Baseball Tournaments Here Monday-Saturday

Baseball tournaments are scheduled to be played in two simultaneous baseball tournaments Monday through Saturday in Floydada.

City To Present Musical

The City of Floydada will present the musical "Celebrate Life!" in Floydada Wednesday, July 11. The musical will be staged in the Chapel of Floydada's First Baptist Church. It is set to begin at 7 p.m.

"Celebrate Life!" is based on the life of Jesus Christ. Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, the four speaking characters in "Celebrate Life!", share their faith and some of their experiences.

Music for the production was composed by Beryl Red, with book and lyrics by Ragan Courtney.

In their preface to the musical, the writers express a hope "that the music and message of 'Celebrate Life!' will communicate to young and old alike."

The public is invited to the performance. There will be no admission charge.

FLOYD COUNTY the ratio is a doctor for every 1,366 persons in West Texas counties is 1 to 1,366.

Physicians in Texas is well documented. Over 50,000 allied health workers are needed to meet the state's health care needs.

There are no doctors of medicine and no dentists in Floyd County.

A "Medex" plan to train assistant medical assistants to handle minor cases and assist the doctor in the examination room.

The American Medical Association should be a patient than they are now in case of emergency.

More research on just what an RN can and cannot do. Of course I doubt that I'll be able to do it, but there is food for thought in the doctor shortage.

It seems almost as if someone would just take off his back.

A pansy little face, garden and its grace. Talk of friendship to give a lift and reminded.

A wonderful group of people. Maurice and Rose Noblin family.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Noblin. No reason for anyone loafing. . . just call at the Texas Employment Commission for plenty of farm jobs, vegetable plant and others.

RIGHT TO WRITE AN EDITORIAL ABOUT FLYING IN Floydada on Memorial Day and suppose I could write such an editorial since we fly our flag in front of the Hesperian both days. I confess, think I forgot to put it out on "flag flying in the breeze."

Business firms I imagine have flags ready to put on a holiday and no one goes to the place of business to put out the flag.

Service clubs appoint a committee to put out the flag and have a list of all the flags in storage. . . and have a list of all the flags in storage.

an answer to our flag flying problem.

TALE OF WOE. I have troubles, pity the poor editor. Meeting he's being nosy; if he doesn't, he isn't writing an in-depth story, it's too long; if he doesn't, he is a coward.

Advice, he's incompetent; if he doesn't he is a coward. Expresses an opinion, he wants to run the show; backs guts.

other area towns, are scheduled to play in two simultaneous baseball tournaments Monday through Saturday in Floydada.

The Floydada T-Shirt League champion Yankees, an all-star team made up of players from the other four Floydada T-Shirt League teams, and teams from Lockney and Silverton will be the participants in the Floydada Midget League Tournament which starts Monday at 6:30 and ends with the championship game at 8 p.m. Friday.

The Giants, winners of the Floydada Freshman League, a Floydada Freshman League all-star group, two teams from Lockney, and one from Silverton will play in the Floydada Freshman League Tournament, also starting at 6:30 Monday but continuing through Saturday.

Both are double-elimination tournaments.

In the Midget League (ages 8 and 9) tourney, the Floydada All-Stars and Silverton start the action Monday at 6:30, and the Yankees play Lockney at 8:30. Playoff games are scheduled for 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and 8 p.m. Thursday, with the championship game set at 8 p.m. Friday.

In the Freshman League (ages 10-11-12) tournament, the Giants play Lockney #1 at 6:30 Monday, and the Floydada All-Stars play Lockney #2 at 8:30. Silverton drew a first-round bye and meets the All-Stars/Lockney 2 winner at 8:30 Tuesday. The finals start at 7 p.m. Saturday with (depending on the outcome of the game) possibly two games to be played on that day.

Individual trophies will be given to players on the first- and second-place finishing teams, the coach of each winning team will receive an individual trophy, and a sportsmanship trophy will be given.

Ken Weaver is the Midget League tournament chairman, and Carl Armstrong is the Freshman League chairman. Paul Westbrook is the president of the Floydada Baseball Association. Jack Covington is the secretary-treasurer of the organization.

FFA'ers To Attend State Convention

AUSTIN (Spl.) — Eleven members of the Floydada Future Farmers of America Chapter will attend the State FFA convention in Ft. Worth, Texas in the Tarrant County Convention Center, July 11-13, 1973. This convention will be based on the theme "FFA - Unites Youth with opportunities."

Gary Sanders, president of the FFA Chapter, and O. L. Harris and Larry Smith, chapter advisors, will attend the three-day meeting of representatives of over 800 FFA chapters from throughout the state which will include the awarding of advanced degrees, scholarships and awards to outstanding members of the organization.

Becky Bertrand, Gary Nixon, Revis Chandler, David Schwertner, Monty Williams and Billy Fulton will be the voting delegates of the Floydada chapter to the state convention.

Other members attending are Danny Daniels, Penny Bertrand, Joe Womack, Tony Ferguson, Ross Hamilton, Mrs. O. L. Harris, and Mrs. Charles Hamilton.

Guest speakers addressing the FFA Convention will be Bob Richards, All-American Track and Field Star; James Binion, State Board of Education member of Abilene and John Guemple, Assistant Commissioner Occupation Education and Technology, Texas Education Agency, Austin.

Frederick McClure, State FFA President, San Augustine, will be in charge of the convention activities. The convention will open with a Vesper Service on Tuesday night at 7 p.m. in the ballroom of the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas.

Jerry Goolsby, National FFA Student Secretary, Oklahoma, will address the convention.

One of the highlights of the convention will be the awarding of the Lone Star Farmer Degrees to the following members of the Floydada chapter: Danny Daniels, Tony Ferguson, Randy Ward and Jimmy Parker. Joe Womack will receive the State Sheep & Goat Raisers Award.

Among the important business matters to be transacted at the convention will be the election of a state president from ten state officer nominees who have been elected by members in the ten areas of the state. The State Public Speaking Contest will be conducted. Voting delegates to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo., in October will be selected. In addition,

Vacation Church School Starts Monday At Floydada Methodist

Vacation Church School at the Floydada First United Methodist Church will be held July 9-13 from 9 until 11:30 a.m.

The church bus will run the following schedule to pick up children enrolled in the church school: 8:30 — Andrews Elementary School; 8:40 High School; 8:45 — Junior High School; 8:50 Duncan Elementary.

Sunday morning, Sunday School classes will be taught by the VCS teachers. At 10:30 all Sunday School classes will dismiss so that everyone may view the children's work in their rooms.

The children will show their accomplishments at the morning worship service.

City Feels Fuel Shortage

The City of Floydada had its first experience with the fuel shortage last week, according to city manager Bill Feuerbacher, when its gasoline supplier, Continental Oil Company Wholesale, of Floydada delivered only 665 gallons of a 1000-gallon order.

The City takes bids on 20,000 gallons of gasoline annually. Bud Sparks of Continental Oil Wholesale noted that the City's gasoline use is up this year over previous years. Sparks said the City is using gasoline at the rate of 1,000 gallons every week to 10 days.

Sparks told The Hesperian that the fuel shortage is real. "There is a definite shortage," he said, "this is not just a 'trumped-up deal' ". And he said he thought the situation would get worse before it got better.

The fuel shortage has already forced Sparks and Wylie Conoco (Sparks' and Tommy Wylie's retail service station) and several other Floydada stations to shorten their open hours. Several local stations have experienced gasoline outages in the past few months.

