AFS Student From Australia To Arrive In Floydada Friday

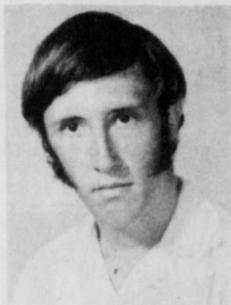

Peter John McGoldrick of Townsville, Queensland, Australia will arrive in Floydada Friday, July 20. Peter is the American Field Service student who will attend Floydada High School and will live with the Lon Davis family for the coming year.

Peter is the 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent John McGoldrick of Townsville and has two brothers: Stephen, age 14, and Ian, age 4, and one 12-year-old sister, Linda. He has just completed a school term at Ignatius Park College and will be classified as a senior in Floydada High School. He plans to attend a university in Australia at a later date.

Peter wrote his Floydada family that he loves any type of outdoor sport and would like to try as many as possible. He especially likes playing football, golf and sailing. He also likes music and plays the guitar. He is school captain and represents his school on the Townsville Youth Council.

He describes himself, his family and his life as follows: "I am the oldest son in an average middle-class, Australian family. My father is the Sales Manager at a local car-yard, he has always been a salesman, and therefore he has the talent of being able to subtly twist the truth to "sell" any of his ideas to you. My mother is just an ordinary housewife, maybe a little disorganized but she does have a lot of us to look after. Stephen, one of my younger brothers — he is fourteen — is very popular with the boys of his age group, probably because he is very big for his age and plays a good game of football. Ian is my other younger brother, he is only three years old but he is already getting into all sorts of trouble. Linda is my only sister — she is twelve — and she can be annoying when she wants to be.

"Another aspect of our family life is the occasional squabble, although it is usually between the younger members. They are mostly about trivial matters, like who is going to watch what on television which is a very common subject for most of our arguments. So I could not say we really disliked each other. We are, or should I say, we seem like a very big family, especially after moving up into a smaller house. On a Monday morning our house is like a crowded railway station, everybody running everywhere and getting nothing done. Which, I think must be a normal occurrence with most families. With Dad's new job he gets a lot more time to spend with the family, which creates a better atmosphere within the family.

"I am attending Ignatious Park College and am doing my 11th year of education. I have found the change in school-work from Sydney to Townsville hard but not impossible. I find the subjects hard — naturally — but it is worth the hard work to get the Higher School Certificate. For the School Certificate I passed all my subjects with advanced passes which was the best I could hope for. My favourite subject is Geography. I like it probably because it is a useful subject, it helps with your daily life. I also like Science which concerns our daily life and is a subject that is always changing and to me this is the exact opposite of boring. The best part of school life is the sports day.

"I play for the schools senior B grade football team. I like playing Rugby League, why I don't know. I also like sailing, to me it is more of a personal sport, like golf, a personal challenge, while rugby involves the team acting as a unit. I started my sailing when a friend of mine invited me along to his club's sailing school and after my first day out on the water I was hooked. It is the most enjoyable sport I have ever tried. Although I have only been sailing for one year I have already won a few trophies. Sailing and Rugby League are the only two sports I am practicing at the moment, but I also like watching other sports and one of them is motor-racing. I get the sense of awe at seeing so much power put to use. Another one of my interests which I would not class as a sport but more of a recreation, is skindiving. To me it supplies the almost perfect escape. Sometimes it's like being in another world.

"I would like to go to the United States because I would like to learn about the United States. I would like to learn what the people are like. Are they all that different from us? I would like to know what it is like to live in a country such as the United States and also I would most of all like a chance to represent my country in an important way, such as this."

Earlier Monday, Lockney had eliminated Silverton from the tournament in a 9-4 contest. Garza pitched for Lockney, McPherson for Silverton.

The final games of the tournament were postponed from last week due to rain. The Giants-All-Stars contest is scheduled for 7 p.m. today (Thursday). If the All-Stars win, a deciding game will be played, probably Friday. The Giants can clinch the tournament title with a victory today.

Beedy struck out 14 and walked seven in the tournament final Tuesday. Gilbert Blanco and Mario Gonzales pitched for Lockney.

