

TNO To Stop Bus Service Here

$23,126 the first two executives of TNO and Oklahoma book told a large group they want to stop bus service in Floydada.

W.O. Clyde Owen, TNO manager Bob Owen and several Floydada people in a room Wednesday company had made railroad Commission operation of bus service to Vernon. This company planned the line by the of population and the line covers. He said a similar amount on Plainview line had been subsidizing will not be good for Plainview, Lockney, Floydada, Mador, Paducah, Crowell and Vernon.

He said express service was the main service of the line as very few people used the bus passenger service.

"We felt we should come and visit with you personally about this," Owen concluded.

Owen said the state hearing will be September 3, 1975. If protest is filed, it will be scheduled at a later date.

Several Floydada people gave reasons why the bus service should not be stopped.

Randy Hollums pointed out that with the new A&M Training school to locate in Floydada there would be increased passenger service here. Owens said that wouldn't make any difference. Rev. Jimmy Tidwell said, "this is just another step in leaving the rural community with less contact with the outside world."

The question was asked, "how much of the business comes from Floydada of the six towns served?" Chamber of Commerce president Tommy Farris said that Floydada did one third of the business.

Frank Milby asked if it would be possible to run one of the Lubbock to Plainview buses around by Floydada. Owens said it would not be feasible or profitable.

It was also suggested that the bus company run a smaller bus through here. Owen said that the small bus would not bear the service of a big bus which operated for a million miles or more.

One local citizen pointed out that there was virtually no passengers on buses coming through Floydada because of the schedule of one bus per day.

Hollums pointed out that Floydada got no credit for business that started at Dallas, then to Lubbock, then to Floydada . . . this express service showed in the Lubbock business.

At the end of the meeting, there was considerable discussion about the six cities involved forming their own bus or express service.

Board Hires Several Teachers

A big turn-over of the Floydada school system has resulted in a considerable time in accepting resignations of teachers.

Included: Pat Smith, Mary Garza, Anne Welch, Gary Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Brenda Jones, Don Miller.

Others include: Barbara Jan Herber for high Patricia Louise Joyce, Petra Marley, remedial teacher, speech and high Ann Rinker, migrant Ralle Rinker, history; Mrs. J. High science; Mrs. art at Duncan; Mrs. Dewane Franklin (Mrs. J. High); Mrs. fifth grade; Betsy Wilson, Janice school system. The board approved the decision of the state board because it would risk losing accreditation if it went against the state board.

CALLED MEETING
Although the board did extensive study on the new budget and heard business manager Claude Estes explain the various problems of cost estimates for the school's operation another year, no tax rate was set and a special budget hearing meeting has been called for August 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the school offices. The public is invited to attend.

Estes said his tax collections were about 92% collected, he had estimated 95 to 96% collections for this time of year. He said that the school district evaluation was very realistic at $86,225,000 and felt that this was in agreement with the state school evaluation group.

Attending the board meeting were president Thomas Warren, board members Travis Jones, Betty Holmes, Harvey Allen, and Lawrence Stovall.

City Council Discusses Dogs, Carnivals, Electricity

The City Council in a relatively short agenda discussed catching dogs, carnival permits and equipment for the electricity plant at its regular monthly meeting Monday night.

The council decided to pay Larry Guthrie "per dog caught" in the future when stray dogs are reported by residents of the city. City manager Bill Feuerbacher also recommended the dog pound be moved from the dump grounds to the city hall block. He said people cut up the fence freeing dogs at the dump grounds and the dogs could be better cared for if the pound were located near the city offices.

CARNIVALS
The council instructed attorney George Miller to draw up an ordinance whereby visiting commercial carnivals would pay a fee with the city before setting up for business.

STEWART ADDITION
Miller said the city was ready to receive the Stewart addition into the city limits and a public hearing was set at 7:30 p.m. on September 8 in regard to bringing the new area into the city limits.

OTHER BUSINESS
In other business the council decided to advertise for bids on a hoist system to be mounted over the new V-12 engine for lifting parts of the engine when it is inspected and repaired.

The council also approved expenditure of $10,000 to put in underground electrical lines to two blocks in the Texas addition west of the High School.

