RADIO PARTY

Mr. H. D. Williams entertained a number of her friends last Wednesday night with a radio party. The radio outfit was connected up with the following cities: Oklahoma City, Louisville, Ky., St. Louis, Memphis, Tenn., Fort Worth, Los Angeles, and Kansas City; and all connections were clear and distinct and many varied and interesting programs were listened to by those present. At a quarter of twelve o'clock the party were entertained by the "Kansas City Night Hawks." The Kansas City Night Hawks come on at 11:45 every night and Wednesday night they initiated several new members and the whole program was amusing and entertaining. Another very interesting program Wednesday night was that of the Baptist Business Mens Bible Class at Fort Worth. They sang many old-time songs and gave several good talks and then sat down to a big feast; and of course the Sanderson radio fans enjoyed everything but the "eats." At midnight Mrs. Williams served her guests with coffee and sandwiches, and at 1:00 o'clock a. m. the party broke up, although the radio kept going.

LITERARY SOCIETY NEWS

The following article is taken from the Optimist, a paper published by the students of Christian College at Athens, Texas.

The Phila girls met in the Library Saturday evening, March 3. The program was in part, uniquely arranged and proved to be something unusually enjoyable.

The meeting was called to order by Vice President Jaunita Allen, and the minutes and program were read by the secretary.

A number of extemporaneous speeches were introduced, some of them displayed senatorial or congressional talent. This was followed by Julia Bishop's reading, which met with much favor. The last number, "A Style Show" was decidedly the most popular. Those taking part in the affair were:

Lora Mitchell—Flapper.
Geraldine Brookerson—Vamp.
Alice Harrell—Little Girl.
Irene Tidmore—Martha Washington.

Myrtle Harrell—The Old Maid.
Alta Burrus—The Negro.

Miss Mitchell succeeded in looking the part assigned. The most striking feature being the clock fastened on her right ankle by the narrow pink ribbon which was daintily laced about her ankle.

No less appropriate was the make-up manifested by Geraldine's entrance, rouge and artificial moles being used generously. The costumes, speeches and acting of Bernice, Alice, and Irene were quite fitting. The climax of the show was reached when Miss Harrell was presented. Having had years of experience on the stage, she seemed to have even excelled her past performances when she sang "I Ain't Got Nobody," interspersed by the use of her smelling salts. It is believed that Miss Harrell's nasal tones were at their best.

Let us show you some of our nifty samples for that new Easter and Spring suit, call at the Royal Tailor Shop and look them over.

The Senior play entitled, "Deacon Dubbs," was given last night at the School Auditorium before a large and appreciative audience. The write-up of the play will appear in the Times next week.

A NOVEL SHOWER

Thursday night, March 8th, at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Pollard, Mesdames MacCalmont and Pollard gave a double shower in honor of Mrs. Carl Cochran and Mrs. Vance McLymont, recent brides.

The color scheme was carried out in pink and blue. Throughout the reception room and dining room numerous pot plants and flowers were placed, which lent an artistic touch to the occasion.

As the honorees entered the reception room, which was darkened, they were met by the hostesses. The room was then flooded with light. On the library table was a basket containing numerous and beautiful gifts. Some time was spent in admiring the gifts.

Delicious cake and sparkling punch was served buffet style by Mesdames Cargile and Yates and Miss Ruby Mansfield.

At a late hour the guests departed expressing to the hostesses as having a pleasant evening.

Was Agent at Sanderson Forty Years Ago

"The Bulletin received a pleasant call recently from Fred C. Nelson, pensioned agent of the Pacific System who was taking a trip for his health. Mr. Nelson was retired in 1912, after a service of 34 years. He began his employment at Rockland, California, in 1878 and was agent at Sanderson, Texas, at the period when the line was building east from El Paso and west from San Antonio, and was naturally reminiscent in his interesting conversation, particularly as to the difficulties of construction in the early days. While at Sanderson his station and living quarters which consisted of old empty equipment with tracks removed, were swept from their foundations by one of the periodic rain storms which practically wrecked the "settlement," then only a construction camp. When the line was connected at Devil's river forty years since, Mr. Nelson was transferred to New Mexico and later to Oakland. In 1895 he was given the gold medal for the "premium" station of that year. —From the Southern Pacific Bulletin.

CO-OPERATION

There are a large number of people in the country that fail to know what the word, "Co-Operation" means, and there are still others that know what it means but fail to carry out the significance of its meaning. The recent killing of Jim Wallen, U. S. Customs Officer, at Del Rio ought to be an awakening of the citizens along the Border to Co-Operate with the Rangers, Prohibition Officers, Customs Guards, and their Local Officers to rid the country of bootleggers and give the full length of the rope to those who are caught with intentions to do as did the assassin or assassins of Jim Wallen, Jot Jones and other officers of law, who are paid to protect us and uphold the laws.