The Lockney team made it to the finals with a 4-3 win over the Floydada-All-Stars Monday. Blanco was the Lockney pitcher in the Monday-night contest, and Stephon Hodge pitched for the All-Stars.

of alphabetical listings.

The cover painting features the 25 brands burned into the wood of an oldtime blacksmith shop. The painting, by Dalhart Windberg of Victoria, is an original commissioned by Southwestern Bell specifically for the directory cover. Stevens noted.

Titled, "The Blacksmith Shop", the cover picture does not exist as Windberg painted it. It is a composite of three shops the native Texas artist found still open for business as he traveled across the state doing research for the painting.

Windberg said that he attempted to capture the blacksmith shop on canvas as he visualized it might have been during the days of the early west. The artist was intrigued with the Blacksmith's habit of burning a mark on a door or wall of his shop to test a newly forged branding iron. No painting of a Texas smithy would be complete without the brands, Windberg said of his work.

While many famous Texas cattle brands can be found in the painting, not all could be depicted by the artist. "I chose a few brands still in existence and some that may be recognized by many Texans" Windberg said.

Windberg spent 100 hours researching and painting the scene used for the directory cover. He made more than 50 photographs and sketches of the three blacksmith shops and cattle brand collections before final painting began.

The artist said that while researching the painting he found the blacksmith a vanishing part of the American scene, much like the cowboy after the turn of the century.

He pointed out that legibility of a brand depended greatly on the craftsman forging the iron. Cattlemen jumped at a chance to use the skill of a blacksmith to produce a stamping iron that left a neat, clear mark.

Debt Free Dining-Conference Hall Takes Shape At Baptist Assembly

A debt-free dining-conference building on the grounds of the Plains Baptist Assembly, nine miles south of Floydada in Blanco Canyon, is under construction and hopefully will be completed late this fall. Construction started last September and is being completed as funds are available, according to Parnell Powell, Plains Baptist Assembly treasurer. As the building will be completely paid for as it is built, the completion date depends upon how contributions come in, but Powell said it is hoped that the dining-conference structure will be finished by fall.

The Assembly is used primarily by groups from over 150 churches in the Caprock-Plains Baptist Area (of which Floydada is a member) and the Lubbock Area.

Much labor, large amounts of material and equipment, and cash donations have been contributed to the construction effort by Baptist churches and individuals in the two areas.

Floyd C. Bradley, pastor of the Floydada First Baptist Church, is a trustee on the Plains Baptist Assembly board. Powell is treasurer of the Assembly, E. D. Morgan of Floydada is the camp manager, and Mrs. Morgan serves as secretary.

Strauss Atkinson of Plainview is the Caprock-Plains Area missionary, and Doyle Holmes of Lubbock is the Lubbock Area missionary.

Sheriff's Office Linked With State Teletype System

A teletype machine installed last week at the Floyd County sheriff's office, at the courthouse in Floydada, connects Floyd County law enforcement personnel with a state- and nation-wide communications system.

da and Lockney police, and Texas Department of Public Safety officers stationed in Floydada thus have nearly instantaneous communication with about 300 other stations in Texas and, through a central computer in Austin, with other states and the national crime investigation center in Washington, D.C.

Sheriff Bud Rainey said the installation of the law enforcement teletype system in the office would greatly speed up such things as driver's license and motor vehicle registration checks, and suspected stolen property verification.

For example, Rainey said, the Floyd County office can request a check on a Texas driver's license and receive an answer from the Department of Public Safety in Austin in three seconds or less. A request through Austin, comes back in about ten seconds.

The teletype system allows communication with a single station, any of the regions in the system (the Floyd County station is in the Lubbock region), or all stations in the state-wide system.

Floyd County leases the machine from Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. Floydada has the only such machine (except Lubbock and Plainview) in this area.

Truck Hits Light Pole, Keeps Going

A Lubbock man was stopped near Ralls Saturday afternoon, after the truck he was driving knocked down a light pole at the intersection of Second and Tennessee Streets in Floydada.

Floydada police chief Tom Hopper said the truck knocked down the city light pole and a highway sign, and damaged a car parked in the driveway of the Buck Hickerson residence, 502 South Second Street. The automobile belonged to Mack Hickerson of Floydada. Police estimated damages to the pole, street light, sign, and automobile, at five to six hundred dollars.