The council agreed to attend a special called meeting Wednesday to hear a proposal by the bus company that there would be no more bus service for Floydada.

Councilmen Wayne Russell, Jerry Thompson, Leroy Burns and Johnny Bill Sue were present at the meeting presided over by Mayor Parnell Powell.

SEVERAL FLOYDADA businessmen and other interested individuals heard representatives of TNM&O report they were applying for release of bus service from Vernon to Plainview. (Staff Photo).

Here We Go Again, Another Wildcat Oil Well!

Although the oil well reports in Floyd County continue to come in "dry hole" various oil companies continue to drill wildcats in this county.

The latest announcement is that the Meridian Oil Corporation will drill an 8,000 feet wildcat on the land of Ona Ruth Neff. The land is located just north of the Lakeview school grounds.

Although this land has been leased for oil off and on for several years, the lease had expired in 1974 and Mrs. Neff had leased it again January of this year.

Highway Beautification Award Finalists Selected

AUSTIN—Six maintenance construction supervisors for the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation have been selected as finalists for the 1975 Lady Bird Johnson Award for Highway Beautification.

The finalists are Grady James of Fort Worth, Clay Jameson of Matador, Rufus Jones of Fredericksburg, J. C. Larison of Gainesville, Dwain Rogers of Anson, and Wayne Rust of Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will present a plaque and her personal check for $1,000 to the first place winner and a $500 check to the runnerup in a special program September 18 at the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park in Stonewall.

The award was established six years ago by the former First Lady to recognize the department maintenance man who does the best job of highway beautification in his area. The finalists were selected by department administrative officers from entrants representing all department districts across the state.

A selection committee appointed by Mrs. Johnson will judge the finalist entries and choose first and second-place winners. The committee, headed by Professor Elo Urbanovsky, chairman of the Department of Park Administration, Horticulture and Entomology at Texas Tech, includes Roy White, Glen Biggs, Mrs. Bill Hobby, and Mrs. Marshall Steves.

Maintenance supervisors are responsible for taking care of all state-maintained highway facilities in their areas. In addition to maintenance of highways, the men care for roadsides and the 1,100 roadside parks, safety rest areas, and scenic turnouts on the Texas highway system.

where chemical contamination is not a problem, gin trash is most profitable to the gin as an animal feed," said Lalor. "To safeguard this market, ginners must not offer gin trash for sale if the crop from which it originated was treated with chemicals bearing labels prohibiting use of the crop for feeding to livestock."

New possibilities for profitable disposal of gin waste are discussed in an "Agro-Industrial Report" entitled "Productivity and Profits in Ginning," just published by Cotton Incorporated.

Dr. Lalor is one of the authors, along with J. K. ("Farmer") Jones, associate director of agricultural research for mechanization, and Dr. George A. Slater, vice president of agricultural research.

Copies of the "Agro-Industrial Report" are available from Dr. Lalor at the Cotton Incorporated Research Center, 4505 Creedmoor Road, Raleigh, N. C. 27612.

Profits Possible From Gin Waste

RALEIGH—Cotton gin waste can be converted from a problem into a profit, say Cotton Incorporated agricultural researchers.

Two possibilities are selling the waste as a source for industrial raw materials or feeding it to ruminant animals as roughage in ration formulations.

"Chemical companies tell us that gin trash contains potentially valuable products," said Dr. W. F. (Bill) Lalor, manager of systems and cost engineering at the Cotton Incorporated Research Center here.

"The market is there if we can figure out a way to deliver gin trash to a user's plant at the right price," he said.

The biggest problem today, Lalor explained, is handling and transportation. To overcome the problem, Cotton Incorporated researchers are testing a new gin trash cuber.

"Although the technical feasibility of cubing gin trash has already been demonstrated many times, the problem of high cost remains," said Lalor. "The angle we are exploring is to cut cubing costs in half by using more abrasion-resistant dies than those used in traditional cubers."

Lalor said Cotton Incorporated's test cuber, known as a "gear cuber," is now undergoing trials at a gin in Texas.

Another possibility being explored by Cotton Incorporated is packaging gin trash in modules on pallets, the engineer said. "This is especially promising in areas near feed lots," said Lalor.

