Rains At Right Time

By Wendell Tooley

No doubt about it, the big news for Floyd County in 1973 was agriculture. Our farmers experienced record production crops and all time highs in price for the farm products...wheat, cotton, grain sorghum and soybeans. Of course a big part of this good production was reflected in unusually good rainfall before and right after planting time...very little irrigation expenses to get the crops up and growing. Some dryland cotton made two bales to the acre. The other big events month by month are reflected from the headline stories in the 105 editions of the Hesperian in 1973:

Medical Doctor Moving To Floydada

Dr. Pedro Ochoa, medical doctor from Keokuk, Iowa and his family will be moving to Floydada about the middle of January, according to a report from Robert Williams, Caprock Hospital administrator, Friday. Dr. Ochoa visited with the hospital board and other Floydada residents about a month ago when he was here looking at the hospital, clinic and community. He will office in the Cogdell Memorial Clinic. His wife is a native of West New York state, he is a native of Mexico City, Mexico.

The Ochoas have two small children. A complete biographical sketch and picture of the new doctor will appear in the Hesperian soon.

The Goal For 1974

"You never know until you try"...is an often heard bit of philosophy, and although our community doesn't always achieve the goals set each year, at least we are making efforts. This community is just chuk full of good progressive people, who usually achieve their goals...they are responsive to challenges, and don't mind working for the growth and progress of this community and trade area. The Hesperian pledges its best efforts to work for and with out people to accomplish the following goals for 1974:

1. Fill some vacant buildings around the square with businesses.
2. Centralized law enforcement for our county.
3. More home building in Floydada. Although a few new homes were built in 1973, we need more in 1974. We need a few furnished duplexes also.
4. More culture in our community that should start in the Floydada High School. Two teachers should be given bonuses (just like coaches are given) to teach art and music. We feel this is a real weakness in our school and community.
5. Removal of pieces of old autos, appliances, old shacks from both downtown and residential areas. 6. A continued effort by Floydada merchants to give better service, good value for the money with a goal of maintaining an outstanding shopping center that will secure a good business climate as the merchants work together to encourage people to shop Floydada. This one we will have to add to our 1974 goals...there are far too many people shopping other cities, that should be trading at home. 7. A bigger and better Floyd County Hesperian each Thursday and Sunday of 1974 (You, the reader, must judge this goal...but we'll add it to our 1974 goals.)

8. We feel the Floydada community can accomplish about anything its people want to do and a cooperative spirit by both the city council and county commissioners court is the first step. We will work with both groups, especially if they will work together. 9. We continue to pledge our best efforts to help Floydada churches and schools to serve the people of this community. This newspaper calls upon you to submit the goals you desire for this community in 1974. Write us a letter, or give us a call.

Marathon Planned By Baptist Youth

The high school youth of Floydada's First Baptist Church have made plans for a "marathon party" to take place on New Year's Eve. It will begin at 9:00 that evening with a hayride from the church down to Plains Baptist Assembly.

A variety of activities has been planned to last all night and end with breakfast early New Year's Day morning. A "Midnight Special" program will be featured right after a spectacular fireworks display welcomes the new year.

