Bank Deposits

Up Almost $2 Million

Floyd County's two First National Banks showed a nice gain in deposits of almost two million dollars over a similar state bank call of a year ago.

The call was made October 17 last year... this year at the end of business on September 30.

The bankers felt the report was very good considering no government checks have come in, hardly any grain sorghum money, and this year's wheat crop was off quite a bit.

The Lockney bank increased in deposits from $9,882,034.11 to $10,929,165.29. Loans were up from $5,117,840.51 to $5,997,612.12.

Deposits at the Floydada bank were up from $16,009,511.15 to $16,739,329.39. Loans were up from $6,323,930.27 to $9,405,131.65.

make good year" for they made good on a victory of last year, and they are to defeat the Loboes on another make good game. The Loboes beat the Whirlwinds 15-7 last year with a running back by the name of Sam Mitchell, who seemed to make yardage every time he carried the ball. Well, this year, Sam is gone, he's graduated, and the Whirlwinds are a better team than last year...so, prospects for a "Wind victory Friday night appear to be good.

Levelland played Littlefield a 7-7 tie earlier this year. They lost to Lubbock High 9-8 last week. Levelland is second in its district behind first place Perryton, with a 1-3-1 record.

Defense seems to be the Loboes strong side, as they have scored only 30 points in the five games. They have a new coach, Colie Huffman who puts a lot of praise on quarterback 5-8, 150 pound Bobby Smith. For size there's 5-10, 210 pound guard Ray Grant, 6-0, 195 pound tackle Byron Mitchell, 6-0, 190 pound full back Mark Dennis, 6-0, 195 pound center Steve Wood.

The Loboes usually run from the T formation.

The only game Levelland has won this year is a 9-8 victory over Brownfield. There are 27 seniors on the Lobo team, besides the experienced quarterback, the Whirlwinds will be watchful of 5-11, 185 Donny Cruch, a seasoned tackle and a newcomer tailback by the name of Gary Childress who has plenty of speed.

WHIRLWINDS
Coach L. G. Wilson reports the Whirlwinds came through the Littlefield game in fairly good condition and workouts have been going good this week.

Grain Farmers Advised To "Hold Steady"

Several Floydada farmers concerned about the weak grain sorghum price after President Ford's cancellation of the Russian grain deal, called Elbert Harp, president of the Grain Sorghum Association Tuesday morning.

The call, made from Producers Cooperative Elevator was very informative as Harp assured the farmers that the grain price would come back up. It was also suggested that any farmer needing money now on his sorghum, could put it in the loan until June of next year with the privilege to sell on the open market at any time.

Grain sorghum reached a peak of $6.00 here before the President's step into the Russian deal. It may have dropped about a dollar per hundred, but at press time yesterday was back to around $5.65. Harp reported it was back to $6.00 in the Wednesday Amarillo morning newspaper.

Murry (Boly) Jones

Pays $1,000 Fine

Murry (Boly) Jones pleaded guilty to "possession of alcoholic beverages for sale" in county judge J.K. Holmes court Wednesday morning and received the maximum fine under the law of $1,000 plus court costs.

Also pleading guilty to a similar charge and receiving a $500 fine plus court costs was William Arthur Whitfield, also of Floydada.

Representing the state was county attorney Kenneth Bain. Jones and Whitfield were represented by Dudley K. Brummett and Robert Proctor of Lubbock.

engine-generator power for the city's electric plant, it just hasn't been possible.

It hasn't been possible because of the high cost and scarcity of power units, and the selling of $600,000 worth of revenue bonds has also been impossible. So, in a called meeting last week, the council decided to work on the possibilities of buying a good used engine-generator unit. This edition of the Hesperian carried legal notice for bids on such a unit.

"This seems to be the only answer, if we are going to stay in the electricity business, and we feel that the vote of confidence our people gave in the bond vote indicates it is wise to stay in the business," Mayor Parnell Powell told a Hesperian reporter Monday.

A profitable operation of the electric plant means we have a low city tax rate in Floydada, it means we can control our electric rates, and the profits allow the city to afford many services to its people," the mayor added.

Yoo, hoo, men! A Woman Won Again!

Well, men here we go again... the winner of the football contest is a woman! Floydada's Jean Hale missed only two contests and takes the $7.50 first prize.