Hopper said the Floydada police arrived at about 3:30 p.m. Saturday, shortly after the occurrence, to find "no one there", drove as far as Blanco Canyon but saw no sign of the truck, then radioed the Floyd County sheriff's office, who in turn radioed a description of the truck to officers in Ralls.

The driver, identified as Ramon Moreno of 412 W. Elm, Lubbock, told the Ralls officers he did not know he had hit the pole, Hopper said. He was released after agreeing to pay for damages.

MRS. MARTIN WARREN

Miss Jill Bertrand, Bride Of Martin Warren In July Vows

Miss Jill Bertrand became the bride of Martin Warren in a double ring candlelight ceremony at 7 Saturday evening, July 14, in the First United Methodist Church in Floydada. The Reverend James Tidwell, pastor of the church, performed the vows. Mr. and Mrs. William Bertrand of Floydada are parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warren of Tahoka, are the groom's parents.

While guests were seated by the ushers, Jimmy McCord of Dallas, Danny Stone of Tahoka and Mike Simpson of Floydada, Miss Penny Bertrand played selections on the organ. The pastor then read a scripture from Genesis 2 while Miss Kim Bertrand of Floydada lit an altar candle. He then recited a scripture from the first chapter of Ruth while Miss Rex Anne Jones of Odessa lit a second candle. These two candles, representing the lives of the bride and groom, were then later used during the ceremony by the couple to light the eternal candle.

After Mike Cunningham of Lubbock sang "A Time For Us", the Wedding March was played while the bride was escorted to the altar and given away by her father. She wore a gown of illusion silk bombazine and lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, scalloped neckline and long tapering sleeves caught with self-buttons and ending in a point at her hands. The bouffant skirt, highlighted by lace appliques, fell into a three-tiered chapel train. The gown was purchased by the bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. P. F. Bertrand, for her granddaughters, and the bride is the fourth granddaughter to wear the dress.

For something old, the bride tied the wedding ring belonging to the late Mrs. A. M. Battey, in her bridal bouquet. For something borrowed, she carried a pure linen and lace handkerchief from Ireland which belongs to Mrs. H. M. Thomas. Something new was her bridal veil, and something blue was the traditional blue garter.

The vows were read and Mike Cunningham sang "Twelfth of Never." After lighting the eternal candle, the bride presented the groom's mother with a red rose while the groom gave one to the bride's mother. The "Lord's Prayer" was then sung by the vocalist while the couple knelt before the altar.

Miss Reagan Cagle of Floydada was maid of honor. Bridesmatron was Mrs. Danny Stone of Tahoka, and bridesmaids were Miss Janet Watts of Austin and Miss Suzanne Warren, sister of the groom, of Tahoka. Miss Angie Bertrand, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Feminine attendants were dressed identically, except for color, in empire, floor-length gowns and straw picture hats to match the color of their dress. The various colors worn were yellow, blue, pink and orchid. Attendants carried white straw baskets filled with summer flowers.

The groom's brother, Weldon Warren of Tahoka, served as best man. David Rogers of Lubbock, Doug White of Kilgore, and Rex Hamilton of Wilson were groomsmen. Following the wedding, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall. Misses Jean Campbell, D'Ann Cates, and Nancy Williams, all of Floydada, assisted in serving at the bride's table. The table was laid with a white drawwork cloth over a pink liner. The centerpiece was summer flowers surrounding a crystal hurricane lamp flanked at Miss Duvak is a student in Floydada High School and either side by crystal candle holders. A three-tiered wedding cake graced the table. Banana crush punch was served from a crystal punch bowl.

The groom's table was laid with a cutwork cloth brought from Hong Kong by the groom's father. A brown candle surrounded with greenery was the centerpiece. John Huffaker of Lubbock and Bruce Franklin of Tahoka served German chocolate cake and coffee from a silver service set.

Registering guests were Mrs. Lanny Glascock of Lockney and Mrs. Mike Fillingim of New Home. Special guests from out of town included the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Warren.

For traveling the bride changed to a pink and beige knit dress topped with a multi-colored, pastel waist-length jacket. She wore beige accessories and an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

After a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple will make their home in Lubbock. The bride was graduated from Texas Tech last May. Warren, a member of Saddle Tramps and Block and Bridle, will attend Texas Tech this fall and also farm in Tahoka.