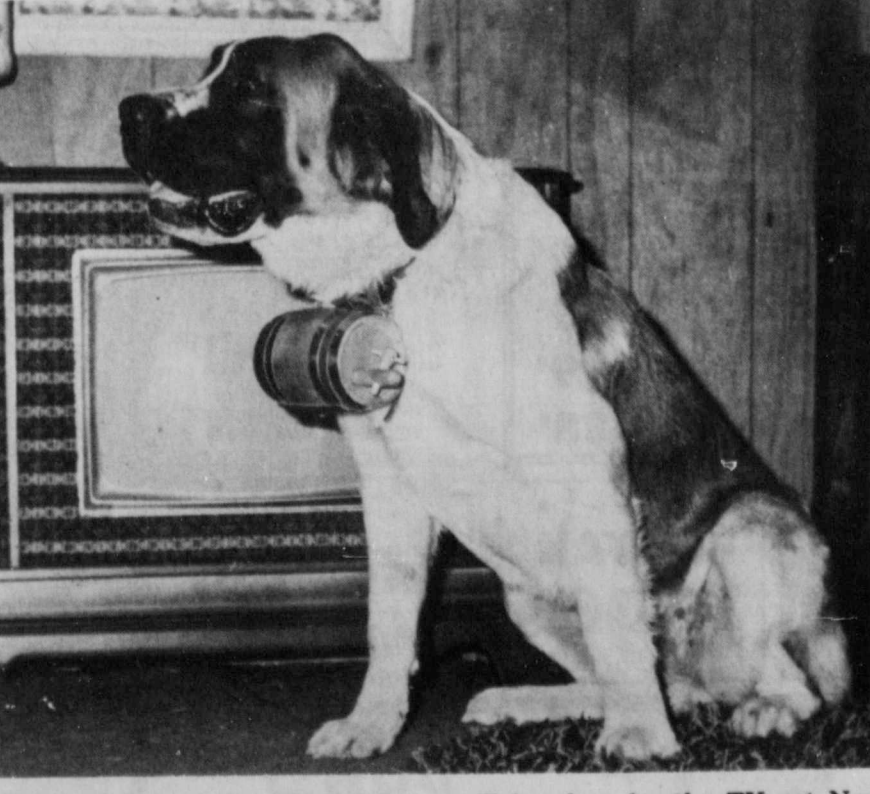

Other activities include a "Movie Marathon," a football game, and a special program centered around a huge bonfire. A hayride back to Floydada will top off the special night.

Who Will Be First Baby Born In County

The doctors and nurses of Floyd County's two hospitals are reminded to call either the Lockney Beacon Office or the Floyd County Hesperian Office on the occasion of the first baby born in a Floyd County hospital of Floyd County parents.

A free year's subscription to either the Lockney Beacon or Floyd County Hesperian will be given the parents of the first baby and a picture of mother and baby will appear in the newspaper.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

EVERYBODY AND HIS DOG... will be close by the TV set New Year's Day, Tuesday, (it says here) for a full day of football bowl games. But not everybody will have the advantages that Patches, here, has. The 150-pound St. Bernard has the last word about what bowl games the Don Daniel family watches, and she doesn't even have to hurry to the kitchen during commercials for refreshments—she has her own keg, you see. (A "football widow" suggested we caption this shot "Please rescue us from all these bowl games," but we nixed the idea.) (Staff Photo by Jim Huggins)

SPS To Invest $266 Million In New Equipment

More than $266,000,000 will be invested in new equipment and improvements during the next five years by Southwestern Public Service Company. Roy Tolk, chairman and president of the electric company, announced today.

New generating facilities to be installed during the 5-year period will increase the capability of the system by almost 1-million kilowatts, bringing the total capability to approximately 3-million kilowatts.

One of the new generating stations included in this 5-year program is the addition to the Nichols Plant, northeast of Amarillo. Construction has just recently started and completion is scheduled for June of 1976. It will have a capability of 350,000 kilowatts and will use coal as its primary fuel. Long-term contracts with the Atlantic Richfield Company have been negotiated for low-sulphur coal from Wyoming, thus assuring an entirely adequate supply of this fuel.

Scheduled for completion in mid-1974 is 256,000 kilowatt unit at Jones Station near Lubbock. This will bring the total capability of this plant to 512,000 kilowatts and it will become the largest of Southwestern's 10 interconnected generating stations.

"In the latter part of the 5-year period, projections call for another coal-fired generating unit to be built, probably in the north part of the company's service area. It will be in the 350-450 thousand kilowatt range, depending on the load requirements at that time," Tolk said.

"In order to assure a clean environment when using coal as the primary fuel, it is necessary to spend an additional 30-percent of the cost of the unit for equipment to prevent objectionable products of combustion from reaching the atmosphere. The installation of both electrostatic precipitators and stack gas scrubbers will insure that we equal or exceed applicable stack gas emission standards," Tolk said.

"Southwestern's peak load for 1973 was 1,758,000 kilowatts and that is expected to climb to 2,392,000 kilowatts by 1978. The addition of these new generating facilities will more than take care of that increase," Tolk added.