Sparks said he was making every effort to keep the City of Floydada vehicles supplied with enough fuel to maintain the City's services.

Floydada Tennis Coach Hired

RAYMOND JONES

Raymond Jones, a 22-year-old graduate of West Texas State University, was hired recently as tennis coach at Floydada.

Jones will coach both boys and girls at Floydada Junior High and Floydada High School, superintendent A. E. Baker said, and teach physical education. His wife Brenda Gail, has been hired as a teacher's aide in the Floydada school system.

Jones is a 1973 WT graduate, and comes highly recommended by WT tennis coach David Kent.

He participated in tennis, football, basketball and track at Lakeview (Texas) High School, where he graduated in 1969. He was born at Milano, Texas.

Crop Payment Checks Received At ASCS Office

Many Floyd County farmers who have certified compliance with the federal farm program will be receiving payments on 1973 crops within a few days. The Floyd County ASCS

Row Crops Good

An elevator by elevator phone poll by the news offices in Lockney and Floydada revealed that Floyd County's grain elevators handled some 2,896,000 bushels of wheat this harvest.

At an estimated $2.40 per bushel price, the total value would be $6,950,400.00 for the county's wheat crop.

Of course, with only about 50 per cent of the crop sold, determining average price is difficult. Some farmers sold at a price of $2.25, some at $2.55 per bushel. . . and it remains to be seen at what price farmers will agree to sell on the other half that is in the elevator and not committed to sell.

The price on Thursday varied from $2.40 to $2.45 per bushel across the county.

Good dry weather conditions brought about little hail damage to the crop and harvesting conditions were excellent.

Many farmers have plowed the wheat stubble, laid off rows and planting the wheat land back to soybeans. Soybean prices are at an all time high.

County Agent Doyle Warren checked the records and found that this year's crop was not a record one. Checking back to 1955, he found that 3,119,000 bushels were harvested in 1961.

ROW CROPS

In the meantime every irrigation well in the county is running night and day in an effort to keep the fast growing rowcrops "cooled off." Cotton is enjoying the hot weather, and feed grains must have plenty of water to maintain the good moisture it has been used to up to now.

VEGETABLE HARVEST

A few Floyd County farmers are involved in the onion harvest and there are good reports about production and price on this harvest.

'Heat Wave' Here

Floydada residents, through Thursday, had sweated through 14 straight days of 90-degree-plus temperature readings. Although the temperature failed to reach the 100-degree mark at the official weather station at Producers Co-op Elevator in Floydada, the thermometer flirted with the century mark nearly every day of the two-week heat wave. It reached 98 on the readings taken for the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. June 28 and 29 and climbed to 99 for the June 30 reading.

The temperature reached 98 again on the Fourth of July, as reflected in the July 5 readings. Lowest temperature during the two-week period was 61 degrees, recorded June 23. Total precipitation in the two weeks was two hundredths of an inch, recorded June 30.

City of Floydada officials reported no outstanding increase in water consumption during the hot spell, possibly because of increased water rates since last summer.

The City doubled water rates in November, 1972, then in May made the decision to reduce residential rates by 40 percent (after the 2,000-gallon minimum) for the summer months of June, July and August. Apparently residents are not watering lawns to the extent that they have in the past, however, as previous summers' water consumption has shown a greater increase during similar "heat waves."

500th Open-Heart Surgery Case Performed At Methodist Hospital

By Celeste Loucks
The heart had stopped beating. Blood circulation was sustained by a heart-lung pump. A monitoring device indicated the arterial blood pressure on a small screen.

Hovering over the patient, two surgeons, assisted by a team of medical technicians, nurses and an anesthesiologist, worked quickly and without fanfare, suturing a segment of blood vessel taken from the patient's left leg, onto his heart.

The patient was Walter H. "Lonnie" White, 57, supply depot clerk for ROTC at Texas Tech university. The surgery was a triple coronary by-pass, marking more than 500 open-heart operations performed by the two physicians at Methodist Hospital since November, 1970.

"FALL BACKWARDS"

As the reporter moved toward the head of the operating table to get a closer look, the circulating nurse, who keeps an eye on the overall operation, warned, "If you feel faint, fall backwards." Calmly conversing, the doctors continued to work, and a nearby technician reminisced about preparations for the first open-heart surgery at Methodist less than two and one-half years ago.

"We had never even seen a by-pass," she said. "We went through the procedure the night before." The doctor explained what the team would be expected to do in detail, down to "what suture he would use."

SLOWLY, CAREFULLY

She said the next day, "We went slowly and carefully. The operation was really over before we knew it."

Since that time, performing an average of four operations, a week, two on Tuesdays and two on Thursdays, the team has had only 14 patients who have not survived, and there have been no operating room deaths.

Pointing out that White had no scar tissue on his heart due to previous heart attacks, one doctor said this and his good condition would reduce operation risks.

Among other things, the doctors offer pre-operation counseling to patients and their families. "We tell them anything they want to know, any questions they ask, in a straightforward manner. Patients who are calm and relaxed do much better than patients who are agitated."

STAY WITH PATIENT

And after the operation, the doctors take turns staying all night in the recovery room with the patient during the most critical period—the first 24 hours.

This one-to-one relationship of doctor to patient they believe is valuable. "I don't think the patient feels he is another package off the assembly line," the surgeon commented.

As they stitched the vein, a nurse with a tiny suction tube "vacuumed" the small amount of blood which occasionally seeped through. This blood was being circulated back into the heart-lung pump.

"We rarely lose any blood in open-heart surgery," the technician explained. "It's not like on TV when they shut off the machine and leave all the blood in the bag," she said with a muffled laugh. "At the end of the operation all the blood is returned to the patient."

Outside the operating room, the patient's wife, Mrs. White, an employee of TIME-DC, waited for the completion of the 2 hour and 45 minute operation.

One June 5, she said her husband suffered what doctors call an angina, or heart attack warning, after he had spent about one and one-half hours spading flower beds in preparation for planting red roses.

"About 5:30 p.m. I called home to tell him I'd work a little late. I could tell by his voice something was the matter."

"He'd already had one attack. He said he guessed it was just indigestion. I went ahead and called the doctor."

The couple's son, Walter H. White, who lives nearby, helped her get White in the car for the trip to the hospital. "They had everything ready and waiting on us when we got to St. Mary's," she said.

At first, the doctor thought it might have been a stomach hernia. "But I was with my father when he had a fatal heart attack, she said. "I knew what was wrong."

Tests verified her fears, and after conferring with physicians, the only avenue was open-heart surgery.

Otherwise, White was told he had up to six months before the blocked artery would cause a massive heart attack.

"What surprised me was the openness of the doctors," she continued. "They tell you exactly what is going on and it keeps you from feeling apprehensive. It has given me confidence to know what to expect."

And Mrs. White said, "During this whole thing, there had to be divine help. It just all fit together. They (the hospital personnel and doctors) all did exactly right. There was no problem anywhere in getting treatment quickly and efficiently."

She said the hospitalization for this operation should last

"only 12 days in all" and by noon today doctors said White should be "sitting up in bed."

"You realize what a thin line there is between life and death," she continued. "One minute you're here, one minute you're gone."

However, she said as a result of the operation they are looking optimistically to his living a longer, a more active

4-H Bicycle Project Stresses Safety

Many bicycle riders are killed or injured each year in accidents involving motor vehicles. Many of these accidents could be avoided with proper guidance and instruction in safe riding practices and rules of the road.