GAS shortages won't bother anyone using PPV (People Powered Vehicle) to get around. Pedals of course is the secret. Energy crisis is not bothering a Southfield, Michigan man. He uses the PPV for fun and exercise as well as utility, and says its great for short trips in the neighborhood, is pollution free and best of all it presents no parking problems, simply upend the 110 pound three wheeler, two seater, and take it indoors with you. No doubt the PPV is already on the market.

SPEAKING of gas shortage, it seems more people are taking to two wheelers, either to save gas or for the exercises. Since bicycling is getting so popular we thought we would pass along to our readers and bicycle enthusiasts as well, new bicycle laws or you may want to pick up a new Texas Drivers Handbook which contains the new laws.

BICYCLE safety and new bicycle laws read as follows: A person riding a bicycle shall not ride other than upon or astride a permanent and regular seat. No bicycle shall be used to carry more persons at one time than the number for which it is designed or equipped. No person riding a bicycle shall attach the same or himself to any vehicle upon the highway. Every person riding a bicycle upon the roadway shall ride as near the RIGHT SIDE of the roadway as practicable, exercising due care when passing a standing vehicle or one proceeding in the same direction. Persons riding bicycles upon the roadway shall not ride more than two abreast except on paths or parts of roadway set aside for the exclusive use of bicycles. Where a usable path for bicycles has been provided adjacent to a roadway, bicycle riders shall use such paths and shall not use roadway.

Rest Home Birthday Party

July heat and birthdays come about this time of year. . . . But we won't mind the outside "temp" while having fun in here!

Mr. Handley at ninety-three. . . . Spends many summer hours in keeping beauty 'round this home.

By tending the lovely flowers. Three score years plus twenty-six. . . . Boasts Mrs. Ethel Long. . . . And though some problems came her way.

She keeps on going strong! Winnie Angus, through the years. Has had a lot of fun. . . . And though she's slowed a bit right now.

She'll soon be "on the run". The birthday song again we'll sing. . . . To cheer these people three. . . . So sing it out with all your might.

And happy let us be! With the reading of the above poem and the singing of the birthday song the July birthday party was well underway, hosted by ladies of the City Park Church of Christ, Thursday, July 12. The "honor" table was laid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of artificial flowers in yellow and orange colors. Individual cards marked places for Mrs. Angus, Mrs. Long and Mr. Handley, all of whom were able to be present. Pictures were made by the Hesperian photographer.

A beautifully decorated birthday cake, in yellow and white and holding three yellow candles, was served with delicious fruit punch to honorees, all residents and employees of the home and guests. You are invited to attend the next party which will be Thursday, August 16, 2:30 p.m. Please come.

FRUGAL CRUMBS: Don't throw away those dry doughnuts or sweet rolls. Blend or grate them into crumbs, mix with sugar, cinnamon and melted butter and use to top fruit kuchen when baking.

wall at left. These are the Diamond Tail, the Letter C and the T.W., the registered brand of the artist's father. In reducing the photograph of the painting to fit the directory cover format, the O Two brand at the extreme left, and the Rucker B brand at the extreme right were omitted even though they appear in the original painting shown above.

A Matador man, Bill Raelz, received first and second degree burns on his hands, arms and face Saturday morning when the house in which he was painting exploded.

The house, located on the W.E. Burleson ranch, approximately 10 miles west and 2 1/2 miles north of Matador, is thought to be the location of the old line camp where two cowboys shot each other back in 1880.

It was not known for sure what caused the explosion, the house did not burn. Raelz was able to get into a pickup and drive the 2 1/2 miles to the highway, where some people from Lubbock found him and brought him to Caprock Hospital in Floydada.

The four room house received considerable damage inside and one wall was bulging and broken loose at the corner following in the explosion.

The freighters had a new wagon shop which they cut in half and buried Harkey in one half and Barbee in the other.

The next May, John Hall, a brother of Jim Hall, went there from San Saba with a coffin. He was accompanied by a brother of Jim Harkey. I saw them dig the bodies up and identified Harkey's. They put him in his coffin nailed it down and hauled him back to San Saba.

