Wyatt To Speak At Show Banquet

Kenneth Wyatt of Tulia will be the featured speaker at the Floyd County Junior Livestock Show banquet Thursday. The banquet, for 4-H and FFA stock show exhibitors and their parents, and special guests, starts at 7 p.m. in the Lockney Elementary School cafeteria.

Wyatt is a well-known speaker and western artist and a former Methodist pastor in West Texas towns such as Paducah, Chillicothe, Texline and Morton. His audiences find him human, warm and worthwhile, and he is noted for his showmanship and humor. He has had a contract with the Knife and Fork Club.

In 1968 he came to High Plains Galleries in Amarillo as their western artist. His first big break as an artist came in June 1968 when enthusiastic buyers at an auction literally bought his paintings off the wall. The next big boost for Wyatt came from the nationally-known and loved show business character, Festus, (Ken Curtis), of TV's "Gunsmoke." Curtis bought 14 Wyatt paintings when in Amarillo as featured entertainer at the Amarillo Stock Show.

All Floyd County 4-H and FFA stock show exhibitors are invited to the banquet. Marc Smitherman will furnish additional entertainment.

Championship trophies, exhibition awards, herdsman awards, judging awards, high individual awards, and a "sweepstakes trophy" will be presented at the banquet.

Parents Invited To Visit Schools During Public Schools Week

"This year, Texas Public Schools Week will include something for everyone - student, parent, community member and the general public," said Floydada Schools Superintendent A.E. Baker.

In his announcement today, Baker stressed the importance of community participation in Texas Public Schools Week which will mark the 120th anniversary of the public school system in Texas. Parents and other interested citizens are encouraged to visit schools in their neighborhoods and areas. During the week, all grades - elementary through high school will be open for public visitation.

Parents are not only encouraged to visit the schools, they are invited to have lunch with the children and to visit the classrooms.

"More and more, we are coming to realize that the key to America's future lies in our schools," Baker said. "We need useful, educated citizens to meet the challenge of the future. We want to stress the importance of citizen participation in Texas Public Schools Week, March 4-8. This is one meaningful way we can all become a part of our education system. It's our responsibility to see to it that this system maintains the highest educational level and that quality education for all students is maintained."

Area DECA Winners Bound For State Leadership Contest

Twelve Floydada High School Distributive Education students and their DECA advisors will meet in Dallas beginning March 8, with more than 2,700 other student leaders and faculty advisors for the 28th Annual State Leadership Conference of the Distributive Education Clubs of America, generally called DECA.

A special feature of the Conference will be contests to select State winners in career categories — public speaking, advertising, display, sales demonstration, job interviews, student of the year, and manual writing competition. State winners will be announced Saturday night at the concluding banquet session, with Floydada's hopes riding high on their five first place competitive event winners and eight first place manual winners from Wichita Falls competition.

DECA operates through the nation's public schools to attract young people to careers in marketing and distribution. Formed in 1948 with only 800 students in 17 charter states, it grew to a total of 175,000 student members in 1973. Membership in 1974 is estimated at 225,000.

Representing Floydada DECA Chapters at the state convention will be Cathy Clampitt, Eddie Ellis, Roxanne Fry, Wayne Gilbreath, Leslie Hall, Karin Kunkel, Thelma Morales, Janie Quilantan, Lonnie Robinson, Vicki Smith, Bill Whitaker and Dana Woody.

Floyd County Out Of Debt

Floyd County made the final payment last week on $1,090,968 worth of bonds issued from 1931 through 1965. The last payment, a check for $12,197 to the corporate trust department of the Mercantile National Bank in Dallas, was mailed Wednesday, getting the county "out of debt" for the first time in over 40 years. The County now owes no bonds at all.

The paid-up bonds include the following: $20,000 in general funding bonds issued in 1931; $500,000 Floyd County road bonds (right-of-way) issued in 1948; $252,000 court house bonds issued in 1949; road bonds for $294,000 for four-lane highway right-of-way in Floyd County, issued in 1958; and $24,968 for general fund warrants to pay for a tax re-evaluation program in 1965.

THE LAST ONE — Floyd County Treasurer Troye Stansell "got the County out of debt" last week when she mailed the final payment check on the County's bond debt. The $12,197 payment to the corporate trust department of the Mercantile National Bank of Dallas paid off debts totaling $1,090,968 on bonds issued from 1931 through 1965. County Judge J. K. Holmes watched as the County Treasurer put the final check in the envelope. (Staff photo by Jim Huggins)

10-Year Tax Bite On Floyd Residents

NEW YORK — How often has the average worker in Floyd County thought, as he picked up his weekly paycheck: "Boy, oh boy, if only I had the money that Uncle Sam took out of it."