While costs of moduling gin trash will vary from one gin to another, he said, the average should be around $5 a ton. A 32-foot pallet will accommodate 13 to 14 tons of stripped cotton-gin trash.

Lalor said that Cotton Incorporated researchers, knowing that gin trash has traditionally been used locally as a feed for ruminant animals, conducted a study to examine the supply and demand situation for a larger market and to evaluate gin trash both nutritionally and economically.

"We found that gin trash compares favorably with other feedstuffs of similar nature," said Lalor. The Cotton Incorporated research suggested numerous ration formulations based on gin trash as the roughage. "Our conclusion is that,

The Floyd Philosopher Gets Off On Dangerous Ground When He Asks A Women's Lib Question

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm gets off on some dangerous ground this week but it's his lookout, not ours.

Dear editor:

I have never given much thought to Women's Liberation except to conclude it's all right with me so long as the meals are on the table on time, but I'm now convinced men ought to be giving more attention to the subject. There's something there to be learned.

For instance, examine Indira Gandhi, the woman Prime Minister of one of the world's most populous countries and frequently pointed to as a prime example of women's ability to become political leaders.

When Mrs. Gandhi was found guilty of violating India's election laws and was faced with being barred from office, what does she do, hem and haw and dodge and hire a battery of lawyers and lie on television like a man would do? Of course not. She just got a law passed saying the law she violated wasn't there any more, never was in the first place, and anybody who objected was jailed.

I have not had the nerve to ask in the presence of women whether any of the people she jailed were women.

Changing the subject, which I'd better do in a hurry, I notice that some environmentalists, bent on protecting all species except possibly fleas when they're on their dogs in their city apartments, have now come out against the story of Little Red Riding Hood, on the grounds that it "has done great damage to wolves by making them a symbol of evil."

Of course they're right about this. All that wolf did was eat up a grandmother and appropriate her clothes and eye glasses, which obviously she had no further use for. Grandmothers are not an endangered species and these slanders on wolves have got to stop.

It's the same thing with coyotes and sheep. Ranchers are always denouncing coyotes for destroying their flocks, whereas it's the sheep's fault for being so helpless. Why don't they take care of themselves and grow a shell like an armadillo? Nobody's going to pull the wool over an environmentalist's eyes. If Slow Going they'd been here earlier we'd still have sickle dinosaurs and a lot less oil to squabble over. Yours faithfully, was said that the J.A. reap 20 acres

Governors Have 45 Days For Comments

USDA Announces Time for Governors' Comments on Their Food Stamp Plans - inside 18 pt.

State governors have 45 days to comment on plans and amendments that are submitted by states participating in the Food Stamp Program, according to a new regulation announced today by the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The new regulation provides a 45-day opportunity for each state governor or his delegated agency to review the relationship of food stamp plans and amendments to other state plans and programs. State agencies will then send the governors' comments to USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS), along with the state plans and amendments when they are submitted for approval.

The proposal is in line with requirements of Office of Management and Budget and is similar to regulations that have been adopted by other federal agencies.

FNS received seven comments on the regulation after it was published for a 30 day public comment period on March 6. Six of those comments were in favor of the regulation, and one was not in favor. The final regulation will be published in the Federal Register of August 7 and will be effective immediately upon publication.

Karen Alldredge Named Greenbelt Football Queen

KAREN ALLDREDGE . . . Floydada Miss, was crowned 1975 Greenbelt Bowl Football Classic Queen during halftime activities Friday night at Childress.

Karen Alldredge, 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alldredge of Floydada, and a 1975 graduate of Floydada High School, was crowned queen of the Greenbelt football game in Childress Friday night.

Miss Alldredge, selected by Mark Craig of Floydada, who played in the game, was named Greenbelt Football Queen during halftime of the East-West game. There were 29 entries for the queen's title. Debbie Davis of Shamrock was first runner-up and Cindy Davis of Wheeler was named Miss Congeniality.

Contestants in the queen's contest were honored with a Coke party last Thursday, then a family picnic, rode in the parade at Childress and were judged in swimsuit and formal wear.

Miss Alldredge is employed by Dr. Andrew McCulley in Floydada and plans to attend Texas Tech this fall where she will major in elementary education. ### Canning Tips For Fair Fair time is around the corner and canning time is here. Here are some hints for those canning who might want to enter canned foods in the Floyd County Fair.