Conservation of the area's water supply will continue to be a prime consideration at Southwestern Public Service Company's electric generating stations. When the two units now under construction are completed, they will save, on the average day, 14,000,000 gallons of potable water through the use of sewage effluent. That's the equipment of the daily water needs of a city of 100,000 people.

Another important construction project that is a part of the 5-year program and currently underway, is a 230,000 volt transmission line from the Tuco interchange, north of Abernathy, to Nichols Station, northeast of Amarillo. This new line will provide a second 230,000 volt line for the interconnected transmission system and make the movement of power between major generating stations and the areas of greatest use more efficient, reliable and economical. This project is also scheduled for completion in mid-1974.

Looking toward the future, Southwestern Public Service Company is continuing its efforts to help make the generation of electricity by nuclear fusion a reality through its membership in the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation. Also, the company is actively engaged in an experimental project with the Occidental Petroleum Corporation to produce oil from shale by in situ combustion. The test project 30 miles west of Rifle, Colorado has succeeded in creating permeability in the formation and thus obtaining an oil flow.

"We at Southwestern Public Service Company have great confidence in the future of our country in spite of the problems we are facing at the present time. Our area is growing and the new industrial announcements made during 1973 are of great significance. We have always planned for the future in order to meet our customers' needs. We are still planning - and we intend to see that our customers

FLOYDADA HIGH SCHOOL

Quarter Grading System Liked

(From The Whirl)

Results from a poll conducted recently at Floydada High School indicate most FHS students and teachers favor many aspects of the new quarter grading system.

According to students, the best-liked aspect of the program is the elimination of examinations just before Christmas.

Another plus for the program is the possibility of more variety in course selection. 85.7% of the students also felt the examinations were less difficult since most covered less material because of the shorter grading period.

Students also liked the program because they now have equal time with each English teacher, instead of spending a semester with one and nine weeks with each of the others.

Not getting time off during semester examinations is the biggest drawback of the program, according to the students.

Teachers liked many aspects of the program. 92% favored equal time with English teachers; 89% liked the possibility of greater course variety; 89% liked the fact that examinations covered less material.

Unlike students, the teachers did not want the special schedule for examinations. 70.6% said they preferred not having special examination schedules.

The teacher felt the worst part of the program was the increased record-keeping. Report cards must go out six instead of four times yearly.

According to Mrs. Leonard Matsler, school secretary, "The quarter system has increased the amount of record keeping and paper work in the office tremendously. In addition to having to type class rolls every six weeks, all transcripts had to be redesigned."

Principal Charles Tyer feels the biggest plus for the program is the possibility of more variety in the curriculum. "The biggest minus, however, is the difficulty of getting the qualified personnel and facilities to broaden the curriculum," Mr. Tyer added.

Dale Kincer's Brother Hurt

Denny Kincer, stationed at Tyndall Air Force Base in Florida, and in this area to visit relatives, was seriously injured Christmas Eve in an accident in Slaton. Kincer, brother of Dale Kincer of Floydada and son of Mr. and Mrs. L.T. Kincer of Slaton, is reported to be in fair condition in Lubbock Methodist Hospital with severe leg and body injuries. The Floydada brother said Denny was about to enter his 1974 Pontiac parked in downtown Slaton and occupied by his wife and child, when the "unusual" accident took place. Reports given were that a pickup which had been parked across the street in the center section went into reverse and smashed Kincer against his car. His wife and child escaped injury. Officer reported that a man was making adjustments under the hood of the pick-up owned by another man and a youngster inside the pickup apparently put the gear in reverse accidentally, causing it to leap backwards, ramming the Kincer car and another vehicle parked nearby.

What One Person Can Do

Joseph Dunay, Weaver

A couple of years ago, Joseph Dunay, a Brooklyn weaver in his late fifties, had to quit his job because of eye trouble. Hundreds of prisoners in New York jails have reason to be grateful for the change.

For years, Mr. Dunay had already been dedicating his free time to prisoners, visiting them, distributing books, magazines, newspapers, dictionaries and playing cards. Being out of work, he made it a full-time occupation. Recently, Mr. Dunay's voluntary service became a job - with a group called Laymen Prison Counselors, which works in cooperation with the city's department of corrections.