This is one of the main purposes of the 4-H bicycle project, says County Extension Agent Doyle G. Warren. 4-H members enrolled in the bicycle project are learning safety rules and traffic laws and the importance of obeying them. They also work with local police and other safety-minded officials and groups in promoting bicycle safety.

4-H bicycle project members know the answers to the following bicycle safety quiz. Do you? Which of these questions are true and which are false?

1. A bicycle is considered a vehicle and should be ridden on the right-hand side of the street.
2. Bicycle riders should observe and obey all traffic signs, stop signs and signals and other traffic devices.
3. The headlight of a bicycle should be seen from at least 500 feet.

4. When passing a slow-moving car going in the same direction, you should pass to the left.

5. Bike riders should give hand signals when stopping or turning.

6. Cyclists should ride at least three feet away from parked cars.

7. Persons riding bikes are subject to the same traffic laws which govern car drivers.

8. You can drive a bike, but not a car, in either direction on a one-way street.

9. Cyclists have the right-of-way over pedestrians.

10. When riding at night, ride to the left so you can see approaching headlights.

The correct answers are: 1. through 7, true, and 8 through 10, false. Give yourself 10 points for each correct answer. If you scored less than 60 points, perhaps you'd better enroll in the 4-H bicycle project!

For more information on the 4-H bicycle project, contact the county Extension office, adds Warren.

What One Person Can Do

When Austin Durst of Junction, Texas, graduated from high school in 1907, the students were asked to write out their life goals and put them in a box. "Ten years later," she remembered, "they picked me to open the box. I had written, 'I want to be a successful teacher.' That remained my goal until the last day I taught."

That "last day" was only a few years ago. Austin Durst retired at the age of 80, after 63 years teaching the first grade. The principal of the school and the members of the school board had all been taught to read by her. So had well over 3,000 other people-four generations of children-in Junction (pop. 1,500).

"I think I learned more than I taught all those years," she said. "But I have no special wisdom. I was just a first grade teacher, nothing more."

Her words, however, have the ring of wisdom:

"I taught simply because I loved to teach and love the people I taught."

"Success in life doesn't involve cleverness or money or station, but simply involving yourself with others."

"I tried to teach the three R's and also something about truth and honesty and respect for others. A successful teacher does both - at least that's my definition."

"So many children came into my classroom from homes where there was no love. I did my best to let them know there was such a thing as love. There were times when all a child wanted or needed was to sit in my lap a while. I've taught an entire day with a child in my lap. Other times I would wake up at night worrying how to reach this one

Breath Of Life Week Proclaimed

A proclamation officially declaring July 23 Breath of Life Week in Floydada was signed into effect today by Mayor Parnell Powell.

In signing the proclamation, Mayor Powell urged all citizens to support the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation's Breath of Life Campaign, conducted by the North Texas Cystic Fibrosis Chapter on behalf of children who suffer chronic respiratory diseases.

Mrs. Paul Hurley, 1973 chairman of the fund raising drive for the chapter, stressed that parents and prospective parents should become more aware of the symptoms of cystic fibrosis, the most serious lung-damaging disease, and the other diseases affecting children's breathing. "We should all be more informed about the programs of research and care for these youngsters," she said. The full proclamation follows:

1973 PROCLAMATION

Whereas, respiratory diseases represent almost half of the chronic illnesses of children and account for as much as 85 percent of the time spent by pediatricians in treatment, and Whereas, lung-damaging diseases affect more than 6 million children in the United States, and

Whereas, the most tragic respiratory disease in children is cystic fibrosis, an inherited biochemical disorder which occurs in approximately every fifteen hundred births, and

Whereas, at this time there is no control, despite advances in treatment, for this inherited lung disease, and

Whereas, the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation is supporting research to find a control for cystic fibrosis and improved care for all children with lung-damaging diseases, and whereas, the week of July 23rd has been designated as Breath of Life Week in the City of Floydada to enlist public support in the fight against cystic fibrosis and other serious lung diseases in children,

Be It Therefore Resolved, that I, Parnell Powell, acting under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and Laws of this Texas/Floydada hereby proclaim the week of July 23rd as Breath of Life Week and urge the citizens of our community to join with the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation in its humanitarian task.

or that one. But it was worth the worry."

Her reward? "I will go to Heaven and all the pupils I ever taught will be there, all the thousands of them. I will walk through the gates and they will all stand up and say 'Good morning, Miss Aussie.' And I will know them, every one."

afternoon.

I have been asked to remind every one that the Lakeview, Mt. Blanco and Pleasant Hill Reunion will be held the last Sunday in July, meeting at 10 o'clock at the Massie Activity Center on West Georgia St., in Floydada. A basket lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. R.T. Bunch of Lipan came Sunday and brought her mother, Mrs. J.C. Raley back to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Bunch, (another daughter) where she will be for an indefinite time. Mr. and Mrs. R.T. Bunch were dinner guests with the folks here and visited in the afternoon and later returned home to Lipan.

It was nice seeing a former Lakeview resident at church Sunday night, Mrs. Violet Jones who now lives in Plainview. She was visiting her son and family the Wayland Jones of Dougherty.

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dunavant, Verl Miller and Myra Dunavant.

After church Sunday night Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dunavant went to Lockney to visit Mr. and Mrs. B.D. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Watson and M.H. Watson attended the Co-Op Gin meeting at Crosbyton Saturday night. Deanna stayed with her grandmother, Mrs. M.H. Watson, during the time.

Monday morning Mrs. Dean Watson attended the Baptist Young Womens Meeting at the home of Mrs. Jerry Livingston in Floydada.

Mr. and Mrs. Q.D. Williams and Joe attended the 4-H Club Family Night Saturday night on the courthouse square.

Mrs. Q.D. Williams attended a shower honoring Paula Cummings, bride-elect of Robert Pyle, at the home of Mrs. Bill Cagle Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ham-bright of Olton visited Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Ham-bright Sunday afternoon.

After church Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Dean Watson and Deanna went to the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore where they had dinner with them.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlap visited Mr. and Mrs. Dean Watson and Deanna Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Smith and Tal went to Amarillo Saturday where they met Mrs. George Jackson and Tiki. All spent the night at Villa Inn. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Smith brought Tal and Tiki home with them and they came by Canyon and took the grandchildren through the Museum.

Last Thursday night while Tal Jackson was here with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Choise Smith and family took Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Smith and Tal to Lubbock where they all enjoyed supper out. The occasion was A.L. Smith's birthday.

Most farmers are busy hoeing cotton at this time.

Monty Brewer of Lubbock spent Tuesday until Sunday here with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brewer.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brewer took Monty home and all had lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Brewer and Latonya.

Latonya Brewer had her leg cut badly by the explosion of a soft drink bottle and five stitches were required to close the wound.

Mr. and Mrs. H.T. Ayres were also guests at the Ervin Brewers Sunday.

Kelly and Karl Ayres of Lubbock are visiting at the homes of the Henry Brewers and M.H. Watsons this week and helping with the farm work.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Anderson visited Mr. and Mrs. Ted Anderson Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ashton of Floydada visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dunn Sunday afternoon.

Those visiting Mrs. R.F. Hall the past week were, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Hall of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Rawley Jackson and children, Martha, Linda, Wayne and Dale of Las Cruces, N.M. (Jackson is the son of Mrs. Ruby Shoemaker who is staying here with her mother Mrs. Hall). The above named visitors stayed here Saturday until Monday. Others visiting during the week in the home of Mrs. Hall were: Barbara Marshall of Lubbock, Mrs. Earl Crawford, Mrs. Henry Price, Ricky Covington, Earl Bishop, Milton Covington, and Mrs. C.M. Leatherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Hall of Amarillo were Saturday afternoon visitors and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Alexander. Others there for supper were Mr. and Mrs. Rawley Jackson, Martha, Linda, Wayne and Dale of Las Cruces and Mrs. Ruby Shoemaker.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ham-bright of Olton visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Alexander.