September 18 Deadline To Enter Miss Mackenzie Contest

Entry deadline for the Miss Mackenzie contest, sponsored by LOA Junior Study Club of Silverton, is September 15. Young ladies from 16 to 18 years of age are eligible to enter the contest, which will be held at 8 p.m. September 27 in the Silverton High School auditorium.

Entry forms are available at local schools and chamber of commerce offices.

For further information contact Mrs. Wayne Nance in Silverton, phone 823-2496, or Mrs. Gary Weakins in Tulia, 668-2645.

purpose. Certain vegetables must be canned only in pint jars for the entry to be judged. This will be stated in the new fair catalog coming out soon.

To make your entry of a higher quality you should have a clean, polished standard jar with a lid free from rust and corrosion and a neat plain label placed approximately 1/4" to 1/2" from the bottom of the jar.

Package should be practical but not fancy, uniform in size whether whole or in pieces, with space in the jar filled but not crowded, and with a large proportion of vegetables or fruits to liquid or syrup but with vegetables or fruits covered with liquid or syrup.

Color should be characteristic of the fruits or vegetables, not faded or darkened. The texture of the fruits and vegetable should show they were evenly graded or uniformly matured and not mushy from ripeness or overcooking.

Jams and jellies may be sealed with paraffin, then a lid. With our lid shortage the many standard jelly jars stored on our shelves may be brought forth to be used. Jams and jellies should be the natural color of the fruits, clear, sparkling, free from bubbles, mold, and crystals, and tender to the cut of a spoon.

When you bring your favorite relishes, pickles, jams and jellies to the fair bring your recipe and share it with the surrounding communities. These recipes will be posted in a convenient place where the public may copy them.

More Women Making Mark In Food Grading Business

How'd you like to have a job that involves getting up at 4 o'clock on Saturday mornings to check over a slab of beef in an icy cold meat packing plant? It's the kind of job that might not appeal to every Tom, Dick, or Harry—but it's one that Mary Gagner finds rewarding.

She grades beef in the Chicago area for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and—besides those early Saturday morning stints—her work sometimes keeps her on the job up to 15 hours a day.

Mary is just one of a growing number of women who are going into jobs related to agriculture.

Sharon Ray, a former teacher who once graded students on their gymnastic ability, now evaluates fresh fruits and vegetables in Washington State on their color, firmness, and taste.

In Milford, Ind., Charlene Mahler is in charge of grading ducks at a plant that processes some 12,000 to 16,000 birds a day.

In Winter Haven, Fla., Anne Pinner uses sophisticated equipment to test orange juice samples. She also runs the regional USDA lab's taste panel which checks consumer preferences for orange juice. Housewives come from as far as 100 miles away to taste juice from both commercial and experimental production.

And in Houston, Tex., Rosemary Pollingue has the distinction of being the only woman rice grader in the country.

While men still predominate the food-grading field, USDA opened its doors to the distaff side long before women's lib. In 1938 it hired Mrs. Elinore T. Greeley to grade canned and frozen fruits and vegetables.

Before retiring in 1971, she had worked her way up to head of grade standards in this division.

Women food graders—and their male counterparts—perform an important function in the nation's food marketing system. Together they certify the quality of over half the beef, poultry, eggs, butter, fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables sold in this country.

And the grades they give become a basis for pricing the product throughout the marketing chain.

USDA food grading services—available by request on a cost-fee basis—are widely used by growers, processors, retailers, and institutional buyers as an aid in quality control, buying, and selling.

For consumers, the grade lets them know they're buying a food whose quality has been checked and certified by the United States until 1971.

Food Prices Warrant Look At Nutrition

Buy food for nutrition, not just for the price in the box. That's the advice of an Extension Service nutritionist at a return to Clemson University.

"Money is too precious to squander it on non-foods," says Mrs. Marie Hindman, "and the consumer who does so has always more costly than natural right to complain about high prices."

She points out that some of the foods in supermarkets could be eliminated with no nutritional loss to anyone.

Even foods with certain vitamins added aren't necessarily as good as the real thing, according to Mrs. Hindman.