"He's a godsend," said one patrolman. "He's the best man there ever is going," added an inmate. In one jail, when the kitchen radio stopped working, Mr. Dunay gave the prisoners his own radio. When the warden showed distress at the volunteer's generosity, Joseph Dunay replied: "I'm only one person, warden. This radio can be enjoyed by 50 or 60 persons."

Mr. Dunay credits his start as a prison volunteer to the encouragement of an assistant district attorney who told him of the desperate condition of prison inmates. He gained inspiration from two pioneers in social reform: Lillian Wald of the Henry Street Settlement in New York and Jane Addams of Hull House in Chicago.

Joseph Dunay could have felt sorry for himself when his eyesight failed. Instead, he kept on bringing a bit of warmth into the lives of prisoners.

One convict told Joseph Dunay, "Should be a couple more like you, Joe." Each of us can, with God's help, see to it that there are a "couple more" like Joseph Dunay. Will we?

White Says Feeders Face Loss

AUSTIN--Despite government reports which indicate the contrary, the Texas cattle feeding industry is in serious financial difficulty, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said recently.

"Even though fed cattle prices are above historical averages, the cattle feeder is losing as much as $100 per head," White said. This decrease is an aftermath of the government price freeze earlier this year, he said. "The phase-outs we all had to endure this year from the administration are all but now phasing out the feedlot operator," White said.

"In Texas, cattle prices have plunged from highs of around 60 cents per pound to less than 40 cents since last August. Beef cattle prices have dropped three cents a pound during the past month," he said.

Texas is the nation's number one cattle feeding state in the nation. About five million head of cattle are expected to be fed out in Texas feedlots this year. Yet because of the unprofitable situation, consumers can expect prospects of sharply reduced beef supplies as early as the first four months of 1974, White said.

Despite supplies, White said his marketing division will continue its efforts to promote beef in the months ahead. "Beef prices will stabilize later if the government doesn't tamper with the prices. The price per pound is still a bargain for the best beef in the nation."

Deficit To Mean Higher Food Prices?

Higher food prices will occur because of a deficit in agricultural production. The deficit is the result of a combination of factors, including a decrease in the number of acres planted and a decrease in the yield per acre.

White noted that farmers in the Rio Grande Valley will begin planting in February. "They as well as all of our nation's farmers need to know how much fuel they can expect next year to produce food and fiber. I don't like rationing any better than anyone else, but it's a matter of putting priorities first. We all like to eat. "Farmers are now trying to make production plans for 1974. They are at a standstill in their decision until they know from someone on high in Washington just how much they can expect in the way of fuel as well as fertilizer for next year."

COTTON ESTIMATE UP DESPITE RAIN

AUSTIN--From South Texas to the High Plains, the story of cotton this year is rain, high winds, and early-season hail, but despite it all, Texas is expected to produce a record crop, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has reported.

Present estimates place the state total for this season at 4,800,000 bales of Upland cotton and 29,200 bales of American Pima from West Texas, the largest crop since 1949.

COTTON TALKS

From Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

...cotton year on the High Plains, in retrospect, has been a "once in a lifetime" year. The moisture which played havoc with the harvest of 1972 (2,242,850 bales of 480 pounds net weight) left the moisture content that proved a Godsend for 1973. Most dry land areas got timely rains for some 90 percent or more of the entire crop was ground during the optimum planting period of May 20. And it came up growing.

...time and July, when it is almost an unwritten law that acres or more of cotton will be lost to hail and Plains, good fortune continued. Less cotton was planted in these two months of 1973 than any other time. Firm acreage figures won't be available for some months, but of an estimated 2,750,000 acres something over 2,700,000 acres remained for harvest.

...provided the only departure from a season-long drought. In August the crop needed more moisture than it had. And even that situation was relieved to prevent drastic damage, generally speaking, to the crop.

...the Fall. It didn't freeze officially until late October, making the 1974 growing season one of the longest on record, which provided one of the most mature, if not the most mature crops ever produced on the Plains. A measurement of maturity, on the first harvest, averaged 4.26 according to the first seasonal report of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. It is now estimated that the entire crop will average well over a record average micronaire of 3.7 established in 1969 and 1970. Grades, too, have been very good, with over 78 percent classed as white.

