creek Church of Christ, and Bobby Hise, minister of the Main Street Church of Christ in Lockney, officiated.

Burial was in the Silverton Cemetery under the direction of Carter Funeral Home of Lockney.

Born in Briscoe County, Ayers moved to Lockney in 1901. He was a retired farmer and he had worked in the dry goods store business.

Survivors include two brothers, Robert and Frederick, both of Lockney; and a sister, Delila Ann of Lockney.

New Books Available In Lockney Library

Young readers who patronize the Lockney branch of Floyd County Library can still enroll in the summer reading program. They must read at least 12 books before July 27 to qualify for a certificate.

Four books have been given to the Floyd County Library, Lockney branch, by Mrs. J. Aylsworth of Lockney. They are Nothing to Make a Shadow by Faye Cashatt Lewis, Buggies, Blizzards and Babies by Cora Frear Hawkins, Season of Love by Catherine Lee Clay, and Miss Willie by Janice Holt Giles.

Another recent gift to the library is Favorite Stories about Floyd County which was donated by the author, Alma N. Holmes.

The following is information about the books given by Mrs. Aylsworth and other new books recently received:

Nothing to Make a Shadow: "The whistle of a steam locomotive... short surges of excitement... brief twinges of fear... the final fond farewells. It is the summer of 1909 and the Cashatt family is leaving Iowa for a new home in South Dakota.

Buggies, Blizzards and Babies: Mrs. Hawkins remembers her father, Dr. Edwin D. Frear who began his career in 1882 in Iowa. She tells the hardships, struggles and challenges that characterized the life and practice of the country doctor.

Miss Willie: This is a new copy of a well-read book already in the library, and is the second of the trilogy by Janice Holt Giles telling of the Piney Ridge people.

Season of Love: It is 1913 and Laurel's parents have gone to Europe for the summer. The household is left in the charge of stern Mrs. Prickett.

The Appalachian Trail by Ronald M. Fisher: This is published by the National Geographic Society and is description and photos of areas where the author and his family hiked. Shown is the "splendor of the mountains, stillness of the forests, the wonderful diversity of plants and wildlife."

The Bride's Book of Etiquette by the editors of The Bride's Magazine should be welcomed by the many engaged couples in the community planning summer weddings.

Nobody Will Listen by Marjorie Holmes: Miss Holmes turns her special talents to expressing the tumultuous feelings of a teen-age girl; a girl's conversations with God.

The Closing Circle, Nature, Man and Technology by Barry Commoner: "This is the most

FARM REVIEW

Production To Be Studied In Seven Counties

Jim Schrib, associate agronomist, High Plains Research Foundation, is contacting several cotton producers in Hale, Lamb, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Terry and Lynn counties to keep records on cotton production steps necessary to produce a crop. A log is kept from the time of the previous crop until the harvest, Schrib said. "We want to know land preparations, seed varieties, fertilization practices, weed control, crop development and yield and quality," Schrib said.

After the data is collected it will be processed at Standford Research Institute to correlate different production practices with yield and quality.

"These records will be of great importance to cotton growers and Cotton Incorporated as a tool to evaluate existing research efforts and initiating new projects," Schrib said.

The survey is planned for five years to give farmers broader scope on which to reevaluate their operations, Schrib said. Similar studies are underway in the San Joaquin Valley of California and the Mississippi Delta, he noted.

Juvenile Logic

"I want you to understand," said the teacher, "that it is the law of gravity that keeps us on this earth." "Please," asked little Nellie, "how did we stick on before the law was passed?"

"Do you suppose he's in a position to ask me to marry him?" "I should say so. Haven't I just returned him his ring?"

Sarcasm

Diner (tired of waiting): "Waitress, please find out if your colleague from whom I ordered a steak some time ago is still employed here."

the bill's chances for accomplishing its goals is in jeopardy against losses," Johnson believes, "because consumers can in no way be assured of adequate reasonable prices."