As an example, she cites imitation orange juice which lacks, among other things, valuable trace minerals.

"There's more to orange juice than Vitamin C," the nutritionist notes. "Juices aid digestion and also have other nutrients and natural fruit sugar."

Mrs. Hindman also says quite a few non-dairy products are devoid of nutrition and many include coconut oil.

"This is a highly saturated fat and not at all healthful in large quantities," she comments. "The American Medical Association has indicated that coconut oil is more clogging to arteries than dairy cream."

California's White Gold

Mrs. Hindman finds the greatest fault with "mini-nutrition" cereals for which the consumer pays astronomical prices and receives very little nutrition.

Sugar-coated cereals fabricated from refined flour and to squander it on non-foods," says Mrs. Marie Hindman, "and the consumer who does so has always more costly than natural right to complain about high prices."

newer fad cereals have coconut added—another source of saturated fat," she adds.

Those prizes in cereal boxes don't contribute to holding down food prices either. According to Advertising Age, cereal manufacturers spend $60 million annually on trinkets for product promotions.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Marble, D'Lee and Dwayne left last Sunday, August 3, by car, for Des Moines and Waterloo, Iowa, where they spent all last week on a vacation, some of it was spent going through the John Deere Tractor Plant and cotton stripper plant in Des Moines, where they saw a tractor and stripper made from the beginning, and even the bolts and nuts. This part of Iowa is in the area where they have had no rain this summer, and the corn fields look terrible. Even if rain comes this month, it will be almost too late to help the corn.

The Marbles returned home Saturday night, Aug. 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Teeple and their boys, Brian and Keith, left Saturday for Irving, where they will be visiting most of the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson of Irving. Dwight may return home, and Helen will stay awhile longer with the boys.

Mrs. Linda Brown and Courtney of Charleston, West Virginia, arrived Thursday to visit for about ten days with her sister and family, the Nathan Mulders and children. Friday they went to Roaring Springs for a picnic and swimming, and Saturday they went to Plainview where they visited with the girls' grandfather, Jesse Rowland, who is in a weakened condition. Among those from here who attended the Annual King Reunion held in the Massie Activity Center Saturday, August 2, were all the family members of the Don Marble, Keith Marble and Fred Marble families. 65 were present for the reunion and the gathering will be held in the same place August 7, 1976.

The Kinnibrughs will stay at the hospital until they find out how the surgery comes out, and when Simmons can come home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Bartlett of Fort Worth came Friday to stay until Sunday night in the home of the Richard, Curtis and Otho Sanders families. All the community are trying to get off for a few days vacation as school time is nearly here, and the Sanders families all go at a different time.

Grain Executive Raps Move To Halt Exports

Lubbock, Tex.—Imagine headlines proclaiming "U. S. CATTLE FEEDERS DEMAND IMPORT OF 11 MILLION HEAD OF CATTLE. BEEF PRICES PLUNGE TO 15 CENTS A POUND." Cattle feeders would never do that, but they are doing the same thing when they seek an embargo on U. S. grain exports, claims Elbert Harp, executive director of the national Grain Sorghum Producers Association and Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board. Harp, who also chairs the U. S. Feed Grains Council, Washington, D. C., said that the grain which was exported last year would have added beef equivalent to 11 million head of cattle, had the campaign to halt grain exports been successful.

He pointed out that between October 1, 1974, and July 4, 1975, U. S. exports of corn and sorghum totaled 1 billion, 97 million bushels. Assuming that each steer weighing 600 pounds required 40 bushels of grain to fatten it to a weight of 1,000 pounds, the exported grain would have fattened 27 million more cattle than were already fattened. The additional gains would have totaled 11 billion pounds of live beef, or the equivalent of 11 million head of new cattle.

"Since beef markets were already saturated and the cattle industry in serious trouble, more cattle would have made and intolerable situation even worse," Harp said.

He continued, "Grain exports have proven to be financially beneficial—even essential—for the cattle feeder who might otherwise have little means of restocking total beef production."

Harp said grain producers, when faced with a grain surplus and low prices, often turn to feeding cattle themselves in an attempt to recoup losses and meet their cost of production.