In second place is Jim Curtsinger of Lubbock and he will receive the $5.00 second place with only two misses. He is a three time winner in the contest.

Third place is a tie between Trava Gentry and Carl Lewis, both of Floydada and both missed two contests. They will share the $2.50 third place prize.

The tie-breaker Floydada Littlefield game was used to determine the winners who all missed the upset games of Lockney-Kress and Crosbyton-Hale Center. The total score of the game was 34. Jean guessed 32, Jim 31, Trava 38 and Carl 38.

Tommy Cathey also missed only two contests, but guessed 27 on the tie breaker.

Honorable mention goes to the following contestants who missed only three games: Ricky Vasquez, Charles Didway, and Lynn Marler.

Texas Grainmen Wait Until Trade Situation Stabilizes

By TOM JOHNSON
Globe-News Staff Writer

The Panhandle grain market was buoyed by active trading Tuesday in Chicago and Kansas City but there was little activity in Texas as both sellers and buyers generally adopted a wait-and-see attitude.

Wheat futures quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade actually closed Tuesday afternoon a few cents above Friday's strong market figure.

"It looks like wheat has made a complete recovery," said D. G. "Bill" Nelson, executive vice president of the Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Wheat trading was at a standstill in central markets Monday as quotations plummeted the maximum 20-cent limit in reaction to the weekend cancellation of a $500 million U. S. corn-wheat export deal to the Soviet Union.

Weekend pessimism turned to guarded optimism Tuesday as most Panhandle elevators at least quoted a market, even though trading remained sluggish.

"We're not going to have any big fall-off in the grain market," said George Jones of Producers Grain Corp. in Amarillo.

"Wheat was trading fairly well Tuesday but corn closed down the limit again," Jones said.

He said the Kansas City December wheat futures market closed at $4.89 Tuesday, up from Monday's $4.87 1/2.

High Plains grain sorghum also came back strong Tuesday after the market posted "no trades" Monday afternoon.

"December futures closed at $6.05 Tuesday," said Elbert Harp of Lubbock, executive director of the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

"Our cash grain is coming back pretty fast, too," Harp said. "Milo was $6.05 FOB at the elevator today, after it fell $1.20 yesterday."

"It's bouncing back quite a bit faster than we had anticipated," he added.

"But the air is still full of rumors and some fear," Harp said.

Nelson said probably the principal reason for the wheat market's fast recovery was continued foreign inquiries for large export sales.

"There were at least eight foreign inquiries Tuesday, all in excess of 50,000 tons," Nelson said. "This demonstrates the strength of the world grain market."

"It was a nice surprise to see wheat active at noon today."

Nelson said the composite grain picture would probably remain slow all week.

"The USDA's monthly crop report comes out Thursday," he said. "Most people are holding back to see those figures so it will take until next week for the market to get back in full swing."

He said the wheat crop has already been harvested but the Thursday report will affect trading of milo, corn and soybeans following an early frost in the latter part of September.

Quotations for Texas High Plains wheat Tuesday afternoon ranged from $4.75 to $4.90, according to the Market News Service of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Panhandle wheat was $5.01 to $5.20 Friday. G. D. Anderson Jr. of Shirley-Anderson Elevators, Bovina, said farmers "felt a little better Tuesday but they still don't know exactly where they stand."

"Even nice to see then instead faces over"

Early Defoliant Application Can Be Costly

LUBBOCK — Applying harvest aid chemicals too early can be costly, says a report by two Lubbock-based agri-scientists.

According to a recently released report by Dr. J. D. Bilbro of the Agricultural Research Service-USDA and Dr. Levon Ray, cotton geneticist with the Lubbock Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, killing the plants when the cotton is still immature lowers both yield and micronaire value.

In a 1972 yield test, plants of five cotton varieties were mechanically killed on two dates, Oct. 1 and Oct. 13. When fiber properties and yield were compared to that of plants killed by the first fall frost which occurred Nov. 1, the results were quite conclusive, the researchers reported.

"The five varieties averaged fairly good yields of 513 pounds per acre when they were not killed before the first frost."

"Only 485 pound yields were obtained from cotton which was mechanically killed October 13. Cotton that was killed as early as Oct. 1 actually reduced yields to 398 pounds of lint per acre."