Willis Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Buck Hall were Sunday night supper guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brewer visited at Crosbyton Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDougle. They left their grandson Ty Brewer there for his parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brewer to pick up when they came by on their way home from a trip to Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Robison of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Millard Watson visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brew Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Henry Brewer had a call Thursday night from her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Forman of Wichita Falls saying she had been injured in a car wreck and had to have surgery on her leg. Mrs. Forman had just returned home from the hospital where she had been a patient for three weeks - when the accident happened.

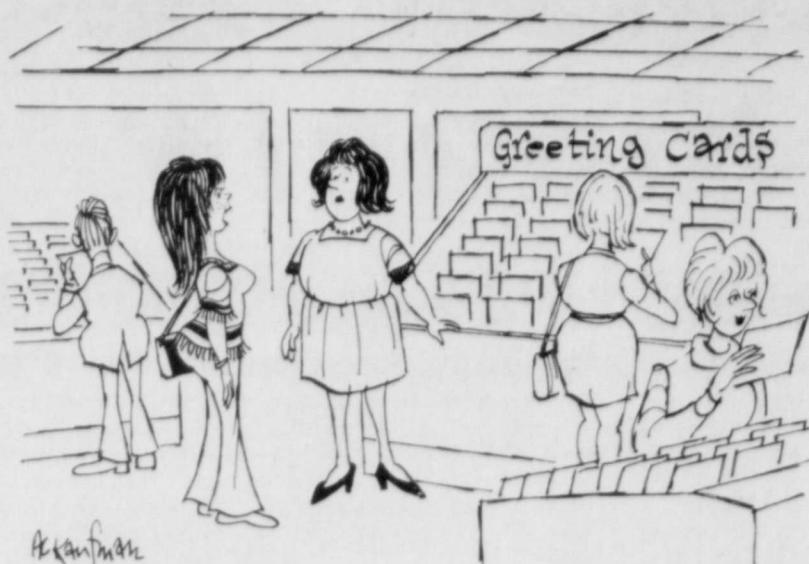

Adams Manager Of Crosbyton Funeral Home

A former Floyd County resident, Allan Adams, was recently named manager of King Funeral Home in Crosbyton.

Adams, 28, is a 1963 graduate of Floydada High School. He and his wife Gail will move to Crosbyton from Ralls in the near future.

Adams, who officially became manager of the Crosbyton funeral home last Sunday, is "recovering well" from injuries suffered in a serious auto accident in May.

Former owners of the Crosbyton mortuary, A.R. and Jerry King, sold the establishment after 28½ years of operation.

"Do you have a card for a boy you're not going steady with but wished you were and who goes steady with someone else but you hope will drop her and ask you for a date next Saturday night?"

SCSA Convention Starts Thursday

Environmentalists across the wide State of Texas plan to attend the annual convention of the Texas Council of the Soil Conservation Society of America July 12-14, 1973. The group will be headquartered at the Koko Inn in Lubbock. The expected attendance is 700 people. The South Plains Chapter is host for the 1973 convention.

Featured speakers during the formal conservation program at the Koko Palace include the keynote address by National SCSA President A. B. Linford and State Representative Billy Clayton. The theme for the convention is Plants-Animals-Man.

There will be golf and bowling tournaments and games for the ladies. The teenagers and ladies have special entertainment and educational programs planned during the formal session. Featured tours will include West Texas Museum and Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University.

The Soil Conservation Society of America is comprised of a large variety of members in several professions. They are a dedicated group of conservationists that are interested in wise use of our natural resources.

FLOYD DATA

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Reed, Michele and Lana have returned home after flying to Phoenix, Ariz. to attend funeral rites for Mrs. Reed's sister, brother-in-law, and niece, who were killed in a recent traffic accident. The other four children of the couple were not injured, and are planning to remain in Phoenix for the time being.

John B. Connelly, Presidential consultant, on leaving White House: "You have some leakers who are fairly accurate in what they have been leaking to you."

Lockney Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lusk had as their guests this past weekend, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jordan of Kerrville, Texas. They, in turn, had a young man sponsored by the Kerrville Lions Club on the International Exchange Program accompanying them. He was Jonas Anderson from Sweden.

Also visiting in the Lusk home were Mr. Lusk's brother Dee Lusk and Nancy Looney, both summer students at Texas Tech University. Also, Mr. Lusk's sister, Marilyn from Ft. Worth. The group journeyed to Canyon to see "Texas" on Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. G.A. McAda and Kim have just returned from a trip to Kermit, Texas where they visited with G.A.'s sister and family, Mrs. Eunice Hager. They went on to El Paso where they were met by Artitia's brother, Alfred Gordon and wife, Clara and returned home with them to Juarez, Mexico. They reported a very enjoyable trip, but found it quite a bit hotter there.

RECIPE

By Sarah Anne Sheridan

The right salad or slaw is a compliment to a meal and often the key to a successful meal. Cabbage is relatively cheap and retains its crispness if properly prepared. Use home cooked or prepared dressings--oil is not recommended. Here are a few basic rules and hints for cabbage combinations.

A salad should fit into meals for flavor, color, texture and food value.

In-season ingredients are budget-wise. Save your exotic, expensive creations for special occasions.

Cabbage Combinations

1. Cabbage, onion, tomatoes, green pepper.
2. Red cabbage, white cabbage, green pepper, onions.
3. Cabbage, carrot, peanuts.
4. Cabbage, cucumber, radish.
5. Cabbage, celery, turnip.
6. Cabbage, apple, raisins.
7. Cabbage, pepper, cottage cheese.

BIBLE VERSE

"All things therefore whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do ye also unto them."

1. Who is the author of this saying.
2. By what name is it known?
3. Of what discourse is it a part?
4. Where may it be found?

Answers to Bible Verse

1. Jesus.
2. The Golden Rule.
3. The Sermon on the Mount.
4. Matthew 7:12.

Lockneyite Makes Honors

Miss Dee Earle Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings of the South Plains community, has been notified by the vice president of Academic Affairs at Texas Women's University in Denton, that she has made an excellent academic record in the second semester, 1972-73. She was accredited with a minimum of 2.3 times as many grade points as hours of credit. Her name has been placed on the semester's Special Honor Roll.

Bridal Shower

Honors

Miss Cummings

A Come-and-stay bridal shower was held in the lovely yard of Mrs. L. T. Wood of the South Plains community June 30 at 7:30 p.m. honoring Miss Paula Cummings, bride-elect of Robert Louis Pyle of Floydada.

The guests from Lockney and South Plains were greeted in the front yard by Mrs. L.T. Wood, Miss Paula Cummings, Robert Pyle, Mrs. Louis Pyle of Floydada, and Mrs. Sterling Cummings.

The guests were registered in the side yard by Mildred Smitherman. Refreshments were served on the patio by Peggy Roberts and Nancy Marble. The table was laid with a blue and white ruffled gingham cloth and held a centerpiece of daisies and blue carnations with white satin streamers and wedding bells. Crystal appointments were used to serve lemonade and a variety of tea cookies.