1988, sets a target price of 43 cents per pound for cotton which producers should receive a payment difference between this figure and the average spot price for SLM 1-1/16 inch cotton with 3.5 to 4.9 percent of the five months of the marketing year, ending December.

of determining the per-pound payment rate, which to inhibit the production of adequate cotton production. "Since spot market quotations do not reflect prices paid to farmers for cotton, and since the 1-1/16 inch cotton may or may not para lize prices for qualities, the formula doesn't insure producers contention that if this target-price system is to be successful payments should be based on the difference between the target price and the prices actually paid to farmers for the entire U.S. crop. "Otherwise the chances for production without producer losses are greatly reduced and producers will benefit while others suffer."

payment limitation simply means that whatever is decided upon would be made on only a portion of the total production. A farmer entitled to 10 million pounds of production could receive only 200,000 pounds or less than half his total production to some point well below his cost," Johnson said, "and even the amount of this payment is dependent on the producer's not having any other program crop."

PG is that some of these inequities can be corrected by a farm bill, on which the House committee is already at work. "And in all honesty our chances for relief on the payment limitation issue as of the moment don't look too bright," Johnson said.

FLOYD COUNTY UNDERGROUND WATER LEVEL DROPPED ABOUT HALF FOOT

THE ANNUAL WATER STATEMENT, 1972-1973

By D. D. SMITH

During the month of January, 1973, personnel of the High Plains Undergound Water Conservation District No. 1 and the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) measured the depths-to-water in "observation" wells located in the 15 counties comprising the Water District.

An observation well is a well that has been selected for inclusion in the annual water level measuring program. All of the wells are privately owned—none of the wells in this program are owned by the District. They are selected at spaced intervals in sufficient density to assure adequate coverage for the surrounding area.

Currently there are 799 wells in the program, of which 797 (99.7 percent) were measured. District personnel measured 529 wells in Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Hockley, Parmer, Potter and Randall Counties and representatives of the TWDB measured 268 wells in Armstrong, Crosby, Hale, Lamb, Lubbock and Lynn Counties.

Adverse weather conditions throughout most of January hampered and frustrated field activity. Walks across muddy fields and turnrows became commonplace. The District, in behalf of the participants in this year's field work, would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank area residents who frequently rendered assistance to the field men by helping to pull their automobiles out of the mud.

More Useful Format Desired

In departing from the format established over the past few years for presentation of the annual water statement, the District hopes to reduce the volume of raw material from the 800+ observation wells maintained within the area and to assimilate the information into a more comprehensible and useable format.

Although statistics of an individual well might be of interest to the owner of said well, the year-to-year performance of any well must be viewed in context with the profile projected by the wells surrounding it.

For the benefit of each well owner, a vinyl tag with the recorded depth to water is affixed to the well head equipment of each well measured. Recording the year-to-year measurements would provide the land owner with a basis for judging the rate of change within his own well.

While the individual well measurements are not being reproduced in this year's assessment of the ground-water conditions, we would like to emphasize that the records are continuously maintained at the Lubbock office, and the District staff will be available to discuss the individual records with any interested persons.

Average Decline Calculated

The table, "Average Decline of Water Table", statistically tabulates the average decline by county for the period from January, 1972, to January, 1973, and the average annual decline for 1962 to 1973. The average annual decline value represents the 1962 depth-to-water measurement subtracted from the 1973 depth-to-water measurement, and the difference divided by the number of intervening years (11).

In Potter County the values commence with the year 1963. Plus signs (+) indicate a rise in the water level. The statistics are intended to cover only that portion of a county within the District.

The past Fall (1972) again recorded above average rainfall throughout the area, commencing in mid-August. The early curtailment of irrigation pumping and delayed measurements during January, 1973, probably allowed for one of the longest rest periods in recent years.

As such, the depth-to-water measurements recorded during 1973 should depict true static water levels more accurately than is possible in those years wherein the average rest period of the wells might be several weeks shorter.

Within the context of the conditions previously stated, the 1973 average decline throughout the District is somewhat smaller than the long term average. Randall County is the only county wherein the 1972-1973 change was in close agreement with the 1962-1973 average decline. Four counties (Cochran, Crosby, Hockley and Lynn) have an apparent rise in their water table for the past year.

Adjustment Reflected

However, as noted in the 1972 water statement (The Cross Section, April, 1972), at least two of these counties posted declines for the 1971-1972 period far in excess of there-tofore recorded statistical averages. Consequently, it might be assumed that the apparent rise in the water table for the 1972-1973 period reflects an adjustment for inaccurate measurements recorded in the previous year.

