Increased by more than 3,000,000 bushels to a total of 8,500,000 bushels, but total yield in comparison to acres planted was down, due primarily to adverse weather conditions including Tropical Storm Delia.

Acres planted statewide in soybeans for 1973 more than doubled that of the previous year, with 425,000 acres going to the protein source in 1973, compared to 210,000 acres in 1972.

Other counties in the top five in soybean production include Hale, Liberty, Harris and Castro.

Total production for the county was 11,847,000 bushels.

Statewide, some 2,355,000 irrigated and 5,745,000 unirrigated acres were planted in sorghum.

Other counties in the top ten in all sorghum production include Hale, Lamb, Parmer, Hidalgo, Swisher, Castro, Nueces, Deaf Smith and San

Ross Urges Community To Attend Crusade

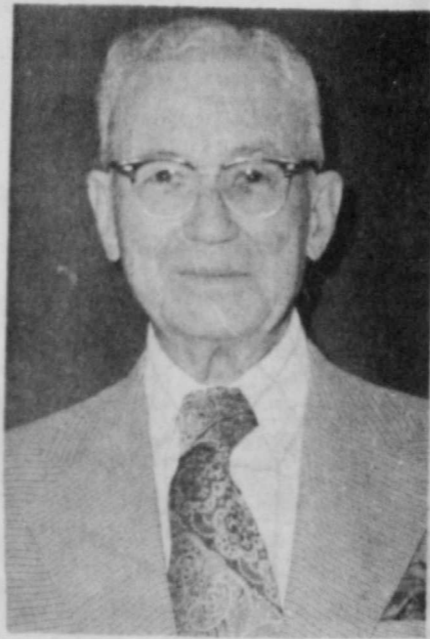

There was never a time in our history when this country needed Christ as it does now. So, part of our plans to help build a better world and in preparation for our city-wide crusade to be held August 4-11 — between 70-80 Pre-Crusade Prayer Services have been scheduled in homes in our city, and the locations of these prayer services are published in the Hesperian each week.

Everyone is urged to attend these services without invitations, when possible.

It is to be hoped that we all turn to God for guidance for the success of this Crusade, and may He help us to discover His will for us at this time, then may we have the faith and courage to accept and to follow His will for us.

May we recall the scripture in Matthew 21-22 "And all things, whatsoever, ye shall ask in prayer, believing, he shall receive" and with praying hearts use whatever time and talents we have in advancing the cause of Christ before and during the Crusade.

Weems Oil Robbed

M. J. Weems Oil Co., on Lockney Highway was robbed of some $96 around 1:30 Friday afternoon. Employee Jesse Johnson was busy in front of the station when two unidentified subjects entered the business and took the money. Sheriff Bud Rainey was told.

The robbery was still under investigation at press time by the sheriff's office.

Dougherty Grain Elevator Burns

The countryside around Dougherty was illuminated about 1:30 Thursday morning as the old grain elevator located just west of Producers Cooperative Elevator burned.

Brian Vickers discovered the blaze as he looked out the window of his home. The 60' high elevator was past saving when the Floydada Fire Department arrived on the scene.

Bill Cagle of Producers said there was no grain in the elevator.

The elevator was built in 1928 by Frank Dougherty and had not been used since 1959.

Dougherty community residents said the blaze could be seen for many miles.

Floydada Tennis Players In Finals

With 150 players from 25 area towns vying for winning honors in the Floydada Open Tennis Tournament the competition has been very strong.

At noon Friday as the Jr. High and High School divisions were finalized Floydada had a few players to make the finals and semi-finals.

Men's and women's singles and doubles divisions began play Friday afternoon, and some mixed double contests began. Saturday morning "over 35" divisions and mixed doubles play was in high gear.

Finals begin about 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

Pepper Nichols of Roaring Springs and Brad Tooley, Floydada made the semi-finals in boys' high school doubles. Then they were defeated by Mike Ramsey and Keith Tooley, Floydada.

Brothers Stacy and Steve Foster of Plainview defeated Tooley and Ramsey in the finals to take the championship.

Ramsey also made the semi-finals in boys singles.

Donette Marble and Debby Johnson, Floydada, took out Page Carter and her partner from Plainview in the girls' high school doubles in the semi-finals and were to meet Wright and Craighhead of Vernon in the finals Friday afternoon.

Help!

The regional baseball tournament begins in Midland Monday. Floydada is fortunate enough to have a baseball team in the tournament this year. Our team from the Sophomore league is known as Floydada Number One and sponsored locally by the First National Bank.