HEALTH FOR WORKING WOMEN

Let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Help You to Become Well.

Thousands of girls have to work in homes, offices, stores, mills or factories who are physically unfit for work, with often an aged or invalid father or mother dependent upon them for support. Standing all day week in and week out, or sitting in cramped positions a girl often contracts some deranged condition of her organic system which calls a halt to her progress and demands restoration to health before she can be of use to herself or anyone else.

For these distressing weaknesses and derangements these girls have found health to do their work in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"Like many girls, I had troubles every month," says Carolyn Mangels, "and they interfered with my work as I could never be sure of my time. My mother often suggested that I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I never did until lately. I have had very good results, and am now a private secretary and do my work without missing a day. I recommend your medicine to every girl who speaks of having troubles like I have had."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Chamois Gives Little Leather.
The chamois, which disperses itself on the mountains, has nothing to do with the bulk of the chamois leather which we all know. The latter is really the lining of sheepskins, which is stripped off and treated by a special process to render it soft and pliable. Only a very small proportion of this leather is obtained from the chamois.

We Must Remember Our National Parks in Building Our Good Roads System

By SENATOR LAWRENCE C. PHIPPS, of Colorado.

In the short space of seven years the number of annual visitors to our national parks, which boast of some of the finest scenic treasures to be found anywhere in the world, has quadrupled. In 1921, for instance, more than one million two hundred thousand people came to the parks from all parts of the country, and one of them alone, the Rocky Mountain National park, furnished pleasure and relaxation to 273,737 visitors in a single year.

Two-thirds of these travel by automobile, bringing their own equipment. Then what about the roads—that prime necessity of the motorist? It is well-nigh unbelievable that they have been woefully neglected, and that to date no program of any magnitude has been approved by the congress for the construction, improvement and maintenance of highways in our national parks. In the Rocky Mountain National park which had the maximum number of visitors during the past year, congress has only authorized the expenditure of $35,000 for road improvement since its establishment.

Bear in mind also that in recent years road building has been under way all around these parks. Splendid highways have been constructed with federal, state and county money right up to the park boundaries where the tourist has met with unimproved roads or roads with but a semblance of improvement.

Senators, this matter of adequate roads is not a selfish, a local or solely a western issue. The parks are widely scattered and the number of visitors affects travel in every state in the Union. The proposition is this: The congress, representing the will of the nation, has created these parks for the use, enjoyment and benefit of all its people. This was extremely wise, as no investment could yield better returns in improving the health and quality of our citizenship, in promoting that unity of national feeling, the love of country, called patriotism. Having already taken this step, will the congress now deny, to a large extent, the means whereby the parks may be used and enjoyed?

Now, Mr. President, there is one thing lacking. One well-nigh forgotten class of government reservations should be connected up with the other highway chains already authorized. We must remember our national parks.

Only the Potent Voice of America Can Speak the True Word of Peace

By EX-PREMIER NITTI, in "Decadence of Europe."

Great Britain has made the greatest efforts toward peace, a fact that will constitute for her a claim to glory after her great efforts in the war. She has declared herself ready to renounce all in order that Europe might be reconstructed and the work of destruction, which poisons the world, might be stopped. France will realize sooner or later that the greatest glory for her is to follow Great Britain on this road.

But, so long as the discord of today endures, only the potent voice of the United States of America can speak the true word of peace.

There is much talk in Europe of the greed and selfishness of America. Nothing could be more unjust. America, during the war, lavishly provided the material means toward winning victory; at the decisive moment she also furnished the men. Nothing caused greater alarm in Germany than the arrival of the American troops; the Germans realized that America had enormous reserves of material and men, that the die had been cast against them. After the unjust treaties of peace had been drawn up, America gave proof of dignity and political sense in not assuming any responsibility for the growing state of disorder in Europe. America alone, just as she was the decisive factor in the war, can be the decisive factor in the peace.

There Are Many Young People Not in College Who Ought to Be There

By ABRAM W. HARRIS, Former President Northwestern University.

The only students in college today who do not belong there are those who lack any serious objective and are there in a perfunctory and negligent spirit.

I do agree with some educators who say that there are many who ought not to be there, but there are many young people not in college who ought to be there.

I favor any sorting-out process which is entirely just, but none has yet been proved to be so. The infinite individual difference and variety of experience and background completely baffle every known method in many cases. After all, the actual trial seems to be the only just method. In the freshman year a weeding-out process goes on.