Although micronaire values were generally low in 1972, Ray and Bilbro explained, the frost-killed cotton had a 3.4 micronaire value, compared to a 2.9 "mike" of cotton killed on Oct. 1, and 3.2 from cotton killed Oct. 13.

"Such reductions in micronaire values would result in substantial price discounts," concluded the scientists.

Ray and Bilbro found, as expected, that the later in maturity the variety, the greater the reduction in yield and micronaire caused by premature plant kill.

Boll size and seed size are also reduced by the premature killing, they added. But only small effects on staple length and fiber strength were found.

The researchers pointed out that results similar to those found in these tests could be expected where plants were prematurely killed by early freeze, by Verticillium wilt or by harvest-aid chemicals. Of course, the results could be altered by climatic factors and the stage of growth.

"In some cases harvest-aid chemicals can be a useful tool in cotton production, especially in getting a mature crop out of the field early," they said. "However, due to the unusually high rainfall and cool temperatures of late summer months, producers should carefully examine their crop and determine if the crop is mature enough to use chemicals without a yield or quality reduction."

In all cases, established recommendations for the use of defoliants and desiccants should be followed, they stressed.

Full details of the test are contained in TAES Progress Report 3259. Copies may be obtained from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock or from the Department of Agricultural Communications, Texas A&M University.

Used Aluminum Worth Money

Clubs and civic groups looking for ways to raise money can start by collecting the trash. The Reynolds Metals Company has increased from 10¢ to 15¢ a pound its price for empty aluminum cans and other household aluminum scrap.

Clubs can urge their members to collect aluminum for recycling and redeem the metal at a local depot, either a Reynolds recycling spot, or at one of the several Reynolds trucks which make regular stops at shopping centers. Over 1300 beer and soft drink wholesalers are cooperating in the pick-up program as well.

According to a Reynolds spokesman, last year alone the metals company recycled more than 1.1 billion cans and paid the public more than $4.5 million.

For information on local recycling centers, write: Public Relations Manager-Recycling, Reynolds Metals Company, P.O. Box 27003, Richmond, Va. 23261.

Demand for paper products is expected to increase by about 7 million tons over the next three years.

Cool Temperatures Increasing Verticillium

LUBBOCK — A disease known as Verticillium wilt, or "vert" as cotton farmers call it, is having its day this season with cool temperatures and high soil moisture. This may serve to remind producers to take preventive measures now to avoid the disease next year, says a cotton pathologist. One way is to get those careless weeds out of sorghum fields that will be planted to cotton next year.

Why sorghum fields? Because, producers often rotate cotton with sorghum, says Dr. Earl Minton of Agricultural Research Service-U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Careless weeds growing in sorghum and other crops are hosts for the fungus responsible for causing Verticillium wilt. When cotton is planted the next year in place of sorghum, "vert" may be there waiting.

Pointing to a recently completed research study in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, Minton notes that the lowest incidence of wilt occurred in sorghum plots which had been kept weed-free. The degree of wilt damage in cotton planted in plots where weed-infested grain sorghum was grown for four years was markedly higher than in cotton grown on test sites following weed-free sorghum.

"This holds true across the board," he said. "Whether four years or one year, the wilt damage was higher in the weedy sorghum."

"Our studies indicate that a three-year rotation gives the best results, and that two years are better than one before going back to cotton. The degree of control is in direct relationship to the number of years the weed-free sorghum was planted."

Minton says that the studies also showed that the earlier in the season Verticillium wilt occurs in the cotton crop, the lower its yield and the greater damage to lint and seed quality.

Sorghum is not the only crop that can be used in a rotation series, Minton hastens to explain. Barley, wheat, castor beans and soybeans are very effective Fresh, warm air gently circulating from floor to ceiling... so nice to take for granted. Comfort is clean gas heat.

And that dependable comfort is such a bargain here in West Texas. Though gas energy costs a little more than it use to, gas furnaces cost than one-third as much to operate as similar electric furnaces.

And at the same time you're saving money with gas heating, you get a warm feeling knowing that you're helping conserve energy. Gas heating uses half as much energy as an electric system doing the same job.

Comfort, efficiency, and economy... you get it all with natural energy.

SINCE Floydada fans turned out in abundance Friday night at the football game, maybe Littlefield can take part of the ticket sales and repair the walkway in the bleachers. I hope so, for there are some pretty terrible places. No one fell that I know of, but it was only because everyone passed the word, "Look out for the hole."