Of course, it takes a lot of money to transport a baseball team to Midland, — the food and motels are also pretty expensive.

So, let's all pitch in and help the financial needs of our team. You may bring or mail your contribution to radio station KFLP.

Sorghum Irrigation Is Key To Success This Year

LUBBOCK — Summer heat and peak demands of grain sorghum for irrigation water are putting the pressure on farmers who must stretch their irrigation water over more acres of crops this year, says an irrigation engineer.

The Egyptians believed that gold and pearls were found only in southerly rivers.

Adequate soil moisture is critically important to grain sorghum in the booting, heading and flowering stages of growth, says Leon New, area irrigation specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. New adds that sorghum will wait for water, but moisture stress slows plant growth and can cut into yields if it occurs during critical plant growth stages.

Grain sorghum water use is highest just prior to and during the booting stage, New explains. He says that response to irrigation at booting generally contributes 3,000 to 4,000 pounds of grain per acre. Even short periods of stress can cut into yields at this time. Plants are likely to require three to four inches of water every 10 days during this period.

Good soil moisture levels must also be maintained during heading and flowering in order to keep yields up, he adds. Although water use may have declined slightly following rapid vegetative growth, 10-day requirements are likely to be 2 to 2½ inches. Irrigation during the heading and flowering stages usually yields a 1,200- to 1,500-pound-per-acre increase. With little rainfall in recent months over much of the South Plains, the contribution may be even more this year.

New reports that a 3,200-pound-per-acre yield increase was accredited to a water application at flowering at the North Plains Research Field at Etter in 1970.

Grain sorghum water requirements drop off during the grain filling stage, he says. Plants have normally reached mature size by the early dough growth stage, so water is used primarily to produce grain. Water requirements for the crop will normally decline to about two inches every 10 days during early grain filling and continue to decrease as the crop matures. An irrigation at the milk to soft dough stage of grain filling normally boosts yield 700 to 1,000 pounds per acre.

The specialist relates that an irrigation as late as grain maturity or the hard dough stage provides only limited, if any, yield increase. The only benefit from late irrigations may be to prevent charcoal stalk rot and minimize lodging, which could make an extra application profitable.

"Most area soils usually store enough moisture to supply remaining requirements for grain production from an application at the soft dough stage," he adds. "An additional application prior to the hard dough stage is more likely to be profitable on sand soils where less water can be stored."

The time required to water the crop is especially important in minimizing moisture stress. One way to cover acreage faster is to water alternate rows, the engineer suggests. But if Pullman and similar tight soils crack, it is difficult to push water through. More success has been achieved with alternate furrow irrigation on lighter loam soils and on Pullman soils with furrows spaced 30 inches apart. An additional irrigation may be needed to keep soil moisture levels up. When water is applied in alternate furrows, the acreage can be watered quicker.

New figures that more than three to four hours of tailwater runoff time may also tie up water that can be more productive on drier soil. With additional tailwater runoff time, the average yield increase is relatively small.

Another irrigation management tool is the well water delivery rate, he says. With this information water application rates can be easily determined. Excessive application amounts can be adjusted to distribute the same water over more acres.

Farmers who use precise water application procedures will probably boost grain sorghum yields and increase their profits, New concludes.

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

THE BOLL WEEVIL was first found in Texas cotton crops in the early 1890s, and it has been found in every cotton crop since that time, despite efforts to eradicate or control it. At one time, the Texas legislature offered $50,000 for an effective solution to the boll weevil problem, but a committee appointed to judge entries decided that no one who submitted a plan deserved the $50,000. This year boll weevils have been reported in cotton fields from the Rio Grande Valley to North Central Texas; and heavy damage has been reported in Ellis, Delta, Dallas, Hunt, Collin and Kaufman Counties. Overwintered boll weevil populations have been noted in Fisher, Foard, Knox and Wilbarger Counties. Increased number of cotton fleahoppers also have been noted in all cotton-growing areas of the State. Bollworm damage was noted in the Valley and in Brazos and Burleson Counties.

THREE TEXANS are on the new Cattle Industry Advisory Committee announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They are: James W. Campbell of Pampa, Tobin Armstrong of Armstrong, and Harold D. Florence Jr. of Dumas. The large committee is supposed to provide counsel on cattle production, marketing, international trade, economics outlooks; but will meet only as needed when called by the chairman, Dr. Richard L. Feltner, assistant secretary for marketing and consumer services.