This sorting out of the various grades of intellects is one of the really great functions of education. Its effect upon this country has been enormous, as it falls into the process of picking leaders of thought.

The large number of young people in college today does not necessarily mean they are crowding the professions. The great shortage of doctors, dentists, teachers and ministers disproves this, although law may be an exception.

Best Taste and Opinion Not Organized to Compete With Cheap and Commercial

By BEATRICE HALE, in "What's Wrong With Our Girls."

With all the art of illustration, printed word and shop window, business suddenly adjures the girls, for example, to "have the bloom of youth." There is no antistrophe chorus to tell them that by any real standards their own complexions are to be preferred. They follow the most strident leadership; they have "the bloom of youth"—and are immediately condemned by the very press whose advertisements they have too faithfully followed.

So with the skirt controversy, the high-heel controversy, the décolletage question and many other more serious forms of extravagance and display, as well as with much false and superficial thinking. The best taste and opinion are not organized to compete with the cheap and commercial. The latter wins, and the best, too late, falls foul of the result.

Youth is always imitative and rarely analytical. It follows the salient model. So long as we standardize the average the model followed will be faulty, for it will be many thousand years before the average approximates to the best.

TURKS REPLY TO ALLIED PEACE PACT

The Chief Alteration Is a Request For Sovereignty Of Aegean Islands

Constantinople.—The Turkish government's reply to the allied peace proposals arrived at Constantinople Saturday by courier from Ankara and was handed to the British, French and Italian high commissions. Copies will also be delivered to the American or Japanese representatives.

The note says there are no fundamental modifications proposed in the political clauses of the draft treaty. Turkey, however, desires sovereignty of Casteloriza, off the southern coast of Asia Minor, and the small islands dependent upon Tenedos island, off the west coast of Asia Minor. She also suggests the Maritza river as a frontier of Thrace, rather than the right bank of the river.

Regarding the economic clauses of the draft treaty the note proposes that clauses 71 to 117 upon which agreement has not been reached should be disjointed from the draft and subsequently discussed.

Part four of the draft treaty, dealing with communications and sanitary questions, is accepted with slight modifications. Part five, dealing with prisoners of war, is integrally accepted.

As regards a regime for foreigners in Turkey, the note suggests that the title of this section should read "convention of establishments extra la Turcica et les puissances allies"—convention of regulations between Turkey and the allied powers—and insists on the same prerogatives for Turkish subjects in allied states as for foreigners in Turkey.

New Orleans Rice Market

New Orleans, La.—Sales in the rice market Friday were limited to several less than carload lots of fancy and choice Blue Rose to Southeastern cotton mill centers. Prices remained for fancy Blue Rose at 4¢ to 4 1/4¢ a pound and choice at 3 5/8¢ to 3 7/8¢. Supplies of fancy and choice grades, as well as screenings and brewers' grades, are beginning to run low, while low grades have been thoroughly neglected and make up nearly three-quarters of the present local stocks. Receipts here amounted to 2,150 sacks of rough, consigned to the Empire mill, and 37,373 pockets of clean, which were for export.

Fort Worth Stock Market.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Cattle sales were made on a fully steady basis Friday, the calf market was active; sheep values remained steady, and hogs cleared at an advance of 10c. Hogs were slow to find an outlet, but after a basis had once been established the trade made good progress. Good hogs sold at $8, and most of the run brought $7.75 to $7.95. Packers purchased practically the entire supply. Pig prices were in line with other days of the week.

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Briton Says Japan Fooled Conference

WASHINGTON.—Something of a furor has been stirred up in naval, political and diplomatic circles here by the publication in the Atlantic Monthly of an article written by Hector Bywater, celebrated British naval authority, calling the Washington armament conference a "patent failure" in its main purpose and describing in rather frank manner how the Japanese outwitted the American delegates.

Senator Robinson (Dem., Ark.) laid the article before the senate and had it published in the Congressional Record.

"The initial fact that emerges from a survey of the situation today," Mr. Bywater wrote, "is the patent failure of the conference to achieve its main purpose, namely, to check the further expansion of sea armaments in any and every shape or form. The result is that today, barely twelve months after the acceptance of the limitation treaty, a revival of ship building competition seems inevitable if the balance of power as regulated by that treaty is to be maintained. To state the case in a sentence: Japan, by diverting to the construction of cruisers and submarines no small part of the energy she formerly expended on capital ships, will soon be in possession of a fleet of auxiliary combatant vessels superior in some respects to that of any other power."