CLUB women from 19 counties will be represented in Floydada Saturday at the Caprock District meeting and workshop. Other dignitaries from over the area are also to be present. Floydada townspeople, I'm sure, feel honored to have this event take place in their city.

THE mini-skirt has been pronounced dead at last. English papers mourned the loss. The London Evening News, where the mini came out swinging, cried: "Tell me it isn't true." The Sun headlined: "The Final Heave-Ho" and one disc

Club Members Visit Ranch Museum

Members of the 1934 Study Club and guests met Sunday afternoon at the A. L. Wylie Jr., home, and from there went to Lubbock for a visit to the Ranch Headquarters Museum. The Ranch Headquarters has accepted the challenge to stand in the spotlight for the American West during the bicentennial, because it recalls a dramatic era and spirit in our country's history — a time of Pioneers of bold traditions, and the time of the Cowboy-America's most colorful folk hero.

On entering the museum, attention is drawn to a mural painting on the east wall done by the son-in-law of Peter Hurd. Many beautiful and interesting pieces of art were on display. The women enjoyed a special exhibit of beautiful quilts and an unusual pitcher collection.

but the hope is to adjourn about December 6 until January. There are big issues remaining to be resolved. Some legislation, such as appropriation bills, of which there are fourteen covering major operations of the Government, must be enacted. In other areas there is legislation considered to be a "must" before the expiration of the 93rd Congress. This sometimes becomes a matter of opinion, but whatever can be done to deal with inflation and all things connected with it is a real necessity. No real course of action has yet been decided upon by the Congress or the President, although a myriad of ideas and proposals are kicking around. The President is submitting to the Congress his recommendations in some of these areas, including tax changes. Although it is not wise to speculate on what may be done, time runs

NEWS FOR HOMEMAKERS
By Billie McMorris

Hostess Cindy Kidwell of the television series "You Can Do It!" insists viewers can learn to make most toilet repairs and adjustments themselves. She will teach the basic techniques on this week's program, "Toilet Tuneups", Saturday, at 4:30 p.m. on KLBK-TV, Ch. 13.

Locally, the 13-part educational series is sponsored by the Floyd County Family Living Committee and KLBK-TV, according to Mrs. McMorris, county Extension agent.

"Homeowners in Floyd County could save one-half the cost of all home repair service and service calls by using preventive maintenance — and this is what the television programs will teach throughout the series", the agent said. Programs for the series were created and produced by home economics specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System, through a United States Department of Agriculture grant. Next week's program will demonstrate caulking and weatherstripping techniques.

PRECAUTION NEEDED WHEN CANNING FOOD

AUSTIN—Recent reports of botulism in home canned tomatoes, apparently caused by improper canning procedures have prompted Agriculture Commissioner John C. White to warn consumers to take proper care when canning food. White said low acid vegetables such as corn, peas and green beans are also common botulism sources when home-canned. According to widely scattered reports, jars and lids made specifically for canning have been difficult to find this year.

Nevertheless, Texas Department of Agriculture home economists strongly advised against reusing lids and cracked or chipped odd-sized or shaped jars. Do not use overripe food and do not overpack food. Follow exactly the time and temperature specifications listed in instructions. Test the seal according to instructions. Do not use canned foods showing signs of spoilage. Watch for bulging lids, leaks, off-odors or mold.

THE HOLY SPIRIT WILL NOT TAP YOU ON THE SHOULDER AND SAY TO YOU... "IT'S TIME FOR YOU TO BE A CHRISTIAN." (part 1)

There are those who are waiting for the Holy Spirit to "tap them on the shoulder" or "send the light" or produce some kind of "romantic, mystical influence" before they become a Christian. Some wait and wait and wait, while others become (as a result of some experience, ranging from a near miss accidental death to becoming emotionally wrought up) "Christians" because of having some kind of emotional experience. This is not said in ridicule or contempt but rather in an attempt to get all to explore what the Bible actually teaches we can expect from God or the Holy Spirit in conversion and thereafter.