TALKING ABOUT the suffering cattle industry, cattle growers in Freestone, Leon, and Milam Counties face more brucellosis testing before shipping beef or dairy breeding cattle. Those three counties, and some counties in Oklahoma and South Dakota, have been taken off the modified-certified brucellosis areas. Navarro, Wood and Cherokee have been restored to the modified-certified brucellosis areas. A part of Bailey County, Texas has been placed under quarantine for psoroptic cattle scabies after an infestation was found in a feedlot late in June.

SCREWORM control officials report that there were 628 confirmed screwworm cases in 71 counties of Texas during June. Counties reporting their first screwworm cases in 1974 included Edwards, Reeves, Crane, Upton, Hays, Williamson, San Saba, and Menard. Over all of Texas, there were 628 cases of screwworms reported in June, Bee County leading the list with 55 cases, followed by Kenedy with 51 and Brooks with 48. There were only 145 cases reported in June, 1973 and 15,889 in June, 1972. There have been 1,500 confirmed screwworm cases so far this year in the State.

COTTON FARMERS are waiting for the USDA's first cotton production estimate August 12. It is expected that the 1974 crop will produce less than 13.4 million bales, because the crop reports earlier are believed higher than the number of acres actually planted. In late June, USDA estimated it thinks the 1974-75 cotton supply will be below the 1973-74 supply of 16 million bales. The August 1 carryover is estimated to be 3.5 million bales. On the High Plains, a total of 2,271,000 acres are estimated planted or being planted, and that is 20% below the total in 1973. Total for the entire State is estimated at 5,600,000 acres, compared to 5,400,000 acres in 1973. However, there were only 5,200,000 acres harvested last year.

AND A FEW NOTES: Federal Crop Insurance protection is now available in 87 Texas counties . . . Broiler chicks placed in Texas during the week ending July 6 totaled 3,357,000; and there were 193,000 turkey poults hatched during the same week . . . Drylot sheep feeders had 115,000 sheep and lambs on feed for slaughter July 1.

THERE WERE 362,000 head of cattle and calves sold in Texas auction barns during May, which is 51 per cent below a year ago and 18 per cent below a month ago. May sheep sales were 19 per cent more than in April, reaching a total of 145,000 head. That is 37 per cent below a year ago. A total of 40,000 head of hogs were sold at auction in May, two per cent below the same time in 1973 and seven per cent below April, 1974. The number of hogs and pigs on Texas farms also decreased, falling to 930,000 head which is three per cent below 1973.

being used to enhance the business of producing cotton.

Cotton Incorporated is the producer research and market development company supported by dollar-a-bale grower contributions. An average 98 percent of all U.S. producers help to provide CI funding on an annual basis.

All are cotton producers and their wives are invited to the program and officials of the women's cotton promotion group are expecting some 500 to 600 people.

In addition to an explanation of CI's overall program by Wooters, there will be individual presentations on agricultural research, economic research and development, textile research and advertising.

"There is no reconciling the wide variations in cotton acreage figures being bandied about recently," says Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. "which points up the fact that there just isn't enough solid information available at this stage of the game to make firm estimates."

The joint PCG-Lubbock Cotton Exchange Estimates Committee met July 9 and estimated there were at that time 1,964,200 acres of "standing" cotton in the 25 PCG counties surrounding Lubbock. But with its announcement of this figure the Committee noted that farmer acreage reports to county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the ultimate source of final acreage figures, were not far enough along to promote much confidence in the estimate's accuracy. Others knowledgeable of Plains crop conditions have guessed the area total at from 1.6 to 2.3 million acres. Plantings in the 25 counties in 1973 totaled 2,825,000 acres. USDA's July estimate of

Doherty-Farris Wedding Vows Read

Wedding vows for Miss Madelyn Doherty and George Russell Farris were read Saturday, July 13, in St. Anne's Catholic Church in Houston. The seven-thirty double ring ceremony was read by the Reverend Francis Monaghan, C.B.S., assisted by Reverend Russell C. White, grandfather of the groom.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a designer gown of white silk linen in a tiny basket weave pattern with long sleeves, a fitted bodice, and a high round neckline. A soft cummerbund marked the waist and a

Illustration Chart At Museum Depicts Early Arrivals In The County

"Who they were; where they came from; how they came to Floyd County" is the title of the large illustration chart at the front of the Floyd County Historical Museum. The chart depicts origins from East Texas, the deep South, the Rolling Plains, and features pictures of early-day citizens including Mr. and Mrs. Charley Taylor of the Della Plains community, John West as a young man, Menard Field in his wedding suit, Mrs. R. A. Garrett as a little girl, Allen Rendon when he arrived on the Plains, and many others.

Texas History students of Floydada Junior High organized and researched the chart for the museum with their teacher, Mrs. Ted (Carol) Bell.