Development of Water Transportation

THERE are numerous indications that a tremendous development of water transportation in this country is at hand. High freight rates and the inability of the railroads to finance extensions and the additional equipment required by increased agricultural and industrial production are accelerating the development of other means of transportation, notably motortrucks and vessels.

Revolving prosperity indicates that the day is not far distant when every carrier resource of the country will be taxed to the limit. The demand for adequate and cheap transportation then will be so great, it is calculated, as to carry the St. Lawrence seaway and the lakes to the gulf waterway projects to swift consummation, making the Great Lakes system the greatest waterway in the world in volume of commerce.

Already Washington is being bombarded by the shipping interests with appeals to remove alleged rate discriminations that have grown up in favor of all rail transportation and against water or rail and water carriage. Such discriminations, it is asserted, are hampering the development of waterways to meet transportation needs.

Progress of the Birth Control Bill Seen

MEMBERS of the judiciary committee of the senate and house were deluged with letters from all parts of the country urging favorable action on Cummins-Kissel bill proposed by the Voluntary Parenthood league for the purpose of removing from the old Anthony Comstock law of 1873 the prohibition against circulation of contraceptive information. The pending bill is known as the birth control bill.

Contrary to general expectations, organized opposition has not developed, according to its sponsors, who say the appeal for its adoption is growing steadily. Senator Cummins (Rep., Ia.) and Representative Kissel (Rep., N. Y.), who introduced the

Why Congress and Country Get a Rest

IT IS an open secret that when President Harding decided not to call an extra session of congress official Washington breathed a sigh of relief.

To be sure, when he came to his decision, everything pointed to the failure of the pending ship subsidy bill, through the inability of its sponsors to bring it to a vote in the senate. The President, however, concluded that it would be a waste of time to have the bill taken up again by the new congress in an extra session.

There were other reasons for the President's decision. He thought the country needed a long rest from congressional agitation. The rest is especially desired by business interests which have been uneasy over certain tendencies of a considerable portion of the membership of the senate and house regarded by the business interests as radical.

Of special interest in this connection is the President's decision to take no further steps toward an investigation of the railroad situation during the congressional recess.

As proposed originally by the Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, the plan was to direct that all railway freight cars should be pooled under the control of a federal commission which should have authority to allocate them as conditions warranted according to localities, seasonal activities and other considerations.

To recognize all the elements which his conferees desired to have included in the commission's personnel would mean the appointment of a body of about 50 persons. After consideration of all the suggestions made the President came to the conclusion that the plan was not feasible and he thereupon abandoned the whole scheme.

BALFOUR CLAIM NOT JUSTIFIED

Crosby Says Not Asked To Indorse Loans of All Allied Debts.

New York.—Oscar T. Crosby, assistant secretary of the treasury during the war, emphatically characterized Saturday as a "misapprehension" the assertion of Lord Balfour Thursday in the house of lords that the United States had demanded a British guarantee before financing other allies.

Entering the controversy in London between Lord Balfour and Ambassador Harvey, Mr. Crosby, who discussed war loans with Lord Balfour when the latter came here in 1917 as head of the British high commission and who later served in Europe as president of the inter-allied council on war purchase and finance, declared he could recall one incident on which the "misapprehension" might be based.

This incident, he said, was the granting to Russia of "a relatively small loan" of $170,000,000 upon British indorsement, at a time when Russia was represented here only by a chargé d'affaires holding over from czarist regime with no authority to sign obligations for the provisional government of Russia. Mr. Crosby admitted, however, that this loan had been left to the charge of Great Britain.

The Earl of Balfour Thursday delivered his reply to the strictures Ambassador Harvey passed on his famous note to the allies on the subject of interallied debts.

He explained that in the purchase of war materials in America, after America had entered the war, the British case was differentiated, broadly speaking, both from the case of the other European belligerents and the case of America herself. Great Britain had two tasks thrown before her, either of which could be accomplished without assistance and without external borrowing, but she was not in a position to accomplish both at once. This fact, continued the speaker, could surprise nobody who remembered the enormous loans which Great Britain had already made to other nations before America entered the war, and which she continued to make afterwards. In these circumstances, the British government suggested to the United States that the latter should relieve Great Britain of the first of these two tasks—in other words," continued Lord Balfour, "as we had borne the burden of financing all the European allies during the earlier years of the war, until America entered, that America might relieve us of that part of the difficulties."

"The result was that Great Britain had to borrow in America, using the money thus obtained to pay American creditors and employing British resources thus set free to aid Great Britain's allies. In other words, the American producer obtained his price, the American lender got British security, and our allies were helped through their financial difficulties."

