The ceiling means inevitable withholding by the producer and hoarding by the Dechant noted that by singling out beef alone for the price freeze, the price of other meats such as lamb, pork, or chicken has been driven beyond the traditional price relationship with beef.

"There will be chaos by September 12," Dechant predicted. "Already packing houses are shutting down, workers are being laid off, and there are reports of black marketing as well as wholesalers 'beating the system' by shipping cattle to Canada for

The most important thing for the cattle producer is an orderly marketing plan of buying, feeding, and marketing of cattle," Dechant said. "For your Administration to tamper with that plan by manipulating the market brings brutal financial pressure to the producer.

Likewise, the consumer should be urged to pursue orderly buying. Hoarding will create greater shortage and drive prices higher.

"The result is that the housewife's total food bill is at best unchanged, and there will be no beef on the dinner table,' Dechant said.

SPAG Receives Teletype Money

A $26,476 grant awarded the South Plains Association of Governments today by Governor Dolph Briscoe will be used to continue and expand operation of the South Plains regional law enforcement teletype network.

The money will come from the Criminal Justice Council, which administers the state's block grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act.

The teletype network permits rapid access to computerized information centers at the state and national levels. Eighteen agencies, Floydada and Olton

The derailment of a 98-car Fort Worth & Denver Railway freight Saturday caused 100 feet of the 740-foot tunnel to collapse on three cars.

Fourteen cars were derailed. Thirteen were in the tunnel at the north end of the canyon on Quitaque Creek. Noboy was killed or injured.

"At first there was a little tug, then another little tug and the tunnel collapsed," engineer

Workmen cleared freight J. D. Logan of Childress said. Fort Worth & Denver president Paul Cruikshank said in Fort Worth that damage to the cars totaled around $40,000.

"The whole thing (repairing or opening up the top of the tunnel) will come to substantially less than $1 million," Cruikshank said. "Only three of the cars appear to be in serious condition. That is, they have rock on them.

The Fort Worth & Denver, a division of the Burlington Northern Railroad, has maintained the tunnel since 1928.

The freight was heading east from Lubbock to Corsicana and 50 cars had passed through the tunnel when 14

"I think one of the cars just jumped the track and maybe it hit the guard rails in there and got sideways on the track and caused the other cars to go off," C. J. May, Fort Worth & Denver district supervisor,

MRS. ROBERT DWIGHT HAMMOND (nee Mychele Reed)

Miss Mychele Reed, Bride Of Robert Dwight Hammond

Miss Mychele Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. RayReed of Floydada, became the bride of Robert Dwight Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hammond of Merkel in a ceremony read Saturday evening, August 4, in the First Baptist Church in Floydada. The Rev. Claude Cone of Pampa, cousin of the bride, performed the double ring wedding vows at 7 o'clock. Music selections were presented on the organ by Mrs. Bill Hardin, who accompanied soloist, Michael Dane Coke of Lubbock, also a cousin of the bride. He sang "The Twelfth of Never", and following the vows, which were written by the couple, taken from the Book of Ruth, Coke sang 'Whither Thou Goest."

Large palms of foliage formed a high background for the wedding scene. Spiral candelabras holding an arrangement of yellow glads and mums, flanked by basket arrangements of glads and daisies, completed the setting, Brass hurricane candelabra marked the bridal aisle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length Renaissance gown of candlelight sata-peau accented in peau d'ange lace. A sheer oval yoked bodice featured a high Duchess neckline, edged in tiny ruching and long Juliet sleeves. They were puffed from scalloped brief caps and gathered to lace cuffs also edged in ruching. A panel of lace centered the front of the gown to the hemline, which was also complemented with lace scallops and ruching. The detachable train repeated the lace motif.

She wore an Heirloom mantilla of peau d'ange belonging to the Taylor family of Lubbock, friends of the bridal family. The mantilla was edged in lace scallops and flowed to the length of the bridal train. She carried a cascade bouquet of white sweetheart rosebuds showered with garlands of stephanotis and baby's breath, highlighted by strings of simulated pearls.

For something old the bride wore a pearl necklace belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Lillie Reed of Plainview. Something new was her wedding gown, something borrowed was the mantilla and something blue was the traditional wedding garter.

Mrs. Sheldon Parsons of Spur, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and another sister, Miss Lana Reed, Floydada, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Mark

SPEAKING of vegetables made me think of Mrs. McGuire telling me of her garden she has in England. She named over a number of vegetables she has growing and said she was anxious to get back and see how her tomatoes are doing. She was told they could not be raised there due to the dampness and cool weather, however she said when she left England for her visit in the States, she had green tomatoes on the vines.

A SPOKESMAN at Ponderosa Meat Co., in Floydada said he felt next week would be the start of a critical period for housewives when they go to the meat market and find it

The Ponderosa has been out of meat, across the counter, for two weeks, but it's beginning to arrive slowly now and they say, like all other burchers, they are paying a "terrible" premium. 71.2 Years

Life expectancy in the United States rose to an alltime high in 1972, the National Center for Health Statistics recently reported -71.2 years.