First, the Bible (the Words of God) came to us in written form as a result of the influence and working of God's Holy Spirit at God's directions. In John 14:26 and 16:13 is the record of Jesus' promise to the apostles that the Holy Spirit would direct THEM into "all truth" and "all things," II Peter 1:21 reads, "Holy" men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Spirit" and Ephesians 3:5 says this revelation of God's Will was given only through the "apostles and prophets by the Spirit."

Secondly, Faith, which leads us to salvation (Romans 10:10; John 1:12) comes from what is WRITTEN—John 20:31 "These things are written that ye might have life through his name."

What One Person Can Do

SAMUEL GREENE, Retiree

At 68, Samuel Greene ended one career and started another. He gave up his own business in New Jersey and ever since has been helping Indian communities in Guatemala. He lives there on the side of a mountain. He is now 82.

The difficulties of the Guatemalan Indians have been a challenge for Mr. Greene since his first year there, he spent it "going up and down the country by jeep, on horseback, muleback and by foot," he relates. "I found Indians in the highlands living a life of quiet desperation, without hope."

The retired man decided to do something. He sought contributions from individuals and businesses and, in 1963, established the Penny Foundation to help the Indians. The concept behind the foundation is community effort and responsibility. Individuals contribute labor and few cents a day. They pick the project. "If they wanted electricity and I thought they should have water," says the New Jerseyite, "they got electricity. Who was I to change it?"

The idea works. In an Indian village which was without drinking water for 12 months, 45 children died of typhoid fever. It cost $1,800 to pipe potable water from two miles up in the mountains. A Penny Foundation loan made a pipeline possible. Each family pays under a penny a day.

There are now 19 national development foundations in 17 Latin American countries outgrowths of Sam Greene's idea. "He simply established the fact," says Sy Rotter, director of the Pan American Development Foundation, "that if you are going to help them (poor people) develop within their own capacity and desires, what you offer them should be simple."

Suppose Mr. Greene had quite at 68? How many lives would have been poorer?

CONGRESSMAN PRICE SPEAKS OF WELFARE AND FOOD STAMP ABUSE

(Congressman Bob Price)

The number of people on welfare in this nation was down at the end of 1973 for the first time in history. Some 10.8 million people were on welfare at the end of the year, down from the 11 million peak reached in March of last year. This was primarily due to efforts by the Nixon Administration to encourage the states to crack down on welfare abuses.

That was a good start but plenty of abuse remains in the welfare system and in the food stamp program. I have received a number of complaints from people who have observed apparent food stamp abuses. It certainly looks improper when a person fills a grocery basket with non-essential, almost luxury items, pays with food stamps, then piles the purchases in a new expensive car and drives away. I would encourage anyone witnessing such an apparent violation to note the car's license number or to observe other identifying characteristics and to report the occurrence to the local food stamp distribution office. Such actions by good citizens have often resulted in removal from welfare and food stamp roles of persons no longer eligible for assistance.

No one is opposed to offering a genuine helping hand to someone who needs it. But no taxpayer should be asked to support individuals who do not merit assistance. Welfare and food stamp abuses are often difficult to track down. The cost of hiring enough employees to adequately check on every recipient is often prohibitive. But some improvements can and should be made.

Welfare should be specifically tied to an active job search on the part of unemployed persons capable of working. It should be designed so that real incentive exists to get off the welfare rolls. Unfortunately, the current system too often encourages recipients to extend their dependency upon public assistance.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan initiated a study of welfare and food stamp programs in his state last year and the findings are reported in a 70-page proposal made public Sept. 6. This document should be studied at the federal level and in all the other states as well. The California study found costly abuses particularly in the food stamp program.

The food stamp program has multiplied rapidly from 367,000 recipients in 1964 to some 13 million today. Part of this increase is because the Congress has specifically provided food stamps for strikers, a move I have strongly opposed.

The federal government spent in the State of Texas alone about $214,524,000 on the food stamp program during fiscal 1974. I don't know whether major abuses exist in our state, but I believe that a review of the program in every state would result in significant savings for taxpayers.

PORTER (right) was presented a ten year pen by H. L. Porter Jr. of Petersburg at the Tuesday morning. Porter is vice president of the Floyd County ASCS committee. Ferguson is committee member and will not be eligible for the year. Ned Bradley is the other member of the committee.

has resulted in thousands of business failures during the past five years. The increasing tendency among lenders to deal with either low-risk short-term investments, or swollen interest rates in high-risk areas, has contributed to the drain on investment capital available, to the small entrepreneur, said the Exchange Chairman.