"The American ambassador, as I understand, regards the financial arrangements between the partners in the great war as so many isolated undertakings, to be separately considered and carried through one by one as occasion offers. This policy, in his view, is necessary if the sanctity of contract is to be maintained.

"I myself am inclined to a somewhat less commercial view." The extraordinary circumstances of the war, the magnitude of the cooperative effort made by the allied and associated powers might seem to remove the financial arrangements into a sphere where the ordinary categories of debtor and creditor, though still valid, could hardly be deemed to be sufficient."

How's Your Appetite? Are You Nervous? Sleepless?

Brushyknob, Mo.—"Two years ago I was in poor health and was not able to do all my work; I had a dull headache all the time. I also had a hurting in my back and one of my limbs would take spells of hurting and would feel numb. I could not sleep good at night, did not eat much, and my nerves were in bad shape. I told my husband I could not go much longer, so we decided to write to Dr. Pierce, Pres. of Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y. He said for me to take the Favorite Prescription and the Golden Medical Discovery and some Pleasant Pellets (all of which I got at the drug store) and I soon began to get better. BIG STRIDES OF CLUB MOVEMENT

Millionth Purebred Holstein to Be Registered Is Owned by Wisconsin Girl.

MANY YOUNG PEOPLE ENGAGED

Boys' and Girls' Organizations Started With Simple Grain Growing and Live Stock Judging Contests—Many Own Calves.

The millionth purebred Holstein to be registered is a young heifer owned by a boys and girls' club member, Miss Hilda Techlin of Wisconsin. Her animal was the first purebred on her parents' farm and the beginning of the excellent dairy herd now maintained there. Hundreds of purebred dairy herds have been started in the same way, according to reports from state club leaders.

Of Recent Origin.

The boys and girls' club movement is of recent origin. It started with simple grain growing and live stock judging contests. Today it has developed into every phase of farm industry and thousands of young people in every state are now actively engaged in the production of all crops and live stock. Fundamental business principles associated with farming are taught by the requirement of accurate records of all work. In 1922 there were 10,000 farm boys and girls in America. Nearly 4,000 of this number are enrolled in Holstein clubs, according to the records of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Strides by Calf Clubs.

The great strides made by dairy calf clubs was especially noticeable during the past show season. At least 2,000 boys and girls owned dairy calves good enough to be shown at the leading state fairs. All breeders' associations are back of boys and girls because they are far-sighted enough to see the future results. For example, the national Holstein-Friesian association makes the junior work a big part of its extension program, and in 1922 gave over $2,500 in prizes and ribbons. Bankers and other business men are glad to loan money and offer prizes for such work.

While all of this good work is going on, fathers learn from their sons, and wonder why someone did not give them the same chance when they were boys. In the past five years dairy calf clubs have solved in great measure the problem of "Why John Left the Farm."

SMALLEST AND LARGEST BEE

Combs of Pigmy Honey Collectors Are No Larger Than Hand of Little Child.

The smallest honey bees in the world are found in East Indian islands and on the mainland of Hindustan; the largest are in Hindustan.

The combs of the pigmy honey collectors are no larger than a child's hand, and the cells are about the size of a small pinhead. Honey and wax are alike excellent. The little creatures build combs on the branches of low trees. As they do not have to provide for winter, they work all the year through, raising broods like themselves.

The giant bees of India are as large as field crickets. These monsters of the bee world build combs from six to seven feet in height and four feet or more in width. Each weighs from 300 to 400 pounds.

AIM TO CONSERVE MOISTURE

Cultivation Not Only Destroys Grass and Weeds, but Keeps Soil in Good Condition.

The average gardener too frequently considers cultivation only as a means of destroying grass and weeds. The main function of cultivation is to conserve moisture. A soil mulch should be maintained on all ground not actually occupied by plants. And if a fall garden is expected, this process should not be neglected after the harvesting of vegetables begins, as is frequently done.

BLOSSOMS AND HORSE

"Why is it, Mother Nature," asked Billie Brownie, "that the early blooming of the fruit trees does not really always mean that the late frosts are going to take the fruit?"

"It has often seemed to me that such would be the case, and yet though people often get so alarmed, I have noticed that there is not all the cause for alarm one would think."

"Ah," said old Mother Nature, "I am glad you have asked that question, Billie Brownie. Some think Mother Nature isn't so careful as she might be."

"Some think Mother Nature spoils her children and lets them out before they're really old enough."

"But you know, Billie Brownie, it's very hard to keep back a bright, upward-moving child. And so I let them take their chances in the big world and blossom quickly as they wish."

"Then, too, I know the early blossoms give so much joy to those who are tired of the winter and the cold weather."