Volunteer workers in the last two weeks have included Mmes. A. H. Kreis, John Key West, H. L. Marble, Bill Tye, Aaron Carthel, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lawson. Local hours contributed to the museum help match Federal funds to qualify our museum for assistance from Green Thumb project workers.

Motley Demo Chairman Quits After Filing Fees Dispute

By GORDON ZEIGLER
Avananche-Journal Staff
 A LONGTIME Democratic Party chairman in Motley County has resigned his post over what he calls an "argument with the Secretary of State over filing fees."
 For Furman Vinson, party chairman in Matador for 14 consecutive years, it all started when the office of Secretary of State Bob Bullock required him, as chairman, to return $197.14 left over from county filing fees of $850 after bills of $652.86 were paid.
 Refusing to return it, believing it should go back to local candidates on a pro rata basis in the past, Vinson resigned. "Outside the party like this, I cannot pay them . . . because I am not party chairman and because I am not authorized to write a check on the county fund."

Party Minus Leader

In the meantime, Motley Democrats are without a party chairman, the $197.14 remains in a Matador bank, and the Secretary of State still considers the payment due.
 Tommy Toone, an attorney in the Secretary of State's elections division, told The Avanche-Journal he believes the matter is cut and dried, that there is no room for interpretation and that Senate Bill 11 passed in 1972 by the 63rd Legislature requires that county chairmen refund a surplus to the state if the total amount of fees and contributions received locally plus the payment from the state exceed expenditures.
 "I understand his feelings," said Toone. "That this method of returning fees to candidates was done for a long time (until after the 1972 primary) and that the local candidates worked and volunteered their time so as not to require state aid."

Duty Stressed

He added, "It is an understandable position, but our duty is to enforce the law and it is his duty to return it."

Vinson claims the law contradicts itself, that in the old section it "requires" the chairman to return excess fees to the candidates pro rata, and in the new section it "requires" the chairman to return it to the state.

"If there is a Philadelphia lawyer who can figure out what the Texas Election Code is trying to say, I'd like to see him," said Vinson.

Toone said he was aware of the contradiction, calling it "one of those cases in which the legislature wrote a new law out failed to take a conflicting aw off the books." Toone said he return of surplus funds is he most recent addition to the aw, and is being observed statewide.

Motley County is a unique case, Toone commented, in that it is one of the few counties operating so economically as not to require state appropriations. It held a primary and had no run-offs. In the larger counties, especially metropolitan areas, the state forwards 75 per cent of the cost of both the original election and the run-off elections before hand.

Vinson still plans to appeal the interpretation, which he claims is unfair to parties in rural areas like Motley County which have lower county salaries but whose officers pay the same to run as larger counties.

"No one on the county committee, including myself, has ever taken any expense money," Vinson said. "We work a moderate rate because we consider elections our civi-duty. They're always held in public buildings or the rent is donated to us."

Vinson resigned July 11 after receiving a letter June 25 instructing him to return the excess fees.

What does Vinson plan to do to fight the law?

To Seek Advice

"I'm not sure, I'm not attorney. I'm just a farmer," he said. "I'll visit with our county attorney and I'll visit with our state senator and state representative, trying to get it (the law) equalized."

Vinson claims his disagreement with Bullock's staff is nothing personal. "It's all a question of a technicality," he said.

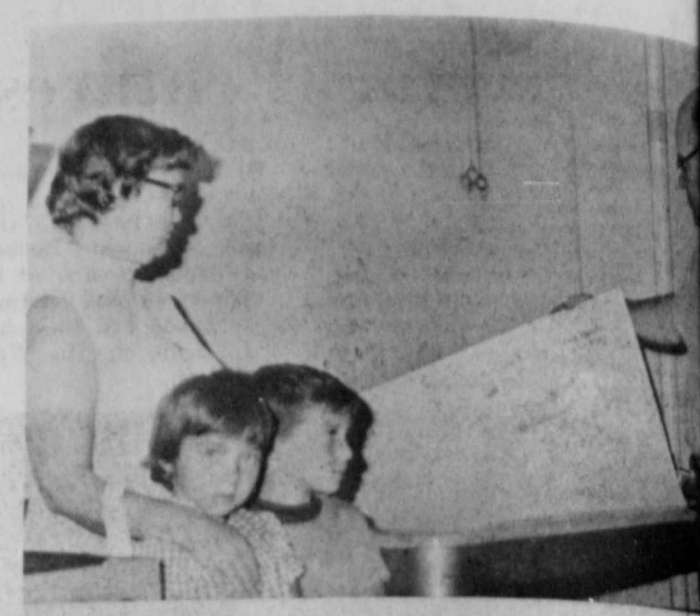

Nothing To Interpret

Of Vinson's disagreement with interpretation of the law, Toone said this week, "I know he disagrees . . . but as far as I can see there is nothing to interpret." The new fee apparently has raised the ire of others. Toone said several counties have disagreed with the new law, which has taken effect since the last primary in 1972.