Oddly enough, no breakdown by sex was given in the bureaucrats' annual report, though insurance company records show females outlive males in this country by many years. Thus it would be accurate to say American women can look forward to an average lifespan of something more than 71.2 years.

soft dough stage should be on the lookout for false chinch bugs.
This warning comes from

Dr. Robert McIntyre, area entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Ser-

Within the past few days, infestations in sorghum fields have been reported in Crosby, Lubbock, and Lynn counties, says McIntyre. Heavy infestations of these pests may cause severe damage to sorghum seeds which are in the milk stage of development.

The entomologist explains that the false chinch bug, which belongs to the family of insects, Lygaeidae, is small, not more than 1/6 or 1/5 inch in length, and black gray in color. Host plants are grain sorghum, potatoes, grapes, cruciferous plants, cotton and other cultivated and weed plants.

Says McIntyre, the chinch bugs have infested sorghum fields by migratory flights from wild grasses and other hosts. Sorghum which is in the milk to soft dough stage, is very susceptible, he adds. Greatest damage is caused by the insects sucking the milk from seeds.

Farmers can detect infestations by closely observing their plants, since insects tend to migrate and colonize in large numbers. They are often found only in spots in the field.

The chinch bug overwinters as an adult in any available cover, McIntyre explains. Clumps of grasses are com-monly selected as places of hibernation, and can be found in stubble, hedge rows and other rough areas. In the spring, adults emerge from hibernation and fly to fields of small grain.

In the South Plains, he says, the first generation is produced on weeds and grasses and small grains. A second and partial third generation may be produced on sorghum and other grasses. Thus, the chinch bug has at least two generations per year in the South Plains.

"Chinch bug infestations are not encountered every year in sorghum," says McIntyre. As a result, no research information is available which indicates the number of chinch bugs or the extent of plant damage that can be tolerated before yield losses are encountered.

Kindergarten Special Notice

We are making a special effort to_try to find out the number of kindergarten children we will have for the coming school year and to determine the number of teachers we will need.

All children who will be five years of age on or before this coming September 1 and not yet six years of age will be eligible to attend kindergart-

All parents of kindergarten age children who have not registered your child for kindergarten are urged to please help us and make a special effort to register your child at A.B. Duncan School on Friday, August 3, 1973.

We would also like to urge parents having a four year old child who would be eligible for the four year old migrant program to also register these children on the above date.

Peace would automatically descend upon the earth if every individual and every nation would stop trying to secure unearned advantages.

"Chinch bugs tend to migrate and colonize in large numbers", he explains, "and spot treatment of areas infested is usually justified in hot, dry weather.

Weather has been found to be the most important control factor, the specialist points out. Heavy, beating rains destroy many of the insects, and wet cloudy weather fosters the outbreak of a fungus disease among these McIntyre adds that with the kind of weather prevailing over the South Plains during the past week, the need for treatment could change over a very short period.

If producers anticipate yield losses, several materials have given effective control of the pest, he advises. Malathion and parathion are suggested for false chinch bug control in Texas Agricultural Extension bulletin MP-339, Suggestions for Controlling Insects & Mites on Corn, Sorghums, and Small Grains. This bulletin can be obtained from the local county agricultural Extension agent.

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER

Comes Up With A Plan For New Tax Revenues

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm turns his thoughts this week once more to the plight of the cities. Dear editar:

One of the pleasures of living on this Johnson grass farm out here, aside from the current prospect that the fuel shortage may keep me from doing all the plowing I might not otherwise be able to get out of doing, is studying the plight of the big cities.

As everybody knows, cities just don't have enough money to operate on and are constantly hunting for new sources of tax

One of the new sources now being proposed is a commuter tax. Cities say look, all those people living outside our limits are coming in every day to work, wearing out our streets, using up our electricity and water, being protected by our police, enjoying all our other services, getting paid here and then going back to their suburban homes to spend it. They ought to be taxed for the privilege.

This makes sense, and is to set up tax booths into town and charging e (EVI

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sanders, Shawnda and Brian left early Sunday morning for Portales, N.M., where they attended an Old Settlers and school reunion. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Boteler of Plainview, accompanied them to Portales.