For example, the measurements for January, 1972, in Cochran County indicate 13 wells with a decline of more than five feet from the January, 1971, measurements. In these 13 wells, the January, 1973, measurements recorded, without exception, a rise in each of the wells and the net apparent rise is in close proximity to the posted decline for the preceding year.

The table, "Summary of Water Level Measurements", presents the minimum and maximum depths to water as measured in 1962 and 1973. Included also are values for the average depth to water in each county for the years 1962 and 1973 and the number of observation wells measured in the respective years.

It will be noted that each county has experienced a lowering of its water table. Those counties with the largest available supply, and, consequently, the largest pumpage, continue to experience the largest average decline of their water table.

On the following page, a hydrograph is presented with a curve (line) plotted for each county. The numerical values on the vertical portion of the graph represent the average depth to water in feet from the land surface. The horizontal portion of the graph represents time in one year increments, from 1962 to 1973.

An uptrend (rise) in the plotted curve does not necessarily reflect a rise in the water table for the year(s) involved. As previously mentioned, in a number of instances the apparent rise could reflect an adjustment in the measurements for some previous year, or it might also indicate some of the observation wells were not measured in a particular year.

AVERAGE DECLINE OF WATER TABLE

County	Average Decline
	1972-1973	1962-1973
Armstrong	1.24	1.81
Bailey	1.12	1.48
Castro	2.25	3.38
Cochran	+3.01	0.90
Crosby	+0.58	2.76
Deaf Smith	2.12	4.20
Floyd	0.46	3.76
Hale	0.76	2.82
Hockley	+1.07	1.18
Lamb	0.19	1.92
Lubbock	0.37	1.73
Lynn	+2.59	0.49
Parmer	1.78	3.39
Potter	0.50	1.91
Randall	1.74	1.99

In several instances, an observation well will be pumping (irrigation of winter wheat, for example) at the scheduled measurement time. Absence of these measurements would be reflected in the average value in proportion to the particular normal depth-to-water values under or above the county average.

The curves for the individual counties indicating the average static water level in January of each year (the line connecting the points is only an inferred line and not to be construed as an indicator of the water table during seasonal pumpage), could also serve as an indicator of the relationship of the pumping lift required in the various areas. The hydrograph does not indicate the depth to the base of the aquifer.

Slope Indicates Decline

The overall downward trend of the curve is apparent in each county. The slope of the curves also is a good indicator of the rapidity of the decline of the water table for the various counties.

Even in those counties with an abundant reserve of water resources, the portion of the curves depicting conditions observed for the last few years indicates there is a noticeable decrease in the rate of decline of the water table. This is an encouraging sign that the various conservation measures advocated by the District and other interested groups are beginning to bear dividends.

All of the farmers throughout the area engaged in such conservation practices are to be commended for assuming the responsibility to participate in programs designed to effectuate groundwater conservation.

Farmers Union President Calls On Governor For Special Session

In a speech before a Stephenville farm audience, Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco, called on Governor Dolph Briscoe to convene a special session of the legislature to deal with the financing of the public school system and the farm fuel crisis.

Addressing the monthly meeting of the Erath County Farmers Union, Naman pointed out that the excessive property taxes which are being levied on agricultural land are imposing a discriminatory burden on farm and ranch producers. He pointed out that "The educational demands of the rural areas are becoming increasingly difficult to meet with the antiquated property tax structure."

Turning to the farm fuel problem, the farm leader said, "Reports of farm fuel shortages are becoming increasingly apparent as we move into the harvest season. It is obvious that unless some strong measures are taken by the federal government or by our state legislature, we could find the completion of harvest seriously hampered."

The state-wide farm organization leader said that the present voluntary system of allocation of fuel is not working and urged that the Congress pass proposed emergency legislation to establish mandatory priorities. "In the absence of decisive action by our national administration it is extremely important that Governor Briscoe call an emergency special session of the state legislature for the purpose of solving the Texas farm fuel crisis. Each day that passes moves us closer to the deplorable situation where combines, cotton strippers, and other farm machinery could be idled in the fields. Are we going to wait until this happens before responsible people in government take action?" Naman asked.