Q. What about Barbee? A. Jim Barbee was a son of John Barbee, who lived in Hico, where he had a store and ran cattle. Earlier, Jim and his father had a falling out and Jim, knowing where I was living at this time, asked me for a job. When I left, he was still buried there, but I heard that old man Barbee later sent his outfit and moved him for reburial in Hico.

Q. Was the camp split? A. After this killing I split the camp and we did not camp with the Spur outfit any more. I moved the Jingle Bob camp over to a small spring on the head of Dutchman Creek. This piece of country, I understand, became the property of Mr. H.H. Campbell.

COWBOY SHOOT OUT

Harry H. Campbell in his book "The Early History of Motley County" gives this description of the scene of two cowboys shooting each other in a log cabin that preceded the house that exploded:

Q. Who were Barbee and Harkey, and where did they kill each other?

A. Jim Harkey was working for the Spur Cattle Company and Jim Barbee was working for the Jingle Bob Cattle Company. We might add right here, that the Jingle Bob Cattle on the Pecons were the only ones in the United States known by the mark instead of the brand. The mark was cut so it would flop.

The night of January 1, 1880, these two boys killed each other in the old log cabin at Cottonwood Mott. At the time there were two freighters hauling corn from San Saba to Hall's headquarters on Hall Creek, and they stayed all night at this camp. The boys were getting supper at the time, when Jim Barbee started singing a song, some little cowpuncher's song. Jim Harkey said: "That's a fool song you are singing!" Barbee probably said it was all right. Harkey then said: "No one but a damn fool would sing it!"

Both had six shooters on and they pulled together. Barbee was killed by the first shot. Harkey was shot square through the hip, right through both kidneys and was also killed.

One of the freighters went to the corral and got the first horse he could catch. He rode to the Spur headquarters on what we now call Hall Creek on Pease River. Dick Hudson was ranch foreman at the time. They went down at once with two or three of the hands, and sent a man to my camp (Grapevine Springs on Tongue River) to notify me of the killing. When I got there the next morning about one, they had two graves, dug on the east side of Mott Creek.

Breath Of Life Campaign Begins Monday, July 23

The annual house to house drive of the Breath of Life campaign to combat children's lung diseases will take place July 23, according to Mrs. Paul Hurley, campaign chairman of the North Texas Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation. A number of volunteers will call on local citizens to seek help for the millions of children who suffer from cystic fibrosis and other lung damaging diseases. Contributions to the annual appeal help support patient care through over 100 Cystic Fibrosis Centers across the country, many in teaching hospitals affiliated with leading medical schools. Cystic Fibrosis Centers offer expert diagnosis and treatment for children with the disease as well as those suffering severe asthmas, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis and a condition called "childhood emphysema." Funds are also used for research conducted by scientists throughout the world to find the causes and a cure or more effective control for cystic fibrosis.

The disease is said to strike one in approximately every 1,500 newborns, the result of both parents carrying the recessive gene for cystic fibrosis. It is believed that about 10 million Americans are "carriers" of the gene for Cystic Fibrosis.

Floydada's second annual open tennis tournament kept growing and growing and growing until there were 305 entries who played Friday, Saturday and Sunday. 60 entries were just a small beginning to this year's certainly unexpected big enrollment.

The Floydada Tennis Club, sponsor of the tournament, was hoping for at least 100 this year! In order to take care of the unusually large tournament, officials decided to use Lockney's courts and went to pro-sets on Friday and Saturday, with full matches played in the finals on Sunday.

Early morning showers hampered the beginning on Friday. But local club members cleared the courts and play began around 10:30 a.m.

Floydada was fortunate in having two champions in the tournament. Cary Brown and her partner Janice Hall of Petersburg beat out Wethington and Hochstein of Nazareth 6-3, 6-3 for the girls' high school doubles championship. There were 22 players in this division.

Another Floydada girl, Wendy Tooley, and her partner, Terry Wood of Slaton defeated Dan Hill and Deana Wright of Vernon 7-6, 6-3 for the championship in mixed doubles, in the last match under lights Sunday night. There were 44 players in this division.

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER
Comes Out For Letting Children
Learn Some Things On Their Own T V

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnsongrass farm comes out in defense of children this week, we believe.