"You know we have to think of so many different people with their different ideas and tastes and wishes, and we try to please as many as we can."

"But, although you will see a tree in bloom there are always many blossoms which are held back, the children who're not so anxious to get up, who're sleepy little blossom children!"

"And these blossoms will become fruit later, too, and if some of the others are nipped these may escape. All of the blossoms aren't out at the same time. No, Mother Nature looks after that, and so there is always hope that some will be all right if some have been nipped."

"Mother Nature is very busy, you know, Billie Brownie, but she tries to give everyone a chance to be pleased."

"Ah, I thank you, Mother Nature, for telling me this," said Billie Brownie. "I wanted to stop and speak to you for a moment."

"I have a call or two to make, and I thought I'd like to say a how-do-you-do to you on my way."

"I'm going to call on Betty, the dear old horse, and I'm going to call on a Mr. Gander. This Mr. Gander is helping his mate in all the work of the home building and in the bringing up of the children."

"Well, I should think your calls would be very interesting," said Mother Nature, as she made a lovely low bow and smiled a farewell as Billie Brownie hurried off.

He called then on Betty the horse. Betty, you know, was kept by the farmer because she had been such a faithful, good horse when she was young, and he wanted to be sure her old age was comfortable and that she was looked after by those to whom she had been faithful and loyal.

"Hello, Betty," said Billie Brownie, as he came near her yard.

"Hello, neigh, neigh, neigh," said Betty. "I have just been having a delicious fresh drink of water from my trough. The children keep it so fresh and clean for me."

"You know we horses like clean water to drink. The children know that, too."

"There is a little spring nearby, Billie Brownie, and maybe you, too, would like a drink."

Billie Brownie had a drink of delicious, cool, clear spring water and then, after thanking Betty for her polite hospitality, he was off once more.

He called then on Mr. Gander and his mate. "Hello, Mr. Gander," said Billie Brownie, "I hear you've been helping your mate so much."

"Yes," said Mr. Gander. "I have. As usual this spring I helped my mate in building the nesting place, and now I am not only watching over her, but I am watching over the hatching of the eggs myself. Sitting upon them, too. I took them in my beak and rolled them so they would be where I could sit upon them without disturbing her."

"Yes, I'm quite a fine gander, they say around these parts, and quite unusual, too."

"Well, I know you are a nest builder, but I do think you're very helpful to even assist in sitting on the eggs. I can now tell them in Fairyland that you are doing just as the report reached us you were doing. Good-by, Mr. Gander."

And Billie Brownie went home to tell about his interesting calls of that day.

POPULARITY OF SOY BEAN IS INCREASING

Useful as Oil Plant as Well as Forage Crop in Corn Belt.

Several Factories Equipped With Machinery for the Manufacture of Various Food Products—Biloxi Variety Favored.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In view of the rapidly increasing popularity of the soy bean as an oil plant as well as a forage crop in the corn belt, the bureau of plant industry, United States Department of Agriculture has extended its investigations with these beans to meet the demand for information relative to the culture, varieties, and utilization of the crop. About 175 introductions of soy beans were received from Manchuria, Japan, and China in 1922. Many of these, appear to be of promise for northern and central conditions. Several factories have been equipped or are being equipped with machinery for the manufacture of soy bean oil and meal as well as for various food products, such as soy sauce, flour, and milk powder.

Much progress, according to the annual report of the bureau, is being made with soy beans in the South, where in past years the crop has not been very popular because of the shattering tendencies of the varieties that were grown. The Biloxi variety, however, on account of its nonshattering characteristics, has done much to increase the popularity and acreage of the crop in the Gulf Coast states. The Laredo variety has been found to be resistant to nematodes and wilt. It has given most excellent results for forage and seed production.

FEED TO FATTEN LIVE STOCK

Figures Based on Investigations Made by Department of Agriculture on Big Lata.

How much feed does it take to fatten a carload of cattle, hogs, or sheep? Here are some figures based on investigations by the United States Department of Agriculture:

Six hundred bushels of corn and 17 tons of hay will fatten 250 lambs weighing 55 pounds each and make them weigh 80 pounds. This will make one double-deck carload.

Four hundred and fifty bushels of corn and 2,750 pounds of tankage or fish meal will fatten 70 hogs averaging 100 pounds, to 200 pounds, making one carload.

One thousand one hundred bushels of corn, 10 tons of alfalfa hay, and 5 tons of straw will fatten 23 steers averaging 850 pounds making them gain 325 pounds each in 180 days. This is an average carload.

STUDY VARIETIES OF WHEAT

Endeavoring to Determine Those Best Adapted to Various Sections of Country.