Cattle Feed Going Out The Back Of Combine

Increasing feed costs for livestock production and the fact that much material that could be used in feeding cattle is wasted by going through the combine should stimulate interest in a demonstration to be conducted at the High Plains Research Foundation on Friday, June 22. A forage collecting machine, a device which catches all grain and chaff which goes through the combine, will be running on wheat and triticale at 2:00 p.m., according to Dr. T.C. Longnecker, Director of the Research Foundation.

"Observations in this area and reports from Iowa and South Dakota indicate that the potential value of the feed material of the forage going out the back of a combine may be worth as much as $50.00 per acre as cattle feed," said Longnecker. This would apply to wheat, triticale, corn, soybeans and grain sorghum. Everyone who is interested in seeing this machine in operation is invited to the research farm 14 miles west of Plainview at Halfway beginning at 2:00 p.m.

The Art Of Worship

The worship service is designed to be a powerful experience of celebration and joy but instead too often becomes a dry routine with little meaning for the worshipper or with little effect on his life. One of the reasons is that many of us have never learned the art of worshipping.

To get the most out of your worship, you must come expecting - expecting three things: (1) to discover your sins (2) to know the forgiveness of Christ (3) to learn how to live.

The art of worship involves learning and developing certain skills or disciplines, for yourself so that you can get the most out of every worship service you attend.

A. Think of church attendance as a privilege.
B. Go every Sunday. After we struggle and strive all week in this hectic world, we need to come to the Son once a week and let Him fill us with the rays of new light and hope.

C. Prepare for Church. Come mentally alert and rested to meditate and worship.

D. Pray in church. We should take out of our minds distracting thoughts like our plans for dinner or the afternoon activities. We empty our minds so they can be filled with God.

E. Participate in the service. To get the most out of a service, you have to put something in in the way of participation.

F. Focus your mind on God. As you pray you remember you are talking to God, as you listen to the Scripture, you think of God talking to you.

G. Listen to discover. Listen to discover the three things you came for: (1) to know your sins (2) the forgiveness of Christ (3) and how to live for Christ.

H. Finally, be aware of the family of God. As you worship you are not alone. You worship with brothers and sisters in the family of God. You are to be friendly to them, greet them, and help them.

Decide on your discipline. As James said, "Be doers of the Word, and not hearers only."

Two Floydada Boys Going To Salvation Army Camp

Two boys from Floydada will be given a free, one week vacation this summer at The Salvation Army's Camp Hoblitzelle near Dallas, according to Mrs. Wesley Carr, the Salvation Army Service Unit Camp Chairman.

Boys chosen to attend the camp this summer are Terry and DeWayne Butler, Andrews Ward students.

"This will be an excellent experience for these boys who have never been to a real camp," Mrs. Carr said.

"At Hoblitzelle they will enjoy boating, hiking, archery, horseback riding, fishing, swimming, handicrafts, movies and baseball as well as worship services and Bible Study."

All organized activities are supervised by coaches and counselors. The campers are housed in brick and redwood cabins and receive well-balanced meals in the camp dining hall.

"Each boy's trip was financed by the Floydada Service Unit Committee with donations from private citizens in our community."

Camp Hoblitzelle is built on 360 wooded acres with a 30 acre lake and is fully equipped with modern recreational facilities. The Salvation Army operates Camp Hoblitzelle for children and families who could not otherwise have the opportunity to enjoy camp life.

Roaring Springs Is Sold to Lubbock Man

A CONTRACT has been signed for approximately 3,500 acres of land, including the historic Roaring Springs, southwest of the city of Roaring Springs.

The proposed buyer, C. L. "Chuck" Siewert, President of the Great Plains Construction Co., in Lubbock, had no comment when contacted Tuesday by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Although Siewert would make no comment on the proposed sale, John Lincoln, a Matador Cattle Co. vice-president from the Plainview office, said the recreational facility at the Springs would probably remain open to the public this year.

V. V. Scott, operator of the pool told the Tribune Tuesday that his contract was only for the 1973 swimming season.

The Springs recreational site is located on the South Fork of Pease River.

A man-made pool was built at the Springs in 1939, by the Matador Land & Cattle Company former owners of the syndicate which sold about 12 years ago.

Water gushes from the springs at about 500 gallons per minute and is said to be one of the above-ground outlets of the Panhandle-Plains underground water supply.