Just how much is being taken out these days? How much would the average local family have accumulated in the past 10 years if there had been no deductions for Federal income and Social Security taxes?

Some calculations along this line have been made by the Tax Foundation, the non-profit research organization. It finds that these two taxes, combined, have grown so fast that they now take 80 percent more per family than they did in 1963.

With state and local taxes also on the rise, the net result is that the average American has to put in 1 hour and 39 minutes of each working day to pay his tax bills.

During the past year, the first 121 days went for that purpose. Not until May 2 had he earned enough for his 1973 taxes.

On the other hand, most Floyd County residents have seen their earnings rise sharply in recent years.

Much of that added money never reached them, however, because the larger incomes, coupled with mounting taxes, resulted in bigger payroll deductions.

In the 10-year period the average family in the local area had total earnings, before taxes, of approximately $74,600, according to the annual reports.

Some $10,250 of this total went for Federal income and social insurance taxes.

This was only part of the tax burden, however. It was the visible part. In addition, there were the so-called hidden taxes, such as the excise levies on cars, gas, liquor, tobacco, telephones and the like.

The Tax Foundation estimates that if these and other levies passed on to consumers were added up, it would be found that the government collects over $74 in that manner for every $100 it receives via the visible taxes.

Applied to Floyd County, the figures indicate that the local population paid an estimated $7,590 per family in the 10 years in these hidden taxes.

Whirlwind Netters Shut Out Crosbyton

Blair Davis took an 8-1 boys' singles victory, Dan Daniel won 8-2, and Pat Rucker won 8-1. In boys' doubles, Mike Ramsey and Mark Craig teamed to win 8-0, and Mike Hatley and Jimmy Parker beat a Crosbyton team 8-2.

AT HAYLOFT

Dwayne Hickman enjoys laughter — for himself and others. He spent nine straight years on tv creating laughter for an average of 30 million viewers each week and loved every minute of it.

Dwayne started in show business at the age of eleven, mainly at the insistence of his brother who had been an actor from the age of six. He appeared in "The Secret Heart," "The Happy Years," and "The Boy with Green Hair," among others. But, by the time he was 18, he wasn't going to be an actor at all. He was majoring in economics at Loyola University in Los Angeles, and planned to join his father, Milton Hickman, in the family insurance business in Los Angeles.

Then fate, in the form of Robert Cummings, stepped in again. Bob was going the pilot for a show built around a bachelor, and he was in need of a young man to play his nephew. Dwayne has a job with a power company that summer, reading meters. He could make five hundred dollars there all summer, or three hundred in five days doing the pilot. He chose the pilot. The pilot became "The Bob Cummings Show", and it ran for five years with Dwayne as Chuck.

From the Cummings show, Max Shulman hired Dwayne to be "Dobie Gillis"

Medical Expense Deductions Prime Tax Error

PLAINVIEW, TEXAS — Many taxpayers get smaller refunds — or have to pay additional taxes — because they make errors in reporting medical expenses, Walter I. Perry Administrative Officer of Internal Revenue for the Plainview area, said today.

To avoid errors in deducting medical expenses on 1973 returns, Perry advises taxpayers to read the Form 1040 instructions carefully before filing.

A common error taxpayers made in reporting medical expenses is in deducting medicine and drug expenses. Taxpayers can add these expenses to their other medical expenses only to the extent they exceed one percent of adjusted gross income.

"Some taxpayers," Perry said, "try to deduct in full their drug costs in excess of one percent of their adjusted gross income instead of adding this excess to their other medical expenses, which are subject to a three percent limitation."

Another common error taxpayers made last year involved the medical insurance premium deduction. You can deduct one-half the cost of the premium paid for medical insurance, up to $150, without regard to the three percent of income limitation.

The Form 1040 instructions explain what is and is not deductible and also how the expenses should be reported.

Retirement planning saves taxes — Farmers and ranchers can enroll in a self-employed retirement plan to reduce their income tax dollars, says an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Up to 10 percent of earned income or $2,500, whichever is less, can be set aside in a tax-sheltered investment plan each year. Earnings on the money are not taxable until retirement, and then the money is taxed as a capital gain or ordinary income, depending on the withdrawal method. Before a retirement plan is started, a proposal should be filed with the Internal Revenue Service.

