SENIORS GIVE PLAY

Three Act Comedy Presented at School Auditorium Friday Night

An event which takes place annually at the Sanderson High School is the "Senior Play" given by the Senior Class, and it has always been an occasion looked forward to by our citizens with pleasurable anticipation because of the high-class amusement furnished. And the play presented by the Seniors on Friday night of last week was up to the high standard of former years. The play was a three-act comedy entitled "Deacon Dubbs," and it was presented in such a way as to bring out all of the humorous parts and kept the large audience roaring with laughter throughout the play.

As would be supposed the main character in the play was "Deacon Dubbs from Sorghum Center, West Virginia." This character was played by Clyde Newberry, and if he had been essaying the role for a number of years he couldn't have done much better. He interpreted the funny situations in a very comic manner and never failed to draw a round of hearty cheering from the crowd.

John Perner essayed the role of Amos Coleman, a young lawyer and a nephew of the Deacon. This part bordered more on the order of the tragedy than the comedy and John played the part well.

Rose Raleigh, a brave little school ma'am in love with Amos Coleman, was played by Johnnie Grigsby. The part was rather difficult as it called for serious lines as well as some comedy, and Johnnie deserves credit for the way she played the part.

Rawdon Crawley, the "villain" in the play, was interpreted by Madison Turner, and like all villains in a play he had some heavy lines and deserves credit for his part. His make-up was very good.

Deuteronomy Jones, "a country hired-man," was played by Hays Cavender, and Yennie Yensen "the hired girl from Sweden" was played by Bethilda Eldridge. Too much praise can not be given to these two. Their make-up was excellent and their acting was all that could be desired. Their every appearance on the stage brought forth laughter and hand-clapping.

Miss Philipena Popover, an old maid who was sweet on the Deacon, was played by Miss Sybil McKee. Her make-up would have done credit to a professional and her acting was on the same order.

Mary Alice Happle played the role of Trixie Coleman, "full of mischief." And full of mischief she was and her pet scheme seemed to be to pull off jokes on Miss Popover and the Deacon. Mary Alice's acting was good and she came in for a large share of applause.

Emily Dale, "the richest girl in town," in love with Rawdon Crawley, was played by Nona Bell. Miss Bell had the misfortune to become hoarse from a cold on the day of the play; however she did fine and deserves credit for her part.

Ervin Grigsby played the role of Major McNutt, an auctioneer and justice of the peace. His make-up was good and he played his part well.

An event of the program that delighted the audience was two songs by Margaret Black and Iva Hord. The vocal ability of these two girls was a surprise to many in the audience. The tones were sweet and well rendered, and with a little careful training Margaret and Iva could be classed among the best singers of the stage.

The play ended with an old-fashioned country dance and it pleased the audience so well that it had to be put on a second time.

Miss Inez Farley at the piano furnished delightful music during the evening's entertainment.

The play was under the management of Mrs. Jack McKee and much credit is due her for its final success after many trying difficulties.

After the play the girls served lunch in the cooking room. The lunch consisted of cake, pie, sandwiches, cocoa and coffee, and a neat little sum was realized from the sale, the money going to the athletic fund.

The boys also exhibited samples of their work in the manual training room. The work was very neat and would have done credit to much older heads. More than $100 was taken in as a result of the play.

CELEBRATION

L. A. to R. of R. T. Celebrate Their 2nd Anniversary

(Contributed)

One of the most successful affairs recorded by our Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and an evening that will long be remembered was March 17, 1923, when the members of Terrell Lodge No. 369 celebrated their second anniversary.

We had as our honored guests our families and the R. T. and their families.

The table, which was at least thirty feet long, was placed in the center of the hall and was beautifully decorated in our colors, red, white and green; this color scheme being used throughout the evening. In the center of the table was placed a huge birthday cake, bearing the number of our lodge and a green candle. At each end of the table was a small train displaying the markers of L 369; all switches and block signals were carefully watched by our proficient brakemen, so no wrecks marred our "merry making."

The supper, served plate lunch style, consisted of baked chicken and dressing, cream peas served on lettuce leaves, fruit salad and pickles; delicious red, white and green jello garnished with whipped cream, and cake was served for dessert.

Aside from our "eats" was a nice little programme, rendered by talent found within our ranks. Misses Nell Berta and Lillie Mae Lea, brother Mulkey and sister Chastain favored us with piano solos; and Miss Kate Sharp gave us a select reading, entitled "A Yankee in Love." About fifty people were present and all expressed a desire to repeat the occasion at an early date.

The success of the supper was due, in a great measure, to the refreshment and decorating committee which consisted of sisters Jennie Qualtrough, Lydia Druse, Ima Stirman, Adah Surratt and voluntary help by our brothers Lewellen, Horgan, Surratt, Druse and Qualtrough.

Let us show you some of our nifty samples for that new Easter and Spring suit, call at the Royal Tailor Shop and look them over.

Joe Kerr returned the first of the week from San Antonio where he had been in the hospital for several days. Mr. Kerr is much better but is still suffering some and has not been able to be down to his office since his return home.

TWIN GIRLS

Born, Thursday, February 22, 1923, to Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Croy, at Marfa, Texas, twin baby girls. The weight of the little Misses was 7½ and 6¾ pounds.

Sanderson people will remember this worthy couple, they having resided here about a year ago, Mr. Croy at that time being employed by the G. H. & S. A. Railway as operator. Mr. Croy was in poor health when here and since his transfer to Marfa his condition has grown worse. He works when he is able to, but a large portion of the time he is confined to his bed. Mrs. Croy is doing fine and the two little Misses Croy are in dandy good health.

Some of the ladies of Sanderson, headed by Mrs. Dick Lewellen, gave a shower to Mr. and Mrs. Croy and sent a large box up to them by Dick Lewellen. They were very grateful for the donation and express their warm thanks in a card published elsewhere in the Times today.

W. J. Banner bought 500 ewes of Fal Elder this week at $10.00 a head. They are now on Fal Elder's ranch lambing and after lambing they will be driven to some point near the railroad to be sheared, saving hauling the wool. After shearing the sheep Mr. Banner will drive them out to his ranch near the Pecos.