"So cattle feeders should think twice before assuming that an embargo on grain exports will help them by lowering grain prices," the feed grain executive concluded. "Surplus grain means surplus beef and often spells bankruptcy for producers of both commodities."

Rural Development Credit At New High

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 — Nearly $5.5 billion were made available for development of rural areas in fiscal year (FY) 1975 through the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), the Department of Agriculture said today.

In this most extensive program ever provided to strengthen the economic base and improve the amenities of rural areas, $5.285 billion represents over 215,000 loans that will be repaid, and $181 million was disbursed through 1,138 grants in four different programs.

The supervised funding programs of FmHA, a major credit agency of the Department, comprise four major areas, all of which were at record levels in FY 1975. Farmer programs $2 billion, Housing, $2.24 billion, Community Facilities, $849 million, and Business and Industry, $363 million.

Among major farmer programs, emergency credit for farm operations hurt by natural disaster and for livestockmen in the economic squeeze exceeded $1 billion, involving almost 46,700 loans. There were over 49,000 loans for $550.8 million to finance farm operations and ore than 10,500 for $351.6 million to buy farmland. Some $9.6 million was borrowed by Indian tribes to buy land within their reservations. In the housing program over 105,000 loans for $1.9 billion bought, built or improved individual homes, 1,153 loans for $292.4 million were made to provide rental apartments, and 101 loans and six grants aggregating $13 million will provide housing for farm laborers.

For water and waste disposal systems there were 1,451 loans for $469.9 million and 896 grants for $156.9 million. $200 million was involved in 359 loans for community facilities such as fire stations, clinics, hospitals, community centers and similar projects that individual communities deemed necessary.

There were 538 loans for $349.9 million made by private lenders to businesses and industries, and guaranteed by FmHA, plus 210 grants for $13.7 million to municipalities to help encourage business and industrial expansion.

Ray Lenford, Clyde Lee Harris, Eloy Ochoa and James Campbell all charged with burglary. Serving on the jury were Hubert Frizzell, foreman, Eutimio Martinez Jr., Kelvin Shaw, Mrs. W. M. Staniforth, Charles E. Tyer, Robert Stovall, A. C. Pratt, Barbara Barnard, Zahn Turner, Herman Graham, Richard Hale, and Henry Sue.

SPAG Board Alters Bylaws For Money

Reluctant submission to federal requirements on minority board representation for Economic Development District designations marked Tuesday's approval of a bylaw change by the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) board.

Final approval of the bylaw change is pending action of the SPAG general assembly in September. Addition of a minimum of five elected minority representatives to the SPAG board is required under the proposed bylaw change. The alteration will qualify South Plains governments for Economic Development Administration (EDA) funds to be used for job development programs.

"I have always been opposed to the federal government telling us what to do," Plainview city councilman Medlin Carpenter said, expressing the opinion of most SPAG board members on the membership change. "Every avenue has been explored the last three years to get officials to eliminate the rule, but I think the benefits for smaller cities and counties outweigh any objection," he said.

Lubbock County officials Rod Shaw and Alton Brazell and Hale County representative F.F. Calhoun voted against the membership alteration. A new problem with the EDA alteration was discussed at a morning session of the SPAG executive board. SPAG executive director Truett Mayes reminded officials at that meeting of a previous board vote to eliminate nonmember SPAG governments from the job development program.

This action will probably result in the loss of $1 million in EDA funds for the City of Lubbock because of Lubbock County's withdrawal from SPAG earlier this summer, Mayes said.

Because of this possible loss, SPAG president Carolyn Jordan said the two Lubbock County officials wishing to remain in the association may now have some "tools to work with" in changing the other three officials' minds. Lubbock County members who have voted to withdraw from SPAG in 1976 may not buy the argument, however, since they have been strong opponents to the EDA bylaw alteration.

Because of a lack of funds to provide the type of manpower training programs requested by OIC and SER, SPAG officials said they will allow the groups another chance to submit a plan which will exceed the available funds, $72,329.

OIC official Dianna Henderson said additional funds for the programs may be derived by eliminating allowances paid to classroom training participants. These funds total about $200,000.

OIC officials said they need at least $85,000 to continue the programs they are now offering. SER officials said they need about $98,000 to continue their programs.