Needham cites the positive contributions of small businesses to the U.S. economy throughout our history and the need to maintain their stability.

Waste Recovery Helps Ease Energy Shortage

Resource recovery—or reprocessing refuse—takes on top priority in St. Louis, New Orleans, Baltimore, San Diego County, Charleston, W. Va., and several other areas.

The St. Louis project, involving the Environmental Protection Agency, the steel industry and Union Electric Power Co. has been so successful that the power firm is now planning to build a $70 million plant that will process all refuse in the metropolitan area.

Reprocessing systems recover valuable metallic wastes for recycling and can convert other trash into usable energy.

Amazing New Way To Solve All
 Country's Financial Problems

The Floyd Philosopher on... hundreds of years ago by people I guess who didn't know how to print paper money. Some say it's not buried, it's in a hidden cave, but either way it's there.

Then it hit me. There's the solution to our financial problems. Pick out a cave in the remote mountains of New Mexico, build a four-foot-thick steel door at the mouth, seal it off, put up round-the-clock guards out front, and declare there's 200 billion dollars worth of gold inside, to be examined no earlier than six Presidents away.

With that much gold behind us we can start up the printing presses and be in financial shape to pay the Arabs any amount they ask for their oil, pay the cattlemen a subsidy for beef on the hoof and the super-

R.H. Lutrick Selected For PCA Land Appraisal School

R.H. Lutrick, manager of Plainview Production Credit Association's Floydada field office, was selected as one of 60 candidates throughout Texas to participate in the PCA Land Appraisal School, October 8 - 11, at Texas A&M University.

Purdue University and Texas A&M University professors will provide three days on intensive instruction in the mechanics of appraising rural land.

Lutrick said accelerating rural land prices prompted the training. Emphasis will be on the Market Data, "comparable price," technique or appraisal. "Any farmer or rancher who has ever had his land appraised," Lutrick stated, "knows the importance of an accurate evaluation."

Center News

By Mrs. J.E. Green

CENTER, October 7 — This is another foggy, misty day - as was Sunday. Only it is colder today.

Mrs. Ava Jackson visited with Mr. and Mrs. Claud Carpenter Friday p.m., and attended her Sunday School Class party at the First Baptist Church one afternoon.

Mrs. Garvin Beedy of Lockney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Frizzell, had surgery last Wednesday in a Plainview hospital. She is reported doing o.k.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Warren of Hale Center visited his grandmother, Mrs. Elmer Warren, from Tuesday until Thursday. Mrs. Warren accompanied them to Amarillo where they visited Gene's parents, the Bill Warrens. Mrs. Elmer Warren spent Friday night with an old friend, Mrs. Myrtle Meredith. All returned home Sunday afternoon.

Calls made the last week by Mrs. Green were at the homes of Mrs. Harve Thomas, Mrs. Fulkerson, Mrs. Jester, Mrs. Leona Bell and the Pecks.

Mrs. A.W. Anderson of the nursing home had a pleasant weekend with some of her children. Saturday Mrs. Ausie Watson (Estelle) and daughter, Peggy, and grandbaby Paula of Abilene, and Estelle's and Ausie's son, Travis Watson and wife and baby of Waco all arrived. All dined Sunday with Louis Anderson and family. Mike Carroll, city, dined Sunday with home folks, the Morris Carrolls.

He then returned to Lockney Hospital where his wife, Evelyn, is a patient.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Edmondson of Phillips spent Friday night and Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Battey.

Callers in the home of Miss Vera Meredith last week included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Daniel, Mrs. Hal Thomas, and Mrs. Clay Muncy of Lockney.

Miss Meredith spent the weekend in Lockney with the Muncys and attended church with them Sunday at the First Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warren and others of the school board spent the weekend in San Antonio attending a school board convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stout of Quitaque and small daughter, Michele, came Friday. Elaine and Michele visited her grandmother Mrs. Ola Warren while Paul went with the group to Littlefield to see the Floydada team win another football game.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Thomas spent Saturday in Lubbock with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Mensch.

Sunday afternoon visitors in the Hal Thomas home were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Williams of Plainview and Bill Thomas of Lockney.