Girl Of The Week

SHERRY WILLIS

"Teacher! Teacher! What are we going to do today? Are we going outside? Is it time for a snack?" These are just a few of the questions that Sherry Willis is asked by youngsters when she arrives at work at Floydada Day Care Center. Sherry rotates with other workers in caring for the children in different age groups. She enjoys her work because she loves children, and feels that her training sponsor, Betty Fuller, is a continuous inspiration to her. The children at the Center enjoy Sherry's youthful energy and enthusiasm as she plays games with them, reads them stories, and takes them for nature walks. HECE classtime for Sherry includes studying the Child Care Aide manual which includes subjects on understanding the child and his family, children's food and eating habits, their health and safety, play habits and emotions.

Athena Study Club Meets In Lockney

The Athena Junior Study Club met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Jerry Cannon. Opening prayer was led by Mrs. Eugene Owens followed by reading the pledge to the Texas flag and singing of the state song, Texas Our Texas. Mr. Joe Taylor, Texas Heritage chairman, then presented a most interesting and informative program on tracing your ancestors. The program aroused much curiosity concerning our ancestors, who they were, where they came from and what they may have contributed in one way or another to our present way of life. All members present were able to learn a little more about one another and many found common family names in their backgrounds. It was a very interesting evening.

Refreshments of hot fudge sundaes were served by the hostess, Mrs. Jerry Cannon, and co-hostess, Mrs. Doug Meriwether to the following members: Mmes. Joe Henson, Eugene Owens, James Poole, Raymond Lusk, Bobby Hise, Doug Bowles, Jerry Williams, Ted Carthel, Joe Taylor, Richard Wiley, Paul Hrbacek, Bill Calvert, Roland Watson, and Roy Turley.

The business meeting was presided over by the club's president, Mrs. Jerry Williams. Names were taken of the ones planning to attend the district convention in Lubbock and everyone was urged to consider attending the state convention a little later in San Antonio. It was agreed upon that all members who are able will meet at the high school cafeteria and have lunch next Thursday, March 7, at 12 in observance of Education Week. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President — Mrs. Bobby Hise, First Vice President — Mrs. Roy Turley, Second Vice President — Mrs. Ted Carthel, Secretary — Mrs. Raymond Lusk, Treasurer — Mrs. Roland Watson, Reporter — Mrs. John Peck, Parliamentarian — Mrs. Eugene Owens, and Historian — Mrs. Warren Mathis.

The next meeting will be March 14 in the Joe Taylor home. Special guest speaker at that time will be Mrs. Don Wimberly from Don's Nursery in Plainview.

FLOYD DATA

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Lipham, Mrs. Richard Nelson and baby and Mrs. Dena Myrick returned home Wednesday night from visiting downstate with relatives. They were with a daughter, Mrs. Brenda Clappitt in a Dallas hospital for several days. Mrs. Clappitt is said to be improved with hopes of going home from the hospital next week. The Liphams are also encouraged with the news their little grandson, born February 5, premature, will be able to go home from the hospital in a few days. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spurlock of Daingerfield, has now gained to a little over four pounds.

vulnerable to criticism. He was impatient at having his portrait painted. He didn't like being stared at by crowds. He had to force himself to endure official ceremonies, with all the hand-shaking and small talk that attended them. People sometimes thought him cold and haughty, which he wasn't.

George Washington was an ambitious man. He had in his mind an ideal of greatness, and he set out to attain it. Although he was not a professional soldier, by the end of the Revolutionary War he had proved himself to be a more skillful leader of men and a better strategist than any of the generals in the British Army.

Washington's ambition was tempered by his lifelong desire to be a faithful servant of his infant nation. Because he refused the absolute power that was within his grasp, the American Revolution resulted in a representative democracy instead of a monarchy or dictatorship.

George Washington believed in a kindly Providence. And he became the instrument of that Providence by giving all Americans an example of fortitude, incorruptibility, and confidence that, in the long run, people were capable of governing themselves freely. May his spirit be with us today.

Washington underwent major surgery Wednesday morning at Nichols Hospital in Plainview.

Il Penseroso Junior Study Club Meets

The Il Penseroso Junior Study Club met Thursday night, February 28, in the lounge of the First National Bank. Mrs. Bill Turner was the hostess with Mrs. Tom Taylor as co-hostess. The theme for the evening was WATCH ME GROW... AS I DO WHAT I LIKE BEST. The meeting was opened with roll call which was answered with "My Favorite Pastime."