...November and December (to date), could not be better for the harvest -- dry, cool but not too dry, a few days of high winds. Probably 80 or 85 percent of the 2,725,000 bales projected for PCG's 25th year off the stalk as of December 21. About 10,000 bales had gone through USDA Classing Offices at Brownfield, Levelland, and Lamesa, there's a goodly bale carryover at the four offices, maybe 100,000 bales "in the pipeline" between gins, compresses and elevators, and a wild guess at the amount of cotton in storage to be ginned over the Plains would be around 1,000,000 bales. In the unlikely event that all these guesses are correct, the total harvested by December 21 would come to about 1,725,000 bales.

...all going to be worth? A cool $750 million or more for the farm level. That value estimates the average price for lint and $100 a ton for seed. A contract for the crop was contracted for sale prior to harvest, at a price as high as 70 percent at prices ranging from about 24 to 30 cents a pound all the way up to 70 cents and better. The contracts were written at almost every price level. So the 40 cent average for the Plains may or may not be high enough. Either way, three quarters of a year's crop for a single crop on the Plains is really a record -- at least $300 million above the value of any other year since farmers had excellent underground water and almost perfect planting and growing season, a clear ideal harvesting weather, and then sold for a record price.

...before, say the old timers. It's a very, very Merry Christmas.

Better keep dreams to yourself, pal!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been happily married to a beautiful girl for over a year. She used to work at the same office with me, but she quit a few months ago.

There is this guy at the office who has been telling me every morning lately about his love dreams. And who do you think he's been dreaming about? MY wife!

I know you can't blame a guy for what he dreams, but it bugs me to know that he has been making love to my wife in his dreams.

I hate to get rough with him because he doesn't know how much it bugs me, but how do I tell him? BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: In plain language, like this: "Look, friend, I can't stop you from dreaming about my wife, but if your dreams are getting better all the time, I'd rather not hear about it!"

DEAR READERS: I would like to share something with you that strikes me as 9 simple common sense rules. Let's call them, New Year's Resolutions:

"Just for today I will try to live thru this day only, and not tackle my whole life problem at once. I can do something for 12 hours that would appall me if I felt that I had to keep it up for a lifetime.

"Just for today I will be happy. This assumes to be true what Abraham Lincoln said, that 'Most folks are as happy as they make up their minds to be.'

"Just for today I will adjust myself to what is, and not try to adjust everything to my own desires. I will take my 'luck' as it comes, and fit myself to it.

"Just for today I will try to strengthen my mind. I will study. I will learn something useful. I will not be a mental loafer. I will read something that requires effort, thought and concentration.

"Just for today I will exercise my soul in three ways: I will do somebody a good turn, and not get found out; if anybody knows of it, it will not count. I will do at least two things I don't want to do—just for exercise. I will not show anyone that my feelings are hurt; they may be hurt, but today I will not show it.

"Just for today I will be agreeable. I will look as well as I can, dress becomingly, talk low, act courteously, criticize not one bit, not find fault with anything and not try to improve or regulate anybody except myself.

"Just for today I will have a program. I may not follow it exactly, but I will have it. I will save myself from two pests; hurry and indecision.

"Just for today I will have a quiet half hour all by myself, and relax. During this half hour, some time, I will try to get a better perspective of my life.

"Just for today I will be unafraid. Especially I will not be afraid to enjoy what is beautiful, and to believe that as I give to the world, so the world will give to me."

And that is the credo for Overeaters Anonymous. It makes sense, doesn't it? And so does their program. It's free. For information about this wonderful organization, write to Box 2613, Hollywood, Cal. 90028.

P.S. Have a happy, healthy New Year. And pray for peace!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

New Brucellosis Regulations Set

The new brucellosis regulations (Proclamation of the Texas Animal Health Commission #AHC-1) were adopted unanimously by the Texas Animal Health Commission at an official Commission meeting in Laredo, Texas, on October 15, 1973. These new regulations will bring the Texas Brucellosis Program into compliance with the National Uniform Methods and Rules which are considered minimum standards.