The gift opening party was held on the patio at 8:30 p.m. Guests were seated as Paula and Robert opened their gifts assisted by Donna Quisenberry at the gift book and Danny Francis at the bow bag.

Special guests were the members of the wedding party, Kay McCarter, Teena Jones, Donna Quisenberry, Janie Pyle, Dee Earle Cummings, Mike Anderson, Mark Sanders, Danny Francis and Zach Cummings. Mike Simpson of Floydada was unable to attend. Registering from Thalia was Mrs. Merle Moore, sister of Mrs. Louis Pyle. Also attending were Mrs. Z. C. Cummings, grandmother of the bride-elect and Mrs. Hilburn Casey, aunt of the honoree, both of Lockney. Sixty-eight guests were registered for the opening party.

Hostesses for the shower were Mmes. Kendis Julian, Doodle Milton, Murray Julian, Travis Young, L. N. Johnson, Glen Wood, Dean Stewart, Keith Marble, Early Pritchett, Don Marble, Walter Wood, Sylvan Kinnibrugh, Jim Roberts, Buck Ford, Philip Smitherman, Frank McClure, Tilman Powell and Mrs. L. T. Association of Broadcasters calls on all of its members to adhere to standards of decency and decorum, Fisher pointed out.

He said, however, that the law and the Code have been looked upon too often as "mere words" that rarely are honored or enforced.

"The American people want action, not words."

"The home is the center of moral training for future generations. It is a hallowed place where parents provide their children with religious and moral values to guide them throughout their lifetime."

"Our survey makes it abundantly clear that a vast number of Americans are determined to defend their homes from invasion by programs that would tend to subvert or destroy the family's religious beliefs and standards," Fisher concluded.

FARM REVIEW

Hub King Named Man Of Year

COLLEGE STATION..... H.L. "Hub" King of Brownfield, a believer in a strong and prosperous American agriculture has been named as "Man of the Year in Texas Agriculture" for 1973 by the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association.

One of six Texans selected for the honor, King was nominated by the county agents in District 2 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The awards are presented annually to outstanding leaders in agriculture and related industries, said Glasscock County Agent Oliver F. Werst, president of the state association. The awards also recognize these leaders' contributions to improving levels of living and economic growth in communities, counties, the state and nation.

King will receive his award during the association's annual meeting, August 5-7, in Austin.

"King's farm has become an off-station demonstration and research center," said Terry County Extension Agent James Foy. "Each year he carries out proved and experimental practices to lower the cost of production and to increase the quality and yield of his crops. His farm has been the subject of many regional and national farm magazine articles as well as an observation point for local and touring agricultural groups."

King owns and operates 1,800 acres of farm and ranch land in Terry and Eastland Counties and is vice president of the Brownfield Swine Producers Association, a 250-sow operation.

King has contributed outstanding leadership and service to agriculture and his community. He was instrumental in organizing South Gin, Inc., an operation which started a complete modernization of the cotton ginning industry in the South Plains.

In 20 years on the State Board of Directors of the Texas Farm Bureau, King has served on and chaired many important committees. As chairman of the Field Crops Committee, he is a major spokesman for American agriculture throughout the South and Southwest. King served as a producer-delegate to the National Cotton Council for eight years and was a member of the Founders Committee of the Cotton Producers Institute (now Cotton, Inc.) He also served on the National Farm Labor Advisory Committee for 12 years.

The District 2 County Agents Association presented King with the Silver Spur Award in 1956 for his contributions to the 4-H program. His wife, Fay Marie, has also received the award. King, his wife and four children have served as 4-H adult leaders, demonstration coaches and workers in all Extension projects. As a youth he was active in the Scranton 4-H Club in Eastland County.

He serves on the Board of Development for Lubbock Christian College and is a member of the Advisory Committee of the Lubbock Childrens Home. He also serves on the State and National Affairs Committee, the Agricultural Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and the Vocational and Technical Education Committee of Texas.

He received the Distinguished Service Award from the Brownfield Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1957.

Following passage June 28 of a "clean" Agricultural Appropriations Bill, the running wrangle over what payment limitation will be applied to farm programs in 1974 and thereafter shifted back to the House, according to Donald Johnson, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

"Had the Senate tacked a $20,000 per person payment limit onto the appropriations bill, as did the House," Johnson said, "the battle as far as this particular issue was concerned would have been over."

The respective Senate and House appropriations bills will now go to conference committee where farm leaders have high hopes the Senate version, without the payment limitation, will prevail.

The House on its money bill not only attached a low-level payment limit but also adopted amendments that would have prohibited sale and lease of acreage allotments from farm to farm and would have blocked the already authorized annual transfer of $10 million from Commodity Credit Corporation to Cotton Incorporated for cotton research and promotion.

The Senate's action is voting an appropriations bill without such amendments, Johnson continued, "doesn't get us out of the woods by any means," but does leave the door open for further efforts toward a more acceptable program.

Soon after the July 4 Congressional recess, probably on July 10 or 11, the House is expected to take up the omnibus farm bill reported from the House Agriculture Committee. The committee bill carries a payment limit of $37,500 per crop per farmer under each of the cotton, feed grain, and wheat sections.

Maintaining this limit level against anti-farm program forces on the House floor is the next big hurdle for agricultural interests.

The Senate on June 8 voted a farm bill limiting total payments under all three programs to $20,000.

"Assuming the no-limit aspect of the Senate appropriations measure is upheld in conference, and if we can pass the farm bill in the House with a limitation higher than the $20,000 per person imposed by the Senate," Johnson reasons, "we will have a fair chance to salvage something in the farm bill conference committee."

There are other differences in the act passed by the Senate and that proposed by the House Agriculture Committee. The "target price" for cotton in the Senate bill is 43 cents per pound, with payments equaling the difference between that price and the average spot market quotations for Strict Low Middling inch-and-a-half cotton during the first five months of the cotton marketing year, August through December.

The House bill as reported by the committee calls for a target price of 38 cents, with payments figured on the difference between 38 cents and the average price paid to farmers for all cotton over a 12 month period. This method of calculating the payment rate was urged on the House committee by PCG.

"The 12 month average price paid to farmers for all qualities of cotton normally comes out about 2 cents a pound below the five month spot market quotations for SLM inch-and-a-half cotton," Johnson explains, "so regardless of what target price is finally settled upon, the farmer's payment under this formula would be about two cents a pound more."

The House committee bill also contains language that would require a higher Commodity Credit Corporation loan for cotton than would the Senate's bill, another feature sought by PCG.

Asked what the final outcome of the farm bill may be, Johnson said "We still have our work cut out for us. The Administration opposes even the 38 cent target price contained in the House committee bill; they are against the higher loan provision, and officials have yet to indicate any strong support for a payment limit higher than the disastrous $20,000 per person passed by the Senate."

So any flat predictions as to the outcome at this point would be foolish."

In addition to the district agents and agent advisors, others accompanying the group will include County Extension Agents and adult 4-H Club leaders from each of the participating counties. These are Bailey, Crosby, Floyd, Hockley, Lubbock, Cochran, Garza, Gaines, Briscoe, Dawson, Hale, Lamb, Lynn, Swisher, Terry, Yocom, and Mitchell.

Farmers Union Criticizes USDA

"It is most unfortunate that the House Agriculture Committee has bowed to pressures from Secretary Butz and the Administration and approved a mediocre farm bill at a time when a good farm program is so necessary to the consumer as well as the farmer," Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco said.