Program chairman was Mrs. Eddie Teeter, whose program was entitled "Information Please." The program included three different areas of "information." Mrs. Audrey McCormick presented a program on FREEZ-AHEAD DISHES in which numerous interesting hints were given. Such as: You shouldn't freeze eggs in their shells, thaw foods thoroughly before cooking. Don't overload your refrigerator with cooked foods and cooked foods must be thoroughly cooled before freezing. Mrs. McCormick passed out booklets on facts about freezing and freezing meats.

Mrs. Jack Whittington presented a program on "Commercial Arts." She gave hints on how to do your art work faster. She uses muffin tins for her paints because it will give her enough paint to paint the entire painting. You can never mix the same color twice. Some of the helpful hints she gave for doing away with messy edges on a painting were to use tracing paper, Exacto pencils, rubber cement, etc.

Researchers Find Resistance To Sorghum Midge

LUBBOCK — Tropical sorghum varieties grown in Africa and Asia have yielded a long-sought-for secret that may solve a serious insect problem for Texas sorghum producers.

Research scientists at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station here have announced the finding of high levels of resistance to the sorghum midge.

Plant breeders have found low levels of midge resistance among both U.S. and exotic varieties in the past, but the level of resistance was too low for practical use.

The sorghum midge is the source of problems that have perplexed Texas sorghum producers for more than 60 years.

Material from the tropical varieties, known to agricultural scientists as "exotics", has been developed for use in Texas through the sorghum conversion program headquartered at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock. The program is a joint project of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service with work carried out at Lubbock, Chillicothe, College Station and Puerto Rico.

TAES sorghum breeders and entomologists at Lubbock found high levels of midge resistance in converted lines from several exotic sorghums. Dr. Jerry Johnson and Dr. Darrell Rose now, sorghum breeders, are the scientists who discovered the midge resistance in the derived exotic lines. Assisting them is Dr. George Teetes, TAES entomologist.

Many of the materials or breeding stocks have already been released to seed companies for use in their breeding programs, while Experiment Station workers are continuing their research with resistant lines.

The researchers emphasize that the midge resistant sources are breeding lines and not hybrids, and that these lines themselves are not yet acceptable for use in hybrids.

Crosses have been made between midge resistant material and elite U.S. varieties to develop agronomically acceptable male and female breeding lines for use in producing resistant hybrids. Since resistance is not a dominant characteristic, both the male and female parents of hybrids must be resistant in order to produce hybrids with good resistance.

The researchers emphasize that the transfer of the characteristic to female parental lines for hybrid production could take as long as 10 to 15 years. This does not mean, they add, that the work could not be completed sooner.

According to the scientists, the sorghum midge poses a threat in all sorghum producing areas of the state except the Trans-Pecos and the Northern Panhandle. Annual yield losses in Texas are estimated to range from a few million to as much as $10 million. Under present grain prices, those figures would double.

The midge, they add, also is a pest of sorghum throughout the world.

Dr. George McBee, resident director of research at the Lubbock Center, says that the release of breeding material with natural resistance to insects reflects a new direction in research.

"Next to the development of the sorghum hybrids by TAES scientists and USDA-ARS," he said, "the discovery of midge resistance in sorghum may prove to be one of the classic achievements to improve sorghum".

The importance of the findings, says Entomologist Teetes, is that midge resistant hybrids will give farmers much more flexibility in planting date and selection of later-maturing, high-yielding hybrids.

"The significant point," he adds, "is that freedom to plant later in the season without fear of the midge would permit sorghum to bloom and mature during the part of the season that is normally cooler and has a relatively higher probability of rainfall. This not only is advantageous yieldwise, but reduces irrigation requirements because of rainfall and temperature patterns.

"Possibly even more important," he stresses, "is that midge resistant sorghums provide another approach to dealing with the most serious potential threat to sorghum production, the Banks grass mite. The appearance of the Banks grass mite and other mites in localized areas of the Texas High Plains complicates the pest control problem in sorghum. Indications are that pesticide resistance in the Banks grass mite has developed in some areas of the High Plains."

Teetes says that the mite is virtually impossible to control in the Pecos-El Paso Valley where production of corn and grain sorghum has decreased greatly because of the pest. The capability to plant sorghum later in the season allows maturation during a period that characteristically is not conducive to the buildup of the mite population.

The new material, he concludes, adds another tool to a sound pest management program which utilizes both natural and artificial means to suppress insect pests below a level of economic injury.