In brief this regulation requires that all breeding cattle two (2) years of age and over that change ownership are required to be brucellosis tested. Breeding

M. Dwayne Grimes Minister

We look at the claim that Jesus is Christ and see that God interrupts the world to put it back on schedule. We always seem to wear out time. One poster says: "Nostalgia isn't what it used to be." We so often have the feeling that time is going downhill. How many people talk about the "Good old days"? And how many people really aren't able to get excited about either the present or future? It's always interesting to look at pictures of the family, especially if they cover about ten years. We're always surprised to see how much fun we were having back then. Unfortunately we often didn't realize it at the time. One of the eastern sages defined the present as that which happens unnoticed while we're lamenting the past and waiting for the future.

Such an attitude has its effects on the way we live. If we long for the America that once was, we can be missing the surging, growing America that is. And more importantly the longing can be an escape from being our part of the America that needs us right now. We can too easily spend our youth waiting for the future, our middle age longing for the past, and our senior years wishing we were middle age again.

Jesus came as the Christ, and the word Christ can mean "on schedule". He appeared because God's time was moving. At just the right time a young woman became pregnant. She had her baby at exactly the right moment in the world's history. This was the Christ, the one designated from the beginning of time to appear at this moment. The year for Christ's birth was a very big year for the world because in it Christ appeared. Unfortunately most of God's people missed it. One reason they did was that they were still looking back to their golden years in the Promised Land or sitting on their hands waiting for God to do something dramatic in the future. They missed the present, and that was when God was acting.

"Due to a lack of interest, tomorrow has been canceled," a TV show quips. Contrast that with: "This is the day the Lord has made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." Or with: "Behold, now is the acceptable time, now is the day of salvation." Which do you think if more appropriate to this season? This is a big year in the world's history too. It's the place where you and I belong. Right now God is working out the world's salvation, and we're part of it. Jesus appeared as the Christ, putting everything right on schedule. He makes today the very best time for us to be alive.

They're itching to get their complaint across

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I recently returned from a trip. I traveled for one day on a bus and returned by jet.

I wasn't back two days when my husband and I discovered that we both had body lice. That's right! This was embarrassing for my husband and myself as we are clean people. My point is this: I would like to let the public know of the health dangers involved in public transportation. I realize there could be other factors involved, but they are negative in our books.

I'd like to make a complaint, but have no idea who to contact. We are concerned with the health of other people as well as our own. Can you help us?

ITCHING IN CONNECTICUT

DEAR ITCHING: Your complaints should be made to the passenger service departments of the airline and bus company on which you traveled.

DEAR ABBY: I was married for the first time at 20. It lasted just two years. [No children, fortunately.]

Now I am 25, and am engaged to be married again. My parents are in rather modest circumstances, and I cannot ask them to give me another wedding since they spent much more than they really could afford on my first wedding.

The problem is that my fiance would like to have a wedding that he will "remember." He wants all his friends, and of course his family, which is a large one. I have explained why this wedding will have to be small and rather modest, and he understood, but he wasn't happy about it. Now he came up with the suggestion that he put on the wedding and foot the bill. He can afford it. But what will people say? They know my parents can't afford it.

BLUE BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: The important issue is not what people will say, it's what will make you and your fiance happy. If he wants to have a memorable wedding and can afford to foot the bills, I see no reason why he shouldn't.

DEAR ABBY: At the risk of perpetuating the "Living Will" controversy, may I add my two cents worth?

As a nurse, I have seen many elderly terminally ill patients become artificially-breathing vegetables. Some pray for death, others refuse nourishment in order to hasten their end, some cry softly, some become bitter, and some just wait with resignation.

To allow human beings to die with dignity is not "mercy killing." When death is imminent, a patient should be kept as comfortable and pain-free as possible, but these patients will die as surely and inevitably as they did in all the centuries before "modern medicine."

Where is it written that an appointment with God should be delayed; that He should be kept waiting while man experiments with His creation?

A NURSE IN LA JOLLA, CAL.

DEAR NURSE: Well said.