Dear editor:
According to an article I read in a newspaper the other night while I was resting from working all day watching the Watergate hearings, the television industry has drawn up a code of ethics for commercials shown on children's programs.

One of the rules forbids ads that "exploit children," that claim that "if children have a certain product they are better or stronger than those without it," unless the claim can be documented.

I don't know much about children's programs, except those the networks put out every night for adults, and I guess children shouldn't be exploited when there're so many adults around to be taken in, but I was just thinking. Children may learn faster than we realize and discovering hokum in childhood may be sound training for adulthood.

For example, there are lots of grownups now who, when they were 8 or 9, scraped up a dime to send off for that advertised marvelous gadget you could put under your tongue and throw your voice. I can still see the ad with the youngster standing there with a smirk on his face while his voice comes out of the ceiling to the amazement of young and old alike.

Nobody ever learned to use the gadget, all anybody could get with it was a distorted sound that fooled nobody, but a lot of youngsters, after they discarded the thing when they couldn't sell it to a friend at a discount, did learn the first step in not being taken in.

Of course, kids shouldn't be exploited, but a kid that has to eat a special kind of breakfast cereal for four years before he catches on he's not any stronger than the kid down the street who eats oat meal, may have a hard time when he grows up catching on to the fact 50 percent of what a candidate says maybe ought to be taken with a grain of salt, any kind of salt, not just the special brand he's seen advertised on television.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Auto Insurance Reductions Ordered

AUSTIN — The State Insurance Board, as predicted, last week said it will order auto insurance reductions averaging 4.3 percent for private cars and totaling at least $25 million.

Even further savings may be allowed under new competitive rating effective September 1, which allows companies to deviate above and below standard rates set by the Board.

However, insurance industry spokesmen warned, other new laws going into effect may drive rates up substantially next year.

Rates cited by the Board do not include, for example, effect of new optional additional coverage for medical expenses and wage losses (up to $2500 for driver and passenger). Actually, the coverage is added automatically unless the car owner rejects it in writing.

Industry officials estimated the $2500 additional "personal injury protection" will cost from $8 to $23 a year, which would exceed the cost of savings on other coverage in the same territories.

Changes in the "guest statute" — which will allow passengers other than members of the driver's family to sue in event of accidental injury — will add at least another five percent to premiums, according to a top industry source.

The new comparative negligence statute will increase property damage liability costs at least 10 percent, estimates the Texas Automobile Insurance Office, which represents companies writing 98 percent of Texas auto coverage.

The guest statute and comparative negligence law changes will not be reflected in premiums ordered into effect August 27, since there is no experience to base calculations on.

Rates vary substantially among 40 rating territories. An average statewide cut of 11.2 percent was ordered last year.

SPD Meeting Slated In Plainview

The economics and utilization of permanent pastures for livestock production will be featured topics of a symposium set for July 20 in Plainview, according to Billy C. Gunter, district Extension agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and coordinator of the event.

The afternoon meeting which begins at 1:45 in the Chamber of Commerce building is sponsored by a task force of the South Plains Development (SPD) program. SPD is a voluntary organization composed of citizens interested in the economic and social growth of the South Plains.

"Today we are faced with a severe shortage of beef in this country, and our rangelands are being used at full capacity," said Gunter. "The necessary expansion of the cattle industry to meet consumer demand for beef must come from the conversion of cropland to livestock production."

"Farmers on the High Plains can respond to this critical need," he added. "There is great potential for increasing economic gains in this area through the utilization of permanent pastures for livestock enterprises."

Speakers on the program include Al Novosad, Extension pasture specialist from College Station, Frank Petr, Extension agronomist at Amarillo, George Warner of Hereford, Chester Jaynes, associate professor of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, and Marvin Sartin, Extension economist, also of Lubbock.

Their topics include cool-season and warm-season perennial grasses for the High Plains, relationships of livestock to forage, utilization of permanent pastures, and investment and returns on permanent pastures.

Dr. James R. Supak, Extension agronomist at Lubbock, will offer concluding remarks. Cooperating in the joint meeting are the Extension Service, the Experiment Station, and Texas A&M University, with county Extension agents in the SPD program area providing leadership.