"But I know of none which have flat refused except this one," said Toone.

The lawyer said that the next county chairman appointed in Motley County will be responsible to see that the money is returned. He said he isn't really sure whether Vinson might still be liable since he was chairman at the time an audit report and request for the funds was issued. Vinson does not know who his successor will be.

"If nothing is done, it would be our duty to see that the funds are returned," Toone said.

The word 'croquette' comes from the French verb 'croquer', meaning to "crunch" or to "crack under the teeth". And that's how the crust should be.

Good garden this year? Consider freezing some of your produce. Blanch before freezing to stop enzyme action.

Best way to freeze tomatoes, we think, is in a thick spicy Italian spaghetti sauce. Or stew them lightly with onions and celery. Either way, freeze in meal-size packages.

Cook two — freeze one. And to avoid tying up all your casseroles in the freezer, line dish with aluminum foil (enough to close over food). When food is frozen firm, take away the dish. Remove foil before reheating in casserole. Great chefs agree that good stock is the basis of good sauce. It takes a long time to cook, but one potful can be frozen in small cubes, ready to thaw as needed.

Don't fuss. You'll find really good beef bouillon, chicken broth, clam juice, to flavor any kind of sauce, on the shelves at Smith's Supermarket, home-owned and home-operated at 121 W. College, Phone 652-2295, Lockney.

And you'll find ready-made sophisticated sauces in our gourmet department.

your electric investment

Chances are, you never thought about the value of the electric distribution system that serves you. How much do you suppose is invested in the electric meter, service connection, poles and wires just to serve you? And how about the miles of line that bring electricity to your property — what's your share of that? And the transformers? And the trucks and the line equipment, and the electric utility property and building? What's your guess?

that an average of nearly $150 will be spent in electric system additions or improvements for each customer served.

Your electric utility investment is a sizeable and growing amount. As your local, publicly owned electric utility, it is our responsibility to use and maintain this investment wisely. As a citizen-owner, you should know that we value your electric utility investment.

Nationally, America's public power systems have an average investment of more than $1,000 for each customer served — $1,034 to be exact. And this figure is growing rapidly. Ten years ago the investment for each customer was $596 — about half that of today. In 1971 we estimate tomers should get their directories in the mail early this week, said Jim West, manager for Southwestern Bell.

West pointed out that due to the nationwide paper shortage, the number of directories delivered to residences in both towns is reduced.

The cover painting, "Our Texas" by Edward Herbes, represents Texans of all faiths, races and cultural backgrounds and their historical achievements, West pointed out.

The basic concept of the unique "Our Texas" painting is a scroll representing the documents of Texas liberty, entwined by a red, white and blue ribbon to symbolize the historic patriotism of Texans.

Other significant articles in the painting include a military bugle depicting the impact of military forces on the state, a Colt revolver for the Texas lawman's edge over the bandit, a quill for the communications media and a school bell for the educational system.

"This painting," said artist Herbes, "has been in my mind for years and is a culmination of much research and travel throughout the state." Herbes pointed out that choosing which articles to include in the painting was difficult because there is so much to the state's history.

Southwestern Bell commissioned Herbes, a retired Air Force colonel, to do the painting especially for the directory cover.

FLOYD PHILOSOPHER

Gets So Far Over His Head In Study Of

Economics He Almost Drowns

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tackles inflation again this week.

Dear editor:

Inflation, according to what I've been reading in the newspapers I get hold of out here on this Johnson grass farm, is the number one problem in the country today and therefore I have been investigating ways to fight it.

Take the price of a cup of coffee. Years ago it was a nickel, then it went to 10 cents, and then to 15 cents, and now in some places it's 20 cents, 25 cents, and even in a few places 35 cents.

I read about one man who, when he found out his cafe was charging 35 cents, got up and left and swore he'd fight such inflation by brewing his own from now on. He said a pound of coffee, costing about $1.25 a pound unless it goes up some tomorrow, will make 50 cups, which at 35 cents a cup means the cafe gets $17.50. He said the way to fight inflation on cafe coffee is to simply stop buying it, and eventually the price will come down.