In a statement from the Waco office of the statewide farm organization, the Farmers Union expressed disappointment at the reduced target prices in the House version of the farm bill. The House bill reduces the target price of wheat approximately 20¢ a bushel, takes 20¢ a hundredweight off the price of grain sorghum, and reduces the target

THESE COTTON CHOPPERS were busy early Friday morning on the Bobby McCortright farm north of Lockney. The cotton crop around the Lockney area is looking very good at this point.

Boll Weevil Catches Highest Recorded

Boll weevil catches on the trap line which border the Caprock are the highest they have been for this time of the year since the trap line was set in 1970.

The boll weevil trap line is a series of weevil traps at one mile intervals along 300 miles of the Caprock from Briscoe County to Borden County.

Traps are baited with a synthetic hormone called "pheromone" which attracts boll weevils onto the Caprock.

The trap line has been in service since the beginning of May and 90 weevils had been captured through June 23. This may not sound like many weevils for 300 traps over a two month period, but over the same periods last year the traps had captured only one weevil. In 1970, the trap line had captured no weevils during this period.

EAST PLAINS CATCH

Besides the increase in number of weevils captured being of concern to program officials of the High Plains Boll Weevil Suppression Program, the distribution of the weevil catch has been cause for concern. The majority (better than 50%) of the weevils have been captured in the East Plains area on top of the Caprock around the McAdoo-Dougherty area.

In the past if weevils were detected early in the season, it was usually in this area. However, this year's weevils have been detected on the northern portion of the trap line in Silverton-Cedar Hill area and also on the southern portion around Post, Grassland, and pensinsula in Borden County.

price of cotton by 5¢ per pound. These reductions lower the target prices substantially below the 70 % of parity level in the Senate - passed farm bill.

"The purpose of the farm bill is to provide an incentive for farmers

'REAL BOLL WEEVIL YEAR'

Initially, program officials felt that the increased weevil catch was due to the new formulation of the pheromone and the new container which controls its evaporation. However, with last week's weevil catch bringing our total weevil catch to more than 90-fold over last year and the distribution of catch extending the length of the trap line, program officials now feel that we could be facing a real boll weevil year.

Last year with excellent weather conditions for weevil development and the Boll Weevil Suppression Program hampered by application problems, more potential overwintering weevils were observed to enter overwintering habitat (shinnery trash, etc.) than in the past couple of years. The winter was cold but with more snow than usual; thus, the insulating effect of snow cover may have contributed to the successful hibernation of the weevil.

Officials of the High Plains Boll Weevil Suppression Program feel that we may be facing a real boll weevil year--and with the diapause weevil control slated to begin around September 1, it might not be sufficient to keep weevils from causing economic losses to some producers below the Caprock and to keep the weevils from moving to fields on top.

PROGRAM OFFICIALS ENCOURAGE SPOT TREAT

At a meeting of program officials on Monday, they discussed the situation and suggested that producers in the control zone below the Caprock and above, adjacent to the Caprock, be encouraged to spot treat cotton fields bordering wintering habitat, shinnery and mosquero.

By spot treating a couple of fields which would be into the cotton spot treatments out by the producers, they could lower the overall level of overwintering weevils entering the fields where economic damage is not encountered.

Caprock and the movement onto the fields reduced.

The advantage is to lower the overwintering population of grown squares for oviposition. If overwintering weevils are not encountered, the bollworm problem is reduced.

Mar producers why the Boll Weevil Suppression Program can't do this and the are prohibited from making insecticide application. Other concerns might be the effect applications, as well as bollworm problem.

Officials recommend producers spot treat fields which have a history of reinfection from untreated areas.

They would encourage producers to take this it will aid them their own in-season blem and in diapause program. Producers sult their county agents for material for boll weevil control.

South Plains 4-H'ers To Attend Electric Camp

LUBBOCK-About 110 4-H boys and girls from 17 South Plains counties will be heading for Cloudercroft, N.M. on Monday, July 9, for a fun-filled week of recreation and leadership training in electricity at Scott Able 4-H Camp.

The camp is sponsored annually by Southwestern Public Service Co., according to Billy C. Gunter and Mrs. Catherine B. Crawford, District Extension agents with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service which conducts the 4-H Club program.

Company representatives will give instruction on lighting, house plan wiring, space age cooling and an electrical craft activity. Instructional material presented at these group sessions will be aimed toward developing method demonstrations on electricity and its use.

Organized recreation is scheduled throughout the week and a vesper service will conclude each day's activities.

The planning committee for the electric camp includes the 4-H Councils from Crosby, Garza, Lubbock and Lynn counties.

County Extension Agents Bill Griffin of Lynn County and Dana Feaster of Garza County are serving as agent advisors

Floydada in the twenties... Sunday

By Arthur E. Gamble

Back in the 1920's churches were the social center of the community with the midweek "prayer meeting" still holding its place as social as well as a religious gathering. The old strict beliefs were still being upheld as the proper mode of life and to do something on Sunday was usually justified as the "ox in the ditch." Sometimes you did hear of someone sort of "shoving the ox in the ditch." Even to plow on Sunday was considered to be sinful even though on some years I do seem to remember some wheat being harvested on the Sabbath.

The barber was allowed to be in his shop early on Sunday to give affluent gentlemen their Sunday shave but this activity must cease before Sunday School time. The butcher could open the side door at the market so those customers without refrigeration could pick up the meat for Sunday dinner but to be on the level, the meat must have been purchased the day before and no new purchases could be made on the holy day called the Sabbath. (I found out much later that Sunday did not mean Sabbath all over the world but with no Jewish population in town how were we to know?)

Card playing was out - period. No dominoes on Sunday and even Flinch was debatable. Baseball was frowned on but "Annie Over" was permitted sometimes.

The drug store was the first store to break the no Sunday opening since we all knew that medicine was most necessary. Since they were open on Sunday afternoon, the sale of ice cream was permitted and other items became OK if from the drug store. The picture show started Sunday afternoon matinees but the attendance at such shows drew frowns from our most religious brethren.

However, there was one group who were totally excused from the "no work on Sunday" bans and these lucky souls were wives. They were expected to get the family fed, dressed in their Sunday best and ready for Sunday School. At the same time, they were expected to prepare an enormous Sunday dinner for the noon meal. Not only was enough prepared for the immediate family but for any visitors who could be invited on the spur of the moment. I have been a guest when as many as three families of guests were present. "Going home with" was quite a deal on Sundays with town kids wanting to go home with someone on a farm and the farm kids wanting to be with their friends in town.

Some families were so anti-commercial on Sunday that even the mail was not picked up at the Post Office. However, being from a somewhat liberal group, we did pick up the mail and on Sunday afternoon it was permissible to read the "Star Telegram" which came out from Ft. Worth. It was the leading newspaper in the state to carry any news about West Texas and was dearly beloved by us all. It had colored funny papers on Sunday which included the "Katzenjammer Kids," "Happy Hooligan," "Slim Jim," "Krazy Kat" (complete with Ignatz the mouse who constantly threw bricks at the cat, knocking him silly and eliciting only love in return), and of course "Gasoline Alley" whose characters were allowed to develop and age. "Mutt and Jeff" completed with "Maggie & Jiggs." There was even what I later knew as a magazine section that carried a lengthy story-complete each week of a club of boys who had some highly improbable experiences which were duly recorded by "Seekatary Hawkins." Another little boy oriented column was "Little Benny's Notebook" which I read avidly but to save my life I can't remember anything about it except his description of his mother walking through the living room "pushing crooked things straight and straight things crooked." Since my Mother was always doing that, I could relate to Little Benny.