The agricultural experiment stations of some 25 states are studying varieties of wheat to determine those best adapted to the regions in which they are located, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. Widely differing conditions are included—the near-Arctic in Alaska and the semitropical in Alabama, Louisiana, and Georgia; mountain fields in Pennsylvania and prairies of Kansas and Nebraska; lands under cultivation for many years as in Virginia and New York, and practically virgin soils in some of the Western states.

FEEDING POTATOES TO STOCK

When Fed to Hogs They Should Be Cooked and Only Moderate Amount Given.

Potatoes are a good succulent food when fed raw to cattle, sheep, horses or poultry. If fed to hogs they should be cooked. But only a moderate amount should be fed. It would not do to try and make potatoes half the ration for calves or other stock. They contain too much water for that. They should be fed in moderate amounts in connection with the hay and grain. It would probably not be advisable to feed more than ten pounds per day to each calf.

Dogs Have Their Rights.

The Chicago division of the National Canine Defense league is rejoicing in the decision of a police court magistrate in London that it is illegal to chain a dog for an excessive length of time. The league brought a charge against the owner of a dog of chaining only. No attempt was made to prove that he ill-treated the animal in any other way. In the opinion of the London court, it is just as much cruelty to keep a dog on a chain for an excessive length of time as to beat it or work it unmercifully.

States Bottle Fed Babies All Need Teethina

"My baby is a bottle fed baby," writes Mrs. T. Wainwright, Route 3, Waycross, Ga., "and all mothers who have had experience with bottle fed babies know how easy it is for their little stomachs to become painful and bowel trouble to start, especially in summer. I find Teethina the best thing for them at such times and have always got good results from using it."

When a baby is deprived of its natural nourishment and is given cow's milk as a substitute, grave consequences are likely to follow. In such cases, Teethina is invaluable for correcting stomach and bowel troubles and always gives relief.

Teethina is sold by all druggists, or send 30c to the Moffett Laboratories, Columbus, Ga., and get a package of Teethina and a wonderful free booklet about Baby.—Advertisement.

"I got a new customer," announced the laundress-by-the-day when the Family Welfare society visitor came to call. "I guess I'll be making out pretty good now. With six washes a week I oughta do."

"And who is your new customer—one of the neighbors?" asked the visitor.

"No," she's a foreign lady. Anyway she don't speak good English like me and you."

DYED HER SKIRT, DRESS, SWEATER AND DRAPERIES WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her worn, shabby dresses, skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything, even if she has never dyed before. Buy "Diamond Dyes"—an other kind—then perfect home dyeing is sure because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to spot, fade, streak, or run. Knitted Apparel in Favor;

New Styles in Spring Suits

SEVERAL things have conspired during the past few months to promote the cause of knitted dresses and knitted underwear. In all northern latitudes there has been an awakening to the charms of real winter sports, and they have proved so alluring that quite a number of winter tourists take their way toward the northern lights instead of toward the southern stars. These winter sports demand the sturdiest and warmest kinds of clothes and hence the boost for knitted sports wear.

An attractive knitted two-piece dress for almost any kind of sports wear, ap-was about to be totally neglected and almost forgotten, eclipsed by the dressier three-piece, costume suit. But now it emerges (having fortified itself with new style-points, in its decorative features), and invites comparison. Whoever is looking for something new in suits, is going to find it, for the quest will reveal novel embellishments, new adjustment of skirts and new colors in fabrics.

At the left of the two suits pictured, a model is shown in twill cloth which will arrest attention for several reasons. One of these is its short pears in the illustration. One-piece frocks of exactly similar appearance are among its rivals. This model is of tan yarn knitted in a close stitch and barred with a narrow pla stripe in brown. The skirt is plain and the jacket semi-fitted with high collar, cuffs and band down the left side of brown angora. There are various color combinations in knitted dresses; these in white or beige or light tan with crossbars or stripes in green, blue or orange, appeal to the sportswomen in the warmer climates, while darker tan,

This gives prominence to the bodice of bright, printed silk with long peasant sleeves, finished by a band of the twill at the wrist. The collar on the jacket is a new treatment of this feature and is simply a puff of the twill. Ties of more ribbon provide a unique way of fastening the jacket, which is finished at the bottom with a band of the material headed by a piping.

brown and high colors find the snow a fine background.

But knitted frocks are no longer confined to sport clothes—what with new knitted lace in wool, knitted yard goods in silk, silk fiber and mixtures of these with wool or mohair, smart afternoon costumes are making their appearance among things knitted. Much attention is given to new color effects and in the chameleon and more effects many colors are combined. Even dance frocks are shown knitted in a loose stitch with drop stitch stripes and metal threads knitted in.

shirting and there is a narrow belt of more, with small metallic slides.