I have been pursuing this along other lines. Take postage. Everybody knows postage has gone up and up, while the service has been going down and down, on the same principle in reverse I guess as farm prices. As farm prices have gone down the price of food has gone up.

At first I figured if everybody would stop using the mails the price of stamps would come down. The I thought, mostly as a joke, what if everybody started putting 6-cent stamps on letters instead of 10 cents, if they haven't gone up to 12 by the time you get this. The postal service would get so tired of returning millions of letters stamped "Returned To Sender Due To Insufficient Postage" that it'd give in and deliver the stuff at the lower price. But I doubt it.

I have a better plan. All postage should be paid by the receiver instead of the sender and the rate should be determined by the efficiency of service. If the post office gets a letter to you in 24 hours, you pay 10 cents. If it takes two days to deliver it, you pay 8 cents. Three days, 6 cents. A week, 3 cents. Anything worse than that, it's free. It's the only way I can figure out to put any hustle in the postal service.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Dear Abby

Brother lets ex-wife and her boyfriend live with him

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law is a very self-centered person. She left her husband (my brother) after 25 years of marriage, to marry a gigolo-type man.

This caused my brother to have a nervous breakdown, during which time she never came near him to offer sympathy or help to her former mate, who would have died had it not been for us—his sisters and brothers.

This faithless wife even gave custody of his 15-year-old son to her husband, saying the boy was a nuisance.

Now, after several years of ignoring my brother, this terrible woman AND her gigolo husband have fallen on hard times, so they came to my brother, who offered to share his home with them.

Free room and board he's giving these worthless people! They have been there for several months now, and my brother will not permit any interference from any of his family.

Have you ever heard of a former husband permitting an erring wife and the man who broke up his marriage to be permanent guests in his home? He has no pride, apparently. Could his breakdown have added his brain? My brother holds down a responsible, high caliber job. BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: If your brother's brain were "addled," he couldn't be holding down a high caliber job. But added or not, it's his home and his decision—not yours—so stay out of it.

DEAR ABBY: What do you suggest for a non-sexist salutation in a business letter?

Obviously, "Dear Sir" is inappropriate; "To Whom It May Concern" is too verbose; "Greetings" connotes induction into the armed forces.

To further true equality, especially in this male-dominated business world, a new vocabulary is necessary. MS. W.

DEAR MS. W.: I offer, for your consideration, the unimaginative "Sir or Madam." (Too lacking in warmth and courtesy?) or, "Attention." (Or does that suggest "Achtung!" the German command?)

"To Whom It May Concern" may be verbose, but it is non-sexist and conveys precisely what the writer has in mind, which is still communication at its best.

DEAR ABBY: Who is right? Here is the situation: My husband of three years, my in-laws and I were having supper at our house.

My husband said to me, "Honey, will you please get me some more water?" I said to him, "God gave you two strong legs. If you want more water, get it yourself, dear." (We all work fulltime.)

His mother immediately jumped up from the table and got him some more water.

I said nothing at the table, but later I told my husband that I didn't think his mother should intercede in a two-way discussion between him and me.

I love and respect my mother-in-law, but I am curious as to what you think of this.

THE WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your mother-in-law should have ignored the exchange between your husband and you, but since she didn't, you shouldn't have made a big deal out of it. She probably acted out of habit. (Mothers are easily trained.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO UNCLE HENRY: No horse can go as fast as the money you bet on him.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif., 90069. Enclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Alcoholism and Children

Your Alcoholic Parent.

The book fills a definite need in literature on alcoholism and its victims.

As its title implies, it is aimed primarily at the children of alcoholics, whose schoolwork, social life, health and future may be jeopardized by their parents' excessive drinking.

Using a constructive, down-to-earth question and answer approach, Miss Hornick replies to such typical queries as: "I am embarrassed to have friends in to my home because of my father's drinking. What can I tell them?"

AND YOUR ALCOHOLIC PARENT. By Edith Hornick. Associated Press. $95.

Estimated 9 million children suffer from the effects of alcoholism. Multiplied three (the average of immediate family members of alcoholics), this becomes a whopping 27 million. This is the estimated number of Americans whose lives are directly touched by the effects of alcoholism; and for anyone else interested in this important national problem, Edith Lynn Hornick has written You and

What One Person Can Do

On a February day in 1945, a Russian artillery captain with several medals to his credit was arrested on the East Prussian front. On a February day in 1974, the same man was put aboard a TU-154 jet liner and sent into exile.

The man was Alexander Solzhenitsyn, one of the most highly regarded literary figures in the world. He was arrested in 1945 for criticizing Stalin in a letter to a friend. That statement cost Solzhenitsyn 11 years in some of Russia's worst labor camps. But it did not silence him.