With so much being forbidden to us, it is no wonder that the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram was a focal point of our Sunday lives. But any old timer in West Texas will only have the highest praise for Amos Carter who proclaimed that Ft. Worth was "Where the West Begins" and that made us a part of it. Bless him for all he tried to do for our country.

I have memories of some Sundays in Floydada in the 1920's but they stand out chiefly because those were the Sundays when we did something. Normally Sunday was the dullest day of the week when the only relief for a small boy was using his new Ingersoll Dollar watch to time how long the prayers lasted and wondering when the pince-nez glasses would slip off the nose of the lady on the front row of the choir. (Incidentally, they never did.)

Sundays-not for me-I started to say "make mine vanilla," but then I remembered that the drug store wasn't open yet. All Rights Reserved

Letter To The Editor

The State of Texas
House of Representatives
Austin, Texas
June 28, 1973

To the Editor:

It is with great pleasure that I take this opportunity to commend Representative Phil Cates for the time which he devoted to the Committee on Agriculture and Livestock during the 63rd Texas Legislature. The honor and pleasure I enjoyed in serving with Phil while I was Chairman of this Committee will always be treasured.

You may be assured that his hard work and dedication will be written into the history of good government as it concerns this past session of the Legislature. I only hope that people throughout this state will be appreciative of the accomplishments and hard work that he and the entire committee have achieved.

I truly hope that the committee has served and will continue to serve agriculture to the best of its ability as we continue into the future in the legislative process.

It has been a pleasure to work with Phil and the other members of the committee in the pursuit of good and beneficial legislation in the agricultural area this past session of the Legislature. Let us hope that we shall be able to work together toward this end for many years to come.

Dear Wendell:

Don't send money - send gas! Travelers Warning from Cool Denver - 99 degrees. We drove 120 miles and checked 19 motels Saturday night before finding a place to stay. We sat in a motel room all day Sunday - No gas in Denver - on Sunday.

Had a beautiful candlelight dinner Sunday night. Filet Mignon (2 oz.) $12.95. In fact one slice of bacon will wrap 6 filets. That was the medium size steak!

All major gas stations closed - only a few independent stations open at odd hours with limits of 5 to 10 gallons.

Happy holidays,

Little Things

Today we are often aware of the power of mass movements and frequently impressed with the fact that there is so little that one person can do to change the course of human history, much less change the tides that influence our own lives in the community in which we live. Too often we conclude that, after all we are only a drop in the bucket and a very insignificant part of mankind. What we do appears to make little difference.

I'm reminded of the preacher who preached on astronomy once each year. Someone asked him why he did this. He replied that he refused to be astronomically intimidated and when he preached on the subject of astronomy it made him realize that he was made a little lower than the angels and was created in the image of God. It made him feel worthwhile in God's sight.

This feeling of being inadequate and insignificant is not altogether new. When Jesus suggested to the disciples that they should feed the hungry multitude, Andrew looked at Jesus with amazement and said, "There is a lad here which hath five barley loaves and two small fishes. But what are they among so many?" The resources seemed so small while the need was so great. Yet we know that Jesus took what was at hand, a little basket of food, and with it He answered the hunger of the crowd. In fact there was more than enough, and some to spare. I think that this has something to say to us today when we become aware of the great needs of the people throughout the world and too often conclude that we are only a "lad" with a few loaves and fishes and, "What are they among so many?"

Against this background let us remind ourselves of the fact that we are important and that what we have can be used, in fact must be used if the needs of a hungry and troubled world are to be met. Also, remember that life is made up of little things — a child's hand, a baby's smile, a night's rest. Some of the best things in life are little things. . . a single ray of light in a dark corner or the song of a bird to bring cheer, or a drop of water which turns into a gentle rain. In geometry there is a rule which is, "the whole is equal to its parts. Another way of saying this is that larger things are made up of little things. Mountains are nothing without the grains of sand and small rocks which make up the whole, nor is the ocean anything without the drops of water which become a part of it. And the years would cease to be without the months, the weeks and days, to say nothing of the fact that each came to be by the ticking off of the clock, one second at a time.

We can see the significance of the tiny day in nature, that is, if we have our eyes open to the wonders in God's world. A pound of honey is made up of 7,000 grains of sugar. To get this honey, a bee must visit 56,000 clover heads, as each contains only one eighth of a grain. Now, a clover head has sixty flower tubes, so the bee must perform the extracting process 3,360,000 times to secure enough sweetness for one pound of honey. So a little makes a lot.

Today, with advance techniques, little things have come into their own in science, especially through the study of micro-biology and sub-atomic particles. The discovery of atomic energy has focused our attention on the importance of the "tiny." Robert Hutchins, of the Atomic Energy Commission, said some time ago that in the face of an energy crisis we could turn to the use of atomic fuel since only 15 pounds, when properly used would provide enough fuel to meet the annual needs of the United States. He went on to say that a single boxcar of atomic fuel would produce enough energy to heat every building, illuminate every electric bulb, and operate every machine in the entire world for a thousand years. If so, it is because somebody took account of the significance of little things.

It is very clear in the Bible that each and every one of us is important to God. Not a sparrow falls to the ground without God's knowledge and He is so aware of each of us that the hairs of our head are numbered. He knows each of us and has a plan for every life.

Truly, it is now, and always has been amazing what the Lord can do with our lives when we give Him all the pieces. In every instance He can take our "little" and out of it make a lot. If it is a common thing, God will glorify it. If it is an ordinary talent, God will magnify it. But if the seed is not planted it will not grow. If the yeast is not put into the dough it will not be leavened. If the light is kept under the bushel or the candle is not lit, it will not shine and darkness will prevail. But remember to be faithful in little things and He will make you ruler over many things. I believe this is what Jesus is asking of us right here and now. So I say, do your best with what you have and give of your best to the Master, now!

Doctor Shortage

JOHN TOWER
THE GREAT paradoxes of the ever-increasing critical health manpower in the most affluent society in the simple fact is that there are physicians, dentists or optometrists to meet our country's health care.

It is conservatively estimated that there is a shortage of 48,000 dentists and over 20,000 optometrists nationwide.

SHORTAGE is especially felt in rural and urban-core areas. Many Texas counties, which normally attract medical professionals, have a lower ratio of dentist to population, one to 2,100, is less favorable than it was 15 years ago. Generally, urban centers have a lower ratio than do rural areas. But there are some shortages, too, in some of the more congested regions.

In Texas alone, there are 42 counties which do not have the services of even one dentist. The total population of these counties exceeds 15,000 persons. There are 90 Texas counties in which the dentist-population ratio is almost double the national average.

THE NATION'S NEED for adequate vision care is just as acute as those for medical and dental care. A recent study found that nearly all school children who fail the first and second grades do so because of reading difficulties, mostly associated with impaired vision. Most of the 700,000 students who drop out of school each year are two or three years behind their age group in reading skills.

While the entire nation has a shortage of optometrists and other vision care specialists, the geographic distribution is even more acute in some regions. In Texas, there are over 65 counties that have no optometrists, and another 165 where shortages exist.

THUS WE FIND shortages in all three of these crucial medical care fields. The legislation which I have introduced in the Senate is specifically designed to attract medical personnel to these shortage areas.

Briefly, the bill proposes that the first $20,000 of the adjusted gross income from sources of their medical practice be tax-exempt for the first taxable year of practice in a recognized shortage area. The incentive would continue for five years on a downward sliding scale. This bill further requires that the health professional practice at least two years in the shortage area.