Aug. 2 the Murray Julians returned home from a vacation. They left here July 20, went to Perryton to spend the weekend with their children, Bruce, Janet and Clay Julian. Sunday they all attended church services in Perryton, and enjoyed dinner at the Perryton Country Club. Monday going across state to Dumas they saw miles and miles of the most beautiful corn anywhere, as the rains have been abundant up that way. That night they spent in Raton, N.M., and had supper with friends there. Breakfast was enjoyed in Crmarron Canyon the next morning, and the next few days they were in cool Red River with the temperature dipping to 36 degrees at night. All of New Mexico looked like a green carpet, and at Des Moines. where John Key West from here, has his ranch, the grass is green and luscious. The Julians saw about fifty antelope in different herds around there. The last week was spent in Denver, Colo. where they visited her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Sandusky. They toured all of Denver, Boulder and surrounding country, having no trouble with gas shortages, although nearly all gas stations are closed Sundays. Enroute home they spent some time at the United States Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs. The academy chapel is one of Price Pritchett was in Amarillo on business last Tuesday. His parents, the E. P. Pritchetts, met him there, and let Steve, his brother, go home with him to Chicago for a week. Steve is to fly to Amarillo Sunday, and his parents will meet him. Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham and her sister, Mrs. Edith Magnusson of Amarillo have been to Brookings, S. D. where another sister, Mrs. Larry (Laurel) Larson lives. The brother-in-law, Larry had surgery in Brookings, followed by an infection. He was flown to Rochester, Minn. to the Methodist Hospital where Friday a week ago he was operated on again for a blockage in his stomach area. He has been gravely ill, and still is in critical condition. Mrs. Higginbotham arrived home Monday after spending several weeks with her sister. Mrs. Magnusson returned to her home in Amarillo a week ago. We wish a good recovery for the ill man.

A full 35 percent of our own food dollar today goes for convenience foods - pre-packaged, frozen, pre-mixed, prebaked - everything but pre-digested. Even the butter can be added to frozen vegetables, if you want to buy it that way at it, farmers are in a high-invest- the supermarket. But it costs peas with the butter added.

> And there are a lot of other items besides food that get added to the food bill when you shop a modern supermarket today. Things like soft drinks, razor blades, cigarettes, laundry soap, and separate additives, paper towels, furniture polish, aluminum foil, shampoo, magazines, hand soap, toothpaste, household items and electrical fixtures of all kinds - even beer in some states. It all gets added to your food bill and gets tagged as part of "the high cost of food."

All the foregoing statistics and more - are available from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and they speak for themselves. What they show is simply this:

There can be no doubt that the American farmer is holding well as the cruel barbs from a public that simply doesn't understand him.

vocational programs. Under the new policy, maximum of eight hours of work in an approved training station may be credited for experience secured on the job on Saturday and/or Sunday. The minimum requirement for

Lockney Home Ec Teachers Complete Training

Parenthood education, nutrition, consumerism, career education, family values, and the dignity of the individual are all issues with which today's teachers of vocational homemaking education are intrinsically involved. Mrs. Wilma Adams and Mrs. Janey Rodgers, teachers of vocational homemaking education in the Lockney High School, have completed a week of inservice training exploring new techniques in meeting these challenges. The conference, conducted by the Homemaking Education Staff of the Texas Education Agency, was held in Houston July 30-August 3.

The keynote speaker, Dr.

Gwendolyn A. Newkirk, chairman of the Department of Education and Family Resources, College of Home Economics, University of Nebraska, set the pace with her discussion "Premium Educa- Hi-Test Dealership". Mrs. Mary Allen Jolley, Director of Public Affairs of the American Home Economics Association, Washington, D. C., pinpointed the current significant "Challenges for Homemaking Education" at the Tuesday morning session. A workshop on competencybased instruction, the most dramatic tool on today's education scene designed to insure premium education, featured Dr. Robert Houston, Professor of Education, The University of Houston. Throughout the week, current and effective techniques for teaching consumer education were explored by Dr. Helen M. Thal, Assistant Director, Education Division, Institute of Life Insurance, New York, N.Y. Mrs. Helen Westlake, Elmhurst, Illinois, well-known author of books on Child Development and Family Relationships, conducted outstanding workshops on parenthood education.

Special workshops were held for teachers in job training programs for youth -Home Economics Cooperative Education, Pre-employment Laboratory Programs and Coordinated Vocational-Academic Programs. Separate workshops were provided for teachers of adults and teachers of the handicapped.

The homemaking education program in Texas is ranked as one of the top programs in the nation. According to Mrs. Elizabeth F. Smith, Director of Homemaking Education, Texas Education Agency, the annual inservice training for teachers of homemaking education is of primary importance to the excellence of the program. Nationally known specialists are used as consultants, she added.

A group of home economists from Japan traveled to Texas to attend the meeting and learn about the much heralded inservice training for Texas teachers and how such training may be implemented in Japan.

was the annual Awards Banquet of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association where awards for outstanding service to vocational education were presented to State Senator A. R. "Babe" Schwartz, of Galveston; State Representative R. B. McAlister, of Lubbock; and L. P. Sturgeon, Executive Secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association. Billy W. Spannagel, Director of Vocational Education, Northside Independent School District, San Antonio, was named by the association as the outstanding administrator in the state. Some eighty teachers of homemaking education were presented jewel-studded tenure pins for service to the profession.

M. Arthur Neiman, well knowna and articulate vice president of Scholastic Magazines, New York, N.Y., ended the five-day meeting with a probing discussion of the new roles of men and women in today's family and the responsibility of the home economist to instruct both young men and women in consumer education, money handling. nutrition, family living and parenthood education.

According to Mrs. Vi Sullivan, of Bay City, president of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association, more than 2300 teachers of vocational homemaking attended the conference.

and Mrs. Rodgers at the workshop was Mrs. Emma Frances McClusky of Aiken, who teaches Homemaking at