Prison brought an odd kind of freedom — the chance to talk freely. A fellow convict reminded Solzhenitsyn that, as someone trained in mathematics, he should doubt everything — even Marxism. A lawyer from Estonia told him of the democracy in that country which had been crushed by Soviet tanks. Solzhenitsyn emerged from prison in 1956, convinced that the Russian people had to know what Stalin had done. His first novel, "The First Circle", was applauded by the State-controlled press. But his criticisms of the system itself soon led to Solzhenitsyn's being forbidden to publish. Still, his works circulated widely underground inside Russia. Smuggled to the West, they became bestsellers. His pleas for fundamental human rights, for the right to live where one chooses, to write as one pleases, won universal acclaim. Although he was highly critical of Western political systems, Solzhenitsyn rejected Marxism and found faith and God in the Russian Orthodox Church.

"I cannot accept," wrote Alexander Solzhenitsyn, "that it is impossible to reverse the disastrous course of history, that one human soul with confidence in itself cannot influence the most powerful force on earth."

His own life proved those words true. We are all in his debt.

Quick cheese rarebit is a good lunch. Heat together 2 cans (10 3/4 oz. each) condensed Cheddar cheese soup, 1/3 cup flat beer and 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce. Serve on toast points.

Cheddar Puff is a flavorful dish. In a 1-quart casserole make layers of buttered sliced Italian bread, 2 cups grated sharp Cheddar cheese and 2 tablespoons minced onion. Beat together 4 eggs, 3 cups milk, 3 tablespoons Worcestershire and 3/4 teaspoon salt. Pour over bread, let stand in refrigerator for 6 hours, then bake in 325° F. oven for 1 1/2 hours, or until puffy.

Season to Taste

TIPS ON SEASONING FISH

There are hundreds of kinds of fish in streams and seas and unlimited ways of spicing them.

Among the handiest seasoners are special blends: Seafood seasoning, a ground blend of savory and pungent spices especially good in sauces and chowders, and shrimp spice or crab boil which carry the aroma of whole red peppers, bay leaf, whole peppercorns and mustard to spice soups or stews or the cooking water for poaching fish.

Flavor Secrets

by Lea Perrins

CHEDDAR TRICKS WITH WORCESTERSHIRE

The English sired the marriage of Worcestershire and Cheddar cheese—a most savory union.

When making cheese sandwiches spread the bread with softened butter, Worcestershire and a few dry bread crumbs to "hold" the Worcestershire. Then lay sliced Cheddar on bread.

You can give lots of fine flavor to everyday cheese dishes. Use about 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce in six servings of macaroni and cheese, or the same amount and some chopped parsley in your basic cheese

Try this easy recipe: Turn 6 small fish in 1/2 cup pancake flour seasoned with salt, 2 teaspoons paprika and a dash of red pepper. Saute quickly in 1/4 cup fat.

Or brush 2 pounds fish steaks with 1/4 cup melted margarine, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 teaspoons salt and 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper. Broil 5 minutes, brushing with sauce. Then scatter generously with sesame seeds and broil a few minutes longer to brown seeds.

"Over my dead body" no way to go

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Our 25th wedding anniversary is coming up, and my husband offered me a "present" which I don't know how to take.

He said, in all seriousness: "I think it's time for us to present each other with a week off from our marriage every month."

I didn't know exactly what he meant, so I asked him to explain it. He said, "Well, one week out of every month you can do whatever you want, go wherever you please, and no questions asked. This includes staying out all night, and even going out of town if you want to." And, of course, he wanted the same privilege.

I said: "Over my dead body!"

Abby, I know some people have this kind of arrangement, but I think they are only asking for trouble. What do you think?

FULL TIME WIFE

DEAR FULL: I agree. But I wouldn't have put it the way you did. That's also asking for trouble.

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns a motorcycle which he tinkers with quite a bit in our front yard.

There is a 14-year-old neighbor girl who has a terrific crush on him, and now that school is out, she is over here the minute my husband appears outside to work on his cycle, and she stays until he comes inside. All the neighbors have commented on how this dopey kid moons over my husband.

My husband didn't mind it so much at first, but he says now she has become an awful pest. He hates to have to hide in the house because of this girl. He is really bugged, but he doesn't want to hurt her feelings.

How can I tell her to quit hanging around my husband without appearing to be jealous?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: It won't be easy. Why not tell your husband that any man who is old enough to ride a motorcycle is old enough to speak for himself? And then let him figure out a way to tell this girl she's bugging him.