The fact that I have no knowledge of metals probably accounts for my constant amazement at the art of fencing. The quality of the steel used in time swords must indeed be far beyond common standards, but when strong men strike the edges together with all their weight, it is incredible that sharp edges would remain sharp. Since my only knowledge of fencing has been gained through motion pictures, tricks of the movie-maker may have deceived me. Many facts are not generally understood.

Lockney Split Again This Year

Sept. 22-Nov. 4, 1973, and Jan. 5-20, 1974.

An exception to the winter dates is the Trans-Pecos, where the second season will be Jan. 5-15.

In South Zone counties which have white-winged dove hunting, mourning doves can be shot Sept. 1-2 and Sept. 8-9, along with whitewings.

Hunting hours for both mourning doves and whitewings will be noon to sunset.

These other seasons were set:

- Rails: Sept. 1-Nov. 9, except in the Trans-Pecos, where the season will close Oct. 31.
- Woodcocks: Nov. 17-Jan. 20.
- Wilson's snipe or jacksnipe: Dec. 25-Feb. 28.
- Gallinules: Sept. 1-Nov. 9, except the Trans-Pecos season will end Oct. 31.
- Teal ducks: Sept. 15-23.
- Rails, woodcocks, Wilson's snipe, jacksnipe and gallinules may be hunted legally from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. Teal may be hunted from sunrise to sunset.

He said part of the challenge is the potential shortage of critical resources such as fuel, certain chemicals, and equipment.

"We also are looking at a serious transportation situation," Mr. Maros added. "This could result in delays of several weeks in moving cotton to mills."

He explained that extremely tight cotton inventories are being reflected in rising prices. The need for adequate cotton production is especially important because synthetic fiber production has been hampered by shortages of certain petrochemicals.

Mr. Maros said that similar programs by USDA and the Council during the past two years had enabled the industry to meet the challenges of those years.

"We believe appropriate action and close coordination between industry and government can overcome, or at least reduce, the adverse effect of most of the obstacles during 1973," Mr. Maros said.

Jasper Jernigan, Extension national cotton specialist, Memphis, will serve as Extension coordinator. "He Suntime Protection Important For Foods, Too!

Summertime! The whole world comes alive and heads outdoors.

Babies wear sun hats... blondes and redheads rub lotions into their skin for suntime protection... and dark glasses make the scene, shielding tender eyes from too much sun.

But — what are you doing to protect your food in this special season? It needs extra attention, too!

Follow these simple tips and you won't have to worry about uninvited guests like bacteria ruining your summer fun (spoiled food is as much of a drag as sunburn!) suggests the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Keep foods cold or hot — but not in between. That means keeping them at temperatures lower than 40 degrees or higher than 140 degrees F. At home, storage in your refrigerator or freezer is a must for perishables like meat, poultry or potato salad whenever you're not cooking or serving them.

Going on a picnic? Plenty of ice in your cooler should do the trick. Leave foods in the cooler till you're ready to cook or serve them. And, find a shady spot for that cooler — the ice inside will last longer!

At home or away, start your food preparations with clean hands, clean utensils and a clean work area. Then, be sure to wash with soap and hot water anything that touches raw meat or poultry before you let it come in contact with cooked or ready-to-serve foods. Otherwise, you spread bacteria — which are present on raw meat or poultry, as on almost everything around us — to items that won't be subject to cooking temperatures that kill bacteria.

Admittedly, washing your hands and utensils can be a problem outdoors, especially on picnics... So, you might use something disposable — like wax paper — to protect your hands when you pick up hamburger patties to put them on the grill. Taker along extra forks and spoons for serving so you won't have to re-use the ones you cooked with. And, use a clean plate for those patties when they come off the grill, instead of the one that held them before cooking. Disposable can be handy when you're cooking outdoors.

Clean, cold foods are only part of the recipe for safe summertime eating. Another important ingredient is proper cooking. Ground meat should always be cooked all the way through, and so should poultry and pork products, emphasizes USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

The best way to cook meat, poultry and fish is slowly. Longer cooking over low heat means less shrinkage, more thorough cooking.

Indoors, use an oven temperature of 300-350 degrees F. Outdoors, cook over a low fire instead of a roaring one.