EXAMPLE of shortages in vision care is found in a recent study in a county region surrounding San Antonio. The study found that this area of 1,000 people has only 83 doctors of all kinds, 78 of them located in the city of San Antonio.

There are no doctors at all in Concho County which have a combined population of nearly 4,000. The report also states that the isolated locations of the smaller towns in West Texas are such that too many people lack access to the services of fortunately, 24 of these counties are located in Texas.

The latest census figures for those counties show a total population of 56,753. In addition, there are 148 counties in Texas that have been designated as physician-shortage areas. Of this latter group, 95 are low-income rural counties. But such urban counties as Hidalgo, the ninth largest in the state, also suffer a shortage.

THE NEED OF these communities for dentists and optometrists in order to provide essential health care is just as great in many instances. For example, fewer than half the people in the country have dental exams or treatment in any given year. The present ratio of dentist to population, one to 2,100, is less favorable than it was 15 years ago. Generally, urban centers have a lower ratio than do rural areas. But there are some shortages, too, in some of the more congested regions.

Spread Of Sorghum Disease Not Likely Stopped By Aphid Control

LUBBOCK - Maize dwarf mosaic virus (MDMV) has begun to show up in sorghum fields across the South Plains. Reports are that some producers are trying to control the spread of MDMV by spraying with insecticide to control the disease carrier, the corn leaf aphid, according to area plant pathologist Dr. Robert Berry of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

MDMV is a severe sorghum disease occurring throughout the midwestern and southern states, said Berry. Symptoms appear on leaves as a chlorotic mottle of light and dark green areas. Malformed heads, reduction in head size, partial sterility, and reddish discoloration of the heads are among late appearing symptoms. Susceptible plants infected early in the season can fail to head. The red leaf symptom is dependent on cool temperatures for a period and is usually associated with damage.

"Reports that spraying aphids is being used to control the spread of the disease are disturbing," exclaimed Berry. "Aphids do spread MDMV virus, but a single aphid could move to a healthy plant and inoculate it with virus in a minute or less. As most producers know, corn leaf aphids feed in the whorl of the plant and no insecticidal application will kill 100 percent of the population. Nothing is to be gained by trying to control the carrier."

The plant pathologist said that the control of MDMV comes from eradication of the alternate hosts of the virus such as Johnsongrass and from the use of tolerant hybrids. He explained that the disease remains alive on underground Johnsongrass rhizomes through the winter while aphids overwinter on small grains and winter grasses. New virus infected shoots of Johnsongrass are produced in the spring and the corn leaf and greenbug aphids transmit the virus to newly planted sorghum and corn crops as well as annual grasses.

Said Berry, "Johnsongrass should be controlled by cultural and chemical means to rid the fields of the virus well before sorghum is planted."

"In addition, producers should consider growing tolerant varieties. No hybrids are resistant to MDMV, but many will tolerate the disease, with little or no effect on their yield."

"Producers can obtain information about tolerant varieties from seed companies, the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, their local county Extension Agent and from local advertisements," he explained. The specialist emphasized that growers should be concerned about their weed control program and the varieties they plant if they are interested in curbing the spread of MDMV, rather than trying to control the disease carrier.

"Aphids should be managed apart from MDMV," Berry added, "since chemical control has no beneficial effect on the disease occurrence. I would encourage producers to check with their county Extension Agent for details about the disease."

County ASCS Office Loses One Staff Member

Floyd County ASCS manager Tom Moore reports that the office in Floydada has lost one member of an eight-member staff as a result of the USDA's dropping of some 3,000 employees from a nationwide network of state and county offices.

The separation of about 2,800 employees from county offices and 200 in state offices became effective June 29. In Texas, 330 employees were cut from a total of 1,000.

The trouble with politics today isn't politics, but calculating men who use politics for their own selfish ends.

Floydada Lions Attend Convention

Floydada Lions Club president Bob Alldredge and Dr. Charles Craig, Floydada Lions tail twister, returned June 29 from the 56th annual Lions International Convention in Miami Beach, Florida.

The Floydada Lions and their families (Mr. and Mrs. Alldredge and daughter Karen, Mr. and Mrs. Craig and son Mark) flew to Miami Beach from Lubbock, leaving Tuesday, June 26.

The convention opened Wednesday morning, June 27, at the Miami Beach Convention Hall. The International Parade, mentioned as a highlight of the convention by Alldredge in his Thursday address to the Floydada Lions, was held along a mile-and-a-half course in Miami Beach that evening.

The Lions were welcomed on the convention's opening day by Florida Governor Reubin Askew and Miami Beach Mayor Charles Hall, and addressed the following day by U.S. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Lions International, with over a million members, is the world's largest service club organization. Founded in 1917 by Melvin Jones, a Chicago insurance man, the movement spread to Canada in 1920 and soon thereafter Lions Clubs were organized in China and Mexico. Today more than 26,500 Clubs are active in 149 countries and geographical areas.

Springs Will Not Be Closed To The Public

HISTORIC Roaring Springs which sold recently to C. L. "Chuck" Siewert, Lubbock capitalist, will not be closed to the public.

The statement was made Tuesday at the Matador Lions Club luncheon by native son Harry Hamilton, now a resident of Lubbock.

Mr. Hamilton said he had talked with Mr. Siewert the previous day and that he had assured him that the pool and recreation ground would be kept open to the public through the summer season.

After the sale of the property there had been apprehension that the lands might be converted to private use, and that the public might be prohibited.

Roaring Springs has long been a recreation spot, before the pool was constructed about 35 years ago.

The springs' recreational site is located on the South Fork of Pease River. Mr. Siewert purchased approximately 3,500 acres of land from the Matador Cattle Co., formerly a part of the original Matador Ranch.

Majoring in Home Economics

SPECIAL - Four scholarships totaling $3,200 are being offered to college home economics majors, according to the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago.

Present or former 4-H members, who are entering their junior year in the fall of 1973 who plan to major in home economics are eligible to apply for these awards.

Provided by The S&H Foundation, Inc., and The West Bend Company, each donor funds two $800 scholarships.

State 4-H leaders and county extension offices can provide the special application forms and advise candidates of closing dates for accepting the forms and supporting materials.

The Cooperative Extension Service, which supervises 4-H programs, selects the winners.

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER

Tangled up with economics
this week

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher Johnson grass farm gets tangled up with economics this week, more or less.

Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a newspaper, an insurance salesman dropped in on a yard while he was trying to out-run his car, many manufacturing plants and world are experimenting with variations of the 4-day work week.

Under the 4-day week, a person works 10-hour days a week, has the other 3 days off. Some firms are going even further, their employees work three 12-hour weeks, and some are toying with the every other week, or in some rare cases other month.

This is a step in the right direction. I'm waiting for is a job you have to do only every other year.

In regard to the 4-day work week, government employees already have been on such a schedule, but now some state has come along with the argument that could get the same amount of work done save money to boot by dropping 2 out of 6 workers and have the remaining 4 work a week.

This is striking at the very heart of the economic system, the government and the Constitution itself.

You may think 4 people can do the work of 6, but that's because you don't understand government. You don't understand the theory of full employment. Why do you men were used to burglarize the White House when 2 could have done the job just as well?

You trying to increase unemployment? Or take the U.S. Senate. If two Senators represent the 15 million or so people in the state of New York, how, under the theory, can you justify having two representatives from the state of South Dakota with only 800,000 people? And both pairs at the salary. You want to cut the Senate half?

You can see where this theory will lead. Let's leave bad enough alone.

Yours