DEAR ABBY: I am hard of hearing, and I rely on lip-reading to understand what others are saying, but when performers cover their lips with the microphone, it is impossible to read their lips.

Abby, will you do us hard-of-hearing people a service, and ask speakers and entertainers to please be sure their lips can be seen, so we can enjoy them, too? Thank you. MRS. W.

DEAR MRS. W.: Consider it done. It's amazing how we never give a thought to a problem—unless it's our own.

DEAR ABBY: I, too count the number of steps, arrange my clothes hangers and shoes in order, and have the bills in my wallet separated by denominations and all facing in the same direction.

A psychiatrist friend of mine told me that we are called "arithmomanics"

W.A.B.

DEAR W.A.B.: It figures.

VET REPS TAKING NEW OFFICES ON COLLEGE CAMPUSES

The Veterans Administration has leased facilities at four colleges and universities for use in preparing more than 1,300 Vet Reps for new duties on college campuses in advance of the fall enrollment.

Training will be conducted by the VA July 8-19, at Kean College, Union, N.J.; West Georgia College, Carrollton, Ga.; Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland; and UCLA, Los Angeles.

The 57 Vet Reps assigned to the Waco VA Regional Office will attend training at West Georgia College.

The Vet Reps are the mainstay in an all-out program undertaken by the VA to ensure prompt delivery of GI Bill education assistance checks. Recruiting for the new Vet Reps has been under way since May 6, and is expected to be completed by the end of this month, a VA spokesman said.

New and improved procedures in troubleshooting paper processing between the veterans, the school and the VA regional office will be included in instruction provided at the four centralized training sites.

Each training site will be staffed by VA central office and regional office personnel. Each class will consist of approximately 30 students who will attend 10 days of lectures and discussions. Vet Reps are scheduled to assume their new duties on campus by Aug. 1.

Emphasis in recruiting the Vet Reps has been placed on Vietnam-era veterans, some draw from the nearly 22,000 now employed by VA. Their vacancies will be filled by newcomers recruited from outside the agency.

Plans for the Vet Rep program were developed by a management team of VA and Office of Management and Budget officials in response to a Presidential directive.

New procedures include handling all applications for education benefits as requests for advance payment. The first two months' payments will be delivered when the veterans student enrolls.

Presence of a VA man on campus also will assist with the administrative work needed to ensure that subsequent checks are not delayed as a result of changes in address, academic courses or marital status.

VA annually delivers 13 million educational assistance checks, the vast majority of which are dispatched without delay. The Vet Rep program is aimed at earlier recognition and speedy resolution of situations which can result in delayed payments.

Porky the Pig Getting Leaner

Housewives may be paying more for pork now than they did five years ago, but they're getting a better buy for their money.

Thanks to agricultural research, today's pork provides more lean meat than ever before.

In fact, Director William F. Hueg, Jr., of the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station, says the average 200-pound hog going to market this year has 22 pounds more of lean meat than his ancestors of 20 years ago.

Continuing research on improved breeding methods for better meat quality will make pork an even better buy in the future, he adds.

AWAY FROM IT ALL

Would you like to be able to go to a retreat like this when you are worried—a place where you could be alone with your thoughts—a place where you could untangle your problems?

If you would, then you are like most people. Everyone needs a retreat, at moments. And everyone has one! It isn't a mountain cabin or a seaside cottage—but it is a place far better suited to prayer and contemplation, a place to sort out old errors and make new resolutions. It is your church.

Let your church be your sanctuary. Go to it when you are troubled. You will find within its walls your moment of peace, and you will walk out into the street again far better able to make the most of your life.

Artist-of-the-Month in the Floyd County Historical Museum is Mrs. Mildred Cates of our community. She has studied with Ruth Barnett of Hale Center, Sally Goodacre, and Jo Ann Duvall of Aiken. She prefers painting flowers but has branched into landscapes such as the scene she did on commission for Fred Zimmerman of the old Z Bar Ranch headquarters. The artist painted the landscape and buildings on a piece of aged weathered wood from the barn at the ranch. The flowers she loves are seen in the blue daisies commissioned by Mrs. D. M. Cogdell, Jr. Children's pictures of Raggedy Ann and a merry-go-round scene were requested by an orthodontist in Memphis, Tenn. Go in and see what talent Dougherty has in its midst at the museum.

Director, National Cemetery System (42)
Veterans Administration Central Office

Washington, D.C. 20420
Applications for headstones and grave markers are expected to total more than 200,000 by the end of fiscal year 1974, a VA spokesman said.

A headstone or gravemarker is available for any deceased veteran who received an other than