AREA GIRLS ATTEND CHURCH CAMP

Seven girls from Aiken Baptist Church and four girls from Lockney First Baptist Church attended a camp Wednesday through Friday at the Staked Plains Baptist Assembly near Floydada.

With them as counselors were Mrs. Bobby Spencer of the Aiken church, and Mrs. Ronnie McCandless and Connie Bradley of the Lockney church. Mrs. Melvin Bradley of Lockney also assisted with transportation.

Attending the camp were Donna Spencer, Desiree Isom, Rebecca Smith, Janet Taylor, Arlene Webb, Eileen Foster, Carmen Turner of the Aiken church; Pam Bradley, Charla Dipprey, Beverly Barker and Janis Marr of the Lockney church.

Floydada in the twenties.. Farming

By Arthur E. Gamble

In the 1920's farming was in a transition between teams of mules or horses and the beginning of the tractors. Row crop farming was still mostly done with teams but toward the end of the decade the "Farmall" tractor was making its inroads on the traditional "teams & tools."

From the time my cousin "dared" me into jabbing a mule in his flank and my resultant sail across the lot propelled by the mule's hind leg, I had the utmost respect for the hind end of a horse or mule. We were indoctrinated into handling horses and mules at a rather tender age. At times we even kept a horse in our cowlot.

During the 20's, as the farmers shifted to tractors, they began to need more land so the ones who could afford to, bought out their neighbors. Dad being in the real estate business handled many of these transactions and since the buyer had no need for teams and tools, and the seller without a farm certainly didn't need them, it was usually the real estate agent that had to take them as part of his commission. Dad and his brother had 960 acres located 11 miles southwest of Floydada so when horses or mules were accumulated they would be taken out to the farm and turned into the pastures. The corrals were excellent - having been built by my Uncle John W. Smith. The fences were some 6 feet high with heavy posts set in concrete and the heavy planks bolted to the posts. The only horse I ever saw get out of that corral was a wild one from out in the Estancia Valley of New Mexico and he took the top plank with him.

When a few carloads of horses were accumulated, Dad would load them out and ship them to East Texas where horses were still being used. Dad would trade and sell until the bulk of the stock was sold and often would sell out the remainder to some trader in the area. I was too small to work at the actual loading but do remember hanging on the side of the chute urging the horses into the cars the time we shipped the four carloads at one time.

Hand held plows were still in existence but were used only for plowing small garden plots. Horse pulled "listers" were usually single row affairs but at times a 2 row rig would be seen. Above 1 row meant a multiple hitch of 4 to 6 animals and required a skillful driver to control them and make a straight furrow. "Cultivators" also came in 1 and 2 row models. The 1 row type was mounted on two high wheels so the operator sitting with his feet on stirrups attached to the actual cultivation part which could be moved laterally. In addition to controlling two horses the driver had to keep watch and maneuver the plows so as to get the maximum amount of weeds and minimum amount of crop. You didn't have to sing lullabies to a cultivator operator at night to get him to sleep.

There was one contraption used for cultivation that could be trusted to a "town boy" like me and that was the "go-devil." Today the dictionary refers to this as a contraption used in the oil fields (which I am thoroughly familiar with) or to a railroad handcar, but those usages have nothing to do with the contraption on the farm.

The go-devil was a small light sled with an opening of some eight to ten inches between runners. There were small metal wings attached to the front to act as stabilizers. Long metal blades called knives could be attached to the sides on about a 60° angle and would cut the weeds in the beds. Or some models were made to have small disc plows attached to the rear in such a manner as to throw dirt off the beds down around the plants. When you were using this contraption, it was well to keep alert because on turns you could be sliced by either blades or discs if you turned over or a team ran away.

Another hazard was your motive power - two reasonably tame horses or mules, or mixture thereof were used. Despite the feelings of my children, I DID NOT live in the days of the ox teams. In the old song about a "one horse open sleigh" dashing around and according to the song the horse indelicately passing gas - the go-devil operator has a deep appreciation of the meaning of that phrase that is utterly lost of the Christmas carolers I have heard singing it. Horses being horses, I soon established a personal preference for geldings over mares.