Mrs. Luther Holmes visited Mrs. O.C. Vinson Thursday afternoon.

Jerry Huckabee of Stephenville came to Stanton Tuesday to visit his sister Mrs. Judy Brandenburg and family. Later he, accompanied by Judy and her two children, came to Floydada and spent the night with their grandmother, Mrs. O.C. Vinson.

Mrs. C.W. Denison's nephew, Johnny Parrack of Amarillo, stopped by Sunday on his way home from a visit to his parents in Anson. He reports his father, hospitalized awhile back, is at home now, slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. O.G. Mayfield attended the football game at Littlefield Friday evening and Saturday checked on the parental home place in that area.

We sympathize with family and congregation and other friends of Bro. Gluck, pastor for 20 years of the First Baptist Church in Hubbard. Bro. Gluck had a heart attack while driving to Hillsboro and passed on shortly after reaching the hospital. We grieve with them all. He was pastor of our daughter's family, the Dr. J.M. Rymans of Hubbard.

Kirchhoff For

Industrial Bond

Local industrial development bonds, backed by credit resources of the State of Texas, were proposed today by Mary Kirchhoff of Plainview, candidate for the State Senate's 30th District.

"This would be a solution to the problem of getting new jobs and new industry to locate in the smaller cities and towns throughout Texas. I have been working in rural development since the 1950's, and I know this is the time for a positive step forward."

"The first bill I will introduce as a State Senator in Austin will propose that the state puts its full faith and credit behind a program of industrial development bonds, if a town or a city needs assistance in securing new industry."

The candidate, whose work with the Small Towns Task Force has been used as patterns for rural development, pointed out that smaller communities in Northwest Texas have been at a disadvantage in competing for new industry and new job opportunities. "The reason has been," Mrs. Kirchhoff stressed, "because private capital in those towns and cities has not been available in amounts large enough to attract new industry. By way of contrast, in the major metropolitan areas, aggressive industrial development programs have been underway for a long time because they could afford it through gifts of private capital."

"This is a problem that can be corrected, the candidate emphasized.

"This lack of balance is wrong. Our young people should be able to find jobs at home if they want to remain and work among their families and friends. I believe state government should provide a helping hand wherever it is needed — such as those instances in which a community is unable to find adequate resources of its own to attract new industry."

"Too many smaller towns and cities are 'on the verge of drying up' she said. The population decline has caused a lack of jobs in these areas — and the bigger cities just 'keep getting larger and larger.'"

"Many of these same people who have moved to larger cities would prefer life in a smaller town if they could support themselves there," she said. "I keep hearing this in every county where I have traveled lately. Our people want something done about this problem, and I believe our legislature should respond with a program of positive action."

"We are well past the point where political double-talk is acceptable. I want to get things done. This problem of 'no jobs' and 'no new industry' has hindered us too long already, and I suggest that use of the state's credit in support of local industrial development bonds would be a safe, inexpensive way to get that job done."

"It's time for action."

Sixth Grade Prepares For Metric System

The sixth grade at the Cuba City Elementary School in Cuba City, Wisconsin went metric this past term. Students constructed their own meter rules and weighed and measured objects to compute area and volume in the metric system.

The class agreed that metrication is in our future and that it is helpful to "think metric" now so that it will be easier to "go metric" when the time comes.

clubs increased by nine percent and the number of volunteer leaders by 10 percent. While continuing to involve a maximum number of youths in rural America, 4-H has found increasing interest in its programs among young people of the cities and suburbs. And 82 countries around the world now have 4-H or similar type groups.

Many of the activities in which 4-H members and their groups participate focus on the concerns of today. Their efforts are directed to improvement in the quality of living, such as—energy conservation, maintenance and improvement of the environment and increasing the nation's food supply. The young people's work places emphasis on health and safety—individual, family and community—good nutrition and a variety of other community projects and activities meeting the special needs of their local areas.

Encouragement for the young people comes from numerous sources, including—the Cooperative Extension Service, which administers the 4-H program. Additionally, numerous friends of 4-H within the nation's private sector support the program, including 60 corporate and foundation donors which channel resources through the National 4-H Service Committee.

With an active program in nearly every county of the U.S., 4-H has grown dramatically in recent years. This past year alone saw a 32 percent increase in the number of youth participants. The number of organized 4-H