"We believe the use of midge resistant material can have far-reaching effects on sorghum production in Texas", the researchers note. "We hope that everyone interested in Texas agriculture becomes aware of its existence and is encouraged to assist in its future development."

Lockney Man Is Named Leader Of Credit Group

Local widener of Lockney was selected as director to the board of Plainview Production Credit Association Saturday during the 80th anniversary meeting of stockholders.

He also was elected president of the board of directors.

Other officers named included Billy W. Garbel of Friona, vice president; James A. Rogers, assistant secretary and treasurer and general manager; Bill Black, Jim Holt and LaMoine Houston, assistant secretary and assistant general manager, and Francis Miller and Ruby DeMont, assistant treasurers.

Saturday's meeting began with a luncheon in Plainview High School cafeteria. Mrs. Inez Ferrell of Lubbock provided the dinner music.

Guest speaker for the afternoon business session was Rev. Kenneth Wyatt, Tulia.

A.W. Anthony Jr., Friona, director, presented a review of 1973 operations. Rogers presented the annual financial report.

Rogers said that Plainview Production Credit issued loans totaling $298,355,000 in the eight counties served by the association.

These counties include Hale, Castro, Floyd, Lamb, Parmer, Swisher, Briscoe and Bailey.

1974 wheat crop and creating prospects of dust storms. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said recently.

White reported that chances for a good crop in the Panhandle are all but gone. "Rain can revive prospects in other areas, but there is no way we can expect to come close to our 1973 production figures," he said.

Production for 1973 totaled 98,600,000 bushels. A decline of 20 per cent was forecast earlier this year, and prospects have worsened since then.

Moisture in the High and Low Plains during 1973 ranged from 12-16 inches, which is below normal. The season began with wet soil, however, and crop production was high.

A large percentage of available moisture was extracted from the soil during the growing season. This was followed by a dry fall and mild winter. Large areas of the High and Low Plains, Trans-Pecos and Edwards Plateau have had little or no moisture since last October.

"Official records now show that the current dry spell in that part of the state is as critical as it was in the late 1930's," White said. He warned that this factor plus the return of several hundred thousand acres of land to production could bring on dust storms.

Some land that has been in grass for several years also has been returned to production, and White noted that it "should remain in grass."

"It is time to be concerned about the situation," he said. "It would appear that some of the glowing forecasts about wheat production may be premature. The problem is aggravated by the possibility of a return to dust storms which were all too prevalent in the 1950's."

Meanwhile the eastern half of the state has received moderate to heavy rains. Wheat and oat prospects there are good and grazing has been fair to excellent. Cotton planters have been rolling in the Rio Grande Valley.

Properly wrapped beef cuts stored at 0 degrees F. or lower will maintain their quality for eight to 12 months, according to Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Texas honey may be substituted for sugar on hot or cold cereals.

High Plains Produce Over $3 Billion In Farm Products

The High Plains of Texas produced agricultural products with a market value totaling more than $3 billion in 1973. The output almost doubled the market value of 1974 production and more than quadrupled the output of five years ago (1968). The tabulations were compiled by Water, Inc., Staff Economist Tommy Swann and have been published in a booklet entitled "Agricultural Production Data — Texas High Plains." "The statistical report illustrates the great productive capacity of the agriculture sector of the area," Swann said. "But, the production record is only a portion of the Texas High Plains Story," he added.

"The most important part of the story is how the productive capacity can be expanded with supplemental water for irrigation." He noted that the area possesses fertile, irrigable land, almost ideal growing conditions and superior management ability. "All that is needed is the transportable item — water," Swann

Agriculture's on Wall

Most farmers and ranchers do not know how to invest their money. Land Bank gets its loan funds to investors. There is no government Land Bank system. The quality plus the skill with which the own Fiscal Agency works on means a constant flow of low-cost nation's money market. Come over how Land Bank money is at a fair price to the borrower.

Prayer is a party line

The man who prays can hear the prayers of others . . . especially when he prays for those human needs which are common to all men.

But even when he prays for needs that are solely his own, he knows that those who care for him are joining their prayers with his.

And God's answers come back along the party line.

You're never quite sure the message was meant for you. You are tempted sometimes to think it was intended for someone else . . . until you realize that this answer which God has inspired in your heart does fit your prayer.

There are times when it's good for everybody on the party line to pick up the phone at once . . . and speak what they all feel . . . and listen to what they all need to hear.

That happens regularly on Sunday morning.