A balky horse was something that took a firm hand. A cousin of mine (who, prior to his recent death, trained horses used in parades, movies, and TV) was one boy who knew how to cope with such a contingency. We were using teams and wagons to haul grain to the elevator in Floydada and when Albert didn't show up on schedule, Aunt Eva got Dad to take her to look for him. About three miles from town, we met him with a team that was really pulling the wagon along at a good clip. It seems that the horse had balked and when he finally lost his temper, Albert had picked up a heavy wooden box, busted it across the horse's head knocking the horse off his feet. When he regained his feet, he became a most willing puller. It seems that never before had anyone explained the desirability of doing his part so clearly. He made a good horse after that.

Most farms had granaries to store surplus wheat or seed wheat for next year. Mostly they were homemade affairs consisting of a floor and roof with the studs exposed on the walls and flooring nailed to the inside. A single door was located in the middle of the high side of the shed and all grain had to be shoveled through this door. As the grain level rose, then additional planks were placed on the inside across the door until the grain reached the top as closely as practicable. To take the wheat out, the shoveler had to get in the unventilated shed and shovel it out into the wagon. This was one of the hardest jobs I have ever seen on a farm but I have watched young men who apparently could keep swinging that 30 pound shovel by the hour and move enormous amounts of grain.

Cotton farming was hard work from planting to gathering but was a "cash money crop" so nearly every farm raised as much as they could handle. Chopping cotton consisted then as now - in walking down through the field with a sharpened hoe cutting out the weeds that the go-devil or cultivator could not get. It was hot and tiring but did not require so much physical exertion. "Picking cotton" or "pulling bolls" was something else. The picture of the happy blacks putting cotton in baskets as they happily sing was strictly in the school books and I doubt it ever existed in real life.

Cotton pulling was so important that school was dismissed so the kids could go to help out in the fields. We pulled bolls into cotton sacks which were elongated canvas tubes of from 10 to 15 feet in length with a wide strap attached to the open mouth of the sack. You started with an empty sack and every handful you added increased the load you were dragging. With stops from time to time to pack it down - you eventually had about as much as you would drag. Then you would hoist the entire bag on your shoulder and walk to the wagon to be weighed. During the 20's, cotton pulling paid as much as 75 cents to $1.00 per hundred. Sometimes you would hear of outstanding workers that could pull a bale (2,000 lbs.) but that was a rarity. It took a fast man in a particularly good field of cotton - but there were many 900 to 1,000 lb. men. I was never much good and about 350 lbs. would be my take. Most of the blacks in Floydada came in on bumper crop years - would make good money - and, for various reasons, stayed to become permanent residents.

When Mrs. Seattle as a teacher 12 years singers asked friend in town. Others fell some local opp able to move to the Ar Mr. ar and Mn Loui Owen Ethel Fi Mrs. Jess

What was the first crop to be mechanized. The first tractors were steam models usually used by threshing crews. Custom threshing was common due to the cost of threshers and the short usage each year. Some threshing crews were "Independents" that carried their entire crews along with them, had their own cook wagon, and all moved from job to job together. The other kind consisted of a skeleton crew supplemented at each locality by local help from surrounding farms. The ladies gathered at each farm and through cooperative effort fed the hungry harvest hand. The food was great and the appetites were even greater - turning the harvest time into sort of a community get together at each farm. Since each farmwife's reputation was at stake, each tried to out do the others on the food, much to the delight of the diners.

Wheat was cut as it approached ripeness by "headers" which were weird looking contraptions shaped like a big T. The top of the T was the cutter with a reel and sickle blade which were powered from the main "bull wheel" and there was a canvas belt that carried the cut wheat heads up to a conveyor to the "header barges" which were large flat bed wagons with racks on each end to keep the loose heads from spilling off. The heads were stacked in long tall stacks to await the coming thresher crew later.

The power for the header was provided by four horses hitched to double trees which were attached at the bottom of the T - two to each side - making the horses face the actual heading operation. A single wheel at the back of the T with a tiller which could be held between the driver's legs provided steering. The driver both steered and drove the team. Thinking of the precarious position he was in, I wonder if there are many old "header drivers" left today.

The first tractors I remember after the steam engines were the Rumley Oil-Pulls. Later you would see McCormick-Deering, John Deere, Avery, Twin-Cities, E-B's, Fordsons, and Case. I still