A plainer suit of homespun at the right is very smart and springlike with box coat, having surface front and revers. It utilizes the fashionable slide fastening and adopts a summer-fur collar. A suit of this type always finds an army of admirers, having simplicity and distinction to recommend it to women who appreciate the pre-eminent value of these qualities.

RAILROAD CAR SHORTAGE INCREASES OVER COUNTRY

Washington.—Railroads on February 15, according to reports to the car service division of the American Railway Association, just made public, were short 75,900 cars of having enough to fill shippers' demands. The shortage 4,945 cars greater than a week previous, was said by officials to be unusual for this season of the year, and to be an index of the extraordinary heavy railroad traffic.

Railroads are striving to increase facilities to handle business, the reports indicated, orders for 97,932 new freight cars having been in the hands of manufacturers on February 15. The carriers also had orders out for 1915 new locomotives of various types.

IF BILIOUS, SICK! TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful and full of vigor.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children.

"No, sir," said Henry. "I suppose you are aware that when I came in I caught you kissing the typist?" And his employer glared at him angrily.

French Women in Odd Club.

The Broonstick club is the latest of women's clubs to be formed in Paris. The qualification of a woman in France to rank as a "broonstick" is that she must be five feet five inches in height and not weigh more than 130 pounds. There are 30 members of this club, and only a few of them are married. The members declared themselves keen feminists and maintain that tallness and thinness above the average is not the slightest drawback to a happy life, if only for the reason that the modest prefer dressing them to their shorter and fatter sisters.

USE THE BEST FAULTLESS STARCH FOR LAUNDRY WORK FOR SHIRTS COLLARS CUFFS AND FINE LINEN

DID AWAY WITH HAND WORK

How invention of printing machine Completely Revolutionized the Calico Industry.

In the days before the printing machine was invented or even until its use became general, calico cloth was printed by hand by the block method. By this method the design was outlined on the surface of a wooden block, the outlines were bounded by pieces of brass or copper and the surface filled in with felt to hold the color, and sometimes designs of as many as three or four colors were printed by this method. When the block was completed it was dipped in a color box and the pattern was then impressed upon the fabric by stamping by hand; and for each color to be printed the cloth had to be stamped by a separate operation. The work was slow and laborious and in printing even some patterns that were printed in those days it would take a man and one or two helpers a whole year to print as many yards of cloth as can be printed on a modern printing machine in probably a day or little more.—Boston Transcript.

MANY CHURCHES ON ISLAND

Patmos Long Remarkable for the Large Number of Its Religious Edifices.

One of the most remarkable islands in the world is Patmos, where St. John wrote the Book of Revelation. It was always the destination of thousands of pilgrims, and in the old days the rich man who wished to expiate his sins usually did so by building a church. The result is that this tiny island contains the ruins of no fewer than 300 churches.

The entire population numbers about 4,000, and it was when most of the buildings were founded. As there are only 700 houses on the island there is almost a church for each two families.

The people are Greeks whose only occupation is sponge fishing, though there used at one time to be a trade in the manufacture of stockings.

Curiously enough, though the island lies quite close to Turkey, there has never at any time been a mosque upon it. Possibly the Mohammedans could not find room for one.

Rev. J. A. McVillan spoke at the assembly Monday morning. His talk was enjoyed and appreciated by all.

Miss McGuire was unable to meet her classes one half day of this week on account of illness.

Miss McKee is meeting her classes again this week after being out several days last week, on account of sickness.

The seniors were able at last to put on their play last night, after many misfortunes such as, broken limbs, injured backs, marriageitis and flu.

The pupils have been busily engaged with their examinations this week.

The high school girls organized "The Camp Fire Girls," this week with Miss McKee as guardian.

Bob Bates, the alleged slayer of customs officer James Wallen at Del Rio last week, is still at large in Mexico, and at the present time the chances for getting him back on this side of the river are not very bright. The case for his return is now pending before the Mexican Judge at Padras Nagries. Bates has hired a Mexican lawyer and Thursday he sent a telegram to the Mexican Judge, stating that he had killed one of his own countrymen and begged the Mexican officials not to return him to the American side because he feared for his life. The Mexican Judge is supposed to make his decision today.

"Al" Mussey, a first cousin to Ruben and Gayle Mussey and Mrs. Newton Taylor, died at San Antonio a few days ago. Mr. Mussey was a well known peace officer and had numerous friends throughout south and west Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Banner and son "Jiggs" were in from the ranch Friday and attended the Senior play at the school house Friday night.
